Fund now accepting grant applications

The Donley County Community Fund is now accepting grant applications from qualified non-profit organizations for two $1,000 grants to be awarded this spring.

Those eligible to apply for the grants include local governments, non-profit organizations holding a 501(c)(3) status with the Internal Revenue Service, and other qualifying non-profits or civic organizations. All grant applicants must be from Donley County.

Grant applications must be received by Thursday, April 28, 2016, at 5 p.m., and grant recipients will be announced at the Mulkey Block Party on Saturday, May 28, 2016.

To receive a grant application and determine your organization's eligibility to apply, contact Jacob Fangman at 874-3556 or Roger Estlack at 874-2259.

The Donley County Community Fund began as the Clarendon Community Fund in 2008 when The Don and Sybil Harrington Foundation awarded a grant to match funds from the Clarendon Economic Development Corporation (CEDC). The fund was housed at the Amarillo Area Foundation (AAF). Those initial funds were used to kick start efforts to Bring Back the Mulkey Theatre, a project that is nearing completion. In 2015, the Fund adopted a new focus to build an Endowed Legacy for the entire county for the benefit of future generations, and the fund was rebranded as the Donley County Community Fund.

The Community Fund is currently overseen by the CEDC through a local Fund Advisory Committee, which includes Jim Shelton, Diane Skelton, Shauna Herbert, Chris Matthews, Jacob Fangman, and Roger Estlack.

The Amarillo Area Foundation is a community foundation that serves the top 26 counties of the Texas Panhandle. Founded in 1957, the Foundation provides grants and services to strengthen nonprofit organizations and the services they deliver.

Whistle-Stop plans big opening this week

After months of anticipation, the Whistle-Stop Trade Days will open this weekend with hopes of attracting people from miles around to attend a monthly shopping event in Clarendon.

Owner Kimberly Britten says the Whistle-Stop won't be a typical business.

"It's going to be an exciting event that happens once a month," she said.

Located at the former Chamberlain Motor Co. on US 287, the Whistle-Stop will open from noon to 5 p.m. this Friday, April 8, and from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday. Going forward, the trade days will be open the weekend following the first Monday each month.

In addition to vendors and live music, a car show is scheduled to be held this Saturday as part of the grand opening.

On the north side of the property will be a beer garden under the trees featuring live music, and several food trucks will be lined up along the beer garden. Food trucks will be serving corn dogs, barbecue, hamburgers, shaved ice, funnel cakes, sausages, and more.

"It's going to be fun," Britten said. "We have so many vendors - everything from fancy boutiques to old barn treasures, cold beer, live music, and great food."

Approximately 100 vendors are expected to be on hand this weekend at the Whistle-Stop. Booths will be set up inside the main building, in the parking lot in front of the main building, and behind the main building. Sellers are coming from all over Texas and Oklahoma, including as far away as San Antonio.

"We'll have furniture, antiques, 'junk,' tactical gear... you name it, it's probably here," Britten said.

Free parking for the trade days will be at the Clarendon Outdoor Entertainment Arena just north of the Whistle-Stop. Handicapped passengers can be dropped off near the blue awning of the former service building.

Britten said the Whistle-Stop has advertised widely for its opening in area newspapers as well as on radio and television, and she's received positive feedback from the community.

"People are really excited and think this is so good for Clarendon," she said. "It's going to be fun."

The Whistle-Stop first opened with a Farmer's Market in August before closing for the season. Britten and her fiancé Jordan Green say they and their helpers have been working very hard since January to get ready for this opening.

Britten says there are a few outdoor spaces left for vendors, and people can still sign up for those before Friday by calling 806-206-6815.

New Mexico JC names Sharp as new president

The Board of New Mexico Junior College announced Friday that Dr. Kelvin Sharp will be the sixth President in the college's 51-year history. Dr. Sharp was chosen from over 35 candidates in a comprehensive national search. He will assume leadership of NMJC on July 1, 2016.

Sharp has been president of South Plains College in Levelland since 2004. His leadership experience at a rural junior college, much like NMJC, and his understanding of the challenges and opportunities in higher education, made him the exceptional candidate from a pool of outstanding applicants.

"We are extremely proud to announce Dr. Sharp as New Mexico Junior College's next President," said Pat Chappelle, Board Chair. "The search committee and the board spent a great deal of time determining the qualifications and type of leadership they felt the college president needs. Dr. Sharp fills those requirements, and possesses the skills, vision and integrity that has made New Mexico Junior College one of the finest higher learning institutions in the Southwest."

Sharp holds his doctorate of education degree in higher education administration from Texas Tech University and his master of arts degree in mathematics from Texas Tech. He received his bachelor of science degree in physics and mathematics from Chadron State College, Chadron, Nebraska.

Sharp joined South Plains College in July 1999 as dean of arts and sciences. He was promoted to vice president for academic affairs in January 2000. The South Plains College Board of Regents named him president of the college in November 2004.

During Sharp's tenure at South Plains, he led the college through two successful reaccreditations with the Commission on Colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools. He was instrumental in facilitating the growth of the South Plains College Foundation and the college's reserve funds. He created partnerships with area communities to address workforce and educational outreach opportunities. He worked to streamline student service components to better address the diverse needs of the student population. Because of his teaching background, his priorities have centered on supporting the faculty and creating a positive educational experience. His vision, guided by these priorities, has led to several innovative construction and renovation projects that enhance the college's educational atmosphere.

Sharp

Sharp came to South Plains College from West Texas A&M University where he served four years as instructor in mathematics, coach of the rodeo team and assistant in the University Development Office. Previously, he had served as dean of instruction at Clarendon College for three years, and a math and rodeo physical education instructor for seven years. He has taught in public schools in Tryon, Nebraska, and Claude, Texas. He and his wife Lissa have two children, Lindsey, 18, and John, 15. He is the son of Wes and Beth Sharp of Clarendon.

"Dr. Sharp will continue to create new opportunities and lead the institution in the years ahead," said Chappelle

Apple, the FBI and the Future

By Julian Sanchez, Cato Institute

The epic showdown between the FBI and Apple has ended with a fizzle for now. With help from a mysterious “outside party” – which many believe to be the Israeli mobile forensics firm Cellebrite – the Bureau has been able to unlock the work iPhone of deceased San Bernardino shooter Syed Farook.

That means the government is dropping its legal fight to force the tech titan to write it a hacking tool that bypasses the phone’s security features – though at least a dozen other similar cases remain open at the federal level alone, and the technique used to access Farook’s phone may not work on newer models.

The FBI should stop talking about “balancing” data security against their investigative goals and shift their focus, and their resources, to an approach that serves both at once.

This latest development certainly doesn’t mark the end of the larger debate over how to best reconcile the public’s need for secure devices with the demands of law enforcement, but it may provide a model for a more productive general approach.

In this case, the government had sought to compel Apple to write and, critically, use its tightly-guarded cryptographic key to “sign” specialized passcode-hacking software that would be accepted by Farook’s phone as a legitimate Apple update.

The company, backed by many security experts and a who’s-who of Silicon Valley technology power-houses, warned that such a move would set a dangerous precedent. A flood of similar requests from law enforcement agencies around the world was certain to follow, creating an unacceptable risk that hackers or repressive foreign regimes would obtain a copy of the software, compromising the security of millions of users.

Similar objections have been raised against proposals to require companies to design their products with security vulnerabilities or “backdoors” built in up front. Creating truly secure hardware and software turns out to be a surprisingly difficult task – with frequent software updates and patches needed to close a never-ending train of newly discovered security vulnerabilities – and many experts insist that a requirement to provide backdoors for governments would render that all but impossible.

But maybe we don’t need to “balance” the security of our data against the needs of law enforcement at all. Instead of demanding that companies create new security vulnerabilities, weakening the safeguards that protect ordinary users along with criminals and terrorists, the FBI could do what it has done here: Invest in identifying the existing vulnerabilities that will inevitably be found in any complex hardware or software.

Then, critically, the vulnerability can be disclosed to the developer and patched, letting the government access the devices it already has in hand – while protecting innocent users against malicious hackers exploiting the same loophole.

That’s something security researchers had suggested since the FBI’s legal dispute with Apple became public, pointing to a variety of approaches that might enable access to the phone’s data. The FBI had insisted, both to the public and the courts, that no such alternatives existed, making it “necessary” to conscript Apple’s assistance.

Yet the relatively rapid emergence of just such an alternative suggests that the whole messy battle might have been avoided if the Bureau had cast a wider net in its initial search for solutions, almost certainly at a lower cost than suing Apple.

It’s also the broader approach several prominent computer scientists recommended in a 2014 paper on “Lawful Hacking.” As the authors explain, “the choice is between formalizing (and thereby constraining) the ability of law enforcement to occasionally use existing security vulnerabilities – something the FBI and other law enforcement agencies already do when necessary without much public or legal scrutiny – or living with those vulnerabilities and intentionally and systematically creating a set of predictable new vulnerabilities that despite best efforts will be exploitable by everyone.”

It’s easy to see why law enforcement finds it tempting to look for a single “magic bullet” solution to the problem of accessing encrypted data. Building the necessary in-house capability to do “lawful hacking” doubtless seems far more cumbersome, costly, and uncertain than simply passing a law that offloads the problem on tech companies. But, like most simple-seeming solutions to hard problems, it comes with unacceptably high hidden costs over the long term.

In recent years, intelligence officials have warned that our vulnerability to cyberattack the most serious national security threat the United States faces – and as mobile devices increasingly hold the credentials needed to access secure networks, smartphones are definitely part of that threat.

Against that background, the FBI should stop talking about “balancing” data security against their investigative goals and shift their focus, and their resources, to an approach that serves both at once.

That’s a very fine how-do-you-don’t

Easter Season reminds us annually of the “ultimate wrongness.”

Christians hope to make good on half of the directive to “go, and sin no more.” We go, but we sin some more.

Creative, we mere mortals be – adding new “wrongs” on a daily basis. Thankfully, seasons are not named to commemorate our blunders.

Some miscues are the result of fiendish premeditation inflated by dreams of “15 minutes of fame.” I remember extreme tackiness last year when a postal employee piloted his homemade flying machine – maybe herded would be a more accurate term – all the way to Washington, DC. You remember – the guy who landed his whirlybird on the White House lawn. Talk about special delivery....

The “incident” hasn’t been in the news lately. Perhaps he “plea dealt,” complete with tearful confession and heart-rending apology.

Such transgressions are, of course, ill-conceived, stupid and embarrassing. Red-faced White House security staff quickly agree.

The likes of it shouldn’t make the news; such coverage encourages one-upmanship among such “doofuses,” and there are many....

It is my intention now to get personal. Just as Ted Cruz takes umbrage to ugly talk about his wife, my dander is fluffed when blood kin feels the sharp edge of a fine. It was assessed last month, tacked on to the rent of her Dallas apartment. The victim is my charming, witty and committed niece, Anne Elizabeth Newbury, in whom I am well pleased.

It wasn’t assessed for her pet’s destruction of property, or for taking a hunk out of the apartment manager. Shucks, her doggie, Emma, is a docile sort.

Emma was indiscrete on the lawn, however, and was “found out” by new technical methodology that gets to the bottom of things....

The $264 fine jolts. I mean, couldn’t there have been a warning?

Wouldn’t a fine of, oh, say $50 be more easily defended?

I mean, she’s a law-abiding American woman, passionate about public service. Anne – with a master’s degree in social work – recently was injured in the line of duty while “on the clock” at Dallas’ Parkland Hospital....

Unable to work for a spell, she could no doubt provide strong excuses should this issue reach a court of law. I think both judge and jury could be tilted her way.

An initial question might be, “How long was the leash?” If it’s a long one, the indiscretion may have occurred around the corner, behind a bush, or otherwise out of view. Is my niece’s workplace injury such that she’s tending her dog from a wheelchair?

She has always had a bent toward helping others. I’m eager to hear her account of the charges....

There is always the possibility that the informant – my brother Fred – has embellished the story. He’s always been bad about that; once he went on a crying spree, blaming me for smacking him in the idle american by don newbury

the mouth with a rotten tomato.

He was correct – to a point – but was only 5 at the time. Older and wiser, I was 12, and 100% intent to merely rid our dad’s garden of an almost-dead tomato vine.

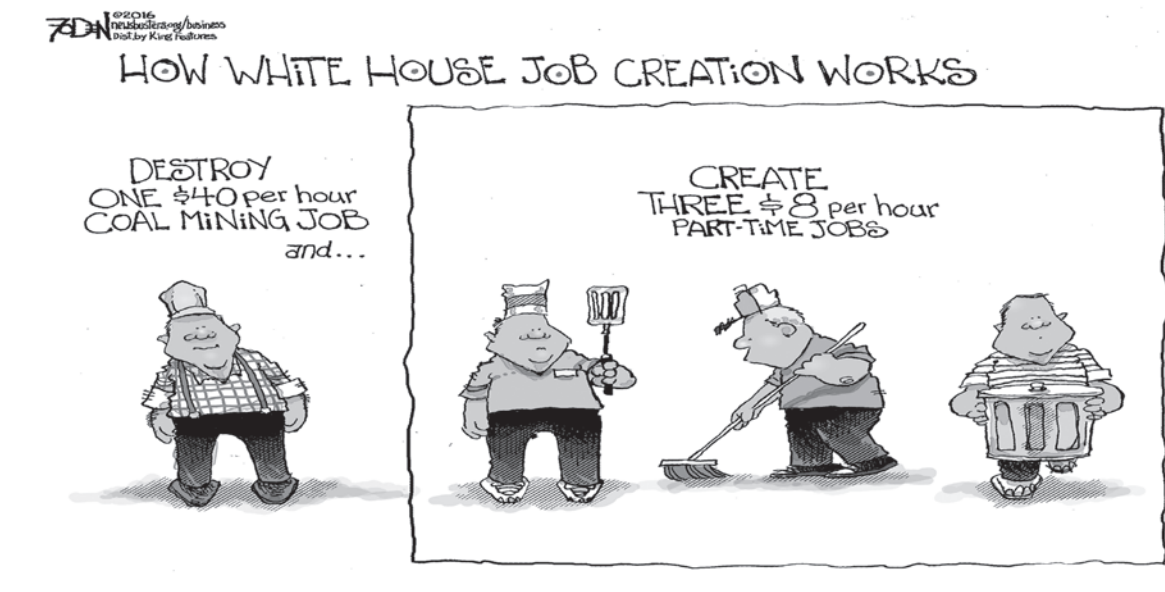

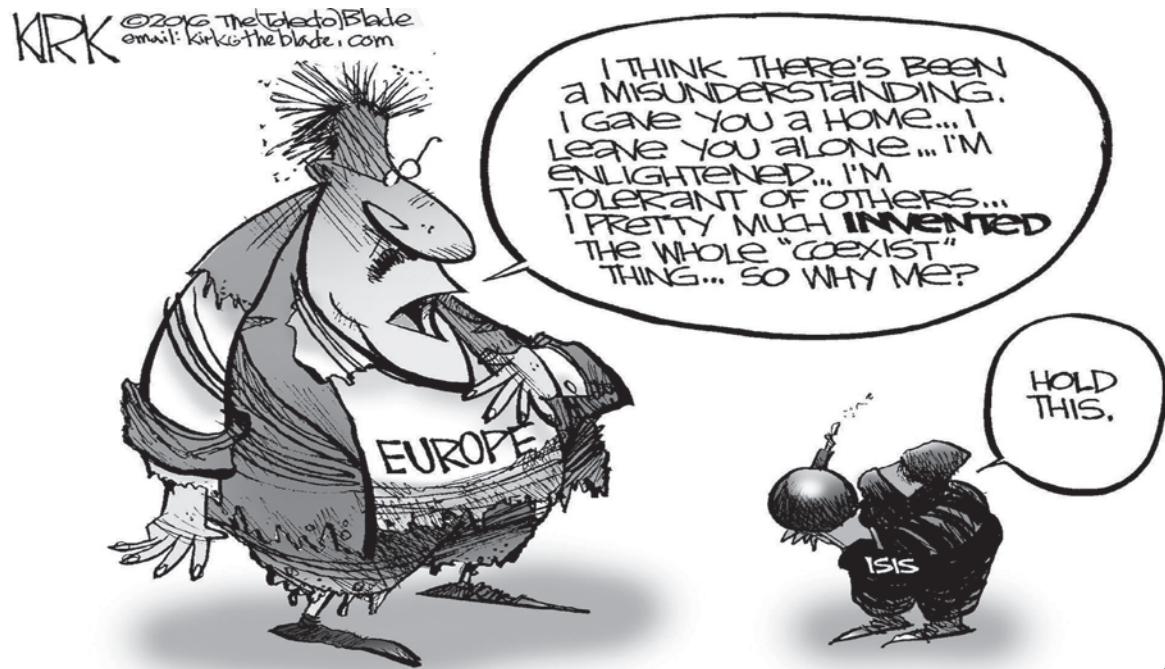

I extracted it, barely noticing the bulging last tomato of summer. I twirled the vine, lasso-like. Pressed, I might have admitted the possibility of the rotten tomato breaking loose. Fate, though, may have deserved the blame for the “face-smacking” part. Besides, as I recall, he was standing too close....

So, exaggeration possibilities should be kept in mind. (Other examples could be cited, but time and space preclude more accounts.)

My brother is madder’n a hog caught in a barbed wire fence, however. Dr. Fred Newbury, nearing a half-century in higher education and in his third term as president of the faculties of Dallas Community College’s seven campuses, is a respected economist. Further, he’s an author, and one of the few remaining charter members of the Richland College faculty.

“How do they know it was your dog?” he questioned Anne. “They took swabs to apartment pets’ mouths recently, and say DNA doesn’t lie,” she answered. Anne is determined to “ante-up” with funds to cover the tab. A woman of her word, I’m pretty sure she won’t depend on proceeds from a “Go Fund Me” appeal on the Internet....

Be careful buying gifts on vacation

While we were in Peru, we saw some extremely beautiful silver and gold items. The colorful weavings were fantastic. The caps, shirts and jackets were made with skillful hands. The very special alpaca and vicuna coats and scarves were of extremely high quality. There were so many interesting and unique things. We wanted to bring practically everything we saw back home with us. We stayed in a shopping district full of small, fun stores to visit. In the mornings we walked up and down the streets near our hotel and visited several of them. We were in Lima over a weekend when a large marketplace was set up over a several block area downtown. Vendors from nearby villages brought items to sell along a boulevard esplanade. They just plunk themselves down on the grass and set up shop. It reminded me of Santa Fe, when Indians offer things for sale on the town square. The Peruvian vendors were wearing the brightest-colored clothing I’ve ever seen.

Shopping for our family was fairly simple, but finding special gifts for our friends was difficult. We wanted something small, since we always try to travel with carry-on luggage. A lot of consideration went into every choice we made. We went back and forth between vendors, shops and the marketplace. We finally decided on some silver letter openers.

We made our purchases early in the trip, since we were going to be fairly busy later on. We had some scheduled excursions throughout the country.

After buying the gifts, we went to the Lima airport to catch a flight to Cuzco. In Peru, you have to pay an airport tax prior to boarding. And you pay it after checking your luggage. Since we had just carry-on, we paid the tax and headed for security.

I travel with at least two cameras and a recorder. When the security camera scanned our luggage, there seemed to be some kind of a problem with a bag. The security officer said something that sounded to me like the word corder. I thought he was speaking English, and told him, “You must have found my recorder.” He didn’t respond and looked stern. Turns out he was speaking Spanish and the word he was saying was cortar, which means to cut.

by tumbleweed smith

He started plowing through the bag in question, which had my recorder in it. He didn’t pause an instant when he came to the recorder. He kept going until he found the silver letter openers we had purchases for our friends. Another security officer, a woman, approached and looked over the situation. She saw the surprised look on our faces and could tell we had never considered the letter openers being weapons. She figured we were not terrorists and courteously asked us to please return to the ticket counter and check our luggage.

We learned a lot about buying gifts on that trip. We did have to pay another airport tax, but it was a small price to pay, considering what could have been the consequences of our trying to carry weapons aboard a plane.

Red Cross to host ice cream social

The American Red Cross will be hosting an old-fashioned ice cream social on Wednesday, April 12, 2016, from 11:30 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. at the Lowe's Family Center in Clarendon.

Donley County is the site of one of the newest Red Cross Mission Teams and we want to celebrate volunteerism with all the residents of Clarendon and Donley County.

"The event is open to the public and we invite everyone to come by and let us treat them to ice cream or root-beer floats" said Kiley Murray, Texas Panhandle Red Cross Executive Director.

The American Red Cross serves every county in the Texas Panhandle and our goal in 2016 is to build Red Cross presence at the grassroots level by engaging local communities in a new service-delivery model called "Mission Teams." Donley County Mission Team TXP103 is currently seeking new volunteers to join their team.

Here are a few of the things that Mission Teams will be engaged in:

Mission Teams provide immediate needs to families devastated by home fire;

Train as a team to become disaster responders for local relief operations;

Teach children and the community how to be prepared for disasters;

Help military men, women, families, and veterans receive Red Cross services;

Take part in home fire preparedness campaigns providing free smoke alarms to those that need them;

Work with community partners to make sure your community is resilient;

and Attend community events, parades, and plan community outreach that bring the mission of the Red Cross to life in your community.

The vision is to create a sustainable culture of preparedness and resilience in Donley County with the local volunteer Mission Team. Volunteers make up more than 94 percent of the Red Cross and are invaluable to the work the Red Cross does. New volunteers in Donley County will ensure that the southwestern area of the Texas Panhandle has the needed manpower in the event of future emergencies.

The American Red Cross shelters, feeds and provides emotional support to victims of disasters; supplies about 40 percent of the nation's blood; teaches skills that save lives; provides international humanitarian aid; and supports military members and their families.

The Red Cross is a not-for-profit organization that depends on volunteers and the generosity of the American public to perform its mission.

CC women defeats FPC in four games

Courtney Turner had two extra base hits, sparking the Lady Bulldogs to a 10-7 victory in seven innings over Frank Phillips on Saturday, closing a four-game series with victories over FPC.

Turner doubled in the third inning and tripled in the fourth inning.

Ryata Daniel was a workhorse on the rubber while bagging the win for the Lady Bulldogs. Daniel pitched 5 1/3 innings and allowed no earned runs, four hits and one walk while striking out three.

Briana Cruz, Glorianna Eddy, Turner and Megan McGuire helped lead the Lady Bulldogs. They combined for eight hits and eight RBIs.

Cheyenne Housh was the game's losing pitcher. She allowed eight runs in four innings, walked one and struck out two.

In the top of the first, Frank Phillips grabbed the early lead, 2-0.

Sabrina Branch singled to ignite Frank Phillips' offense. An error then moved Branch from first to third. Housh singled, bringing home Branch and Jaelene Solano.

The Lady Bulldogs brought home two runs in the second inning, and matched that run total in the fourth. In the second, the Lady Bulldogs scored on an RBI double by Natalie De La Rosa, bringing home Cheyenne Hannah.

The Lady Bulldogs went up for good in the third, scoring four runs on two doubles and an RBI single by Eddy. The Lady Bulldogs tacked on another two runs in the fourth. Turner's triple got things going, plating Haley Rodriguez. That was followed up by Eddy's single, bringing home Turner.

One run in the top of the fifth helped Frank Phillips close its deficit to 8-6. An RBI single by Minya Watkins set off Frank Phillips rally.

The Frank Phillips threat came to an end when Daniel finally got Branch to ground out.

It didn't take long for the Lady Bulldogs to answer as they scored one run of their own in the fifth. The Lady Bulldogs scored on an RBI single by Marilyn Brackens.

After pushing across one run in the top of the sixth, Frank Phillips faced just a 9-7 deficit. A sacrifice fly by Amanda Tokunaga gave Frank Phillips life. Kennedy Sims to end the Frank Phillips threat.

The Lady Bulldogs answered Frank Phillips' top inning with one run of their own in the sixth. The Lady Bulldogs scored on an RBI triple by Megan McGuire.

Also in the series last Friday and Saturday, Clarendon defeated FPC 14-6, 11-2, and 10-1.

Grandparents Scam hits hard

Hi, gang! Last week, I was invited by the Retired Teachers to their meeting to hear a guest speaker. However, first I need all of us to warn all grandparents that the Grandparents Scam has hit very hard again. In fact, one grandparent was so distraught after sending money he went into the back yard and killed himself. He had written down all the information on a pad by his phone. The best way is just to hang up and call other family members to check the information out. Don't send money it is a scam. Report it to the Sheriff's office and to the FTC. Also this week an article, "Is That Really the IRS Calling?"

Now back to my story. The Retired Teachers had Laurie McAfee from The Area Agency on Aging (that's part of The Panhandle Regional Planning Commission covering Donley County) who presented a program on How to Protect Yourself & Your Medicare Benefits, with help from Texas Senior Medicare Patrol. 1-888-341-6187 or www.texasmp.org. What we will look at today is PROTECT your Medicare number. DETECT possible mistakes or fraud by reading your Medicare Summary Notice right away! REPORT questions or mistakes to your medical provider or health plan, if not satisfied with the response, call SMP.

We must watch for mistakes in Medicare payments and report them, to prevent higher premiums and benefit cuts. I hate to admit it, but I have never read the Medicare & You book sent each fall. We need to keep it throughout the year and lookup answers to our questions.

If you have misplaced it read online at www.Medicare.gov.

There is a free Personal Health Care Journal that you can take to your appointments. Write down what happens during your visit/treatment and compare with MSNs. Then you can check your Medicare Summary Notice (MSN) immediately, providers have 12 months to file claims. MSNs are mailed every 3 months for Parts A, B and durable medical equipment. OR use www.MyMedicare.gov, the free secure service to view MSNs as soon as they are processed.

Please Contact SMP If You: want to report suspected Medicare fraud or abuse, would like to receive a personal health care journal and our informative literature, would like to have an SMP speaker to speak to your community group; or, would be interested in becoming an SMP volunteer.

Contact Information: Texas SMP Program Director – Barbara McGinity, LMSW bmcginity@bbbhou.org or (713) 341-6184, Texas SMP toll free line – 1 (888) 341-6187. More on Medicare fraud

Be prepared from Spring storms

Here it is April, and we are praying for some spring showers because it is dry in Donley County, folks. We missed the Easter snow which by all reports was beautiful but surreal. Our dry spells are usually broken by storms, and that is my subject today: preparedness.

As everyone around here should know, tornados can hit at any time as evidenced by the devastation they caused in our state in December. But they are most prevalent around here in April, May, and June. If you do not have a basement or cellar, find a place to go, especially if you live in a manufactured or mobile home. They are more dangerous.

If you live in Howardwick, we have a public storm shelter located between the Fire Department and the trash site. It is a nice concrete shelter with gently sloping steps and is open to all our citizens, but no pets are allowed. If you have a cellar or basement, now is the time to clean it out and get it supplied. I am always surprised at the things that are swept up and spider webs that are cleaned up.

Some years wasps have been found down there and must be removed also. If you have spiders or other insects, now is a good time to get rid of them, you don't want to see a tornado and try to share space with a nest of wasps.

Next, supply your space by packing a plastic bin with items you may need in an emergency. First think "Light" and have a good supply of candles, lanterns, matches, and lighters as well as flashlights with batteries. I keep matches sealed in a pint jar with tight lid. They are still good after two years. Batteries would also keep in sealed jars or use good sealing plastic bags. A supply of water is essential; experts suggest at least a gallon a day per person for 3 days. Food should be sealed and portable, I keep peanut butter and crackers and don't forget some plastic utensils. It is a good idea to have blankets and jackets nearby. A first aid kit should be in your survival pack. A battery powered radio, important documents such as insurance cards, bank account numbers, copy of Social Security cards as well as copies of your driver's license should be handy. Tools should include duct tape as well as hammer and screw drivers, and I remember my Dad always had an ax in the cellar in case the door was covered in debris. Keep some cash which should include small bills in case the computers in stores are down. If like us you have pets, put in some food and pet care items. If children will be using the shelter, put some games and toys for them. Keep a whistle or clicker in the cellar in case you are trapped and need help, the noise they make carries further than your voice. We hope a tornado doesn't hit; but if it does, we want to survive not only the tornado but also the aftermath.

Scouts earn science belt loops

This week I went to the Discovery Center with my Cub Scout Pack to earn a science belt loop.

In the room, we were talking about static electricity, and I got to be a volunteer. And it was where you put one hand on a type of generator and hold Styrofoam peanuts in the other hand. Then the teacher turned it on, and the Styrofoam peanuts started to float out of my hand! And you could shock someone if you touched them.

Then we went to see the animals in the staff's room. There was a chinchilla, two snakes, and a lizard.

My cousin Nathan got to build a rocket and shoot it off outside.

Then we got to go play in the Grossology exhibit, and my and Daniel's favorite part was where you shoot ping-pong balls out of giant guns and you have a partner and you have to try and get it into tiny holes in the back of a giant nose. We were acting like the ping pong balls were allergens and then the nose would sneeze and all the ping pong balls would come flying back at you. It was awesome!

The Clarendon Lions Club held its regular Tuesday noon meeting April 5, 2016, with Boss Lion Jacob Fangman in charge.

We had 16 members and Lion Sweetheart Kendra Davis present this week.

The Boss Lion reminded everyone that the 5K starts at 9 a.m. this Saturday, at the Bairfield Activity Center. Race packets for those who have registered will be available at the Clarendon Visitor Center from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. this Friday. Volunteers were lined up to mark the race route, set up on Saturday, and man water tables during the race.

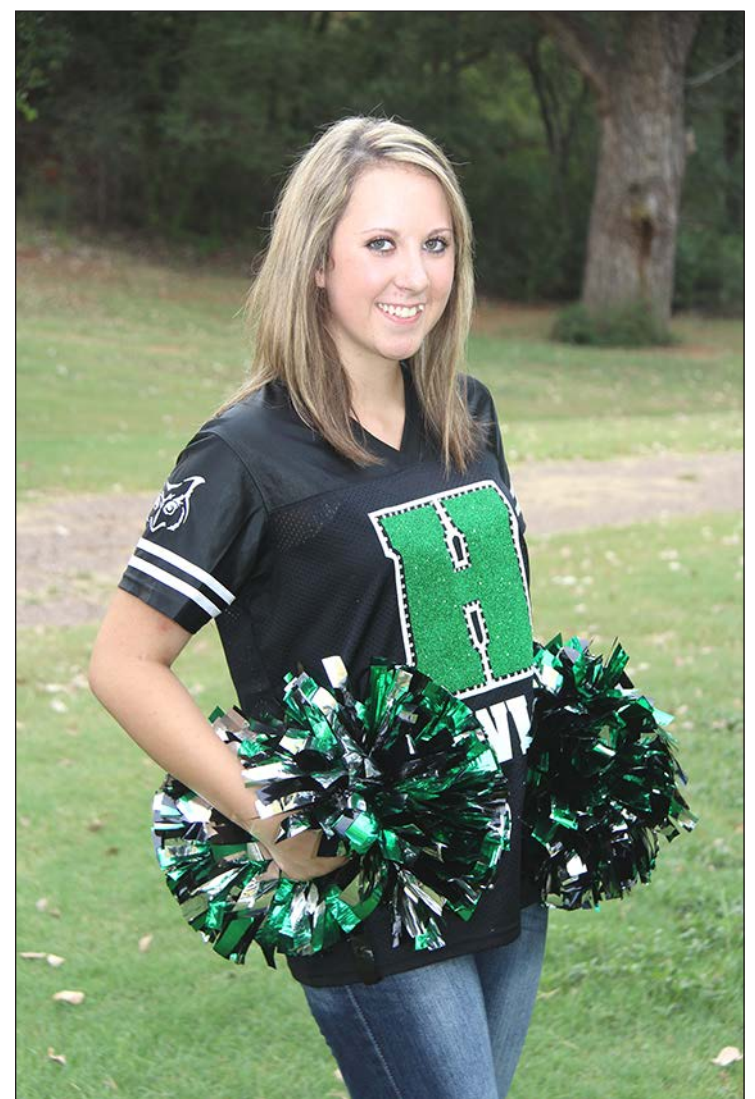

Lion Scarlet Estlack reported on the college and UIL events going on there. The Sweetheart reported on golf, tennis, track, and prom activities being lined up at the high school and Regional UIL on April 23.

The Boss Lion also reminded everyone about St. Mary's BBQ this Sunday. Tickets are available in advance for a reduced price compared to at the door.

There being no further business, we were adjourned to spread Lionism and good cheer throughout our fair county.

Drugs in the News

Novel Drug Produces Significant Results

Results from an experimental drug in the middle of preclinical research was found to improve the outcomes in people with a condition called ischemic dilated cardiomyopathy. Test results showed that this drug reduced death, hospitalization, and emergency room visits in patients. It is called ixmylocel-T. It is a unique drug in that is taken from the affected person's own bone marrow. The FDA has granted this drug with an "orphan drug" designation because it is a potential treatment for people with this rare condition.

With ischemic dilated cardiomyopathy the pumping area of the heart becomes so enlarged that it cannot pump blood normally. The most common cause of this poor blood supply is narrowing of the arteries in the heart. Symptoms of this condition include swelling of the legs and feet, shortness of breath, and abnormal heart rhythm.

Broncos steamroll Memphis and Kress

By Sandy Anderberg

The Clarendon Broncos are continuing to post great games at home and on the road as they continue to play their district schedule.

They earned a big win at Memphis in five innings at 11-1 and blanked Kress at home last Friday at 8-0 in seven innings. Caleb Cobb was on the mound against the Cyclones and did a great job holding Memphis at bay. He had nine strikeouts and only allowed one earned run on three hits and had no walks in the five innings he pitched. Offensively, the Broncos played a solid game while at bat and scored four big runs in the fifth. Andy Davis had an RBI single and Clay Koetting stole home, while Bryce Hatley earned a walk.

"I thought Caleb pitched a great game," head coach Brad Elam said. "He got ahead of batters and put them away."

Kade Hunsaker got the call in the Kress game and struck out 14 batters. He only allowed one hit in his seven innings on the mound.

Josh Cobb had two RBIs on three hits for the Broncos. He was able to single in the first and fifth innings, and homered in the sixth.

The Broncos struck in the first inning when they scored two runs on a RBI double by Hatley. Caleb Cobb also hit a two-run homerun in the third inning to strengthen the Broncos' dominance.

The Broncos will play Nazareth at home on Friday, April 8, and will host Valley on Tuesday, April 12, with both games beginning at 4:00 p.m.

Lady Broncos defeat Follett, lose to WT

By Sandy Anderberg

The Lady Bronco softball team split games last week as they continue their district schedule. They were able to breeze by Follett at 8-4, but dropped a game to West Texas High at 4-8.

According to head coach Gary Jack, the ladies played in very windy and cool conditions against Follett.

"We played very well against the hardest throwing pitchers in our district," Jack said. "We had several making good defensive plays during the game."

Jack noted that Sterling King, Shelby Baxter, Jensen Hatley, Karlee Adams, Briley Chadwick, Brianna Butler, Allyson Hogan, and Brooke Martin did a good job defensively.

"We had some very timely hits by Butler, Hatley, Baxter, King, and Hannah Hommel," Jack said. "It was tied going into the seventh inning and we came up with four big runs to secure the win. Allyson pitched well for the win."

On Saturday, the Lady Broncos traveled to West Texas High.

"We played a good, solid game, but came up a little short," Jack said. Butler and Emily Johnson's bats were hot as they each pounded a home run in the game. "Again, we had a good defensive day, but they just had more true hits than we did."

Jack noted that Baxter, Butler, Johnson and Chadwick hit the ball well with Chadwick doing a good job from the mound.

The Lady Broncos will play McLean at home on Friday, April 8, at 4:00 p.m and will travel to Booker on Tuesday, April 12 and play at 4:00 p.m.

Pitcher Kade Hunsaker had an outstanding game against Kress. Hunsaker pitched a complete game shut out with 14 strikeouts.

McGarity

Lois Wilson McGarity passed away early this week at Westminster Manor in Austin. She was 90 years old.

McGarity

Lois was raised in Russellville, Alabama, by her parents Ralph C. and Chamintney S. Thomas. After attending Russellville High School, she graduated from Maryville College in Maryville, Tennessee, where she met her future husband, the Reverend Owen McGarity, Jr.

A devoted wife and mother, Lois was an integral part of Owen's ministries at Presbyterian churches in Illinois, Indiana and Texas. She was also an active participant in the civic life of the towns where she lived.

Lois received a Texas Elementary Education Certificate from Lamar University in 1966, and she later received a Special Education Certificate from West Texas State University. From 1966 until her retirement, Lois taught elementary and special education students in Port Neches, Clarendon, Shiner, and Gonzales, Texas. In 1983, she was listed as one of the "Most Prominent Educators of Texas."

Lois devoted many of her free hours to documenting and archiving past and present comings and goings of six generations of her large family, an act of love for which her descendants will forever be grateful.

Lois is survived by her brother, Dr. James Thomas; her children Thomas and wife Cathleen, Arthur and wife Jane, Elizabeth Silva and husband Richard, Ralph and wife Ida, and Mary Nell Clark and husband John; 14 grandchildren; and 12 great-grandchildren.

A service to celebrate Lois McGarity's life will be held at Westminster Presbyterian Church, 3208 Exposition Boulevard, Austin, Texas on Friday, April 8, at 3:00 PM. A service of interment will be held at the Gonzales Memorial Park Woodmen of the World Cemetery in Gonzales, Texas on Saturday, April 9, at 11:00 AM.

Donations in lieu of flowers should be sent to Westminster Presbyterian Church for the One Great Hour of Sharing collection.

Arrangements under the care and direction of Seydler-Hill Funeral Home, 906 St. Paul, Gonzales, TX.

Health Fair to be held on Tuesday

The 2016 Health Fair will be on Tuesday, April 12, from 8:30 to 12:30 in the Bairfield Activity Center on the Clarendon College campus.

Health fairs are excellent ways to offer screenings for some health problems like diabetes and high blood pressure. Catching them early can help reduce the risks for costly complications. Both diabetes and high blood pressure can go undetected for up to ten years.

Health fairs can also raise awareness of issues like preventing heat exhaustion, heat stroke and even skin cancer. Preventing or delaying the onset of chronic health problems can produce significant savings for many insured employee groups. Thanks to all the generous sponsors, these services will be offered at no cost to the public.

Northwest Health Care System will be paying for the processing of tests for cholesterol- LDL/HDL and triglycerides, but you must provide your mailing address and must be fasting for accurate results. The paramedics of the Donley County Hospital District will be drawing the blood for these tests.

Free medical testing will also be available in the following areas: blood pressure, pulse, oxygen, glucose/blood sugar, balance, glaucoma, cholesterol- LDL/HDL, STDs, and PSAs. Additional services and information may be available at the fair.

The fair is being sponsored by Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service, Clarendon Family Medical Center, Northwest Health Care System, Pilgrim Bank, Mike's Pharmacy, Clarendon College, and Donley County Memorial VFW Post #7782 Ladies Auxiliary. Donations are still being accepted at the Donley County Extension Office to help with the expense and keeping it a free event for the attendees.

For more information about the 2016 Health Fair please contact the Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service at 874-2141.

BADGE OF HONOR

During the work week, Predictive Maintenance Coordinator David Rumsey is busy maintaining and monitoring safety at Southwestern Electric Power Company's Turk Plant. In his free time, he's a reserve police officer in Atlanta, Texas. In fact, he logs more than 500 hours each year as a volunteer with the department—patrolling neighborhoods, assisting in traffic and crowd control, and supporting fellow officers. It's a true commitment and a dedication to serving the people in his own hometown. Even more, it's another example of a SWEPCO employee focused on helping the community. For David, it's a badge of honor, one we can all see.

We may be a power company, but the true power in our communities comes from our people.
