

Schools consider boundary change

A possible change in boundary lines which would affect 37 bus students now attending Northeast Elementary was profiled for Snyder school board members Monday night.

The proposal was offered by administrators as a discussion item and no action regarding it was taken.

It was tendered due to declining enrollments at North Elementary. The change is viewed also as a means of helping bring Northeast Elementary under the 22 students per classroom requirement for the next year.

It was noted also that the loss in enrollment at North Elementary has placed the district in jeopardy of losing federal funds targeted to benefit students on the federal free-lunch program.

As outlined Tuesday, the number of affected students would be 13 which ride Bus 12 and 22 students which ride Bus 16. The district's boundary lines would be changed so that these 37 pupils would attend North next year rather than Northeast.

Supt. Dalton Moseley indicated the next step will be to contact parents of affected students. He indicated no board decisions would be required at least until later in the spring.

The possible change in district boundary lines was part of a 15-item agenda work session. Trustees were to consider the employment of a new maintenance supervisor at the session as well.

After a 30-minute executive session to consider one candidate however, the board voted to not accept a recommendation for employment. The search for a new director will apparently continue.

The post is to be vacated in June with the retirement of longtime supervisor Bill Sealy.

Also Monday the board discussed at length the organization of a district committee comprised of teachers and administrators charged with establishing a policy or guidelines related to grades given students at all levels when homework assignments are not turned in.

Items pointed out during discussion was the difficulty in establishing such a detailed policy and the precedent it might set for future classroom directives at the board level.

The need for some type of directive was noted, however, since it was pointed out that the systems currently in use on the various campuses vary in great degree.

The fairness of these variations was brought into question. After some 30 minutes of discussion, the board indicated it felt it should best be handled between the superintendent and individual principals.

A committee formed to consider the homework plan will remain in place, however, to discuss and propose various alternatives. The findings of this committee is to be brought back to the board by Moseley.

Trustees attending included Mike Jordan, Ken Branam, Yehao Benitez, Charlene Light, Luann Burleson, and Billy Bob McMillan.

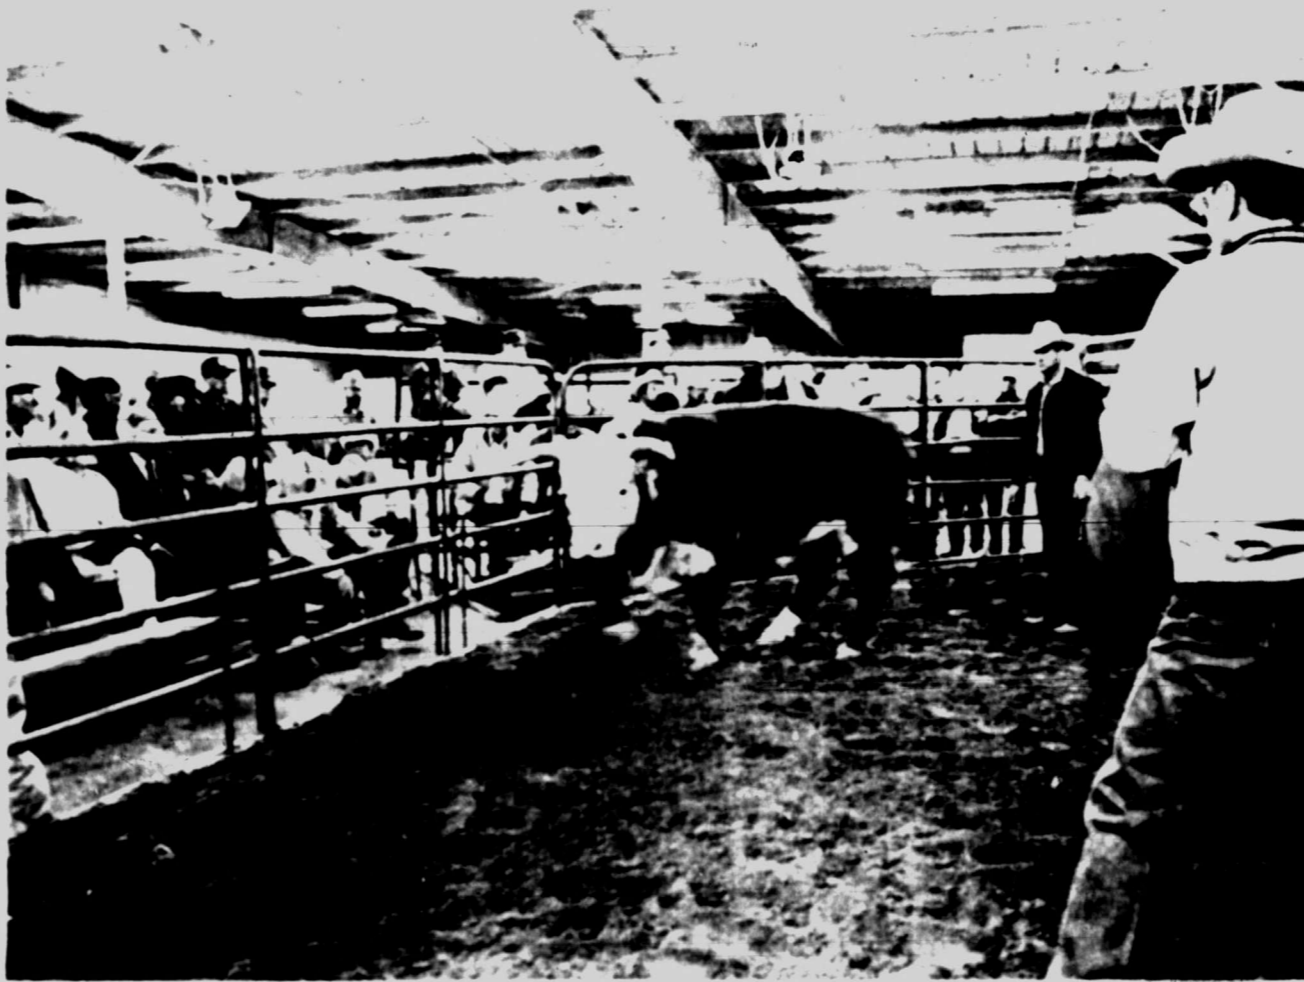

In other items brought before the board, trustees were told:

An inventory of the district's textbooks had been set in motion, headed by Dr. Tom Scannicchio.

Staff recommendations have been made for department heads at the junior high and high school levels. These recommendations will now be discussed with principals and final decisions made soon.

Changes have been implemented in the high school curriculum.

Chamber banquet will 'add' 2 more awards for service

Awards honoring service to the city and county are potential features at the annual Snyder Chamber of Commerce banquet and to these awards two more will be added this coming Saturday.

An award for Exemplary Service, described as being a one-time honor with this banquet, and a plaque to recognize lifetime achievement in teaching will be given out.

The exemplary service honor will be presented by the chamber. It will be in lieu of the President's Award, which is traditionally given by the chamber's immediate past president.

The special award will recognize, in the words of Chamber Manager Bill Moss, "Just what its name says, exemplary service."

Both will be announced at the banquet and will be surprise honors for their recipients. The event is slated in the Scurry County Coliseum beginning at 7 p.m. Saturday.

The education award will be presented by the Snyder-based group pledged to support academic activities for Snyder ISD, the Council for Educational Excellence (CEE).

The group has received chamber permission to implement its own annual honor with this banquet.

Steve Smith, president for CEE, said the award is to recognize "an educator's career-long commitment to Snyder public schools."

Nominations for the honor were solicited by the group through its monthly newsletter and by individual contacts within the school system.

The group plans to make the presentation an annual honor.

Both awards will be in addition to the traditional chamber honors. These include the Vestal Award presented by the city, the McLaughlin Award presented by the family of the late C.T. McLaughlin, the Winston Award presented by the family of the

Depositions in prison suits begin in Snyder this week

Depositions may begin as early as Wednesday in five lawsuits filed in 142nd District Court in an effort to stop construction of a state of Texas prison here.

At a docket control conference held in Kerrville Monday, visiting District Judge Joe Evins of Edinburg instructed attorneys to begin the deposition process in view of having a pre-trial hearing in Snyder as early as next week.

Attorney Kathy Parsley of Lubbock, an associate of George Thompson who filed the suits, objected to the immediate depositions since Thompson is involved in a federal court case in Lubbock.

Evins, who will hear the prison suits after 142nd District Judge Gene Duhney excused himself, instructed attorneys to proceed with depositions of plaintiffs set Wednesday and depositions of defendants starting Thursday.

There was indication Tuesday morning that depositions might be delayed until Thursday with attorneys working through Saturday to complete the process.

Judge Evins asked attorneys to call him before noon Friday for a progress report on depositions so that he could schedule a pre-trial conference in Snyder.

Ernie Armstrong, whose law firm represents the city of Snyder, said the delay until Thursday might allow Thompson to finish his trial in Lubbock and participate in the depositions.

Based on the judge's instructions, plaintiff attorneys will be expected to make their clients available for testimony and defendant attorneys will likewise make their clients available upon request.

At Monday's conference, Judge Evins said he had strong leanings toward consolidation of the five suits, and indicated he expected to move quickly toward a resolution of the lawsuits.

On Nov. 9, Snyder was selected as a site for a 1,000-bed medium security prison. In late December, the first of five suits were filed saying that various governmental bodies and officials acted improperly in making a proposal to the Texas Department of Corrections.

In that bid process, Snyder offered a variety of incentives in order to attract the prison facility which will provide more than 250 new jobs. Construction is scheduled to begin in mid April.

Location of the depositions will likely be the county courtroom in the Scurry County Courthouse.

ER coverage at Cogdell solution near

Following a 90-minute executive session Monday night, the Cogdell Hospital board of managers voted unanimously to authorize the board president to finalize an agreement with a Snyder doctor to provide weekend emergency room coverage.

Assuming changes in the contract suggested by the board are accepted, board chairman Dan Cotton was directed to finalize the contract with Dr. Harold Miller.

The agreement would begin this weekend, March 4, and calls for the doctor to provide "on-premises" emergency room coverage from 7 p.m. Friday until 7 a.m. Monday.

This 60-hour period had previously been covered by a group of doctors from Lubbock who had earlier advised Cogdell Hospital that they would no longer be available.

Terms of the contract have not been announced pending official acceptance of the contract by both the hospital and by Dr. Miller, an internist here since 1984.

When the board first discussed the emergency room situation at its open meeting on Jan. 26, Cogdell Administrator Tom Hochwalt indicated the cost to the hospital would be $34 per hour.

Board members attending Monday's special meeting were Cotton, Rex Robinson, G. A. Parks, Jackie Smith, Janet Hall and Roy McQueen. Also attending were County Judge Bobby Goodwin and Hochwalt.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Things that used to bring disgrace to a family may now bring a book or movie contract."

Fish ties are popular these days. Fish ties resemble ordinary neckties, except they bear the marking and colors of tuna, salmon, muskie, rainbow trout, walleye or northern pike.

Hanging tail-up from the collar, they stare at astonished beholders with dead eyes. The original fish tie was designed to make people laugh.

But few people laugh with more gusto than the designer, Mark Abramoff of Milwaukee, who has sold more than a half million since May of 1985.

The success of fish ties has inspired imitators—including a company in Arizona. A lawsuit resulted and when the case came to trial, the judge denied a defense motion for dismissal by saying "Holy mackerel! What a case!" Defendants were also told to "fish or cut bait."

We're not sure which company has come up with the item, but a new fish tie is on the market. The tie is clear and is designed to be filled with water in which three to five live goldfish can be placed.

Fisherman don't lie about this one—neckwear may never be the same.

Speaking of new products, it appears that modern kitchens will be cooking, storing food and cleaning up with more efficiency.

Due to reach the market soon are refrigerators, stoves and other appliances which can be activated simply by talking to them.

There is an oven that can "fry" food with a blast of hot air which will actually crisp and brown the food, giving it both the texture and taste of fried food—without adding oil, fat or extra calories.

There is the communicating oven and stove where the oven will be able to signal the stove to start cooking vegetables when the roast is almost done.

Also planned are self-cleaning ovens capable of deciding when they need to be cleaned.

There's just one flaw to all this automation—the cook still has to be motivated.

Q--Are depositions such as the ones scheduled this week in the prison suits open to the public?

A--No, all depositions are closed.

Jessica award

WASHINGTON (AP) — The rescuers of Jessica McClure are not forgotten, as evidenced by a public spirit award honoring their work, presented by the American Legion Auxiliary.

Midland, Texas, Fire Chief James L. Roberts received the plaque at Monday's national meeting of the auxiliary, which cited the citizens of Midland for "A courageous act — a young life saved."

Jessica, who was then 18 months old, was trapped in a well last October, but was rescued in an intense 58-hour effort that involved hundreds of people from the community and riveted attention nationwide.

The award for the community was presented by Legion Auxiliary National President Pearl Behrend of Racine, Wis.

Peace meet

LONDON (AP) — Secretary of State George P. Shultz turned today to King Hussein of Jordan to back the U.S. drive for Mideast peace talks.

"He's a key, in my opinion," Shultz said. "He has immense standing and a person who's been here a long time. Through all of these issues, up and down, he's a man of experience and judgment."

Talking to reporters on his flight from the Middle East, Shultz hinted he was inclined to return to the region after a NATO summit meeting in Brussels Wednesday and Thursday.

"Nobody has signed up to our proposal, but everybody wants us to keep working, so we will keep working," Shultz said in a departure statement in Israel.

"We will continue our efforts," he said.

After arriving at London's Heathrow Airport, he met Hussein at a private residence owned by the king in central London. Shultz also was to see Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher and Foreign Secretary Sir Geoffrey Howe before flying to Brussels later today.

Memorial service...

Ex-missionary remembered

DALLAS (AP) — More than 2,000 people attended a memorial service for slain Officer Gary D. McCarthy, honoring him as a policeman and as a missionary.

Hundreds of police officers, some weeping and others with their badges taped in black, filled the Eagle's Nest Cathedral Monday to honor McCarthy, a former missionary who joined the force 14 months ago.

"He left the foreign mission field but he found another mission field," said the Rev. Clyde Box, pastor of Brook Hollow Baptist Church in DeSoto where McCarthy, a husband and father of two children, attended church.

McCarthy was off duty Friday when he was gunned down trying to stop a robbery attempt at the grocery store where he worked part time. He was the third Dallas policeman killed in six weeks.

McCarthy's funeral will be held today in his hometown of Amarillo.

Police were holding three men in connection with McCarthy's death, but the district attorney's office said none was charged by Monday afternoon. The three were arrested on capital murder warrants.

One of them, Vincent Edward Cooks, 23, was paroled Aug. 4, 1987, from the Texas Department of Corrections less than a year after he began serving a five-year sentence for aggravated assault of a police officer.

Cooks had originally been charged with attempted capital murder after apparently shooting at an off-duty police officer outside the Cartoons Club in Houston.

Houston Police Sgt. V.W. West said Cooks pleaded no contest to the reduced aggravated assault charge and began serving his sentence in December 1986. Cooks was arrested Sunday at a Houston apartment where he tried to escape from a second-story window, said Dallas Police Lt. Ron Waldrop.

Another man arrested in the case, 23-year-old Tony Ray Harvey of Houston, was paroled from the TDC on Jan. 18 after serving 18 months of a six-year sentence for aggravated robbery and the unauthorized use of a motor vehicle, police said.

"This is rather indicative of how the criminal justice system is working," said Capt. John Holt.

The third man, Tracy Dewayne Stallworth, 27, of Irving, has no prior convictions.

Police would release few details in the case. Harvey was being held Monday on $500,000 bond at Law Sterrett Justice Center, while Stallworth's bond was set at $100,200. Cooks was being held at Law Sterrett but bond had not been set Monday night, a jail spokeswoman said.

McCarthy died at Parkland Memorial Hospital Friday evening after the shootout at Brancato's Warehouse market in West Dallas. McCarthy, wearing street clothes, was escorting the grocery store manager from a bank visit when a man jumped out of a car to rob the manager, police said.

After being shot three times, once in the heart, McCarthy returned fire at the attacker and two others in a car before they sped away.

McCarthy's death was the seventh in six shootings involving police this year. In addition to the three dead police officers, four civilians have been killed by police this year.

Two officers — John Glenn Chase and James A. Joe — were killed last month.

Chase, a white officer, was killed Jan. 23 by a mentally ill, homeless black man who had wrestled the officer's gun away on a downtown street as a bus-stop crowd watched. Police said some witnesses encouraged the assailant.

Off-duty police then killed the man in a shootout.

Police investigate low bail for man

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — A judge who set bond at $100 for a man accused of attacking actress Tracy Scoggins has been suspended pending an investigation, Chief Municipal Judge Robert Duran said.

Police Lt. J.R. Grijalva said police have received information that Associate Municipal Judge Rodolfo Romero was a longtime friend of Pedro Concepcion Padilla, who was charged with attempted sexual assault in connection with the attack on Ms. Scoggins, in El Paso to co-host the Miss USA pageant.

Grijalva would not reveal the source of his information. But a friend of the two men, who asked that his name not be used, told the El Paso Times that Padilla and Romero have known each other since at least the late 1970s and have played together on basketball and flag-football teams in recreation leagues.

Padilla gave a false name and address when he appeared before Romero and had his bond set.

Romero Monday refused to say whether Padilla is a friend and said he would not comment on any aspect of the case. His phone number is unlisted and he could not be reached by The Associated Press Monday night.

Duran would not comment on the specifics of the investigation, but said if Romero knew Padilla was using a false name and did nothing to stop him, "it would be highly questionable."

"I need to sit down with him and talk to him," Duran said. "I want to find out what happened."

He did not say how long his investigation will take but said Romero "will not be doing night magistrate work for a while."

Padilla could not be reached for comment Monday. His lawyer, Jose Montes, said he could not discuss whether Padilla knew Romero.

Padilla was arrested late Thursday and charged with attempted sexual assault for allegedly attacking Scoggins in an elevator at the Marriott Hotel, 1600 Airway.

Ms. Scoggins, who will co-host tonight's pageant, said a man got on an elevator with her, tore her clothes and pushed her into the back of the elevator. She fought the man off and he was detained by hotel guests and security before police arrived and arrested him.

Padilla carried no identification and gave police the name Antonio Garcia, Grijalva said. Romero set bond at $100, which Padilla paid in cash and was freed early Friday.

But 120th District Judge Brunson Moore ordered the man re-arrested and held under $100,000 bond. Sheriff's deputies learned that the man had given a false name and Padilla, 35, turned himself in Saturday morning and was freed that afternoon after the $100,000 bond was posted by Apodaca Bail Bonds.

Police Chief John Scagno Monday ordered the Special Investigations Division to look into the way Padilla's case was handled.

Associate municipal court judges are appointed by City Council and primarily hear arraignments and set bonds for people booked into County Jail.

Dear Abby

This Spectator Rises to Cheer Sports Fans' Early Departure

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1988 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: "Seattleite" was upset with people who leave sporting events early. He was concerned that the players' performances would suffer. You agreed, calling this premature departure "demoralizing, insensitive and unsportsmanlike." Hogwash! Abby, don't assume that everyone who attends sporting events is a fan — which is an abbreviation for "fanatic."

I attend sporting events hoping to see top-level athletes perform at their best, buoyed by the competition. It's entertainment. And in many cases, I pay exorbitant prices, and when I am no longer being entertained, I leave.

Also, I doubt very much whether college or professional athletes are "demoralized" when people they've never seen leave the stands early. Athletes at this level play for a variety of reasons, not the least of which is for big money.

So, if you fans want to be fanatical, please do. When I'm present at a lopsided contest, I'll be the first one out the door. You "home teamers" can demonstrate your sensitivity and sportsmanship in the parking lot jam.

ELENSBURGER

DEAR ELENSBURGER: You're right, athletes are entertainers; but when an entertainer sees the audience leaving early, while he may not become unglued, it doesn't make him feel any better.

DEAR ABBY: Here's another version of why second lieutenants were called "shavetails." When a soldier made the transition from enlisted man to officer he had a surplus of plain style shirts. Officers' shirts had epaulets — little strips of fabric on the shoulders. So rather than scrap the shirts he had he took them to the tailor shop in the post exchange and had the tailor sew epaulets on the shoulders. And where did the tailor get the extra material to make the epaulets? He just "shaved" it off the tail of the shirt. Hence every second lieutenant who was formerly an enlisted man was known as a "shavetail."

GRANT T. EDMONDS, LITTLETON, COLO.

DEAR GRANT: Your explanation checks out. I wonder where the story about shaving the tails of mules used in the military originated.

DEAR ABBY: Thanks for advising "Carolina Churchgoer" to tell her minister privately to please stop asking (in a loud tone) "Where is your husband this morning?"

That reminds me of a minister we once had. Although my husband and I attended church services every Sunday morning, our minister would say, "Why don't you two join our Bible study group on Thursday nights?" Then he would say, "I never see you at Sunday night services — you really should make an effort to attend."

Every time we missed a church picnic, supper, book review or guest lecturer, the minister always asked, "Where were you?"

In addition to every Sunday morning service, we also attended Easter and Christmas services and figured that was quite enough church for us.

As Paul Harvey would say, "Here's the rest of the story." We finally changed churches and now a nice young pastor greets us warmly, thanks us for coming and never tries to lay a guilt trip on us for not attending church more often.

Disciplinary actions against doctors up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Disciplinary actions against doctors increased 17 percent in 1986, but the private health advocacy group that compiled the statistics said today too many slipshod physicians still are going un-punished.

"The absence, in most if not all states, of the maximum effort to discipline doctors is one of the most serious threats to the health of American patients," said the report by Public Citizen's Health Research Group.

Surveying data from the Federation of State Medical Boards, the organization ranked all 50 states and the District of Columbia according to the number of "serious actions" per 1,000 doctors. A serious action was defined as a revocation or suspension of the license to practice medicine, or a probation.

The national average was 2.37 actions per 1,000 doctors. Georgia led with 6.94 actions per 1,000, followed by Indiana, Iowa, West Virginia, Utah, Oregon, Oklahoma, Missouri, Kentucky and Colorado.

Wyoming was in 51st place with none. New Hampshire ranked 50th, preceded by Vermont, Maryland, Michigan, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Tennessee, Washington, Rhode Island and Alabama in 40th place.

Nationwide, the group found there were 745 serious actions in 1984, 1,089 in 1985 and 1,277 in 1986, the last year for which figures from all localities were available.

The 17 percent increase from 1985 to 1986 compared with a 46 percent increase between 1984 and 1985. "Even though the 1986 total is better than in any previous year, it falls very short of catching most of the incompetent doctors in this country," said Public Citizen. "In most states, the majority of disciplinary actions are for drug and alcohol problems, only a fraction being for incompetence."

"Since there is no evidence that doctors settle in certain states depending on how competent they are, differences in the rate of doctor discipline reflect differences in how serious states are about disciplining doctors," the report continued.

"We continue to believe that until the rate of doctor discipline in this country significantly increases, there is no realistic possibility of a major decrease in the amount of medical malpractice."

Health Research Group was founded by its director, Dr. Sidney M. Wolfe, and Ralph Nader.

Honey Do's meet for pot-luck

Honey Do's Extension Homemakers met Feb. 18 in the home of Debbie Graves for a pot-luck luncheon meeting. Virginia Fogle, president, presided.

Extension agent Kathryn Roberts gave a speech on saving money. She suggested that one set goals and live within them. She pointed out that money can be saved by just eliminating a coke or doughnut from the budget each day.

Patsy Burleson gave the craft demonstration, showing how to use a ribbon stripper for more decorative packages.

Members were reminded of the district meeting in Levelland to be held April 14.

The original Galapagos tortoise population, estimated at 250,000, has been reduced to about 15,000, according to National Geographic.

Anticipating the end position

By James Jacoby

In today's deal the principle of taking advantage of favorable vulnerability is illustrated by South's very weak jump overcall to two spades. His partner had him covered and quickly bid game. It was a nice contract, but watch how South chopped up the play. The deuce of diamonds was an obvious singleton. Declarer won dummy's ace, cashed A-K of hearts while shedding a diamond, and led a club. East won the king and played two diamonds, on which West discarded two hearts. Declarer ruffed the second diamond with the spade 10. Another club was played and East took the ace to play still another red card. Declarer ruffed with his jack, ruffed his last club in dummy with the spade deuce, and cashed the A-Q of spades. That left the lead in dummy with declarer holding the K-8 of spades. West had no more red cards but still had the nine of spades, which had to take a trick when declarer tried to get off dummy by ruffing.

So how can declarer avoid this unhappy result? Don't even grab your hat — it's not that earthshaking. After taking the A-K of hearts, declarer should simply ruff a heart with a low spade. He can then proceed about his business in the club suit, but the crucial end position, after he has taken the A-Q of trumps in dummy, will find declarer with only one remaining spade — the king, which takes the 10th trick. West still wins his spade 9, but too late.

Playoff experience favors Huskies but Tigers ready for playoff tonight

It's Hirschi's seventh straight year for the playoffs and Snyder's first in five, but that may not mean much when the Huskies and Tigers square off in a Class 4A regional semifinal basketball game at McMurry College here tonight.

Wichita Falls Hirschi is making its seventh straight playoff appearance this season, the first under new head coach Dennis Wutrich. The last time the Tigers went to the playoffs was 1983, and they didn't get this far, losing in the bi-district round. Whether playoff experience will make a difference won't be determined until after the 7:30 p.m. contest. As far as individual experience, both teams will likely start three seniors, a junior and a sophomore.

If experience in the playoffs is in contrast, so are the playing styles. Coach Larry Scott likes his Tigers to play patient, deliberate ball, while taking advantage of the fast break if possible. Hirschi, fleet of foot, utilizes a more wide open offense.

"They have good athletes and the run the press well from what I've heard," said Coach Scott. "They are like Lamesa, in that they are quick and they press well, but they'll get out of the press if it isn't working. They also have good height."

The teams match up fairly evenly in height. At post for the Huskies will be 6-4 senior Derrick Glasker. Snyder will counter with 6-5 senior Trey Tippens.

Forwards for Hirschi are 6-2 senior Reggie Flenoy and 6-2 junior Preston Carlot. They'll go against 6-4 senior Terry Garza and 6-2 sophomore Trey Tippens. Huskie's guards are 6-0 senior Daryle Gould and 6-1 sophomore Semone Dennis. For Snyder, it's 5-11 senior Kevin Combest and 5-11 junior Kevin Wesley.

The sixth man off the bench is Todd Cooper, a 6-1 junior, for Hirschi, and 6-0 senior Van Echols for Snyder.

Flenoy's 15.3 points per game leads the District 3-4A champion Huskies, who are 22-8 for the season. Gould averages 15 points and Glasker 13.6.

Snyder goes into the contest with a 24-8 season record. Fans from both schools will be keeping tabs on the other Class 4A regional semifinal game going on here tonight. Lamesa and Everman play in that contest at 7 p.m. at Hardin-Simmons University, and winners of the two games meet in the next round to determine who goes to the state tournament.

Tickets for tonight's contest are $4 for adults and $2 for students.

TOUGH OUT - Snyder's Brad Gartman came up clutching dirt, but got caught leaning and was tagged out by San Angelo first baseman Tom Ingram during Monday's baseball game here. Gartman was the Tigers' top threat, however. He walked twice and cracked a triple from the plate, and made some good plays from his short stop position. (SDN Staff Photo)

Zaragoza ends Zarate comeback

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) - Daniel Zaragoza of Mexico City dashed the comeback attempt of 36-year-old countryman Carlos Zarate by winning the vacant World Boxing Council super bantamweight title.

Zarate stopped Zarate of Tepito, Mexico, in the 10th round of their scheduled 12-round fight Monday night at the Forum.

In a companion fight, Azumah Nelson of Accra, Ghana, won a split, 12-round decision over Azabache Martinez of Guadalajara, Mexico, to claim the vacant WBC super featherweight championship.

Zarate, a former WBC bantamweight champion, retired in 1979 after losing his crown to Lupe Pintor, but resumed his career two years ago.

Zarate, 29, was the No. 1 contender for the vacant title, while Zarate was ranked No. 2.

"I was expecting Carlos to be more aggressive than he was and not to give me any room to box in," Zaragoza said.

"My manager told me to box, box, box. And the boxing built up a lead which made it easier for me in the later rounds. Carlos seemed to lose his concentration in the ninth round."

Zarate had been 12-1 in his comeback. His only loss came to Jeff Fenech in a WBC super bantamweight title bout in Australia last year. Fenech has moved up to the featherweight division, leaving the super bantamweight title vacant.

Zarate improved his record to 33-4. Zarate fell to 59-4.

Bobcats defeat Tigers, 11-2 Snyder gets needed breather

The best thing about Monday's baseball game with San Angelo Central is that the Tigers will get another chance.

"We'll have another shot at them next week. Don't be discouraged," Coach Albert Lewis told the troops, after the Bobcats clawed Snyder 11-2 at Moffett Field.

Snyder, 3-2 now, takes a week off before traveling to San Angelo for a 4:15 p.m. ballgame on March 8.

"We'll rest up and work on some things. We need the break. We had that tournament last weekend and we're going to play a lot of games in a hurry pretty quick," said Lewis.

The Tigers had just come off of a two-day, three-game stint in Fredericksburg, and it showed.

"We struggled out there tonight. Our pitching wasn't sharp, but Lee's arm got sore real quick. Bart came in and did a good job. He just needs more control," said Lewis.

Lee Fletcher opened on the mound and retired the first three Central batters in order. The hard-hitting Bobcats touched him for three singles and a walk in the second stanza, however, scoring two runs. Two quick outs in the third inning indicated the junior pitcher was finding the groove, but it didn't happen. Manuel Grimaldo slapped a triple down the first base line and Robin Harris followed with an RBI single. Chad Decker and Tom Ingram walked to load the bases and Mike Emmons followed with a two-run single.

Lewis opted to bring Bart Morton to the mound, and the sophomore opened with a walk to load the bags again. Next-up Ray Hernandez hit into an error, which allowed another run to score. A play from third baseman Bert Otto to short stop Brad Gartman nailed Ricky Daniels, however, and Snyder got out of the inning.

Morton kept the Bobcats under control most of the rest of the way, but walks continued to get him in trouble. A pair of fourth-inning walks resulted in two more Central runs. The Cats added another after a fifth-inning walk, and finished up with two more in the seventh after another pair of batters took bases on balls.

Snyder, meanwhile, was kept under control by Grimaldo, who went the distance and struck out 16 batters - including 10 of the last 15 he faced. The Central standout gave up only three hits, a triple to Gartman and singles to Bert Merritt and Wayne Ware.

Snyder's runs came in the third when Morton walked, Merritt got a bloop single to short right field, and Gartman and Scott Lanier walked. Lanier's free pass pushed in Carl McClurg, courtesy runner for Morton. Morris also drew a walk off of Grimaldo, forcing home Merritt for Snyder's second run.

The rally ended when David Martinez slapped into a double play.

Coach Lewis was ejected from the game by the home plate umpire, after attempting to ask the first base umpire about a call.

"It was crazy. That was only the second time in 30 years, and there was no reason for it. I just wanted to ask the first base umpire about the swing. The ump told me I couldn't be out there," mused Lewis, who spent the final two and a half innings in the dugout.

Borden girls load all-district squad

Borden County's Lady Coyotes put three underclassmen on the 13A All-District Girl's Basketball team, announced this week.

Juniors Elena Himes and Kate Phinzy, and sophomore Lisa Sternadel were named to the squad from Coach Bill May's team. Elyvira Balague was honorable mention.

Other all-district choices include Freda Garza, a 5-7 junior from Grady; and Minky Trotter, a 5-7 senior, Shelly Kirkland, a 5-8 junior, and Cherise Williams, a 5-11 sophomore - all from Klondike.

Named to the team from O'Donnell were 5-3 senior Amy Ortiz and 5-9 junior Jalyn Williams. Selected from Sands were 5-6 senior Stephanie Shortes and 5-8 senior Becky Webb.

Joining Balague as honorable mention were Sherrie McMorries of Grady, Jane Webb and Robin Roberts of Klondike, Missy Fowler of O'Donnell and Deanna Herm of Sands.

Sixers beat clock... well, maybe they do

by The Associated Press
The Philadelphia 76ers beat the clock, but only after their timekeeper held back the second hand.

Gerald Henderson's driving layup at the buzzer Monday night gave Philadelphia a 102-101 victory over the Chicago Bulls. But with four seconds left time stood still.

Or at least the clock did.

With four seconds remaining, the Bulls' Horace Grant missed two free throws: Mike Gminski grabbed the rebound and the Sixers called time.

The clock still read four seconds.

"If there's a tip and a rebound, a second has to go off the clock," Chicago Coach Doug Collins said. "I'm going to protest the game."

Collins protested at the scorer's table when Gminski called time. When Henderson scored to win the game, Collins charged the table and had to be restrained by his assistants.

"If the clock shows four seconds, it could be 4.9 seconds and the clock doesn't start until someone touches the ball," timer Jack Grosse said. "He said I never started it and that's not true."

Two Sixers, Gminski and Charles Barkley, agreed that Philadelphia should not have gotten four seconds for the final shot.

"I got a hand on it and tipped it to Mike," Barkley said.

"The ball got tipped over to me, but funny things happen at home," Gminski said. "However, I wasn't going to go over and plead Doug's case for him."

In other games, the Dallas beat Denver 123-96, Washington beat Golden State 110-105, Utah beat Sacramento 115-110 and Portland beat Cleveland 107-94.

Henderson said the drive for the final basket also was a mistake.

"The play wasn't designed like it happened," he said. "Charles was the first option. I tried to get as close as I could and a couple of their guys had their backs turned, looking for Barkley."

"Obviously Henderson made a super play," Philadelphia Coach Jim Lynam said. "Whoever was guarding him got lost in traffic."

Barkley scored 26 points and had 11 rebounds. Michael Jordan had 35 points for Chicago.

Mavericks 123, Nuggets 96
Roy Tarpley scored six points during a 16-3 fourth-quarter spurt as Dallas won a club-record ninth consecutive game.

Rolando Blackman also had six points during the streak, which pushed Dallas from an 85-85 tie to a 103-88 lead with 5:49 left.

Tarpley finished with 15 points and 21 rebounds. Earlier in the day he was named NBA Player of the Week.

Danny Schayes scored 21 points for the Nuggets.

Bullets 110, Warriors 105
Moses Malone scored 33 points, including 10 in a 14-6 run at the start of the third quarter to lead Washington to its third consecutive victory.

Washington went ahead 64-53 with the burst over the first six minutes of the second half and was ahead the rest of the way.

Otis Smith scored a career-high 29 points to lead the Warriors.

Jazz 115, Kings 110
Karl Malone scored 41 points, tying his career high, including the basket that put Utah ahead for good at 101-100 with 5:18 left.

Thurl Bailey and Bobby Hansen added 21 points each for Utah. Malone also had 15 rebounds.

Reggie Theus scored 22 points for Sacramento.

Trail Blazers 107, Cavaliers 94
Jerome Kersey scored 33 points and the Trail Blazers held Cleveland to 18 points in the fourth quarter as Portland won its third straight game.

Kersey also had eight rebounds, made five steals and blocked three shots.

Clyde Drexler, who scored 18 points, gave Portland its largest lead at 96-87 with 3:34 remaining. Brad Dougherty scored 23 points for Cleveland.

Reed takes over for New Jersey
EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) - Willis Reed did not take the New Jersey Nets head coaching job unaware that the club has problems, lots of problems.

Injuries, lack of leadership, drug problems and three straight losing seasons only highlight the Nets' woes.

But beyond the problems, Willis Reed found something he has been looking for for almost 10 years, a return to the NBA head coaching ranks.

"This is going to be a challenge," the 45-year-old Reed said. "But I like coaching. There are only 23 jobs like this in this league and when you get the opportunity for one you have to take it."

The Nets ended a 12-week search for a coach Monday by naming Reed as their third coach this season and giving him the job of turning around a team that has won only 12 of 54 games this season.

The Nets did not disclose the length of Reed's contract, but sources said it was three years.

"I don't know if this is a troubled franchise," said Reed, a Hall of Fame center with the New York Knicks in their heyday in the late 1960s and early 70s. "I think they have problems. However, I don't see them as problems that can't be resolved."

Reed said his main job will be to evaluate his players the rest of the season.

In taking over, Reed replaces interim coach Bob MacKinnon, who compiled a 10-29 mark after taking over for the fired Dave Wohl in early December. Under Wohl, the club won only two of its first 15 games.

MacKinnon will return to his job as assistant general manager, and Reed said he plans to retain assistant coaches Garry St. Jean and Bob Wenzel for at least the rest of the season.

Activists and reps travel to El Paso

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Actor Alan Thicke says he has made a peace of sorts with animal-rights activists who plan to picket tonight's Miss USA pageant to protest the awarding of furs to the winner.

The controversy over the mink coat and jacket overshadowed the last-minute pageant preparations, as the 51 contestants spent Monday rehearsing for the nationally televised competition.

Thicke, the co-host of the pageant, said Monday that he and protest organizer Bob Young agree that fur-trapping is cruel to animals, but disagree on whether fur farming is cruel.

Thicke also has invited Young to appear on "Animal Crack-Ups," a children's show that Thicke hosts. Thicke ends each show with the words: "Here's hoping you'll be kind to animals."

Young, who is director of the Las Cruces, N.M., chapter of Sangre de Cristo Animal Rights, has said Thicke is hypocritical for hosting the pageant because it awards furs and Thicke describes himself as an animal lover.

Thicke was named the contest's host after 21-year Miss USA veteran Bob Barker quit over the awarding of a mink coat and mink jacket worth a total of $15,000.

Though Thicke and Young seemed to have cooled their war of words, others are heating it up. Both sides of the issue have sent envoys to El Paso to argue their side of the controversy.

George Clements, director of the 7,000-member Association for the Protection of Fur Bearing Animals, flew down from Vancouver, Canada, and held a news conference to demonstrate several leg traps used to catch wild mink, fox, beaver and other animals. He showed a brief videotape showing animals caught in leg traps.

"I believe if any of the young ladies entering this contest could see these traps ... I don't think any of them would wear a fur coat again," he said.

But Robert Buckler, executive director of the St. Paul, Minn.-based Fur Farm Animal Welfare Coalition, contended most fur coats are made from animals raised humanely on farms.

Seven leap year babies attend party

ANTHONY, Texas (AP) — Mary Ann Brown promises her next birthday bash will be even bigger because she'll have four years to plan it.

Monday's party wasn't just for Mrs. Brown. She invited every person born on a Feb. 29 — leap-year day — and seven leap-year children showed up.

Mrs. Brown, who was born Feb. 29, 1932, was instrumental in persuading leaders of Anthony to dub the town the Leap Year Capital of the World.

Mrs. Brown and her friend Birdie Lewis are both members of the town's chamber of commerce and both were born on leap year day. While pondering the coincidence about a month ago, they hit on the leap year capital idea.

"We're always looking for something to plug our town and we said, 'Why not start a Leap Year Birthday Club,' because no one had done that," she said.

Monday's party at Mrs. Brown's husband's auto-parts store was somewhat like any other birthday party. She served cake and punch. But Mrs. Brown said the Feb. 29, 1992, celebration will be a real blowout.

"We want to really be the leap year capital of the world," she said. "We'll probably have a parade and some kind of jumping or gymnastics contest — something to do with leaping."

Twenty-two people joined the birthday-club, and Mrs. Brown handed certificates to the oldest, youngest and farthest-away members of the Leap Year Birthday Club to show up at the party.

Anthony, which lies 16 miles west of El Paso and is bisected by the Texas-New Mexico line, long has been hailed as "The Best Town in Two States." Mrs. Brown said she hopes the leap year capital designation garners more attention.

The birthday club garnered memberships from cities as distant as Munich, Germany, and Elmira, New York.

The attendee who came the farthest was Pauline Higgins, 68, of Canyon, Texas — about 400 miles away. She said she was in El Paso to visit her son during her birthday, and he suggested she go to the party.

"We did and we're glad we did because we had a wonderful time," she said, biting into a piece of cake.

Laura V. Wegsheider, 72, of El Paso, was the oldest leap-year baby present. She said people treat her as someone special on leap-year day, including the editors of the newspaper in Temple, Texas, where she used to live.

"I hear from a lot of friends on leap year that I don't hear from otherwise," she said. "At 40, in Temple, I was on the front page of the Temple Telegram. I said, 'If I look fat, I'll sue.'"

Mrs. Brown said she wants the party to go on the record books as the largest-ever gathering of leap-year babies.

"Someone'll have to prove it isn't," she said.

Children's book discusses cancer

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My child has leukemia. Is there a book that will help her to cope with her treatment?

DEAR READER: Since your child is obviously under the care of doctors familiar with the treatment of leukemia, such hematologists will, I am certain, be able to refer you to resources that would be suitable and helpful. However, you might look into ordering "Learn About Leukemia," a coloring book for children of elementary-school age and younger; it is available from the Leukemia Society of America, 733 Third Ave., New York, NY 10017. There is no charge.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I have had varicose veins since age 37. My doctor is reluctant to refer me to a surgeon for vein stripping but is not specific about the reason for his reluctance. Is this procedure dangerous?

DEAR READER: Any surgical procedure carries risks. However, I do not know why your doctor is reluctant to refer you for a surgical opinion. Insist on an explanation. The slight risks of venous stripping, such as infection and scarring, may be outweighed by the potential benefits. You also might want to look into alternative treatments — for example, sclerosing (injection) or laser therapy. Just because you obtain a second — or even a third — opinion doesn't mean that you are obligated to a particular course of treatment. Additional opinions will simply give you more information on which to base your decision about what to do.

To help you, I am sending you free a copy of my Health Report, AN INFORMED APPROACH TO SURGERY. Other readers who would like a copy should send $1 and their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I have had a paralyzed vocal cord for 20 years. It takes me a long time to get sentences out and projecting my voice is very tiring. My husband is impatient and can't take time to listen. Would Teflon treatment help?

DEAR READER: The vocal cords are two strong bands of tissue in the larynx. There is a slit between the vocal cords, through which air passes. If the slit is narrow and the cords are tightly contracted, the tissues vibrate at a higher sound frequency than is the case when the opening is large and the cords are relaxed.

The tightening and relaxation of the vocal cords are controlled by muscles that are supplied by nerves. If the nerves are damaged — such as from injury or surgery — one or both vocal cords will fail to contract, therefore, vocalization will become difficult or impossible.

Since one of your cords is paralyzed, I assume that nerve damage is present. This situation is virtually impossible to correct and will not respond to reconstructive surgery on the cords themselves, such as using plastic implants to substitute for damaged chords.

There are, however, many electronic devices available to aid patients with damaged vocal cords. Such an "electronic voice box" might be suitable for you. Much of this equipment has been developed in the last few years, long after your problem started 20 years ago. Therefore, I urge you to seek an opinion from a qualified ear, nose and throat specialist who is familiar with the newer prostheses. This specialist, working in concert with a speech pathologist, may be able to help you. Also, your husband might benefit from consulting with your specialists. If he understands the physical nature of your disorder, perhaps he will become more patient.

Are you missing out on co-op advertising funds that are available to you? Did you know that co-op advertising help from many of your manufacturers and suppliers can pay anywhere from half to all of your advertising costs? Every year manufacturers and suppliers make millions of dollars available to retailers, yet a good part of that help is lost because many retailers are not even aware of the fact that this money is available to them. your copy and put it all together in an eye-catching layout. Our staff can produce results for you, and best of all, the co-op available to you can pay as much as 100% of the costs. Call your local newspaper advertising representative now and take advantage of the hard-hitting results this paper can generate. If you're not already advertising and using valuable co-op dollars, we'll show you how co-op can stretch your promotional budget and, at times, pay the entire bill.

This year, 15,000 cocaine users are in for a real rush.

The numbers speak for themselves. In 1985, 13,501 cocaine users in the U.S. were rushed to hospital emergency rooms for emergency treatment. Of those, 660 died.

That was two years ago. This year thousands more people, many trying cocaine for the first time, will get a similar rush — down a busy street or a narrow hospital corridor. They'll discover the truth about cocaine. Cocaine is not safe. Cocaine is not recreational. In any form, cocaine is a serious health risk with deadly side effects. And it's a drug more addictive than heroin.

So the next time you find yourself bending over a line or lifting a spoonful of cocaine, remember, you may be in for more than just a high — you may be in for a real rush.
