

Girl, Palestinians killed in W. Bank

NABLUS, Occupied West Bank (AP) — An Israeli girl and two Palestinians were shot to death in a clash today between Israeli civilians and Arabs in a West Bank village, the army said. It said 14 Israelis were wounded.

There were conflicting reports on what led to the violence in Beita, about 15 miles from Nablus.

Palestinians who said they witnessed the clash from a half-mile away said about 30 Israeli settlers entered the village on foot and fired without provocation, killing one Arab.

Angry villagers then charged the settlers, the Palestinians said.

"The first man who was killed, Mousa Saleh Abu Shamsheh, was plowing his land," said Mohammed Abbas Aly. Abu Shamsheh was 20.

"When they heard a farmer was killed, they attacked the settlers with axes, picks and rocks."

Dukakis wins in Wisconsin

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Michael Dukakis, hoping "it's a sign of things to come," won an overwhelming victory over Jesse Jackson in Wisconsin and moved into the driver's seat as the 1988 Democratic presidential campaign rolled into Mario Cuomo's New York.

The Massachusetts governor won his first Midwestern primary on the strength of the blue-collar vote Tuesday, helping to ease doubts about his appeal even as it was raising questions about Jackson's ability to turn his enthusiastic crowds into success at the polls.

Wisconsin also rang the closing bell for Paul Simon's campaign, giving the Illinois senator a last-place finish.

Albert Gore Jr. spent heavily but remained an also-ran in third place. Just as Simon did here, Gore has put all his chips on the New York primary on April 19.

The New York contest puts the spotlight on Cuomo, who has often been mentioned as a potential draft at a deadlocked convention. But Dukakis' win is likely to tone down talk of drafting Cuomo or another Democrat.

The New York governor has not made an endorsement, but the Dukakis camp is hoping the Wisconsin win could put Dukakis in a good position to finally win the nod from his fellow governor.

There was a Republican primary in Wisconsin, but there were no doubts. Vice President George Bush, the nomination in everything but name, bested Pat Robertson by a 10-1 margin.

In the Democratic battle, Wisconsin gave Dukakis the boost he had to have and perhaps pointed to a ceiling on Jackson's support.

"I hope it's a sign of things to come," said Dukakis of what he called "a great victory."

With 99 percent of the precincts reporting, Dukakis had 481,857 or 48 percent, to 285,575 or 28 percent for Jackson. Gore had 176,009 for 17 percent, while Simon drew only 48,877 about 5 percent.

Dukakis edged Jackson among blue-collar workers, network exit polls said, and won white union workers outright. That was good news for the Massachusetts governor, who needed to show he can win that group, which is key to the party's hopes in the fall.

Even in Kenosha County, home of the doomed Chrysler plant where Jackson had made a splash by joining the picket line, Dukakis won with better than a 2-1 margin.

"I'm doing very well with working families... because people see in me someone who doesn't just talk about jobs," Dukakis said.

Lone bid offered for dirt contract

Price Brothers Construction was the low bidder Tuesday afternoon for the Texas Department of Corrections dirt work contract.

In fact, Price was the only bidder, a development one of the owners attributed to the company already having the necessary base material here in Snyder.

Although a half-dozen dirt contractors attended a pre-bid conference here last week, TDC project manager Larry Fickel noted that there was only one bid, for $109,631, at the 2 p.m. Tuesday bid-opening at city hall.

Ralph Price, who lives here while his brother, Bob, operates a branch of the company in Big Spring, said afterward that his company's work in leveling and renovating Winston Field airport provided an apparent wide margin of advantage in estimating costs for the TDC project.

He noted that the other companies would have had to prepare the base materials or bring them in from outside, while Price Brothers can simply move from the airport to the TDC site.

The job entails the construction of a 4,200-foot road around the unit and a 150-space parking lot, which must be complete before the primary contractor begins work in June or July.

The primary contract is scheduled to be awarded later this spring. Once the main phase of construction begins, Fickel estimated up to 350 workers "at the peak" would be involved in the project.

Fickel is also project manager for the construction of a maximum security TDC unit near Amarillo. He was accompanied to Snyder by TDC purchasing agents Jim Watson and Jerry Cornelius and pilot Andy Anderson.

The projected opening for the 1,000-man prison is May of 1989, TDC officials have said.

Two one-act competitions scheduled

Nine Texas high school one-act play troupes will be in Snyder Friday and Saturday as two separate play competitions are scheduled in Worsham Auditorium at Snyder High School.

Play-goers will have an opportunity to see a total of 10 one-act plays during the two days here.

On Friday, Snyder will be both host and competitor for an area one-act play contest for AAAA schools. On Saturday, SHS will be the host for a Class AAAAA high school one-act play event.

The AAAA competition will begin at noon Friday. By 8 p.m. that day, rehearsals will begin for the AAAA contest. The rehearsals will continue Saturday morning with the competition to begin at 1 p.m.

On Friday, Snyder High School's "The Corn is Green" will be performed at approximately 2 p.m.

The competing schools in addition to Snyder on Friday will be Andrews High School performing

"Tom Jones," Borger High School, "Picnic," and Levelland High School, "The Rimers of Eldritch."

At the AAAAA area contest on Saturday, schools competing will be San Angelo Central performing "The Actor's Nightmare," Sherman High School, "The Blood drive tops 200 donor mark

A friendly competition between city and county employees helped boost the donor numbers at Tuesday's blood drive to past the 200 mark.

In all, 243 individuals registered to donate and 203 pints of blood were drawn.

It was likely the second best blood drive ever held here, topped only by a special M-A-S-H drive conducted in 1986.

County employees won the inter-governmental competition to secure donors. At drive the county had an 81 percent participation ratio.

In addition, the "top recruiter" of the drive was Jimmy who heads the county department.

The number of new donors Tuesday was also near a record with 75 first-timers signed up. Ten regular blood drive donors were honored also Tuesday with "gallon" pin presentations. Those receiving pins were:

—Six one-gallon pins: Stan Pavlik, Judy Benson, Tommy Eubanks, Jimmy Callaway, Randy Davis and Anson Luna.

—Two two-gallon pins: Norman Neves and Jo Ann Williams.

—Two three-gallon pins: Gaylene Dobbs and Cheryl Jones. Blood drive officials also extended their thanks to Cub Scout Pack 258 for helping with the cleanup after the drive. Den leaders are Peggy Byrom, Lola Wagner and Glenda Treat. The scouts who worked were Eugene Durst, Lupe Gurra, Jason Kenner, Michael Navejar, Paul Resendiz, James Turnbo, Chris West and Joshua Treat.

Blood drives are held here every eight weeks and are jointly sponsored by Cogdell Memorial Hospital Auxiliary and the local advisory council for UBS.

Fixup plan seeks funds

The Snyder Neighbors Sharing group, which plans to renovate seven homes here April 30 to benefit elderly or handicapped residents, has set a fund raising goal of $2,000 for these projects.

To raise this amount, donations are now encouraged from the community. The money will go towards purchasing materials to complete these home repairs.

In addition, sponsors are seeking volunteers to work on the project. All types of workers are needed, from carpenters to painting and clean up crews.

A meeting of all interested workers is scheduled here April 14 at 7 p.m. at the Martha Ann Woman's Club.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Psychologists say no person should keep too much to himself. That sounds like the IRS."

There's been an on-going debate at Stinson Drug about which profession is viewed most favorably by the public. The issue came up several weeks ago when pharmacist Dean Floyd read an article about occupations and how they are viewed by the public.

Floyd naturally surmised that the hometown pharmacist is at the top of the list—but lawyers, used car dealers and insurance peddlers in the crowd presented arguments for their line of work.

It caused us to think about some of the occupations which are most difficult. Tax collectors, without doubt, have a difficult time, and there are Biblical accounts of how they were viewed by citizens of the day.

It seems to us that folks who have to care for the sick and those who daily work with children also have a difficult task.

But without doubt, the most difficult job in town is that of an animal control officer. It has been said there are three things that most upsets a man:

(1) Messing with his kids; (2) Messing with his dog; and (3) Messing with his wife—and in that order.

A bureau of the federal government is getting a dose of its own red-tape medicine. It seems that the Agriculture Research Service in Beltsville, Md., is wanting to conduct field tests to control the corn-borer insect.

The roadblock has been the bureaucratic maze to get an environmental use permit from the EPA. "Some researchers are concerned that a field trial might upset the public and produce a fight...and perhaps land up in court..."

It seems we have become a nation that is hostage to our own rules and regulations. Pass the tums!

Elderly man hurt in crash

An 83-year-old Snyder man was injured in a two-pickup collision at 3:14 p.m. Tuesday at 30th St. and El Paso Ave.

Police said a 1985 Chevrolet Silverado driven by Lloyd Harvey Merritt of 500 30th St. was westbound on 30th and a 1981 Silverado driven by Michael Alton Beasley, 23, of 2408 Sunset Ave. was northbound on El Paso when the collision took place.

Merritt was taken to Cogdell Memorial Hospital by Snyder EMS Ambulance Service. A hospital spokesman said he suffered bruises and abrasions but no broken bones and that he was listed in good condition while being held for observation Wednesday morning.

Both vehicles were towed from the scene.

Q. — Who would you ask to see if a group can obtain the old drive-in movie screen that is to be taken down when Wal-Mart begins construction?

A. — Clearing the site will be the responsibility of the property owners, according to the architecture firm for Wal-Mart. The number to inquire about the movie screen is the general offices for Noret Theatres in Lubbock, (806) 792-0964.

Date fixup

Contrary to the date on invitations for the annual volunteers' recognition banquet at the Senior Citizens Center, the banquet will begin at 6:30 p.m. Friday, not Thursday, a spokesman said.

Volunteers should bring their invitations, administrative assistant Norma Laywell said, to be used in drawings for a quilt and other prizes.

AD meets

Scurry County Appraisal District board members met Tuesday evening in regular session and approved payment of March expenditures, the only action required at the meeting.

In attendance at the session were board members, Mairl McFaul, Julius Roemisch, Mickey Sterling, Dwain Williams and Doug Flynn. Also in session were Chief Appraiser Ray Peveler, Larry Crooks, assistant appraiser, Rona Sikes, county tax collector, and Jerry Church, Hermligh ISD superintendent.

Vote signup

Thursday is the final day to register to vote to be eligible to cast ballots in the May 7 elections which will decide races on the three county school boards, the Snyder city council and the Western Texas College board of trustees.

The process should be completed at the county clerk's office on the third floor of the Scurry County Courthouse.

Boy turns mom in for drugs

HOUSTON (AP) — A young boy involved in a child custody case has turned in his mother on drug charges, police say. It is the second such incident in suburban Bellaire in recent weeks. Diana Maria Daleo, 36, was released on $5,000 bond Tuesday after being charged with possession of hashish, police say. The woman was arrested after

James Beszborn Jr. admitted police to his home Monday and showed the officers the alleged controlled substance, prosecutor Lucy Davidson said. That incident followed an Aug. 28 case in which Joshua Reynolds, 13, also first called his father and then led officers to alleged cocaine and marijuana. Defense lawyers R.K. Hansen and Dick DeGuerin said that in both cases the boys want to live with their fathers, both of whom are involved in custody disputes. "This is an Orwellian nightmare," said DeGuerin, Reynolds' attorney. "We used to have a thing where neighbors don't spy on neighbors and kids don't turn in their parents." Bellaire Assistant Police Chief M.E. McGuire said such cases are "uncomfortable" for his officers to handle. "When the officers went to the Daleo house, they said, 'Do you really want to do this?' And without hesitation, the kid said, 'Yes, come on in,'" McGuire said. "We're more uncomfortable with the situation than with the law. That's the feeling that you get, the kid telling on the parents, but, still, maybe that's the only way they can get some help," he said.

Lunchroom Garbage Inventory Proves Waste in Face of Want

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1988 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I am a third-grader at Marion Street School in Lynbrook, N.Y. Our teacher, Mr. Freifeld, took the class down to the lunchroom to find out how many students threw out their lunches, because we talked about that letter in your column about how much they wasted in Arizona lunchrooms. First we found out how many kids ate in the lunchroom every day. There were 252. Then we looked in the garbage cans and counted the whole sandwiches that were thrown out. There were 39 untouched sandwiches, still in their wrappers. There were 30 half-sandwiches still wrapped. Peanut butter and jelly was thrown out the most!

elementary school, and he sees good food thrown away every day. Once the food is served, if it's not eaten, it cannot be given away or served again — it must be thrown into the garbage can. Untouched trays of lasagna, potato salad, fruit salad and jello molds are thrown away. Even unopened cartons of chocolate milk and orange juice that could be used the next day are thrown out. By the way, it's the children who get free lunches who throw out most of the food, so it's our tax dollars that go into the garbage cans! — FROM OHIO (DON'T SAY WHICH TOWN)

We figured that almost one out of every four people threw away all or half their lunch. With people starving all over the world, that is a lot of food to waste. It was enough to make you sick. We counted the drinks, too. We found 22 whole cartons of drink thrown out. Some were milk, but most were juice.

DEAR FROM OHIO: I regret to say that your letter was one of many that carried the same message. A pity that all edible food and unopened cartons can't be sent to the city mission to feed the hungry and homeless. — BALTIMORE

There was a whole pile of fruit — apples, oranges and bananas — that was thrown into the garbage. Good grapes, too. Our class decided that maybe the parents should ask their kids what they want for lunch, then maybe the kids wouldn't throw out so much. Thank you.

DEAR ABBY: An Arizona reader was appalled at the waste of good food by the children in the school lunchroom where she and her husband work. I feel exactly the same way about what's happening in our area. My son has laughed about the frequent "food fights" in the school cafeteria. The kids see nothing wrong in throwing food at each other. What a terrible waste! — BALTIMORE

CLAYTON COHN, LYNBROOK, N.Y. DEAR CLAYTON: Thanks for reporting the results of your lunchroom investigation. And how lucky you are to have a teacher like Mr. Freifeld, who makes learning fun and memorable. —

DEAR ABBY: I could have written the letter from the lady in Arizona who was appalled at the waste of food at the schools. My husband is also a custodian at an

U. S.... Median age at record high

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans are easing into their middle years, as growing numbers of maturing Baby Boomers boost the nation's median age to a record high of just over 32 years. The 35-44 age group represents the leading edge of the post-World War II Baby Boom and is the fastest-growing segment of the U.S. population, the Census Bureau reported Tuesday. And the population segments aged 85 and over and 75-84 rank second and third in growth since 1980, the Bureau said. This combination helped boost the nation's median age to 32.1 years as of last July 1, the highest ever.

"The 'Graying of America' is ... documented by its increasing age," observed bureau statistician Louisa Miller. Up from 31.8 in 1986, the median means that half of all Americans are older than that age and half younger. By race, blacks remain younger than whites, although both groups are maturing. For whites, the median age hit 33 for the first time, up from 32.7 in 1986. Black median age was 27.2, up from 26.9 and the first time that group had surpassed 27. The nation's median age first reached 30 in 1950, but the rapid growth of the Baby Boom that was then occurring pulled it back down in the following years. The Baby Boom consists of the estimated 20 million Americans born between 1946 and 1965. With the maturing of the Baby Boomers, the median has begun moving in the other direction. The growing elderly population has also helped raise the median, as improved medical care extends lifespans. "The repercussions of the Baby Boom are many and varied," Miller said. They are now at the age where they have more discretionary income and the effect can be seen in the nation's culture and marketing, she said. The generation's arrival spurred a boom in sales of baby products. It then proceeded to overwhelm the school system, following up with creation of a national orientation toward teen-age music and styles. Now, as the Baby Boomers set up more and smaller households, they are prompting a boom in housing sales and household goods, marketing experts say. "Further down the road, once they begin to reach retirement age, they will obviously have a great effect on the direction the country takes," Miller added. Meanwhile, the Boomers are being followed by the much smaller Baby Bust generation, leaving fast-food outlets, retail stores and others offering "first jobs" searching for employees, she said. The Boomers boosted the 35-44 age group by 33.8 percent between 1980 and 1987 to some 34.4 million people, the bureau reported. For Results Use Snyder Daily News Classified Ads Call 573-5486

Amtrak passengers leave town

SANDERSON, Texas (AP) — Folks in this tiny town say they won't forget the day 350 weary travelers were dropped on their doorstep.

A derailed freight-train near Alpine delayed an Amtrak train, traveling from New Orleans to Los Angeles, for about 10 hours in Sanderson on Tuesday.

For the 328 passengers and 18 crew members there was nothing to do but wait.

By 8 p.m., the Sunset Limited was rolling again and Southern Pacific Railroad officials said that by the time it reached Alpine, the derailed train would be removed.

But the travelers didn't leave before wiping out the pantry in the Kountry Kitchen, a barbecue restaurant.

"There's nothing left. They've cleaned us out," said John Sandifer, who operates the restaurant with his wife, Jeanie.

Amtrak officials said they could have derailed the train, but it would have taken 13 or 14 hours.

"We made a decision rather than detouring the train, we would have it stay in Sanderson," said Amtrak spokeswoman Debbie Marciniak, in a telephone interview from Chicago.

So, Amtrak contacted local officials in the town of 1,200 people, to accommodate the passengers and crew — including an impromptu mass-buffet barbecue for dinner.

"Everybody was real pleased since Amtrak was paying for it. Everyone I talked to was in a real good mood," Sandifer said. By 7 p.m., the last of the barbecue brisket, sausage, hamburgers, hot dogs, baked beans and potato salad had been eaten, he said.

"We just barely made it," he said.

Jeanie Sandifer said the wayfarers were average tippers.

Before getting back on board, the passengers were treated to a tour of the town by the local historical society. Children were taken to a park to play and the movie "La Bamba" was offered in the train's theater.

Ruth McKenzie of Conroe was en route to her brother's home in Phoenix when the train was delayed. She said she decided to take the train because "I wasn't in a hurry and they're more comfortable." But after spending the day, sipping tea with her daughter at the Kountry Kitchen, she wasn't sure she would use her return ticket.

"That's still debatable," Ms. McKenzie said. "I don't know if I'm going to turn that ticket in and just fly back or what. I'm tired of this waiting."

"They were in better spirits than I thought they would be in. Nobody got rowdy, nobody got loud," said S.M. Chalambaga, a crew dispatcher for Southern Pacific, of the delayed passengers.

"We've had a problem and they've really come through to help us," Ms. Marciniak said of the townspeople. "Most people on that train would never expect to see historical sights in Sanderson, Texas, but it will probably be something that they will never forget."

Sanderson, about 120 miles west of Del Rio and about 180 miles south of San Angelo, is the seat of Terrell County, which has fewer than 2,000 residents.

Deputy has lost his job

LIBERTY, Texas (AP) — A Liberty County deputy sheriff lost his job after his name appeared in a political advertisement supporting a sheriff's candidate.

Leon Wilson, 30, was terminated by Liberty County Sheriff E.W. "Sonny" Applebe, who supports another candidate in the April 12 Democratic Party runoff.

Wilson supports former Chief Deputy Clay Autery, while Applebe supports former state trooper O.J. Stewart.

According to Wilson, Applebe urged members of his department to go out and work "hard" to get Stewart elected, but he also said they could support Autery if they wished, he said.

"I wouldn't have done it (support Autery) if he didn't say we could," Wilson said. "He told us we could to every degree."

Applebe said Monday he dismissed Wilson because he broke the long-time, written department policy barring deputies from participating in political activities without the sheriff's permission.

An unwise double

By James Jacoby

When West misinterpreted partner's bidding, he made a foolish double that gave declarer enough information to make the contract. Of course East had enough shape to try for game, but his bid of three clubs conveyed the false impression that he also had some defensive strength. It would have been better if he had simply bid three hearts — a mild try for game. No doubt South would still have bid four spades, but now West would refrain from doubling.

After doubling, West led the heart 10. Declarer won the ace and led the queen of spades. (The double had identified the location of the defenders' spade honors.) When West did not cover the queen, the defense was assured of getting two spade tricks, and South had to avoid the loss of a club. So he played dummy's A-K of diamonds and ruffed a diamond. West overruffed and played a heart to East, who returned a club. Declarer grabbed the ace and played to dummy's spade ace, and the good diamond provided a parking place for the losing club as West ruffed with his remaining spade.

So four spades doubled was made, and my question for readers is a simple one. Could declarer have ever played the spade suit as he did, without the penalty double from West?

James Jacoby's books "Jacoby on Bridge" and "Jacoby on Card Games" (written with his father, the late Oswald Jacoby) are now available at bookstores. Both are published by Pharos Books.

Use of charge cards are to be reviewed

AUSTIN (AP) — Secretary of State Jack Rains says he will review Texas election laws to determine whether some top state officials violated campaign disclosure laws by making payments to credit card companies that fail to explain expenditures.

Several officials may have violated campaign finance laws by failing to properly document thousands of dollars in political expenses, the Dallas Morning News reported today.

Texas Election Code experts say the officials appear to be skirting disclosure requirements by making payments directly to credit card companies or by failing to explain in detail how thousands of dollars in campaign contributions were spent.

The Senate sponsor of 1981 revisions to the law, a member of the state Ethics Advisory Commission and the director of a citizens watchdog group told the newspaper the law requires a detailed accounting of all contributions and expenditures over $50.

Attorney General Jim Mattox last year spent more than $60,000 from his political account for purposes listed only as "miscellaneous expenses" in reports filed with the state, the newspaper reported. Some $24,000 of that was paid directly to credit card companies.

Gov. Bill Clements, state Comptroller Bob Bullock, Treasurer Ann Richards and Land Commissioner Garry Mauro have lumped together expenses for "travel." They sometimes paid with a credit card and occasionally drew cash travel advances from their political funds without providing details of how the money was spent, the newspaper reported.

State law requires political candidates and officeholders to file periodic reports with the secretary of state identifying political contributors, the amounts they give and how the money is spent.

The law requires disclosure of any payments over $50, including the date, amount and "purpose" of any such expenditure.

The Legislature tightened the act in 1981 following reports that officeholders were using contributions to pay for their children's college tuition, for kennel fees and other personal expenses.

John Hildreth, executive director of Common Cause, a public watchdog group, said lumping expenses together as miscellaneous not only is illegal but thwarts the intent of the campaign finance disclosure laws.

State Sen. Ted Lyon, D-Rockwall, who sponsored the 1981 revisions to the disclosure law, said the practice of using credit cards and broad categories to report expenses may be legal, but is not what lawmakers had in mind.

The Continental Congress passed a resolution in 1776 saying "these United Colonies are, and of right, ought to be, Free and Independent States."

Tigers nail Fort Stockton; play Lamesa 7 p.m. Friday

Snyder was at bat in the bottom of the sixth inning when pitcher Bert Otto walked up to a group of teammates and asked "Who's up for them next?"

Lee Fletcher waved him off, "Don't worry about it."

He didn't have to. Snyder's Tigers got their second straight victory in District 2-4A play here Tuesday night, this one by the 10-run rule - as the home town bunch flattened Fort Stockton, 12-2.

The win puts Coach Albert Lewis' squad at 2-3 in district play and 8-8-1 for the season as they prepare for Friday's 7 p.m. game in Lamesa.

Snyder managed three runs in each of the fifth and sixth innings to end Tuesday's contest prematurely. Otto gave up just six hits, and played a key factor in ending the game quickly when he got Fort Stockton to go down in order in the top of the sixth, then led off the bottom of the stanza with a bloop single to right field.

Snyder went into the inning leading 9-2. It became 10-2 when Shane McCarter, running for Otto, scored on an error. Willie Garcia and Bert Merritt walked. Wayne Ware singled up the middle to score Garcia, and next-up Brad Gartman walked to load the bases. Van Echols then hit into what looked like a routine out, but became the game winner when Gartman beat a throw to second. Ware was at second on the play also, but he wasn't tagged, and he beat a throw to third. In the meantime, Merritt had raced home with the winning run.

Echols had touched Fort Stockton starting pitcher Jake Banda for a double in the first inning, sending home Ware, who had walked, for Snyder's first run. Home runs, powered by Garcia and Gartman, made it a 5-0 lead in the second stanza. Garcia took his shot on the first pitch of the inning while Gartman's accounted for three runs, coming after David Martinez had walked and Ware had doubled.

The Panthers tried pitcher Jim Robledo in the third inning and he gave up a run-scoring double to Garcia. Otto led off with a single, McCarter came in to run, and Dollins sacrificed him to second, setting up Garcia's hit. Snyder was able to stack the bases later in the inning, but Robledo got out of it.

Robledo put the Tigers down in order in the fourth, but walked Dollins and Garcia to lead off the fifth. The runners advanced on a sacrifice from Merritt, then scored when David Martinez doubled to the fence. Gartman later singled David Martinez home, giving Snyder a 9-2 advantage.

Fort Stockton had gotten its two runs in the top of the third. Otto gave up four straight singles - two of them apparent outs until they suddenly bounced up and over the defense - to allow the runs. Aaron Ramirez and Josue Villa cracked the first two hits. Banda and Pete Martinez swatted them in. Otto helped himself out of the inning when he broke his windup to throw out Banda, who was trying to steal home. In a couple of other good defensive moves, Otto caught Villa off third base too far in the fourth inning, and Garcia, playing left field, gunned down Hernandez coming home in the fifth. Snyder collected 11 hits and enjoyed 10 walks. Banda took the loss. Otto walked one, struck out four and gave up six hits.

Fishin' patience

Friends who know me know patience isn't one of my virtues. Patience, we're talking about. Not fishin' patience.

My patience when it comes to "angling" is such that it borders on poor technique. I sit. And sit. Cast this way. Cast that way. Change bait. Try different depths. Bounce a jig off the rocks. Drop a worm in near the weeds. But don't move. I'm here to stay.

Most of the fishermen I've talked to don't stay in one spot. They give it a chance but if they don't get a bite, they look for a better spot. I could probably stay in the same five-foot area for 15 hours.

I learned fishin' patience from my dad. He's been confined to a wheel chair since World War II. That didn't stop him from taking us fishing, among other things. But the wheel chair meant limited terrain since we didn't have a boat, and the fact that a 10 to 16-year old kid was carrying most of the gear kept us from moving around freely. In fact, our favorite fishing trips began late in the evening. We'd unload and gear up while it was still light, fish all night and head home about 9 or 10 the next morning.

It took a few minutes to unload and get settled. Probably the hardest thing was hauling that tackle box from the car to the fishing spot and back. I don't honestly remember how many levels or trays the thing had. But it was big, and like most of the boxes in the 1950s and 60s it was made of metal.

There was a lot of stuff in that tackle box. Plastics weren't widely used yet, but that tackle box had all the old standbys in artificial lures. There were a couple of stringers, crappie rigs, corks, two extra reels, hundreds of yards of line, hooks in every imaginable size and style, weights in assorted size and style, swivels, pliers, pocket knives, suntan lotion, stinkbait. You name it. My dad liked to be prepared. We were loaded for anything that swam and more often than not we caught enough to have fish for five later in the week.

Of course it took a while to learn fishin' patience. At first, I changed bait every 2 minutes. And eventually, I'd go through half the tackle box. I got cranky and threw rocks in the water and went exploring just like any other kid when he doesn't get a nibble now and again.

In time, I learned fishin' patience. And I began to appreciate the hills and rocks and trees for something different than just obstacles between me and the fishing hole. And I learned that a good fishing trip isn't always measured by the amount of fish you catch.

I go fishing when I can, now. This year I may have to buy a new tackle box. The other one's only a couple of years old, but it's getting full. In addition to all those old standbys, they keep coming out with these new things. And, I like to have everything where I can get to it. 'Cause I don't like to move around a lot.

This summer, I'm planning on going fishing with my dad again. It will be the first time in a long time. I'm going to enjoy it. But I dread carrying those tackle boxes.

Nope, I don't have much patience. But I got fishin' patience. Thanks, Dad.

Netters ready for district

ODESSA - Coach Charlie Chrane's Tigers head for the District 2-4A Tennis Tournament here Friday at Odessa College.

Playing for Snyder will be singles players Kim White, Robbye Morales, Kevin Winter, Brandon Martin, and doubles players Andrea Veazey, Mary Ann Suarez, Lori McFarland, Deone Farmer, Tracy Clemmons, John Griffin, Alfred Brice and Michael Rodriguez. Freshmen entered are Gayle Henderson, Rachel Wilson and Darin Sparlin.

First-round matches will be held Friday morning; second-round matches Friday afternoon. Semifinals begin at 9 a.m. Saturday and finals will be held at noon. Third place matches will also be held at noon.

Champion and runnerup singles and doubles teams will advance to regional competition.

Bass Club meets April 7

Snyder Bass Club will meet Thursday, April 7, instead of April 14, this month, it has been noted.

The club will meet at 7:30 p.m. in Towle Park Barn. The early meeting will give members a chance to discuss the April Tournament, to be held at Lake Spence on Saturday and Sunday in conjunction with the club Open and the Tye Chamber of Commerce Open.

Anyone interested in learning more about the club is urged to attend Thursday's meeting.

Would-be-murderers testify they failed in attempts to kill

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Admitted accomplices in a botched contract murder allegedly initiated by a Soldier of Fortune magazine advertisement said they tried three times to kill a man, but were unsuccessful.

Testimony began this week in the trial of Richard Michael Savage, 39, of Knoxville, Tenn., accused of masterminding a bungled murder-for-hire scheme.

An October 1986 indictment states that in response to Savage's "Gun for Hire" advertisement, a woman named Alice V. Brado hired him to kill Colorado businessman Dana Free, a man she said bilked her out of her $300,000 life savings.

The indictment names four other people, including Ms. Brado who pleaded guilty to paying Savage $20,000 to arrange Free's death. She later died in prison.

Tuesday, William Clayton Buckley, also named in the indictment, testified that Savage hired him to do the job, and said the first time he tried to kill Free with hand grenades attached to the bottom of a car, the bombs did not explode as expected when the ignition was turned on.

Buckley said Free drove around the Atlanta, Ga., area for a couple of days with grenades dangling underneath his vehicle, until Buckley rewired the bombs.

Michael Wayne Jackson, former police chief in Tatum, Texas, testified Tuesday he met Savage in Atlanta after Savage answered an advertisement the former police chief placed in Soldier of Fortune, offering bodyguard and surveillance work.

Shortly after they met, Jackson said Savage brought up the idea of blowing up someone's car with hand grenades, after a previous attempt had failed.

Jackson said he refused to rewire the hand grenades but agreed to stand watch while someone else hooked up the bombs.

In the second attempt, only one of the bombs blew up, Buckley said.

Free testified Monday he was able to jump from the car and was not hurt in the Aug. 2, 1985, incident.

Buckley and Sherry Lynn Breeden, who also was named in the October 1986 indictment, said Tuesday that Savage sent them to Houston about two months later to find a residence where Free was believed to be staying.

They said Savage supplied them with a car, gasoline credit card, hand grenades, a silenced .45-caliber pistol a semi-automatic Uzi rifle and ammunition, and wired expense money daily.

Buckley said a plan to shoot Free was shelved, because there were too many witnesses in the Pasadena neighborhood where they thought he was staying.

They tried to follow him and shoot him elsewhere, but lost Free in traffic, Buckley added.

They said they lobbed hand grenades through two front windows of the house.

But Free had left two weeks earlier, said Bernard Flynn, who was sleeping in a back bedroom early on Oct. 12, 1985, when his kitchen and living room were bombed.

"I heard the grenades go off simultaneously," Flynn said. "That's what woke me up."

Ms. Breeden and Buckley said Savage was upset to learn they had used the hand grenades, because they never saw Free dead.

"Mr. Savage preferred that the people who did contract work for him follow his instructions to the letter," Buckley said.

Ms. Breeden said Savage was further angered to learn a few weeks later that Free was still alive.

"Bill (Buckley) had messed up again, in other words," Ms. Breeden said.

Savage's trial was moved from Houston, due to publicity from an unrelated civil suit in which a jury in Houston found Soldier of Fortune negligent, and awarded $9.4 million to the family of a woman killed in a contract allegedly arranged through an advertisement.

Charges against Savage include conspiracy to transport explosives interstate, traveling interstate to facilitate a murder, inducing others to travel interstate to commit murder, sending money orders via wire interstate and using a firearm in a crime of violence.

Savage is serving a 40-year prison term for arranging the beating death of the former assistant city manager of West Palm Beach, Fla., in an attack arranged through a Soldier of Fortune advertisement.

Jackson, who was police chief of Tatum for four weeks in 1978, is serving time in federal prison in Texarkana following state and federal convictions for crimes committed in Arkansas and Georgia.

Buckley and Ms. Breeden have pleaded guilty in the case. Ms. Breeden is serving three concurrent four-year sentences. Buckley has not been sentenced, but is serving prison terms in connection with other attempted murder plots in Georgia, Kentucky and Arkansas.

Staff is ordered off payroll

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Democrat Rose Mofford, who began her government career 47 years ago as a secretary, was sworn in as Arizona's first female governor, saying she's proud of her new job but sad about how she got it.

Mrs. Mofford, 65, widely known as "Auntie Rose," commenced her term with wholesale housecleaning of the administration of Evan Mecham, the elected Republican governor convicted and removed from office Monday by a Senate court of impeachment.

She ordered Mecham's personal staff of about 20 off the payroll as of April 15, withdrew the names of 45 Mecham appointees from Senate consideration for now and said she would review agency chiefs to see who would stay.

Mrs. Mofford, who had been acting governor since Feb. 5, also promised to sign a tax increase, a policy opposed by the Mecham administration, but did not know how large it would be.

"I am relieved to have the 'acting' qualifier removed from in front of the title of this office, and I am moving forward with enthusiasm," Mrs. Mofford, who became Arizona's 18th governor, told a news conference.

"Little did I realize 47 years ago that this would happen," she told an invitation-only group of staff members in her protocol office earlier in the day.

Mecham, the first U.S. governor in 59 years to lose his job through impeachment conviction, told supporters Tuesday he isn't ready to give up politics.

"This is just another chapter in a book, and this book isn't near the end," he said. "I haven't yet determined what my course will be."

Also Tuesday, the Arizona Supreme Court allowed a pro-Mecham group to drop its challenge to the May 17 gubernatorial recall election. Concerned Arizona Voters said it wanted to dismiss its case because it now sees the recall as the former governor's last hope for regaining his office.

However, Mecham attorney Jerris Leonard said he does not believe Mecham can run in any election until 1990 because the Senate removed him from the four-year term he began in January 1987.

The Supreme Court could decide this week whether a recall election is necessary since Mecham was the target.

It is possible the election could remove Mrs. Mofford from office. Her chief of staff, Andrew Hurwitz, said he had been negotiating with acting Secretary of State Karen Osborne and Attorney General Bob Corbin in hopes of exempting Mrs. Mofford from the recall.

Corbin believes the recall should be held as scheduled, but Mrs. Osborne, a longtime Mofford aide, hopes to have it canceled.

Mrs. Mofford has refused to comment about the recall, and a state resign-to-run law could put her in jeopardy if she campaigns actively.

Also uncertain was Mecham's ballot status.

Key post remains unfilled

WASHINGTON (AP) — Attorney General Edwin Meese III is trying to fill a key Justice Department post left vacant by a protest resignation, after settling for his second choice for the department's No. 2 post.

Meese announced Tuesday that he is recommending former American Bar Association president John C. Shepherd for the No. 2 job. He also said he has chosen Treasury Department enforcement chief Francis A. Keating for the department's No. 3 position, which had opened before six protest resignations rocked the department last week.

Still unfilled is the job of head of the department's criminal division.

The choices announced Tuesday drew support from the ranking Republican on the Senate Judiciary Committee. Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina last week had conveyed congressional concern to Meese over problems at the Justice Department in the wake of the protest resignations by Deputy Attorney General Arnold Burns, Assistant Attorney General William Weld of the criminal division, and four of their aides.

Burns and Weld resigned out of concern that the nearly 11-month criminal investigation of Meese by independent counsel James C. McKay was hurting the Justice Department's operations and image.

Shepherd was Meese's second choice to replace Burns, after former federal appeals judge Arlin Adams of Philadelphia turned it down, citing a heavy private caseload.

Keating, a former FBI agent, would fill the post vacated by Associate Attorney General Stephen Trotter, who is leaving the department to become a federal appeals court judge.

Thurmond said of Shepherd and Keating, "From what I now know about these two fine individuals I look forward to supporting their confirmation."

Meese said he probably will announce a recommended replacement for Weld after returning from a week-long trip to South America to discuss drugs with officials in several countries there.

Vietnam returns 27 remains believed to be American

HANOI, Vietnam (AP) — U.S. military guards today reclaimed 27 remains believed to be those of Americans killed in the Vietnam War — the largest such repatriation since 1973.

The U.S. military team saluted as the remains, each in a metal case topped with a folded American flag, were loaded one by one onto a U.S. Air Force cargo plane for a flight to army laboratories in Hawaii. The brief, solemn ceremony was held under overcast skies.

Vietnam also returned three other remains they identified as those of ethnic Asians but who could be missing Americans.

It was the largest such transfer of remains since the last American forces withdrew from South Vietnam on March 29, 1973, opening the way for the communist victory in April 1975. Three million Americans served in Vietnam, and 58,000 died.

Also today, Vietnamese officials angrily rejected charges that Hanoi was dragging its feet on accounting for 1,767 Americans who remain listed as missing in action in the war. Vietnam has threatened to end its cooperation in repatriating other American remains if Washington maintains its criticisms.

In a meeting today with visiting U.S. Sen. Larry Pressler, R-S.D., Foreign Minister Nguyen Co Thach responded heatedly to a recent Pentagon suggestion that the communists have been storing remains and returning them little by little, said an American negotiator requesting anonymity.

The head of Vietnam's accounting office for missing in action, Nguyen Can, had dismissed the charge as "nonsense" the day before. "The next time they make such a statement, we will have to reconsider whether we will do the job. This shows there is no goodwill on the part of the U.S."

At today's ceremony, two dozen peasants in bamboo hats and other bystanders with bicycles squatted in an adjacent field to watch as the remains were turned over at Hanoi's Noi Bai airport.

Pressler joined the team from the U.S. Joint Casualty Resolution Center in saluting as the U.S. Army guard placed the caskets into the belly of the C-141 plane.

Lt. Col. Paul Mather, head of the U.S. Air Force team, said the Vietnamese provided a list of names for at least half of the 27 remains. Some of those names are on the official U.S. list, he said. Most caskets contained many sizable pieces of bone, he said.

Some of the remains were reportedly found near Hanoi, suggesting they are those of airmen shot down during intense U.S. bombing runs in the heartland of communist North Vietnam. The United States has made such cases a priority because it says those remains are most likely to be located.

The United States and Vietnam, which have no diplomatic ties, frequently have bickered over the issue of remains, and Hanoi thus far has returned 152 remains that the U.S. Army has confirmed as those of Americans missing in action. The previous largest transfer was Aug. 14, 1985, and involved 26 remains, at least 24 of which were positively identified as Americans.

"This being the largest, we hope it means increased collaboration," U.S. Pacific Command spokeswoman Maj. Virginia Byla said today. However, she agreed with other U.S. officials that Vietnam has more information about remains than it has divulged.

Pressler said he told Thach many Americans believe Vietnam was not forthcoming on the issue and may even still be holding American prisoners of war. He said Thach responded that if any U.S. congressmen had evidence of such prisoners, the foreign minister would personally accompany him in a helicopter to investigate.

"After this trip, I'm more convinced that they are making a full faith effort to close this chapter, but it's not closed in the minds of many Americans," said Pressler, a Vietnam War veteran.

It was the fourth return of remains since Vietnam agreed in August talks with U.S. presidential envoy John W. Vessey to resume repatriation efforts after months of deadlock.

But Vietnam's deputy foreign minister, Nguyen Dy Nien, on Tuesday charged that Washington had failed to carry out its part of the agreement. He said Vietnam was awaiting direct U.S. aid for postwar reconstruction.

If it wants a full accounting of its missing, Washington must demonstrate "its concern, its direct commitment," he told Pressler.

U. S. troops, supplies arrive in Panama

PANAMA CITY, Panama (AP) — As military transport jets brought in the first of 1,300 additional U.S. troops, Panama's military regime said it was willing to negotiate with the opposition — then inexplicably withdrew the offer.

The government, which is controlled by the Defense Forces chief, Gen. Manuel Antonio Noriega, issued a statement Tuesday saying it was willing to meet with opposition leaders in talks mediated by the Roman Catholic Church.

Later, the government said the statement was void and sent a messenger to news organizations' offices to reclaim it. No explanation was given for the move, and government officials met late into the evening.

Opposition leaders have said they will not enter such talks until the government frees all political prisoners, allows opposition news media to reopen and promises that Noriega will be willing to resign and leave Panama.

The government statement had not addressed those conditions.

Also Tuesday, leading opposition activist Ricardo Arias Calderon asked for the protection of the Catholic Church after four carloads of state security police surrounded his home. Calderon, who is president of the Christian Democratic Party, fled his home before the police arrived and appeared later with the Rev. Oscar Brown, the auxiliary archbishop of Panama City.

U.S. military transports began touching down about once an hour at Howard Air Force Base near Panama City on Tuesday in an airlift that was to bring another 1,300 troops, 26 helicopters, police dogs and equipment into the country by late Thursday.

The extra forces were ordered after a five-week campaign of economic and political pressure failed to oust Noriega, whose strength lies in the 15,000-strong Panamanian Defense Forces.

Noriega was indicted in the United States in February on federal charges of trafficking in Colombian cocaine.

Woman kills family, then shoots herself

LOS CHAVEZ, N.M. (AP) — A woman fatally shot her husband and three of their children, then waited a day before killing herself, because she feared financial problems would break up her family, police said.

"She asked that she be forgiven for her sins," said Valencia County Undersheriff Bill Roach, quoting from one of two notes left by Jacqueline Fuson.

The bodies of Mrs. Fuson, 38, her husband, Thomas A. Fuson, 45; Johnny R. Fuson, 18; Mamie Jolene Fuson, 12, and Amanda Fuson, 10, were discovered Tuesday at their home in this rural community 25 miles south of Albuquerque.

Roach said one note was brief and dealt with what should be done with the family's pet dog and property. The second, much more detailed, was addressed to her surviving son, Charlie, who lives in Alamogordo.

A neighbor found Mrs. Fuson's body outside the front door of the home and notified police. Inside the modest pink stucco house police found the bodies of her husband and three children in separate bedrooms.

Thomas Fuson had been shot twice in the chest and once in the head. The children each had been shot once in the head. All were killed as they slept, probably Sunday night, police said.

Mrs. Fuson was shot once in the chest and a .22-caliber revolver was found in her lap. She apparently killed her husband and the children Sunday night, and fatally shot herself either Monday night or Tuesday morning, Roach said.

Mrs. Fuson "apparently had stayed in the house with the victims" from the time they died until she shot herself, Roach said. "Evidently no one heard the shots."

Capt. Ray Flores of the sheriff's department said Mrs. Fuson's note to her son Charlie talked about the problems the family had endured.

"She said the family was having a tremendous financial burden," Flores said. "She said the father required an operation and the family didn't have the money to pay for it."

"She said the family had been so close and that she loved her children so much that she could not live and see them apart," Flores said. "She said she was tired of having to live this way and she could see no other alternative."

According to Roach, one of the notes said the family "would meet later and be together and wouldn't suffer any more."

The Fusons, who had been married about 22 years, moved here about two years ago from Carlsbad, said Mrs. Fuson's sister, Patricia Jones. Roach said Thomas Fuson, a plumber, needed a hernia operation and had been laid off several times recently.

Ms. Jones, of Moriarty, said she and her sister had frequently corresponded, but there was no indication of family problems. "Financial problems, yes, but that wasn't news," Ms. Jones said.

The bodies were sent to the office of the medical investigator in Albuquerque for autopsies.

Outside the family home Tuesday, neighbors comforted Charlie Fuson, who refused to be interviewed.

Jeff Sullivan, principal of Dennis Chavez Elementary School where Mamie Jolene was a sixth-grader and Amanda was a fifth-grader, spent much of Tuesday counseling the children's classmates about the deaths.

"They were very happy, wonderful kids," Sullivan said of the sisters.

Small grass fire extinguished here

Firemen were called to nine miles east of Snyder off U.S. 84 at 12:27 p.m. Tuesday to extinguish a grass fire on the old RS&P railroad right-of-way.

The call took until 1:10 p.m., and only a small area was burned, a spokesman said.

A 9:40 a.m. Tuesday call to Walls Industries at 1600 Scott Ave. was a false alarm, the plant's fire alarm having malfunctioned while employees were working on it, the department spokesman said.

Two are arrested

A 46-year-old man was arrested for DWI and a 51-year-old man for public intoxication at 12:31 p.m. Tuesday in the 1300 Block of 22nd St.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — More than 200 photographs of bound, tortured men were found in the bedroom of a man whose house and yard yielded skulls and bone fragments after his arrest on assault and sodomy charges, police said.

Robert A. Berdella's $500,000 bond was revoked Tuesday at a court hearing at which a police officer said one man, photographed bound and hanging from his ankles in Berdella's basement, appeared to be dead.

Berdella, 39, was arrested Saturday after a 22-year-old man wearing only a dog collar told police Saturday he had escaped from Berdella's home after four days of torture and sexual assault.

Bardella was charged with seven counts of forcible sodomy and one count each of felonious restraint and first-degree assault.

Authorities have searched Berdella's house and yard since his arrest, after the man apparently escaped from Berdella's three-story house by jumping from a second-story window and asked a neighbor to call police.

Michael Calderon, a neighbor, said Berdella told him about five years ago he was using his home as a halfway house for runaways and that young men often visited the house.

"I thought he was a father figure to those kids and I got adjusted to the fact that there were boys at his house," said Calderon.

Berdella also organized a neighborhood watch program after moving into the house on Charlotte Street, in a lower-middle class section of midtown Kansas City, about 16 years ago.

On Tuesday, investigators using shovels and a backhoe found small bone fragments in Berdella's back yard, but police did not know whether they were human bones.

Two skulls, one of which appears to be a relic, were found inside Berdella's home Saturday. A third was discovered buried in Berdella's back yard on Sunday. All are thought to be human.

The buried skull still had hair and what appeared to be deteriorating flesh on it and in the earth around it, according to evidence in the hearing before Associate Circuit Judge Charles L. Stitt.

Aging causes 'baggy eyes'

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My grandson asked me how people get bags under their eyes. I told him I didn't know but would ask you. Do you know?

DEAR READER: People usually get bags under their eyes during the aging process, as the skin becomes less elastic and sags. In addition, the accumulation of fluid, called edema, in the tissues around the eyes can cause bagginess. Bags under the eyes usually appear concomitantly with wrinkling. However, fatigue, fluid retention and disruption of blood flow from the head (as from certain tumors and inflammation) can produce swelling of the lower lids. Bags under the eyes from aging can, if severe, be treated successfully with plastic surgery.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Would you explain progressive supranuclear palsy? Is this just a more rapid form of Parkinson's?

DEAR READER: Progressive supranuclear palsy, also known as Steele-Richardson-Olszewski syndrome, is a rare neurological disease of unknown cause. It affects middle-aged patients and causes loss of voluntary eye movements, muscular rigidity, weakness, difficulty speaking and swallowing and eventual dementia. Patients show degeneration of vital nerve centers at the base of the brain. In rare cases, drugs to treat Parkinson's disease — a distinct and separate disorder — have been helpful in controlling the spastic rigidity of supranuclear palsy.

DEAR DR. GOTT: In the past few months, my mother has developed a problem. She makes frequent low-level moaning sounds. She's unaware of her habit and surprised when we bring it to her attention. She's active and in good health. This started after my father had a stroke. Is this a medical matter or is it psychological?

DEAR READER: Your mother may have become hard of hearing. As people age, they develop deafness; they cannot hear their own little moans and grunts. I believe that your mother's problem is physical. Have her hearing checked.

Honasan vows new attacks on government

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — The fugitive leader of an August coup attempt promised to stage new attacks on the government, but President Corazon Aquino today said mutineers lacked enough support to oust her.

A statement attributed to former Lt. Col. Gregorio "Gringo" Honasan said his group was withdrawing its promise of last November to cease hostile acts against Mrs. Aquino. That promise was made to give her time to fulfill pledges she made after Hopasan's Aug. 28 coup attempt to improve the government.

"It has become obvious by its own actions that the Aquino administration is incapable of ensuring the very survival of this nation over the next few years. We have to act and act boldly," said the statement, distributed today to news organizations.

Honasan, 39, escaped Saturday from a prison ship in Manila Bay, where he had been held since his arrest Dec. 9. Military spokesman Col. Oscar Florendo said troops had found no trace of Honasan despite a nationwide search.

Mrs. Aquino told reporters today her government had taken steps to correct problems raised by Honasan during his abortive coup attempt, in which at least 53 people were killed and hundreds wounded.

Man wanted for murder has been flown to United States

NEW YORK (AP) — A millionaire Honduran arrested in a raid on his luxurious home arrived here early today to face drug trafficking charges and questioning in the 1985 killing of a U.S. drug agent in Mexico, authorities said.

Juan Ramon Matta, 43, was arrested before dawn Tuesday and turned over to U.S. marshals after an airborne police raid on his home in Tegucigalpa, Honduras, authorities said.

In addition to drug charges, authorities want to question him about the death of Enrique Camarena Salazar, a U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration agent, according to a U.S. law enforcement source, speaking on condition of anonymity.

Matta arrived at Kennedy International Airport early today on a flight from San Juan, Puerto Rico, said Lt. Kevin Ward of the Port Authority police.

He was accompanied by three federal marshals who put him aboard a government jet that took off for an undisclosed federal prison, Ward said.

U.S. marshals on duty in New York and Washington overnight would not comment on the case. Warrants charge Matta with escape from federal custody, conspiracy to smuggle cocaine, possession with intent to distribute cocaine, engaging in a continuing criminal enterprise and other crimes.

"This arrest is a major milestone in our worldwide assault on illegal drug trafficking," Stanley E. Morris, director of the U.S. Marshals Service in Washington, said Tuesday.

Matta had been living openly in Honduras after escaping in 1986 from a Colombian prison.

He had been held in Colombia on charges of involvement with the cocaine-trafficking Medellín cartel. The Marshals Service said he was believed to have since become a leader of a group of traffickers that controlled the flow of illegal drugs from Mexico.

Camarena was kidnapped, tortured and killed in Guadalajara, Mexico, in 1985. John C. Lawn, the head of the DEA, said in 1985 that Matta was one of the four prime suspects in the case.

Carlos Lorenzana, Matta's lawyer, said in a telephone interview that about 60 heavily armed policemen using helicopters arrived at his client's home at 5:45 a.m. Tuesday.

He said Matta, as a Honduran citizen, could not be extradited to the United States "because the constitution forbids it."

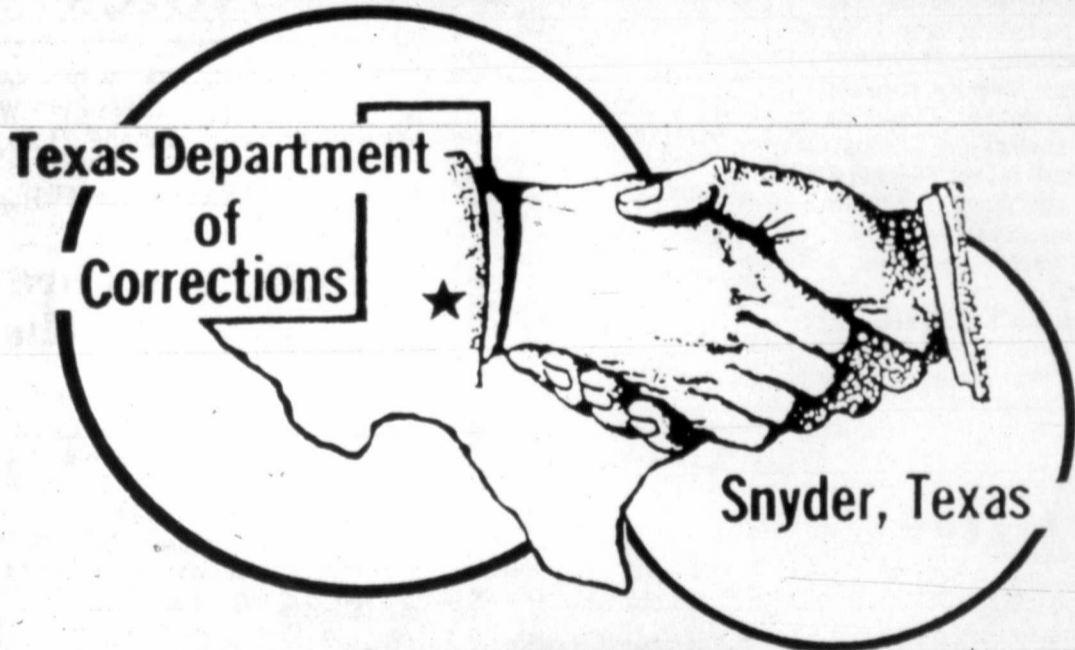

Honduran government sources said privately that President Jose Azcona Hoyo met with top civilian and security officials to discuss Matta's case.

U.S. authorities link Matta's return to Honduras to an increase in transshipment of Colombian cocaine through the Central American country.

Allegations have been made of involvement by top Honduran military officials.

The government denied the reports in February. Azcona said critics were trying "to discredit the armed forces and my government, which has taken a series of actions to combat the drug traffickers."

Matta told The Associated Press in February he makes his living in cattle ranching, construction and the tobacco, spice and coffee trade. His wealth has been estimated at up to $2 billion.
