By Audle Johnston

GEM FOR THE DAY: For the woman in love, there are no fabulous lovers; there is only the man she is in love with, and she doesn't need to be a genius to figure out that the better his technique, the more he has been out there practicing.

Spending Sunday with Bernice Rowan and enjoying an early Thanksgiving dinner were Jerry Rowan and wife and daughter Angelia and Julia of Henrietta and Trae Burson and wife Debbie and Traci and IV Burson of Haskell.

Bessie Duncan left last week to spend several days with her son James and wife Sherry and son Chris Duncan in Fort Worth.

Jon and a friend Linzie and Jennifer Bryant of Levelland spent the weekend with Claudale and Jean Barnard and Don, Diane, Trish and Angela Roberts.

Beckie Underwood of Guthrie and Beth Underwood of Midwestern College in Wichita Falls spent the weekend with their parents, C.H. and Linda and brother Reed and Jack Underwood, their grandfather. Jack was in the hospital a few days but returned home and is doing fair.

Visiting Coy and Loretta Hewitt are Loretta's mother, Edna Davis of Snyder and their granddaughter Ashton Neal of Wichita Falls. Jerry Beason and wife Faye of Snyder will return her to her home.

Judy Sanders and daughter of Amarillo visited their grandparents, Arthur and Fannie Cameron and Berlie Banner over the weekend.

Craig, Lori, Tyler, Sarah, and Chase Brothers of Abilene visited Saturday and Sunday with J.O., Charlene, and Don Brothers.

Jim and Joanne Searcy of Wetumpka, Alabama, are visiting Joanne's mom Clara Hanson and husband Troy this week.

"One Weigh to Tithe" - After lounging over the Sunday paper, I went down the hall to draw my bath and asked my husband if he'd write our tithe check for the church. In the bathroom I took out the scale. I had put on a few pounds, and weighing had become a daily ritual.

"How much?" I heard my husband say. I put on my glasses, stepped up and looked. "One twenty-nine," I said, not too proudly. No comment from the kitchen.

I trudged back down the hall and meekly asked, "That's too much, isn't it?" Waving the check, my husband answered, "Oh, I already wrote it."

Scouts Visit County Jail

Cub Scout Den 3 visited the Knox County Jail in Benjamin last Tuesday to meet one of the requirements for their Bear Badge.

Deputy Sheriff Ricki Russell gave the boys a guided tour of the facilities and the different vehicles used for police duty. He also instructed the boys on things that they could do to help local law enforcement officers.

Another requirement was to be fingerprinted and Deputy Sheriff Randy Hibdon did this for the Scouts. He told the boys how fingerprints are important clues used by police officers to find criminals and missing people.

For the boys, the highlight of the tour was having their picture taken behind bars. Because the officers were friendly and helpful, these boys learned that law enforcement officers are their friends and that they should have respect for them.

With this kind of rapport between officers and children, jails will have a better chance of staying empty.

What Am I Thankful For?

What am I thankful for this year?
What blessings come to mind?
My dear friends and relations,
So loving and so kind.
Each time I see the sunrise,
And the beauties of the day,
The unexpected little joys,
I find along the way.

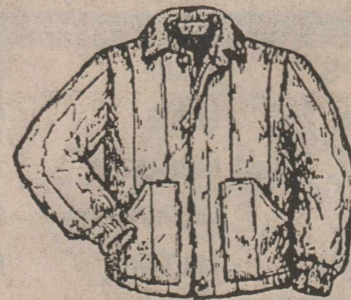

What am I thankful for this year?
The small and furry things,
The hope that keeps me going,
The peace believing brings.
I have so much to thank God for,
I don't know where to start,
I only know He walks with me,
And lives within my heart!

DPS Urges Safety For Thanksgiving Holiday

LUBBOCK - At time to be thankful is once again upon us. It seems that during the Thanksgiving period, most people are trying to get home to their loved ones. This is a time when families reunite and gather together for big turkey dinners and a period of time when we give thanks for being able to get together and enjoy ourselves. This also brings on an increase of traffic on our streets and highways. We, the Texas Department of Public Safety, urge everyone to use extreme care this year, so that we can live to have another Thanksgiving.

It is true that many Texas citizens will become a statistic during this holiday period and that many planned gatherings will be ruined by these tragedies. Let us keep in mind, as we plan our trips and gatherings, this year to plan ahead and give ourselves plenty of travel time and plenty of rest stops. We must remember to be a defensive driver and to watch out for the other person at all times.

Remember, no matter how good of a driver we may be that we cannot control the person that we are meeting. We have no guarantee that that person has not dropped a cigarette, had a cardiac arrest, tanked up on booze or hopped up on pills. Let's drive as if each driver will always do the unexpected and in this manner we can live to enjoy another holiday. Remember, to always be a defensive driver.

This is also a time that hunters will be on the highway. This will also add to the congestion of our streets and highways. Let us all take the time to be a courteous driver and to keep our minds in the right frame of mind.

Though times have changed and traditions dimmed with the passage of the years, may we always be constant in our gratitude for blessings bestowed upon this beloved land and its people.

For family and friends, for health and vitality, give a moment's pause this Thanksgiving Day, to give humble thanks for these many blessings. Remember all in this land of abundance, the true richness of the little things, too, in life. Look around your table this year, and give thanks.

Benjamin News

By Gladene Green

The community Thanksgiving supper and program was held Wednesday night at the Memorial Building. After a very good meal and fellowship period, a program was enjoyed by those present. It consisted of an all church choir, special music by Bud Conner and Weldon Koepf and an inspiring message by Larry Neal, pastor of the First Christian Church. One of the biggest crowds in the last few years was on hand for this annual event.

CONCERNING OUR SICK

Don Ervin will undergo bypass surgery this week in Harris Hospital in Fort Worth. Don has had problems for quite sometime and he's very anxious to get this done and start to feel better.

Shirley Brown is feeling pretty good and enjoying a break from chemotherapy treatments. She starts another series of one week on November 29.

Debbie Hudson Ebraheim was in Abilene Thursday for some tests. Except for being tired, she was feeling fine Thursday p.m. No definite results of those tests, yet.

HERE 'N THERE

Katrine King of Killeen is here for a few days visit with her daughter and granddaughter, Debra Ebraheim and Nafeesa.

Darrin Erwin of Azle was a visitor of his family, the Don Ervins, the first of the week.

Kenneth and Jessie Roberts returned home Monday night after several days visit with her sister in Houston. Her sister underwent more surgery recently but Jessie says she is doing quite well now.

Betty Lyles returned home Wednesday after a few days stay in Oklahoma City with her brother, Horace, who underwent the angioplasty procedure at Presbyterian Hospital. He's home now and doing fine.

NOTICE!

Another item has come up missing from the Community Center. After Wednesday night's Thanksgiving supper, Shirley Brown ended up with the wrong salad bowl. The one she carried her salad in was a lead crystal, footed bowl and deeper than the one she got home with. The one she did take home was similar but not as deep as hers and the top of hers was more "fluted". Hers was a gift from a friend and has sentimental value and she's sure the one she has is special to its owner. So if you got the wrong bowl and salad (her's was orange jello and cottage cheese, the one she got was similar but had coconut and pecans on top) get with Shirley and discuss it. It was purely accidental she knows but would love to have the mistake corrected.

News is in short supply this week. I hope to have a "bunch" next week after the holidays.

I hope each of you have a safe and enjoyable Thanksgiving. Let's all take time to do something we should do every day and that is to be thankful for the many blessings in our lives.

FROM FLORIDA

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Wojcik of West Palm Beach, Florida, are here visiting their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Stan Wojcik.

This past summer, Stanley was elected president of the association when the World War II LST786 Reunion was held in Colorado Springs, Colorado.

Bass, Sunfish Populations Surveyed At Copper Breaks

By Charles Munger
District Biologist

The bass and sunfish populations at Copper Breaks State Park Lake were surveyed by the Texas Parks and Wildlife fisheries crew this summer and fall. Summer samples were collected by gill nets and fall by nighttime electrofishing.

Gill nets were used to sample the catfish population. Channel catfish were collected in good numbers and all were in good condition. Lengths ranged from 9 to 24 inches with over half longer than 13 inches.

Electrofishing was used to collect largemouth bass and sunfish. Largemouth bass at Copper Breaks are in average condition and are present in good numbers. Bass up to 20 inches long were collected but most were 11-12 inches. The catch rate of bass over 12 inches dropped rapidly indicating there is probably some illegal harvest. This lake has the potential for high quality bass fishing but only if anglers are willing to obey the regulations and will practice catch and release. Fisheries managers can work to improve fishing, but ultimately, it is anglers that control the quality.

The most abundant sunfish in Copper Breaks is the bluegill. They were collected at almost 300 fish per hour with many in the 6-9 inch range. Bluegill are abundant and can provide fast-action fishing especially with a fly rod. Bluegill eat the same things trout do, so if you want to keep practiced for trout, break out the flies and try some bluegill.

The most surprising catch at Copper Breaks was redear sunfish. Redear (distinguished by the reddish border on their gill flaps) averaged 10 inches in length, weighed over a pound, and were collected at over 11 fish per hour. Redear live near the bottom where they feed mainly on snails and insect larvae. The best way to catch redear is to fish worms on or near the bottom in 5-10 feet of water during the late spring or early summer when males are aggressively guarding their nests. Light line and weights are a must since the redear is apt to drop the bait if it feels any resistance from your tackle. Redear do not reproduce in large numbers and can be easily overharvested. If you want to catch large sunfish try fishing Copper Breaks. If you want to continue catching large sunfish, remember to practice catch and release.

WTU Participates In Georgia Fiber Trade Show

Under the marketing name "West Texas Natural Fiber Team", West Texas fiber industry members and allies participated in the nation's largest textile and apparel trade show in Atlanta, Georgia to promote natural fibers and to recruit new business related to the industry.

For the third year in a row, West Texas Utilities Company sponsored a booth and led a team of regional allies at the Bobbin Blenheim Show in Atlanta. This year's show was highlighted by a cooperative effort from various Big Country producers, manufacturers and state allies. The idea for the design of the booth came from WTU's staff and Hist & Fritz (an Abilene graphic design company) and featured a life-size photo depicting workers at Hamilton Industries (a garment manufacturer in Abilene). Samples and literature for organic and naturally-colored cotton, mohair, wool and cashmere produced in West Texas were available at the booth.

The success of the show should be good news for area wool and mohair producers in light of the recent attempts by Congress to do away with the federal subsidy program. "We knew there was a high demand for our natural fibers, but the level of interest shown at the show exceeded our expectations - particularly for mohair and organic cotton," said Steve Teaff, Agri-Business Specialist at WTU. The Bobbin show was attended by over 750 exhibitors and 25,000 attendees. Teaff says he plans to keep the new marketing name for the group because it reflects a clear message.

WTU's economic development staffers were supported in the booth by Preccia Miller, representative of Ol' Sonora Mohair, representatives from the Texas Department of Agriculture's (TDA) "Naturally Texas" program, and the Texas Department of Commerce's (TDOC) Industrial Recruitment department. Also attending was Doug Parker, representing a group from Munday, Texas, which is formulating a business plan for a textile spinning mill. He was there looking for potential customers, and new manufacturing ideas.

"We're trying to get participating from representatives at all levels of the textile industry in West Texas," said Eric Geisler, Economic Development Specialist at WTU. "The idea is to promote our area fiber producers and, at the same time, use them to attract the industries that add value to the raw materials they produce. It helps when you can tell a potential industry that Texas is the leader in natural fibers, that we have scouring plants in San Angelo and Brady, we're centrally located, and we have competitive labor rates. We are fortunate to be able to offer low electric rates because power is usually a significant cost to textile companies."

Teaff and Geisler added that the group urges participating from anyone active in the industry. The 1994 Bobbin show will again be hosted by Atlanta and the group plans to have an even greater presence next year. Other activities being discussed are a recruiting/trade mission to the northeastern or southeastern United States in conjunction with TDA and TDOC and other related trade shows.

For further information, contact Geisler or Teaff at West Texas Utilities Company, Abilene, 915-674-7030.

*A View From

A NATIONAL SYMBOL CELEBRATES 200 YEARS

In 1846, during a visit to Washington, Scottish journalist Alexander Mackay described the Capitol in these words: "It has a most imposing effect, rising, as it does, in classic elegance from its lofty site, over the greensward and rich embowering foliage of the low grounds at its base." Despite two centuries of alterations and additions, today, the stately structure retains its imposing effect.

On September 18, 1793, President George Washington stood at the crest of Jenkins Hill and inaugurated the construction of America's new Capitol. In recent weeks, this 200th anniversary has been marked by several public celebrations. The most important so far being the return of the Statue of Freedom to her place of honor atop the U.S. Capitol.

I think it is interesting to know that after the site for the Capitol was selected, Thomas Jefferson proposed that a competition be held for the building's design. The winning designer would receive $500, or a medal of that worth, and a city lot. The newspaper announcement of the design competition only drew 16 entries, and the judges were not satisfied with any of them. Six months later, a doctor and portrait painter named William Thornton submitted his design and received the judge's approval.

The north wing of the Capitol was completed in 1800, and Congress convened there for the first time in November. By 1811, the south wing was completed, as well as a wooden arcade joining the House and Senate wings. But tragedy struck when during the War of 1812, the structure was set ablaze by British troops. Only the walls were left.

The Capitol was restored in 1819. It was completed just as the original designer had envisioned it, including the rotunda with its wooden dome sheathed in copper. By 1851, the membership of Congress had increased greatly, and it was determined that an expansion of the Capitol was badly needed. President Millard Fillmore appointed Thomas Walter to undertake the expansion, which included the design and construction of the larger iron dome, heightened to offset the planned extended wings. This expansion was completed in 12 years.

The bronze Statue of Freedom is the crowning feature of the United States Capitol. American sculptor Thomas Crawford was commissioned to design the Statue in 1855 and he completed a full-size plaster model. Crawford died in 1857, before the model could be shipped.

The model of the Statue had its own incredible journey to the U.S. It was packed into six crates and shipped from Italy in the spring of 1858. The small sailing vessel began to leak and after stopping for repairs, continued on. But once it reached Bermuda, the ship was unable to complete the journey. Then, only half the crates arrived in the U.S. in December of 1858, followed by the remaining crates at the end of March in 1859. It wasn't until December 2, 1863 that the final section of the Statue of Freedom was raised to a salute of thirty-five guns, answered by guns of the twelve forts around Washington.

I feel a great deal of honor serving in Congress during this special anniversary. While the Capitol overlooks a cityscape of government buildings and monuments, it has also become a monument of its own, home to much of our history. I am proud to be a part of this history.

'A Glimpse of Europe'

By Stephanie Pepper
Part Eleven

Kolpinghaus, Vienna, Austria (November 22, 1993) - Gobble, gobble! Happy Turkey Day! The Austrians don't celebrate it, but that hasn't held us back a bit! Thursday we will feast in a very big way - pumpkin pie, stuffing, turkey - the whole shabang! I will have my Thanksgiving meal much earlier than you since we are seven hours ahead. I can sense the jealousy clear across the world.

My last long optional travel ended Sunday night. So far I've visited 19 countries and next week I will catch number 20 when I travel to Slovakia. New countries I visited included Monaco, Spain and Leichtenstein. I went to the Olympic village in Barcelona. I never dreamed I would one day be standing in the huge Olympic stadium!

Let me describe Vienna for you: Snow, snow, snow! I love it! Our group went to Stadt park today and took a "family" picture. Then war broke out: one huge snow fight!

I also met with Ragaa today. We had planned to go and eat and visit for a while. When I met her at ICU she was very sad. Her scholarships for college are not coming through and she is out of money. She kept saying, "I promised you lunch and I'm very sorry." We walked around the city and she showed me several important buildings. Then I did the All-American thing: took her to McDonalds! We sat and visited for an hour talking about our homes. She wants me to visit her home in Africa someday. I can't believe I only have two more weeks to meet with her.

Our goal at EEM has been completed. We have finished sorting all the letters and now they are filed; waiting to be mailed.

Our group is spending the last few days in Vienna sightseeing and visiting the Christmas market. Christmas concerts are held nightly at the Schonbrunn Palace and Christmas decor light the sky!

On this Thanksgiving day, as Americans in Europe, you can bet we're thankful for everything we have. Happy Thanksgiving and God Bless You!

Jane's News Notes

By Jane Rowan, County Extension Agent

KEEP HOLIDAY MEALS HEALTHFUL

Although holidays are special times -- they present unique challenges especially for those with special food needs. It is a time when many people may gain unwanted weight thus compromising their health. It may take a holiday meal make-over to enjoy the holidays with no weight gain. Overweight predisposes people to the development of heart disease, diabetes, etc. So keeping your weight within normal limits is important to help prevent these diseases.

If you are hosting a healthy meal, some basic changes you can offer your guests are a variety of lower-fat, lower-calorie foods along with traditional favorites. Modify recipes using some of the many low-fat choices offered by many of the food processors in response to consumer's concerns about health. For example, dairy products include many low or nonfat choices such as low or non-fat sour cream, skim milk and lower fat cheeses. Use more oils to replace hydrogenated or solid fats. Baste meats with wine, fruit juice, or broth instead of with butter or margarine. Use non-stick spray instead of butter, margarine, or shortening on the pan when baking. Two egg whites can be substituted for a whole egg in most recipes to reduce cholesterol content. Replace buttered bread crumbs on tops of casseroles with crushed cereal. You not only reduce the fat, but you also increase complex carbohydrates -- a recommendation of the dietary guidelines. Another excellent complex carbohydrate source is special request, lower fat or air popped popcorn. Use a variety of flavored salts to add flavor and interest to this high fiber snack.

*He's a great guy who is all-around,
 Well-liked by everyone in town.
 He works so hard in all he does,
 Staying busy or helping others is what he loves,
 I doubt he's noticed that time has passed
 so swiftly,
 But, look at the year Hot Shy, you're fifty!*

Happy Birthday!
