In Brief

No rehearing

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals on Wednesday refused to reconsider its November decision that overturned drug and weapons convictions against rock singer David Crosby.

Without writing an opinion, the appeals court denied the state's motion for a rehearing of the case. Crosby was convicted in Dallas County of cocaine possession and unlawfully carrying a weapon in a tavern.

He spent five months in prison before being paroled on Aug. 8, 1986.

Winter flu

AUSTIN (AP) — Seton Medical Center was full and three other Austin hospitals were near capacity Wednesday as respiratory illnesses and other ailments made beds scarce across the city.

Patients brought to the Seton Medical Center emergency room by Emergency Medical Services have been diverted since the hospital was first filled about 8 p.m. Tuesday. Some patients were transferred to Seton-Holy Cross Hospital, which had beds available.

No ritual

ODESSA, Texas (AP) — About 10 cattle that were found mutilated on a North Texas ranch apparently died from overeating and were not killed as part of a Satanic ritual, initial autopsy reports indicate.

Dr. Bill Robertson said the cause of death appeared to be overeating, although the cattle weren't fed but left to graze on the ranch.

"It would be hard for them to overeat on this type of vegetation," said Robertson, a veterinarian who cares for the animals that live on a ranch owned by S.F. "Sonny" Henderson in Nottrees, about 25 miles west of Odessa.

Robertson said it didn't appear that a satanic ritual was related to the deaths, despite the mutilations.

"These animals did have some unusual openings on them, and we don't know what caused it," he said.

Determining the cause of death had been difficult because the cattle were dead for some time before they were discovered Jan. 18, Robertson said. He conducted his autopsy on a animal that had been dead since Dec. 14.

House decision 'aids' peace plan

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP) — A top-ranking Nicaraguan diplomat said the defeat of President Reagan's request for more Contra aid could help the Sandinista government carry out the Central American peace plan.

But a Contra rebel leader said the defeat of the aid package in the U.S. House of Representatives would lead the leftist Sandinistas to demand the Contras surrender when the two sides meet for cease-fire talks next week.

Interior Minister Tomas Borge said before the vote Wednesday night that the government would not comment until today on the vote to reject the $36.2 million aid package, which included $3.2 million in military funding.

Nicaraguan Ambassador Carlos Tunnerman, speaking by telephone from Washington with the government's Radio Sandino, said Wednesday night that the 219-211 House vote could contribute to peace.

"We hope that based on this vote we can move ahead with the Central American peace plan, end the war and fulfill in all good faith what the peace plan includes," Tunnerman said.

U.S. House vote...

Contra aid is cut off

WASHINGTON (AP) — House rejection of President Reagan's request for $36.2 million in new aid to the Nicaraguan Contra rebels left the president's bitterly debated Central America policy in shambles today.

Despite a lobbying blitz by Reagan, the House rejected further military support for the insurgents by a 219-211 vote Wednesday night. In doing so, it dismissed the president's argument that only the Contras could prevent creation of a communist stronghold in Central America.

House Democrats who handed Reagan the stinging defeat said they would support alternative humanitarian aid for the Contras but would no longer finance warfare in a region that is now seeking peace.

As Contra leader Adolfo Calero looked down glumly from the crowded visitors' gallery, Democrats leaped to their feet and burst into cheers when their victory was assured.

The Senate planned to decide later today whether to take up a similar Reagan aid request, but the House action was legally sufficient to cut off any further assistance past Feb. 29 for the Contra forces seeking to overthrow the leftist Sandinista government in Managua.

The White House expressed disappointment that the House "did not vote to keep pressure on the Sandinistas during the peace process" and said it would begin consultations about the future of the resistance.

Calero said his forces have enough arms to last about two months and enough food for a month. "We will press on with our last breath," he said.

However, he added that the Contras still "look forward to getting aid" from the United States.

Democratic leaders were jubilant. "Today's vote is the end of a chapter," said House Majority Whip Tony Coelho, D-Calif. "The Contra policy is the past."

On the final vote, a dozen Republicans joined 207 Democrats in voting against Contra aid.

Winter storm forecast

Freezing rain said likely here

From Local, Wire Reports
The Scurry County area is included in a winter storm watch posted for a wide-area of West and North Texas Thursday night and Friday.

The local forecast includes freezing rain, chilly winds and temperatures in the mid-20s Thursday night. The chance of precipitation is listed at 70 percent.

Friday is expected to be more of the same with freezing rain or sleet likely with a high near 30. The chance of precipitation Friday is forecast again at 70 percent.

The overnight low Wednesday in Snyder was 26 degrees with temperatures remaining in the mid-20s at mid-morning.

In addition, winds from the northeast are expected here in the range of 15 to 20 mph Thursday night, decreasing slightly Friday to 5 to 15 mph.

Freezing rain, sleet or snow or a combination of all three are possible through Friday across an area from the mountains of West Texas to western portions of North Texas. And forecasters say damaging accumulations of ice are possible Thursday night across southwestern portions of North Texas.

Freezing rain is expected in western portions of North Texas tonight and is expected to change to sleet or snow before ending Friday. In West Texas, freezing rain is forecast from the mountains eastward and freezing rain will be changing to snow Thursday night and Friday in the Panhandle and South Plains.

The rest of the state will have cloudy skies, cold temperatures and windy conditions through Friday. The exceptions will be in the extreme West Texas and in the Lower Rio Grande Valley where temperatures will remain well above freezing.

Voter registration now down to wire

Scurry County residents who are not registered to vote should register in person at the county clerk's office by Friday to legally qualify them to cast ballots in the upcoming March primary and November General Election.

In order to cast ballots in the March 8 primary—the Super Tuesday ballot which will see a straw vote for U.S. presidential hopefuls—individuals must register to vote by Feb. 7—this coming Sunday.

Since the deadline falls on a Sunday, the final day to register in person at the county clerk's office is Friday.

Registration forms mailed out will be accepted if postmarked through Feb. 7 also.

The vote of 1988 marks a presidential election year as well as a ballot to decide nine district or county offices here.

In addition, registered voters will decide local elections this May for seats on the Snyder city council, Western Texas College board and school boards representing Snyder, Hermleigh and Ira. The registration period for these elections extends through April 7.

The primary vote in Texas has been moved-up this year to coincide with the Super Tuesday presidential ballot.

In past years, the Texas primaries for the Republican and Democratic parties were held on the first weekend in May.

The following is the list of Scurry County political offices affected by the upcoming ballot.

—District judge: with three candidates announced representing both parties—on the Republican ticket, incumbent Gene Dulaney; and for the Democrats, Tommie J. Mills and Pete Greene.

—District attorney: with incumbent Ernie Armstrong unopposed for the Democratic nomination.

—County commissioner, Pct. 1: with incumbent Duaine Davis, a Democrat, opposed for the party nomination by Fred Cross.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Most of us don't have to worry about loving money since we can't hold onto it long enough to develop a relationship."

During those cold, icy days last month, Trinity Methodist minister James Merrell decided to clean out some closets at the Dunn First Methodist Church.

Merrell found two books that caught his interest, and he brought them by the newspaper office. Both were paperback, and one was entitled, "Little Brown Church Best Revival Hymns."

Advertising on the front cover were Dunnam Bros. Mattress and The Deffebach Agency. Each had a three-digit telephone number.

Back-cover advertisers included Von Roeder Seed Farms, Bell's Flowe: Shop and R. B. Sears Olds and GMC Trucks. In addition, there were numerous ads from Colorado City. Van Roeder's phone number was 111.

The second publication was entitled, "Town and Country book of hints." The foreword said the book contains over 1,000 helpful household hints "collected from every state in the union."

Under antidotes for poison the following was given for gas. "Admit plenty of fresh air, apply artificial respiration and give a dose of brandy."

Under emergencies and first aid came this advice: "If the accident is serious, send for a physician at once."

Under insects, "Moths do not like turpentine. When washing blankets in the spring, put several tablespoons of turpentine in the wash...by the time the blankets are needed in the fall, the odor will have evaporated."

The book was published just after 1945, as Harry Truman had just taken office. Advertisers in the center of the helpful hints book included two Dunn businesses—Smith's Grocery and Market located on Hwy 101 and the Magnolia Service Station, operated by H. L. Harrison.

Head injuries claim former AFS student

Word has been received here that Snyder High School's 1981-82 American Field Service foreign exchange student, Monica Couto, was killed in an automobile accident in her native country.

She graduated from SHS in 1982 as part of the local exchange program. During her stay in Snyder, she resided in the home of Dorothy Wolfe.

Mrs. Wolfe received word from Monica's parents of her death.

Her father, Mardonio Jorge Couto, wrote that the girl and her brother Elder were injured in an automobile accident which occurred Jan. 2.

The pair were said returning home from a Christmas holiday. See AFS, page 9

Police bill drunken drivers

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — Police have billed accused drunken drivers $100,000 in the first two weeks of a program that a defense attorney calls unconstitutional and "the equivalent of an extortion racket."

Cities around the country, seeking to boost revenues and reduce drunken driving accidents, are watching to see how successful the program is in collecting on the bills and withstanding legal challenges.

"I've gotten requests for a description of the program and details of the law from the New York and Florida legislatures," said Police Lt. Steve D'Arcy, who is in charge of the program. "I've also gotten calls from the police in Denver, Cincinnati, San Diego and San Francisco. Even the Canadian Parliament called."

Typical bills were estimated at about $155 before the program started but the first $100,000 worth averaged about $130 each, D'Arcy said. The maximum charge allowed is $1,000.

Those costs cover the police officers' time, laboratory fees for blood tests, and fire or ambulance charges in case of an accident.

Police Chief Joseph McNamara, who has touted the program on national television and radio shows, said he's gotten "a fantastically positive response."

"The public is cheering this on," he said. "They're fed up with drunken drivers who are killing children and pedestrians."

The program is the result of a 1987 amendment to a state law allowing cities to recover police, fire and ambulance costs from drunken drivers regardless of whether they are convicted.

Small, experimental billing programs were begun last year in nearby Santa Clara, Morgan Hill and Gilroy, as well as the California Highway Patrol. The San Jose program, though, is the first by a large municipality and is expected to add up to $500,000 a year to coffers of this city of 635,000 residents.

San Jose police arrest about 6,000 drunken drivers a year, D'Arcy said.

"We're off to a good start," he said Wednesday. "We've collected $10,000 so far since the first bills went out on January 22nd. That's a 10 percent return on investment and we haven't even reached the end of the 30-day period when the bills would become delinquent."

San Jose has a backlog of 2,000 drunken driving bills worth more than $800,000 from cases dating to 1986 that will be fed into the computer and sent out soon. Unpaid bills will be turned over to a collection agency.

"If someone doesn't pay his bill, it will be carried as a bad debt and that will affect his credit rating," D'Arcy said.

"That doesn't sit well with some attorneys.

"This is the equivalent of an extortion racket," said Randy

Moore, a Santa Clara lawyer who has represented hundreds of accused drunken drivers. "They're preying on the fear of people, telling them if they don't pay up their credit rating will be ruined. They have a right to a hearing before being forced to pay."

Moore, who is advising his clients not to pay the bills, complains the law "smacks of a criminal penalty being imposed on people who haven't been convicted of anything."

So far, he said, no one has challenged the law in court, but he believes it will be tested eventually and found unconstitutional.

McNamara said the billing program does not wait for a conviction because it's a civil process to recoup municipal costs, not a criminal one to levy penalties.

If someone is found innocent of drunken driving, he said, they would not have to pay the costs or could get a refund if they had paid.

Piano Strikes a Sour Note After 36 Years of Harmony

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Here's a shocker for you. Thirty-six years ago, when my husband and I were newlyweds, the mother of a friend gave us her piano. She was about to move in with her daughter who had a baby grand, and since nobody in her family wanted her big old upright, we took it gladly.

I played the piano and my husband was the choir director at our church, and we didn't have a piano, so we were thrilled with this gift.

The woman who gave us this piano has long passed away, but yesterday we had a telephone call from someone who claimed to be her relative. She told my husband that someone in the family wanted that piano. She gave us her phone number and asked us to call her and tell her when they could pick it up.

Abby, that piano was given to us because the owner didn't want it and didn't know what else to do with it. After 36 years she expects us to just hand it over! We don't even know these people. What should we do? Please answer soon before they pull up in front of our house with a van!

ANGRY AND IN DOUBT

DEAR ANGRY: The caller is out of tune. Call her and tell her that the piano was a gift — not a loan — and if she or other family members have a problem accepting that fact, they should check with the original owner's daughter who was your friend at the time.

No one can come to your home and demand that you hand over anything — unless it's an item that was purchased and not paid for. And if the movers show up and demand the piano, play them a chorus of "You Can't Take That Away From Me." And call the police, if necessary.

Inmates are still copying records

AUSTIN (AP) — The practice of using prison inmates to microfilm records of former prisoners has stopped, but prisoners continue to copy other records, including those of juvenile offenders and probationers.

Agency officials say they will review whether any personal or sensitive information is being compromised by the microfilming. The Austin American-Statesman reported today.

The director of the Harris County adult probation office began an inquiry this week into whether its use of the Texas Department of Corrections microfilming center violates a federal court order prohibiting inmates from having access to sensitive information on other inmates.

Lawrence Coleman said he would take the matter to the committee of judges that oversees the office.

The office has a contract with the corrections department to microfilm the files of all offenders discharged from probation, about 20,000 people a year.

Coleman said having prisoners copy the files of revoked probationers who are serving prison terms might violate the court order.

"This is an area we'll definitely look into," Coleman said. "We'll

DEAR ABBY: I saw the enclosed in a Sunday tabloid:

"A man looks at a portrait on the wall and says, 'Brothers and sisters I have none, but this man's father is my father's son.' At whose portrait is he looking? I was told this little gem more than 50 years ago and am still puzzled as to the answer. — Harold W. Longua, Livingston, N.J."

"The answer: The man is looking at a portrait of his son."

Abby, is this answer right? I think it should have been: "He is looking at a portrait of himself."

Who is right?

EDWARD E. SULLIVAN, DAYTONA BEACH, FLA.

DEAR MR. SULLIVAN: The tabloid is. To make the riddle more understandable, substitute names from your own family.

Several hundred inmates at four prison units work on various microfilming and data-entry projects. Prison officials said they have more than 40 contracts with state agencies and city and county governments.

The microfilming industry at the prisons is thought to be one of the largest in the nation.

Ron Jackson, director of the Texas Youth Commission, said he will ask the agency's board to review the practice of having all files on discharged youths copied by inmates.

About 2,000 juveniles are committed to the Youth Commission each year, and about the same number are discharged. But, Jackson said, many end up in adult prisons in a few years. The files contain social histories, psychological information and school records.

"Those inmates are capable of doing anything," Jackson said. "Some of them are pretty smart. I assume inmates are smart enough to isolate a particular name and reuse it."

The criminal records of juveniles are confidential by law, and "in essence, we're losing confidentiality with inmates having access to them," Jackson said.

Brackenridge Hospital has sent the medical records of about 12,000 former patients to the prison system for microfilming in the past six months, said spokeswoman Marsha Walker.

Walker said the files are copied after a patient is "inactive" at the hospital for at least two years. She said the medical records include substance abuse and psychiatric information.

NOTICE TO AT&T CUSTOMERS

The Public Utility Commission of Texas has initiated a proceeding to consider the following: whether any long distance telephone company that does not provide local telephone service has the ability to control prices in Texas; the status of long distance competition; and the effect of competition on the public interest. In this proceeding AT&T will be seeking the right to compete in Texas on an equal basis with other long distance companies.

This matter has been assigned Docket No. 7790 and hearings have been set to begin May 31, 1988. Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the PUC as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas, 78757, or by calling the PUC Public Information Office at (512) 458-0223 or (512) 458-0227 or (512) 458-0221 for teletypewriter for the deaf.

Evacuation due to chemical

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A toxic chemical stored improperly aboard an American Airlines jet heated up the floor and spread fumes through the cabin, injuring at least 12 people, officials said.

The 119 passengers and six crew members on the Dallas-to-Nashville flight evacuated the MD-80 jet by emergency chutes upon landing Wednesday, said American spokeswoman Susan Robbins.

Twelve people were treated at Donelson Hospital for smoke inhalation, and four were admitted, two in serious condition, said Gloria Keel, a hospital spokeswoman.

"The cause of the problem was a toxic chemical that was improperly labeled in the cargo hold. It was labeled as laundry equipment and it turned out it was a chemical that should not have been on the plane," Ms. Robbins said.

She said the substance, stored in a cardboard container weighing 104 pounds, underwent a chemical reaction.

White said he did not know if the fire was caused by the chemical reaction.

More surgery may be needed

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: About 15 years ago I got a rose thorn in my thumb. I don't know if I got it all out. I then picked up some puffball mushrooms. Since then I've had surgery three times to remove a hard cottage-cheese-like growth that develops in the same place. My thumb is half-gone now, but the growth is back. Would La Pacha tea help?

DEAR READER: I doubt that your unusual problem could be helped by La Pacha tea or any other poultice or salve. You appear to have contracted a slow-growing but virulent infection in the soft tissue of your thumb. I suspect that further surgery, to remove the remaining inflammation, is your best option. Ask your doctor to refer you to a hand surgeon for treatment of this chronic and disabling ailment.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Who is the most appropriate person to diagnose Attention Deficit Disorder in a child: pediatrician, psychologist, psychiatrist, allergist or someone else?

DEAR READER: In my opinion, a pediatrician is the place to start. He or she may choose to involve other specialists, such as neurologists, if necessary. A precise answer to your question depends on where you live. In urban areas, where hospitals have special multidisciplinary clinics for Attention Deficit Disorder (formerly known as hyperactivity), help may literally be around the corner. In rural areas, where resources are limited, distant referral may be required. A pediatrician's office seems to me to be an appropriate first step.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I had atrophic vaginitis, and hormone creams did not work. Estraderm patches are really effective and don't cause fluid retention. Perhaps other postmenopausal women could ask their doctors about this new advance.

DEAR READER: Using a new technique, an estrogen-impregnated pad can be attached to the skin, allowing the slow release of the hormone into the body. Although not suitable for all women, dermal estrogen delivery is clearly a boon to many postmenopausal females who are estrogen-deficient. As you suggest, a woman interested in this new product should ask her gynecologist for advice.

To give you more general information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report on MENOPAUSE. Others who would like a copy should send $1 and their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

Also participating were Myste Malone, "Sonata Op. 54, No. 4" by Gurliitt; Laura Hamby, "Miniature Concerto" third movement by Carre; Andrea Helm of Colorado City, "Miniature Concerto" first movement; Chris Fuentez, "Tarantella" by Prokofieff; Judson Morrison, "Prelude" No. 1 by Gershwin.

Lynn Bethel, club sponsor, told the group about the club's beginnings, commenting that the name implies lively and happy. Photos and the first 1965 scrapbook of recitals and programs were shown to those in attendance.

Club members also met for a pops concert recently in the Dillaha home with the program entitled, "Reach for the Stars with Pop." Pop music was traced from its beginnings with single note melody illustrated by Jody Webb on the clarinet.

Pieces played by attending students were "Biloxi Blues," a piano duet by Alicia and Brooke Kubena; "Ghost with the Blues," Regina McNair; "Earth Angel" sung by Jason Warren with a vocal group composed of Lauren Perkins, Laura Hamby, Alicia Kubena, Carrie Keith, Andrea Helm and Kyle Martin.

Michelle Holmes played Floyd Cramer's piano hit, "Last Date," with her father, Mike, on the drums. Julie Zeck played a flute solo, "Memories" accompanied by Lynn Bethel; Myste Malone, "In the Mood"; Alicia and Hamby, "When the Saints Go Marching In" on the sax and trombone and Perkins a piano solo of "Rock with Jazz."

Others performing were Malone, "Didn't We Almost Have It All"; Warren, "Stand By Me";

Martin and Holmes with "Wipe Out" and Fuentez, "The Wind Beneath My Wings."

A blackout in 1977 left New York City virtually paralyzed and resulted in widespread looting.

Congress enacted an ordinance in 1787 governing the Northwest Territory.

loss because of the 1000-point disaster at the first table.

The moral is easy: Don't double for a specific suit lead against three no-trump unless you are sure that getting that lead will set the contract.

James Jacoby's books "Jacoby on Bridge" and "Jacoby on Card Games" (written with his father, the late Oswald Jacoby) are now available at bookstores. Both are published by Pharos Books.

Barber doesn't keep big 'tips'

NEW YORK (AP) — Jimmy Ruotolo remembers his roots — in a big way. The 71-year-old Manhattan native, a barber in the Wall Street area for 50 years, collects donations from his customers for the Boys' Clubs of New York, an organization he first joined more than 60 years ago.

Ruotolo, who counts among his regular patrons former Secretary of State Cyrus Vance, one-time Secretary of Treasury William Simon and singer Perry Como, asks for the contributions while his subjects are in his chair — and vulnerable to his sales pitch.

According to Robert T. Olson, executive director of the Boys' Club of New York, Ruotolo has raised about $75,000 for the organization in just the last year; and more than half a million dollars since the late 1970s.

"Our dues are only 50 cents a year," Olson notes, "so the 6,000 boys from New York's poorest neighborhoods who belong to the Boys' Club certainly are grateful to the 'hair-raising' amount of money Jimmy has brought in for us."

Bad double, big trouble

A useful gimmick in bridge that has gained acceptance through the years is to use the double of three no-trump to ask for a specific opening lead from your partner. In the absence of any defensive bidding, that lead is the first suit bid by dummy. This is certainly a useful method, but I would guess that almost as many points have been lost by the abuse of this understanding as have been gained by its proper use. Today's deal is a case in point.

East felt that South was stretching to bid two spades and the three no-trump. In reality, South was making a stab at slam, but East foolishly doubled for a diamond lead. South was happy to redouble, with the result that the contract was made with an over-trick. In the revised scoring table, that was 1000 to North-South, as well as a healthy serving of egg on the face of doubler East. The saddest part of this unlucky tale is that the deal occurred in team-of-four play. At the other table, North passed in first position. East opened with one diamond, South doubled for takeout, and everyone passed. One diamond doubled was set four tricks for 800 points (revised scoring) but the net result was still a

DENNIS THE MENACE

But without Nelson...

WTC men host Plainsmen

Western Texas College's Westerners entertain Frank Phillips at Scurry County Coliseum tonight in a game that was to showcase the WJCAC's top two scorers. Not so, now.

Darrell probably won't play.

In fact, I don't expect him to at all," said WTC Coach Tony Mauldin this morning.

Darrell Nelson, the Western Junior College Athletic Conference's second leading scorer for the season, had a tooth extracted this week and has yet to recover.

"His jaw had swollen up like a grapefruit," said Mauldin of the 6-4 sophomore from Richmond, Va. "He was in a lot of pain and hasn't worked out in several days."

If Nelson doesn't play, it could take 29.2 points and 8.7 rebounds from the Westerners. Those were Nelson's averages. He also has over 70 steals for the season.

FPC's Carlos Harris, a 6-4 sophomore, comes into the 8 p.m. contest as the WJCAC scoring leader, averaging 29.7 points a game.

In other WJCAC men's games this evening, Midland (17-5 overall, 6-3 conference) plays nationally ranked Odessa (22-2, 9-0), Howard College (10-14, 5-5) is at Hobbs, N.M. to play New Mexico Junior College (20-4, 8-1) and New Mexico Military Institute (9-15, 1-8) is at Clarendon (7-13, 1-8).

In tonight's only women's contest, Howard* (4-20, 2-6) plays NMJC's Lady Thunderbirds (10-13, 2-5) in Hobbs, N.M.

Western Texas' Lady Dusters were to have played FPC tonight here at 6 p.m., but the remaining six games on the women's schedule were cancelled Tuesday. The decision came after one of the six women's players on the team was placed on a 60-day disciplinary probation.

Here tonight, Western brings records of 6-17 overall and 3-5 in conference play to the game. Frank Phillips, under the direction of Coach George Hill, is 9-11 and 1-7.

Coach Mauldin said the Westerners' primary concern won't be shutting down Harris.

"I don't think you are going to stop Harris. He's going to get his points. What we have to do is not give them the second and third shot, not let the other people be factors. He had 35 when we played them last time and we still managed to win (101-86)," noted Mauldin. "With Darrell out, I think the key for us will be how well our other kids respond and come out there and play."

Nelson's point production had taken a slight downward turn from near 32 points earlier this season, but that has occurred in part because of the play of teammates Bobby Spear, Melvin Thompson and Keith Hawkins. Spear is averaging 15.1 points while Thompson is putting in 13.2. Hawkins is averaging 7.3 points.

"Keith and Melvin are doing real well, too, not just scoring, but defensively. I think we're much quicker this semester," said the coach.

Hawkins and Thompson were ineligible during the fall semester. Tonight will be the seventh game for both of them.

Spear, a 6-5 freshman from Albuquerque, averaged 12.3 points through the first semester this season, but has been reeling off a 22.8 points-per-game pace in the last six outings. With Nelson on the bench, Spear is team's leading rebounder with a 7.9 average.

Tigers are idle Friday

Snyder varsity boys and girls basketball teams have Friday night off this week but return to torrid action next Tuesday.

Locally, Snyder's boys take on the third-ranked Lamesa Golden Tornados at 7:30 p.m. in Scurry County Coliseum. The girl's game tips off at 7:30 p.m. in Lamesa.

Both will be preceded by 6 p.m. junior varsity contests.

Tourney dates changed

COAHOMA - An Outsider's Basketball Tournament, originally set for Feb. 12-13 here, has been changed to Feb. 19-20 and 26-27 at Coahoma High School.

Entry fee is $100. First, second and third-place trophies will be awarded as will all-tournament awards and an MVP award. Roster limit will be 10.

Arkansas drubs Texas Tech; Hogs set sights on SWC title

by The Associated Press

Arkansas coach Nolan Richardson says the games are getting tougher, but the Razorbacks can win or share the Southwest Conference basketball title if they continue to win their home games and break even on the road.

Richardson made the comment Wednesday night after the Razorbacks used the scoring of Ron Huery and Mario Credit and a hot streak by Andrew Lang to defeat the Texas Tech Red Raiders, 69-48.

The victory kept Arkansas on top of the conference standings with a 7-1 record and boosted them to 16-3 overall.

In other SWC games Wednesday night, Texas A&M edged Texas Christian, 72-67. Texas took an easy 76-56 win from Baylor and Houston trounced Rice, 84-67.

"Every game is getting tougher," Richardson said. "We have to win them all at home. If we split on the road, we have a chance to win the championship or be co-champions."

Richardson also praised the Lang's play. He finished with 11 points and nine rebounds after getting only three points and one rebound in the first half.

"For a 15-minute period, Lang played better than he has all year," said Razorback Coach Nolan Richardson of Lang's second-half performance. "He was an enforcer. I guess he made up his mind to go to work."

Tech was led by Wes Lowe and Todd Duncan with 11 each.

"Arkansas kept the pressure on and their defense converted some key baskets," said Gerald Myers, Tech coach.

Darryl McDonald led Texas A&M to a 72-67 victory over Texas Christian with 22 points, 10 rebounds and four steals.

Donald Thompson added 16 points and Keron Graves 11 as the Aggies upped their season record to 13-9 and their conference record to 5-3. Rod Jacques had a game-high 25 points and 13 rebounds for the Horned Frogs who dropped to 7-12 overall and 1-7 in the SWC.

Aggies coach Shelby Metcalf said he saw some improvement.

Jose Nassar had 18 points as Texas snapped Baylor's three-game winning streak with a 76-56 victory.

Travis Mays had 17 points, although both he and Nassar had only two points each in the first half.

The win evened Texas' record at 10-10 on the year and 4-4 in the Southwest Conference. The Bears dropped to 13-8 and 4-4.

Senior guard Michael Williams paced Baylor with 25 points.

Richard Hollis scored 27 points and hit five of his team's nine 3-point baskets to lead Houston to an 84-67 victory over Rice.

The Owls tried to overcome Houston's size advantage with their zone defense but Hollis and Horace Chaney, who scored 14 points and had four 3-pointers, spoiled the strategy.

The Cougars, 4-4 in SWC and 9-8 for the season, led 38-33 at halftime and never trailed in the game.

Freshman David Willie led the Owls with 15 points but he was held scoreless in the second half until the closing minute.

Rice dropped to 5-14 for the season and 2-6 in the SWC.

Hollis said he was doing what coach Pat Foster told him to do.

"I was open a lot on the baseline and coach told me to shoot," Hollis said. "We have to be tested to be a better team down the stretch."

Infante new Packer coach

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) - Lindy Infante's formal introduction as coach of the Green Bay Packers was barely an hour old when he announced that he'd taken his last football coaching job.

"If I can't get it done here, then quite frankly it's probably time for me to get into something else," the 47-year-old Infante said.

"This job, to me, is the ultimate," Infante said. "I don't intend to do anything else but this for the rest of my coaching career unless somebody sees fit."

for me not to be here for some other reason."

Infante, regarded as one of the NFL's most innovative offensive coordinators, helped the Cleveland Browns reach the AFC championship game the past two seasons.

And, as he told a packed news conference Wednesday, he plans to keep winning in Green Bay.

Mavericks lose 3rd straight; Celtics continue to dominate

by The Associated Press
Michael Adams staged his own 3-point shooting contest, and the Dallas Mavericks came out the losers.

Adams wasn't invited to Saturday's NBA long-distance shooting contest in Chicago, but the 5-foot-11 Denver point guard hit five of seven 3-point attempts Wednesday night, leading the Nuggets to a 115-105 victory over the Mavericks.

"He's got the confidence and the freedom to shoot it and he doesn't take very many bad ones," Denver Coach Doug Moe said. "He got our pace going and we were able to get a lot of points off the fast break."

Adams, who played 41 minutes and had nine assists to go with his 21 points, said he was able to get open against Dallas because the Mavericks were concentrating on more dangerous Denver players.

"They know I can shoot it, but I think they were concentrating on stopping some of the other guys on our team," Adams said.

Elsewhere, it was Boston 118, Indiana 103; Philadelphia 96, Golden State 84; Cleveland 107, Washington 106, and Utah 123, Sacramento 91.

Alex English had 26 points, Jay Vincent 20 and Lafayette Lever 16 for the Nuggets, who are now three games behind the first-place Mavericks in the NBA Central Division.

Dallas, which has lost three straight, was led by Mark Aguirre with 27 points and Roy Tarpley with 21. James Donaldson had 15 rebounds for the Mavericks.

Dallas Coach John MacLeod said that turnovers decided the game. Dallas, which consistently protects the ball as well as any team in the NBA, had 20 turnovers to 11 for the Nuggets.

The Mavericks did not lead after the first quarter.

Celtics 118, Pacers 103 - Boston beat Indiana for the 23rd consecutive time at Boston Garden and won its 66th straight regular-season game at home against Eastern Conference opponents.

Kevin McHale scored 27 points and Larry Bird and Danny Ainge 21 apiece for the Celtics.

The Pacers, down 66-58 at the half after trailing by as many as 15 points, closed the deficit to 78-74 with less than four minutes to go in the third quarter. Ainge then triggered a 9-0 run with an 18-foot jumper and a 3-pointer, and Boston led by at least seven points the rest of the way.

The Pacers were led by Vern Fleming with 18 points.

Jazz 123, Kings 91

Utah won its third straight game for the first time this season as Rickey Green scored 16 of his 18 points in the first half and Karl Malone finished with 25 points and 10 rebounds against Sacramento, which is 2-16 on the road.

Thurl Bailey added 22 points for the Jazz, while Reggie Theus led the Kings with 21.

Illinois hires Mackovic

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) - Illinois' new football coach, John Mackovic, says he wants his recruiters to be honest, his players to get degrees and his teams to win.

Mackovic, named Wednesday to fill the vacancy created when Mike White resigned after eight seasons, inherits a football program plagued by recruiting violations off the field and recent failures on the field.

"No doubt there have been disappointments and frustrations, and that's why I am here," said Mackovic, who coached the NFL's Kansas City Chiefs for four seasons only to be fired after leading the team to the playoffs in 1986.

He also was head coach at Wake Forest for three years before moving into the pros as an assistant with the Dallas Cowboys.

"I'd like this to be the best athletic program in the United States," Mackovic said. "We want to play, we want to win, but we want our fellows to graduate."

Connally advises Texans to save money

HOUSTON (AP) — A week after his possessions were auctioned off to help pay creditors, former Gov. John Connally is advising fellow Texans to save in a television commercial for a savings plan and loan.

"Nellie and I worked hard all our lives to make sure our future would be financially secure," Connally, 70, says in the 30-second segment for University Savings Association.

"Well, the future is here and things haven't quite worked out like we'd planned. But that's all right, because there's no better place than Texas to start over and to save a little something — because you never know what the future might bring," he says.

Last week, Connally and his wife, Nellie, completed the sale of hundreds of items, many of them collected during his years of public service as governor of Texas from 1963 to 1969, Navy Secretary under President John F. Kennedy and Treasury Secretary under President Richard Nixon.

The four-day auction in Houston brought in nearly $2.7 million, but the money only puts a dent in what Connally owes his creditors. He filed for bankruptcy protection in July and owes from $41 million to $128 million in unsecured debts.

"We wanted 'savings stories' to be told by famous Texans who have faced some kind of adversity and yet are more committed than ever to Texas and to building a bright future here," said Dick Smith, executive vice president and creative director for Taylor, Brown & Barnhill, who is handling the $3 million campaign.

Connally at first declined to do the commercials, but agreed after meeting with advertising executives.

"The whole idea (for the commercial) was for impact, to get a Texan who has faced some kind of adversity," said Dia Blair, account executive for the advertising agency.

"He was a little wary at first (about doing the commercial)," Ms. Blair said Wednesday. "But once he read the script he agreed with what it said and pretty much considered it a public service announcement."

"He wanted people to know to prepare themselves financially for the future because you never know what can happen," she said.

The trio of television commercials, which began airing during Sunday's Super Bowl, also features former Houston Oilers Coach Bum Phillips and Houston restaurateur Ninfa Laurenzo. The TV commercials will appear throughout the year in Houston, Dallas, San Antonio and Austin, along with magazine and full-page newspaper advertisements.

The amount paid Connally and the others was not disclosed, Ms. Blair said.

The Connally commercials have brought varied responses to the thrift, said Doug Valdetero, executive vice president and chief savings officer for University Savings, the state's fourth-largest thrift with 90 branches.

"Some have been negative but most are positive," he said. "I got a call this morning from someone who wants a copy of our print ad suitable for framing."

"The message we wanted to get across is two-fold," Valdetero said. "One is the importance of saving your money and getting back to basics and putting a little aside for a rainy day or the future."

"Second is there's been a lot of misfortunes in Texas with the oil and financial industry, but we've got a can-do attitude that we can start over."

Remembered best for being wounded by the gunfire that killed Kennedy in 1963, Connally and his partner, former Texas Lt.

Gov. Ben Barnes, started their real estate and development ventures at the peak of the oil boom.

When the boom went bust, it took Connally, Barnes and others in tow. Barnes also has filed for bankruptcy protection.

Under bankruptcy laws, Connally is selling all properties except his house and 200 of the 3,400 acres at Picoosa Ranch, his homestead in Floresville south of San Antonio. The law allows him to keep $30,000 in personal possessions.

During the auction, Connally said he wasn't sure of his plans, except that "I'll never run for public office again."

He said he's received several offers from law firms and is strongly considering writing an autobiography.

He was in Houston on Wednesday, but was in meetings all day and could not be reached for comment, his secretary said.

Former minister, Dallas woman lease San Francisco apartment

DALLAS (AP) — Former Methodist minister Walker Railey and a woman who reportedly told a grand jury that she and Railey had discussed marriage before his wife was left comatose following a brutal attack have leased an apartment in San Francisco, the Dallas Times Herald reported today.

In a copyright story, the newspaper reported that Railey and Dallas psychologist Lucy Papillon signed a one-year lease on an apartment not far from San Francisco Bay.

Papillon reportedly told a grand jury investigating the attack on Margaret "Peggy" Railey that she and the former minister of the First United Methodist Church of Dallas had spent time together on trips outside Dallas without Railey's wife knowing about it. She also reportedly said the two had discussed marriage before the attack that left Railey's wife comatose.

The psychologist, 45, is the daughter of a Methodist bishop who preceded Railey as senior pastor of the large church in downtown Dallas.

The newspaper reported that Railey has been seen moving some possessions into the apartment earlier this week. The apartment is in an area where rents range from $1,400 to $2,500 per month, the newspaper reported.

Railey and Papillon reportedly visited Weir's Furniture Village in Dallas and ordered some furniture that was to be delivered to a California address to be supplied later, the newspaper reported.

The former minister, who quit his post at Dallas' largest Methodist church and eventually surrendered his credentials as a minister, has been identified by his lawyer as the only person Dallas Police suspect in the attack. He appeared before the same grand jury as Papillon, but reportedly refused to testify, citing his Fifth Amendment protection against self-incrimination.

Assistant Dallas County District Attorney Norman Kinne, who joined Dallas Police in criticizing Railey for his failure to cooperate with investigators, told the newspaper he was aware that Railey and Papillon had leased the apartment in San Francisco.

Former minister, Dallas woman lease San Francisco apartment

DALLAS (AP) — Former Methodist minister Walker Railey and a woman who reportedly told a grand jury that she and Railey had discussed marriage before his wife was left comatose following a brutal attack have leased an apartment in San Francisco, the Dallas Times Herald reported today.

In a copyright story, the newspaper reported that Railey and Dallas psychologist Lucy Papillon signed a one-year lease on an apartment not far from San Francisco Bay.

Papillon reportedly told a grand jury investigating the attack on Margaret "Peggy" Railey that she and the former minister of the First United Methodist Church of Dallas had spent time together on trips outside Dallas without Railey's wife knowing about it. She also reportedly said the two had discussed marriage before the attack that left Railey's wife comatose.

The psychologist, 45, is the daughter of a Methodist bishop who preceded Railey as senior pastor of the large church in downtown Dallas.

The newspaper reported that Railey has been seen moving some possessions into the apartment earlier this week. The apartment is in an area where rents range from $1,400 to $2,500 per month, the newspaper reported.

Railey and Papillon reportedly visited Weir's Furniture Village in Dallas and ordered some furniture that was to be delivered to a California address to be supplied later, the newspaper reported.

The former minister, who quit his post at Dallas' largest Methodist church and eventually surrendered his credentials as a minister, has been identified by his lawyer as the only person Dallas Police suspect in the attack. He appeared before the same grand jury as Papillon, but reportedly refused to testify, citing his Fifth Amendment protection against self-incrimination.

Assistant Dallas County District Attorney Norman Kinne, who joined Dallas Police in criticizing Railey for his failure to cooperate with investigators, told the newspaper he was aware that Railey and Papillon had leased the apartment in San Francisco.

Decision seen as blow to surrogacy

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Operators of surrogacy centers say the state Supreme Court's landmark ruling in the Baby M case won't put them out of business, but opponents hailed it as a major blow to the practice of paying women to bear children.

Politicians, legal scholars and an attorney in the case said Wednesday's decision, which equated surrogacy for profit with illegal baby-selling, shows that state statutes don't apply to the practice.

"It puts the burden back to the legislatures" to regulate it, said Lori Andrews, a researcher with the American Bar Association. "In the meantime, it continues to leave hundreds of people participating in these arrangements in a legal vacuum."

"If I were running a surrogate-mother agency, I'd find something else to do in a hurry," said Angela R. Holder, a pro-

Obituaries

Rosa B. Walker

Services for Rosa B. Walker, 52, of 1109 30th Street will be at 2 p.m. Saturday at Bell-Cypert-Seale Chapel with the Rev. E. D. Toynes officiating, assisted by the Rev. Otis Archie. Burial will follow at Hillside Memorial Gardens.

She died Monday at her daughter's home in Grand Prairie after an illness. She was born on May 15, 1935 in Jacksonville, Tex. She was a member of Mount Olive Baptist Church and had worked at Western Texas College as a custodian since the day it opened.

She was married to Wilbert Lee Walker in 1952 in Jacksonville. He died on June 4, 1987.

She is survived by a daughter, Nancy Gray of Grand Prairie; two sons, Melvin Ray of Pensacola, Fla., and Wilbert Lee, Jr. of Indianapolis, Ind.; six grandchildren; three sisters, Inez McEwing of Jacksonville, Myrene Cleveland of Corsicana and Sara Frances Harvest of Long Beach, Calif.; and one brother, Grady McEwing of Jacksonville.

fessor of pediatrics law at the Yale University Medical School.

Steven C. Litz, director of Surrogate Mothers Inc. in Indiana, said, "I've always told and still tell my clients that the contracts are probably unenforceable, and the New Jersey Supreme Court's decision confirms that."

"But whether the contracts are enforceable or not just isn't that important because first of all, in 99 percent of the cases everything works fine," he said.

However, Ms. Holder said that if other state courts follow the lead of the New Jersey court, the first state supreme court to rule on a broken surrogacy contract, lawyers who arrange such contracts would be unable to obtain malpractice insurance.

The court's 7-0 decision overruled all but the custody decision of a lower court judge in invalidating the $10,000 contract between Mary Beth Whitehead-Gould and William Stern and his wife, Elizabeth.

"This is the sale of a child, or, at the very least, the sale of a mother's right to her child, the only mitigating factor being that one of the purchasers is the father," Chief Justice Robert N. Wilentz wrote in the decision.

The court said the contract "creates, it is based upon, principles that are directly contrary to the objectives of our laws."

"It guarantees the separation of a child from its mother; it looks to adoption regardless of suitability; it totally ignores the child; it takes the child from the mother regardless of her wishes and her maternal fitness; and it does all of this, it accomplishes all of its goals, through the use of money," said the court.

"The judges did not, however, rule out voluntary surrogacy."

Because the Baby M surrogacy contract is invalid, the court said, the case boiled down to a custody dispute.

The judge upheld Superior Court Judge Harvey R. Sorkow in awarding custody of the girl known in court papers as Baby M to Stern, noting the "doubtful" stability of the Whitehead home during last year's trial.

But they said Mrs. Whitehead-Gould is entitled to see her daughter, and directed a lower-court judge to set guidelines within three months. They also voided the adoption of the baby by Mrs. Stern.

The Sterns' attorney, Gary N. Skoloff, said the couple was surprised by the decision. He also said the ruling tells the New Jersey Legislature, "Now it's your job."

Jeremy Rifkin, a spokesman for The National Coalition Against Surrogacy, said the court has "acknowledged that women's bodies and wombs cannot be commercially rented or leased for nine months."

But Noel Keane, a Dearborn, Mich., attorney who operates the Infertility Center of New York, which arranged the surrogate contract in the case, said, "Unless surrogacy is banned nationwide, there may always be an avenue to do surrogate parenting."

Neither side in the Baby M case plans to appeal the 95-page decision, although a court battle is expected over the extent of visitation.

Mrs. Whitehead-Gould, appearing at a news conference, said tearfully, "I'm glad that the months of uncertainty are over."

Singer blames society for lack of knowledge

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Linda Ronstadt, who begins her first Spanish-language concert tour Friday, wishes she could speak Spanish instead of just singing it.

Ms. Ronstadt, who has recorded a variety of English songs the past 20 years, begins her 16-city concert tour Friday, showcasing her new album "Canciones de mi Padre" or "Songs of My Father."

The 42-year-old Ms. Ronstadt, who grew up in Tucson, Ariz., had to memorize the songs because she cannot speak Spanish, something she blamed on society.

"Spanish was spoken in our home. My grandfather was bilingual and so was my father and my brothers are too. I was too slow," she said. "I was, unfortunately, a victim of the times right after World War II when they really discouraged speaking Spanish in the schools."

Picket lines go up as 1,200 employees strike Mobil Plant

BEAUMONT, Texas (AP) — Picket lines went up at the Mobile Oil Corp. refinery in this Southeast Texas city early today after the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers union and Mobil failed to reach agreement on a new contract.

"The picket lines are up," said OCAW member Mike Liedy. "They went up at 12:01 a.m." There are 1,200 union members at the Beaumont plant, Liedy said.

Liedy said union workers who were in the plant stayed on the job until they could turn their jobs over to company representatives and then left. The next shift was due to report for work at 6 a.m., he said.

The central issue of the negotiations appeared to be failure to reach an agreement on the staffing of Mobil's new centralized control center.

Union workers at Cherry Point,

Wash., and Torrance, Calif. were also on strike against Mobil. All three plants were deadlocked in negotiations.

Mobil's employees struck because the union was unwilling to let Mobil staff its new centralized control room with supervisory personnel. The OCAW maintained that hourly workers should operate the controls as they have for 40 years, while Mobil believes the new control room requires management personnel.

In a dispute that began in 1987, neither side was doing much budgeting until Mobil made a proposal Wednesday morning. B.H. Blackmon, Mobil refinery's general manager, said the company would not demote, reduce the pay of or layoff any of its employees as a result of the new control center.

Bob Wages, vice president of OCAW International in Denver, said Blackmon "outrageously misrepresented the facts of the matter to the public." Wages said that Mobil, in its proposal, only addressed process employees, ignoring Mobil's 600 maintenance employees.

And Mobil did not make any promises about layoffs in its proposal.

An hour before the union decided to strike at Mobil's Beaumont refinery, union officials met with Mobil to prepare for an orderly shutdown of the plant.

Union officials say they were not pleased with offers at any of the Mobil plants.

Mobil's refinery in Torrance, Calif., a 90,000-barrel-a-day plant, also wants to use supervisors to staff its control room.

Unresolved local issues are dominating contract negotiations at Mobil's Ferndale, Wash., a 45,000-barrel-a-day refinery.

The refinery here can process 270,000 barrels of crude oil each day.

Texas leaders join in show of support for atom smasher

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas leaders, who have joined in a show of solidarity for the "super collider," say getting the project funded is going to be difficult but the state's delegation is powerful enough to do it.

"We're going to be in a real budget crunch trying to finance this thing, and of all the states that are in the competition, this delegation is without a question the largest and most powerful," Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, said Wednesday.

"And (the Energy Department is) going to know that in this budget crunch it's going to be tough to fund this. But they're going to have the total commitment and dedication of the most powerful delegation in Congress."

Texas is one of seven states bidding to be host to the collider, a 53-mile-around tunnel in which counter-rotating beams of protons will be smashed into each other to probe the secrets of matter. The other states are North Carolina, Michigan, Illinois, Arizona, Colorado and Tennessee.

Texas leaders met on Capitol Hill Wednesday, declaring their unceasing bipartisan support for the $4.4 billion atom smasher.

Sen. Phil Gramm, R-Texas, said that by showing solidarity the delegation and state officials are telling the Energy Department that Texas has the strength to win the tough funding battles ahead.

"The question the Department of Energy has to answer is which congressional delegation do you want to do the heavy lifting in making this site a reality," Gramm said.

"I believe that when you get down to the bottom line, that Texans in the past have proven they have the ability to do the heavy lifting when the objective was an important one for Texas and America," he said.

Gov. Bill Clements said the support shown by the state's leaders is the second most important part of the Texas presentation, behind geographic location.

Joining Clements in standing with the congressional delegation were Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, the mayors of Dallas and Fort Worth and several state and industry leaders from Texas.

Earlier, at a meeting of potential contractors for the $4.4 billion super collider, Gramm joined Rep. Joe Barton, R-Ennis, in warning that no matter how worthy the project, the congressional budget process forces it to compete against other scientific investments.

"Politically we think the project is in good shape," Barton said. "While the president did not mention it in his State of the Union message, in the resource materials that were put out in addition to the State of the Union address did mention the project, in fact highlighted the project."

"Our concern is that because of budgetary considerations the Congress may decide not to look at any new projects this year. Those of you in the business community and the lobbying community who have contacts with legislators can help," Barton said.

No decisions have been made on which companies will get the contracts, but that is expected to happen shortly, according to Barton, who said he has been talking to potential contract winners about how Texas could help them with funds from two super collider bond issues worth $1 billion.

Your Birthday

Feb. 5, 1988

You will be much bolder and more ambitious in the year ahead in enterprises that could increase your revenue. Substantial gains are possible, provided you don't take foolish risks.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Someone who doesn't always operate in the open might try to put some obstacles in your path today. This person's tactics will be similar to one he/she has tried before. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Matchmaker set instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Think for yourself today, especially where critical career decisions are required. What is good for an associate might be to your advantage.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Instead of taking something you want serviced back to people you've had problems with previously, try to find someone more reliable.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) When socializing with friends today, don't resurrect old issues that led to disagreements in the past, especially the ones that were never completely resolved.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) A failure to tolerate your mate's point of view regarding a vital family matter about which he/she feels strongly will invite friction in your household today.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Unless you have something kind to say about a co-worker today, it's best to keep your thoughts to yourself. He/she may not be too fond of you either.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) This is one of those days where you might not be as careful with your possessions as you should be, and some type of loss is possible.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Your attitude and example will have a definite effect upon your family today. If you're cranky and short-tempered, expect the same from them.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Someone with whom you'll be dealing today may arouse your ire. If this happens, keep it to yourself and smolder in silence rather than letting him/her know.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Don't let a disagreement with a close friend over something material jeopardize the relationship today. Take the short end of the deal if necessary.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Your image will suffer today if you are too self-serving in your arrangements with others. Look out for your interests, but don't do so to anyone else's detriment.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Unless you have constructive counsel, keep your comments to yourself today regarding something that does not involve you directly, but does affect a sensitive pal.

Man rescued

DENISON, Texas (AP) — A man jumped about 50 feet into the icy Red River to escape from an oncoming car and then clung to a railroad bridge for two hours before he was rescued.

—Nalton Sensat's clothes almost froze Wednesday in the 24-degree weather as the 20-year-old waited for rescuers.

Death row inmate waits for new trial

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Death row inmate Clarence Brandley says he prays that each new day will bring news of a favorable ruling from a state appeals court that could result in his release.

Four months after a judge recommended he should get a new trial, Brandley remains behind bars on a capital murder conviction.

"It's kind of hard to accept but you have to realize it takes time for the legal process to move along," the 37-year-old inmate said Wednesday in his first interview since the judge issued his recommendation.

Brandley, who is black, was convicted of capital murder in the death of a white girl who was attacked Aug. 23, 1980, at Conroe High School where he worked as a janitor. Last Oct. 9, a judge recommended to a state appeals court that he be granted a new trial.

In the 47-page recommendation to the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals, State District Judge Perry Pickett said Brandley's conviction and death sentence were marred by racial prejudice, perjured testimony, intimidated witnesses and a biased investigation. Pickett had presided over a nine-day evidentiary hearing in Galveston.

"I still have a lot of faith in the system, and more so now," Brandley said Wednesday. "Before that, my faith was really down."

"The only thing I can say is I feel real good since the judge made the recommendation. But I don't think anyone would appreciate being locked up when it's something that is clear ... I didn't commit any crime. Eight years is really what I've lost from my life."

Pickett's written report was delivered to the appeals court in November. Court spokesman Thomas Lowe said Wednesday the case was pending. The court does not routinely announce when a case will be decided.

"I'm hoping it doesn't go too long," Brandley said. "If it does, I just have to accept it. It is frustrating but I have no control over it."

"I wake up each morning, hoping and praying this will be the day I hear from the court."

Brandley's attorney, Mike DeGeurin, said he has no idea when a ruling will be issued.

"I don't push it," he said. "I'm sure the court is being as careful as it can. It's a large case."

Both he and Brandley denied the death row interview was an attempt to pressure the court.

"I just felt it was time to come down," Brandley said.

DeGeurin said if Brandley is approved for a new trial, he will ask that his client be freed on bond.

Brandley's first trial ended with a hung jury favoring conviction 11-1. At a second trial in 1981, he was convicted by an all-white jury and sentenced to death for the slaying of Cheryl Fergeson. He has since had two execution dates.

His attorneys insisted he was convicted because he is black and that white janitors present at the time of the slaying were immediately ruled out as suspects.

Montgomery County District Attorney Peter Speers has said retrying Brandley would be difficult. Much of the physical evidence in the circumstantial case has been lost.

Asked who killed the girl, Brandley replied: "I have no idea. I know I didn't commit the crime.

"When I look back, I wish I didn't go to work that day."

He also said he's prepared for the chance that the court would not concur with Pickett's recommendation and refuse to grant him a new trial.

"There's always that possibility but I still have faith in the system," he said. "It would be a disappointment, but I've had disappointments before."

"My main concern is to pick up my life and try to live as normal as anyone else. I've learned to accept. I think bitterness is one thing that blinds."
