Big turnout for first day of early voting

Several Donley County voters could hardly wait to cast their ballots when early voting began Monday, October 24.

County Clerk Fay Vargas said people were waiting before the election officials were even ready to go, and by day's end, more than 140 people had cast early ballots. That's about nine percent of the entire local turnout for the presidential election in 2012.

Interest is high in the race for president, but further down the ballot there is little excitement except for one local race drew a late challenger. Precinct 3 Commissioner Andy Wheatly is facing a write-in opponent from Neil Koetting. The race has generated some spirited advertising in the Lelia Lake community, and is the only office that is being contested locally.

Unopposed local candidates this year include Sheriff Butch Blackburn, County Attorney Landon Lambert, County Tax Assessor/Collector Linda Crump, and Precinct One Commissioner Mark White.

Local congressman, Rep. Mac Thornberry, is facing third party challenges, but State Rep. Ken King, District Judge Stuart Messer, and District Attorney Luke Inman are not.

Voters head to the polls this year with the state's voter ID law facing legal challenges. Vargas says voters may be asked to show ID when they vote and the following forms of identification are acceptable: state driver's license, a Texas Election Identification Certificate issued by DPS, Texas personal identification card issued by DPS, or a Texas license to carry a handgun issued by DPS.

Other forms of ID accepted under the law are a US military ID card that includes a personal photo, a US citizenship certificate that includes a personal photo, or a US passport.

A July court ruling as provided some relief for voters who cannot "reasonably obtain" the proper ID. They may be asked to sign a form in which they swear that they have a "reasonable impediment" from obtaining appropriate identification. Even then, those voters may be asked to produce one of the following: a valid voter registration certificate, a certified birth certificate, or a copy or original of a current utility bill, bank statement, government check, paycheck or other document that shows the voter's name and address. Any government document that contains a voter's photo must be an original.

Vargas also says that she has heard rumors that poll watchers may be out on election day to observe the voting process, but nothing is official yet.

Any poll watcher would be required to have certain paperwork allowing them to observe the election, and they may not watch anyone actually mark their ballot.

Early voting by personal appearance continues through November 4. Mail-in ballots are due in the clerk's office by October 28. Election Day will be Tuesday, November 8.

VFW Auxiliary asks for help with flags

The Donley County VFW Auxiliary will be placing about 500 flags on veterans' graves in Citizens Cemetery on November 7 starting at 4 p.m. and help is being sought for this endeavor.

All interested civic groups or volunteers are invited to participate. In the event of bad weather, the project will be delayed to November 8.

The VFW will also hold a special Veterans Day ceremony November 11 at 11 a.m. at the Donley County War Memorial. A hot dog lunch will be served at the VFW Hall following the ceremony.

CVFD to host open house this weekend

The Clarendon Volunteer Fire Department will host an Open House for the public this Saturday, October 29, 2016 from 10 a.m. to noon. Activities will include fire safety demonstrations, fire truck rides, and hot dogs, snacks and drinks.

Blood drive to be held November 8

Coffee Memorial Blood Center will hold a community blood drive Tuesday, November 8, from 10:30 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. at the Clarendon College Bairfield Activity Center.

Donors who present to donate will receive a free t-shirt. Photo ID is required, and you must be at least 17 years old to donate. Donors that are age 16 may now donate with a signed parental consent form.

For appointments, please go to yourbloodinstitute.org or call 331-8800 or 877-574-8800.

Blood is needed every day. There is no substitute for blood. It can only come from volunteer blood donors.

Lighting committee to begin decorating

The Donley County Courthouse Lighting Committee is getting ready for its annual celebration on Saturday, November 26, and dates have been set to put up lights on the courthouse square. The committee will be working on the following Saturdays, October 29, November 5, and November 12 from 8 a.m. to noon each day.

Anyone willing to help is asked to just show up or call Judge Denise Bertrand for more information at 856-5914.

County holds off on more power for lights

Donley County Commissioners met in regular session October 11 and considered several items on their agenda.

The court discussed a proposal to add electrical outlets on the jail and the west side of the Courthouse Annex to better accommodate Christmas lights on that side of the square.

County Judge John Howard said the proposal was for about $2,000, but commissioners took no action on the proposal at this time.

The county is planning to install a water well on that side of the square to alleviate the expense of watering the courthouse lawn. When electrical is run for the future well, accommodations for lighting outlets could be made at that time, the judge said.

The county also received an update on flood control dams on the JA and Crofoot ranch properties. USDA Soil & Water Conservation representative Weldon Sears reported that the dams were in better shape than expected.

District Attorney Luke Inman reported on Chapter 59 Asset Forfeitures, which partially funds some expenses of the DA's office and is partially used for law enforcement equipment in the district. Howard said they may be a move by the Legislature to change how that process works in the future that could result in less money staying in the local area.

Commissioners approved a resolution for the 2017 Indigent Defense Grant, which brings about $6,700 worth of revenue to the county.

Tax delinquent property bids were accepted for lots in Howardwick as presented by the Donley Appraisal District.

The court approved Judge Howard's attendance at a mental health law symposium in Lubbock.

Sandell, churches plan for Halloween

Family friendly activities are being held in Clarendon as Halloween approaches next Monday.

Trick or Treating will be observed on the usual day, Monday, October 31, but that will be preceded by a fun evening this Saturday, October 29, at the Sandell Drive-In theatre.

Gates at the drive-in will open at 5 p.m. with a costume contest being held and a Trunk or Treat being held for the kids. Admission is $5 per person with gate proceeds going to benefit Girl Scout Troop 5245.

A dusk the Sandell will hold a Halloween double feature with Goosebumps followed by the Night of the Living Dead. The full concession stand will be open during the evening.

Businesses and individuals wishing to participate in the Sandell's trunk or treat or for more information about the costume contest should call Deb at 806-847-7292.

More trunk or treating will be held at two local churches on Monday.

The First United Methodist Church will hold its annual Trunk or Treat from 5:30 to 8 p.m. with a free chili and cornbread dinner being held in the Fellowship Hall at the same time.

The First Assembly of God will also hold its annual Trunk or Treat from 6 to 7:30 p.m. and kids attending that event can enjoy activities, games, and treats.

The public is advised to use caution when driving around town Monday evening, being sure to watch out for children so that everyone has a safe and happy Halloween.

District court hears plea in local man's case Monday

The case of a Donley County man was among those heard by the District Court when it met in Childers on Monday, October 24.

Fourteen pleas took place as District Attorney Luke Inman, assisted by Greg Buckley, prosecuted the cases for the State of Texas, with the Honorable Judge Stuart Messer presiding.

Richard Andwin Shields was placed on probation for a period of six years for the third degree felony offense of deadly weapon. Shields pleaded guilty and was placed on deferred adjudication for the offense.

Shields, age 48, from Lelia Lake, was arrested in Donley County for the offense that took place on January 2, 2016, by Donley County Deputy Jay Logan. Shields was indicted by a Donley County Grand Jury on June 20, 2016.

Pursuant to the plea agreement, Shields was required to pay a fine of $2,500 to Donley County, $398 in court costs, and successfully complete 200 hours of community service. If Shields violates probation, he could face up to 10 years in the Institutional Division of the TDCJ.

Brandon Kyle Harris, 39 from Corpus Christi, pleaded true to allegations listed in the State's Motion to Adjudicate and was sentenced to six years in the Institutional Division of TDCJ for the third degree felony offense of evading arrest.

Patrick Rodriguez, 26 from Memphis, pleaded true to allegations listed in the State's Motion to Adjudicate and was sentenced to 16 months in the State Jail Division of TDCJ for the state jail felony offense of possession of a controlled substance.

Spencer Coleton Roberson was placed on probation for a period of three years for the third degree felony offense of prohibited substance in a correctional facility. Roberson pleaded guilty and was placed on deferred adjudication for the offense.

Baron Lee McQueen was placed on probation for a period of six years for the first degree felony offense of aggravated assault against a public servant. McQueen pleaded guilty and was placed on deferred adjudication for the offense.

Nathan C. Frazier, 23 from Childers, pleaded true to allegations listed in the State's Motion to Adjudicate and was sentenced to 14 months in the State Jail Division of TDCJ for the state jail felony offense of forgery.

Clinton seems to have two gun positions

By Adam Bates, Cato Institute
In the third and final presidential debate, Hillary Clinton made two seemingly conflicting assertions about the Second Amendment: that she supports an individual right to bear arms and that the Heller case was wrongly decided.

Here's the problem for Secretary Clinton: The Supreme Court held in District of Columbia v. Heller that the Second Amendment protects an individual right to own a handgun for self-defense in the home. There were two dissents to the case. One by Justice Stephens, which rejected a self-defense justification for the Second Amendment, and another by Justice Breyer arguing that even if there is a right to self-defense, it does not include the right to keep a handgun or immediately operable long gun in the home. Each dissent received votes from the same four justices.

So what does Secretary Clinton mean when she says that Heller was wrongly decided? Both dissents in Heller would have upheld a law that effectively banned handguns. Both dissents would have upheld a law that rejects the ability to defend yourself from criminals in your own home as a fundamental right. Or would Secretary Clinton reject both dissents in favor of some fourth view of the case?

How can Clinton possibly reject Heller but believe in an "individual right to bear arms"?

Her position is vague and ambiguous. To say that you accept an individual right to bear arms but also believe that the government can ban individuals from owning handguns or operable long guns in the home raises the question of exactly what this individual right does protect.

This ambiguity is unfortunately a common phenomenon in the gun debate. Gun-control advocates and supporters of gun rights often seem to be speaking entirely different languages.

The discussion around so-called assault weapons is instructive. To the gun-rights advocate, the mere term causes the eyes to roll. Virtually every gun owner recognizes the term "assault rifle." It refers to a medium-powered rifle with select-fire capability (i.e., the ability to switch between at least two modes of fire, such as single shot and automatic or single shot and burst). The M16 rifle is a popular example of an assault rifle. Its civilian equivalent, the popular AR15, is not an assault rifle because it only has one mode of fire: single shot.

The term "assault weapons," on the other hand, has no concrete meaning. It refers to a process by which legislators simply label certain weapons or features as "assault weapons." In short, assault weapons are whatever the people writing the law say they are. When such laws have been written by people who lack experience with firearms, the results have occasionally been ridiculous, as the banned features are often cosmetic and bear no relation to the lethality of the weapon.

Assault rifles are heavily regulated in the United States and would be for generations, so much so that calling it a "ban" would be fair. But when Senator Ron Johnson of Wisconsin said exactly that, Politifact rated his statement mostly false. I spoke to the author of that "fact check" and he insisted repeatedly that while Senator Johnson might be "technically correct," the average person on the street conflates the terms assault rifle and assault weapon. The irony of a respected media outlet continuing to perpetuate that confusion was lost.

Occasionally it's the policy, rather than the principle, advocated by gun-control supporters that is overly vague. Control advocates such as President Obama often insist that they support the right to bear arms and oppose confiscation. But President Obama also has a habit of invoking as exemplars countries such as Australia and Great Britain where there is no individual right to bear arms and confiscation is a fact of life.

The incoherence can also be found in the federal government's incomprehensible ban on suppressors. For recreational shooters, a suppressor is a device that lowers the risk of serious hearing damage from extended shooting. For gun-control advocates who've seen too many movies and played too many video games, a suppressor turns an otherwise detectable gunshot into a silent killing device. The reality is much different.

Before we can have a coherent discussion about gun policy in America, let alone a compromise or gun solution, it's vital to first agree about the meaning of the terms and be clear about our positions. Unfortunately, Secretary Clinton's comments, along with her surging in the polls, suggests that it may yet be years before the national discourse on gun rights becomes any more mutually intelligible.

Words can pack powerful punches

The old adage first appeared in an American publication in 1862. Generally, we have gone along with the declaration that sticks and stones can be "bone-breakers." That words are skating by without harmful effects, however, hasn't been true for decades — maybe never. When they first saw the light of day, words weren't assaulting us so often and in so many ways as they are currently.

Yep, words — in addition to sticks and stones — pack powerful punches, too. How about the current exchanges by presidential candidates? I won't go there, given that one of the purposes of this column is to elicit smiles. There's little to smile about these days when political fires are stoked by words often poorly chosen, but boldly expressed. (Many politicians' words, in fact, were whispered — or deleted — not so long ago.)

At least until the national election is history, I heartily recommend looking for "humor nuggets." Nowadays, we have to dig deeper for them. We will do well to keep sharp eyes out — even for messages on old t-shirts, and on pages of books so dusty, dust covers gave up on them decades ago. Today, I am here to help....

Two t-shirt messages worthy of note were spotted during a pleasurable walk recently in the Caribbean. (Better stated, it was a deck walk on Carnival Cruise Line's Freedom.) One was worn by a veteran husband who might rather have chosen "sleeping in," but he walked anyway. He might even have "seconded the motion" when his wife announced how they'd start the day. The message on his shirt? "We don't need you." My wife knows everything....

the idle american by dan newbury

Another was a "puzzler" for me and others. Walkers halted, noting "La-a" on her shirt. She dared anyone to pronounce her name correctly. I — and others — tried; we all failed. "LaDASHa," she claimed....

I always take books along to read on cruises. One included this time was I Feel Better All Over Than I Do Anywhere Else. One of four books authored by Dr. Randall O'Brien, it is a compendium of experiences and stories — mostly the former. He's a valued friend who has pretty much "done it all" and is still at it. Dr. O'Brien has more degrees than he has walls for, and is a veteran of the Vietnam War. Revered president Carson-Newman University in Tennessee, he's one of but few active presidents who remembers Absorbine Sr.

He's so much more. A husband, father and multi-faceted leader, he has a smile almost as wide as the state he lives in. And this proud country boy from Mississippi has made many a friend.

Did I mention he also is one of the most courageous people I've known in "all my put together"? And I have friend....

In the book cited earlier, he admitted a gaffe many husbands would have tried to stifle, and certainly never/never included among memoirs. (Except maybe for family members.)

Perhaps he deliberated for a time, since it is the next-to-last vignette on the next-to-last page.

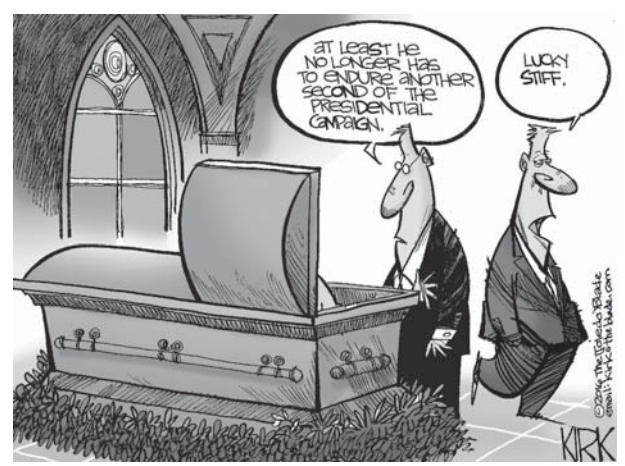

It is entitled "What's Cookin'?"....

He and Kay now are in their fifth decade of marriage. Randall wrote of arriving home for dinner one evening during the first month following their wedding ceremony in 1975. She met him at the door, tears flowing. "Oh, honey," she said. "The dog ate the meatloaf I cooked for supper."

"I held her tight," he said. "Oh, I'm so sorry. Don't worry, honey, I'll buy you another dog."

A self-described "redneck country boy," Randall wrote that he "blew it — bad, bad, bad." Yep, he's a survivor, but one who always wants to help out when he can. Randall has a scripture suggestion for new husbands whose marriages may not be quite so solid: "Those who guard their mouths preserve their lives." (Proverbs 13:3a)....

Vote like your life depends on it

By Norma White
Originally published in the Buffalo Gap Round-Up News, October 2016

Because it does!
The whole American way of life depends on which person wins in the 2016 Election. It is no secret that our Congress has sold us down the river by colluding with each other to keep a system in place that will put money into their pockets from the pockets of the taxpayer and donors.

Obama and the Democratic Party have literally "raped" the American taxpayer in the last eight years. He has racked up more debt than all the other presidents combined in history. Think about that for a moment. He has spent more money than all presidents added together since the inception of the United States of America! Plus, he has not gone through Congress on how to spend it. Remember the first TARP bill that was supposed to do all this road building and infrastructure in the US and put people back to work? All we ever saw were signs on the highways saying work will be financed by this TARP Program but never saw any construction being done, just the signs! Now Hillary is saying the same thing she wants to build roads, bridges, etc. They want us to fall for that same scam again! Obama bragged about "shovel ready jobs" waiting to be done. The only thing that was shovel ready was the grives of Americans waiting to be helped like our veterans, the middle class or cancer patients. A president is supposed to have a budget every year but none were ever passed except one that would spend more of our taxpayer money. They just keep raising our taxes to pay for mostly illegal things not only in America but other countries as well. He hides how many people he is bringing into the US. He does what ever he wants, like pay ransom to Iran, and no one does anything about it.

The Legislative, Judicial and Executive branches are supposed to be separate and standalone entities in order to protect the people's freedom and rights. Instead the Democrats have appointed people in each of these branches that will do exactly what Obama and his czars want them to even if it breaks the law. Look at the IRS, EPA, BLM, DOJ, DHS, Department of Education and many, many more. All of them have done wrong against the people, and then lied about it. Talk about a "den of thieves"! After what the CIA and FBI have been caught doing here lately, I do not trust them either. When the FBI Director can say with a straight face that he is not bringing charges against Hillary Clinton after it has been proven beyond a doubt that she broke numerous laws you know we are in deep "do-do"! This whole administration is so lawless it is beyond belief.

If voter fraud is not corrected, we will not be able to stop them ushering Hillary into the White House. It has been proven that two state elections have already been hacked this year. We need to go back to paper ballots so we only have to worry about local dishonest thugs not international dishonest communists!

How can any person that is truly American even think about voting for Hillary Clinton? I did not think that anyone could lie more than Obama but she is as deceitful as he is and been doing it longer! If her lips are moving she is lying. She said that during her time as Secretary of State she never sent or received any classified emails. Then,

"Why did we pay you for those 4 years as evidently you never did any work?" Return all those wages we paid you and help us find the 6 billion dollars that went missing from the State Department during your 4-year reign!

Can you imagine how much will be missing from our Treasury should she become the president? Have you noticed when Democrats are in charge of anything nothing is ever done about any money that is missing? If a man on the street is convicted of a crime 3 times then they are considered habitual criminals. She has been protected by the Democrats and has a list of activities that could only be characterized as criminal but never convicted! I cannot believe that her law license has not been taken from her just like Obama and Michelle's were. She has been protected by the Democrats ever since Bill became involved in the political arena. She is for One World Order and wants to bring in one million more Muslims by the end of her first four years!

Pray that Trump will win. Do your part and go vote. You cannot afford to stay home and hope that someone else saves our country. The Veterans of America will be in full force voting and trying to take back our country from the thugs and cartels that have ruined America the last 8 years. Do your part and show up to vote. Stand and be counted at the ballot box America! Vote Republican all the way and let's defeat the socialists that have taken over D.C. Help Trump make America FIRST again and Americans get a job again!

Deadline near for pasture, range insurance

AMARILLO — Over the years, Texas ranchers and landowners have learned that growing grass for cattle is a risky business. Not so much dangerous, but very dependent on the weather.

For that reason, DeDe Jones, Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service risk management specialist in Amarillo, said producers need to consider the perennial Pasture, Range and Forage Insurance, designed to protect livestock and hay producers against production losses.

The 2016 sign-up and acreage reporting deadline for this U.S. Department of Agriculture Risk Management Agency program is Nov. 15. Premiums will be billed Sept. 1, 2017, Jones said.

"Many weather experts predict the upcoming winter and spring to be warmer than usual, with below-normal precipitation patterns," she said. "As a result, livestock producers may consider adding PRF insurance to provide an extra layer of protection against low moisture conditions."

Payment is not determined by individual damages, but rather areas losses based on a grid system, Jones explained. Producers can select any portion of acres to insure, but they must also select between a minimum of two, two-month intervals and a maximum of six, two-month intervals per year.

Coverage levels between 70 and 90 percent are available, she said. Once coverage is selected, the producer also chooses a productivity factor between 60 and 150 percent. The productivity factor is a percentage of the established county base value for forage.

The base value is a standard rate published by the Risk Management Agency for each county. It is calculated based on estimated stocking rates and current hay prices, Jones said.

She said the program uses a rainfall index to determine potential indemnity payments.

Additionally, Jones said Alfalfa and other irrigated hay can also be insured under a Pasture, Range and Forage Insurance policy at different coverage levels and higher base values.

A decision-support tool to help producers determine coverage levels and intervals can be found at: <http://prf.agforceusa.com/ri>.

For more information about the insurance and how it fits into a risk management plan, contact Jones at 806-677-5600 or djones@ag.tamu.edu.

Consult doctor before buying cosmetic contact lenses

Hi, gang! Dorothy and I voted early Monday morning, have you voted? Be sure to vote as this election will determine how our nation will be for the next four years. Good information this week, hope you enjoy.

"Buying cosmetic contact lenses without a prescription is scary" by Colleen Tressler, FTC Consumer Education Specialist

Halloween is right around the corner. And if you're looking to top off your costume by wearing cosmetic contact lenses, read on. Cosmetic contacts – also known as costume or decorative contact lenses can change the way your eye looks without correcting your vision. While they may seem like just another fashion accessory, the fact is all contacts require a prescription.

Anyone who sells you lenses without first looking at your prescription is selling them illegally. That's important because contacts that don't fit can have scary consequences, including conjunctivitis (pink eye), scratches and sores on the cornea, even blindness.

The FTC enforces the Contact Lens Rule, which requires your eye doctor to give your prescription to you, whether you ask for it or not, at no extra charge. That allows you to shop around and look for the best deal. So if you're in the market for cosmetic contacts, see an eye care professional for an eye exam and prescription. And only buy costume contacts from retailers who require a prescription and who only sell FDA-approved contact lenses. For a more in-depth look at your prescription rights for contacts – and glasses – read Prescription Glasses and Contact Lenses. It includes a list of what you should see in your prescription.

Government imposters target commercial truck owners, by Amy Hebert, Consumer Education Specialist, FTC

What's one kind of scam targeting you and everyone you know? Imposter scams. They happen when scammers pretend to be a person, business, or government agency you trust, then try to convince you to send money. One of their latest targets: people who own tractor-trailer trucks and other commercial vehicles. According to the FTC's lawsuit filed earlier this month, a company calling itself DOT Authority led commercial truck owners to believe they were dealing with the real U.S. Department of Transportation or another government agency.

The reason? DOT Authority tricked them into paying extra service fees for help filing their federal and state motor carrier registrations. DOT Authority used robocalls, emails, and text messages to scare people into believing that if they didn't pay DOT Authority, they faced a $1,000 fine. Most of the people targeted owned small family businesses with only a few employees and fewer than five trucks.

Owners that paid DOT Authority instead of renewing their registration through the official Unified Carrier Registration website did their registration renewed, but they paid up to $550 more than the official government fee to do it. That wasn't all. Commercial truck owners also have to recertify information about their vehicles every two years or deactivate their USDOT number if they're no longer operating. That's free through the Federal Motor Carrier Safety Administration. But DOT Authority charged people between $25 and $200 to download the form for recertification and $200 to file for deactivation.

by bob watson

If that weren't enough, the company also put people into an automatic renewal program without their permission, taking out money again and again every year. The scheme, which began as early as 2012, took in more than $19 million from thousands of people throughout the U.S.

"Obamacare Alert for Small Businesses," U.S. Congressman Mac Thornberry newsletter.
 Dear Friend, Soon, employees of small businesses who buy their insurance as individuals will receive notice of their premium increases for 2017. On average, some premiums for those on the individual market are expected to increase by 50 percent or more in just one year. In addition, the only plans that some individuals will have available for purchase will be HMO plans. However, people who own a small business and have a minimum of two employees (the owner of the business is considered an employee) may be eligible to set up a "Group" or "Employer-Sponsored" health plan that provides an environment for PPO coverage options that are more flexible and may cost less than available individual health plans.

There is a short period of time from November 1st through December 15th where small employers who currently do not sponsor a health plan can initiate a plan without having to contribute to the cost of the employee's coverage and avoid the traditional compliance guidelines of being required to have at least 75 percent of your eligible employees participate in the health plan. To get more details and find out more about this "participation and contribution" holiday for January 1, 2017, effective dates, there are health insurance professionals trained to help you explore various options. A licensed professional health insurance agent in your area can be found at the following websites: • www.nahu.org/consumer/indagent2.cfm, www.texashealthoptions.com/cp2/agent.html

You can also call the Texas Department of Insurance's Consumer Help Line at 1-800-252-3439 for assistance in locating a licensed agent.

I invite you to learn more about this issue and others by visiting my website here. Have a question you would like answered? Please contact me by phone, letter, e-mail, on Facebook, or on Twitter. As always, I appreciate hearing from you. Stay safe out there!

 "AARP Fraud Watch. New IRS Scam Coming Through the Mail," by Kristin Keckseisen, Fraud Watch Network.

SCAM ALERT: We're hearing of a new twist to the IRS imposter scam: it's now coming through the U.S. Postal Service. How it Works: You receive an official-looking letter from the IRS saying you owe taxes related to the Affordable Care Act. The notice is labeled CP2000 for tax year 2015. The letter instructs payment be sent to the "IRS" care of an Austin, Texas post office box.

What You Should Know: If the IRS issues a notice under CP2000, it's when income or payment information doesn't match the information reported on your tax return. A legitimate notice will provide a number for you to call and a way to resolve the issue.

Also, payments wouldn't be to "IRS" but rather to the U.S. Department of the Treasury. What You Should Do: If you get a notice like this but doubt its integrity, contact the IRS at 1-800-366-4484.

This scam runs through email. If you get an IRS notice by email, delete it immediately; IRS will not reach out to you by email, nor will they call demanding payment. Report it to the Federal Trade Commission's complaint center. If you receive the fake IRS letter, report it on the Fraud Watch Network's scam-tracking map. Please share this important alert with friends and family.

Howardwick to hold Trunk or Treat

As I watched the fog roll in this morning, I was reminded we're in the autumn season. The leaves are changing colors, which is caused by the length of daylight and changes in temperature. The intensity of color is influenced by the temperature, such as our cool nights and mornings, our bright sunshine, and the amount of rain we have gotten. Mother Nature is smart and gives us a show; just take a drive and enjoy it.

Growing up during and after WWII, Trick or Treat was not something the kids did. At about my age of 9-10, schools began having Halloween Carnivals. Each class had a booth and kept the profit for a special class event. Those carnivals were fun, and the event was fun also. My children went trick-or-treating, dressed in costumes put together at home with a dime store black mask and bringing home huge amounts of candy.

During the 80-90's me and people began taking away the pleasure and fun of Halloween by lacing candy with drugs, pins, and broken glass. Hospitals set up x-ray machines to run the candy through before letting kids eat it. (How dangerous was that?) Candy in the original wrapper is the only thing acceptable now, forget the homemade popcorn ball and apples from the orchard.

Today the fun trend is Trunk or Treat, where a group taking their cars to a specific location, opening the trunk and displaying all the goodies they would have given at the front door. This works well in small communities and that is what Howardwick plans.

Trunk or Treat at Howardwick will be Monday, October 31, at the City Park from 5:30-7:00. If you would like to participate by bringing a car, be at the park around 5 p.m. to set up, decorate and dress in costume if desired. We invite all the children to come by the park and have a safe, fun place to trick or treat.

Mom's powers of magnetism

Last weekend, was my dad's b-day and we got to go to Amarillo and see Max Steel for his birthday. After the movie, we got to the Longhorn Steakhouse, and all the food there was super good. We got a free sundae, too! We also discovered that my Mom had a magnetic knife! Whenever she touched the end of it to a fork or spoon, it would stick to it and she could raise it up in the air. We tried it with all our utensils and hers was the only one that could do it. She says it's because she has a magnetic personality. When I tried it, it didn't work.

Also, on that weekend, I won second place in the art show, and my sister won first place. I painted a horse, and she painted a cat with herself in the background. I made my own color of paint, mixing a few different colors together and called it Royal Brown. It looks like hair when you paint with it.

On October 15, a party was given for me for my service as Clarendon's mayor. Donna and I wish to express our appreciation for the party and the honor this City gave me by allowing me to serve you.

The party was very rewarding, and the plaque will have a very special place in our home. David Dockery and Machiel Covey did such a good job of organizing the party, and I would like to thank Diane Skelton, Ann Purvis, Glenda Day, Jerrl Shields, the city employees, and Diana Dockery for bringing the food. A special thanks also for each heartfelt card given. Thank you all.

Whistle-Stop owners Jordan and Kimberly salute our Weekly Legend...

KEVIN JOHNSON

Kevin Johnson's reputation as an artist and artisan has brought notoriety to Donley County and brought a unique acclaim to the man himself. Johnson has produced numerous custom badges for the local and area law enforcement personnel and has done work for the Texas Rangers as well. His art has been commissioned to commemorate legendary Texas heroes such as Col. Charles Goodnight, Stephen F. Austin, and the Immortal 32. Congressman John Culberson even commissioned the Clarendon man to make a set of spurs for President George W. Bush.

Johnson's talent led him to serve for a time on the board of the Saints' Roost Museum, to do work for the TEXAS outdoor musical drama, and even drew the attention of Bob Phillips who interviewed him for his Texas Country Reporter series.

In 2015, Johnson received a rare and unique honor when he was named an Admiral in the Texas Navy by Gov. Rick Perry, and title that only a few Texans have ever received.

The Whistle-Stop and the community salute Kevin Johnson for his talent and works of art that have brought notoriety to Donley County as well as in the Texas Panhandle and beyond. Thank you, Kevin!

Fairlife joins the Snack Pak 4 Kids partnership

CHICAGO – Health and wellness company Fairlife, LLC joins the Snack Pak 4 Kids efforts to bring nutritional food to hungry children in the Texas Panhandle and San Antonio communities.

For several years, Snack Pak 4 Kids has partnered with Southwest Dairy Farmers and Elanco to provide Dairy Farmers and Elanco to provide Dairy protein in its weekly Snack Paks. With this year's addition of Fairlife, LLC, the makers of Fairlife ultra-filtered milk, the organization is now able to provide premium high quality dairy. The new Fairlife 8 oz. shelf stable bottles will begin appearing in elementary school student's Snack Paks throughout the month of November. Students will receive a bottle of both 2 percent chocolate milk and 2 percent white milk in each Snack Pak.

"Fairlife is excited to be a part of the solution Snack Pak 4 Kids has created for the local Texas community," said Fairlife, LLC CEO Steve Jones. "Together with our partners, we are raising the bar not only for the dairy industry, but for children's nutrition across the country."

Snack Pak 4 Kids' priority has always been to offer high quality brand name products to the students it serves each week. As an organization, Snack Pak 4 Kids is focused on dignity and respect, which is demonstrated through offering the very best shelf stable nutrient-rich snacks. Using a one-of-a-kind cold-filtration process, Fairlife ultra-filtered milk concentrates the natural protein and calcium found in milk and reduces its natural sugars. Per serving, Fairlife offers 13 grams of protein and half the sugar found in conventional milk, and is also lactose free. The company uses the high quality milk provided by Select Milk Producers, a co-op of American dairy families who lead the industry in their commitments to milk quality, humane animal care and environmental sustainability.

"We are thrilled to partner with our local dairy farmers to provide delicious Fairlife ultra-filtered milk each weekend to the students we serve," said Snack Pak 4 Kids Founder Dyron Howell. "We're excited about what this partnership means for the students in our community, and we are grateful for the support from a top notch company like Fairlife, Southwest Dairy Farmers and Elanco."

"Southwest Dairy Farmers and its dairy producer members are pleased to once again be associated with Snack Pak 4 Kids and the valuable work it does for Texas kids," said James Hill, CEO of Southwest Dairy Farmers. "We are proud that our organization has been a partner with SP4K for the past three years and we've watched the program grow and help kids get better nutrition through dairy." Hill added, "We're pleased that the Select Milk Producers are joining with us in this worthwhile effort."

David Goode, Elanco sales representative in West Texas said, "We've been partnering with Snack Pak 4 Kids because their cause connects to our company's global fight against food insecurity. It's exciting to see our customers sign on to provide a premium source of protein for children in the program."

In addition to Fairlife's inclusion in the Snack Paks, the shelf stable products will also be available through the Snack Shak program, designed by and for teenagers. Snack Shak gives middle and high school students the opportunity to select and prepare their own nutritious meals, using products available through the Snack Pak 4 Kids network, and with the help of their favorite teachers.

For more information on how you can donate to the cause, please visit www.snackpak4kids.org and for more product information, please visit www.fairlife.com.

The Clarendon Lions Club held its regular Tuesday noon meeting October 25, 2016, with Boss Lion Pro Tom John Howard ringing the bell.

We had 16 members, Sweethearts Cire Jauregui and Hannah Howard, and one guest this week – Alderman Lion Lockhart, guest of Lion David Dockery.

Lion Ashlee Estlack reported on the college where the meats judging team will be competing for the national title soon and a Veterans Day program at 7 p.m. on November 10.

Lion Dockery reported that city council will meet Thursday with a short agenda, and Lion Mike Norrell reported the Broncos are now 8-0, and the Bronco Band got 2's at marching contest. The sweethearts reported the school play will be performed Saturday and Sunday.

The Lions Pancake Supper will be next Friday, November 4, and tickets are available from any Lion or at the door.

There being no further business, we were adjourned to spread Lionism and good cheer throughout our fair county.

Colts out shine Ralls in thriller

The Clarendon Colts put on a show Thursday night against the Ralls Jackrabbits at home in Bronco Stadium. Fighting until the bitter end, the Colts earned the 24-22 win.

The Colts wanted to set the early tempo and did so on the opening kick-off driving it 60 yards down the field. Antwan Bassett scored the first six on a six-yard run, but the conversion failed making the score 6-0.

Another score did not come until the second quarter of play when quarterback Aaron Roys heaved a 75-yard pass to Jordan Herndon and the Colts took the early 12-0 lead. Herndon was in on the next touch-down as well, when he hit Jodee Pigg for a 25-yard scamper to the end zone to go up 18-0. Ralls was able to score right before halftime and convert their bonus to get eight points on the board.

The break produced a momentum change and the Jackrabbits were able to score 14 unanswered points against a good Colt defense. They took the lead at 22-18 with about one minute left on the clock. Herndon grabbed the kickoff and scampered to the end zone posting a 75-yard TD to put the Colts back on top 24-22. With just 40 seconds left in the game, Pigg hustled up on defense and grabbed a deflected Ralls pass for an interception to stop the Jackrabbits' drive.

"Our outstanding defensive players were Jordan Evans and Travis Thomas," coach Brandt Lockhart said. "It was a very exciting win against a good Ralls team. The Colts are 4-1 for the year."

Clarendon will be on the road next week as they travel to Memphis next Thursday with a 5:00 p.m. starting time.

Clarendon JH runners compete in District

The Clarendon Junior High Colts and Lady Colts participated in the District Cross-Country Meet held in Shamrock on Monday, October 17. Three Colt team members and two Lady Colt team members finished in the top ten.

Jodee Pigg finished second with a time of 12:10 and Calder Havens was fourth at 13:06. Josiah Howard was eighth at 14:32 and Gavin Hall was 12th with a time of 16:55.

"The junior high boys finished the season on a very solid performance," coach Kalen Grahn said. "I see a great future for them in cross-country. I want to thank all parents for supporting them this year."

Jade Benson finished seventh for the Lady Colts with a time of 13:53 and Aubrey Jaramillo was eighth at 13:54. Emeri Robinson was 19th at 15:10, Gracie Shadle was 22nd at 15:20, and Kailee Osburn was 23rd with a time of 15:20. Ashlynn Newsome came in at 24th place with a time of 15:23, Graci Kidd was 26th at 15:25, and Darcy Grahn's time of 15:41 was good enough for 31st.

Hadleigh Halsell was 39th at 16:19, Kaitlyn Davis was 43rd at 16:33, Alana Moffett was 53rd at 17:40, Emmelise Warren was 60th at 18:06, and Brooke Duncan was 72nd with a time of 19:22.

The Clarendon Junior high cheerleaders invited the Ralls cheerleaders to entertain the crowd at halftime.

Broncos beat Ralls

By Sandy Abernberg

The Broncos' running game steamrolled the Ralls Jackrabbits, 56-0, Friday night on the road.

The shutout was fifth for the Broncos whose defense is one of the best around, holding Ralls to -19 total yards in the game. The Bronco defense has only allowed 32 points all season to its opponents.

"It was another big win for us," said head coach Gary Jack. "We started slow, but got things going. We had 530 total yards with 468 on the ground."

Andy Davis set the tempo of the game on the first touchdown when he recovered a fumble in the end zone. Bear Smith caught the lone touchdown pass from Damarjae Cortez for the second six for the Broncos to go up 14-0 after the first eight minutes. Cortez scored the next two on 22 and 10 yards runs in the second quarter. Koetting got in on the action and ran it in from 16 yards out for a TD and Keandre Cortez scampered 23 yards for a score.

Ryan McCleskey got his hands on the ball at the 27-yard line and took it in for another six to end the third quarter. Clint Franks earned the last score of the game on a two-yard romp across the goal line. Clay Koetting kicked eight extra points on the night.

"We played well, but dropped two or three passes for touchdowns," Jack said. "It could have been a lack of focus. But overall it was a good win." The Cortez brothers racked up over a hundred yards rushing each on the night. "We have a lot of different people running the ball," Jack said.

Defensively, the Broncos continued their dominance. Smith had nine tackles and three sacks and Nick Shadle and Koetting both had good games, according to Jack.

"This win keeps us perfect in our season and district," Jack said. "But it also sets up two big games for us in the next two weeks. We will have our hands full with Memphis; they will be a big challenge for us. They are big and fast, but we are fairly healthy. And it is just another step toward a District Championship. It will be a great match up."

The Broncos are hoping to stay away from major injuries; something they have struggled with in years past. But that will not stop them from their goal of becoming District champs.

"I would also like to give a shout-out to all the Bronco fans," Jack said. "Come to Memphis; have fun and be loud. It will be a great game."

The Broncos will take on the Cyclones Friday, October 28, at 7:00 p.m. on the road.

Senior Clay Koetting kicks eight extra points during the Bronco's game against the Ralls Jackrabbits last Friday. The Broncos will take on the Cyclones Friday, October 28, at 7:00 p.m. in Memphis.

Texas 4-H'ers donate school supplies to Louisiana flood victims

AMARILLO—The flood waters have receded in Louisiana, but the needs haven't, and Texas Panhandle 4-H'ers are answering a call for school supplies. Louisiana 4-H put out a call in August to all its southern counterparts, saying, "many school-aged youth were in the middle of planning for their school year when the flooding occurred," and have since spent time cleaning their homes and rebuilding their lives.

Dr. Toby Lepley, assistant state director for Texas 4-H Youth Development in College Station, said Texas 4-H'ers have come together to help those affected.

Dr. Janet Fox, Louisiana State University department head, 4-H youth development, said she is humbled to know that Extension staff, 4-H'ers and 4-H volunteers from across the state of Texas have come together to help in their time of need.

"Let me extend my sincere thanks to our Texas colleagues, 4-H members and 4-H volunteers for your support during the flood," Fox said. "The outpouring of support for our Louisiana 4-H youth is very much appreciated. As youth are having to deal with being displaced, split school schedules and availability of school supplies, Texas A&M AgriLife 4-H programs have heeded the call and have given unselfishly."

Support for the Louisiana flood victims through the collection of school supplies has included 1,787 youth and adult workers contributing 1,483 volunteer hours to collect $4,379 in donations and care packages valued at more than $5,500. Lepley said 375 large bundles have been collected for shipment so far. The project will end Oct. 31.

The Donley County 4-H performed one of our community service "helping hands motion" projects, by sending school supplies to the Louisiana flood victims. Many 4-Hers in Donley County donated tons of supplies including, binders, pencils, crayons, markers, pencil holders, folders, journals, and much more.

COURTESY LANEY GATES

Some of that collection has already made its way to Louisiana. As a part of their One Day 4-H project this year, the counties of Hemphill, Gray, Armstrong, Moore, Donley and Ochiltree in the Texas Panhandle began gathering school supplies, getting donations from 4-H families and supporting stores.

Texas 4-H, which is administered by the Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service, celebrated One Day 4-H on Oct. 8.

Carolyn Prill-Bennett, AgriLife Extension family and consumer sciences agent in Moore County, said while the counties were glad to make the school supply drive a part of their One Day 4-H efforts, they were not expecting the $200 shipping cost it would have taken for each county to ship the supplies to Louisiana.

"Nobody had really factored that into the process," she said.

That's when Misti Ivins, a secretary in the AgriLife Extension office in Moore County who has family in Louisiana, volunteered to make the trip. She left Oct. 16 to make the almost 850-mile one-way trip to Baton Rouge to deliver the gathered items from the Texas Panhandle.

Ivins said she had intended to just load the supplies from all five counties in her vehicle, but it wouldn't all fit, so she loaded it up in the 4-H program's enclosed trailer.

"I was just going to put it in my pickup with shrink-wrapped boxes," Ivins said. "When we got it all loaded, it was just piled too high;

I couldn't go like that. So I took the trailer."

She said the 1,200 pounds of school supplies included binders, backpacks, notebook paper, pens, pencils, glue sticks, crayons, library books, flash cards, pencil boxes, folders, spirals, protractors, math workbooks – "everything you would see on your child's school supply list." There were also items for the teachers – tape, scissors, markers, paper clips, stickers and much more. And there was almost $500 in cash donations.

"I don't know if anybody really realizes how big of an impact this little project makes," Ivins said from Louisiana.

She said many people lost their jobs when the buildings went under water. Houses and vehicles were underwater, jobs were gone, there was no money to buy school supplies, and even Walmart was underwater, so really there weren't any supplies to be bought.

"The schools down here, some are still gutted with mold in them. They've lost entire libraries of books...their desks...very little was salvageable. It happened right at the time kids were supposed to start school.

"They started several weeks late and in many cases they started back in make-shift school houses with no supplies for the teachers or students. I wish people could see the impact of what this community service project does. It helps get those kids back on track and going again.

"This just makes my soul happy," she said.

Grain three-time District Champion

By Sandy Anderberg

Clarendon's cross-country runners fought off strong winds and high heat in the District Cross-Country Meet last Monday in Shamrock. Senior Bryce Grahm, who is a three-time District Champion, grabbed another district championship and will be headed to Lubbock to compete in the Regional Meet.

Grahm's time of 18:11 was not a season or personal best, but he topped the field by almost a second and a half. Sophomore Gavin Word, who has been running hard all season, finished second behind Grahm with a time of 19:54. Kenny Overstreet finished eighth overall with a time of 21:47 and will be joining Grahm and Word in the Regional Meet, which will be held Saturday, October 29, in Lubbock at Mac Simmons Park. The Bronco team finished second to Panhandle.

Chris Bruce finished 14th with a time of 23:58, Tanner Burch was 17th at 24:26, and Clay Ward was 18th with a time of 24:59. Two junior varsity runners competed in the event, also. Tanner Channing was 7th and Brandon Santos was 8th. No times were available for the JV Broncos.

The Lady Broncos ran as well, but did not have anyone secure a spot in the Regional Meet. Brandalyn Ellis ran 22nd with a time of 14:05 and Regan Allen was 31st at 15:19. Aliyah Hill was 32nd at 16:55 and Madi Gay was 34th with a time of 18:02. Hannah Howard was 35th with a time of 19:06 and Raynee Newsome was 36th with a finishing time of 20:13.

Running for the junior varsity girls was Jensen Hatley 6th with a time of 15:58 and Briana Butler was 19th at 19:04. Berkeley Alexander was 21st at 19:21, Shaelyn Owitt was 22nd with a time of 19:35, and Hannah Hommel was 24th at 20:34.

Golfer Steve Jarnagin shoots under age

By Sandy Anderberg

Any nice fall day, you will see golfer Steve Jarnagin on the golf course. Last Wednesday, Jarnagin had a terrific game going in the 18-hole contest.

When the round was over, Jarnagin, who is 79 years young, had posted a score of 78 for the day to shoot one under his age. George Leathers, who played along with Jarnagin, was able to witness the great accomplishment.

There will be a Two-Person Polar Bear Tournament on Saturday and Sunday, November 5-6, and entries are still being taken.

The Clarendon Broncos 5th and 6th grade football team finished their season last Saturday with a perfect undefeated season. The Broncos beat Canadian in the championship game Saturday 26-0.

New Indication for Arthritis
 Actemra, a rheumatoid arthritis medication, is currently being studied for the treatment of a condition called giant cell arteritis. In a clinical study, Actemra was compared with another medication used to treat this condition. When combined with a six-month steroid treatment plan, Actemra successfully maintained arthritis remission through one year. Actemra is an interleukin-6 inhibitor. It was created to block certain areas of the immune system that may cause inflammation. Common side effects of Actemra include coughing, diarrhea, and tiredness.
 Giant cell arteritis is a disorder caused by inflammation of medium and large-sized blood vessels. This condition commonly affects arteries near the temples along both sides of the head. When the arteries become inflamed, it decreases the amount of oxygen that reaches body tissues which may lead to symptoms of weight loss, headache, and neck pain.

CISD names servant leaders

Again this year, Clarendon CISD is recognizing our students that embody the servant leader culture and actions.

True leadership is rooted in the service of others. Servant leaders believe that every person has value and deserves respect and that people can accomplish many things, even great things, when inspired by a purpose beyond themselves.

To be a servant leader is to think of others first and place their needs before your own, to be kind and generous, and to be a positive influence. Furthermore, anyone and everyone can be a servant leader, and if we have a campus, school, community, nation, and world of those that respect others and sacrifice their time, efforts, and treasures, then we all benefit.

To foster a culture of servant leadership, CCISD will recognize monthly students from all campuses that demonstrate the characteristics and actions of being a servant leader.

The following students have been positive role models, patient and supportive peer tutors, kind and empathetic friends, and respectful to teachers, other adults, and classmates. In addition, there are acts of serving tirelessly at fund raisers, encouraging younger students, assisting special needs classmates, donating time toward class projects, and countless examples of "doing the right thing."

Please join us as we recognize and extend our gratitude to the following students:

Elementary – Kindergarten, Kutter O'Keefe; 1st grade, Eliana Rodriguez; 2nd grade, Shaun Childers; 3rd grade, Millie McAnear; 4th grade, Aiden Word; and 5th grade, Rowdy Etcheson.

Junior High – 6th grade, Laney Gates; 7th grade, Aspen Tuttle; and 8th grade, Aubrey Jaramillo.

High School – 9th grade, Trent Smith; 10th grade, Sandra Smith; 11th grade, Tate Parker; and 12th grade, Briley Chadwick.

We are very honored to have these students attend Clarendon CISD. They are a small sampling of the great students we have in our school and the considerate actions that are taking place, and we look forward to recognizing all of our servant leaders in the coming months.
