City reappoints EDC board members

The Clarendon City Council met in regular session October 22 with a short agenda.

The council reappointed Roseann Mayer, Alderman Doug Kidd, and Terri Floyd to the Clarendon Economic Development Corporation Board for new two-year terms.

Nominations for the Donley Appraisal Board were discussed, and the council nominated Wilma Lindley, Steve Carter, George Hall, Lance Thornberry, and Britton Hall.

City Administrator David Dockery reported on the city's pursuit of a grant for improvements at Smiley Johnson Municipal Airport. TxDOT's 75 percent grants are gone for this cycle. The city could pursue a 50-50 grant but will instead wait for the next cycle in 2016.

Dockery also reported that the city has received permission for a controlled burn at the Rosebud site at the city's recycling center. Fire Marshall Jeremy Powell will be in charge of determining when conditions are right for such a burn.

Cannon sentenced by Childress jury in death of Cornell

A Clarendon woman was found guilty of intoxicated manslaughter last week in the 2014 death of C.W. "Dude" Cornell.

Gina Gail Cannon was sentenced to 12 years in prison by a Childress County Jury, which returned its unanimous verdict after a four-day trial, ending Thursday, October 22.

Cannon, 35, was arrested for the offense that took place in Clarendon on June 28, 2014 and was indicted by a Donley County Grand Jury on November 13, 2014 and again on August 12, 2015.

District Attorney Luke Inman prosecuted the case for the State of Texas with the Honorable Judge Stuart Messer presiding.

"This was not the typical intoxication manslaughter case which presented some major obstacles and hurdles that we had to maneuver and get over," Inman said. "Dude passed away nine days after the crash and although he was 86 years old, he was in great health and still very involved in the Clarendon community he had called home for so long."

According to testimony from Dr. Sridhar Natarajan, the Chief Medical Examiner for Lubbock County, Cornell's death was caused from medical illness due to complications from a multi-vehicular crash caused by Cannon.

Natarajan testified as a reviewing medical examiner from the original autopsy. Natarajan's testimony concluded the State's case on Wednesday.

After the jury was seated on Monday, the State started testimony on Tuesday with DPS Trooper Kelly Hill. Hill is also a volunteer firefighter in Donley County and was on the scene just minutes after the crash, according to his testimony.

Hill detected the odor of alcohol when he made contact with Cannon, who was the driver of a red Chrysler 200 that witnesses saw crash into and launch Cornell's vehicle more than 300 feet across oncoming traffic on US Highway 287.

Zan and Robert Bullock also testified for the State, and saw Cannon driving erratically through town and on Highway 287 just moments before the crash. Other eyewitness testified to the reckless and careless driving of Cannon, including Clarendon local Madeline Black, Hedley resident Jennifer Floyd, and Sheila Wheeler from Henrietta.

Ruth Hancock, also of Clarendon, was in the vehicle with Cornell when it was struck by Cannon's vehicle. Hancock testified that Cornell told her right after the crash that there was nothing that he could have done.

Before ending Tuesday afternoon's testimony, Deanna Cornell testified for the state regarding Cornell's condition over the last nine days of his life after the crash that left him paralyzed.

Wednesday's testimony began with Medical Technologist Jenny Marquez's testimony from Northwest Texas Hospital, regarding the urine analysis and blood draw from Cannon at the hospital.

The State elicited testimony that the alcohol concentration, as well as the

Riza to serve on national leadership commission

Dr. Robert Riza, president of Clarendon College, has been appointed to the Commission on Leadership and Professional Development at the American Association of Community Colleges (AACC).

"Obviously it is an honor to be chosen to serve on the commission," Dr. Riza said. "I look forward to working with my colleagues from around the country."

CC serves Donley, Gray, Childress, Armstrong, Briscoe, Hall, Collingsworth, and Wheeler counties in the eastern Texas Panhandle, and has dual credit partnerships with Miami ISD in Roberts County and Panhandle, White Deer, and Groom ISDs in Carson County. The college, which has four campuses (Clarendon, Pampa, Childress and Amarillo) has more than a $44.5 million impact on the region.

While Clarendon College is a small community college, its size is an advantage in terms of student success.

"Being one of the smallest schools in Texas isn't an issue, we don't use our size as an excuse but as motivation to achieve great things," Dr. Riza said. "Some of the recent successes include being named the number 2 community college in Texas by Schools.com, our pilot program using Microsoft Surface tablets for our ADN and Ranch & Feedlot Operations programs, and our 94% pass rate by the initial class of ADN graduates."

Another of those successes includes a math pilot program that has been the topic of discussions at conferences across the country. This new program

Rep. King will pursue third term

State Representative Ken King (R-Canadian) announced last week that he will seek reelection to continue to serve the constituents of House District 88.

Representative King was elected in 2012 and is currently in his second term of office.

Speaker Joe Straus, who makes committee assignments, recognized Ken's work ethic in his first session and doubled his committee assignments in 2015.

The Speaker assigned Ken to the following committees: House Public Education, Environmental Regulation, House Administration, and the very powerful Calendars Committee. Straus also appointed King to the House Research Organization Board.

All committees are important, but the Public Education Committee and the Calendars Committee are very sought out appointments. Ken was appointed to the Public Education Committee in both terms and the Calendar's Committee his second term.

King is a proponent of public schools. As a parent and former school board member, he has a lot to offer the Public Education committee. Committee members, including the Chairman of the Committee, frequently seek his advice and counsel on rural schools.

"You sent me to Austin to fight for District 88," King said. "One of the most important things we work on is education."

"Our very existence depends on a first class school system. Rural Texas deserves as much focus when it comes to schools as their urban counterparts."

King only carries legislation important to District 88, he is more concerned with quality than quantity. He doesn't believe that filing and passing a lot of bills makes you a good legislator.

"I was sent to the legislature to keep Austin out of HD 88. To do that we need less government not more."

There is still a lot of work left to do in Austin. I have and will continue to focus on education, water, and transportation to make sure Texas remains the best place in the nation to live and do business in."

King is Vice President of King Well Service in Canadian. He and his wife Robin are busy raising their two children who attend public schools in Canadian.

Teach your family to use smartphones responsibly

Hi, gang! Early voting will be over tomorrow. Please go vote. The amendments are important. Vote. We are losing our country because people don't think it is important to vote. I believe that the amendments are on an off year because people won't turn out and vote.

Christmas time is coming. If you plan on giving your child a phone, it is time to set some rules and stick by them. Without strong parental guidance, a young person may get into a lot of trouble.

"Selfies, Texting and Tweets: Teaching Responsibility with Smartphones" Published by permission from ConsumerInfo.com, Inc., an Experian company.

It's not uncommon for kids, pre-teen and even much younger, to be armed with a smartphone, tablet or other electronic device. The idea of giving your child a smartphone can be unnerving, but there are benefits to both parents and children. Smartphones help parents stay connected to their kids, can provide educational enrichment, and allow kids to communicate with others, including their friends. Parents need to ensure their children are aware of the dangers that can come with having a smartphone, to protect both their safety and the privacy of their communications and information.

Smartphones provide the power of a computer in the palm of your hand, allowing children quick and easy access to the World Wide Web and all the content within it. Children may be able to access inappropriate material and can become victims of identity theft and targets of bullying and predators through social media and apps.

Parents who decide to give their children electronic devices should set ground rules for proper usage to help avoid illegal activity, abuse or other harm.

When setting parameters for cell phone use with your child, some topics of discussion should include:

Location Identifier: When kids use a geo-location app to tell the world where they are at any given moment, they open themselves up to an invasion of their privacy, as well as the potential for predators and other scammers to find them. Teach your kids to use these locator apps sparingly and enable parental controls where available.

Text, Photos and Videos: These types of communications are fun, but they can also be harmful. Remind your children that anything they text or photograph can be easily copied and spread without their knowledge after it leaves their hands. Once they press send, it is out of their control from that point forward.

Social Media: Your kids should only accept "friends" they already know. Avoid giving out private and location-based information on these networks. They should feel comfortable telling you about any awkward or inappropriate encounters.

While you don't have to become a prison guard, it's a good idea to bob's whittlin'

by bob watson

set expectations and consequences, and stick to them. Many kids break the rules now and then, but when it comes to smartphone safety and privacy protection, let them know there are no exceptions. Break a rule; lose your privileges.

"Don't forget the debt by Carol Kando-Pineda Counsel," FTC's Division of Consumer & Business Education

When a loved one passes away, the last thing on your mind is hassling with debt collectors. But you may have the job of managing the deceased's assets - and you could find yourself handling an estate that includes outstanding debts. Keep these considerations in mind:

Debts don't die when the debtor does. Even though your loved one is no longer here, those debts don't go away. The debt is still a legal obligation that your loved one's estate must deal with.

Discussing the debt. Collectors are allowed to talk about the debt with certain people: the spouse, parents, or guardian of the deceased person, the executor, administrator, or anyone else who has authority to pay your loved one's debts from their estate.

Truth be told. Collectors cannot misrepresent anything about the debt they're trying to collect. That means they can't misrepresent or imply that you or any other survivor has a legal obligation to pay the estate's debts out of your own pocket. It's unlawful for them to pressure you to use your money. If the deceased left debts and no assets, it's not your responsibility to pay.

You have rights. If a debt collector contacts you, you can ask for a validation notice, dispute the debt with them, or tell them - in writing - to stop all communications with you and the estate.

Be safe out there!

Daylight Saving Time is Nov. 1

Sunday, November 1, is the end of Daylight Saving Time this year, the day many people are an hour early for church. I have always felt like the old Indian who said when Daylight Saving Time was explained to him, "The government is the only one I know who thinks cutting off one end of a blanket and sewing it onto the other end makes the blanket longer."

The time change does remind us winter is coming, and we should do some safety checks around the home. The first thing is change the battery in your smoke detectors. Who hasn't been awakened in the middle of the night to that chirp. Removing

'wick picks
by peggy cockerham
Howardwick • 874-2886

the battery usually involves a ladder and a very angry home owner, so change them now.

The second thing is your fire extinguisher. I think I know where ours is located, but I didn't know the needle would be in the green if it is fully charged.

The third thing is clean your furnace or heater and change the filter before use. These are simple things and could possibly save you some grief later in the winter.

Tuesday, November 3, is general election day with proposed Constitutional amendments the only thing on our ballot. I tried to make sense out of that legal talk, and the more I read the more confused I became. I have an idea the voter turnout will be low in Donley County this year, but I would recommend everyone studying those amendments and voting as you see fit.

Also, I got to go to the pumpkin patch with the third grade, and I got a pumpkin that was a cylinder shape. It wouldn't roll unless you set it on its side and rolled it down the hill. A friend of mine rolled his down the hill and couldn't catch up with it! Also, my cousin Dan got a pumpkin that was so round and big he could put it in his lap and not be able to get up.

My Nan and Poppa got a new puppy last week. It's about six weeks ago, and he's about the size of a small boot. My sister ran around with her cape on, and the puppy charged it like a bull. Later, I took my sister's cape and the puppy jumped on it and rode like a sled before he jumped off. He doesn't have a name yet, but we have some good ideas.

Quality Counts is a program every livestock exhibitor must complete before attending a major livestock show. Each year, 14 million pounds of meat are supplied to consumers through livestock projects such as goats, lambs, pigs and cattle. Quality Counts topics include the six pillars of character, reading feed tags, reading medicine labels, administering medications and sportsmanship. Members must re certify when they enter high school. Pictured are Emmelise Warren and Mycah Woodard preparing to take their test.

Drugs in the News

A New Medicine for Mood Disorders

The United States Food and Drug Administration recently approved Vraylar (cariprazine) capsules to treat schizophrenia and bipolar disorder in adults. The capsules offer a new dosage form to help manage the treatment of both conditions. Vraylar was shown to reduce the symptoms of both schizophrenia and bipolar disorder after six weeks of therapy in over one thousand patients, when it was compared to a sugar pill in a total of six clinical trials. It carries a black boxed warning by the FDA against the use of this medication in older people with dementia who have experienced psychosis. The most common symptoms reported in clinical trials included indigestions, tiredness, urgency to move, and vomiting.

Schizophrenia is a mental disorder characterized by seeing or hearing things that are not truly there. Schizophrenics may also believe that they are the target of mind control or manipulation by others. Bipolar disorder is characterized by an extreme in mood where the affected person may be depressed and then exhibit increased activity. It is also characterized by fast talking, impulsive behavior, and inability to sleep.

Bronco JV slams Crosbyton

The Bronco junior varsity started out a little slow last Thursday, according to coach Brad Elam, but then dominated, smashing Crosbyton, 38-8.

"We gave up a touchdown and a two-point conversion on the first drive," Elam said. "But we dominated after that."

Immediately following the Crosbyton TD, the Broncos came storming back. Nathan Shadle returned it 60 yards to the three-yard line. He was able to run it in for six on the very next play. Noab Elam threw to Bear Smith for the two-point conversion. Smith then caused a fumble and recovered it on the next possession and Ryan McCleskey finished it off with a one-yard run for another score. Elam and Smith teamed up again for the bonus.

Shadle scored again after a McCleskey interception and Shadle passed to Preston Elam for the two-point extra point.

"After another defensive stop, Noab Elam passed to Preston Elam for a 20-yard touchdown to end the scoring at 30-8 going into halftime," Elam said. "On the opening kickoff of the second half, Gavin Word returned it 57 yards for a touchdown. Preston Elam ran in the two-point conversion."

"Defensively, I thought we played really well after the first drive," Elam said. "Dalton Benson, Kade Hunsaker, Smith, and Word had outstanding games on defense. On offense, we didn't really have to drive the ball far. Our offensive line did an outstanding job. We did have a few too many turnovers, but we are getting to play and being successful."

The Broncos will play Ralls at home Thursday, October 29, after the junior high game.

Broncos fall to Crosbyton, 20-53

By Sandy Anderberg

The Broncos knew the game against Crosbyton would be a tough one. All of their games since the Lockney game where teammate Riley Shadle was injured have been tough for the Broncos. But, despite the 20-53 loss, the Broncos fought hard and never quit in the contest. The Broncos are 3-5 overall and 0-3 in District play.

"They are a tough team," head coach Gary Jack said. "We played decent, but we got behind early in the first quarter. We were able to come back and got it down to the 20-yard line and fumbled. That let the air out of us, and they took off.

They had 16 seniors on their team and were pretty experienced and mature (in their play)."

The Broncos kept up the battle, and in the third quarter Keandre Cortez found the end zone twice. Once on a 50-yard run and another from 15 yards out. Senior Caleb Cobb earned the other Bronco score. Cortez racked up 98 yards rushing, and Cobb had 91.

"Defensively, they were hard to stop," Jack said. "But several players did well. Daquawne Oliver did well with 14 tackles and one sack, and Clay Koetting had 10 tackles. Nick Shadle had nine, Bryce Grahn and Cobb had seven each, and Chesson Sims had six tackles."

Offensively, the Broncos played hard as well.

"Bryce Hatley through the ball well," Jack said. "And Junior Cenicerros, Cortez, Grahn, and Sims caught some good passes for us. Cobb and Cortez ran the ball well. We had over 300 total yards in the game."

The Broncos have two District games left. This Friday night, October 30, they will travel to Ralls.

"We have Ralls and Memphis left," Jack said. "We can play with them; we need to finish strong."

The Clarendon-Ralls game will begin at 7:00 p.m. at Ralls.

The Broncos defense lines up against Crosbyton during last Friday's away game. The Broncos travel to Ralls for their next District game.

Junior High Colts drop close game to Crosbyton

The Clarendon Junior High Colts narrowly lost to Crosbyton at home last Thursday night at 22-24.

Crosbyton was able to score their first six points from the opening kickoff and made good on the bonus to go up by eight points. Jamal Butler was able to run it in from sixty yards out and add the bonus to tie the score. Crosbyton was able to score one more time before half time and went up by eight points.

When the teams came back after the break, Crosbyton was able to run the kick off back for another TD, but the Colts came back and scored on a 55-yard run by Butler. With three minutes left in the game, Butler scored again on a two-yard run. Butler set up his own touchdown when he and Antwan Bassett connected on a 50-yard pass play. Butler also added the bonus.

"Robert McGuire, Zane Sneathen, Ivan Gonzalez, Ethan Babcock, Clay Ward, and Chase Gwin did a good job on the offensive line," coach Brandt Lockhart said. "The outstanding defensive players were McGuire, Travis Thomas, and Ward. Thomas also had a fumble recovery. Overall I thought we played well."

The Colts will take on Ralls at home on Thursday, October 29 at 5:00 pm.

benzodiazepines and cannabinoids, in Cannon's system impaired her ability to operate the Chrysler that evening, according to Jim Blundell's expert testimony.

The defense called its own expert, Dr. Robert Philips of Howardwick, to controvert Natarajan's testimony, although Philips never provided care to Cornell before or after the crash.

In closing, defense attorney Mike Warner argued that Cannon had violated the rules of the road by being intoxicated but that Cornell also had to bear some responsibility for the accident for being in the passing lane and not wearing his seatbelt. He also said, considering life expectancy rates, Cornell, at 86, had "had a good run."

Inman rebutted the defense's closing statement.

"Dude is not with his family for one reason – the selfish acts of the defendant," the district attorney said.

The jury of seven women and five men deliberated for approximately 15 minutes before reaching a verdict of guilty on Thursday morning.

The punishment phase ensued where Cornell's son, Bill, gave an emotional testimony regarding his father's character and his role in the community. He also said his father's mother lived to the age of 96 and the family had no reason to expect that Dude wouldn't live another ten years.

"He was well respected. He was a good father and always there for us," Bill Cornell said. "He worked long hours and taught us how to work. He was generous and kind."

Cannon's sister, Renee, also took the stand and testified about the defendant's family life and the medical problems she has had since the accident.

After deliberation, the jury returned with the sentence of 12 years and also determined that Cannon should pay a $10,000 fine.

"I thank our jury and our family's cooperation throughout this jury trial and entire judicial process because both mean so much to us," said Inman. "I want to take this opportunity to say a special thank you to my entire staff who poured out extra blood, sweat, and tears on this case. They know who they are and they don't get enough credit. With a smaller jurisdiction like ours, all of us wear many different hats and this case made all of us go the extra mile and it was well worth it."

Gary Hogg, author of The Charlie Bacon Series and Happy Hawk Golden Thought Books was at Hedley Elementary for a writing workshop with students in grades 2-5. Gary also told many exciting stories to the children.

What Are You Afraid Of?

It's time for bed...um, may I leave the light on?
Sure, you can! I'll turn it off after you fall asleep.

When you have been scared, have you felt:

- chills?
- cold feet?
- shaky knees?
- your heart thump?
- speechless?
- sweaty palms?
- yourself tremble?
- butterflies in your stomach?

When I do, I talk to my brother, Forest. He always makes me feel better.

I have felt almost all of these things at one time or another!

I am afraid of other snarling, barking dogs and hissing cats.

Spiders frighten me!

Do You Like a Good Scare?
Yes, most of us like to be frightened a little (as long as we know we are safe). Some people even take risks to get a thrill. Did you match up these things people do, watch or read about to get a fright?

The Clarendon Lions Club held their regular Tuesday noon meeting October 27, 2015, with Boss Lion Jacob Fangman in charge.

We had 17 members and Lion Sweetheart Kendra Davis present.

Lion Robert Riza reported the college volleyball team will have its last home game this week against Western Texas, and he said spring registration begins Monday.

Lion John Howard reported on county business, and Lion Mike Norrell reported Bryce Grahn is advancing to state in cross-country and said Riley Shadle is flying to Denver this week for rehab.

The Boss Lion reminded everyone that next Tuesday night will be our annual banquet and we will not meet for lunch that day. Next Friday, November 6, is the annual Pancake Supper from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. at the school cafeteria. Tickets are $5 each and are available from any Lion or at the door.

Lion Russell Estlack presented our program on "This Date in History" and the importance of giving blood.

We congratulated Lion Chuck Robertson on his wedding.

There being no further business, we were adjourned.
