$6.8 million...

State bonds okayed for local prison

The sale of bonds to finance the construction of the 1,000-bed Scurry County prison unit were approved Wednesday in Austin by the Texas Public Finance Authority.

The approval was part of a total package of $155.5 million in general obligation bonds to be used for the planning and construction of new prison units and court-mandated renovations at existing facilities.

Some $6.8 million of the bond amount will be used to construct the prison here, to be located some five miles northeast of Snyder.

Also, another $6.6 million will be used toward the second West Texas prison site, a 2,250-man unit to be built near Amarillo. The $6.6 million will finance the design and site preparation for that prison.

The funds to actually construct the Amarillo unit are scheduled to be part of a second bond sale of some $83 million scheduled in June.

The plans for the Scurry County unit are expected to be submitted by prison officials within two to three weeks.

The bid for the bonds was awarded to CitiCorp and Associates, offering the state an effective interest rate of 7.0956 percent for a 20-year period.

One member of the Texas Public Finance Authority voted against the bond sale, noting he is concerned because plans for some of the prisons have not been reviewed by attorneys representing prisoners in a federal lawsuit against the state. Casting the dissenting vote was Gerald Goff.

In addition, the state board acknowledged that the State of Texas had been penalized by the bond market's uncertainty over the Texas economy.

Approximately one week ago, the State of Massachusetts received 6.67 percent effective interest rates on state bonds it had sold.

With the financing secured, a bid package specifying site work for the local prison is expected to be issued by TDC on March 15. Following that, a pre-bid opening meeting for potential contractors is to be held at Snyder city hall either March 22 or 29.

The bid opening for the site preparation is scheduled here

April 5 and actual work at the site is expected to begin in mid-April.

Once the site preparation begins, bid packages will go out on the main construction phase with actual construction tentatively scheduled to begin in late May.

The facility to be built here will employ a staff of some 250 workers.

This will equal a payroll of $560,000 per month or $6.7 million per year.

The site comprises some 579 acres.

Rainfall less than half-inch

The Snyder area received 0.47 of an inch of rainfall early Thursday morning, the first rain of any significant amount received here since early fall.

The area forecast includes the possibility of additional moisture into Friday, although rain chances are listed at less than 20 percent.

Thursday night is expected to be cloudy with isolated light rain or rain and snow mixed possible. No significant accumulations are expected, however.

The overnight low here Thursday is expected to be in the low to mid-30s.

Across the state Thursday morning, foul weather was reported from West Texas into Southeast Texas. It was forecast to begin clearing up from the west Thursday night.

Light snow fell across portions of the South Plains and Permian Basin and the eastern two-thirds of the state had low clouds, fog, drizzle, rain and scattered thunderstorms Thursday.

A slow-moving front located from near Texarkana southwestward to San Antonio and Laredo was blamed for the bad weather.

The Texas Panhandle had clear skies and the rest of the state had mostly cloudy skies Thursday. Skies were to begin clearing Thursday night.

Forecasts called for mostly cloudy skies statewide through Thursday night. There is a chance of showers and thunderstorms across North Texas and South Texas through Thursday night.

Campus spellers prepare for bees

Campus spellings bees at Scurry County's three school districts have begun with the majority of individual competitions to be staged next week.

The campus bees will establish competitors for the 13th annual Scurry County Spelling Bee, slated March 4, a Friday, at the Western Texas College Fine Arts Theatre. It will begin at 9 a.m.

The only campus to complete its bee as of Thursday was the Snyder Junior High. The competition was held Wednesday and the winners were Rachael Morgan and Kim Mitchell, both seventh graders.

The schedule for other bees includes:

—Central Elementary, to be held Tuesday at 8:30 a.m.

—East Elementary, to be held Tuesday at 8:45 a.m.

—North Elementary, to be held next Thursday at 8:30 a.m.

—Northeast Elementary, to be held Tuesday at 8:30 a.m.

—Stanfield Elementary, to be held Tuesday at 8:30 a.m.

—West Elementary, to be held Monday at 9 a.m.

—At Ira, grades 4-6 will have their meet Tuesday at 8:30 a.m., and the 7th and 8th grade will compete Wednesday at 8:30 a.m.

—At Hermleigh, the combined elementary and junior high event will be next Thursday at 2:30 p.m.

Last November, some 750 copies of the spelling manual "World of the Champions" were given out to Scurry County youngsters in grades 4-8.

The winner of the county bee will advance to the regional event sponsored by the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal. It will be at Monterey High School March 26, a Saturday, beginning at 1 p.m.

The winner at regional will go to the national finals at Washington D.C. in May.

At the Scurry County Spelling Bee, judges will be Dr. Ed Barkowsky, Donna Fowler, Bettie McQueen and Margaret Presswood.

Snyder S&L names Cotton as director

David Cotton, a Snyder native and partner in the Cotton and Cotton law firm, Wednesday was named to the board of directors of Snyder Savings and Loan.

The action came during the association's annual stockholders meeting. J. B. Tate Jr., Snyder Savings and Loan president, reported on the firm's financial condition and described it as "very positive."

M. L. Duke was re-elected chairman of the board and Tate was re-named president. Directors re-elected were Duke, Tate, John Boren, Mel Gilbert, Fla (Skipper) Joyce and Gene Best.

Other officers re-elected include Gene Best, vice president; Mable Glass, secretary-treasurer; Doris Rollins, head teller; and Patsy Thrift, Mary Green, Darla Floyd and Jeffrey

By Roy McQueen

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Life can only be understood backward, but is still meant to be lived forward."

On Wednesday, we began with excerpts from a new book entitled "Dictionary of Texas Misinformation." It takes a light-hearted approach to many things that most Texans hold near and dear.

A cattle guard doesn't guard cattle—it guards against them. Cattle are naturally chicken, so to speak, and because cattle guards brandish the double threat of tripping and falling, cattle shy away from them. The book says cattle guards provide an ingenious way to keep herds separate as well as to protect crops without the hassle of opening and closing gates.

Once cattle have become accustomed to the presence of a cattle guard, a fake one will contain them as well. In Canada, cattle guards are called Texas guards.

Despite the stereotyped image, surprisingly little of Texas is a true desert. Plains and prairies do not count, and the only legitimate area is the Chihuahuan Desert within the Trans-Pecos—a region of about 18 million acres.

The Texas desert is actually less than 10 percent of the state's total land area. On the other hand, 15 percent is woodland, a far less popular image.

Despite popular opinion, it can rain during a drought which is defined as a total absence of rain or any prolonged dry spell with too little moisture to sustain crops or livestock.

Drought conditions are not confined to West Texas as the Coastal areas have experienced prolonged dry conditions. Non-residents hold the popular image of Texas as a parched, sun-bleached wasteland.

Nevertheless, Texas is more humid than dry. The humidity of the three biggest cities ranges from 65 to 77 percent. Houston gets 45 inches of rain a year—more than Boston, Chicago, Washington, D.C., or even Key West, Fla.

Said the author, "Obviously anyone who thinks Texas weather is all dry is all wet."

Absentee rules change, all encouraged to vote

Wednesday was the first day to vote absentee for the upcoming March 8 "Super Tuesday" primary ballot here and across Texas, and county officials note rules related to absentee balloting have changed to increase the use of this voting alternative.

The county's registered voters may now use the option of voting absentee regardless if they plan to be here March 8.

Previously, absentee voting was offered to those who expected to be out-of-town on election day. This rule has now been relaxed, and all voters are encouraged to vote absentee between now and March 4.

"The thinking is that if more vote absentee, it will cutback on the congestion of election night (vote) counting," said County Clerk Jenna Vee Miller.

Computer card ballot boxes for both the Democratic and Republican Party primaries are now setup in the hallway area outside her office on the third floor of the courthouse.

Individuals unable to go to the courthouse may request a mail-out absentee ballot. Miller noted

March 1 is the last day these may be mailed.

Voters in both primaries face a number of choices, including "special issue" questions included on both ballots. The following is a complete listing of candidates and special issues on both ballots. Candidates are listed in the order they will appear on the ballot.

In Brief

Babbitt quits

by The Associated Press
Democrat Bruce Babbitt dropped out of the presidential race today, declaring "I am free" but also calling himself "honored beyond measure" to have had the chance to run. Most of the surviving contenders marched south for a campaign blitz leading up to Super Tuesday primaries, but Republican Pete du Pont apparently also was about to withdraw.

Babbitt, the former Arizona governor, said he would not endorse another candidate for now.

Arrests likely?

KILGORE, Texas (AP) — Gregg County Sheriff Bobby Weaver has predicted there may be some arrests within the next few weeks in the execution-style slayings of five people who were abducted in 1983 from a Kilgore restaurant.

The victims were abducted from the Kentucky Fried Chicken restaurant in this East Texas town Sept. 23, 1983, and taken to a rural area of adjoining Rusk County where they were shot to death.

The victims each had been shot in the head as they lay face down beside a dirt road about 18 miles south of Kilgore. The victims' arms were folded and the hands of some were clasped across their eyes, police said.

Phony juice

NEW YORK (AP) — Two former executives of the Beech-Nut Nutritional Corp. face substantial prison terms and fines after being convicted of selling flavored sugar water labeled as apple juice for babies.

Former Beech-Nut president Neils L. Hoyvald and a former vice president, John F. Lavery, were charged with hundreds of violations of federal food and drug laws along with conspiracy and mail fraud.

Lavery was convicted Wednesday of all 448 counts in the indictment, said federal prosecutor Thomas Roche.

Hoyvald was found guilty on 351 counts of violating federal food and drug laws; the jury, however, could not reach a verdict on about 80 other counts against him.

Weather

Snyder Temperatures: High Wednesday, 48 degrees; low, 35 degrees; reading at 7 a.m. Thursday, 35 degrees; 40 of an inch precipitation; total precipitation for 1988 to date, 75 of an inch.

Snyder Area Forecast: Tonight, cloudy, isolated light rain or rain and snow mixed with no significant accumulation. Low mid 30s. Wind north 5 to 10 mph. Precipitation chance less than 20 percent Friday, cloudy, a 20 percent chance of showers and high mid 40s. Wind north 5 to 15 mph.

75 recall opponents possible

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A Socialist and a saxophonist are among the dozens of Arizonans — 77 at last count — lining up for the chance to run against Gov. Evan Mecham in a May 17 recall election.

Only two, Democrat Carolyn Warner and former U.S. House minority leader John Rhodes, a Republican, are given any real chance by political observers of unseating the impeached GOP governor.

But some of the lesser-knowns still insist their candidacies are worthwhile.

Dave Colosimo of Phoenix, a former teacher and a saxophone player in local bands, said he is working full-time on the race.

"If I didn't think I could win I wouldn't run," Colosimo said. "If I can run a household with five children and a wife, then I think I'd be pretty able to balance the books when I got into the office."

However, Colosimo acknowledged his candidacy so far is a "one-man show." He has never sought public office before but said, "I was president of my senior class — that's a joke."

Meanwhile, the state Senate on Wednesday granted Mecham a one-week delay of his impeachment trial originally set to begin Monday, but defeated two motions for further delay offered by the embattled governor's attorney, Murray Miller.

The Senate rejected Miller's request that the trial be put off until criminal charges accusing Mecham of concealing a $350,000 campaign loan are tried. The lawyer had contended that an impeachment trial would prejudice the criminal trial jury.

Arizona Chief Justice Frank Gordon, who will preside at the impeachment trial, told the Senate a one-week delay would ultimately save time by allowing some issues to be settled beforehand.

If Mecham is convicted in his impeachment trial, lawmakers could vote to bar him from holding any future political office.

Talks on police prompted

DALLAS (AP) — The fatal shooting of a Dallas Police officer last month by a mentally ill, homeless man has prompted law enforcement, mental health and city officials to look for ways to improve treatment and avert violence by the mentally ill.

Police Chief Billy Prince met Wednesday with mental health advocates, saying the Jan. 23 shooting of officer John Chase persuaded him to speak out on the need for better treatment.

Carl D. Williams, who died in an exchange of gunfire after he shot and killed Chase in downtown Dallas, had been diagnosed 10 years earlier as a paranoid schizophrenic.

"We need to help get these people off the street," Prince said. "If the mental health care had been better he wouldn't have been out there."

Mental health officials told the Dallas City Council Wednesday that mobile teams of psychiatric nurses and trained caseworkers should be placed at Parkland Memorial Hospital to help defuse potentially violent situations.

County health officials submitted a report during the meeting which concludes that "many emergency crises could be effectively interrupted if professionals were available seven days a week, 24 hours a day to be dispatched to the scene."

Council members said they favor such a plan, but said costs and coordination would have to be examined before a decision is made.

"This thing should have been pursued much earlier, before the Chase shooting," said Deputy Mayor Pro Tem Diane Ragsdale.

Mental health experts estimate that only a small fraction of the mentally ill who suffer from certain kinds of brain diseases may become dangerous. But Prince said officers regularly deal with "more than a few time bombs" who need treatment.

Dear Abby

Girl's Sleepy Boyfriend Must Wake Up and See His Problem

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1988 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I wonder if you can help me. I've been seeing a man for almost two years. The problem is he keeps falling asleep on me. No matter what position he's in, sitting or lying, he will doze off. I've talked to him about it and asked if maybe I was boring company, but he says it's not me — it's just him. He says he loves me and he's very comfortable around me, so I shouldn't feel hurt.

He does a lot of driving on his job — sometimes from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m., which can be tiring, but you can't imagine how I feel when I'm talking to him and he doesn't answer me because he's out like a light. (This even happens when we're making love, which hurts my feelings.)

Have you any suggestions on how to handle this?

SLEEPY'S GIRLFRIEND

DEAR GIRLFRIEND: Tell your friend to see a physician — and the sooner the better. Frequent drowsiness, then dozing off are the classic symptoms of narcolepsy — an uncontrollable tendency to fall asleep. If he should fall asleep while driving, he could hurt (or kill) himself and others. His doctor can prescribe medication to control this condition.

DEAR ABBY: I am an 18-year-old girl with a major and difficult problem. My grandfather and I have been really close ever since I can remember. He was always my favorite grandparent. Well, I think he took our closeness too much to heart, because he has made some sexual moves on me recently. Luckily I am old enough to know that's just not right. I backed off and acted like nothing happened. Even though it wasn't a total act of molestation, a grandfather just doesn't touch his 18-year-old granddaughter the way he touched me.

Inmates take over 12 dormitories

NEW YORK (AP) — The takeover of 12 dormitories by an estimated 550 inmates at a maximum-security jail, which injured eight people and did widespread damage, ended today after negotiations and the use of tear gas, authorities said. The riot was apparently caused by anger over conditions at the Rikers Island jail, said city corrections department spokeswoman Ruby Ryles. A man identifying himself as an inmate said prisoners were beaten Wednesday.

The inmates took over the dormitories around midnight, using beds and other furniture to barricade themselves inside the Anna M. Cross Center, the city's maximum-security jail, she said.

There is a big concern I have now about my two younger cousins. They aren't old enough to know what's going on if he tries something like that with them. I told my parents about it, and they are confused about what to do. Grandpa is a well-respected man in our family and the community, too. If this was brought out into the open, it would be terrible. What should be done?

CONFUSED IN CALIFORNIA

DEAR CONFUSED: Your parents and you should talk to Grandpa immediately. It's important for you to be present so that the truth cannot be easily denied. This should not be an angry confrontation. Grandpa could be sick and in need of treatment. He should first be psychiatrically examined. Treatment and counseling may be in order.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter was born Dec. 25, 1986. I need to know if last December (1987) can be considered her first or second Christmas?

My mother says it is her second Christmas. I say it's her first birthday, so it has to be her first Christmas, too. What do you say?

HEATHER'S MOMMY
P.S. She arrived before noon, if that makes any difference.

DEAR MOMMY: If your daughter was born on Christmas Day 1986, she celebrated her first birthday and her second Christmas on Christmas Day 1987.

Problems? Write to Abby. For a personal, unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, P.O. Box 69440, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. All correspondence is confidential.

tion to this rule, as are sacrifice bids, which are made to prevent the opponents from playing a contract likely to make. Furthermore, most competent partnerships have the understanding that when they are battling the opponents for a part-score, bidding one more of the agreed trump suit is not a serious game invitation. Instead, it is simply trying to either buy the contract or get those nasty opponents higher.

Today West's bidding follows this strategy. After opener East starts West's hearts over North's two-diamond overall, South bid two spades. West had little defense against two spades, and certainly no interest in bidding game. However, he still bid three hearts. If he had more strength and wished to invite a game, he would do so by manufacturing a forcing bid, which would give East the option of bidding a game with a little extra. West's three-heart bid had a good effect. When North now bid three spades, that sounded like simple competition, so South did not seriously consider bidding more. Since the cards sit well for North-South (diamonds are 2-2), 10 tricks are easy in spades. The game might be bid if West passes over two spades, since now a free raise to three spades from North would invite game, and South would probably accept.

Competitive bidding

Common sense dictates that the more you bid, the more you need to have. Pre-emptive bids are an excep-

Liver transplants on the increase

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP) — Liver transplantation has proliferated during the past four years from an experimental procedure performed at only a few centers in the world to an expected 1,000 in the United States in 1987, says Internal Medicine News.

The medical journal, noting the first liver transplant in humans was performed in 1963, reports that before 1981 not more than 25 were performed in the U.S. Now there are more than 40 transplant centers in the nation expected to perform the 1,000 operations.

The publication lists reasons for the rapid change in status as including the introduction of new drugs, improvements in surgical techniques and medical management, and acceptance of patients earlier in the course of their disease.

Previously, patients more than 55 years old were not accepted for transplants, but recently patients as old as 78 have had successful transplants.

According to Euripides, the Greek tragedian, "Cleverness is not wisdom."

Western challenges Chaps at 8 p.m. here in coliseum

Forecasts may call for the possibility of snow and blustery winds, but it will be hot in Scurry County Coliseum tonight as Coach Tony Mauldin and the Western Texas College Westerners square off against the Midland College Chaparrals.

The Western Junior College Athletic Conference game is set for an 8 p.m. tipoff.

Midland comes into tonight's action needing only one more win to lock up the conference's fourth and final berth to the Region V Tournament. Currently, with an 8-4 record, the Chaps are assured of at least a tie for that position.

Western is tied for fifth place, in terms of losses, with Howard, at 4-8.

The Chaps boast a balanced team with three players averaging in double figures. Herman Henry, a 6-7 sophomore, paces the attack by averaging 15.4 points and 6.5 rebounds. Billy Ray Smith averages 12.7 points and 6 boards, and Charles McCovery is averaging 11.9 points.

Another top player for the Chaparrals is 6-10 freshman Sydney Rice, who has over 30 blocked shots for the season.

Western Texas is led by Darrell Nelson's 29.6 point average. The 6-4 sophomore also averages 8.6 rebounds and has over 80 steals for the campaign. Bobby Spear averages 15.3 points and Melvin Thompson 14.3.

In other men's games this evening, New Mexico Military Institute (10-18, 2-11) plays New Mexico Junior College (11-2, 23-5) at Hobbs, N.M., Howard (11-17, 6-

In women's action, Howard (4-22, 2-8) plays South Plains (17-8, 7-3) and Clarendon (16-8, 5-4) is at Odessa (25-2, 10-0).

Odessa clinched the women's WJCAC crown earlier this week. South Plains, Clarendon and New Mexico Junior College have all secured berths to fill out the conference's four-team entry to the Region V Tournament.

SMU, Arkansas retain share of SWC basketball summit

by The Associated Press
Co-leaders Southern Methodist and Arkansas got rare breathers in the thrill-a-minute, Southwest Conference basketball race on Wednesday night and they probably needed them for what's coming up this weekend.

SMU tied a school record with nine 3-point shots in an 86-68 victory over Rice while Arkansas got revenge on Texas A&M with a 79-58 victory in Fayetteville. SMU and Arkansas are locked for the SWC lead with 9-3 records.

In other games, Texas edged Texas Tech, 63-59, Houston whipped Texas Christian, 66-47 and Baylor defeated Angelo State, 75-57 in a non-conference game.

SMU hosts Houston Saturday afternoon in a regionally televised game while Arkansas visits the Heart O' Texas Coliseum in Waco where the Baylor Bears always play tough.

The Mustangs gave Coach Dave Bliss his third 20-victory season in five years with the victory over the Owls.

"The 20 victories are nice but I'm worried about what's ahead," Bliss said. "You don't get an automatic NCAA bid just because you've won 20 games."

SMU is 20-5 for the season.

Todd Alexander hit six of SMU's 3-pointers and scored 20 points. Kato Armstrong had a game-high 22 points for SMU. Rice's Ronald Robertson had 21 points for the Owls.

"We couldn't stop the 3-pointers," said Rice Coach Scott Thompson. "Some of them they hit were from NBA 3-point range."

Tim Scott scored 18 points and Ron Huery added 15 to lead the Arkansas Razorbacks to a 79-58 victory over Texas A&M.

Arkansas, 18-5 overall and 9-3 in the Southwest Conference, shot 65 percent from the field in the first half.

The Razorbacks, who never trailed in the game, led 53-31 at halftime. Texas A&M, now 13-12 overall and 5-6 in the SWC, never cut the deficit to less than 22 points in the second half and trailed by as many as 29.

Lang finished with 13 points, nine rebounds and three blocked shots. Larry Marks added 10 points and seven rebounds.

Texas A&M was led by James McGhee's 12 points. He was the only Aggie who scored in double figures.

Junior forward Alvin Heggs came off the bench to score 22 points and lead Texas to a 63-59 victory over Texas Tech.

It was the fifth straight loss for the Red Raiders, who fall to 8-14 overall and 3-8 in conference, and their 15th consecutive loss on the road.

Texas improves to 13-11 and 7-5 and has won five of its last six games.

Junior guard Sean Gay hit for a season-high 24 points to lead the Red Raiders.

Houston center Rolando Ferreira scored 17 points, including four 3-point shots on five attempts, as the Cougars overwhelmed Texas Christian 66-47.

Houston, 13-9 and 7-4 in conference play, used big scoring stretches at the beginning of both halves to subdue the Horned Frogs, 9-14 and 3-9.

Rod Jacques had 12 points for TCU.

Baylor center Darryl Middleton scored 23 points to lead the Bears to a 76-57 win over the Angelo State Rams.

Hockey team can't locate upset; Dan Jansen tries for medal again

CALGARY, Alberta (AP) - Dan Jansen skates one more time tonight for his sister, himself and a beleaguered American team in the Winter Olympics.

The young speed skater won't be favored in this 1,000-meter race, but a nation that suffered with him when he sprawled on the ice in the 500, just hours after his sister's death, will be pulling for him.

"Dan seems to be in good shape mentally, really sound," says Coach Mike Crowe. "I think he's confident. He's a lot more up, a lot more focused, a lot more keyed on what he's doing. I think he will be 100 percent."

The United States has only a single bronze going into the sixth day of the Games, and poor prospects for many more medals. The Soviets lead the medal list with three golds, four silvers and two bronzes.

The U.S. hockey team needed an upset Wednesday night against the powerful, more experienced Soviets in order to have a good shot at reaching the medal round, but a wild rally ended too soon and the Soviets won 7-5.

It was a day of disappointment more than magic all around.

Pirmin Zurbriggen, the stylish Swiss downhill gold medalist, unartistically and quite unexpectedly tripped 150 yards from the finish line in the slalom portion of the combined event and blew a certain gold.

"I knew that to win the gold I only needed to ski safely to the finish line. I was relaxed," he said. "I was totally surprised when I found the gate between my skis and I fell. I still can't understand how it all happened."

Neither could Austrian Hubert Strolz, but he didn't mind. He slipped into first place to take the gold while countryman Bernhard Gstrein moved up for the silver and Swiss Paul Accola got the bronze.

The U.S. barely missed a medal in 5,000-meter speed skating when Eric Flaim of Pembroke, Mass., finished fourth behind gold medalist Tomas Gustafson of Sweden, silver medalist Leo Visser of the Netherlands and bronze medalist Gerard Kemkers, also of the Netherlands.

Swirling, 50 mph winds scuttled Matti Nykanen's quest for a second gold medal in ski jumping. The "Flying Finn," who won the 70-meter jump, was set to try again today in the 90-meter team event.

The final two runs of the women's luge also were postponed until today with the possibility of an East German sweep if the winds kick up too hard again and force cancellation of the runs. American hopeful Bonny Warner of Mount Baldy, Calif., was eighth after two heats.

Suspect in tragedy called obsessed loner

SUNNYVALE, Calif. (AP) — A woman wounded by a spurned admirer in a shooting spree that left seven people dead says she was so afraid of the man she moved three times and sought a court order of protection.

Laura Black, 26, who police say was the target of Tuesday's shootings at ESL Inc., was haunted for four years by unwanted advances from Richard W. Farley, a former co-worker, her lawyer said. Black was one of four people injured in the siege.

Black had asked a court to order Farley, 39, to never bother her again, but she was shot and seriously wounded in her office the day before her hearing, authorities said.

"I have been afraid of what this man might do to me if I file this action," she said in her filing with the court. "However, I am now at the end of my rope." In the filing, Black said she obtained an unlisted phone number and moved three times, but Farley continued calling her at work, driving by her house and following her to softball games.

San Jose Family Court Commissioner Lois Kittle, who issued a temporary order against Farley on Feb. 2, made it permanent Wednesday.

"This was a consciousness-raising incident," she said from the bench in tears. "It shows pieces of paper do not stop bullets."

Charges were being prepared against Farley, who was being held in the Santa Clara County jail in San Jose, prosecutor Alan Nudelman said Wednesday. Police Capt. Al Scott said he expected them to include multiple counts of homicide, attempted murder and assault with a deadly weapon.

A portrait of Farley as a man with a deadly obsession but no apparent criminal background or pattern of job problems emerged from comments by authorities, neighbors and former employers.

When police searched a motor home owned by Farley, they found a stockpile of guns and ammunition, along with cans of gasoline, Scott said.

"He had a lot of guns and a lot of gun knowledge — apparently a lifetime hobby," the captain said.

Police say Farley was a Texas native who never married, served 11 years in the Navy with an honorable discharge, and started at ESL, a Silicon Valley defense contractor, in November 1977. It was there that he met Black.

When Farley failed to get dates with Black, he began living in a fantasy world, Black's attorney, Mary Bird, said. Farley took pictures of Black and used them to "document" their make-believe life, Bird said.

Neighbors said Farley, who lived in a dilapidated cottage with peeling paint, was a loner who never said hello to anyone.

Farley was fired in May 1986 from his $36,000-a-year job as a software development engineer after sending a letter threatening Black's life, said Jerry DeRuntz, a company manager.

The attack, said Scott and Lt. Ruben Grijalva, who negotiated the gunman's surrender, was Farley's way of "making a point" that he wouldn't tolerate being spurned by Black or laughed at by other ESL employees.

"He was in love with her from the first moment he saw her," said Grijalva. "It was her smile."

After being fired, Farley found other computer industry jobs, and his current employer, Sunnyvale-based Covalent Systems, released a statement Wednesday saying his work was satisfactory and there was "no indication whatsoever of problems."

At ESL, which does such work as outfitting military spy planes, president Robert Kohler met with about 2,000 grieving

The company said the shootings did not result from any lapse of security. Scott agreed, noting that Farley gained access by blasting his way through a computer-controlled door.

The building where the shootings took place was closed Wednesday, but other buildings at ESL were open.

Yeltsin ousted from Politburo

MOSCOW (AP) — Boris N. Yeltsin, the outspoken former protégé of Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev, was ousted from the ruling Politburo today, Tass reported.

Two rising stars in the Communist Party hierarchy were named non-voting Politburo members, the official Soviet news agency said.

The policy-making Central Committee made the changes after Gorbachev told the party leadership that his efforts to modernize the economy and Soviet society did not constitute a retreat from socialism.

"We are not retreating one step from socialism, Marxism-Leninism, everything which has been won and created by the people," Tass quoted Gorbachev as saying.

"We are striving in the present conditions to revive the Leninist look of the new system, to rid it of the accumulations and deformations, of everything that shackled society and prevented it from realizing the potential of socialism in full measure," said the general secretary of the Central Committee of the Soviet Communist Party.

Tass said the Central Committee meeting "freed Comrade B.N. Yeltsin from his duties as a candidate member of the Politburo."

Yeltsin, 57, was brought into the ruling body by Gorbachev in February 1986 and named Moscow party boss. But he fell from favor last fall when he complained to the Central Committee at its last meeting that an entrenched bureaucracy had stalled Gorbachev's efforts to modernize Soviet society.

Yeltsin earlier had been removed from his party post in the Soviet capital but was given a ministerial job in the government's construction bureaucracy, leaving his political future in doubt.

The move to drive him from power was seen as an indication the party remains unwilling to tolerate criticism in key areas, despite Gorbachev's program of "glasnost," or openness, which has encouraged freer expression of ideas.

He said his program is, instead, designed to root out dogmatism and bureaucracy.

Tass said Georgy Razumovsky, 52, a Gorbachev protégé who has been handling party personnel matters for almost two years, would take a seat as a non-voting member of the Politburo. He has been a secretary of the Central Committee, a key post in the Communist Party apparatus.

Also named to candidate, or non-voting, membership was Yuri Maslyukov, 50, who this month was named chairman of the State Planning Committee, the body that historically has controlled the nation's planned economy.

The party chief acknowledged that his program of "perestroika," or restructuring, has caused some confusion. Perestroika seeks to decentralize control of industry and make plant managers responsible for their own products in an effort to streamline production, improve quality and make consumer goods available to the Soviet public.

On Wednesday, Yegor K. Ligachev outlined plans for an overhaul of the country's school system, saying the rigid and centralized Soviet bureaucracy must ease its control over schools to allow more flexibility at the local level.

Ligachev is considered to rank second behind Gorbachev.

Agents refused help

ORANGE, Texas (AP) — Federal agents refused help from local sheriff's deputies during a drug bust because of allegations surrounding the county sheriff. The Orange Leader reported in a copyright story.

"I don't feel my office can work with the Orange County narcotics officers," U.S. Attorney Bob Wortham said. "For obvious reasons. Because of the FBI operation."

Orange County Sheriff James Wade is the subject of an FBI investigation in which he is suspected of participating in the manufacture and distribution of methamphetamines. He has not been charged in the case.

The three Orange men were arrested Tuesday afternoon after accepting a truckload of marijuana from an undercover officer at a Beaumont truck stop, according to an affidavit by U.S. Customs agent Roger E. Bowers of Port Arthur.

All three were charged with possession of more than 100 kilograms of marijuana with intent to distribute and with aiding and abetting possession of marijuana with intent to distribute, the newspaper said Wednesday.

Wortham said each charge carries a penalty upon conviction of five to 40 years in prison and a fine of up to $2 million.

U.S. Magistrate J. Michael Bradford set bond at $25,000 each with a $1,250 cash deposit for Michael Glynn Sepulveda, 34; Donald Ray Morris, 43; and Charles Leroy Lindley, 51.

Orange County narcotics officers complained Wednesday they had worked long, hard hours on a case.

"We're the ones that set it up (the bust) and we got shut out," Capt. Wayne Dial told the Beaumont Enterprise.

Man engaged in patent battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — An inventor who claims he has devised a machine that produces more energy than it uses says he will appeal a judge's refusal to force the government to give him a patent for his invention. "I am pleased the judge has finally ruled because I am counting on getting up to the higher court," Joseph W. Newman said Wednesday after U.S. District Judge Thomas Penfield Jackson rejected his lawsuit against the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office. "I was very certain he was going to be consistent and rule against me," said Newman, 51, of Lucedale, Miss. Jackson upheld the Patent Office's refusal to grant a patent for the device.

Dial-a-porn solution sought

AUSTIN (AP) — Southwestern Bell, rapped by state utility commissioners for not doing something about dial-a-porn, has offered free blocking of calls to the controversial services.

But witnesses, commissioners and a Bell official said Wednesday that blocking probably is not enough of a solution. It cannot be offered everywhere because of technical limitations and it does not block long-distance dial-a-porn calls.

Pastors, parents, educators and employers on Wednesday urged the Public Utility Commission to kill dial-a-porn, even if it means the end of other "Dial 976" pay call services.

Providers of 976 services such as weather and sports information also testified, urging the commissioners not to put them out of business.

The four-hour hearing ended with a pair of alternative proposals from the commission — a ban on all 976 services or a plan in which the calls could be made only by customers who "subscribe" to them.

The commission will take public comment on the proposals for 30 days.

"I'm not happy with Southwestern Bell," said Commissioner Jo Campbell. "I think their greed has absolutely gotten us into the problem we're in."

"The industry did not clean up its own act," Commissioner Marta Greytak said of 976 providers.

PUC Chairman Dennis Thomas said the best solution might be to separate the dial-a-porn services from other Dial 976 services by setting up another three-number prefix for dial-a-porn. However, the commission could not order such a change because of possible free-speech problems.

The change could be made if Southwestern Bell requests it, but it could not be ordered by the commission, Thomas said.

Bill Free, a Bell vice president, said his company also would consider a system in which it could refuse to do the billing for dial-a-porn calls. Under the current system, the telephone company does the billing and then forwards the portion due to the company that provides the service.

Free said he is "as upset as the commission that we haven't been able to control 976 service."

Under a previous agreement, Bell will offer, starting Saturday, free blocking of calls to 976 numbers. The free offer will continue for 60 days. After that, customers will have to pay $7 for blocking.

Free on Wednesday said Bell is willing to make the free blocking offer a permanent one, but said it is not the full solution.

"In light of what I heard today, I tend to think that perhaps other solutions are needed."

According to a PUC report, the price of the 976 calls, lasting up to 3 minutes, ranges from 29 cents to $49.95. Dial 976 service is available in Houston, San Antonio, Dallas and Fort Worth. The numbers can be called long distance from any other location unless they are blocked by the local telephone company. About one-third of the services offer sexual messages, the report said.

Alan Sears, a Phoenix attorney for Citizens for Decency Through Law, told the PUC Wednesday that dial-a-porn is "aural rape that takes the innocence of children forever."

Linda Holstien, a Dallas PTA official, said the Richardson Independent School District paid $1,994 for dial-a-porn calls made from its schools, and $650 for blocking.

Sandy Kibby of the Texas PTA said dial-a-porn has "captured the curiosity of many of our young people."

Magazine publisher: it isn't possible to know ads intent

HOUSTON (AP) — The publisher of Soldier of Fortune said he had no way of knowing that a classified advertisement in the military magazine would lead to a Texas woman's slaying.

The woman's family is suing the magazine for $22.5 million, accusing it of negligence for publishing the ad that brought Robert Black together with John Wayne Hearn and led to the murder-for-hire of Black's wife, Sandra.

"I have no idea what's in the minds of people who place those ads," publisher Robert Brown said in testimony Wednesday. Mrs. Black of Bryan was shot to death in 1985. Her husband is on Texas' death row for paying Hearn $10,000 to carry out the killing. Hearn is serving three life terms in Florida for murder.

Marjorie Einmann, Mrs. Black's mother, and Gary Black, the victim's 18-year-old son, are seeking $2.5 million in actual damages and $20 million in punitive damages from the Colorado-based magazine.

Hearn's ad appeared in four issues of the magazine in late 1984, seeking former Marine and Vietnam veterans and weapons specialists with jungle warfare expertise for "high risk assignments" in the United States or overseas.

"I never expected anyone to be so stupid to advertise in Soldier of Fortune their intent to do criminal enterprise," said Brown, founder of the self-styled "Journal of Professional Adventurers."

Under intense questioning by plaintiff's attorney Ron Franklin, Brown reviewed more than two dozen classified ads run in the magazine up to 1984. Many of the ads sought or advertised the services of self-proclaimed mercenaries, weapons specialists, explosives experts and mechanics, a term Franklin said was synonymous with hired killers.

Brown said a "mechanic" in a "high-risk assignment" also could mean someone could fix a helicopter overseas.

Hearn said in a deposition read into testimony Wednesday that his ad brought responses from people who were looking for help with bombings, assaults, jail breaks and killings.

Dr. Gott

Peter Gott, M.D.

It's noisy but not fatal

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My doctor says I have borborygmus. Is this fatal? He won't tell me what it is.

DEAR READER: Borborygmus is a fancy $64 word that simply means — gas and rumbling. Excessive intestinal movement often causes gurgling and tinkling that are a harmless embarrassment. Occasionally, these noises signify intestinal obstruction, but the sounds usually are of no consequence. Borborygmus is onomatopoeia, a word formed by its sound, like "buzz" and "bang."

To give you more information, I'm sending you a free copy of my Health Report on DIGESTIVE GAS. Other readers who want a copy of this report should send $1 and their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I see squiggly lines when I open my eyes. I work at CRTs all day. Ophthalmologists aren't much help.

DEAR READER: Medical studies have repeatedly failed to show that eye damage results from computer terminal screens. However, eye strain is a common consequence of this occupation. This can produce headache and visual difficulties that are temporary. Some experts recommend that computer-terminal operators rest their eyes periodically by looking away from the screens for several minutes every hour.

If ophthalmologists have examined you and concluded that your eyes are normal, I suggest that you experiment with methods — such as taking frequent breaks from your screen — to find a way to reduce your eyestrain without the necessity of changing jobs.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm 25, female and have had pancreatitis for eight years. There is no apparent cause. I take Pancrease with each meal and Tylenol 3 for pain when needed. I have a flare-up every four to six weeks. Is there anything else I can take to make these attacks less frequent and painful?

DEAR READER: Pancreatitis (inflammation of the pancreas) has many causes, including injury by alcohol or drugs, infection, pseudocysts (sores) in the gland or blockage of the duct through which the pancreatic digestive enzymes are secreted into the intestine.

Some cures are relatively easy: for example, discontinuation of alcohol. Other cures involve surgery, either to remove inflamed portions of the gland, remove stones or scar tissue from the duct or repair the normal pancreatic drainage.

I cannot answer your question without first knowing the cause of your repeated attacks of pancreatitis and abdominal pain. In my opinion, you need a thorough evaluation by a gastroenterologist, a specialist in diseases of the digestive tract. After appropriate testing, such as a physician may be able more precisely to diagnose the cause of your condition. Then he or she may recommend specific curative therapy.
