You bet, it's summer Yes, it's hot. Yes, it's easy to sunburn. Yes, it's summer.

Funny thing about that....long about July and August summer rolls right on in. I think somewhere in the back of our minds there is the idea (or forlorn hope) that it will miss us some year.

Well, it isn't going to happen. I don't mind, however, being a sun worshiper from way back.

My poor husband hates heat with the passion only those who blister, peel, sweat and generally suffer under the sun.

But, whether you love it or hate it, this time of the year is much better this summer than it was last year. Last year at this time leaves were falling from trees, crops had long since withered and died and water shortages were imminent.

July and August in this part of Texas is a strangely rich, yet oddly colorless time of year.

The Mexican Hats, Black Eyed Susans and thistles are gone now, swept away in the heat. Only the hardy and glorious Crape Myrtle adds it's exotic plume of color to the landscape.

But underlying that is a pallet of rich greens on the wide variety of trees and grasses that grace East Texas.

How welcome and cooling those greens are. How pleasant their shade.

Summer music is more silent than it was. The wild birds have raised the babies, and they no longer swoop in clouds of feathered finery around the nests. The constant calls of cardinals is muted, even the mockingbird is quieter.

But the cicada's steady drone has filled the air with a notunpleasant sound that signals summer....long days, nights when the slightest breeze is welcome.

There is a reassurance to that steady sound of cicadas....that all is as it should be in the world.

No, summer isn't always the best season here in this part of

But it is a lot nicer since the advent of air conditioning, which makes it possible to sleep at night, and ice makers and all the other contemporary aids to surviving 100 degree heat.

And summer is what summer is...a natural, normal part of the progression of seasons, with it's rewards as well as it's harsher side.

A suspicious nature can be helpful

Everyone needs to have just a bit of a suspicious nature in these days and times. Being eaisly duped by con-men and such can take your life savings and in some cases cause you to lose your life.

Last week Vickie Francis, who is an employee at All Stop in Talco had her suspicions pay off.

Vickie had returned to the store in the evening to check on a young employee at closing time. The store outside lights had been cut off and the young lady was doing the nightly door and opened it to tell him the

She closed the door and called the police. As it turns out the man had stolen a car, had an accident, escaped from a hospital in Paris and stole another car which was parked right outside in All Stop's parking lot.

He was arrested thanks to Vickie's closing routine. Shortly after Vickie keen observation and the police arrived a man came to the door and thanked her for her call. If you have she directed him around to the side crime in mind avoid Vickie, she is watching, listening and using her common sense!

Once upon a time

way to begin a story or a memory. My family got together on July 4 this year and many memories were discussed. The Maple Springs School was one

The Maple Springs Community lines begin about a mile to a mile and a half past Meadow's Curve on Fm. 71 east of Talco and end about one mile to one mile and a half west of Wilkinson or now Sugar Hill. The community ran south to White Oak River and north to Sulphur River. The Maple Springs School originally began near the present home of Birdie and the late Manuel Blalock and got it's name for obvious reasons, a fresh water spring and maple trees.

A new brick school was built on Fm. 71 east of the original location and across from the then Maple Springs Store and the present Maple Springs Church. My grandfather, T.G. Temples owned the land the school was put on and my parents, Dean and Virgie Graf and my brothers and sisters, Barbara, Bunkey, Chuck, Marilyn and Lavonne all attended the school. Of the 6 kids in my family all except me graduated from the 8th grade at Maple Springs. In my mother's day students went to Mt. Pleasant after graduating from Maple Springs but in later years they went to Talco High School.

Some who served as board members for the Maple Springs School were, T. G. Temples, Alford Blalock, Tom Randle, Alford Flanagan, Mack Black and Wallace Fry. Some of the past principals were Paul Harbour, Weldon Nelson and a Mr. McFerrin who no one could remember his given name. Some of the teachers and staff at the school were; Wilma Fry, Merle Flanagan, Millie Wilson, Holland Duke, Sarah Parish, Mrs. Covey, Mrs.

by Nancy Brown Once upon a time is always a good Davis, Mrs. Hopper, Hazel Wilson, Birdie Blalock, Mary Richerson and Ula Blalock. Of course, there were many more who could not be remembered.

> The schools tax base was set on the oil field and even though money was not a problem in later years student body was. Talco and Mt. Pleasant were both interested in taking the school even though their were few students the money was plenty in those days. The school board, of which my grandfather was a member, made an unpopular decision to go to Talco in the mid to late 1950's. The decision would have been just as unpopular if they had chosen Mt. Pleasant but low enrollment and state funding forced the closing of the school. My siblings do not remember the feelings of hostility as well as I since they were all already in Talco School. My memories are of being very upset at not being able to attend my home town school which happened to be across the road from my home. I began school as a Talco Trojan and finished school as a Rivercrest Rebelette. The change to Rivercrest was not as dramatic a change for me as a high school student as the loss of Maple Springs School was.

For years I could still go to the Maple Springs gym and spend hours playing basketball or play on the play ground equipment but eventually the play ground equipment was taken to Talco, the building was torn down and the land returned to my family.

We all miss those years and those times but I would not trade my days as a Talco/Rivercrest student now as I look back. Other schools also suffered the same fate as Maple Springs. In the Bogata area there were Rosalie, Mauldin, Cuthand, Scratch Ankle, Pine Branch, Rugby, Lone Star, Fulbright and Johntown Schools who were all taken in by Bogata. Plus the black community schools at Talco and Bogata.

In tapping the memories of some Rosalie residents, if memory serves correct, the Rosalie School was started in 1870 by a Mr. Armstrong in a log cabin where David Anderson's home is now on Fm 909 in Rosalie. It was operated for 2 years by Mr.

In 1872 a Professor Smith took over and the first school was built. It had approximately 3 teachers. Some of those who worked at the school were Eva Watkins, Archie Lowry and Jim Ed Ragsdill. My husband, Eddie Brown, was named after Jim Ed. After our marriage Eddie's grandmother, Mrs. Claudia Lowry, intrusted us with the original school bell which was rung by the teacher daily to call the children in at Rosalie School. She had the bell because the school teacher rented a room or at times stayed for free in the Lowry home. My husband gave the bell back to the Rosalie Community Center to go in their memorabilia case. Mrs. Lowry would have liked to know it is safe and is in it's original community.

The Rosalie School was annexed by Bogata in 1943 as were the other school mentioned through the various years. Each community had the same hard feelings at losing their schools but the memories of them and the memories made at Bogata/ Rivercrest are also good ones.

I know that a lot of you have already preserved a lot of vegetables and fruits this year. This year has proved to be one of the best growing seasons that we have seen in a while. If you can't use any of these, put them up for next year and make use of them then! Here are some tips also for processing your own fruits and vegetables.

Growth of the bacterium Clostridium Botulinum in canned food may cause botulism. . .a deadly form of food poisoning. These bacteria exist either as spores or as vegetative cells. The spores, which are comparable to plant seeds, can survive harmlessly in soil and water for many years. When ideal conditions exist for growth, the spores produce vegetative cells which multiply rapidly and may produce a deadly toxin within 3 to 4 days of growth in an environment consisting of 1) a moist, low-acid food, 2) a temperature between 40 degrees and 120 degrees and 3) less than 2 percent oxygen. Botulinum spores are on most fresh food surfaces. Because they grow only in the absence of air, they are harmless on fresh foods.

Our recipes this week come to us, are difficult to remove from food surfaces. Washing fresh food reduces the numbers slightly. Peeling root crops, underground stem crops and tomatoes reduces the numbers greatly. Blanching also helps, but the vital controls are the method of canning and making sure the recommended research-based process times are used. The processing times ensure destruction of the largest expected number of heat-resistant microorganisms in home-canned foods. Properly sterilized canned foods will be free of spoilage if lids seal and jars are stored below 95 degrees. Storing jars at 50 degrees to 70 degrees enhances retention of quality. Pickle products are subject to spoilage from microorganisms, particularly yeasts and molds, as well as enzymes that may effect flavor, color and texture. Processing the pickles in a boiling-water canner will prevent both of these problems. Standard canning jars and selfsealing lids are recommended. Processing times and procedures will vary according to food acidity and the size of the food pieces. Remember these few safe canning practices: 1) carefully select and wash fresh food, 2) peel some fresh foods, 3) many foods may be hot packed, 4) add acids (such as vinegar or lemon juice) to some foods, 5) use acceptable jars and self-sealing lids and 6) process jars in boiling-water or pressure canner for correct period

Collectively, these practices remove oxygen; destroy enzymes; prevent the growth of undesirable bacteria, yeasts and molds; and help form a vacuum in jars. Good vacuums form tight seals which keep liquid in and air and microorganisms out.

The Rivercrest ISD school serves meals each school day. Children may buy lunch for $1.20 and breakfast for 55¢. Children may also get meals free or at a reduced price. Rivercrest High

If you now get food stamps or TANF for your child, your child can get free meals. If your total household income is the same or less than the amounts on the Income Chart below, your child can get free meals or reduced-price meals. A foster child may get free or reduced-price meals regardless of your income. The reduced price is 40¢ for lunch and 30¢ for breakfast. To get free or reduced-price meals for your child, you must complete an application and return it to the school. Applications cannot be approved that are not complete. If you now get food stamps or TANF for the child you are applying for, the application must have the child's name, a food stamp or TANF case number for that child, and the signature of an adult household member. If you are applying for a foster child, the application must have the child's name, the child's "personal use" income and an adult signature. If you do not list a food stamp or TANF case number for the child you are applying for, then the application must have the child's name, the names of all household members, the amount of income each person got last month and where it came from, the signature of an adult household member, and that adult's social security number or the word "none" if the adult does not have a social security number. Your eligibility may be checked at any time during the school year. School officials may ask you to send papers showing that you child should get free or reduced-price meals.

You may talk to school officials if you do not agree with the school's decision on your application or the results of verification. You may also ask for a fair hearing. You may do this by calling or writing: Gary VanDeaver, Superintendent, 903-632-5203, Rt. 1, Box 253, Bogata, If your child gets free or reduced-price meals because of your income, you must tell the school if your household size decreases or your income increases by more than $50 per month or $600 per year. If your child gets meals because you get food stamps or TANF, you must tell the school when you are not getting TANF or food stamps for them. You may then fill out another application giving income information.

School officials use the information on the application to decide if your child should get free or reduced-price meals. Free and reduced-prize eligibility information may be subject to release to other federal, state and local education, health or other means-tested programs. Some programs already identified are the National Assessment of Educational Progress and officials collecting data for Title I allocation and evaluation purposes.

You may apply for meals anytime during the school year. If you are not eligible now but have a change in status, like a decrease in household income, an increase in household size, becom unemployed or get food stamps or TANF for your child, you may then complete an application Meal substitutions at no additional cost for children who meet the definition of "handicapped will be served, provided a physician has submitted a statement attesting to this fact an prescribing a substitute.

In the operation of the child feeding programs, no child will be discriminated against beca of race, sex, color, national origin, age or handicap. Finding The Right Running Shoe

Runners should choose the ath letic shoe type best for their biome chanical needs. There are five basic running shoe categories: motion control, cushioned, lightweight train ing, trail and stability. Motion control are best for people who overpronate, wear orthotics, have flat feet, or are heavy runners. Stability shoes are ideal for the midweight runner with normal arches looking for comfort and durability. Cushioned shoes offer the east medial support and encourage foot motion, ideal for runners with rigid feet and high arches. Light weight training shoes are best for runners who want a light second shoe for fast-paced training. Finally trail shoes should be considered by those who run off-road and need extra traction and protection from stone bruises. We firmly believe in helping you help yourself. We'll make recommendations as to how you can help keep your feet healthy and happy From choosing the appropriate foot wear, to preventative care, to dealing with hereditary concerns, to simple pampering, we'll take the time to answer your questions and explain any procedures. We want you to be as informed about and actively involved in your foot health care as we are. Call DOCTOR'S FOOT CLINIC, 784-5585.
