Dallas police chief to resign

DALLAS (AP) — Police Chief Billy Prince, criticized by top city officials for speaking out against City Council members and police reforms, told his staff today he is resigning, officials said.

Prince told his staff he is leaving his post immediately but will serve in an advisory role through this summer, police Sgt. Carol Eberhardt said.

City Manager Richard Knight appointed first assistant police chief Louie C. Caudell as interim chief, she said.

Prince, 45, who has been chief for six years, will leave the $87,000 per-year job to concentrate on business interests, reportedly because he has tired of the battling between the community and his beleaguered department.

The chief could not immediately be reached for comment, but he called a press conference for today to announce his decision.

A 24-year Dallas police veteran, Prince has discussed his resignation with Knight and other associates several times in the last few weeks, officials said.

His resignation comes at a time of rising tension between police and the minority community.

Prince has been caught between the demands of a majority of the City Council, and the Dallas Police Association.

Hijackers want to fly plane to Algeria now

LARNACA, Cyprus (AP) — The hijackers of a Kuwaiti jumbo jet today said they have named their aircraft "the plane of greatest martyrdom and death" and claimed they have put on their "death shrouds."

One of the hijackers made the declaration in a statement radioed to Larnaca Airport, control tower. He cited Koranic verses usually read at funerals that said "those killed in the name of God are always alive."

In another development, PLO chairman Yasser Arafat was quoted today as saying the hijackers want to fly to Algeria and "arrangements are being made to this end." The Kuwait News Agency said Arafat told a news conference in Kuwait he expected the hijack drama to end tonight. Arafat, who was in Kuwait to attend a Moslem conference unrelated to the hijacking, did not elaborate.

At one point today, the hijackers radioed the tower demanding the plane be refueled in 45 minutes. But the deadline passed without incident after Samir Abu Ghazaleh, the Palestine Liberation Organization chief in Cyprus, and his deputy, Malaz Abdo, went out on the tarmac and spoke with the hijackers.

Earlier today, the hijackers of the Kuwait Airways 747, who shot and killed a second passenger Monday, threatened the lives of the nearly 50 remaining hostages. The hijackers want to leave for an unspecified "neutral country."

The hijackers, who are armed with grenades and handguns, did not explain whether their "martyrdom" statement today meant they planned to carry out their off-repeated threat to blow up the plane.

However, their statement revealed, as had been suspected, that the hijackers are fanatical Shiite Moslems.

The statement said "hail the glory of Imam Mahdi," the messiah-like holy person Shiites believe will one day appear on earth.

Vandals damage schools

Three suspects now in custody

Three young Snyder men were arrested Monday afternoon in connection with break-ins and vandalism that were discovered Monday morning at Snyder High School and junior high school.

They were identified as Cory Len Pace, 17, of 604 N. Ave. Y, Carl Alan Durrett, 18, of 205 N. Ave. T and Sherman Craig Bailey, 19, of Rt. 1, Box 236.

At the junior high, criminal mischief was done by spraying a fire extinguisher down the halls and in the rooms, police report. In addition, the numbers 666 were written under a pentagram about 12 ft. in diameter in one of the classrooms.

A city detective said Durrett was taken into custody at 12:30 p.m., Pace at 4:01 p.m. and Bailey at 9:17 p.m., all after being brought to the police station for questioning.

At Snyder High School, candy was stolen from a candy machine in the student center and criminal mischief was done to doors, windows and ceiling tiles, the detective said, adding that some of the candy was recovered.

At Snyder Junior High School, a stopwatch, three calculators, a Snickers candy bar and soft drinks and snacks from the teachers' lounge were taken. The detective said the stopwatch and calculators were recovered following the discovery of the break-in at 7:31 a.m.

No information was immediately available on how entry was gained into the two schools.

The officer said Pace and Bailey were also being held in Scurry County Jail in connection with a March 4 incident at Wilson Motors in which entry was gained to the body shop yard by cutting a wire fence and a drink holder was stolen from a vehicle in the yard.

Board lauds new WTC 'philosophy'

A new "statement of philosophy" for Western Texas College—one which aims to "equalize opportunity for all people"—was enthusiastically adopted Monday by the WTC board during its regular April meeting.

Board members were complimentary of the statement's wording, which lists the institution's "purpose, principles and goals."

WTC trustee Edwin Parks commented he felt some of the statements in the philosophy warranted being framed and displayed in campus buildings.

The "fundamental purpose" of WTC is listed as "to encourage academic excellence," adding that by endorsing such skills as critical thinking and an appreciation for the arts and culture, students "understand their roles as citizens."

The basic purpose of the educational process at WTC is then to "equalize opportunity for all people."

By accomplishing this, it is noted, educators enhance "the maintenance and improvement of a democratic society."

As for WTC's goals, its first listed priority is to provide "pre-professional and general education courses for transfer to four-year colleges and universities."

Its second stated goal is to provide "occupational programs...to prepare individuals for employment in the business, industrial and professional community."

The statement of philosophy was developed by a self-study committee from the college comprised of both instructors, administrators and board members. Heading it was Dr. Richard Lancaster, professor of English.

The self-study stretched over a period of two years and was prompted in part by the visit this school year by an accreditation committee from the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools.

While no official vote was taken, the board also indicated to a resident of the Cedar Creek addition adjacent to the college golf course that it had never agreed to offer access to the north side of the course to residents of that

Suspect profiles 'rip-off'

Kidnaping defendant Randy Locknane testified Tuesday that he and two previously convicted co-defendants went to Lubbock following an aborted cocaine deal here and were shot at five times from close range as they tried to "rip off" a cocaine dealer there.

Locknane, 32, told jurors in 132nd District Court Tuesday morning that the trio had bought a quarter-gram of the drug, injected it and then returned to a motel to obtain more from the same dealer.

The plan was to get the cocaine in hand, then to drive away quickly without paying.

"Larry (Beard) was looking at this half-gram, and I tried to take off, and the car died," Locknane said. "I started the car again, and he (the dealer) fired five times into the back of the car, missing us all, thank God. The back seat of my car was demolished."

"Did you leave Lubbock at that time?" defense attorney James Clark asked.

Welfare board offers yearly report-meeting

The annual report for the Scurry County Welfare Board was offered here Monday at the group's annual meeting.

The Scurry County Children's Protective Service Unit, founded in 1963, has served hundreds of abused and neglected children here. The Texas Department of Human Services administers the unit and governs its delivery of services to children.

Child care expenses totaled $83,584 for the year 1987. With administrative expenses added to that figure, the total expense came to $85,018. Since the state's reimbursement for foster care amounted to $70,788 and a parent subsidy came to $630, the county's expenses were listed as $13,600.

The following statistics were presented regarding children in child care in the county. As of December of 1987, three had been placed with relatives; seven had been placed in foster care; one had been returned home; two had been placed in institutional care; and three had been placed in adoption.

Barbara Burney, chairman of the board, introduced the new officers elected this month. They include herself as chairman for another term; Jesse Price as

The SDN Column

By Roy McQueen

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Most voters want a candidate as human as they are—but smart enough not to get caught."

It may be a sad commentary on the American society, but two of the growth industries in America seem to be corrections and waste disposal.

Running a close third—if not higher—will be things tied to the legal industry. One wag in the coffee shop lamented it won't be long before you consult an attorney before buying junior a new pair of tennis shoes.

Some folks are already cashing in on a judicial related business. Plastic body parts are a hot item in a store specializing in life-size models for use in jury trials.

The visual aids seem to have a big impact on members of the jury and actually influence the size of jury awards.

The best sellers are a herniated disk for only $65. A knee is available for $139 and a hip and a thigh go for ten bucks less.

Hopefully the trend won't continue to the barbershop, but a beauty salon in Washington, D.C. offers the promise of legal assistance.

The hair styling salon offers to help pay customers' legal fees if they encounter job troubles because of their cornrow braids.

But in the interest of equality, it has been noted that nearly half of the malpractice claims filed against attorneys are filed against lawyers who specialize in personal injury suits.

Sometimes there is justice. Now if we could just figure out how to get even with the federal government—only you have to pay for their attorney too.

Q. — Can a judge rule that a plaintiff has filed a frivolous lawsuit and require them to pay attorney's fees?

A. — Such a decision would first require a legal filing by the party claiming the suit against them was frivolous. If the allegations could be answered as "points of law," a judge could rule rather than requiring a jury trial.

Price of oil

NEW YORK (AP) — Crude oil prices advanced again this morning after a one-day jump incited by speculation that OPEC will orchestrate a broad effort to constrict world supplies, though some analysts called the rise unsustainable.

On the New York Mercantile Exchange, a key barometer of price trends, the May-delivery contract for West Texas Intermediate crude rose 4 cents per 42-gallon barrel to $17.93 early today after jumping $1.01 per barrel Monday to $17.89, the highest close since mid-December.

Air Force reverses decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Lloyd Bentsen says he's pleased the Air Force has postponed its decision to close or consolidate 37 ROTC units across the country, including four in Texas.

Texas and North Carolina stood to lose more ROTC units than any other state — four each — if the Air Force had gone through with plans, announced in January, to close 30 of 151 ROTC units and consolidate another seven with nearby schools.

Air Force officials said in a letter Monday to Bentsen that the move would have cut 200 positions and saved more than $10 million annually. The armed services want to cut spending by $32.9 in fiscal 1989, which begins Oct. 1, to comply with budget limits established in November in a deficit-reduction plan.

After the closures were first announced, Bentsen responded with a letter to Air Force Secretary Edward C. Aldridge Jr., complaining that Texas was hardest hit.

"I am also concerned that reductions in the number of newly commissioned officers is a short-sighted response to budgetary pressures," wrote Bentsen, D-Texas and chairman of the Senate Finance Committee.

"Without a steady inflow of bright, energetic younger officers — particularly from the AFROTC units — the Air Force may lose some of its vigor and diversity," Bentsen said, adding, "we should not arbitrarily exclude potentially great officers simply because their universities may not be as large and rich as some other institutions."

Task force is formed to probe into slayings

HOUSTON (AP) — The slayings of 39 people who were at least 60 years old will be investigated by a special task force of detectives, authorities say.

The investigation will center on a series of slayings of elderly victims dating back to 1987, Houston Police officials said Monday.

Authorities said the special task force of detectives will search for answers to a puzzling spate of murders of elderly victims, including 14 reported so far this year.

Officials say there is no evidence of a serial killer, but said about 10 homicide sergeants will study the cases, including some that have already been solved.

Police have cleared 18 of the 39 killings through last year, but homicide Sgt. Sharon Durham said the new task force will examine all of the cases in search of common denominators that may have been missed before.

She said that, though suspects in some cases may be in jail, they may have associates who use the same methods.

Some of the slayings have been solved, but police said they will be reviewed for information that might help clear unsolved cases and help other elderly Houstonians avoid becoming victims.

Formation of the task force was announced at the time police reported the weekend arrest of a laborer in the killing of Beulah Jolivet, 81, whose body was found in her ransacked house on April 4.

Deryl Wayne Madison, a Texas prison parolee who recently had done yard work and odd jobs for Jolivet, was being held without bond after he was charged with capital murder.

Madison, 29, killed Jolivet while robbing her in her home, police alleged. An autopsy showed she was stabbed, strangled and beaten on the head.

Homicide Sgt. Ronnie Doyle said Madison was arrested after authorities learned he had sold some property taken from the victim's home.

Other slayings to be investigated by the task force include the slaying last Nov. 5 of Charles Lockhart, 64, who was killed in a burglary of his home only two blocks from Jolivet's home.

Jolivet's death was closely followed by the killing of Johnny L. McCoy Jr., 72, a retired merchant seaman who apparently was killed by a burglar in his apartment.

No arrests have been made in that case, the 14th this year of a victim at least 60 years old.

Police said 10 of those victims were slain during burglaries or robberies at their homes. Out of 25 elderly homicide victims in 1987, 15 fit in the same category, police said.

Homicide Capt. B.F. Adams called the effort "kind of a quality-control check to be sure we have not missed anything."

The Nazis gained a stunning victory June 22, 1940, as France was forced to sign an armistice eight days after German forces overran Paris.

Dear Abby

SOS Banner Brightens Rainy Night for Stranded Motorists

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1988 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: Some time ago you printed an address in your column to send for banners that motorists could put on their cars to call police if they needed help on the road. I am so glad I sent for one because it proved to be a lifesaver.

My car broke down on an interstate road at night. It was raining hard and the road was between two hills. We were locked in our car for several hours when a state trooper spotted the "Please Call Police" banner I had placed on the inside of the rear window. He stopped, summoned a tow truck and stayed with us until help arrived. Needless to say, we were very grateful.

Abby, please urge your readers to send for this banner. Every motorist should have one in the glove compartment. At $4 it was the best bargain I ever got.

ally, after expungement, disclosure is only required for governmental jobs). Thus, an individual who has obtained an expungement could honestly, and legally, answer no to a conviction-related question on a job application, depending on the type of job being sought.

I suggest that "Depressed Down South" either hire a lawyer or do some legal research to find out whether the state in which she committed the crime permits expungement, or "cleansing" the record through some other method, so that she may exercise her rights and proceed with her career.

GLORIA M. SANCHEZ, ESQ., SANTA ANA, CALIF.

DEAR MS. SANCHEZ: Thank you for a letter that many will find helpful.

DEAR HELEN: Write to: WCIL-BANNERS, P.O. Box 66942, Los Angeles, Calif. 90066. The cost is $4 per banner, postage and handling included. Make your tax-deductible check or money order payable to WCIL-BANNERS. The Westside Center for Independent Living exists to help disabled people live independently.

DEAR ABBY: I would like to give the following advice to "Depressed Down South," who was convicted of shoplifting.

By statute, in California a person may expunge a criminal record if she or he meets certain conditions. Expungement is not a pardon or a complete "cleansing" of the criminal record; rather, it is a "cleansing" of the record for limited purposes. For example, a person who obtains an expungement in California is not required to disclose the conviction that was expunged on employment applications (usu-

DEAR ABBY: I am a teacher in a small school in Arkansas. We just started a new program, giving "prizes" to the students who have been "good." That means they have never been tardy, and never been absent from school.

Abby, what are our schools coming to? Why are we paying our future adults to come to school? And why are we rewarding them for not being late? Where have the parent and self-motivation gone?

YOUNG TEACHER

DEAR TEACHER: To reward excellence is a good idea, but to "pay" students for getting to school on time is a little much. In the good old days, it wasn't what you'd get if you did, it was what you'd get if you didn't, that kept the children in line.

Problems? Write to Abby. For a personal, unpublished reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, P.O. Box 69440, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. All correspondence is confidential.

A choice of calls

You won't find any chapter in your bidding lessons that will help you with today's North hand. North should believe that his opponents can make whatever they bid, and can only hope that East-West will let him buy the contract at some level. Probably North anticipated a labored auction, with both sides continuing to bid until eventually he would be doubled. So it was a surprise when West jumped right to six spades. North still bid seven hearts, and in my view East made a terrible bid when he doubled. It's not that East should expect the grand slam to make. But consider the bidding.

When East bid four spades, he was only saying "Partner, I don't want to allow the opponents to play four hearts. I might not even make 10 tricks in spades." Despite that message, West went to six immediately. Isn't it just possible that the diamond ace and the club queen are the right cards for a grand slam? Mind you, East does not have to go out on a limb and bid seven spades by himself, but he can certainly say "Pass" over seven hearts. The meaning of this forcing pass is simple. It implies that East holds a card or cards that may enable the partnership to make a grand slam. If East does pass, West may or may not bid seven, but he has a chance. And at least he knows that East is inviting such a grand-slam bid.

Tigers set for Lake View; Otto to get start on mound

SAN ANGELO -- Snyder's Tigers look for their fourth straight District 2-4A baseball victory with a familiar lineup but a slightly juggled infield as they take on Lake View at 4 p.m. here today.

Lee Fletcher, who has started at pitcher for most of the Tigers' district games, will take over third base today. Regular third-sacker Bert Otto will be on the mound. Fletcher went the distance in last Friday's 15-8 win over Lamesa and will likely get the start this Saturday when Snyder entertains Pecos.

"Bert has been throwing real well the last two times he pitched and he's got the lowest earned run average on the team (1.99)," said Coach Albert Lewis.

Fletcher is moving to third, in part because Lewis wants the same basic hitting lineup for today's game.

Wayne Ware will lead off again and bat for center fielder Bert Merritt. He'll be followed by short stop Brad Gartman, second baseman Van Echols, right fielder Bart Morton, Otto, left fielder Willie Garcia, Fletcher, first baseman David Martinez and catcher Tracy Odom.

Snyder is hitting .320 for the season and .316 in district play.

Gartman's .429 district average leads the Tigers. Garcia is hitting .417 and Morris is batting .375 after a two-for-two effort last Friday.

Lake View comes into the game with a 2-4 district mark and is 4-9 for the season. The Chiefs downed Fort Stockton 6-5 last weekend.

"They are a scrappy team,"

Former Tiger star Holcomb named LCC athlete of week

LUBBOCK -- Former Snyder High School standout Brad Holcomb has been named Lubbock Christian College's Player of the Week, following a 10-for-16 effort at the plate against Hardin-Simmons and nationally ranked Dallas Baptist.

Holcomb, a redshirt freshman at LCC, earned all-state and all-district honors in 1986 and was a key figure in helping Snyder to a 24-10 season record and a berth in the Class 4A state tournament.

Hitting .345 now, Holcomb raised his batting average 45 points in the series with HSU and Dallas Baptist. He had a three-hit game against HSU including an RBI double. Against then second-

Local Dribblers set for national tourney

Snyder Little Dribbler teams have advanced to national tournament competition following victories in regional action here last weekend.

Snyder's Senior, Major and Junior league teams will play in the April 22-24 nationals in Levelland.

Jim Pat Griffin scored 15 points, Adrian Sneed 11 and Jon Patrick 10 as Snyder's Major League Black team defeated

H.E.B. Continental 60-37 in championship action Saturday at the high school gym.

The game was stopped in the final minute after H.E.B. pulled its team off the floor following a disagreement with a referee. Chad Pierson scored 14 for H.E.B. Mike Robertson added 12.

In the Junior League championship game, Wayne Braziel scored 19 points to lead Snyder Black past H.E.B. American, 40-35. H.E.B. got 13 points from Daniel Bush.

UNH hails big player; 7-foot tall, 348 pounds

ESSEX JUNCTION, Vt. (AP) - Robert Jones is about to enter the college football world of offensive linemen, a world of obscurity in which players are seldom noticed, seldom publicized and never get the game ball.

But Jones might change all that. Stories already are being written about him, and he's only 17, still in high school.

What makes him noticeable is his height and his weight. Jones is 7 feet tall and weighs 348 pounds.

He's a project, but let's be frank. If he were a totally accomplished player now, we wouldn't be getting him," Bowes said.

"But if we're going to take a risk, we may as well do it with a guy that big who shows some evidence on film. If he can do that one time, there's no reason why he can't do it 50 times (a game)," Bowes said.

That kind of size helped make him a northern section all-state player as a lineman on both offense and defense while playing for Division 1 state champion Essex Junction. Last season was his first full season on offense.

Neighboring New Hampshire will be next to get a look at him when he enrolls in the fall at the University of New Hampshire.

UNH Coach Bill Bowes said Jones is the biggest player he's seen play football in 22 years, and that certainly had something to do with the Division 1 Yankee Conference school offering a scholarship when no one else did.

Indiana took a look at him, and so did Syracuse, Penn State, Maine and Northeastern, but it never went any farther, Jones said.

"People hear 350, 6-11 (Jones says 7-0) and they think 'no movement, no quickness'" Bowes said. "But he has some quickness."

Watching Jones on film, Bowes

Bowes acknowledges Jones isn't quick enough for defense; he plans to put Jones on the offensive line only, although the idea of a 7-footer with arms raised rushing the quarterback is tempting.

Bowes wants Jones to get down to about 310, and then plans to build him back up to 320 or so, with muscle. It might take two years. Jones will sit out as a redshirt his freshman year and Bowes hopes he'll be able to play by his third year in school.

Jones is hoping to make 310 by December, and have enough muscle by his sophomore year to play for the Wildcats.

The project already has begun. He weighed 375 at the start of last summer, but now is working out almost daily. He's cutting out the whole large pizzas and the entire pans of lasagne.

5K fun, fitness runs set April 16 at WTC

Western Texas College has scheduled a 5K Fun and Fitness Run on April 16.

Area runners, joggers and walkers are invited to enter. Registration will be held from 9 a.m. to 9:50 a.m. April 16 in the college gymnasium. There is no entry fee.

The run will begin at 10 a.m. The course will end at the gym and awards will be given when all participants have returned.

The Fun Run will be part of WTC's homecoming and of the National Recreational Sports Week activities intended to promote recreational sports, fitness and fun. National rankings will be established for those interested, Lee Burke said.

There will be categories for male and female students, faculty, staff and alumni and for others who care to enter. First, second and third place medals will be awarded to winners in each category.

The course will be as flat as possible to equalize competition, Burke said.

Anyone requesting further information should contact Burke's office at (915) 573-8511.

Edwin Meese wanted to hire Wallach

WASHINGTON (AP) — Attorney General Edwin Meese III wanted longtime friend E. Robert Wallach to join the Justice Department last spring, despite the growing Wedtech scandal that eventually led to Wallach's indictment on racketeering charges.

The attorney general knew at the time that Wallach was a witness in the Wedtech case, a lawyer for Meese said Monday. But the attorney, James Rocab, said Meese did not yet know that his friend was a target of the criminal investigation.

Meese discussed hiring Wallach to the $77,500-a-year job of counselor to the attorney general.

"Meese recalls that he was clearly interested in having Bob Wallach at that time come into the department, but that no formal offer was ever advanced to him," Rocab said.

The arrangement between the two men was that "Wallach had to make some decisions about what he wanted to do, whether he was interested," said Rocab, adding that Wallach was "to get back" to Meese. But that never took place because Meese was then notified that Wallach was under criminal investigation, he said.

Meese and Wallach discussed the Justice Department job in late March or early April 1987, said Rocab.

Around April 8, 1987, the attorney general was notified formally under an administrative mechanism involving the FBI that Wallach was a subject of the criminal investigation into Wedtech Corp.

The federal grand jury that eventually indicted Wallach alleged that he and Meese's financial manager, Wedtech consultant W. Franklyn Chinn, had funneled hundreds of thousands of dollars in payments from the Bronx, N.Y., defense contractor in an attempt to influence Meese and other public officials to help the company.

Meese, too, is now under criminal investigation. Independent counsel James McKay has been looking at Meese's own efforts on behalf of Wedtech and another venture involving Wallach, a planned $1 billion Iraq pipeline.

Rocab said that at the time of the job discussions with Wallach, "it was Mr. Meese's understanding that Wallach's role in the (Wedtech) investigation was simply as a witness." He said Meese "had no reason to believe that Mr. Wallach had been engaged in any kind of impropriety."

The probe that resulted in Wallach's indictment in the Wedtech scandal began in the fall of 1986 and centered on allegations that the Bronx, N.Y., defense contractor had paid off public officials in exchange for assistance in obtaining government contracts. The investigation by U.S. Attorney Rudolph Giuliani of Manhattan focused widespread public attention on work that San Francisco attorney Wallach had done work for the company and the substantial fees and stock he received from it.

The counselor's job was vacant after T. Kenneth Cribb Jr., a member of Meese's inner circle of conservative advisers, went to the White House early in March 1987. The post was filled in May of that year by Assistant Attorney General William Bradford Reynolds, head of the department's civil rights division.

Otwell compound to be inspected

AUSTIN (AP) — A state district judge today granted an order for Texas officials to inspect a compound established by the Rev. W. N. Otwell in rural Tarrant County and to remove children found there.

State District Judge Paul Davis, who in 1986 ruled that Otwell was illegally operating an unlicensed boys' home near Fort Worth, granted the request by the attorney general's office and Texas Department of Human Services.

Otwell was not represented at the hearing. On Monday, he issued a news release saying he would not bow to a "godless" state law requiring the licensing of child care homes.

Pickups collide north of Dunn

Two pickup trucks collided just north of the Dunn city limits on Hwy. 208 at 3:20 p.m. Monday, but no one in either vehicle was injured.

The Department of Public Safety said a 1976 Chevrolet Sierra Classic driven by 83-year-old Arlie M. Taylor of Dunn was southbound and turning left into a private driveway when it was in collision with a northbound 1984 Ford F-150 driven by 25-year-old Deann Hamer Morris of Colorado City.

Morris' husband Steve, 29, and children, Kris, 5, and Manda, 7, also escaped injury in the mishap, a trooper said.

Taylor was cited for failure to yield right-of-way.

Inside the city limits Monday, a 1988 GMC Suburban driven by Robert Darrell Mitchell of Ira hit a parked 1988 U.S. Postal Service truck at 11:13 a.m. in the 2500 Block of Ave. R in a mishap that police described as minor.

Retarded man testifies in MHMR suit

AUSTIN (AP) — A mentally retarded man who moved from a state institution to a community home said the change vastly improved his life, as testimony began on a lawsuit challenging the way mentally retarded people are committed in Texas.

"I like it more than the state school. I'm happy out there. You don't have so many people hollering. People are calmer in the house," said Dwayne Laurent, 26, whose mental retardation accompanies spina bifida, a congenital defect characterized by imperfect closure of part of the spinal column.

Laurent, who testified Monday from a wheelchair, moved from Austin State School to a six-client group home in September. He said he had been in the state school since he was a year old.

Since moving, Laurent said, he has been able to work full-time instead of part-time, attend church several days a week and visit a friend he met at work. He also said he has more privacy at the home.

The hearing is on whether a lawsuit against the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation by a woman institutionalized for 51 years should be expanded into a class-action suit on behalf of 3,861 involuntarily committed retarded people.

The hearing is expected to last two weeks, said Diane Shisk, an attorney for Advocacy Inc., one of the groups that filed the lawsuit. A break in the hearing is expected after the first week, Ms. Shisk said, and it has not yet been determined when the case will resume.

The issue before the court is narrow, but the hearing is expected to become a forum for a debate over whether Texas should continue to spend most of its mental retardation money on large institutions instead of community homes.

A group of five parents of children in state schools have entered the lawsuit as intervenors. They said they want to ensure that the institutions, which they believe are the best place for their children, continue to exist.

Don Partridge, one of the parent-intervenors, said his 39-north side, board members noted. The misunderstanding apparently arose since, during the early development phases of Cedar Creek, two to three landowners were allowed entrance through the north gate by golf course officials.

Even at the time, board members noted, they were not aware of the arrangement. It was apparently stopped when the college added golf cart sheds and an unloading ramp for carts adjacent to the pro shop.

Also Monday, the professional contracts of 60 college staffers were renewed. Dr. Harry Krenek, WTC president, noted this reflected all of the staff from the current year with the exception of one who has submitted a letter of resignation due to health reasons.

Staffers whose contracts were renewed were: Robert Adams, Elsie Anderson, Larry Anderson,

"Immediately," Locknane said. The defendant testified that he, Beard and Grady Davis had abducted Lafayette Griffin from the front porch of his grandmother's Ave. K home because they had given another black man in east Snyder $60 for a quarter-gram of cocaine and had been unable to find either the man, a relative of Griffin's, or obtain the drug.

Locknane said he had the unloaded .22-caliber automatic pistol in his waistband and had taken it out in front of Griffin because it was pinching him. He said Griffin then wanted to get into the men's car so that his grandmother would not see the pistol.

When Beard told Griffin that they "were going for a ride in the country, that's when Grady came unglued," threatening Griffin and using violent racial epithets.

After two men at an east Snyder nightclub gave the trio $54 for Griffin's release, Griffin refused a ride back home but "bummed a cigarette off Grady," although the kidnapping victim "was very upset" upon his departure.

The men left the "flats" but then returned to get beer and were chased by the two men for whom they had been looking earlier to complete the cocaine transaction.

Locknane said they escaped by "turning corners fast and going toward the white part of town." Beard and Davis have been convicted of aggravated kidnapping in the Oct. 27 incident and have been assessed minimum 25-year sentences because they had two prior felony convictions each.

Locknane is reportedly eligible for probation, however, because he has no prior felonies.

He told the jury at the outset of his testimony at 11 a.m. that he "had bitterness in my heart toward the Lord, which is why I got in all this mess," and that he had had no drugs or alcohol for several months prior to the incident.

He said he is a member of Bible Way Fellowship and has been working in a landscaping business with his brother, Ron, a former New Mexico deputy sheriff, and his brother's partner.

He said he had met Beard on the afternoon of the incident and that they had talked about injecting cocaine. "He started rubbing his arms and said, 'I can just feel that rush,' and I said, 'I can, too,'" the defendant said.

He faces a sentence of five to 99 years or life upon conviction.

year-old daughter has been in Austin State School for 30 years. Since she has a mental age of two years, he said, that is the best place for her.

If State District Judge Harley Clark allows the class action, attorneys say it could become as significant as two other class action suits against the department.

Those suits, which were filed in 1974 and have been settled, caused reforms at state mental hospitals and state schools for the retarded.

Dennis Garza, assistant Texas attorney general, said the implications of the case are

The resignation accepted Monday was for John Forshee, assistant professor of government.

In other discussions Monday, the board learned that a local insurance company, Snyder Insurance, has managed to secure a policy providing an employee honesty bond for WTC staffers.

Also, the board discussed an auction of surplus equipment as an alternative to the sealed bid method used previously. An inventory of assets is now underway at the campus and a list is being prepared of all unneeded used equipment.

The auction was agreed to in principle, but no dates for it were discussed. WTC officials are to contact the three public schools in the county to see if a combined auction of surplus items might be feasible.

Texas Child Care
Celebration Day set Wednesday

Gov. Bill Clements has proclaimed Wednesday as Texas Child Care Celebration Day, as part of the celebration of the Week of the Young Child, April 10-16, sponsored throughout the state and nation by the National Association for the Education of Young Children.

On Wednesday, PBS will broadcast the special documentary, "Who Cares for the Children: The State of Child Care in America" at 8 p.m.

The primary purpose of the week's celebration in Texas is to call attention to children's needs, which include:

- recognition of the family as the primary institution responsible for the rearing of children.
- available and affordable quality child care.
- quality early childhood programs.
- licensing of all child-care facilities with standards which safeguard the health and welfare of all children.
- prevention of child abuse and neglect; and
- use of car safety restraints.

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service is joining with a number of state and national groups to create public awareness and focus on children in April.

Hijackers called mysterious crew

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Here is some background on the hijackers of the Kuwait Airways jetliner:

WHO THEY ARE — No identities have been disclosed. Arabs listening to radio conversations between three of the hijackers and the Larnaca Airport control tower say their accents indicate that two are Lebanese, who recite from the Koran, Islam's holy book, with Iranian inflections, and one is an Iraqi.

There appears to be between five and seven Arab hijackers. Bahrain authorities say the Bahraini passports carried by five people in boarding the jumbo jetliner are forgeries.

WHAT THEY WANT — The hijackers main demand is the release of 17 terrorists, imprisoned in Kuwait for bombing the U.S. and French embassies there in 1983. This is the same demand made by the pro-Iranian Shiite Moslem Islamic Jihad, which is holding American and French hostages in Lebanon. All but one of the 17 terrorists in Kuwait are Shiite Moslems. Guest speakers at the meeting included Jean Lyons of Abilene, who is a counselor with Lyons and Mayben Counseling Services, and Cliff Smith, president of the Scurry County Drug and Alcohol Abuse Council.

Lyons told the approximately 35 people who attended the meeting held at the Senior Center that she finds within her own practice that both drug and alcohol abuse can be contributing factors to child abuse.

She also said that drug and alcohol abuse hinders parenting skills and that if drug and alcohol abuse can be decreased that child abuse would decrease as well.

She said that alcohol also lowers inhibitions and that that can lead to sexual abuse of children.

In treating abuse cases, Lyons said drug screenings are important as well as family therapy and support groups such as Alcoholics Anonymous or Narcotics Anonymous.

In his address, Smith told the audience that the Scurry County Drug and Alcohol Abuse Council mainly targets the young person and that if they can intervene early enough when a problem is detected then they have the greatest chance of success. He also said it is important to deal with the problems which are making the child turn to drugs and/or alcohol and that the council is seeking to create a positive peer pressure for children so that they won't have to turn to drugs and alcohol.

'Last Emperor' captures 9 Oscars

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "The Last Emperor," the lavish epic of China directed by an Italian, conquered Hollywood by capturing nine Oscars, the most for any film in 26 years. Cher won best actress for portrayal of a widow who discovers love in "Moonstruck."

Michael Douglas, the greedy, unethical inside trader of "Wall Street," was named best actor at Monday night's 60th-annual Academy Awards ceremony.

Best supporting performers were Olympia Dukakis, as Cher's outspoken Italian mother coping with a wayward husband in "Moonstruck," and Sean Connelly, the hard-fisted, incorruptible Chicago beat cop in "The Untouchables."

Douglas paid tribute to his father, actor Kirk Douglas, "for helping a son move out of the shadow," and Cher credited her mother for urging her as a little girl "to be something."

"I don't think this means that I am somebody," Cher told the audience while clutching her statue. "But I guess I'm on my way. Thank you."

Backstage, the actress, in a stunning, form-revealing costume of strategically placed spangles, told reporters: "If I can win this statue I think anybody can do anything!"

In addition to best picture, "The Last Emperor" won in every category in which it was nominated, including screenplay adaptation, costumes, original score, art direction, cinematography, sound, editing and the directing award to acclaimed filmmaker Bernardo Bertolucci.

"As an Italian, as a European, the Academy Awards has always seemed to me like a distant ceremony," said Bertolucci, "something fascinating, remote. Something I really didn't belong to. Then, one day, 'The Last Emperor' got nine nominations and everything changed immediately."

The director, who surprised the industry by winning permission from the Chinese government to film a story with political overtones within Beijing's fabled Forbidden City, offered "a Chinese kowtow to the Academy," saying, "This is one of the strongest emotions of my life and I can't hide it."

The movie's nine Oscars marked the biggest haul since "West Side Story" took 10 in 1962. The all-time champ, Ben Hur, won 11 in 1960.

The Oscar audience of 6,300 cheered loudly for the supporting actor and actress awards.

"OK, Michael, let's go!" exclaimed Miss Dukakis as she held her Oscar aloft. She was referring to her cousin Massachusetts Gov. Michael Dukakis, who is seeking the Democratic presidential nomination.

Backstage, she delivered an acceptance speech in Greek for reporters from the land of her heritage.

Connery, the original James Bond, drew two standing ovations during the evening and addressed his thanks to, "Ladies and gentlemen, friends, and a few enemies."

Connery said he assumed his award was for "an accumulation of my different performances."

He also made a plea for an end to the 5½-week-old Writers Guild of America strike that caused some clumsiness in the script for the ceremony, which is normally written by some of Hollywood's best wordsmiths.

The award for song went to "The Time of My Life" from "Dirty Dancing," and the movie's stars, Patrick Swayze and Jennifer Gray, appeared as presenters.

In a ceremony that rewards dramatic expertise, there were many lump-in-the-throat moments, among them deaf actress-Marlee Matlin's presentation of the best actor Oscar to Douglas. Miss Matlin, who won last year as best actress, abruptly abandoned her sign language to speak haltingly as she announced the nominees and exclaimed an exuberant, "Good Morning, Vietnam!" when she reached Robin Williams' name.

There was Billy Wilder's recollection of his origins as a German immigrant and declaring of his special Irving Thalberg Award: "This is the most prestigious award you can get outside the Nobel Prize."

And there was screenwriter Patrick Shanley, holding his Oscar for "Moonstruck" and enthusing, "I don't care if we're supposed to be cool. This is incredible! I want to thank everyone who ever punched me or kissed me in my life."

The evening began with an award for visual effects to "Innerspace," a fantasy about a test pilot reduced to microscopic size. After that, perhaps the only surprise was the best foreign language film award, which went to "Babette's Feast" from Denmark over the highly favored, "Au Revoir, Les Enfants," Louis Malle's memoir of his wartime childhood.

The best animated short film award went to "The Man Who Planted Trees." Best documentary feature was "The Ten-Year Lunch: The Wit and Wisdom of the Algonquin Roundtable," and best documentary short subject was "Young At Heart." Best live action short film was "Ray's Male Heterosexual Dance Hall," and the award for makeup went to "Harry and the Hendersons."

Patent issued for mouse proposal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harvard University has been granted a patent for a genetically altered mouse, the first time a patent has been issued for an animal, a published report says.

The Washington Post quoted congressional sources today as saying the mice will be used for cancer-related research. Critics said the new patent set a dangerous precedent.

The Patent and Trademark Office spokesman Oscar Mastin declined to confirm the Post report, but said Patent and Trademark Commissioner Donald Quigg would announce "a significant patent" at a news conference today.

The Supreme Court in 1980 ruled that man-made life organisms could be patented, but the Harvard patent is the first to protect a genetic change in a higher life form, the newspaper said.

Licensing rights for the patent are held by Du Pont Co., which financed the research. While Harvard would not discuss its patent, experts said genetically altering a mouse would involve inserting a gene from another animal into a mouse embryo to give the animal characteristics it otherwise would not have.

Jeremy Rifkin, president of the Foundation on Economic Trends, an anti-biotechnology group, said the patent officials were "setting themselves up as the arbiters of public policy in this country and they have no legitimate right to do it. This is something Congress ought to decide."

"This opens the floodgates for a whole range of patents, from fish to house pets," said Jack Doyle of the Environmental Policy Institute, which supports a moratorium on animal patents.

But Geoffrey Karry, a Washington patent attorney, said the action was "not a radical departure from existing policy."

"Granting a patent on animals is an entirely logical application of existing patent law principles, and in many respects is nothing different from what society has been doing with regard to the commercial ownership of animals for thousands of years."

Austrian Archduke Ferdinand and his wife were assassinated June 28, 1914, in what is now Sarajevo, Yugoslavia, by a Bosnian revolutionary. The slaying triggered World War I.

Infection may become chronic

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My daughter, 29, has had a recurring bladder infection for 17 months. Why does it keep coming back?

DEAR READER: Recurring bladder infection (cystitis) is often the result of sexual intercourse, during which bacteria are introduced into the bladder opening (urethra), pass into the bladder and cause irritation. This infection causes painful urination and blood in the urine. The condition may be prevented if women carry out two simple procedures:

First, a female should empty her bladder after having had sexual relations. This washes out the urethra and, obviously, gets rid of any residual urine that might act as a warm, dark and moist environment to hasten bacterial growth.

Second, as a general rule, after elimination, a woman should wipe herself from the front if she has urinated, from the back if she has defecated. This way, bacteria from the anal area will not be deposited around or near the reproductive tract (and urethra). This simple hygienic maneuver will help most women avoid cystitis that is sex-related.

There are other considerations. Your daughter may have developed a chronic urinary-tract infection that has yet to be adequately treated. The doctor should identify the type of bacteria (using a urine culture) that is causing the infection, and use a specific antibiotic (to which the germs are sensitive) for an appropriate course of therapy, usually 10 to 14 days.

In addition, the doctor may choose to investigate whether your daughter might have an undiagnosed abnormality of her urinary tract and whether her cystitis may have spread up into the kidneys, causing renal infection. This investigation could include an IVP (intravenous pyelogram kidney X-ray) and referral to a urologist.

In any case, your daughter deserves a prompt and definitive diagnosis because, with time, cystitis can lead to more serious persistent infection. For more information, I'm sending you a free copy of my new Health Report on Bladder and Urinary-Tract Infections. Other readers who are interested should send $1 and their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to ask for the Health Report on Bladder.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I have developed hoarseness and weakness of my voice that, oddly, improves the more I talk. Do you know what could cause this?

DEAR READER: Voice weakness that is due to disease of the vocal cords of the nerves supplying them usually becomes more pronounced as the voice is used. I do not know why you have the reverse pattern, unless your vocal cords are being gummed up by mucus, from allergies or irritation that clears as you speak. See an ear, nose and throat doctor for an examination and advice.

Are you missing out on co-op advertising funds that are available to you? Did you know that co-op advertising help from many of your manufacturers and suppliers can pay anywhere from half to all of your advertising costs? Every year manufacturers and suppliers make millions of dollars available to retailers, yet a good part of that help is lost because many retailers are not even aware of the fact that this money is available to them. Our advertising staff has been especially trained to help you locate hidden co-op opportunities. They will help you prepare your ads, supply you with attractive, attention compelling art, write your copy and put it all together in an eye-catching layout. Our staff can produce results for you, and best of all, the co-op available to you can pay as much as 100% of the costs. Don't let co-op money slip through your fingers. It is really your money and if you don't use it, you'll lose it and all the potential sales that it can produce. Call your local newspaper advertising representative now and take advantage of the hard-hitting results this paper can generate. If you're not already advertising and using valuable co-op dollars, we'll show you how co-op can stretch your promotional budget and, at times, pay the entire bill.
