Leaders send 4th greetings

by Sheila E. Widnall
Secretary of the Air Force

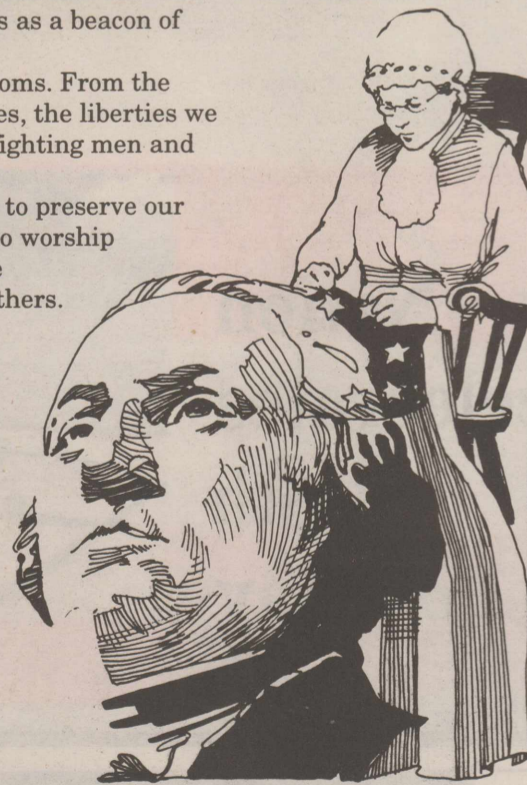

As you gather with family and friends at barbecues and fireworks displays this Fourth of July, I hope that each of you takes a moment to reflect on the freedoms we enjoy. With each passing day, increasing demands are placed on you to preserve those freedoms for the nation and around the world. Your role has expanded dramatically since the end of the Cold War. Today, in addition to being warriors, you are called upon to be teachers, leaders, peacekeepers and humanitarians. More than any other time in our history, the United States, and the men and women who represent her, has become increasingly responsible for shaping both the actions and attitudes of the people of the world. From Bosnia to Korea and from Russia to Rwanda, your enormous contributions — in the face of a staggering tempo of operations — have made the difference in dozens of countries around the world. Through your efforts, you have given strength to those people of the world clinging to freedom; and you have given hope to millions of others. There are no words that can truly express my gratitude for your efforts. I hope you have an enjoyable and safe holiday. (Air Force News Service)

Independence Day, our most “defining” national holiday, represents the living and breathing spirit of democracy. Today, 218 years after our forefathers signed the Declaration of Independence, we still revel in our nation’s freedom and the continuing quest for “liberty and justice for all.” We in the military work hard protecting our individual and collective rights, for we know they’ll not endure unless someone stands guard. Our calling to the military and service to country builds a strong bond with our American heritage. Through our service we reaffirm the proud spirit and unfailing courage of our forebears whose work two centuries ago forged the freedoms we — and the world — appreciate today ... the fall of communism, new world partnerships, emerging democracies, and more can all be traced back to July 4, 1776. As we enjoy our holiday, let’s pause to remind ourselves of the legacy of liberty shared by all Americans. By holding firmly to those ideals, we’ll be assured that we can pass our “birthright” intact to our children and future generations. (AETC News Service)

by Col. Roger Brady
64th FTW Commander

The spirit of independence is what compelled our forefathers to break away from Britain, and that spirit is still evident in our great nation today. Nowhere in the world will you find a people with greater personal liberties than we have in America. Those struggling against tyranny around the world look to the United States as a beacon of light which they strive toward. The military has always been a vital part of preserving these freedoms. From the days of the Revolutionary minutemen to today’s high-tech armed forces, the liberties we possess have always been loyally and readily protected by America’s fighting men and women. Team Reese is an outstanding example of the commitment it takes to preserve our mighty American heritage of freedom — freedom to speak the truth, to worship as we see fit and to take part in the political process — things that we might sometimes take for granted, but which are eyed with envy by others. Your commitment to excellence in accomplishing the mission and supporting our quality people are a constant source of pride for me. As we celebrate this Independence Day, let’s all remember how special our freedoms are and how blessed we are to have them. And let’s also remember that whatever we do this weekend, let’s do it safely. I want to see all of you back here Tuesday — rested, healthy and ready to continue your typically outstanding work. Have a happy Fourth!

General Viccellio cites anniversary, praises command members by Gen. Henry Viccellio Jr.

AETC Commander

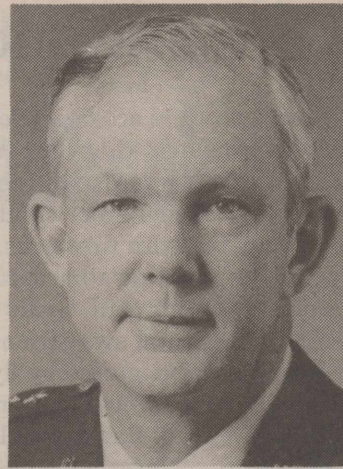

One year ago, we became Air Education and Training Command. Since then, we've established the reputation as leaders who, as our motto proclaims, truly "show the way."

The fundamental mission of our command changed when we integrated Air Training Command with Air University. Instead of simply training people, our mission became the development and growth of our Air Force's human resource and culture by nurturing the mind and spirit of our people. The primary means by which we accomplish this mission are selective recruiting, thorough training and comprehensive training. Doing all of this under one command unifies the efforts of the two previously separate commands and each draws upon the other to strengthen the system as a whole.

Our top priority is the complete development of our students, from accession through their initial training to their retirement, utilizing a comprehensive array of academic, leadership and professional training programs of the highest caliber. The synergy of education and training into a career-spanning experience is one of AETC's special strengths.

We consistently aim for excellence in teaching knowledge and skills to our students, while at the same time helping them to acquire a fuller understanding of the values, principles and style demanded by their chosen profession.

General Viccellio

We are still in the process of building an efficient, effective command — one that serves as the foundation for tomorrow's Air Force. Toward that goal, we're now graduating fully trained airmen, mission-ready for their first assignment duties; we're sending fully trained pilots into fighter, tanker and airlift aircraft, no longer needing upgrade flying training from their gaining bases; we're linking professional military education with skills training, enriching the effectiveness and capabilities of every Air Force member; and we're moving smartly into new and exciting initiatives, including dramatically expanding joint and international training.

We are "the" education and training for our Air Force. Each and every one of you should be proud of that fact, and will strive to keep the AETC mission on course.

Thanks for making AETC's first year such a success. With your continued professional attitude, support and involvement, AETC will always shine as the "First Command" for our Air Force! (AETC News Service)

General Pratt talks about 19th AF's first anniversary

by Maj. Gen. Everett H. Pratt Jr.
19th Air Force Commander

On July 1, we celebrate not only the first anniversary of 19th Air Force, but also a year of change and growth, marked by many accomplishments. We have made great strides toward our primary goal — producing mission-ready aircrew members for our combatant command customers.

General Pratt

Highlights from an outstanding year include initiating specialized undergraduate pilot training, introducing the T-1 Jayhawk and the T-3 Firefly and instituting new syllabi in all of our graduate flying training programs. Your professionalism, expertise and enthusiasm have enabled us to do all of the above and more. We have remained focused on our people and their safety which creates a quality environment for us to work in.

As we look to year two, I'm confident we will continue to find new ways to improve our effectiveness in producing mission-ready air crew members.

Fire, firework safety is paramount

by Michael Guzman
Reese Fire Inspector

The ideals of democracy and patriotism will weigh heavy in the hearts of Americans this Fourth of July as we mark 218 years of independence.

On the first anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, there was an adjournment of Congress, ceremonial dinner, ringing of bells, and fireworks.

When the skies darken on this Fourth of July and we prepare to celebrate, let us not forget fire safety. The Reese Fire Department would like to remind our community of which fire safety precautions to observe during this holiday.

Fireworks, with all the glittering colors, beautifully displayed patterns and explosive sounds, are a serious fire hazard when used carelessly. Fireworks are not toys — leave them for the professionals. They should be used only by individuals qualified and experienced in handling them.

Even sparklers are dangerous; they burn with such extreme heat that they can burn anything that comes in contact with them. Parents should heed this reminder since children are often observed playing with fireworks.

If you're planning a barbecue, keep in mind the placement of your grill. Grills should be kept clear from buildings and away from combustible materials which may be ignited by flying embers.

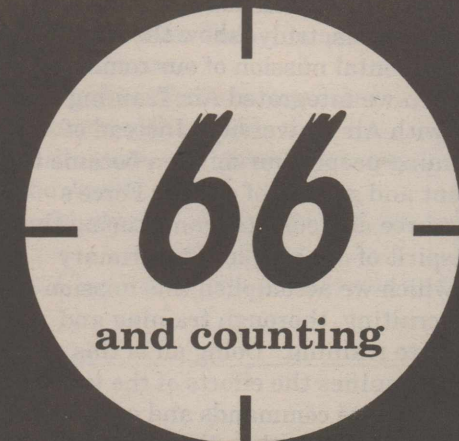

Remember, charcoal lighter fluid is a flammable liquid and like all flammable liquids, it should be used carefully. Never add charcoal lighter fluid to a burning fire.

Before leaving the barbecue, soak the hot charcoal with water to ensure the burning is extinguished.

If you're using a propane gas grill, ensure you read, understand and follow the manufacturer's operating instructions. If it requires manual lighting, have the lighter in position before turning on the gas. A malfunctioning propane grill should be repaired by a professional before use.

Don't let fire ruin your holiday.

101 Critical Days of Summer

From YOUR perspective

Editor's note: The following note is from wing commander Col. Roger Brady, addressing his concerns for future Carelines.

A Careline column provides one of the many opportunities for a commander to find out what people are thinking, what's bothering them, what they like, exactly what's on their minds. If you've wondered why we do something, or just want to make a comment, don't hesitate to call.

If you leave your name and telephone number, we'll get back to you and answer your concern by telephone.

Calls of interest to the Reese community will be published, without the caller's name, in the Roundup the following week. I look forward to hearing from you.

Calls can be made to the Careline 24 hours a day at 3273.

Pool concern

If I remember right, last year when Reese Beach was closed, Sea Breeze was open. I understand that's not the case this year and I'm wondering why. Can it be changed so that if one pool is closed, the other one is open?

In order to keep the Reese pools open, they must be financially solvent. Last year, Reese Beach was open every day except Tuesday. The Sea Breeze was also open last year, but due to minimal participation, the operation was financially insolvent. Based on that experience, we decided to open the Reese Beach the same days and hours as last year and not open the Sea Breeze except for swimming lessons, private parties and specialized UPT training. Thank you for giving us the opportunity to clarify this issue.

'Mmm, mmm good!'

I'm a dorm resident who eats daily in the chow hall. I want to say how good the food in the chow hall was today. They made barbecued chicken, barbecued ribs, baked beans, peach cobbler, fried okra and corn on the cob. It was a wonderful array of food and it tasted great!

Our food service people constantly strive to improve the quality of dining for everyone who eats in "your" dining facility. We have recently reorganized our menu planning committee to ensure we are serving you what you want — the way you want it! Upcoming special meals include a barbecue lunch July 6, a Mexican lunch July 20, Italian lunch Aug. 10, an Asian-Pacific lunch Aug. 24, another Mexican lunch Sept. 14, and another barbecue lunch Sept. 21.

We are also having an airman appreciation meal July 13. This meal will be especially for meal card holders and their guests on a reservation basis only. Commanders and first sergeants will be serving steak and lobster in candlelight.

Please continue to let us know how we're doing by using the customer suggestion program at your dining facility or by contacting SSgt. Jeffrey Durben at 3495. Thanks for your comment.

Commissary conflict

We have military coupons to buy soda from the commissary and the commissary says that they will not accept coupons because they don't say "commissary" on top. But they do say "military coupons." I was just wondering when the commissary became a civilian store.

You didn't give us specific examples of the "military coupons" you mentioned, but one common misunderstanding deals with those coupons that state "Valid in CONUS AAFES exchanges only" or "Valid in CONUS commissaries only." Since exchanges and military commissaries are distinct organizations, these coupons are not interchangeable.

Our customer service personnel will be glad to discuss any questions about specific coupons. Thanks for your call.

CES gets new leader

by SSgt. Mike Breslin
Editor

Maj. Leonard Fischman will take command of the 64th Civil Engineer Squadron during a change-of-command ceremony at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday in CES parking lot.

Major Fischman takes command from Capt. Keith Yaktus, who has served as CES interim commander for the last two months. Captain Yaktus will resume his duties as chief of the CES Operations Flight.

Major Fischman comes to Reese from Randolph AFB, Texas, where he was chief of operations for the 12th CES. A 14-year service veteran, the major was born in Alabama and moved around the world in his youth as part of a military family.

He earned a commission through ROTC at the University of Nebraska in 1979, also obtaining a bachelors degree in industrial engineering. In 1989, he earned a master's in aviation science from Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University.

During his career, the major has served in base- and headquarters-level positions at Williams AFB, Ariz.; Beale AFB, Calif.; RAF Fairford and High Wycombe AS, United Kingdom; and Langley AFB, Va. He said he is excited about his new command.

"Being a civil engineer squadron commander has been a dream of mine since I was a lieutenant," the major said. "CE is a great place to work. It's one of the rare jobs where you directly support the mission and get to serve people one on one."

Major Fischman's decorations include the Meritorious Service Medal with one oak leaf cluster, the Air Force Commendation Medal with one oak leaf cluster and the Navy Meritorious Unit Commendation Ribbon.

The major is married to the former Karen Krynski of New Jersey.

Tech list released

Eleven wing NCOs were selected for promotion to technical sergeant, as the annual promotion list was released June 23.

The local selectees are:

In AETC, 744 staff sergeants were selected out of a group of 6,791 eligibles for a rate of 10.96 percent. Throughout the Air Force, 6,320 out of 56,422 eligible members were picked for a servicewide rate of 11.2 percent.

LS member tops in class

A member of the 64th Logistics Squadron was the top graduate in Reese Airman Leadership School Class 94-C, which graduated June 17 in the enlisted club.

Sgt. Miguel Arellano won the John L. Levitow Honor Graduate Award as the class's top member.

Sergeant Arellano

He also captured the military citizenship award.

Also cited during the graduation were SrA. Tamika Canady, LS, and SrA. Derek Koloshinsky, 64th Operations Squadron, who were the class's distinguished graduates. School officials explained that the top ten percent of the class are designated as "DGs."

AETC compiles QAF surveys

by Sgt. Pauline Aldridge
AETC Public Affairs

RANDOLPH AFB, Texas — Leadership is strong, while communication is an area needing improvement, according to preliminary results of the first AETC Quality Air Force survey.

Final results will be broken down, analyzed and distributed to wing commanders at Reese and other AETC units, according to the Reese Quality Office.

Overall survey results indicate command members are positive about leadership, rating it at 5.34 on a scale of one to seven. At the same time, however, they feel a need for improvement in communication, giving it a 5.05 rating, said Maj. Eddy Billman, AETC Quality Office coordinator.

Major Billman expects survey ratings will have more meaning to individual wings, groups and squadrons. "The survey will show more individual differences at a concentrated unit. For example, wing results will reflect a greater variance in the numbers than the overall command results," he said. Results reflect a progressively narrower focus as they move from the command to the wing, group and squadron levels, according to Major Billman.

Using the data, commanders will be able to identify areas for improvement best suited for their organizations. "Our survey is aimed at learning how people feel about their day-to-day quality culture — it is like an emotional barometer. Local commanders can better answer the needs of individual and daily concerns," he said.

More than 20,000 responded to the computer-based, 50-question quality culture survey distributed in April. Survey takers wrote answers to questions and used a one to seven scale — the higher number indicating more positive feelings about a statement. The areas surveyed were leadership, quality, workplace, mission, job and communication. The following are the 10 highest and 10 lowest ranked statements on the QAF survey:

Highest

1. I know my job description. (5.97)
2. I am proud of my job. (5.94)
3. I know my unit's mission. (5.92)
4. I know what is expected of me concerning my job performance. (5.91)
5. My supervisor shows confidence in my ability to do the job right the first time. (5.87)
6. I know how my work contributes to my unit's goals and mission accomplishments. (5.85)

7. My supervisor gives me the freedom to work with a minimum amount of supervision and direction. (5.85)

8. My supervisor's actions show that he/she wants me to succeed in my job. (5.70)

9. My supervisor demonstrates confidence and trust in me by giving me additional responsibility. (5.60)

10. I wholeheartedly support AETC quality. (5.58)

Lowest

1. My unit identifies and avoids duplication of effort. (4.28)

2. My unit's workload is fairly distributed. (4.45)

3. My unit has effective communication channels. (4.56)

4. The work I do is free of rework and waste. (4.60)

5. My unit's QIs accurately measure our work/processes. (4.72)

6. The meetings I attend run on schedule (start and end on time). (4.76)

7. The meetings I attend achieve their purpose. (4.78)

8. I receive recognition for working with others to solve problems and/or improve the way we do our work. (4.83)

9. My unit implements my ideas/suggestions. (4.84)

10. I receive recognition and respect for doing my job well. (4.85)

Notes

Weather woes continue

Mother Nature continued to flex her muscle on the South Plains this week, as Reese was subjected to the extremes of summer weather.

As Lubbock broke its all-time record Monday at 114 degrees, Reese hit 116 according to base weather station officials. The day was part of the heat wave that has gripped this area of late.

The heat continued throughout the week, but was broken up by a fierce storm that struck the area before dawn Wednesday. Wing members reporting to work Wednesday morning were greeted by a slew of felled tree limbs, courtesy of the storm's peak winds — nearly 60 mph. One-half inch of rain fell overnight.

Weather officials said that the heat wave will continue this weekend, with high temperatures in the low- to mid-100s. There is a slight chance of precipitation.

Tragedy strikes Fairchild again

FAIRCHILD AFB, Wash. — Four crew members from the 92nd Bomb Wing here died June 24 when their B-52H bomber crashed northeast of the base air traffic control tower.

Those killed included Col. Robert E. Wolff, 92nd BW vice commander and the aircraft's pilot; the colonel has several family members in Lubbock. The B-52 was on a "transitional sortie" — a flight that remains in the local area — and practicing touch-and-go landings when it crashed at 2:16 p.m. PDT, officials said. The accident is being investigated, said base officials.

The aircraft, the last B-52 bomber stationed at Fairchild, was slated to appear at the base's open house June 26. The open house was canceled following the crash.

Air Force Secretary Sheila E. Widnall had visited Fairchild three hours before the crash to attend memorial services for four other people killed at Fairchild earlier in the week when a former airman went on a shooting spree.

A1C Dean Mellberg, 20, of Lansing, Mich., also wounded 23 other people before being shot to death by a base security policeman. Mellberg had been discharged from the Air Force in May for a personality and character disorder. (Air Force News Service)

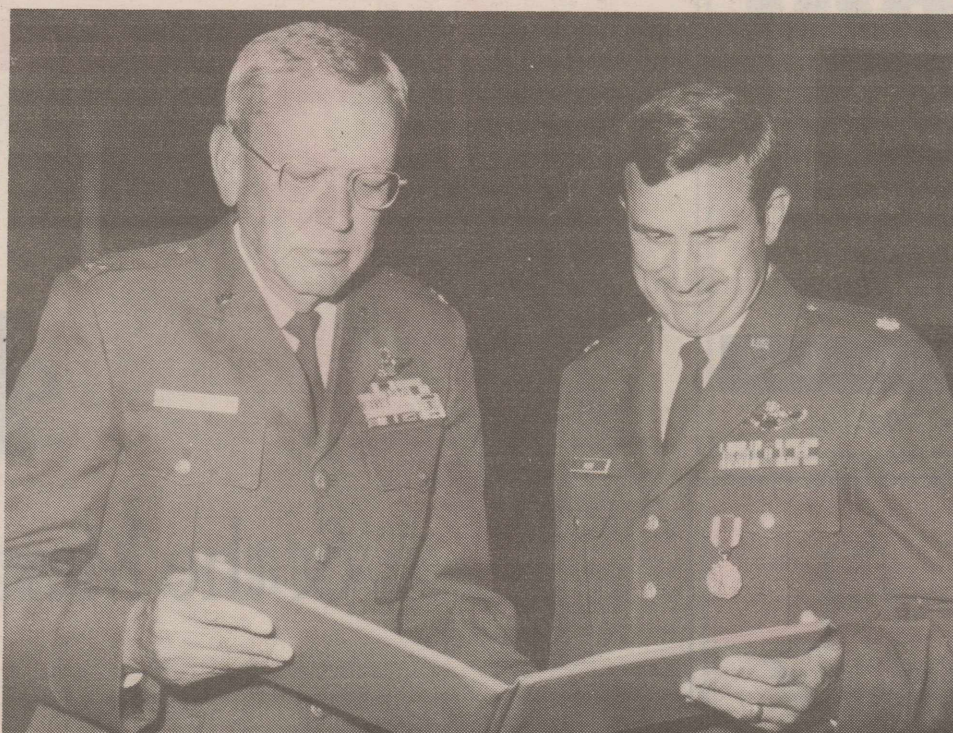

Enlisted feedback changes

RANDOLPH AFB, Texas — Raters now have 60 days instead of 30 to complete an enlisted feedback session on an individual who has just received an Enlisted Performance Report if there has been no change of reporting official.

Extending the time to 60 days allows raters more time to prepare an accurate evaluation, said officials at the Air Force Military Personnel Center here.

This change is effective immediately and is being incorporated in the new Air Force Instruction 36-2403 covering the Enlisted Evaluation System.

For more information, call the military personnel flight at 3339. (Air Force News Service)

Postal jobs briefed

A representative of the postal service will be at the family support center at 2 p.m. July 13 to discuss how to get a postal job. For details and reservations, call 3079, 3305 or 3310.

Orientation set

A family day care orientation will be from 5:30 to 7 p.m. July 14 in the child development center for housing residents who want to provide professional child care services in their home. Call Gloria Goff at 6270 or 3541 for details.

Tops in Blue performs Wednesday in Lubbock

Tops in Blue, the Air Force's world renowned top entertainment group is coming to the Lubbock Municipal Auditorium at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday.

The troupe consists of active-duty military members who perform annually for audiences worldwide. Filled with music, art, special effects and choreography, the show is comparable to a Broadway show. The 1994 tour will take the 30-member cast, band and staff of airmen throughout the United States and to more than 13 foreign countries with a total of over 100 performances.

The Tops in Blue program began in 1953 when Maj. Alvin E. Reilly, now a retired colonel, created the Air Force Worldwide Talent Contest to showcase the caliber of entertainment in the Air Force community. The contest begins at each base where performers compete and entertain local audiences. Base winners then go on to compete at higher levels, until they reach the Air Force Worldwide Talent Contest.

Today, performers in the worldwide contest compete for the "Roger," the Air Force equivalent of the actor's Oscar or Emmy, and the opportunity to perform with Tops in Blue. Over its 40-year history, Tops in Blue has performed in films, produced albums and has been featured on national television with such celebrities as Ed Sullivan and Bob Hope. They've performed with some of the music industry's top performers, such as Alabama and Lee Greenwood.

On Jan. 20, 1985, with an estimated 110 million people watching worldwide, Tops in Blue took the stage as the featured half-time entertainment show for Super Bowl XIX. Tops in Blue has also performed in Guam, in the heat of Saudi Arabia, at the World's Fair in Spain, Christmas Day in Korea, and in countries including Turkey, Honduras, Greenland, Iceland, Japan, Greece, Belgium, Germany, and more.

Free tickets for their Lubbock show can be obtained at the Select-a-Seat ticket office in the Memphis Place Mall, located at 50th Street and Memphis Avenue, or by calling Randall Tweedy at 6703.

Ralph Monson

Tops in Blue, seen here during their 1992 Lubbock performance, returns Wednesday to entertain Reese and South Plains residents.

A great place to celebrate

by Sandy Fuller
64th FTW Public Affairs

Graduation, bridal showers, Fourth of July picnics — with the onset of summer comes a slew of seasonal festivities. Wing members looking for a place to celebrate a certain occasion need look no further than Reese Manor.

Built in 1987 with funds from Model Installation Program awards, Reese Manor is a show place in which organizational functions may be held, such as commander's calls, retirements and change-of-command ceremonies. Unofficial functions may be held there as well, free of charge, such as birthday parties, wedding receptions and holiday get-togethers.

The interior of Reese Manor boasts carpeting, "cozy" sofas and wing chairs, and two conference-size tables with chairs for dining, according to 64th Services Squadron officials. A small kitchen comes complete with a microwave oven. A gas log fireplace and piano add "delightful" finishing touches.

Outside are patio furniture with umbrellas available and a grill for summer barbecues.

Alcoholic beverages are not allowed in the building without previous written authorization from the 64th Support Group commander or deputy commander. Smoking is also prohibited inside.

While the keys for the use of Reese Manor are in a wing member's possession, he or she is responsible for the building until the keys are checked back in. This includes security of the facility, cleaning the interior and exterior, vacuuming and returning furniture to its original position.

Reese Manor is available to active-duty and retired military members and Reese civilian employees. According to TSgt. David Fosse, NCO in charge of the Reese Inn billeting office, which handles reservations, a $50 clean-up and damage deposit is required.

Reese Manor may be reserved by calling 3155 during regular duty hours.

MDG atop softball action

American League race heats up

by SSgt. Mike Breslin
Editor

Editor's note: All standings are current as of Thursday morning.

The 64th Medical Group holds the best intramural softball record on base, going 3-0 over the last week.

MDG leads the National League comfortably, while the remaining teams are bunched together in the standings. Second-place is separated from last in the NL by only one and one-half games.

Meanwhile, the race for the American League crown has tightened as the 64th Communications Squadron, which won their two contests of the week, has moved into a virtual deadlock with the 54th Flying Training Squadron. The flyers stumbled in recent days, dropping a pair of games. One of those defeats came at CS's hands. As a result, CS now possesses a better winning percentage, although the 54th has played three more games thus far.

The NL lost one team this week as the 35th FTS "B" forfeited out. Other action included:

□ June 23: The 64th Civil Engineer Squadron beat the 64th Logistics Squadron, 6-3; CS dropped the 54th FTS, 7-2; Lockheed burned the Reese Fire Department, 15-3; MDG edged LS, 10-9; and Navy won by forfeit over the 35th FTS "B."

□ June 24: The 64th Mission Support Squadron soaked the fire department, 12-6; Lockheed beat the 64th Operations Support Squadron, 9-5; LS crushed Navy, 18-8.

□ Monday: CS slipped by LS, 8-6; MDG basted the 54th FTS in what was then a battle of league leaders, 13-2; fire department sunk Navy in a 10-inning thriller, 5-4; MSS added to Allied Management of Texas's season of woe, beating them 12-1; and CES beat MSS later that night, 6-2.

□ Wednesday: CES beat OSS, 15-11; the 52nd FTS downed MSS, 6-2; LS and the fire department picked up forfeit victories over the 35th FTS "B;" and MDG continued their winning ways against the 35th FTS "A," 8-7.

Now through Labor Day, the Windmill Lanes Bowling Center will have the following hours: 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. weekdays, 9:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. Saturdays and closed Sundays and holidays.

Summer 'splash' coming

Beginning today, Windmill Lanes customers can take part in the "Summer Splash," scheduled to run through Aug. 31.

Summer splash is a program for all authorized customers and offers two specials — bowl one, get one free bowling during open periods designated by the bowling center manager; and an opportunity to win a new car, a family vacation package for four, cash or one of many local prizes.

Summer splash is open to all active-duty and retired personnel and their family members, reservists, Department of Defense employees and other authorized customers. Guests of authorized customers, persons under 18 years of age and bowling center employees and their immediate family members are not eligible for major prizes. Call the center at 3116 for details.

Bowling center schedule

Today: Bowling costs $1 per game. After three games, bowlers can register for drawings for Texas Water Rampage tickets; drawings will be July 18 and Aug. 1.

Saturday: "Country club" bowling from 10 a.m. to noon.

Sunday and Monday: Closed.

Tuesday: Kids "no tap" league at 1:30 p.m.

Non-smoking league at 6 p.m.; no smoking in the center.

Wednesday: Adult "have a ball" league at 6:30 p.m.

Thursday: Country club bowling from 9 to 11 a.m. and 4 to 5 p.m.

Fun run is July 9

A flagpole fun run will begin 8 a.m. July 9 at the flagpole in front of wing headquarters. Show time is 7:30 a.m. This free eight-mile run will have categories for open runners and seniors (35 and up).

T-shirts will be awarded to the first male and female finishers in each category. For entry forms, stop by the fitness center.

Golf tourney set

A "dry line" golf tournament will take place at 8:30 a.m. July 16 on the High Plains Golf Course. The two-man, low-ball tournament costs $25 per team; cart included.

The tournament will cover 18 holes; flights will be determined after nine holes.

Cash prizes will be awarded. Golfers can sign up at the golf course between now and July 14. All Reese people and their guests are welcome.

Youth karate classes on tap

Karate classes for youth 5 and older are available from 6 to 7 p.m. Mondays and Fridays. The cost is $25 per month.

Call the youth center at 3820 for more information.
