Marriage to Soon Break Up Key Quadruplets

The love of a man for a maid and a maid for man is destined to end the companionship of Oklahoma's Key sisters, first quadruplets known to have reached maturity. Mona will be married on June 18 to Robert W. Fowler, accountant for an oil company.

To celebrate their twenty-fifth birthday June 4, Mona, Roberta, Mary and Leota have purchased individual clothes, marking for the first time their emergence as separate individuals. Since their birth in Hollis, Okla., they have dressed identically and have been practically inseparable.

Now that Mona plans to marry, her three sisters expect to settle down to teaching school in Texas next year.

Marriage will bring new responsibilities to Mona. Since childhood the sisters have divided their chores. Mona isn't an expert cook, but she expects to be.

She also will have to learn to handle cash. She and Roberta always have let Mary and Leota be the bankers.

But that shouldn't worry Mona. After all, she's marrying an accountant.

"We provided for winter comfort by installing Ward Floor Furnaces."

"And we saved money by having them installed during the gas company's summer discount sale."

A WARD FLOOR FURNACE will regulate your warmth as you like it...turning on and off automatically, using gas economically.

No sweating walls, foggy windows. No unhealthy dampness in the air. Natural humidity is preserved.

No dangerous temperature changes. No chilly drafts or blasts of heat. Warm air flows smoothly, evenly.

Air stays fresh...no stuffy closeness to make you dull and drowsy. Furnace is vented to out-of-doors.

Get it while its hot!
SAVE MONEY

FRIDAY, JULY 5, 1940

Death superintended the make-up and locked the form last week of John S. Bagwell, long-time publisher of the Sulphur Springs News-Telegram, for a spiritual edition to be filed in the Great Book of Life. Mr. Bagwell, a leading civic light in Sulphur Springs, and former publisher of newspapers at Terrell, Forney, Paris, Mt. Pleasant and Sweetwater, died in Rochester, Minn., where he had been under medical treatment for some time. He had also taught school at Mt. Pleasant, Wills Point, Terrell, Burleson College and Greenville.

"I read the news in my hometown newspaper to get my money's worth and I read the advertisements in it to get my money back," said one of our subscribers as he handed us a dollar to keep this newspaper coming to his box for another year. There is certainly something in that way of looking at it and that is why most of our subscribers are more than satisfied with this newspaper. Fifty-two issues of real live news of this and surrounding communities is indeed worth the small subscription cost. Add to this the opportunity of being "in" on the many savings on various merchandise advertised by wide-awake merchants and the subscriber finds that he has, in the course of a year, more than got his subscription money back. Yes, a subscription to your hometown newspaper is an investment that pays.

J. Edgar Hoover Says Crime Starts at Home

Crime begins at home. Decency begins at home. The greatest of all recipes for crime prevention is understanding of boy nature by older people, especially parents. Understanding, plus effective guidance based on such understanding. It is chiefly from homes where misunderstanding or indifference occurs which drive boys into haphazard relationships outside, that the men are recruited whom we of the FBI later know, and conduct nation-wide hunts for, as kidnapers, murderers, forgers, thieves, rapists, and other public enemies.—J. Edgar Hoover, director, U. S. Federal Bureau of Investigation.

While the average cost of drilling a 1,000 foot oil well in parts of Texas is $6,000, a 11,000 foot test costs nearly 24 times as much, or $143,000.

Ain't that Sump'n
By NUMBER SEVEN

The red winds of war always ferret out everything of a prophetic and dire nature and blow them before the eyes and flap them against the ears of a mad world.

This is the last war before the Day of Judgment, say some, and they pour forth their Biblical knowledge to back up their assertions. The battle of Armageddon is on the way and Gabriel soon will say his say. Woe is me, woe is me...

One wants to say "Yes, that's what they told our granddads in 1860 and that's what they told our great-granddads in 1812, and on and on down the scale of so-called civilization." But one doesn't say much because, after all, who knows...

The recurrence of Mother Shipton's Prophecy in the daily press, however, and its frequent quotation by people on the street, has caused this column to dig into the printed records of such prophets and find that: Mother Shipton was an English prophetess, born 1488 and died 1561, who foretold the death of Wolsey, inventor of the steam engine. The doggerel, by which she is so well known, was not written by her, but by a man named Charles Hindley. It was a hoax and was probably published in 1862. Mother Shipton's real name was Ursula Southiel.

To the many Arkansasers who wonder how Texans can tell they are from Arkansas, this column relates the following street-talk with W. M. Garrett of the Mosley community: "How is your corn looking, Mr. Garrett?" A pause, then, "My corn, oh, I don't think it is doing so well. Fact is, I guess I will have to cap it to make it shoot this year."

High water always washes in a few tall tales, which may account for the report that Jesse Bifford of the Shadowland community was seen after the big rain Monday rescuing three mules from flood waters on Lake Drain. The report says that the mule Jesse straddled gave out before it reached dry land and that Jesse was forced to carry it across. In the same community, it was said that Niven Carrol was seen searching the backwater for a calf twelve hours before it was born.

It might be just as well to drop the curtain on a story told by Dr. Stephen H. Grant of high water once starting a fire in Deport. The doctor says Mustang swelled out of banks and into a lumber yard where there was a quantity of lime. The action of the water on the lime caused fire, and crawfish from Deport to Sulphur had a taste of warm lime-ade.

The only time a candidate should worry is when his opponent begins to tell the truth on him.

Almost every city has its Hell's Half Acre, but Europe has a million such acres.

If this world ever becomes fool-proof it is going to throw a lot of people out of jobs.

Every time we see Mussolini's name in the papers we associate it with stiletto.

It is not enough for the young graduate to go places unless he is quite sure of the place where he is going.

There are many things that can be said against the stock market, but when it acts up-ity we forget all else.

Hitler is said to have a bad heart. This news comes after most of the world was convinced that he had no heart at all.

It must be very disconcerting to old Satan to note that Hitler, Mussolini & Co. have established a hell of their own up here.

In advising the world to "Live dangerously," Mussolini evidently has no reason to believe that the world is hesitating to take his advice.

The American home has not been quite the same since the old fashioned parlor table with its family Bible yielded its place to the cocktail table and cigarette ash trays.

The only truth in the saying, "Man wants but little here below," is at tax-paying time when a man realizes that the less he has the less he will have to pay the tax collector.

Italy's entrance into the war will cost the city of Houston at least $35,000,000 worth of business in a single year. A striking instance where war affects us even though a wide ocean intervenes.

Spain is clamoring for Gibraltar, owned by Great Britain. Some Americans are unnecessarily uneasy lest naughty Europe will try to get our American Gibraltar of gold buried somewhere in Kentucky.

If France and England are left flat on their backs after the war they might get some satisfaction from the experience of Germany after the first World War, when she was left stripped of everything worth while. She staged a comeback in twenty-five years and is licking Europe. It will be up to the allies to come back even stronger.

Plain talk has at last made us talk plane.

Fifty thousand planes is important, but it is more important to rid the United States of those aliens who are here for no other purpose than to skim the cream from our cup of prosperity.

Idea of Politics Pertaining to County Affairs

I FAVOR:

1. Making and publishing regular reports as to the County's income, disbursements, and financial condition.
2. Purchasing all county supplies by Commissioners' Court on competitive bids.
3. Audit of all fee officers' records and regular reports by them to the Commissioners' Court.
4. Operating all road and bridge work out of one fund to be expended on a unified all-weather road system properly planned and engineered to serve all parts of the county alike.
5. Full cooperation of the county with State and Federal agencies, especially the County Agent and Home Demonstration Agent, and any others that are beneficial to the county.
6. Close consideration and study of the local youth problems and juvenile delinquencies.
7. Fair and open minded dispensation of all court proceedings.

I believe that through close study and economical and efficient operation of county affairs, the county can still progress and yet get on a cash basis in two to four years.

Of course, anyone must realize that all policies are made and all actions that are taken are authorized by the Commissioners' Court.

Respectfully submitted for your consideration in my race for County Judge.
Signed,

In Talco Three and Four Years Ago

From the Back Files of The Talco Times

Week of July 2, 1937

According to information from city officials, 80 water meters had been set and many more applications were turned in ready for installation.

Talco voluntary firemen had met on Monday night and held their first fire drill using city water.

Paul Clark, acting city engineer, had submitted plans to the city officials for a park site at the city water well.

Installation of a new electric booster pump at the city water tower had completed the water system for Talco.

Two new producers had been brought in that week in the town-site, the G. M. W. Oil Co. and the Yandell Rogers No. 1.

Week of July 3, 1936

At a meeting held on Monday night with Mayor McElroy presiding, a voluntary fire department had been organized. Ernest Varner was elected fire chief.

Mrs. Myrtle Gage of Gladewater, had leased a building on Broad street and was making arrangements to open a cafe.

John Bayne of Mt. Pleasant, had been employed in the police department to assist Chief of Police Elmer Cato.

Talco's city hall and new jail was under construction and nearing completion. The jail already had been used and fines had been paid for the occupants to be released.

Deport had defeated the Talco baseball team on Sunday by a score of 15-11. Both teams had a number of errors chalked up.

Mrs. K. O. France honored Mrs. H. A. Davidson with a stork shower at the regular meeting of the Tuesday Morning Bridge Club. Those attending were: Mmes. L. O. Holloway, T. H. Dolan, George Ford, Roger Williams, A. M. Ferguson, C. E. Taylor, Raymond Doherty, W. E. Kirkham and the hostess. Mrs. Raymond Doherty won high for regular members and Mrs. W. E. Kirkham won second high. Mrs. A. M. Ferguson won high for the guests. Sandwiches, potato chips and cold drinks were served.

American Saved Armistice Car

The old railroad dining car in which the World War armistice was signed—where Adolf Hitler presented to the French his own peace terms recently—was saved from slow destruction years ago by an American—Arthur H. Fleming of Pasadena, Calif., retired lumberman.

For several years after Nov. 11, 1918, the car which had been Marshal Ferdinand Foch's field headquarters stood in the courtyard of the Invalides in Paris, exposed to snow and rain and sunshine.

Fleming saw the car there and offered the French government $10,000 to build a memorial structure to house it. The offer was accepted and the building erected at Compiègne.

The Ladies' Bible Class of the Church of Christ visited the Boles Orphans Home at Quinlan and took cookies to the children. Visitors were: Rev. and Mrs. J. W. King, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hopwood, Mmes. Felix Jones, Bruce Murphy, H. L. Laughlin, B. F. Morris, Bill Peace, John Tenneson, Louis Cato, Roy Matherly, B. L. Gieger. They returned home by Grand Saline and visited the salt mines there.
