Auxiliary Officers Are Elected

A good turnout of Knox County Hospital Auxiliary members were on hand Monday night for the election of officers for the new year.

Re-elected as president was Peggy McGaughey while Jerry Smith again was named president-elect. Members felt that the women had done an exceptional job in their first year of office and persuaded them to serve another year. Marsha McGaughey was elected vice-president; Cornie King, secretary; Pansy Russell was re-elected treasurer.

Betty Albus is chairman of the membership committee to be assisted by Shirley Brown and Mary Thomas.

Thrift Shop chairman again will be Jerry Smith, who will have Ann Eells and Stella Ferguson assisting her.

Linda Griffith was named chairman of the tray favors committee and she was asked to choose helpers.

Stacy and Billye Angle were again chosen as publicity chairmen, and Jewell Lea was named historian.

Members discussed the purchase of the new heart monitor for the hospital which was installed recently, and expressed optimism for the upcoming year.

Conservation Program To Note Anniversary

August 7, 1981, should be a historic day for farmers, ranchers, soil and water conservation district directors, and for all who depend upon agricultural products for good clothing.

The date will be the silver anniversary of the Great Plains Conservation Program, Carl Hutcherson, district conservationist for the U.S. Soil Conservation Service at Knox City, said this week.

Just 25 years ago, on August 7, 1956, President Eisenhower signed into law the bill authorizing the program, Hutcherson said. "It is available to producers in the ten Great Plains states -- stretching through the Nation's breadbasket from North Dakota to Texas."

GPCP helps farmers and ranchers solve problems of wind and water erosion, drought, and other resource-related problems with technical and financial aid based on conservation plans tailored to each farm or ranch.

The first Great Plains contract in the local Wichita-

Brazos Soil and Water Conservation District was signed by Sydney Alexander from Benjamin. The land is still owned by Alexander who continues to add conservation practices under the program. One hundred thirty-four contracts protecting 109,381 acres have been signed in Knox County.

"Grass seeding, terraces, grassed waterways, livestock water facilities, cross-fences, and livestock grazing programs are among GPCP practices on which a landowner can receive technical and cost-sharing assistance," Hutcherson said.

The conservation practices in a GPCP plan are scheduled to be applied over three to 10 years. The U.S. Department of Agriculture has assigned leadership of the program to the Soil Conservation Service. All problems aren't solved in the great Plains," Hutcherson said. "But since the program has been in operation, wind erosion has not caused the tragic damage of the dust bowl days of the 1930s and the drought of the '50s."

"The terrible drought of 1980, however, threatened approximately 11 million acres with wind damage," Hutcherson said. "While the disaster didn't happen in 1980, the drought and the resulting threat shows that we can never let our guard down when it comes to protecting our natural resources."

County Aging Program Has New Service

The Knox County Aging Service Program plans to implement a new service for older persons who live alone.

The Postal Alert Program is devised to prevent the possible crisis of becoming seriously ill and not being discovered for a prolonged period of time.

In order for the program to be successful cooperation between the Aging Services Program and the local postal service is vital.

The only requirements are to be 60 years of age or older and living alone. There is no cost to the participant.

Information on the registration form will be confidential and will be kept on file at the local Senior Citizens Center. It includes the participant's name, address, telephone number and age, as well as medical problems they might have. Included will be the name and number of a friend or relative to be called in the event contact becomes necessary.

Once a person is registered a method of identification is devised so that the local mail carrier is aware of their participation in the program.

At anytime the mail carrier observes the participant's mail has not been picked up, he makes contact with the Aging Services Program and calls will be made to check on the participant.

If readers are interested in being a part of this program or have a friend or relative in need of this service, they should apply to Lillian Logan, Coordinator, Knox County Aging Services, P.O. Box 323, Knox City, Texas 79529.

Capture The Spirit Of Summer By Following Simple Photo Tips

Capturing the spirit of summer in photographs is as easy as getting a child with watermelon to smile, especially if you follow a few simple tips on picture-taking.

To get a candid, slice-of-life photo like this one, try to take pictures while people are being themselves, unposed. Maintain a low profile when approaching your subject, even if it's impossible to avoid notice initially. Timing is essential, because you want to catch that precious smile before it's gone.

Use a camera with a telephoto lens to help you "get in close" without distracting the subject. Close-up pictures capture the true feeling of the moment—and help eliminate distracting backgrounds.

Your camera should be loaded and ready for picture-taking, because that fleeting moment can be gone at the blink of an eye. An aim-and-shoot Kodak Tele-Ektra 300 camera is ideal for these situations because you simply frame the subject in the viewfinder and squeeze the shutter gently. Its built-in telephoto lens will bring you "twice as close" to the subject without moving an inch.

Locals Return From Canadian Bus Tour

The Nocona Fun Tours of Nocona sponsored a recent tour with Weldon Cowan, Chamber of Commerce manager, as tour guide. Forty-nine persons made the ten day tour including J.L. and Martha Toliver and Virgil and Margaret Wall of Haskell and Ruby Magee and Gladys Reed of Knox City.

The group reported a very interesting and enjoyable trip through twelve states and on into Manitoba Province in Canada. The tour started in Nocona and journeyed through Oklahoma, Missouri, Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota and through the International Peace Garden, across the Canadian Line and on to Winnipeg.

In Winnipeg, they reported a very interesting shopping spree in the noted Eaton Square and on to Brandon for more shopping and sight-seeing. On the way home from Canada, they came through North Dakota, the geographical center of the continent. The group also traveled through South Dakota and visited Mount Rushmore and the Badlands of South Dakota. The tour also took them through the corner of Nebraska to Casper and Cheyenne, Wyoming. From there, they went to Yellowstone National Park which covers a part of Wyoming and overlaps into Montana and Idaho.

After spending two nights and one full day sight-seeing, the group drove through Teton National Park and reported that it was beautiful.

On Sunday morning, while the bus was traveling they had a religious service. The group sang several gospel songs, had special harmonica music, testimonies and a cassette tape of a recorded sermon. The service was closed with a prayer.

The bus traveled to Colorado Springs for the night where the Nocona Buckle Company was visited. This company makes the buckles for Nocona Belt Company in Nocona. The travelers saw each step done when making western buckles.

That night, they went to the Flying W Ranch for a cowboy barbecue and western musical program. They returned home by way of Amarillo, Wichita Falls and on to Nocona which completed the 4200 mile circle drive.

The group said they rested each night and the beautiful sites and scenery were well worth the many miles they made.

4-H Is Noted For Flexibility

Today's 4-H program is noted for its flexibility, a feature that makes it the largest youth-serving organization in the country.

4-H is flexible because it's organized in different ways, for different needs, in different places. Organization may take the form of community or neighborhood clubs, project clubs, special interest groups, television, and special activities. Young people may take part in 4-H through any or all of these according to April Stamps, county 4-H program coordinator with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

The community or neighborhood 4-H club is associated with an area known to local people, such as a crossroads, a small village, a township, a section of a suburban community, a city block or blocks, or a housing complex. The number of 4-H members in a club may range from five or six to more than 100. This type of 4-H club continues from year to year. Usually both girls and boys belong to the club, enrolling in projects according to their interests.

In many areas, 4-H is organized on a "project club" basis. Young people are encouraged to form these clubs for a year or less. Examples include clubs for gardens, clothing, dairy, automotive, horses, tractors and small engines. These 4-H clubs vary in number of members, and their territory may range from a neighborhood cluster of a few families or a city block to two or three towns or an entire county. In many counties, members of community or neighborhood 4-H clubs may belong to a larger area 4-H project club. Teenagers especially like this system, Mrs. Stamps said.

In special interest groups, subjects taught depend on special interests and ages of girls and boys and how these relate to community needs. Young people may take part in this kind of intensive short-term group if they do not wish to be members of a 4-H club. They may get training in bicycle safety, health, first aid and firefighting or for jobs in local businesses.

In the late 1950's a State Cooperative Extension Service produced the first 4-H TV series. That series of 13 half-hour programs about electricity was designed for 9 to 11 year olds. Since then, several states have developed and shared 4-H TV. Television films or video tapes and educational materials for members and leaders are used in groups or individually. Many have been programmed through school systems. More programs developed by Extension Service USDA in the early '70s, Mrs. Stamps pointed out.

Special educational activities often supplement 4-H programs. These include tours, 4-H junior and teen leader training workshops, achievement programs, camps, state conferences, seminars, recreational leadership training, share the fun festivals, project training meetings, career exploration, and exhibitions, fairs and shows.

Two major nationwide events are held for 4-H members each year, National 4-H Congress in late fall in Chicago and National 4-H Conference each spring at the National 4-H Center in Washington, D.C.

Among key events in Texas are State 4-H Roundup each June at Texas A&M University and State 4-H Congress in July in a major city.

Whichever method suits you best, 4-H has a way for you to learn and have fun in an exciting youth program, Mrs. Stamps said. Readers may contact the county Extension office for more information.

April's Advice

BY APRIL STAMPS
County Extension Agent

Cut clothing costs and stay in fashion with "Update '81."

For summer, update last summer's wardrobe, and with an eye toward fall and winter '81 as you go, you'll be "right in style" at little cost.

Inventory still-wearable items, notice the voids, study current trends, and then begin your own "Update '81."

COLOR - Color is the most visible part of a wardrobe, and often it depends on seasonal trends.

Update last season's bright colors with pastels. Fashion-right colors especially important are corals, peaches, apricots, aquas and turquoises.

PATTERNED FABRICS - Update last season's solids with fashionable patterns and prints, particularly madras-like plaids, ethnic prints, folk art and splashy florals. Also jungle prints, camouflage military looks and paislies. Border prints also have returned as a popular patterned look.

LACE - Add lace borders or edging to collars, cuffs, belts, and hemlines for feminine detail, or consider a lace applique for a pocket or other focal point.

Often lace can be recycled or reused from garments that are no longer wearable and even from other household items such as tablecloths.

RUFFLES - Some designers are calling this the year of the ruffle.

Add garments with ruffled detail such as tiered skirts, flounce skirts, dresses of blouses with ruffle collars.

A ruffle or lace-trimmed blouse is an excellent update for last year's more tailored, stricter-looking garments.

TUNICS - Tunics are particularly strong for fall and winter '81, and in an all-weather fabric, they can update straight leg pants or skirts now and continue fashionable into cool-weather seasons.

DRESSES - Dropped or long waisted dresses are big news for dresses.

Re-do straight-line unwaisted garment by cutting it apart along the hipline and adding a fuller, contrasting skirt.

JEWELRY - Jewelry is bolder and larger than it has been for a number of seasons. Rummage through your jewelry collection - you may find some ethnic looks or large woods, plastic or ceramic necklaces, bracelets or earrings.

Check by garage sales, too.

In wearing bold jewelry, plan carefully to emphasize desirable features and draw attention away from those less desirable.

SHOES - Shorter heels are very definitely the trend.

Some heel heights will shorten easily without changing the arch - ask your shoe repairman about the possibilities and cost.

HEMLINES - Skirt hemlines are shorter now - worn right below the knee or mid-knee. Trends for fall show even shorter lengths - or much longer lengths, such as mid-calf.

In general, think "fun" when you start "Update '81." Updating wardrobes can be fun - and challenging. Many possibilities exist, depending on the garments and personal preference.

You can update your wardrobe with little or no expense and, at the same time, create a flattering, workable wardrobe that looks as fresh as today.

TIPS ON TRIPS

Traveling With Children

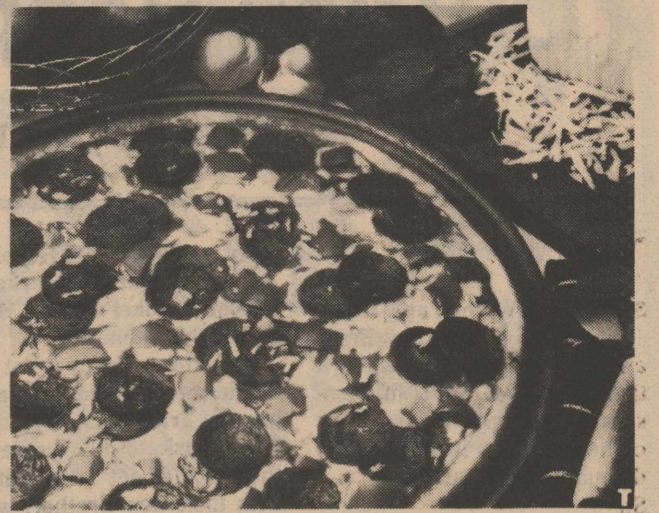

Traveling with children may be a unique art - but it can be mastered. Start out by including your children in the planning of your vacation.

• Allow them to help in choosing your destination and the route to take. Make your lodging reservations in advance considering the distance your children can travel in one day.

• Let your children help you pack their clothing and toys for the trip. This adds to their excitement and makes them feel a part of the adventure.

• Plan car games to keep your youngsters occupied. Try "spotting contests" - a prize for the child who spots the most out-of-state license plates, for example.

SERVE UP SOME FUN WITH EASY, HOMEMADE PIZZA

Ancient Romans loved it. Virgil even wrote about it. And, today, Americans too are enjoying their version of this Sicilian pie... pizza.

Besides being a delicious meal or snack-time treat, pizza is fun to make at home. Turning your kitchen into a pizzeria is really easy. Start your pizza with a simple, delicious homemade crust like the one below. Just stir Bisquick® baking mix and water together. Then roll or pat the dough into a circle on a cookie sheet. Top with cheeses, tomato sauce, spices and your favorite meat. And in less than a half hour, serve homemade pizza, fresh from the oven.

CHEESE PIZZA

2 cups Bisquick baking mix	1/2 teaspoon dried oregano leaves
1/2 cup cold water	1 large clove garlic, crushed
1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese	1 cup shredded mozzarella cheese (about 4 ounces)
1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce	1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1/2 teaspoon dried basil leaves	1/4 cup chopped onion

Heat oven to 425°. Mix baking mix and water until soft dough forms. Roll or pat dough into 12-inch circle on ungreased cookie sheet; pinch edge of circle, forming 1/2-inch rim. Sprinkle Parmesan cheese over circle. Mix tomato sauce, basil, oregano and garlic; spread over cheese. Top with mozzarella cheese, green pepper and onion. Bake until crust is golden brown, 20 to 25 minutes.

Hamburger Pizza: Top with 1 pound ground beef and 1/2 teaspoon salt, browned and drained.

Italian Sausage Pizza: Top with 1 pound bulk Italian sausage, browned and drained.

Pepperoni Pizza: Top with 1 cup sliced pepperoni.

High Altitude Directions (3500 to 6500 feet): Use boiling water to make dough.

Change Behavior To Lose Weight

HOUSTON - The key to losing weight and keeping it off is to change total behavior, not just eating habits, a Baylor College of Medicine scientist said after a study of participants in a weight control program.

"Losing weight requires a complete change in lifestyle and principles and can take years; it is one of the hardest things people try to do," said John Foreyt, Ph. D., associate professor of medicine at Baylor and director of The Methodist Hospital Diet Modification Clinic.

He recently completed a study of the effectiveness of the program in which behavior modification is taught and found that it was successful for a majority of the program participants. More than 70 percent of the patients maintained their weight loss or continued to lose weight one year after completing the program.

Additional findings of the study were that: Women have a harder time losing weight than men. People who have been overweight all their lives may not find it more difficult to lose weight.

Foreyt concluded from the study that to lose and keep weight off, people must make changes in their behavior, such as avoiding the food table when at a party, or reading or exercising instead of eating when depressed.

He also found that a person's sex and the amount of weight he or she wants to lose can influence success at shedding pounds.

Although the program helped most of the patients, he said, the average weight loss was relatively modest (under 20 pounds) and the program was unsuccessful for many patients, especially women.

Three times more males than females in the program were successful at achieving their goal weight.

"This was probably because men have less body fat than women, and women are around food more often than males," Foreyt said.

Foreyt's study also confirmed that the more weight someone wants to lose, the harder the task. Only two percent of the patients who wanted to lose more than 30 pounds reached their goal, except for one woman who lost more than 100 pounds.

The study's results do give hope to people who have been overweight all of their lives.

"Those who were fat since childhood did not have any more difficulty losing weight than the recently overweight," Foreyt said.

A plan for all seasons.

Oklahoma Man To Repay SS Debt

An Oklahoma City man has been ordered to repay over $2,000.00 to the Social Security Administration and has been placed on supervised probation for two years.

Charles A. Makowski of 5105 Hales Drive in Oklahoma City and formerly of Fort Smith, Arkansas, was sentenced in federal district court in Fort Smith.

According to James Harper, manager of the Vernon Social Security Office, Makowski has previously pled guilty to concealing his work in order to continue receiving social security disability benefits. He has also admitted to using a Social Security Number he obtained on the basis of false information. People who have Social Security Disability Benefits are required to report any work activity or medical improvement to the Social Security Administration.

Although recent changes in the Social Security Law make it easier for those who remain disabled to try to return to work without sudden loss of all benefits, Social Security has stepped up its review of all disability cases to make sure that those getting benefits are still severely disabled.

Visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Doug Meinzer and Tyke over the weekend were their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Baker of Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Jerry May, Jill and David of Coleman; and Mrs. Bert Swaner of Mansfield.

Windshield Glass Coating Prohibited

A few motorists may be confused over the use of glass coatings and one-way glass in motor vehicles. However, the Texas Department of Public Safety reports that drivers should be aware of the law and exercise caution prior to altering the window glass of a motor vehicle.

Captain Joh Mason of the Motor Vehicle Inspection Service of the DPS in the Regional headquarters for this area advised motorists not to put anything on the windshield or front side windows. "No coatings, plastic, liquid or other materials may be put on the windshield or front side windows of any motor vehicle that has not been approved by the DPS," said Mason. However, the DPS spokesman says glass coating materials may be applied to the rear window and the rear side windows if the vehicle has outside rearview mirrors.

Mason says no motor vehicle glass coatings are currently approved by the DPS for application on windshield or front side windows. "Under state law, the DPS has the authority to approve, but due to the variations of the materials and the numerous methods in which they are applied, we simply cannot approve any of the coatings," he said. "Frequently we find these coatings to be dangerous since they often obstruct the driver's vision," he said.

Captain Mason said the glass coating materials are sometimes spray-on tint, metalized mylar plastic or other kinds of applicable materials. "The use of curtains, blinds or stick-on novelty designs are not prohibited on rear windows, but common sense should be considered when applying these devices to a vehicle," he said. "The driver must be able to maintain good external vision during the operation of any motor vehicle," said Captain Mason.

He said the one-way glass coating in vehicles is not generally a good idea, even when permitted, since the application of the materials greatly reduces and distorts vision, especially at night, he concluded.

STREAMS IN DESERT PLACES

By OZELLE STEPHENS

"Therefore I take pleasure in infirmities, in reproaches, in necessities, in persecution, in distresses for Christ's sake: for when I am weak, then I am strong. (11 Cor. 12:1).

We are living in days of persecution, heartache, and many kinds of sorrow because of sin. But the Word of God tells us that when these days come, not to be bewildered or surprised when we have to go through the fiery trials ahead, for this is no strange, unusual thing that is going to happen to you. Instead be very glad because these trials will make you partners with Christ in his sufferings, and afterwards you will have the wonderful joy of sharing his glory in the coming day when it will be displayed.

Be happy if you are cursed and insulted for being a Christian, for when that happens the Spirit of God will come upon you with great glory. It is no shame to suffer for being a Christian and belonging to Christ's family -- and being called by his wonderful name. So if you are suffering according to God's will, keep on doing what is right and trust yourself to the God who made you, for He will never fail you. (1 Peter 4:chapter.)

"We want you to know..."

when we switch over to the new lignite generating plant, utility rates have to increase."

In the early 1970's, the member cooperatives of the Brazos Electric Power Cooperative foresaw continued increasing costs and possible shortages in using natural gas as a primary energy source. In order to guarantee our member/owners the electricity they would need, we began construction of the lignite-fueled San Miguel Plant. Building a lignite-fueled plant is a great deal more expensive than building a natural gas-fueled plant. For example, approximately 30% of the total cost is expended to meet requirements of the Federal Clean Air Act. When we switch to the San Miguel plant as our primary source of electricity later this year, the effect of the high construction costs will make a noticeable increase in your monthly electric bill.

But the cost of lignite will increase more slowly than natural gas, making electricity from San Miguel more economical as time goes on. In future years, this plant will help us to slow inevitably rising costs and assure our member/owners of a reliable, available source of electricity. We believe THAT'S GOOD NEWS!

Because we saw the need early and acted on it, we will have more control of future fuel prices affecting the cost of electricity to the member/owners of the Brazos Electric Power Cooperative.

ENERGY SAVING WAYS

With REFRIGERATORS

When the humidity is high, condensation can form around freezer and refrigerator doors. That's why many no-frost refrigerator/freezers have heaters built into the front exterior edge of the cabinet—to help prevent this "sweating."

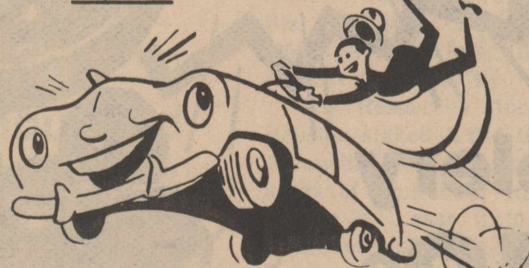

According to home economists from Whirlpool Corporation, in some models these heaters operate all the time; in others, you can control the operation of the heaters by using a heater control switch, usually located in the refrigerator section. If you can't find one in your refrigerator, check the freezer section or refer to your operating manual.

The home economists advise that the heater control switch has another job, too. It can help conserve energy and save on your electric bill. For example, when humidity is not a problem, or if the home is air conditioned, the home-maker can turn the heater control switch to the LO setting which shuts off a portion of the cabinet heaters and saves energy. Today's efficient refrigerator/freezers are able to handle condensation problems when they arise, as well as reduce wattage used when high humidity is no longer a problem—with just a turn of the control.
