Hours set for trick-or-treating in Reese Village

Trick-or-treating in Reese Village is scheduled for Tuesday from 6 to 8 p.m., according to 64th Security Police officials.

In preparation for trick-or-treating, the gates on the south side of Reese Village will be closed at 5 p.m., one hour before the gates are normally shut. In addition, entry to Reese Village through Mitchell Boulevard will be restricted to people with Department of Defense identification cards and bonafide guests of village residents.

64th SPS officials said the special "pumpkin" patrols will be on duty in the village and McGruff the Crime Fighting Dog will be handing out Halloween treats.

Parents are reminded that all candy should be inspected by an adult before children are allowed to eat it. A candy check will be available at the Visitor Reception Center. A hand-held metal detector will be used to check the candy. Security police officials stress that parents should still inspect all candy closely, even after it has been scanned.

Anyone who discovers any treats that appear to have been tampered with should immediately call the 64th SPS at

Those off-base military families and guests who are planning on trick-or-treating in Reese Village should walk from house-to-house. 64th SPS officials advise people not to drive behind trick-or-treaters.

The 64th SPS also offers some common-sense safety tips for a safe Halloween:

- Check to ensure costumes are flame-retardant.
- Keep costumes short to prevent tripping.
- Use make-up — masks can obstruct a child's vision.
- Make sure kids wear light colors or put reflective tape on their costumes.

□ Trick-or-treaters should be in groups and accompanied by a responsible adult.

□ Make sure kids know not to enter strangers' houses or cars.

□ Try to get kids to trick-or-treat while it's still light out. If it's dark, carry a flashlight.

□ Kids should not eat treats until they get home.

□ Make sure your front exterior lights are turned on.

□ Have a responsible adult serve trick-or-treaters.

□ Use a flashlight instead of a candle in the jack-o'-lantern.

Reese adds closure to wing mission statement

by Col. Randy Gelwix
64th FTW commander

The senior wing leadership recently devoted several hours to an executive session, analyzing the best way to include base closure into the wing mission.

We all felt the first step was to modify our current mission, vision and goals to cover the appropriate aspects of closure.

The result is at the right. Changes and additions to the previous statement are underlined.

Our strategic plan to close is very simple ... we're going to do it efficiently, effectively and with style and grace while ensuring at every step along the way that all Reese people ... civilian, contractor and military ... are provided the best possible assignment or transition.

My focus is on taking care of people. I ask all of you to continue making your contribution to the wing mission ... do your job ... and let your commander or contract manager work with you to secure your next place of employment.

Executing our flying mission safely and smartly will always be our primary mission. When the flying stops in February 1997, then closure becomes the primary focus.

I'm confident that we can do it all ... with class and style.

Reese prepares to begin TriCare Wednesday

Changes will translate to better overall care for beneficiaries

by Col. Monica Figun
64th Medical Group commander

As Nov. 1 quickly approaches, the 64th Medical Group faces one of its most significant challenges - implementation of TriCare.

We are absolutely committed to making the transition as smooth as possible, but, as with anything new, change is inevitable. I want to take a few moments of your time to review some of the more significant changes, particularly in accessing the medical clinic.

As we have briefed, TriCare Prime enrollees must be seen within very definite time parameters: acutely ill within 24 hours, routine needs within one week and wellness visits within one month. These standards guarantee your access. Therefore, there is no need for anyone to "walk-in" seeking an appointment.

Effective Wednesday, there will be no walk-in clinic and no week-end/holiday clinic. Access to care, for Prime enrollees, will be through their primary care manager, via the appointment desk, health care finder, or health care information line.

Let me make one clarification to the above. Active-duty sick call will continue as you know it. In order to determine, early in the day, whether or not an active duty member should report/return to duty, sick call will remain in the primary care clinic from 7:30 to 8:30 a.m., and in the flight surgeons' office from 7:30 to 8:30 a.m. and from 1 to 1:30 p.m.

Patients, other than TriCare Prime enrollees, will not be able to make an appointment in the clinic. They will be seen on a "space available" basis. That essentially means that a patient may come to the clinic and wait to determine if there is an available appointment, but it does not guarantee that they will be seen.

That is why we are encouraging anyone who made the choice not to enroll in TriCare Prime to establish themselves with a local, civilian provider. It sincerely is in your best interest.

For answers about TriCare call the TriCare service center at 885-2999/1866

If you have made the decision not to enroll in TriCare Prime or are a retired member or retired family member using a civilian primary care manager, we will make copies of your medical records for you to take to your civilian provider. Initially, we will copy the last six months of entries in order to meet the volume of requests in a timely manner.

Later, we will copy the remaining record upon request. There will be no fee for the first six months of entries; later there may be a nominal fee for the remaining record. Request copies from the outpatient record department. Please make your requests as soon as possible, and allow us about two weeks to process your record.

The 64th Medical Group will continue to fill prescriptions from civilian providers as long as the medication is available in the Pharmacy.

After normal duty hours, TriCare Prime enrollees must seek care through the health care information line and their primary care manager. If, however, you perceive that you have an emergency situation, call 911 or proceed to an emergency room, preferably Methodist Hospital or South Park, if you are able to make a choice.

After hours care, except emergencies, for active-duty members requires the authorization of your primary care manager. Active-duty members may reach their primary care manager by calling 885-3515. Active duty members are likewise requested to seek emergency care at Methodist or South Park hospitals, if able to make the choice.

You must make the choice of a health care option that best suits your needs. Information and assistance regarding the three options of TriCare are available in the TriCare service center located in the 64th MDG, or you may call 885-2999.

I am personally committed to ensuring that you have quality health care regardless of the option you choose. Please feel free to address your concerns in person to the TriCare office, by phone at 885-3521, or by mail to 64th MDG/SGST, 250 13th Street, Reese AFB TX 79489-5008.

Chief Barber selected as AETC/CCC

RANDOLPH AIR FORCE BASE, Texas (AETCNS) — Chief Master Sgt. Annette M. Barber has been selected as Air Education and Training Command's second senior enlisted advisor.

Barber replaces Chief Master Sgt. Thomas H. Sanford, who retires Nov. 17 after more than 30 years of service. Barber assumes the command position Nov. 18.

Barber comes to headquarters from Lackland Air Force Base, Texas where she serves as the senior enlisted advisor for the 59th Medical Wing.

Barber enlisted in the Air Force in October 1973 and served her first duty assignment as a medical technician at Wilford Hall Medical Center, Lackland AFB, Texas.

The 22-year veteran has held various positions in the medical field, served as a professional military education instructor and first sergeant. She has also served tours in Florida, Korea, Saudi Arabia, Germany and Arizona.

As AETC senior enlisted advisor, Barber will be responsible for the morale, welfare, assignment and effective utilization of approximately 46,000 AETC enlisted people at more than 1,400 locations worldwide.

She will also serve as their liaison to Gen. Billy Boles, AETC commander.

Barber and her husband, Donny, a retired senior master sergeant, have two sons, Guy and Bobby.

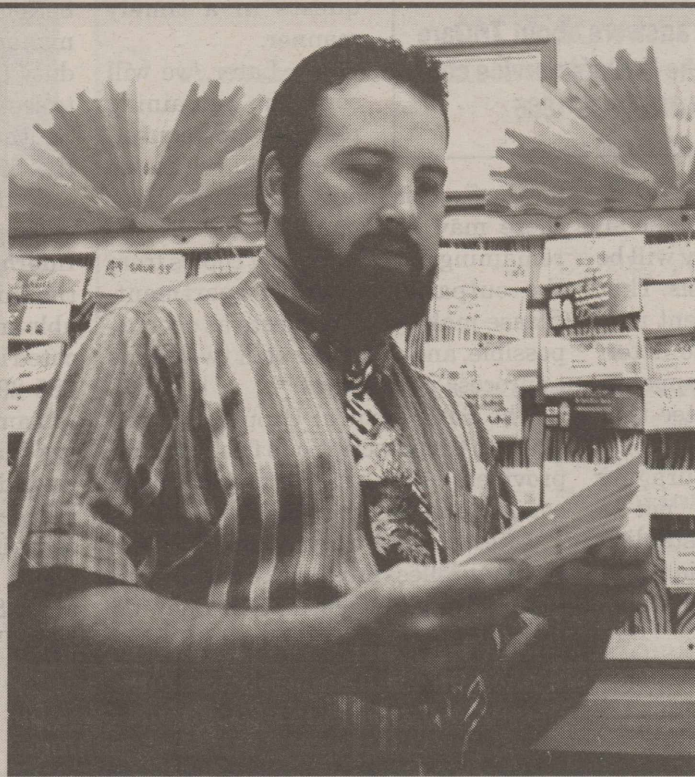

Sanford served as the AETC

SEA for more than two years. He enlisted in the Air Force in February 1966 and held a variety of air operations and instructor assignments at the squadron, group, wing, major command and air staff levels.

He served at bases in Mississippi, the Philippines, Delaware, Vietnam, Virginia, Germany, Spain, Florida and Washington D.C.

Air Force alters some reenlistment bonuses

RANDOLPH AIR FORCE BASE, Texas (AFNS) — Servicemembers in more than a dozen Air Force specialties face changes in their selective reenlistment bonuses.

The Air Force announced changes to the SRB program after a review with functional managers and major command representatives.

The changes, which become effective throughout the Air Force Sunday, are:

Zone-A additions
AFSC _____ Multiplier

Zone-A increases

The service also announced that several AFSCs would be removed from the SRB list and a few others would experience reductions.

Again, these changes are effective Sunday. The AFSCs affected are:

Zone-A Terminations
4F0X1, 4P0X1, 4N1X1 (basic only, shreds not included)

Zone-B Terminations
4P0X1, 4N1X1 (basic only, shreds not included).

Zone-A Reductions

Zone-B Reductions

4H0X1 _____ 1
4J0X2 _____ .5
4R0X1 _____ 1
4R0X2 _____ 1

Zone A refers to airmen having 21 months to six years of service.

Airmen in Zone B have six to 10 years of service.

For more information regarding these changes, contact the Reese Military Personnel Flight's career enhancement section at 6189.

Corps begins environmental tests

Employees working around the flight line shops may see soil gas survey investigation teams at work.

The survey project is expected to last until Nov. 30. Soil gas activity is under the RCRA phase I Facility Investigation and supports remedial action for cleaning up the groundwater contamination, according to a U.S. Army Corps of Engineers official.

The work crews will be working out of the back of two panel vans.

Soil gas activity consists of driving a hollow steel rod into the ground. After special equipment is installed onto the rod a soil gas sample is collected from a depth of 15 feet.

In some areas the crews will be coring through the concrete and asphalt parking areas. There are an estimated 375 holes scheduled for this area. Each hole will take approximately 20 minutes to complete.

Work will start on the north end of the flight line and move to the south as work progresses around the buildings. Buildings located near this activity are: 102, 92, 91, 89, 82, 79, 76, 75, 20, 36, 74, 73, 70, 61, 60, 59, 52, 50 and 43.

Contractors staked the parking lots and grassy areas last week. If a painted test point is located inside a particular parking space it will be cordoned off the day before.

Some survey work will be done along the east edge of Taxiway A. The survey includes the entire length of the industrial drain line.

Runway operations will not be impaired, however, the contractor will be driving rods near the parking apron in front of the industrial shops. Please adapt to them by giving them some distance. The noise from the activity sounds similar to a jackhammer.

Back to Standard Time

Don't forget to set clocks back one hour this weekend. We officially go back to Standard Time at 2 a.m. Sunday.

Two NCOs charged in fighter pilot's death

WASHINGTON (AFNS) — Two Air Force sergeants at Spangdahlem Air Base, Germany, were charged Oct. 10 with negligent homicide in the death of an F-15C pilot who was killed in a crash May 30.

TSgt. William T. Campbell and TSgt. Thomas P. Mueller, both of the 52nd Equipment Maintenance Squadron, were also charged with four counts each of dereliction of duty.

If brought to trial and found guilty, the NCOs could each face a maximum jail term of four years, a dishonorable discharge, forfeiture of all pay and allowances, and reduction to airman basic, stated a 52nd Fighter Wing news release.

Maj. Donald G. Lowry Jr., who was on a routine training mission, died when his aircraft failed to operate properly during a takeoff roll and crashed.

Charges allege that the two maintenance NCOs negligently installed and inspected the fighter's longitudinal and lateral flight control rods, failed to inspect the work, and failed to complete the aircraft maintenance paperwork properly, said the news release.

Administrative actions also could be taken against "several other" 52nd EMS servicemembers, the official said.

Life Goes On

Reese Closure Survey Team Visits Oct. 10-13

Reese Air Force Base, Texas — Headquarters Air Education and Training Command (AETC), the parent command for Reese's 64th Flying Training Wing, will send a 16-member site survey team to Reese, Oct. 11-13. Following the stop at Reese, the survey team will also visit AETC's three other undergraduate pilot training bases before mid-November.

The visit marks the beginning of Reese's closure process and the redistribution of Reese assets and mission to the other three bases. According to Major Mike Connolly, survey team chief, "The objective of our visit is to identify all assets requiring redistribution from Reese, to determine Reese closure costs, to validate data gathered during Base Realignment and Closure (BRAC) site surveys in March and April, to assess the capability of all remaining bases to accept the increased workload generated by Reese closure, and to review beddown plans for additional resources. In addition to these BRAC '95 requirements, we will also determine the military construction required to allow the three remaining bases to accomplish peak pilot training production in future years."

According to Colonel Randy Gelwix, 64th Flying Training Wing commander, "The fact of Reese's closure became law Sept. 28 and the official closure date is set for Sept. 30, 1997. After the survey team completes its visits to each base, a time line will be developed for the orderly, phased drawdown of the base's mission and personnel from Reese."

The team will visit Vance AFB, Enid, Okla., Oct. 23-26; Columbus AFB, Miss., Oct. 30-Nov. 2, and Laughlin AFB, Del Rio, Texas, Nov. 6-9.

Team representatives will work with their Reese counterparts in the areas of aircraft maintenance; airfield operations, civil engineering; command, control, communications, and computers; contracting; services, supply and equipment accounts.

News Release, Oct. 6, 1995

Yes, Reese will close Sept. 30, 1997.

But for now, life at Reese Air Force Base goes on as usual.

Flying missions continue as usual and new people are arriving at Reese each month. Orientation sessions are being held to acquaint newcomers with Reese and Lubbock.

Reese continues to be a vital part of Lubbock and the area.

Reese workers — officers, enlisted men and women, civilian employees and contractors — will earn combined salaries of more than $80 million this year. Most of this payroll will be spent in Lubbock and the surrounding area. Air Force people with their stable income can afford quality goods and services.

You can increase your chances of winning Reese customers by advertising in The ROUNDUP, the base's weekly newspaper. Because of the advertising dollars generated in the Roundup, no tax dollars are used in the printing of the newspaper. As long as the advertisers' support is there, the newspaper will continue in its current format.

Local businesses can increase their chances of tipping the profit scales in their favor by placing ads in the base paper.

The Roundup has always been a vital part of Reese in helping the commander keep in touch with the "troops." The paper also keeps Reese folks informed about what is going on for entertainment on the base as well as in Lubbock.

- Q How Do CHAMPUS-Eligible Beneficiaries Enroll in TRICARE Prime?
- A Eligible beneficiaries must obtain an enrollment packet and select a Primary Care Manager. There is no enrollment fee for active-duty family members. Retirees, retiree family members and survivors do have an annual enrollment fee which can be paid in quarterly installments. Beneficiaries simply mail in a completed enrollment application. TriCare questions, answers

by 1st Lt. Ward Hinger

Q. I am a CHAMPUS eligible retiree. I want to sign up for the civilian TRICARE Prime option but I experienced some difficulty when I called the providers on the list I was given, what should I do?

A. We are currently working to resolve this issue. The civilian provider network is our number one priority. There has been an unfortunate miscommunication between the Lubbock civilian network and the contractor, Foundation Health Federal Services. Currently, representatives from both parties are working to resolve any misunderstandings.

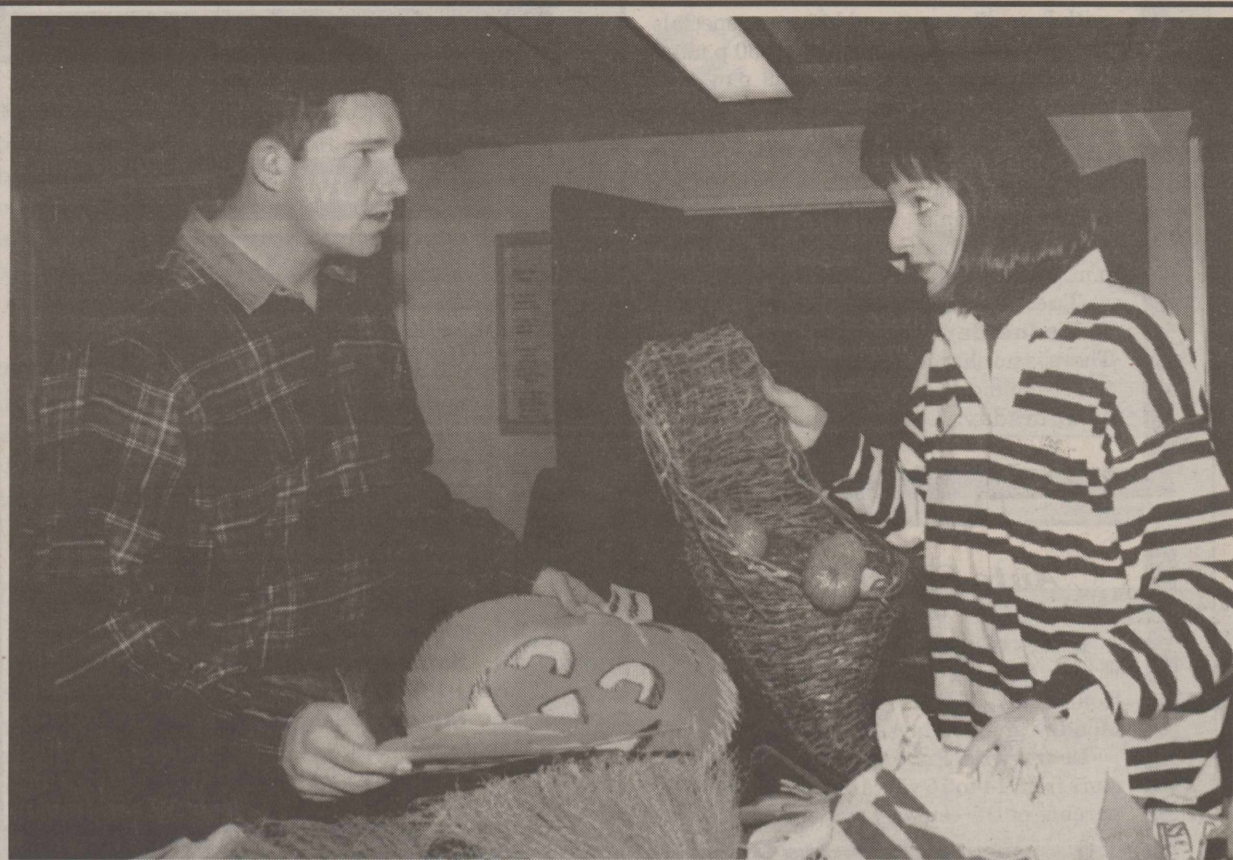

Complete resolution of this technicality is expected by today. Due to this delay, we are extending the enrollment deadline to Tuesday. If your application is turned into the TRICARE Service Center by Tuesday, your effective date for TRICARE Prime will still be Wednesday. We sincerely apologize for any inconvenience that might have been experienced. For further questions, please stop by the center (Bldg 1300, Room 342) or call 885-2999/1866.

Q. Will CHAMPUS-eligible retirees and retiree family members who want to enroll in TRICARE Prime be enrolled to a civilian Primary Care Manager?

A. Yes, since Reese is closing, retirees and retiree family members who elect to enroll in TRICARE Prime will be assigned to civilian Primary Care Managers. Enrolling this group of beneficiaries to a civilian network will negate the need for transferring them from a military to a civilian PCM while the 64th MDG begins downsizing.

Those who do not enroll in TRICARE Prime will seek care under TRICARE Standard (CHAMPUS) with the option of using the civilian network of providers (TRICARE Extra). As of Wednesday, all beneficiary categories, with the exception of active duty and their family members, will be seen at the 64 MDG on a space available basis only.

For further questions, please stop by the center (Bldg 1300, Room 342) or call 885-2999/1866.

Promoting Soccer
(NAPS)—A well-known fraternity, long known for its commitment to the children of North America through its support of hospitals, is expanding that commitment to include sponsoring youth soccer teams.

The Shrine and U.S. Youth Soccer Association officials have agreed to work together to sponsor local youth soccer teams. The goal is to promote youth soccer as a healthy and beneficial sport for boys and girls regardless of their physical size or skill level.

The USYSA is recognized nationally as the premiere youth soccer association in the U.S., and approximately two million children participate in the USYSA-affiliated teams.

Truth must necessarily be stranger than fiction; for fiction is the creation of the human mind and therefore congenial to it.
