CC to perform play this Thursday night

The Clarendon College Theatre Department will stage "A Doll House" this Thursday, Nov. 29, at 7 p.m. in the Harned Sisters Fine Arts Center Auditorium.

The play was written by Henrik Ibsen, translated by William Archer, and has been adapted and directed by Dr. Rodney Donahue, CC Theatre Director.

"A Doll House" is set in the Helmer family home at Christmas time and is performed in three acts. The play questions the traditional roles of men and women in 19th-century marriage and is the most important play of the nineteenth century. Henrik Ibsen was the "father" of realism. While certain plays had realistic elements before 1878, "A Doll House" cemented realism as the dominant form of entertainment, and it is still the dominant form of entertainment 140 years later.

The cast includes Jenna Faye Wilson, Ethan Cole Shipman, Adley Gilmer, Orian Neal, and Jaci Claxton.

Local man to serve 13 months in jail

A Donley County man was sentenced when the district court met in Memphis last Tuesday, November 20, in the Hall County Courthouse.

Darren Ray Gunnels was convicted and sentenced to 13 months in the State Jail Division of the TDCJ for the state jail felony of possession of a controlled substance in penalty group one, methamphetamine.

Gunnels, 41 from Clarendon, was arrested by DPS Trooper Justin Dillman on July 13, 2017.

DPS finds marijuana during traffic stop

The Department of Public Safety (DPS) seized over 3,400 pounds of marijuana and over 2,400 pounds of THC products Nov. 22, after a trooper stopped a vehicle in Donley County.

At about 6:47 p.m., a Trooper stopped a 2014 Volvo RV going east on US 287 near Clarendon for a traffic violation. The Trooper then discovered multiple boxes of vacuum-sealed packages of marijuana and THC products in the RV.

William Davis, 52 of Sacramento, Calif., was arrested and charged with felony possession of marijuana and was booked into the Donley County Jail. The drugs allegedly were being transported from Redding, Calif., to Houston.

CCISD approves $174k for security work

Clarendon CISD will begin construction on $174,000 worth of security improvements next month.

School trustees approved the budget for the project at their November 12 meeting, and Superintendent Mike Norrell said work should be completed in January.

"We signed the sub-contracts last Monday, and I expect a lot of the work to be done during the holidays," Norrell said. The visible change from the outside will be a brick vestibule added to the south entrance of the high school building, which will involve enclosing part of the covered walkway that is already there.

Inside the facilities, vestibules will be added to the junior and elementary main entrances by installing a new set of doors in the halls by those campus offices.

Norrell said windows into those vestibules will be added or modified to allow school personnel to check-in visitors.

"The physical improvements are just the most visible," Norrell said, noting that the school's top priorities will be to address students' needs and build better relationships with students.

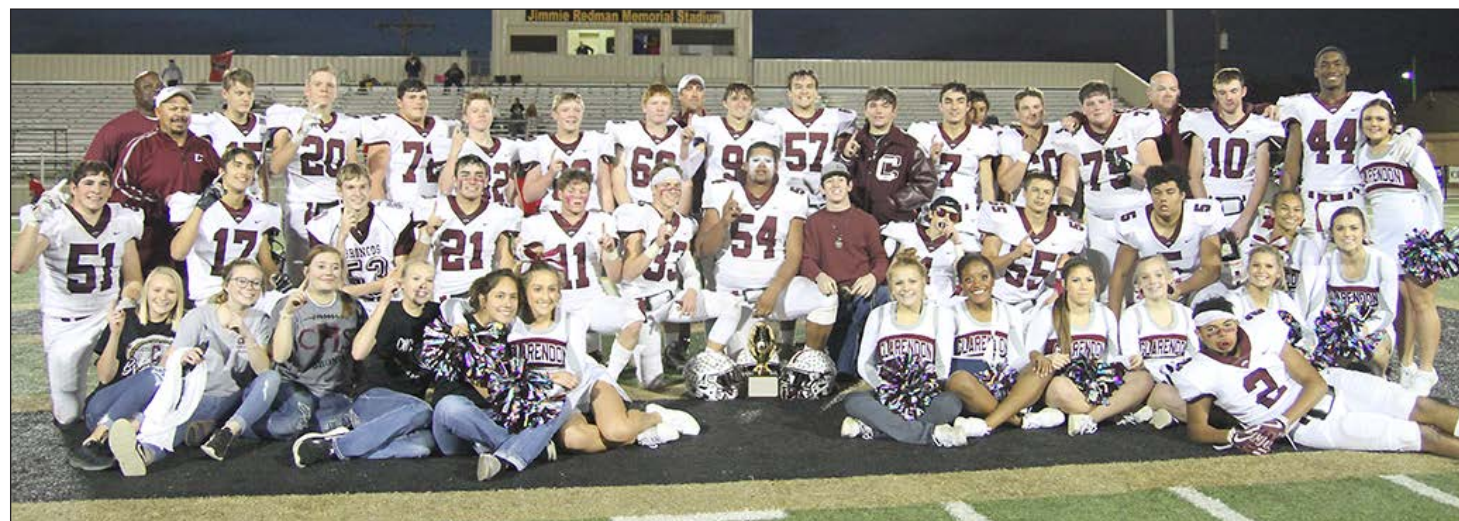

Another improvement approved by trustees on November 12 is the purchase of Raptor Technology to help screen guests visiting the school. Visitors will swipe their driver's license or other government issued identification, and the system will issue them a guest pass. The system will also be able to see if the visitor has any restrictions that might prevent them from being able to enter the school or require them to be supervised during their visit.

Norrell also said the school intends to also continue developing training for faculty and staff to enhance security further.

In other school business November 12, trustees voted in favor of approving the notice to the Clarendon CISD SHAC Committee concerning the summer nutrition program; approved the amended stipend schedule; and also acknowledged the resignation of Fran Stidham.

Area Champions

The Clarendon Broncos beat the Iraan Braves last Friday in Post to win the Area title. Clarendon will face Gruver this Friday in Borger at 7 p.m. in the next round of the playoffs. See our coverage on page six and follow facebook.com/TheEnterprise for live updates from the game.

Cash, prizes up for grabs next Thursday

Local merchants continue to encourage people to shop at home this holiday season as they get ready for 2018's second night of Late Night Shopping next Thursday, December 6.

Hundreds of dollars' worth of prizes including $400 in Clarendon Cash are up for grabs when three lucky people will get to Spin the Wheel next week. Participating merchants continue giving tickets for a chance to spin the Wheel with purchases of $25 or more and those tickets already given out since November 19 remain in the hopper.

Lucky spinners on Small Business Saturday were Marianne Rattan, Nathan Zongker, and Scarlet Estlack, and they won prizes from Donley County State Bank, Herring Bank, and Signs Plus / Flying 'A' Tack respectively.

You must be present to spin and three more lucky spinners will be drawn during each Late Night Shopping on December 6 and 20.

On the final Late Night Shopping on December 20, a fourth ticket will be drawn to win all the remaining prizes on the wheel.

Merchants giving out Wheel tickets include Buckin' Bean, Cornell's Country Store, Floyd's Automotive, Every Nook & Cranny, Turquoise & Rust, Henson's, Speed's Tire Unlimited, Clarendon Outpost, Country Bloomers, Mike's Pharmacy, JD SteakOut, Signs Plus, and Saye's / Flying 'A' Tack.

Nine local merchants are also participating in the Selfie with an Elfie promotion. Elves have been hidden at Buckin' Bean, Floyd's Automotive, Every Nook & Cranny, Turquoise & Rust, Henson's, Clarendon Outpost, Country Bloomers, Mike's Pharmacy, and Saye's / Flying 'A' Tack. Customers who find the Elf can take their selfie with it and then post it to facebook.com/ClarendonChamber with the hashtag #ClarendonElf to have a chance to win a photo session by Savannah Askew worth $200. The Selfie with the Elfie winner will be named December 20 during Late Night Shopping.

According to small business advocates, every $100 spent in locally-owned stores returns $68 to the local community through taxes, payrolls, and other expenditures. That same money spent in another town or online returns nothing to your local community.

Shop at home this holiday season and remember the important role your local merchants play in keeping your community strong.

Courthouse trees need replacing

Trees on the courthouse lawn will be the focus of Donley County Commissioners when they meet on Monday, December 10, as officials work to develop a long range plan.

During the court's regular meeting November 13, commissioners approved a proposal from Arbor Solutions to remove and replace certain trees around the 1890 Courthouse.

"We have dead and dying trees that present a safety concern," County Judge John Howard said this week. "Some of them are hollow or full of water, and they could fall or loose big branches."

Howard said the big trees outlining the square between the sidewalk and curb are Siberian Elm trees, many of which are suffering from disease and insects and are just at the end of their natural lifespan. Most trees in the lawn inside the sidewalks are American Elms, which are more insect resistant but also have some problems.

The lighting committee recently was not allowed to light two large trees because they are not safe, the judge said.

"We want to take a comprehensive approach to tree planning," Howard said, including removals and replacements.

Trees on the north side of the square, along Third Street, are presenting a particular problem due to a telephone line running through them. Howard said the county may take those trees out and replace them with trees that will not get as tall but would add some color, such as red bud or white bud trees. Taller-growing trees would then be added inside the sidewalks. A similar approach would be taken along Sully Street, with a possibly a variety of pear trees between the sidewalk and curb and lacebark elm or similar trees planted inside the sidewalk.

The judge said Jeremy Hogan of Arbor Solutions will address the commissioners at 1:30 p.m. on December 10 to discuss more details about the tree plan.

In other news, commissioners on November 12 appointed Chancy Cruse and Chris Schollenbarger to the city-county airport board; re-appointed Dr. Matt Halsey as the county rabies authority; discussed maintenance to be done on the JA Ranch Road with the JA providing road material; and approved an agreement with the city regarding trust properties that have not sold and sheriff's sales. The court also agreed to obtain an easement at Precinct 3&4 JP office to accommodate an air-conditioning unit and approved a plan for constructing a handicapped ramp at that office for about $10,000.

Saudi Arabia is in no way a good ally

By Doug Bandow, Cato Institute

President Donald Trump doesn't understand his chief responsibility as president. It is not to make deals and create jobs. It is to protect the security and liberty of Americans. By that standard, the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia is not a "truly spectacular ally," as he claimed.

Saudi Crown Prince Mohammed bin Salman, the kingdom's de facto ruler, is a brutal, even sadistic, murderer. Worse for Washington is the affront to the U.S.

America protects the corrupt, licentious and oppressive Saudi royal family. Yet Riyadh did not hesitate to ostentatiously murder Jamal Khashoggi, who had taken refuge in the U.S.

Rated unfree by Freedom House, the kingdom allows not even a hint of political or religious liberty. There is not one church, synagogue, or temple in Saudi Arabia. Iran is a beacon of religious toleration in comparison.

Moreover, MbS has tightened political controls even as he has relaxed social strictures. Personally a big spender on yachts and chalets, he launched a supposed crusade against corruption, which turned out to be a revenue-raising expedition targeting potential critics among Saudi Arabia's elite.

Historically the kingdom has been a dangerous breeding ground for terrorists, funding fundamentalist Wahhabism around the globe and providing 15 of 19/9/11 hijackers. Saudi money enriched al-Qaida and other radical groups; the regime backed jihadists in Syria and through its invasion of Yemen freed up radical groups, including al-Qaida, in the Arabian Peninsula.

Riyadh's brutal aggression against Yemen created a humanitarian catastrophe and empowered Iran. Kidnapping Lebanon's prime minister benefited Hezbollah. Attempting to isolate, and then threatening to attack, Qatar pushed the latter toward both Tehran and Ankara.

In Syria, Riyadh backed radical forces which came to dominate the opposition. As for Iran, U.S. interests would be best served by a balance of power, not hegemony as sought by MbS.

Rarely has an assassination been carried out so incompetently yet ostentatiously. Even President Trump was forced to admit that the journalist was murdered, by a massive hit squad, in a brutal manner, by the Saudi government, in its diplomatic facilities.

Nevertheless, the president decided it does not matter if MbS was involved in Khashoggi's murder. Apparently based on the belief that the kingdom is a "truly spectacular ally," by which President Trump means it buys U.S. weapons and other products.

Yet America's chief executive is a pitiful negotiator. Saudi Arabia needs America far more than America needs the kingdom.

The Saudis' supposed $110 billion weapons buy has yielded little more than a 10th as much cash. In any case, the purpose of alliances should be to enhance U.S. security, not boost arms sales.

Still, Riyadh is going to continue purchasing American weapons for its own reasons. It could diversify suppliers, but for logistical reasons the kingdom has reason to continue its relationship with the Pentagon.

If nothing else the royal regime needs spare parts and training to maintain its forces. That need will only grow if Riyadh can no longer count on America to protect it from its own folly.

Commercial sales beyond weapons are even less important to America's $20 trillion economy. If MbS is serious about reforming his nation's energy-dependent economy, he is going to deal with American companies. Anyway, a presidential desire that the Saudis buy products as well as lobbyists and think tanks is not a good reason to insulate a murderous, irresponsible and reckless regime.

The administration should stop acting like it is beholden to MbS. The U.S. should end all support for the Yemen war. Weapons sales should be placed on hold.

This doesn't mean the administration need treat Saudi Arabia as an enemy and refuse to deal with MbS. After all, American presidents engaged Joseph Stalin, Mao Zedong and Kim Jong-un.

In dealing with ugly, brutal and authoritarian regimes the president's transactional approach makes some foreign policy sense. However, there should be no exaggerated expressions of fervent friendship, no illusions about shared values, and no attempt to sugarcoat Riyadh's sustained assault on human rights and American interests.

In particular, the U.S. should indicate that while Washington recognizes the Saudis will choose their own leadership, the U.S. will be forced to look to its own interests. That means confronting MbS' irresponsible actions and aggressive reach for hegemony, which are destabilizing the region.

The kingdom is not a U.S. or Western ally in any real sense. Working together when appropriate should never be confused with endorsing or even accepting such a malodorous regime.

In searching for all our yesterdays

If there should be an appeal for volunteers to search for innocence lost, misplaced or forfeited in recent decades, sign me up. The downward spiral has been gradual, unlike Dorothy's sudden realization – upon her arrival at Oz's Emerald City – that she and her friends weren't in Kansas anymore.

Mired in a culture where too much information bombards daily, we're "running out of respites," even during holidays. Such observances formerly provided temporary "fixes." Even the millions who place their world on pause to soak up a tub of "feel-good" – perhaps while again viewing It's A Wonderful Life – may have a hard time putting aside ever-growing fears. They're stacking up faster than the wood piled high for fire-stoking when snow makes the world white.

Now, we are warned that even Christmas cards may be hazardous to our health. Does anything remain sacred?...
*****

Yes, Facebook – as well as other social media tag-alongs – warns that "glitter greetings" heralding the birth of Jesus Christ may be fraught with danger. We are thus warned that cards with glitter affixed may do us in. What if children figure this is a "scratch and sniff" deal?

Trouble is, we are told, that such glitter often becomes "unfixed." They're lining up "second-hand glitter" with "second-hand smoke." It's tempting to go back to bed and pull up the covers, wishing the world to go away.

If additional potential dangers are to be listed, we may have to buy another Big Chief tablet. Who would have dreamed that Christmas glitter – long thought to be joyous and festive – would warrant such a rap?...

Historically, "glitter cards" have been extra-special. They've warranted the extra cost; we have "chug-a-lugged" Hallmark's Kool-Aid that urges us to send "the very best."

Folks who take on social media "stuff" in deep breaths may have smothering spells. One "wiseacre" (or perhaps "wise-half-acre") reports that the State of California has announced that glitter causes cancer.

Another says, "Every glitter bit hurts." One warns that persons sending him (her?) glittery cards should not expect "warm fuzzy" cards in return. Instead, "glitter-senders" will "get back cards containing a year's worth of toenail clippings." That's worse than coal-stuffed stockings!...

Some folks look for reasons to shorten lists of Christmas card recipients. Look for a substantial number to remove "glitter bombers" from their lists.

All of us have friends who look for new reasons to shudder. After all, what if worriers about flying glitter are right?

Someone offered an alternative for people who want "something extra" in outgoing cards. It is recommended to use "confetti glitter" to keep us from harm's way. It supposedly has heavier texture, and is "easily vacuumed up... and doesn't show on your face...or your

the idle american

carpet, tables, pets, clothes, Xrays, dishes, hair or teeth."...

Sure enough, scientists suggest avoidance of the stuff, as do many others. Maybe you'd like to "Google it" to see for yourself.

Me? I think I'll stick to my usual "fence-straddling" stance on the matter. I dunno....

I'm more interested in my Uncle Mort's "rib-tickler" about a "thicket friend" who claims to have a system to mail greeting cards at no cost." No stamps required," he jokes.

My 106-year-old uncle said his friend addresses all Christmas cards to himself. Then, in the upper left-hand corner where he usually shows his return address, he instead lists names and addresses of the people to whom he's sending greetings. "Voila," my uncle said. "Post Office personnel, noticing the unstamped envelopes, return them to 'senders'."

Hmmm. Seems unlikely, unlawful and un-Christian....
*****

How 'bout this? Why not consider handwritten notes of good wishes on any kind of paper? Share Biblical truths.

Let Christians all rejoice, proclaiming Isaiah 9:6.

"For unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given. And the government shall be upon his shoulders, and his name shall be called Wonderful, Counselor. No embellishment is needed....

More news from migrant caravan

By Noab Elam

On Sunday and Monday of this week, the famous caravan traveling through Central America made it to the United States border. Videos have surfaced on the internet of the migrants running through the border into places such as California. Some videos even show young men climbing the border wall. Others are planning to stampede across the border in the short future. While these efforts are under way, the caravan is stationed in Tijuana, Mexico. However, this massive group of people have and can cause many problems.

The first issue is the criminality inside of the caravan. In the past, videos have been released showing members of the caravan throwing rocks at the Mexican border patrol while trying to cross through Mexico's southern border. Second, some people are worried about the trespassing that will occur. In fact,

Tijuana residents have even come out against the Caravan saying, as stated by the Associated Press, "Tijuana residents waved Mexican flags, sang the Mexican national anthem and chanted 'Out! Out!' in front of a statue of the Aztec ruler Cuauhtemoc ... they accused the migrants of being messy, ungrateful and a danger to Tijuana."

They also complained about how the caravan forced its way into Mexico, calling it an 'invasion.' And they voiced worries that their taxes might be spent to care for the group."

Since Clarendon is not a far distance from the United States border, it could see some, even slight, effects that come with this caravan if they find a way into the country.

To counteract the caravan, President Trump has sent troops to the border to stop them. Sunday, according to

Fox News, "US border agents shot several rounds of tear gas after some migrants attempted to penetrate various points along the border and threw what appeared to be rocks at US authorities. Homeland Security Secretary Kirstjen Nielsen said in a statement that some migrants 'attempted to breach legacy fence infrastructure along the border and sought to harm CBP personnel by throwing projectiles at them.'"

Of course the media has attacked Trump for this use of force against the immigrants. However, I do not think that Trump is in the wrong for protecting our border. Also, Obama used this same force against illegal immigrants but did not get the type of media slander that President Trump has. It just shows the bias that everyone already knew was there. Noab Elam is a senior at Clarendon High School.

Holiday shopping tips to help you shop wisely

Hi, gang! Wow! Did you see the amount of sales taxes the city received last month? $45,808.43. I think we can all guess why the major increase, it starts with "All" and ends with "sups." Now that we are finished with the Mulkey, maybe we can use some of the CEDC money for what it originally setup for, paving our streets. I know that The City Council and our city administrator are working on several street improvements to go along with the new water park. I would suggest that any time you see a council man or council woman, the city administrator or any city employee give them a thumbs up they are all doing a great job.

This and the next few weeks be aware of your surroundings and shop with a friend or ask for assistance with packages if needed. Or better yet, shop with our Donley County merchants. The money you spend here turns over several times and helps us all out. The money you spend online or in that dangerous shopping place to the West of us only helps them out. Bob

"Happy holidays! Shopping tips from the FTC" by Colleen

Tressler, FTC The gift-giving season is just around the corner, and the gift-buying season is in full swing. The FTC has an early gift for you tips to help you shop wisely and protect your personal information.

Make a list and a budget. Remember incidentals, like cards and wrapping paper. Check out websites that compare prices for things sold online, and at stores in your area. It can help you get the best deal. Make sure the scanned price is right. Overcharges cost you money and time, especially if you don't notice them right away. Look for rebates. Some can be redeemed at checkout, but most require you to send documentation to the manufacturer to get your rebate.

Read reviews and recommendations to see how the product performs or people's experience with an online seller. But remember to consider the source. Be aware that shopping apps can collect a lot of personal information. Look for apps that tell you what they do with your data, and how they keep it secure.

bob's whittlin'
 by bob watson

Check the terms of the deal when buying online including delivery dates and refund policies. Will it arrive in time? And, if it's not what you thought, can you send it back? Save receipts. When you're shopping online, keep copies of your order number, the refund and return policies, shipping costs and warranties. Giving bling? Take some time to learn the terms used in the jewelry industry so you can get the best quality and value.

Shipping to loved ones overseas? Check the US Postal Service's calendar for holiday shipping deadlines.

Have packages delivered to a secure location. If you won't be home, have them delivered to work, or see if a neighbor can be on the look-out for deliveries. Consider requiring a signature for delivery or look for options to pick up your shipment at a local store or mailing center.

Stay safe out there!

Remembering Thanksgivings' past great moments

We had a wonderful Thanksgiving with 20 family members eating too much. I am very thankful for my girls help with the cooking. Without them, I could never make it.

One year with only one girl here we decided to forego the cooking and all the leftovers and eat at the Cracker Barrel. As we drove up, we saw the line of people snaking around the building and no one leaving the restaurant. Oh, boy! Maybe not such a good idea. I don't remember how long the wait was, but the food was good - just no leftovers. We decided never again. We could handle the leftovers.

The next year, Ole Jim had become proficient at smoking brisket and decided to try his hand at smoking a turkey, which turned out good. I have always used drippings and juice from the turkey to make dressing and continued that tradition with smoked turkey. It was the one time in my life, that dressing was uneatable. Don't try it!

The next year, my middle daughter took on the role of dressing maker and continues to improve each year, and this year was no exception.

One Christmas, our oldest daughter made a chocolate pie and used Sweet 'n Low instead of sugar which made a beautiful pie and one the teenager had every right to be proud of. Ole Jim couldn't wait to wrap his lips around that pie and ate every bite. When the next piece was served, that person was not so kind. Sweet 'n Low is not designed for baking and all the sweetness had baked out leaving nothing but a bitter chocolate taste in your mouth. Don't try it! Some sweeteners are used for baking but not the pink stuff.

We had visited our youngest daughter out of state with her cooking the meal and wanting us to remember the wonderful Thanksgiving dinner she had prepared. The turkey was sitting proudly on the platter, the dressing and giblet gravy were ready, and the only thing left was the sweet potatoes with marshmallows to warm and brown in the oven. Suddenly, those marshmallows erupted in flames, the house quickly filled with smoke, the smoke alarm was blaring, people were screaming, and dogs were barking! She had invented a new recipe called "Sweet potato Flambé." We didn't call the fire department, and, as I remember it, we rescued the potatoes but we do remember the meal. So keep a watch on the marshmallows in the oven.

I have told a story of each of us except my Yankee daughter-in-law, who was baking pumpkin pies for Thanksgiving and as she lifted the pie out of the oven it flipped over and landed on the floor. Do you have any idea how far a pumpkin pie can splash? She was lucky and did not receive any burns, it was in a metal pan so no glass to clean up and pumpkin pie did not make the dog sick. Be careful with pies; don't drop them!

It is beginning to look a lot like Christmas in Howardwick; the park is decorated with the Nativity scene and Santa. Our decorations will be going up soon. I always look forward to seeing the signs of Christmas.

Please pray for our sick, our community, our country, and our leaders especially as we go into the Christmas season.

New equipment means more Nerf wars coming soon

Ever since spring, I've been saving up money to do one thing with... to buy more Nerf gear. After doing a chore chart and just doing other things, I finally raised money to my goal that I wanted to reach.

Last weekend, I bought about 300 Nerf bullets and a Nerf shot gun, and some extra stuff to go with it. I got a pistol, a holster, and a utility belt to help hold the gear. I also got a semi-automatic Nerf gun that stores bullets in the butt of the gun and it feeds into the magazine.

The last thing I got, is modded Nerf gun that looks

the cub reporter
 by benjamin estlack

like an AR-15 (except that its blue and orange). It's rated really high and supposed to be good for long range.

Me and my cousins like to have Nerf wars and I like to have my friends Bryce and Mason over for Nerf wars in the front and back yards.

This way we will have enough gear for everybody to have fun.

Broncos win Area Championship

By Sandy Anderberg

Coming off a big win over Vega, the Broncos turned up the heat in the Area round against Iraan in Post last Friday night to extend their post-season play.

The Broncos were named as the underdog, but they knew they were the better team as they defeated the Braves 28-14. Clarendon was the fourth seed going in and brought down Iraan who was seeded number one.

The Braves had only one previous loss and finished at 10-2 on the year and the Broncos are 8-3 overall and are the current 2A DIV II Area Champions. They will have another go at the Gruver Greyhounds on Friday, November 30, at Borger at 7:00 p.m. in a Regional contest.

“Our guys played a great game Friday,” head coach Clint Conkin said. “Our defense played awesome.”

Clarendon was able to force the Braves to turn the ball over several times and were able to capitalize on their opponent’s mistakes. The Broncos earned one of their touchdowns from the defense as Isaac Dunham picked an interception and ran it in from 62 yards out for the second six of the game.

Caton Grahn led off the scoring for the Broncos in the second quarter on a 25-yard run. After Grahn and Dunham’s TD’s, Preston Elam caught a 16-yard from quarterback Noab Elam for the third score of the second quarter. Nate Lee grabbed a pass from N. Elam for the two-point conversion. The Broncos led 20-7 at the break.

After a scoreless third period, P. Elam scrambled 45 yards for the last Bronco score and Ryan McCleskey added the bonus. The Broncos racked up some pretty impressive stats with three defensive players finishing with double digit tackles. Grahn had 14, and P. Elam and Jamal Butler had 11 each. P. Elam also caused a fumble and Butler had one QB sack, one interception, and one fumble recovery. Zane Sneathen had eight tackles, one sack, one caused fumble, and one fumble recovery, while Gavin Nazario played solid with eight tackles and one sack. Dalton Benson had seven tackles and Dunham had five tackles and one interception.

“Our offense had 250 yards rushing and 30 yards passing,” Conkin said. “Ryan (McCleskey) had 169 yards on 27 carries and one two-point conversion.”

Adding to the offense was P. Elam with six carries for 68 yards and Grahn with 25 yards. N. Elam was three for ten passing for 25 yards that included two strikes to P. Elam.

Ryan McCleskey carries the ball for the Broncos during last week’s victory over Iraan.

Lady Broncos slam Lockney

By Sandy Anderberg

The Lady Broncos are keeping their winning streak alive and posted a 47-43 win over Lockney at home last Tuesday night in the Bronco gymnasium. Mattee Johnson led the way with 23 points

After each team scored nine points in the first quarter, the Lady Longhorns held a one-point advantage going into the break. After regrouping, the Lady Broncos took control in the third quarter of play and outscored their opponent by seven points. They were able to hang on to the lead and get the win.

Brandalyn Ellis knocked down six points, and Sandra Smith put in five. Jade Benson had four and Kira Weatheron, Makayla Brown helped with three, and Emily Johnson and Ashlyn Newsome each added two.

The Lady Broncos will participate in the Miami Tournament November 29 through December 1.

Colts get the best of Memphis

The seventh and eighth grade teams took on Memphis in their season opener last week at home and earned two victories. The seventh grade won 25-16, and the eighth grade cleaned up at 41-23.

The seventh grade Colts jumped out to claim a small lead over the Whirlwinds early in the game and were able to hold the momentum throughout. They turned their three-point lead at the break into nine at the buzzer. Solid play on both ends helped the Colts to their first win. The scoring was spread out with Harrison Howard, Levi Gates, and Anthony Martin all scoring four points each while Warren Mays helped with three. Kasen Hatley, Ja’Tourian Franklin, Colton Benson, Easton Frausto, and Patrick Monds each added two points. Also playing are Tyler Tuttle, Riley Wade, Reagan Wade, and Jaxon McAnear.

The eighth grade Colts followed suit with a big win as well and turned up the heat early. Sylvester Ballard was unstoppable leading the way with 20 points. Despite missing several inside shots, the Colts did a good job of executing on both ends of the court. Anthony Martin put in nine points and Josh Dunn and Bradin Balogh each added four. Alex Massey and Davin Mays put in two points each. Jace and Britton Cottrell are also on the team.

The Colts will play at home on Monday at 5:00 p.m.

Hanukkah
Hanukkah is a Jewish holiday that honors the victory the Maccabees (a Jewish group) had over their enemy. It celebrates the rededication of their Temple in Jerusalem after it had been ruined. There was only enough oil in the lamps to keep the eternal flame in the Temple burning for one day. But, the oil kept burning for eight days while fresh oil was prepared! Hanukkah is a joyful celebration of the miracle that lasted for eight days.

Lady Colts open season with two huge wins

Both Lady Colt teams annihilated the Lady Whirlwinds on the road last Monday night. The seventh grade won 51-20 and the eighth grade won 43-10. Both teams showed great potential for a winning season.

The seventh grade Lady Colts jumped on Memphis early taking a 29-5 lead after the first half of play and stormed through the second half.

Anna Randall, Courtlyn Conkin, and Graci Smith put the triple heat on their opponent and finished in double figures to lead their team to the win. Randall put in 20, Conkin 16, and Smith 10. The team worked together on both ends of the court with several players contributing. Kynna Phillips and Morgan Johnston each added two points, and Elyza Rodriguez helped with one to finish out the scoring. Also playing for the Lady Colts are Bayleigh Bruce, Brianna Martin, Briana Childers, Shyivory Callaway, and Emma Roys.

The eighth grade Lady Colts used their basketball fundamentals flawlessly and won by 33 points. Finley Cunningham and Makenna Shadle led the way with 12 and 11 points respectively. The team worked together and grabbed the early momentum in the game. They were able to build a 24-2 lead at the break and hold the Lady Cyclones scoreless in the third quarter.

Jayde Gribble, Aleyah Weatheron, Laney Gates, and Brenna Ellis all helped with four points each and Rosie Dale, and Cate Word helped with two each. Also playing for the Lady Colts are Avery English, Aliyah Weatheron, Tandy Blacksher, and Emberly Gonzalez.

Both Lady Colt teams will play be on the road on Monday, December 3, at Panhandle and take on Highland Park at home on December 10 beginning at 5:00 p.m.

The Community Thanksgiving dinner last Thursday served almost 300 meals. Dine-in meals were down this year at the Clarendon School Cafeteria but deliveries to seniors and businesses and carry outs were similar to previous years. Dinner organizers said they were blessed with numerous volunteers this year, including the Bulldog basketball team (left photo) who cleaned the dining room after the meal. The event also is fortunate to have a great many volunteers and folks who provided the turkeys, desserts, and donated financially.
