From YOUR perspective

Editor's note: The following note is from wing commander Col. Roger Brady, addressing his concerns for future Carelines.

A Careline column provides one of the many opportunities for a commander to find out what people are thinking, what's bothering them, what they like, etc. If you've wondered why we do something, or just want to make a comment, don't hesitate to call.

If you leave your name and telephone number, we'll get back to you and answer your concern by telephone.

Calls of interest to the Reese community will be published, without the caller's name, in the Roundup the following week. I look forward to hearing from you.

Calls can be made to the Careline 24 hours a day at 3273.

Mandatory membership?

I'm calling regarding an issue I hear about frequently—officers club and enlisted club membership. To my knowledge, membership at these clubs is strictly voluntary. However, military members are looked down upon if they are not a member of their respective club. Certain organizations even go so far as to collect the names of those who are not members and then confront them about why they haven't joined.

Supposedly you can't be forced to join the club, but it seems you have to join to make others happy and to keep your record in tip-top shape. In the future, I might have to join the club to keep this from happening to me. I'll pay the monthly membership fee just to keep others off my back, but I will most likely not go to the club.

I have nothing against those who attend the club. I just prefer to spend my money and time in different ways. After a long day on base, I like to go home and see my family rather than stay on base to "socialize" at the club. When I do go out, I don't want to feel like I have to go to the same place all the time just to get my money's worth out of a membership fee.

I don't expect those who are higher up on base to agree with me because I know most of them don't. However, I would like the harassment issue addressed. I know there are many on base who agree with me.

I'm sorry you feel that way about club membership. You're right — club membership is strictly voluntary and has no effect on one's performance report or promotion opportunity. However, because of the many good things the club can provide enlisted and officer personnel, first sergeants and commanders encourage people to join.

We're trying to upgrade our facilities and provide more customer service. That's why we contact non-members to get some feedback on what's unattractive to them and to solicit their ideas on ways we can improve our service. Yes, we encourage you to join, but "harassment" is inappropriate and probably won't change your mind.

If you haven't visited the club lately, stop by; membership fees are waived for the month you join!

None of the people in the fitness center are CPR qualified, and I want to know why. Last month there was a person who had a stroke at the fitness center. I was told the fitness center personnel should be CPR qualified; I heard that the reason they're not certified is because the supervisor does not want to send the people over for a half-day of training because of his manning.

You're right — fitness center staff are required to be CPR qualified. However, two individuals were on leave when the last training session was conducted. They've been rescheduled for training, and our entire staff will soon be 100 percent qualified. Thanks for calling.

Dealing with a disability

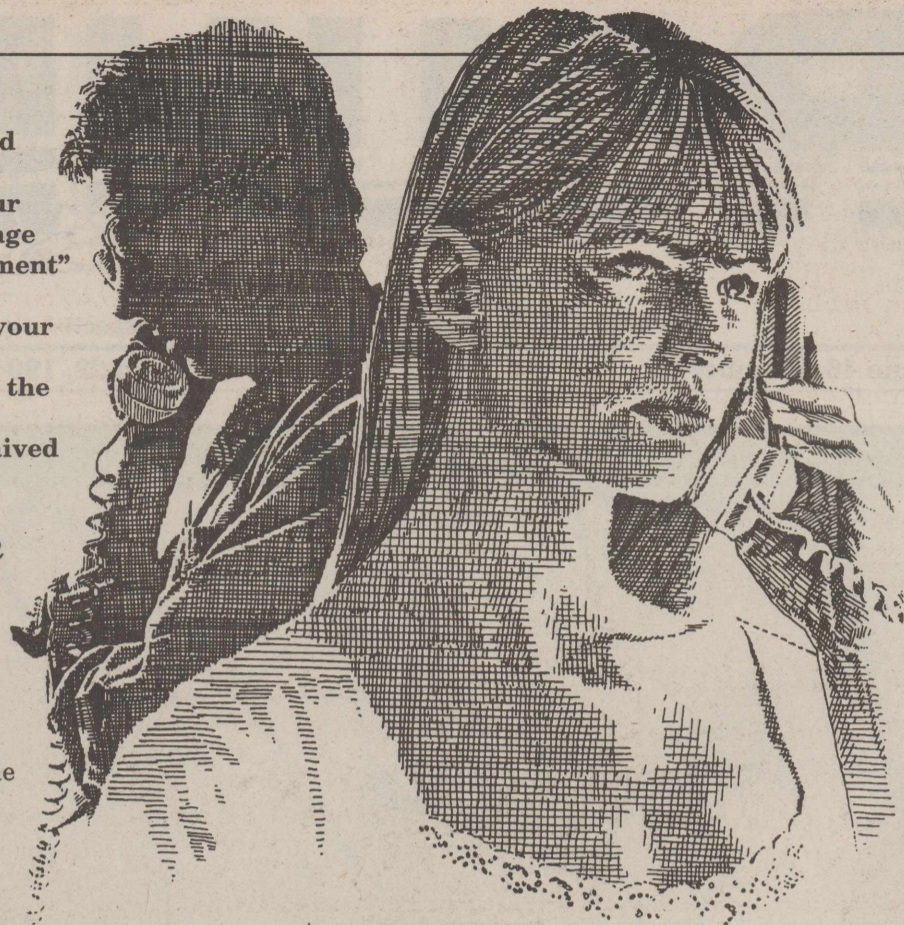

I called in a Careline last year about how rough it is to get into the commissary. I'm disabled and trying to walk over that "washboard" is hard.

The commissary officer has advised me that after talking with you concerning the "washboard" crosswalk, a work request was submitted to the base civil engineers for repairs. I appreciate your calling this situation to my attention; I apologize for any hardship this has caused you.

Weekends at the youth center

Why isn't the youth center open on the weekend? If it's just because of the lack of volunteers, I think we can fix that. I know I would be willing to volunteer.

We appreciate your concern. The decision not to open the center on Saturdays was based on the lack of participation and the cost of operation.

We will be doing a market study in June to determine the demand there and in all services activities. Surveys will be mailed out to a random number of Reese personnel. This data will be used in the fall to adjust hours and add services as determined by the local community. Thanks for calling and for your offer to volunteer. Please see the youth center director to determine how you might be of service.

Fixing up the golf course

I'd like to thank the commander for recently discussing the revised fitness center policy allowing military personnel priority from 11 to 1 p.m. and 4 to 6 p.m.

There's one other area I'd like looked into, if possible — the golf course. With spring coming and the weather getting better, more people are going to start using the course. The problem is that it is in pretty ratty condition right now, with such things as broken handles on the ball washers, no water being in the ball washers and sand traps not being raked and cleaned out. A lot of little things seem to have not been done lately.

As the weather continues to warm up, we look forward to increased patronage at the course. Unfortunately, because of fiscal reasons, we reduced grounds maintenance throughout the winter months. As a result, it is going to take some time to get the course back into top-notch shape. However, all golfers had a chance to help Saturday at our annual ecology tournament. We worked on the course in the morning and played in the afternoon. All volunteers played free of charge.

As for the ball washers, we just received new ones and will install them soon; you should find water in the washers now that the threat of freezing has passed. During freezing weather, we are prohibited from using antifreeze.

Crosswalk at the main gate

There's a lot of pedestrian traffic (especially kids) crossing War Highway. I was wondering if there's action being taken to put a crosswalk in there.

Thank you for bringing this to my attention. The crosswalks were covered over when the surface was chip-sealed. They will be replaced during the annual street marking project in the late spring. Until that time, we will all have to keep a sharp eye out for pedestrian traffic.

Cheap eaters?

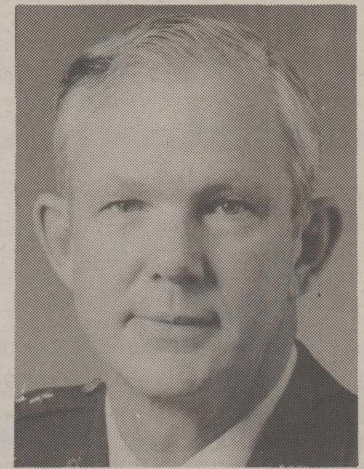

About 11:30 a.m. until noon daily, civilian contractors come over to the bowling alley, bring their own food with them, then go up to the salad bar and get lettuce and tomatoes for their sandwiches. I'm a paying customer, and I have to wait on these people. At one time no one was allowed to bring food into the bowling alley. It should go back to being that way.

You're right. Food and beverages consumed at the bowling center must be purchased there — period. The bowling center gets rave reviews for customer service, and that's great. But really now, folks, you ought to pay for the service. Thanks for bringing this situation to our attention.

General Viccellio lauds AFA

by Gen. Henry Viccellio Jr.
AETC Commander

General Viccellio

All Air Force members — officer, enlisted, civilian and their families — are fortunate to have the Air Force Association on our team as we build the world's most respected air and space force.

In addition to being a staunch advocate of aerospace power for our nation's defense, AFA is a highly effective voice for quality of life issues. Through grass roots efforts, the AFA educates the American public and our elected representatives on matters of keen interest to all Air Force members. Specifically, the AFA is hard at work on pay raises, retirement benefits, medical care and commissary privileges — to name a few.

AFA publishes the highly acclaimed Air Force Magazine, offers low-cost insurance, sponsors recognition and scholarship programs and provides a variety of other valuable services.

During the next few weeks, a volunteer will contact you. I encourage all AETC personnel to consider joining this important professional organization. For more information, call Maj. Mike Ross at 3203 or 3418.

Being good to the Earth at Reese

by Hamid Kamalpour
64th Civil Engineering Squadron

Earth is the only place where every creature and human being can live. We need to take care of the earth's environment and preserve it for future generations. The effect of ignoring the environment is starting to show more and more.

It is everyone's responsibility to look for alternative ways of doing business to minimize the effect on our earth and environment. Solutions or alternatives are becoming more numerous and easier to implement every day due to technological advances, but they still take some research and work from us. Reducing air pollution has become a federal goal, through the Environmental Protection Agency, by passing more stringent laws to follow. One such law requires Reese to address all potential sources of emissions or pollution.

Things you can do as an individual include using alternative forms of energy (such as solar power), planting trees and using public transportation, car pools, or a bike to conserve fuel and reduce air pollution. Just by planting trees, you can produce enough oxygen on each acre of trees for 18 people every day; absorb enough carbon dioxide over a year's time to equal the amount you produce when you drive a car 26,000 miles; and remove gaseous pollutants by absorbing them through the pores in the leaf's surface.

Another form of pollution we in windy West Texas are well

Arbor Day on tap

by Dennis Tates
64th Civil Engineering Squadron

In recognition of National Arbor Day, Col. Roger Brady, 64th FTW commander; Col. Theron Weimer, 64th Support Group commander; and other senior wing officials will be at Windmill Park for Arbor Day activities at 10 a.m. April 29.

Two redbud trees will be dedicated in memory of Lt. Augustus F. Reese Jr., Reese's namesake. Other activities will include the presentation of the "Tree City USA" flag and plaque by Robert Fewin, state area forester. Also, Colonel Brady will announce that the base will initiate an Urban Forestry Inventory and Management Plan in support of Arbor Day efforts and the "Tree City USA" program. Also, Arbor Day pamphlets will be available for those interested.

The idea for Arbor Day originally came from Nebraska. A visit to Nebraska today would not disclose that the state was once a treeless plain. Yet it was the lack of trees which led to the founding of Arbor Day in 1872 by J. Sterling Morton. As a journalist, he expressed the need for trees to act as fuel, windbreaks against soil erosion and building material for his native state.

More than one million trees were planted that first Arbor Day in 1872. Since then, every state has established an Arbor Day.

Help us celebrate Arbor Day, and remember the idea of Arbor Day isn't limited to this one day alone. Take pride in your country and help your environment by planting a tree.

aware of its trash. In some instances, thoughtless people dump trash in the streets or in our neighborhoods; in others, it simply blows out of open trash bins or away from unattended outings. In all instances, it creates an ugly and polluted environment.

All citizens must be responsible for disposing of trash in proper containers, but an even better option is to reduce the amount of trash you generate by recycling aluminum, glass, paper and plastic. Also, try composting tree limbs and other yard waste. They alone take up over 80 percent of our landfill space.

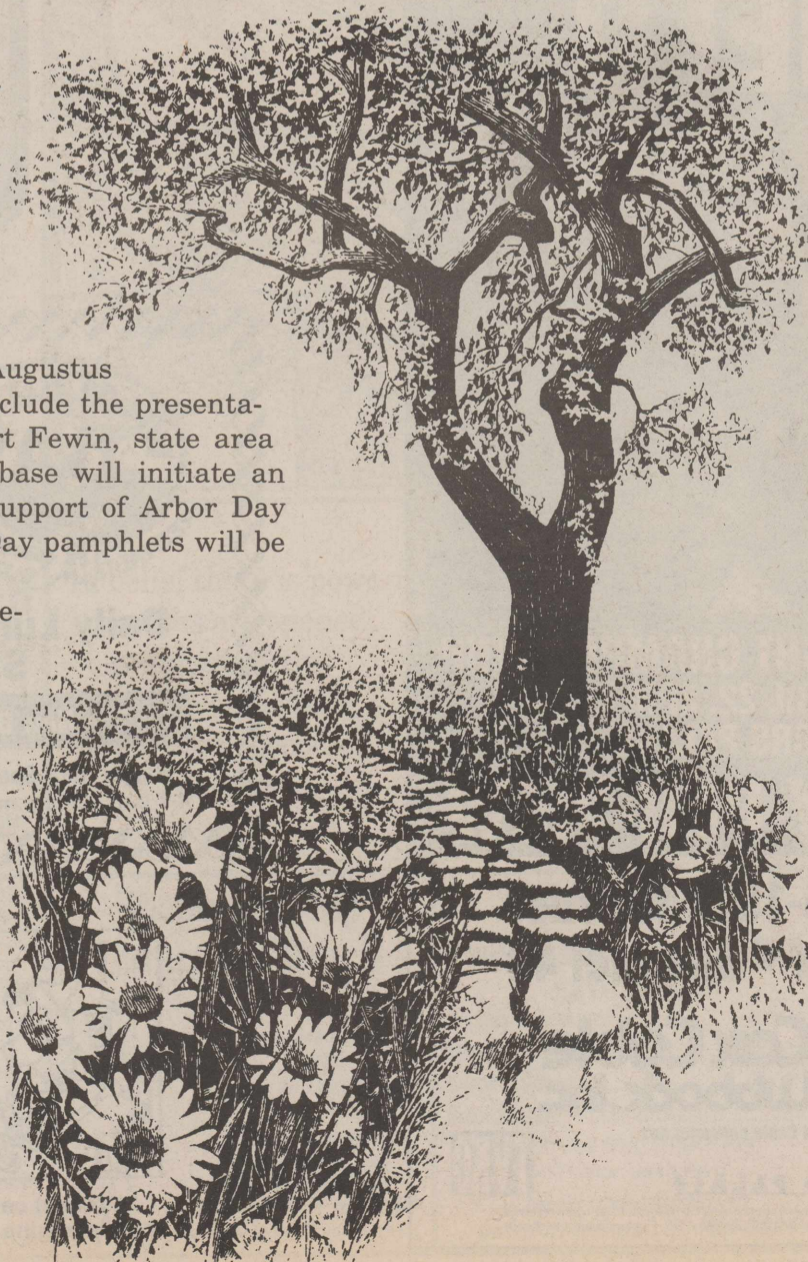

More serious pollution comes from pesticides, fertilizers and other household chemicals. These items are much more serious because their sole purpose is to kill living organisms, and in certain doses or mixtures, they can kill us. Again, it is your responsibility to dispose of hazardous household substances in a safe manner by either using it all up or giving it to someone else who could use it.

The best option is to use non-hazardous substances. For instance, use vinegar instead of bleach or baking soda instead of chemicals to clean rugs and upholstery. The base environmental flight has "household hazardous waste wheels" that have several different alternatives for anyone interested.

The environmental flight is your main source of help on environmental issues. For more information, call 6253. (Some information courtesy of Environmental Protection Agency)

Why recycle?

by Hamid Kamalpour
64th Civil Engineering
Squadron

Recycling saves energy, natural resources and landfill space. If current trends continue, Americans will eventually throw away annually more than one million tons of aluminum cans and foil, 11 million tons of glass bottles and jars, 4.5 million tons of office paper and nearly 10 million tons of newspaper. Much of this could be recycled, reducing the environmental damage caused by mining, logging and manufacturing raw materials, and decreasing the amount of garbage being sent to landfills.

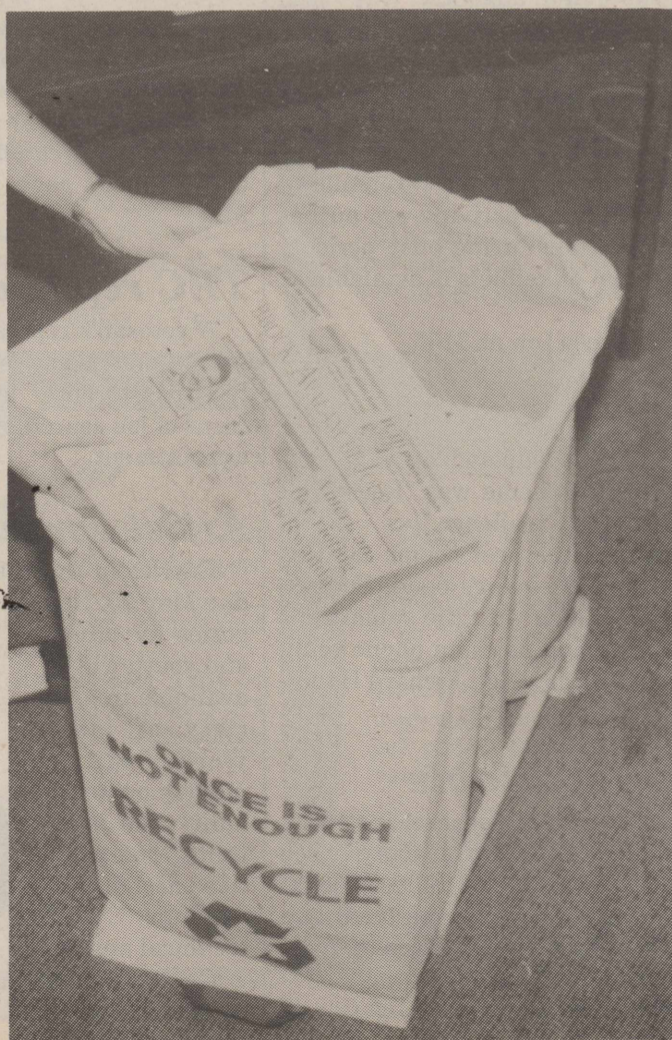

By recycling, we can save or recover a significant portion of the energy and raw material used in manufacturing new products. For instance, twenty cans can be produced from recycled aluminum with the same amount of energy it would take to manufacture a single new can from raw materials. In addition to saving energy, recycling can extend the useful life of existing landfills. Where trash is incinerated, removing glass and metals can actually improve the combustion process.

Each building on base has recycling locations for office and industrial recyclables. The resource recovery and recycling program manager is TSgt. Larry Kime. RRRP workers pick up from housing residents every Tuesday, and they offer drop-off services at the base exchange parking lot recycling trailer. RRRP personnel also provide special pick-up services for bulk items. If you're having a party, they will provide containers to put empty cans, glass and plastic bottles in and pick it up for you. This makes clean-up a snap.

The RRRP shop is now providing a new service. Every Tuesday, along with recyclables, they will pick up yard waste in housing. Please put any yard waste such as grass, leaves or small branches in a plastic bag and set it on the curb along with your recycling bags. This waste will be hauled to a large composting facility located southeast of Lubbock, keeping these bulky items out of our landfills.

To request pick-up service of bulk items, or if you would like additional information on recycling, call 3815.

'Joe knows' recycling

"Joe Recycle," the base recycling center's mascot, has a number of recycling tips for wing members according to center officials. For example, wing members should mulch when they do yard work rather than bagging their leaves and grass. It's less work, it's better for the lawn and it saves landfill space.

Recycling contest starts

by TSgt. Larry Kime
64th Civil Engineering
Squadron

The Reese Recycling Center kicked off its "I Am A Recycler" suggestion contest today as part of Earth Day.

The contest is open to all active-duty members and families, all Reese employees and families, and all Reese Elementary school children and their family members. Entry forms for the contest will be available at the Reese Elementary School, the 64th Civil Engineering Squadron Service Call Office and the Reese Recycling Center, Bldg. 2107.

There will be three categories of entries: adult, teenager (13 to 18), and juvenile (12 and under). A variety of prizes will be awarded for each first place, and a free "I AM A RECYCLER" T-shirt will go to the first 30 entries that meet guidelines. All contest entry forms and ideas will be judged in the following areas: cost effectiveness, simplicity, originality and presentation format. All contest ideas will be judged May 23 by a panel of Reese officials and community members.

The contest will culminate with a recycling fair and awards presentation May 27 at the Reese Picnic Grounds.

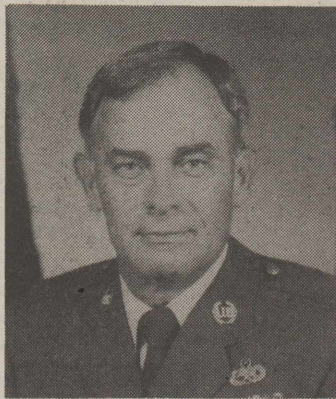

The fair will be sponsored by both Reese and the community partners from Lubbock. There will be food and drinks offered for sale, as well as recycling display booths and free gifts.

For any information or clarification of the rules, please call the recycling center at 3815 or stop by Bldg. 2107.

CMSAF released from hospital

WASHINGTON — CMSAF Gary R. Pfingston was released from Malcolm Grow Air Force Medical Center at Andrews AFB, Md., April 5.

Chief Pfingston

Chief Pfingston is recuperating at home after procedures performed at the National Naval Medical Center at Bethesda, Md., April 4.

He was hospitalized at Andrews AFB in late March after experiencing chest pains. He is expected to return to duty in about two weeks. (Air Force News Service)

No more SERBs — possibly

WASHINGTON — Selective early retirement boards are hopefully a thing of the past after fiscal 1995, said the Air Force's top personnel official.

Lt. Gen. Billy J. Boles, Air Force deputy chief of staff for personnel, said in an April 6 interview that the January 1995 lieutenant colonel SERB could be the last one, if projected end-strength requirements remain the same through the end of the decade and if projected losses continue on track.

The January 1995 board will consider 0-5s with more than 20 years of service who have already been passed over at least once for promotion, General Boles said. "We'd like to shoot for that. We don't like to SERB people who haven't been considered for promotion to colonel."

In January, the Air Force conducted what should be its last 0-6 SERB. That board identified 198 colonels for separation by Oct. 1. (Air Force News Service)

'JOC night' at club tonight

"JOC night" at the officers club tonight gets under way at 4:30 p.m. "Super" snacks will be served beginning at 5:30 p.m., a bar and grill menu will be available from 4:30 to 9 p.m., and live music begins at 7:30 p.m. with "Elvis T and the Busboys."

Enlisted call today

The quarterly enlisted call will be at 9 a.m. today in the Simler Theater. Attendance is mandatory.

Legal closure set

The legal office will close at noon today for mandatory training. People needing legal services today should arrange for them before noon. Call 3505 for more information.

Scholarship forms due

The Reese Enlisted Wives Club is accepting applications from high school seniors for their annual scholarship program. Seniors who are family members of retired and active-duty members of any service, as well as children of contract or civil service employees at Reese, are eligible.

Applications are due today and are available at the enlisted club. For details, call MSgt. Marsha Ptomey at 885-1290 between 6 and 9 p.m. weekdays.

Family conference planned

A "home improvement" family skills conference will be today and Saturday at Reese Elementary School. The Friday night-Saturday morning seminar will cover communication, family conflict, dealing with the past and forgiveness.

The event will begin with a banquet at 6 p.m. April 22; cost is $6.25. This conference is open to everyone regardless of marital status.

Child care will be provided by the Hurlwood Baptist Church, but children must be preregistered. Call the base chapel at 3237 for more information.

Boy Scouts plan sale

The base's Boy Scout troop will have a yard sale Saturday and Sunday at 104 War Highway. Proceeds will benefit the scouts' camping program.

Also, boys between 11 and 18 who are interested in scouting can also call Matt Alvarez at 3815 or 885-2426 to find out about what the Boy Scouts have to offer.

Firing range session on tap

The base firing range will be open for privately owned weapons firing from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday. Interested people must make reservations by calling 3848.

Lodging "crunch" felt

The Reese Inn is experiencing a heavy increase of transient guests, and spring and summer are expected to continue this trend. To help, wing members are asked to:

- Make reservations well in advance.
- Give billeting a phone number to call if anything changes.
- Refer questions on lodging reimbursements to the accounting office.

Families leaving the base on a permanent-change-of-station move are authorized seven nights in temporary lodging; families arriving are authorized 30, but 15 is preferable during busy periods. No pets are allowed; a list of kennels is available at the billeting office.

For details, call the Reese Inn at 3155.

Theme sought

A theme for November's enlisted awards banquet is needed. Last year's theme was "Reese Enlisted Force...Committed to Excellence."

The person submitting the best theme for this year's event will win a $50 savings bond. Suggestions are due by June 1, along with the submitter's name, organization, date and daytime phone number, to SMSgt. Marion Tate or MSgt. Richard Hamilton at "64th LS/LGSM."

Scholarships available

Health professional scholarships are available, which provide tuition, fees, educational expenses and a monthly stipend of $621 to full-time students in the final year of an associate's degree, final two years of a bachelor's degree or in an entry-level master's degree program.

The scholarship's two-year service obligation is designed to provide an adequate number of nurses, nurse anesthetists, occupational therapists, physical therapists and respiratory therapists for the Department of Veterans Affairs.

Call the education center at 3634 or the scholarship program at (202) 535-7528 for details.

TDY cards available

Applications for American Express cards, for use on official travel, are available at all units. Officers, senior NCOs and civilians in grades GS-9 and above or equivalent are eligible, regardless of frequency of travel.

Beginning Monday, people in those grades will not be able to receive TDY advances from financial services. However, individuals who apply before that date can receive advances until their card arrives.

For more information, people should contact their unit project officers. They can also call 6323.

Spouse day upcoming

Military Spouse Appreciation Day will be May 13. The day will begin with coffee and donuts at 9 a.m. at Reese Manor. Briefings on base services, tours of different base agencies, lunch and simulator rides will follow.

The day's events will end at 3 p.m. Call the family support center at 3305 for details and to sign up.

Teachers' job fair set

The Lubbock Independent School District will sponsor a job fair from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. June 3 at Monterey High School. More than 40 Texas school districts will be represented. Call the family support center at 3305 for more information.

Enlisted club seeks names

The Reese Enlisted Club is looking for suggestions on what to name the various rooms in the club. People whose suggestions are chosen will win a $25 credit to their account.

Participants can drop off their suggestions at the club cashier's cage. Winners will be announced in May.

TEC rep available

A veteran's representative of the Texas Employment Commission is available Fridays at the family support center for job assistance and development of job search materials. Call 3305 to make an appointment.

Artist contest pending

Entries in the 1994 artist-craftsman contest are due May 25. Categories for adults and youth will be available in a variety of media. Works will be judged on originality and ingenuity, composition, design, execution and technical ability.

Call 6590 for more information.

Fundraiser Is A "Souper" Success

(NAPS)—Selling soup lunches in handmade pottery bowls netted over $4,500 for a Boulder, CO, homeless shelter and Salvation Army meal projects in just one afternoon.

Colorado potters created enough bowls to serve soup to 500.

Some 75 pottery students made nearly 500 bowls for Souper Boulder, a benefit for Boulder's hungry. They persuaded local restaurants to donate soup and bread and then sold soup lunches for $12 each. Proceeds went to Boulder Salvation Army meal projects and The Boulder Shelter for the Homeless. Those who bought the lunches kept the ceramic bowls.

A "souper" idea that addresses community needs by tapping community talents!

Flying units continue torrid play under the net

by A1C Timothy E. Dempsey
64th FTW Public Affairs

Editor's note: The following standings were current as of Thursday morning.

As the final week of intramural volleyball comes to a close, the playoff picture is beginning to shape up.

The 52nd Flying Training Squadron (9-0) continued to show their power as it only took them four games to win both of their matches Tuesday night at the base gym.

In the 52nd FTS's first match, they defeated the 64th Civil Engineering (3-6) 2-0. Then they defeated the 64th Mission Support Squadron (7-3) by the same score. MSSQ has secured second place in the National League.

Even if they lost Thursday night against the 64th Security Police Squadron (2-6), the 52nd still takes the top seed in the AL for the playoffs.

The 64th Communication Squadron (6-4) has finished their regular season as the runner-up in the AL and advances to the playoffs.

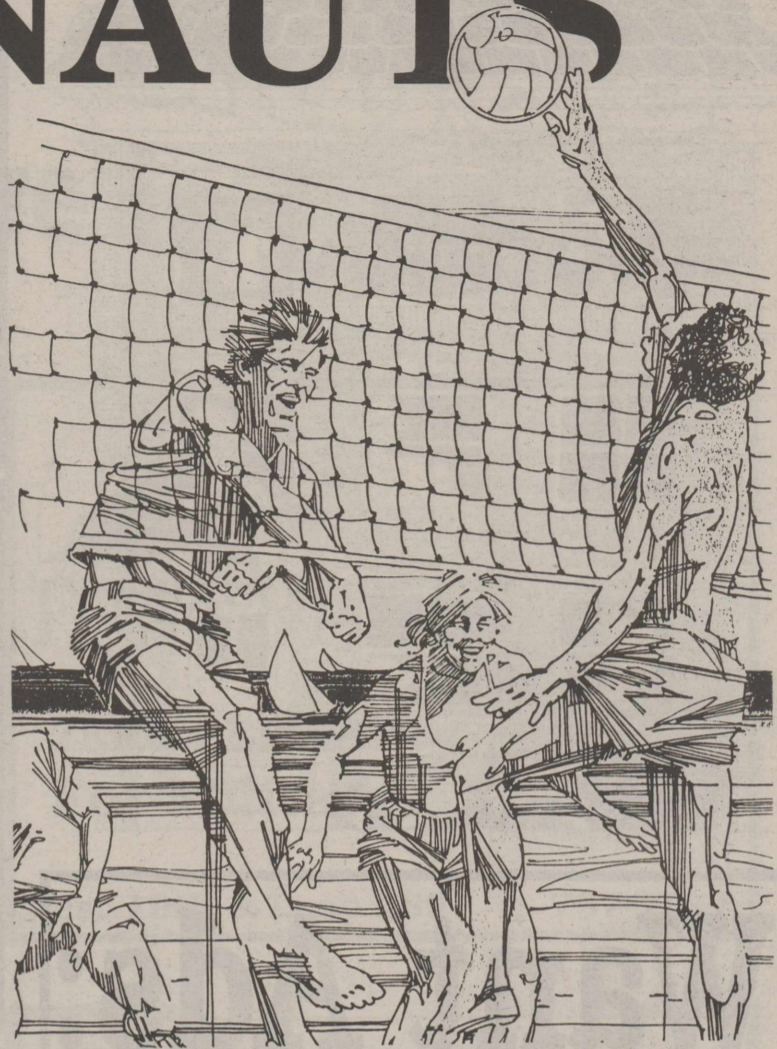

Third place in the AL is still up for grabs. The 35th FTS "B" (4-5) kept their hopes alive by winning Tuesday due to a forfeit by the 64th Medical Group "B" (0-10). The 35th FTS "B" was scheduled to face SPS Thursday.

SPS still has a chance for third in the AL. They had to defeat both the 52nd FTS and the 35th FTS "B."

In the NL, the 35th FTS "A" (9-1) has won the division title. The only blemish on their record came early in the season against the 52nd FTS.

The third place finisher in the NL is the 64th Logistics Squadron (5-5), who will receive an automatic playoff bid.

MEDGP "A" (4-5) made a run for third place but lost a critical match to LS. MEDGP "A" was scheduled to face CES Thursday as both teams bided for a wildcard playoff berth.
