At State Meet

Cross Country team wins 3rd

Joe Valdez ran his best race of his career and led the Plains Cowboys' Cross Country team to a third place finish at Georgetown, Saturday, Nov. 12.

Ralph Ramirez and Jacob Lester played a very tough football game Friday night, then flew to the state meet. Ralph, who was "banged up" pretty bad, ran hard in the race.

Jeremy Dearing and Jason Robertson also had super races, according to Coach McAdams, who said he was very pleased with the team effort.

"It's great tradition when, in a rebuilding, the team gets a third place medal. Priddy and White Deer both lose four of their runners. Plains has every back except Joe. These kids have a chance to go for the gold next year."

Local homes to be featured

Plains Methodist Church Home Tour has been set for Wednesday, Dec. 7 from 7 to 9 p.m.

Five local homes will be visited during the two hour tour. Featured homes are those of Vicki and Brad Ancinec, Kathy and Danny Bell, Rickey and Karen Bearden, Peggy and Kent Welch, and Randy and Edith Tugle.

Vicki and Brad Ancinec will host participants just off 8th street in Plains. Vicki attended West Texas State on a twirling scholarship and Brad attended South Plains College in Levelland. Vicki now works for Whiting Petroleum and Brad farms and serves on the Tokio Coop Gin Board. Clear white, bright lights on the inside and outside will decorate their home for Christmas. They have remodeled the house themselves with Vicki liking yardwork and Brad a woodworking enthusiast. Bright lit candles and red poinsettias will greet visitors. Vicki shares her hints for keeping poinsettias through the holiday season. She says to "keep them moist, away from drafts, and bright sunlight." Ceramics are also a hobby with ornaments from grandparents to the kids hung on the tree. Vicki's art can be seen all over the house with a large pair of ceramic elephants as the focal pieces.

Kathy and Danny Bell have a new home to show visitors. Both local graduates, they are active in farming and a crop insurance business. Danny currently serves on the Plains School Board. Kathy expects to have mainly burgundy, mauve and gold for her Christmas decorations. She does all kinds of crafts - wood, flower arranging, sewing, painted t-shirts and pastels. They are active in their children's sports and enjoy fishing. Their children

- Joshua, Jared, Joani and Jaaron like their new bedrooms with touches of their own special interests. A bell collection is cherished by the family and Kathy hopes someday to have a bell from each state, collecting them as she travels.

Rickey and Karen Bearden have recently purchased and remodeled his Grandmother Opal Perkins' home on second street. Tracy, their son is a freshman at Texas Tech majoring in

Friends, neighbors harvest crop for former Plains woman, family

Approximately 150 people and dozens of tractors, module builders and other machines pulled into the cotton fields belonging to the family of the late Ricky Timmons of Brownfield Friday afternoon.

After the recent death of Timmons, his family were left with about 450 acres of cotton left to be stripped. A group of Terry County farmers got together and spent the afternoon completing the stripping.

The assistance was organized by Randy Simpson and Ronald Luker, business partners with Timmons. The day began with the noon meal held in the Timmons' barn. The group went to work. There were about 50 cotton strippers, about 30 module builders and about 20 boll buggies.

Timmons' wife, the former Donna Jo Cheatham of Plains, said that she was contact Thursday afternoon and was told that the community had planned to do the harvesting.

"Ricky had done this kind of thing before for other people when they were down, but today it just seemed like it was a different kind of emotion. They

"I don't know what we're going to do right now, but I do know that God is in control and He will take care of us. Ricky was really a caring man and he loved God, and he left this path for us to follow."

Yoakum County voting results show same trend as entire nation

Yoakum County voters joined the majority of voters in the nation as they elected many Republicans to office in the General Election held last Tuesday.

Straight party voting showed 140 for Democratic Party, 258, Republican; and 23, Libertarian.

U.S. Senator race resulted in Fisher (D) 341, Hutchison (R) 1492, Pierre Blondeau (L) 14. U.S. Rep. Dist. 19 - Larry Combest (R) 1459.

Cowboys lose last district game; will play Wink in bi-district

Plains Cowboys accomplished a feat Friday night at Sudan that no other team had done in the last nine district games that the Hornets had played.

Although the Cowboys didn't win, they did score against the Hornets in the third period with 1:30 left on the clock. Plains drove 80 yards for the touchdown, leaving Sudan's fans in a state of silent shock.

Steven Bitolas' two yard dive across left tackle was about the only bright spot for the Cowboys, who came up on the short end of 54-7 score in the District 5-1A showdown of unbeaten teams.

The Cowboys will meet Wink in Bi-District Play in Denver City Friday at 8 p.m.

The Cowboys were lead by Bitolas, who had 85 yards on 21 carries. Quarterback Victor Bernal, the area's leading 1A passer, was six of 11 for 73 yards with one interception. The Cowboys had 108 yards and 11 first downs.

Bitolas was quoted as saying "We knew they were going to be a tough team when we came in here. We

Yoakum Co. FEC meeting held Nov. 1

The Yoakum County Extension Family and Community Educational Council meeting of Nov. 1 was held with Sidney Murphy presiding.

Dorothy Hancock read the September minutes and presented a financial report.

The council will furnish ham and crackers for the annual Christmas dinner for the State Line and Turner FCE Clubs on Dec. 4 in the Community Building.

Each man will bring a man's gift, each woman a woman's gift and each child a child's gift or an adult gift if they want to join the Chinese Christmas gift exchange with the adults. Gifts should be kept in the range of $5 to $7.50.

The council will hold its next meeting in the new year in the club-room, Jan. 3, 1995 at 1:30 p.m.

JV Cowboys win over Sudan Hornets

Plains JV posted a win against Sudan, 22-20.

After kicking off to Sudan, Plains defense allowed only 40 yards in eight plays, forcing Sudan to punt. Plains took over on the 18.

Each team took turns giving up turnovers. Plains gave Sudan the ball on the 8 yard line on a high snap on fourth down and Sudan returned the favor by fumbling on the 3 yard line. Plains ran two plays and fumbled back on the 6. Sudan took 2 plays to score from the 6 and then ran in the extra two points and with 3:26 in the first, Sudan led 8-0.

The Cowboys wasted no time getting on the scoreboard following the kickoff. On the third play with third and three, Abraham Garcia passed to Eric Luna on a screen pass. With good blocking, Luna ran 68 yards for the score. Garcia score the extra two points to tie up the score in the first period.

On their next possession, the Sudan Hornets drove from their 29 to the Cowboys' 44. At this point, Roy Ramirez made one of the "big plays" of the game, separating the Sudan quarterback from the ball and Billy Browell recovered.

The Cowboys covered 52 yards in eight plays --- Ramirez had one run of 20 yards along with several good runs by Luna and Garcia went the final yard. Run failed as they tried for two extra points. With 4:48 remaining on the clock in the second quarter, the score was 14-8 in favor of the Cowboys.

Sudan drove 49 yards in 7 plays before the Cowboys shut them down at the 12. The Cowboys took over and ran the clock out on the first half.

Plains took the second half kickoff and drove 65 yards in 11 plays. The "Ramirez, Luna and Garcia Combo" played excellent - behind outstanding blocking to gain momentum in the game. Ramirez scored from the 10 and then ran in the extra two points following the TD.

Sudan showed why they came to Plains undefeated on the season by going 55 yards in 2 plays for their next score. Their run for extra points failed and the score was Plains 22, Sudan 14.

Plains ran 10 plays and then kicked to Sudan, who was held on downs. But the Cowboys also had trouble moving the ball and was forced to punt. Sudan returned the punt 35 yards for their final score. Pass failed for extra points. Score was 22-20 Plains.

After an exchange of possessions, the Cowboys ran out the clock to win the contest.

This was the first loss by any football team from Sudan this year.

The win gave the Cowboys the JV District championship based on the number of games played and the win-loss record.

The Cowboys were playing with predominantly freshmen. Sudan was playing predominantly with sophomores.

Propane flame weeding making comeback

Many people have an old flame from years ago still burning in their hearts. Now some Texas agricultural producers are rekindling one old flame in particular: propane flame cultivation to clear fields of cotton, vineyards and row crops.

"We see this new interest in a proven technology as a key growth market for propane sales," said James E. (Jim) Nugent, chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission. The Railroad Commission regulates the Texas Oil and Gas industry.

Before chemical weed-killers were in widespread use, many farmers relied on propane-powered flame machines to control weeds in row crops. Harry Garretson, a propane dealer in Hale Center, said that in 1964, 21 farmers around that town used high-clearance Cowboys lost 24-6 to the same team earlier.

Luna had 130 yards (68 receiving, 61 rushing); Ramirez had 79 yards rushing; David Flores had 23 yards and Garcia, 24 yards.

The Cowboys' Coach stated "The offensive and defensive teams obviously had good games against a very good team. I would like to express appreciation to the JV for their extra effort and preparation - A job well done! You got it done! Thanks, also for the coverage by the newspaper and also a big thanks to Shawn Cullins for video work!"

Team members include freshmen Heath Bowlin, Adam Dominguez, Derrick Brunsen, Will St.Romain, Jason Redman, Abraham Garcia, Roy Ramirez, Eric Luna, Chris Willett, Kipp Blount, David Flores, Isaac Trevino, Joe Vasquez, Chris Gonzales, Aberto Tarango; and sophomores Billy Braswell, Allen Ward, Casey Forbess and J.T. Peebles; and junior Brad Seaton.

tractors equipped with flame cultivators. "They kept us running from sun-up to sun-down supplying propane and service," he said.

But competition from inexpensive chemical weeding agents that became widely available in the 1960s caused the demise of the technique. Garretson said he knew it was the beginning of the end of the propane flame weeding when he saw a farmer spraying a new product called Treflan on his crops. Propane was then selling for 10-15 cents a gallon. "It was just too expensive to compete with the new, cheaper chemicals," Garretson said.

Now that many farmers face strict environmental protection guidelines and rising production costs, propane flame cultivation is again a practical option. "We saw a need for more uses for this environmentally friendly farming procedure," said Railroad Commissioner Mary Scott Nabers.

For example, Jim Crawford of Muleshoe farms 1,200 acres of organic cotton. Last year, his weed-control cost for "hoe hand" labor got up to nearly $80 an acre. This year, he tried an eight-row flame unit, which cost him $3.50 per acre, per application. Learning to use the unit effectively took some trial and error, but it paid off - some of his cotton this year should produce more than two bales per acre.

How do farmers like Crawford avoid harming their crops? A row of special burners mounted across a tractor tool bar directs a blast of heat at the base of the plants. The high temperatures cause delicate plant cells to rupture, destroying weeds without injury to cultivated crops. That's because row crops can take more heat (when properly applied) than most grasses, weeds and vines. The heat penetrates more completely through tender vegetation than through woody stems and tightly rolled stalks.

Extensive testing done in the 1960s with various kinds of equipment and crops still yields valuable information. Besides cotton, crops on which flame weeding has been used successfully include corn, grain sorghum, soybeans and potatoes. The best time to flame cultivate is while weeds are small, and damp conditions after rain or irrigation are ideal for the treatment. But, naturally, many farmers want to know more about flame weeding before committing to it.

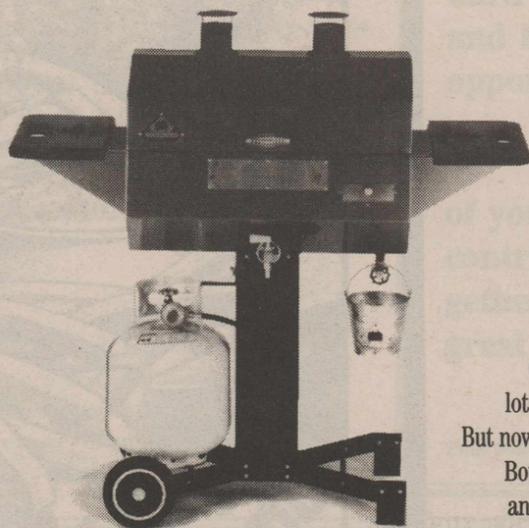

The commission's Alternative Fuels Research and Education Division is cooperating with Texas A&M University to study flame cultivation and herbicides to determine the best combination for effective, safe weed control. Areas of focus this year were sugar cane and aloe vera crops in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, as well as cotton and grapes on the South Plains.

Several West Texas farmers trying the old methods have agreed to track their results for the Texas A&M Experiment Station in Lubbock. The data, combined with controlled experiments at the station, should prove interesting to farmers considering alternative kinds of weed control.

"An increase in propane use through propane flame weeding would benefit the Texas economy," said Railroad Commissioner Barry Williamson. "Texas produces 35 percent of the nation's propane supply. Thus, as new propane gas technologies develop, so does that economic sector."

Flame weeding is environmentally benign, as well. Propane burns clean and will not contaminate soil or water. As one farmer put it, the only residue propane flame weeding leaves behind is dead weeds.

Grime Fighter.

Outdoor grilling is a Texas tradition. You've probably collected lots of great recipes for barbecued ribs, chicken, steaks and burgers. But now there are two ingredients you won't need. Charcoal and lighter fluid. Both contribute to the grime of air pollution. So take a deep breath and fire up a propane grill. Grilling with propane is faster, cheaper and environmentally correct. Propane. The clean choice.

The clear choice. Bon appetit!

Hospice Services aid terminally ill

Hospice Services Inc., a non profit organization began serving the terminally ill locally in 1991. More than 350 terminally ill patients and their families in Lea, Gaines and Yoakum counties have received care from the hospice staff and volunteers.

Hospice Services (including medical equipment, medications, supplies and medical and personal care for the patient) are provided without charge to the patient or their family.

The Medicare/Medicaid benefit provides 100 percent coverage for the patient's needs relating to the terminal illness. Hospice care is also covered by most private health insurance plans. Hospice services are available to anyone in our community who is terminally ill.

Donations, memorials and fund raising events provide care for those patients without a funding source. Patients are accepted into the hospice program of care based on their health needs, not their ability to pay.

Increased public awareness and understanding of hospice care will allow Hospice Services Inc. to better serve the families of our community who are faced with a terminal illness.

If you would like to know why and how hospice now appeals to at least 275,000 Americans each year, call Hospice Services, Inc. in Hobbs, NM at 505-393-4717 or in Denver City at 806-592-2901.

greeted with a 101 dalmatian's theme. Inside will be Karen's collection of bears and coffee mugs.

Peggy and Kent Welch farm and she is a hair dresser at her shop, "Peggy's Classy Curl". Their tree will be in teal, peach and blue. "Red and green will be here and there," says Peggy. A doll collection will highlight her eclectic decor. Describing her furniture as transitional; the master bedroom is country, with Victorian and modern in other rooms. The Welches have two sons, Tracy and Donnell and a daughter, Melissa. Tracy and his wife, Darla and three children, Holden, Hunter and Haley live just outside of Plains. Daughter Melissa and her husband, Jeff Roper live here also. Donnell and his wife, Kendra make their home in Oklahoma. A collection of bird houses swing in the breezes on the patio. Peggy and Kent enjoy outside work in the yard, fishing and travel in their camper.

Graduates of Texas Tech University, Randy and Edith Tuggle welcome guests with a giant Texas lit up for the holidays. Candy canes also dance across their lawn. Staci, their daughter is in the seventh grade at Plains Middle School and shows swine at the local stock show where Randy serves as director. Edith serves on the local ASCS Committee in Yoakum County. Traditional colors and antique crock pitchers will be perfect decorations for guests. Dated ornaments belonging to Staci decorate the tree, as do handmade fabric ornaments. Their place is one and three-quarters miles south of Plains on the Denver City Highway. All of these homes may be seen with a five dollar ticket from any Plains Methodist Church member. Additional information may be obtained from Chairpersons Sarah Guetersloh or Wilma Powell or Bobbie Gayle.
