Area cotton crop reported better than last year's overall

by Laura Barnes
Texas Tech Journalism Dept.

Two cotton gins in the Plains area reported that this year's crop has been better than last year's overall, as of Oct. 12.

Yoakum County Co-op Gins and New Tex Gin gave the turnout percentages and percentages harvested at each of their gins.

Yoakum County Co-op ginned their first bale Sept. 28 this year. The lint percent of their cotton cropped ginned was 23-26 percent, and seed was at 40.2 percent. These figures are within three percent of the season's crop having been harvested, which is 1,252 bales. Donna Bearden of the Co-op believes that the turnout is better than last year's.

Gail Craft of New Tex Gin said that the dry land cotton was the biggest surprise this year. It's not doing as well as last year because of low rainfall, but is doing better than was expected.

New Tex ginned its first bale Sept. 21, with 10-15 percent of the crop being harvested as of Oct. 12. The lint percent turnout is 22-25, and seed is at 40 percent. Six thousand bales have been harvested, with 35,000 bales expected by the end of the season. This is 10,000 less than last year's crop because of no rain, according to Craft. He says that some of the crop is worse and some is better than last year's.

Yoakum County Library receives accreditation as member of Texas State Library System

William D. Gooch, Director and Librarian of the Texas State Library, announced that the Yoakum County Library was recently accredited as a member of the Texas State Library System for fiscal year 1995.

In making the announcement, Gooch said, "We are pleased to award a certificate of system membership in recognition of the efforts this community has made in providing public library services. It is a symbol of having achieved a level of excellence."

The library is a renewal member of West Texas Library System, serving citizens in Plains, Yoakum County and surrounding areas. Yoakum County Library had to meet strict criteria, according to Latrell McDonnell, Library Director, such as hours of access, professional training requirements, number of library materials and local per capita support. Yoakum County Judge Brewer and Commissioners Court have worked diligently to see that Yoakum County Libraries have the per capita they need to qualify for system membership annually. Yoakum County Library has been a member of West Texas Library System for many years.

The local library receives funds from Texas State Library Funds, which are given to states from the Federal National Center for Educational Statistics in Public Libraries in the United States. (Rule 1.74 of the Rules for Administering the Library Systems Act.) These funds are used for books, educational periodicals, literacy materials, equipment for libraries, etc.

Yoakum County Library received two computers and printers from the system in the past, with the greatest benefit from the West Texas Library System being the Interlibrary Loan privilege and consultation from the administration.

Authorized by the Library Systems Act of 1969, the Texas State Library was developed to improve library service in the state through cooperative efforts.

Comprised of 10 regions, the statewide systems provides an opportunity for local libraries to make the best possible use of both their own resources and those available elsewhere in the system. These cooperative efforts are made possible through state and federal funds appropriated to the Library Development Program of the Texas State Library.

This year, the Texas State Library will distribute approximately $7.8 million to the 10 library systems in Texas.

Tsa Mo Ga Study Club members give 'Artistic Impressions' at meet

"Artistic Expression of Club Members" was the title of the program given when members of Tsa Mo Ga Study Club met Monday evening, Oct. 10 at 7 p.m.

Louise Goehry, Program Coordinator, explained the purpose of the Texas Commission on the Arts in Texas was established to develop creative arts and attract outstanding artists.

Multiple workshops are planned and conducted in order to share ideas and to learn from each other.

The Commission accomplishes goals by providing financial grants to non-profit art organizations. It is hoped that an arts council may be formed in Yoakum County to coordinate promotion of events and obtain funding from grants - if and when they are granted tax exempt status. Promotion of artists in residence schools are goals expected to be met from this organized effort.

Ms. Goehry presented a thought about photography, stating "a photograph is a moment caught in our lives that we didn't live to the fullest, but we are able to capture and savor it forever in our memory."

Gwen Carter displayed her art as crafts and sewing, painting and designing. Stating her project of 10 quilts which she made for her grandchildren has been most enjoyable.

Bonnie Earnest's favorite art is photography of people and her desire to learn something of her subjects. She displayed photographs of people she made during her trips of adventure and told something of the person photographed. She states that some of her favorite photographs comes from Yoakum County ideas.

Barbara Brown and Chris Edwards co-hosted the meeting, using the theme of Halloween for decorating the table and clubhouse.

President Sit Jones called the meeting to order; minutes of the Sept. 26 meeting were read by Secretary Ann Graham. Roll call was given and appreciation bestowed for special efforts and work done for the club, such as repair to the clubhouse and museum.

Members were reminded of Caprock District Fall Board meeting which will be held in fellowship hall of First Methodist Church in Denver City, Nov. 5 with registration being from 8:30 until 9:15 a.m. Pre-registration deadline for the meeting is Oct. 31. A special program at the luncheon will be given by Jackie and John Mattus and Denise Clinton.

Ann Chadwick led the Club Collect and the meeting was adjourned. Tsa Mo Ga meets each second and fourth Monday.

MRS. DANIEL CLINTON ELLIOTT

Hinson, Elliott wedding vows read in double ring ceremony recently

Miss Teresa Dawn Hinson and Daniel Clinton Elliott exchanged marriage vows Sept. 24, 1994 in the First Assembly of God Church in Lubbock. Officiating the double ring ceremony were the Rev. L.D. Hinson, father of the bride; the Rev. Clinton Elliott, father of the groom; and the Rev. Tom Lakey.

Parents of the couple are the Rev. and Mrs. L.D. Hinson of Seagraves and the Rev. and Mrs. Clinton Elliott of Lubbock.

Vows were spoken before a fan-shaped candelabra, flanked by two heart-shaped candelabras which were entwined with greenery and burgundy and hunter-green bows.

The bride entered the sanctuary with her father, walking between flower-draped pews. She chose a gown of white satin, with a princess-styled bodice adorned with sequins and lace, with long sleeves with a petal point tip. The dropped waistline skirt swept into a full cathedral train. She wore a pearl and crystal tiara with a four-tiered walking length veil and carried a bouquet of silk white roses edged silk greenery atop a white Bible that belong to her late aunt, Kathy May Daniel.

Keeping traditions, "something old" was a gold heart locket that had been given to her maternal grandmother, Velma May, by her grandfather, Earl May, of Levelland. She also wore a locket belonging to her paternal grandmother, Charlise Hinson of Snyder. "Something borrowed" was the bridal veil. "Something blue" was a garter.

Matron of honor was Stacy Kinder, sister of the bride. Maid of honor was Kristi Beaver of Hearne and Misti Stone of Lubbock served as bridesmaid.

The matron of honor wore a hunter green princess style, dropped hemline dress and carried a bouquet of white silk roses, accented with burgundy and green. Bridesmaids wore similar dresses of burgundy and carried bouquets of white roses and carnations.

Best man was Richard Smith of Lubbock. Groomsmen were Ele Cass and Brent Tyson, both of Lubbock. The groom and his attendants wore black tuxedos with ties and cummerbunds matching the bride and attendants' attire.

Flower girl was Kelsei Fortenberry of Lubbock with Katie Kinder, niece of the bride, passing out rice bags. Nathan Tucker served as ring bearer.

Greeting guests as they entered the sanctuary and presiding over the register book was Twyla Spruell of Lubbock.

Singing "Cherish the Treasure" as the bride and groom lit the unity candle was Kelly and Karen Shearrer of Dallas, accompanied by Melvina Lakey of Lubbock at the organ.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was hosted by the couple's parents in the fellowship hall. The bride's table held a three-tiered heart-shaped wedding cake, accented with burgundy roses and hunter green leaves and topped with two white doves. Wedding punch was served from an antique crystal cranberry punch bowl. The table was centered with a hunter green and burgundy flower arrangement.

The groom's table, covered with a burgundy cloth overlaid with white lace, held a chocolate cake with fudge icing and surrounded by chocolate-dipped strawberries. The couple's names were written inside a heart design on the center of the cake. A glass and silver coffee service and a silver picture frame displaying the poem, "It Takes Two" completed the setting.

House party members included Kristi Baize, Tisha Romero, Shannon Gonzales, friends of the bride; Teresa Wardwell and Robyn Elliott, sisters of the groom; and Barbara Barron, Sherry Alling and Donna Timms.

Guests attended from Snyder, San Antonio, Levelland, Bovina, Seminole, Plains, Slaton, Dallas, Clinton, Okla.; California; Clovis, N.M.; Seagraves and Lubbock.

The bride chose a one-piece black dress accented with red roses and black accessories for a honeymoon trip to Dallas and San Antonio.

The bride is a graduate of Plains High School and attended South Plains College and is presently employed with J.C. Penney in Lubbock.

The groom is a graduate of Olton Christian Academy and attended Southwestern Assemblies of God College in Waxahachie and Texas Tech University and is presently employed by Lubbock Village.

The couple will be moving to McLean, where they will be involved in Youth and Music ministry at First Assembly of God Church.

Influenza shots recommended by American Lung Association

Each year millions of Americans are afflicted with influenza and pneumonia. Those most at risk are the very young, the very old, those suffering from chronic lung or heart disease and those with weakened immune systems.

This fall, the American Lung Association of Texas urges all those who are considered high risk to get a flu shot. You are at high risk if you are over age 65, have chronic lung, heart or kidney disease, reside in a nursing home or other longterm care facility or if you have other chronic diseases. In addition, health care workers should be immunized to reduce the chances of spreading this condition to high-risk people. The shot is recommended every year because the influenza virus strain changes annually. The ideal time to receive flu vaccine is between Oct. 15 and Nov. 15.

According to the Lung Association, both influenza and pneumonia are deadly. "Influenza is a highly contagious, potentially life-threatening lung disease," said Dr. William Paul Glezen, epidemiologist at the Influenza Research Center at Baylor University. "Since 1960, pneumonia has been the leading killer by infectious disease in the U.S. It is both the most common and most deadly complication arising from influenza," he explained.

"Combined, influenza and pneumonia are the fourth leading cause of death among all American women and the fifth leading cause of death among all Americans over the age of 65," Dr. Glezen said. Lung disease, including influenza and pneumonia, is the third leading cause of death in America.

Senior citizens are at particularly high risk for both influenza and pneumonia and are most likely to be hospitalized as a result of this deadly combination. Influenza and pneumonia are the fifth leading cause of death for those aged 65 and over, resulting in 68,962 deaths in 1991 alone.

"Only 40 percent of older adults living in the community receive their influenza shots every year, and only 20 percent receive the pneumococcal pneumonia vaccine," said Dr. Glezen. "Both vaccines are covered under Medicare and other health insurance programs.

For more information on influenza and pneumonia shots, call the American Lung Association of Texas at 800-252-5864.

Error in taking prescription drugs cited during Pharmacy Week

Each year more than 240,000 Americans require hospitalization simply because they do not take their prescription medication correctly.

In fact, approximately one-half of the two billion prescriptions taken annually in the United States are used improperly by patients, with the cost of hospital admissions alone for these individuals estimated at more than $8.5 million.

Texas pharmacists have declared war against this needless suffering and avoidable loss of time and money. Their weapon of choice is increased communication between pharmacist and patient. Their battle cry is also the theme for Texas Pharmacy Week '94: "Communication is Good Medicine." The week will be observed throughout the state Oct. 23-29.

"Most people who do not take their medications correctly are not intentionally gambling with their health," said Pharmacy Week spokesperson Jeanne Toewe. "They simply are unaware of the high risk associated with taking it improperly."

Although most prescription medications are accompanied by written instructions, one in five patients cannot read well enough to understand the directions. The problem is most acutely felt by the very young and the very old. More than 200 million prescriptions are written annually for children, with studies estimating that almost one-half are taken incorrectly. At the opposite end of the age spectrum, the average senior citizen takes twice as many prescriptions as younger people, and more than 9 million adverse drug reactions occur each year in older Americans.

Ms. Toewe represents Texas Pharmacists United in Patient Care, a grassroots pharmacy organization which annually sponsors Texas Pharmacy Week.

She pointed out that 96 percent of patients ask no questions about their prescriptions when they pick them up from their local pharmacist.

"With more than one-half of the U.S. population receiving at least one prescription drug each year the problem of non-compliance touches virtually every household in America. Taking medications properly can improve their effectiveness and reduce risks. Consumers can have a positive impact on their health by becoming better informed concerning health products, particularly prescription medications," she said.

The most effective way to learn about medications is to ask a pharmacist. These highly-educated professionals are the most available members of the health care team. During Texas Pharmacy Week, Oct. 23-29, Texas pharmacists are increasing their efforts to help patients to take charge of their own health by becoming better informed about their medications.

"Understanding medication therapy is as easy as spending a few moments asking your pharmacist five simple questions," Ms. Toewe said. She said no one should leave a prescription counter without first determining:

- * What is the name of the medicine and what is it supposed to do?
- * How and when do I take it, and for how long?
- * What foods, drinks and other medicines or activities should I avoid while taking this medicine?
- * Are there any side effects, and what should I do if they occur?
- * Will this new prescription work safely with the other medicine (prescription and non-prescription) I am taking?

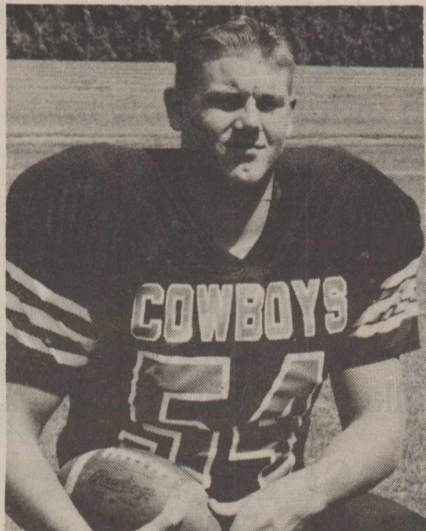

For more information concerning prescription and non-prescription medications, develop a habit of speaking with your local pharmacist. Texas Pharmacy Week, Oct. 23-29, is an excellent time to start.

Windbreak trees available for conservation plantings

Yoakum Soil and Water Conservation District, which sponsors a program to purchase windbreak trees for use in yards, fields, wildlife and other conservation plantings, now is taking orders for trees.

Available are evergreen species such as Austrian Pine, Ponderosa Pine, Scotch Pine, White Pine, Rocky Mt. Juniper, Afghanistan Pine, Arizona Cypress, Blue Spruce and Eastern Red Cedar.

Hardwoods available include Bur Oak, Catalpa, Desert Willow, Flame-leaf Sumac, Honeylocust, Mulberry, Osage Orange, Pecan, Russian Olive, Shumard Oak, Cottonwood, Green Ash, Hackberry, Little Walnut, Redbud and Chinquapin Oak.

Shrubs available are American Plum, Cotoneaster, Fourwing Saltbush, Honeysuckle, Lilac, Nanking Cherry, Native Plum, Skunkbush Sumac and Western Sandcherry.

"Windbreaks, if properly designed and maintained, can help protect life and property for many years to come," says Mark Lewis of the Soil Conservation Service. Windbreaks help decrease heating costs in winter by insulating the area around the home from cold winter winds. In summer, windbreaks provide shade to the home which helps decrease cooling costs. In addition, windbreaks significantly increase the monetary value of a homestead and the aesthetic quality of rural life.

"Windbreaks along the edge of cropland can provide shelter for growing crops from strong winds and damaging sandstorms," added Lewis.

Based on the height of the windbreak, a producer can expect protection for crops that are twice the height of the windbreak. They also provide

Deficiency payment estimate increases for 1994 cotton crop

According to Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers (PCG) increases in both the average price received by growers and monthly marketings lifted projections for the 1994 upland cotton deficiency payment.

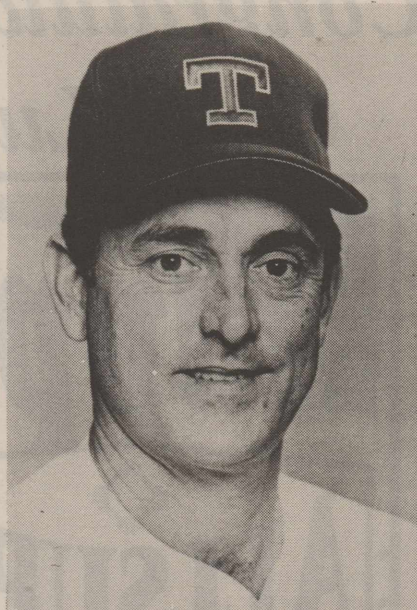

The projected cotton deficiency payment climbed top 7.91 cents per pound leaving a 1.46 cent final payment rate after subtracting their advance payment. Earlier this season producers were able to apply for and receive a 6.45 cent advance on their 1994 deficiency payment.

Through August, cumulative marketings totaled 5.93 million bales. Cumulative marketings during the same 8-month period in 1993 were slightly higher at 6.029 million bales.

Preliminary calculations through August still indicate the final payment will be in the 7-8 cent range. Significant changes in either marketings or prices received could still effect the final payment rate. The maximum deficiency payment possible in 1994 is 22.9 cents, the difference between the upland cotton loan rate of 50 cents and the 72.9 cent target price established in the 1990 Farm Bill.

Deficiency payments are calculated as the lesser of the difference between the target price and the either the Commodity Credit Corporation Loan Rate or the average price received by growers weighted by total marketings for the preceding calendar year.

Auditions set for TV show

South Plains College student auditions for "Thursday Night Live," a live audience musical variety television show scheduled to begin airing in February on SPC-TV, cable channel 13, are scheduled Nov. 1 at the college.

The auditions are open to currently enrolled SPC students and those who plan to enroll in the spring and begin at 7 p.m. in the SPC Commercial Music Building, room 138.

"Thursday Night Live" will be produced the first Thursday of each month, beginning in February, by SPC students in the commercial music, sound technology and performing arts technology programs, according Cary Banks, SPC commercial music instructor and coordinator of the show.

"We are really excited about this new show, said Banks. "It should bring in people and businesses to the city of Levelland and provide a family entertainment option at no charge to the people of West Texas."

Another advantage is that the "show will involve more students, give them more opportunities to perform," he noted. "Students will perform in ceremonies, and in all technical aspects of sound, lighting, cameras and other areas," said Banks.

The show will be broadcast from 7:30-9 p.m. and will feature a live audience each night. "The show's timing will give out-of-town people a chance to come into Levelland, have a meal, watch the show and be back home at a reasonable hour. Professional musicians and selected area high school students will also be featured guests."

A "Thursday Night Live Summer Edition" is also planned with shows once a week at various outdoor locations throughout Levelland.

For more information, contact Banks at SPC, 806-894-9611, ext. 474.

THE $51 PER BALE ADVANTAGE FOR COTTON PRODUCERS

More than $51 per bale paid in cash for the 1993 crop.

Your local and regional cotton cooperatives offer a vertically integrated system that takes your cotton from the field to the textile mill. It's a system that adds valuable income to your farming operation. Ginning, warehousing, marketing, textile manufacturing, and cottonseed processing all work to increase the value of your cotton crop every step of the way. For the 1993 cotton crop, combined cash payments from the local and regional cotton cooperatives averaged $51.62 per bale, over and above the value of your lint cotton. Thus, the more cotton you send through the cooperative system, the more you can add to your net profits. Consider the cooperative advantage for your cotton crop. From your local cooperative gin to the warehouses, the oil mill, the marketing association and the denim mill - it's just good business. See your local or regional cotton cooperative today.
