Prison 'non-suit' holds door open for other lawsuits

By DONNY BROWN
SDN Managing Editor
Following a conference call Monday with involved attorneys, District Judge Joe Evins of Edinburg has authorized an order be drawn up allowing a "non-suit" sought by plaintiffs who legally challenged incentive offers related to the Texas Department of Corrections prison here. Once the document is signed, it will end the legal challenge to the Scurry County prison "without prejudice." This qualification holds the door open for future lawsuits related to the prison issue. "As a matter of law, they are entitled to it," Evins said Monday afternoon from Edinburg. "I've ordered (involved attorneys) to prepare the appropriate order, to clear it with other lawyers and to get it to me for my signature."

Defendant attorneys had filed motions last week seeking a summary judgment in the cases, which would have ended the lawsuits "with prejudice." Under the law, a non-suit designation indicates the "facts of the case," points raised both for and against the lawsuit's contentions, have never been decided. Because of this, the option for See LAWSUITS, page 9

WELCOME TDC — A crowd estimated at 600 individuals attended Monday's noon luncheon commemorating the ground breaking for the Texas Department of Correction prison unit here. Keynote speaker was Texas Board of Corrections Chairman Charles T. Terrell, who said he will seek more money for expansion of prison units in the 1989 legislative session. He said he will seek also major changes in methods of dealing with inmates. (SDN Staff Photo)

Some 600 'welcome' TDC to Snyder

By BOB CAMPBELL
SDN Staff Writer
Texas Board of Corrections Chairman Charles T. Terrell Monday outlined his plans for the future course of the agency, saying he will seek more money for expansion in the 1989 legislative session and major changes in methods of dealing with inmates. Speaking to an estimated crowd of more than 600 persons who were at the National Guard Armory to commemorate the start of construction on Snyder's new TDC unit, the Dallas insurance man and former city councilman opened his keynote address by relating his reply to a critic of the TDC's new maximum-security unit in Amarillo. He said a project opponent there had claimed the unit would bring AIDS and prostitution, adding, "I told her we were talking about a prison and not an Army base." Terrell said he wants 90-day "boot camp" terms at special detention centers for technical parole violators, rather than putting them back into the general TDC population, and life terms without possibility of parole for multiple sex offenders and "big-time drug dealers."

He mentioned Snyder National Bank president Roger Mize, an early sponsor and supporter of a penitentiary unit for Snyder, and said he regretted that Mize did not survive to see it come to pass. Terrell said the state should have the authority to terminate long-term paroles when the parolee has remained out of trouble for several years, rather than having to continue to monitor him for long periods afterwards, to concentrate on more former inmates who have been more recently released. He said that most former inmates make a successful return to society if they stay out of trouble for two or three years after their release. Terrell concluded his talk by saying, to a standing ovation, "We welcome you to the TDC family."

City vote May 7...

Group to support bond referendum for TDC utilities

Local business and community leaders have formed the Snyder Committee for Economic Opportunity designed to support and promote the city bond issue referendum scheduled May 7.

The committee filed notice today with the county clerk's office appointing Delbert Downing as treasurer of the organization.

Citizens of the City of Snyder will cast ballots on two revenue bond issues in the May 7 election—each for $1.375 million. Both involve providing utility services to the new prison facility to be constructed northeast of Snyder.

The first issue provides for the financing of water system improvements while the second authorizes sewer system expansion. Repayment of the bonds will be made from revenues generated from the sale of water and sewer services.

"We feel these projects are essential to our community," Downing said. "The new prison will bring new jobs and new commerce to the entire county, and since these expenditures will add nothing to property taxes, we feel it is just sound business practice."

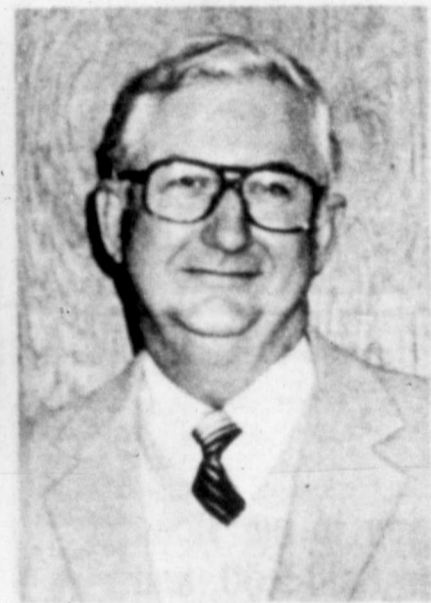

Absentee voting in the bond election began Monday and is being conducted at city hall.

Chairman of the group's steering committee is Martin Brooks, long-time Snyder civic leader and chairman of the board of

Cable TV franchise near vote

City councilmen Monday night reviewed the proposed franchise ordinance to effect the sale of SCAT TV Cable to Snyder Cablevision Associates of Colorado City and New York City and indicated that the 29-page document should be ready for a second reading by the regular May 9 council meeting.

City Attorney Ernie Armstrong said he had gone over the document with Snyder Cablevision's attorney, Bob James of Washington, D.C., for a number of hours on the telephone and that James had suggested postponing final action until next month.

The council spent almost two hours going over the new franchise and agreed in principle to a large number of relatively minor changes, including the addition See CITY, page 9

Moving of school mulled by county

Scurry County commissioners Tuesday discussed but took no action on moving the old Hermleigh School building from three miles south of that city to the Hermleigh Community Center grounds.

Members of the Sons of Herman Lodge, owner of the 1927-vintage two-classroom building, said it is in good condition now but will inevitably fall into disrepair or be destroyed if it is not moved from its isolated location.

"Where it's at, it'll finally burn down," said lodge member Edwin Kuss.

Kuss, Doyle Wemken and Albert Kuss told the court that only two persons expressed opposition to the plan at a recent public meeting on the subject in Hermleigh.

But, Commissioner Ted Billingsley, whose precinct encompasses Hermleigh, said he had received a number of telephone calls in opposition to putting the building near the community center Monday night and Tuesday morning.

The Sons of Herman members agreed to wait while Billingsley talks with more Hermleigh residents and investigates the possibility of putting the building at another location, possibly near the modern school.

Also Monday, the commissioners received County See COUNTY, page 9

County Agent Marvin Ensor doesn't get mad—he gets even.

You may remember that Ensor was the target of a recent Lions Club prank. After being given the care and custody of a goat as part of a club membership drive, the goat died. Lions President David Kattes then directed all sorts of barbs at the county agent.

Ensor called a friend in Lamesa who called the Lions chief and represented himself to be an official of the Texas Humane Society.

The caller asked all sorts of probing questions of Kattes—where the goat was, what he was fed, how he was transported, and the size pen in which he was kept.

Kattes responded with great honesty, taking all the blame for the goat's death—trying his best to protect both the county agent and the Lions Club.

Kattes even suggested how the goat may have died although he admitted that no autopsy was performed. Still, Kattes stood firm that no inhumane treatment occurred.

To make the inquiry appear official, the caller said there was "paperwork" that would have to be filled out even if the animal had "died of natural causes."

Kattes agreed to complete the form. Ensor then drew up an official-looking investigation form and mailed it to Kattes, which he completed with unusual dedication.

At last week's Lions Club luncheon, veterinarian Charles Church was the program director. He started his introduction by saying he too had been called about the unfortunate death of the goat, and that the Lions Club might have big trouble.

Kattes nodded that he also had received such a call. Church then turned on the tape recorder—revealing the full conversation between a red-faced Kattes and Ensor's friend.

It was a classic.

Q. — Why wasn't the prison dedication scheduled on Saturday to allow a larger segment of the population to attend?

A. — The plans were made to accommodate the availability of TDC personnel, notes members of the economic development committee.

Deadly storm

MADISON, Fla. (AP) — A tornado blasted through this North Florida city before dawn today, destroying homes and a library, blowing off rooftops, flipping cars and leaving at least four people dead and 12 injured, officials said.

The tornado touched down at 4:30 a.m. just west of Madison, about 50 miles east of Tallahassee, and cut a 12-mile swath of destruction, authorities said.

The tornado was part of a storm system that struck across the Southeast with high winds and hail. Trees, roofs and mobile homes were damaged, and at least three other injuries were reported.

60-year term

SAN MARCOS, Texas (AP) — A San Marcos man has been sentenced to 60 years in prison for the abduction last July of a Southwest Texas State University student.

A jury deliberated about five hours Monday before setting punishment for Theo Linnell, 26. Jurors found Linnell guilty last Friday on a charge of aggravated kidnapping.

Linnell was convicted of taking the woman captive at her San Marcos apartment July 20. The woman was held captive for 14 hours until authorities arrested Linnell after he picked up a bag that was supposed to contain the $15,000 ransom he had requested from the mother of a 22-year-old woman.

Words fly in latest battle for Alamo

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — The Alamo is best remembered as the site of a historic battle during Texas' war for independence, but now a new fight is being waged for control of the shrine.

Mexican-American leaders, angered over how Hispanics have been portrayed in descriptions of the 1836 battle, say they will fight to seize control of the Alamo from the Daughters of the Republic of Texas, who have been the site's custodians since 1905.

The League of United Latin American Citizens is critical of the way the DRT has operated the Alamo.

"It may take 100 days or 100 years, ... but we will get legislation to make LULAC the custodians of the Alamo," said Jose De Lara, state LULAC director and a sixth-generation Texan. "After all, we're the ones who built the Alamo. ... We're perfectly capable to be the custodians."

LULAC officials say the planned legislative battle is not only who should run the Alamo, but also which story of the military fight will be told — the popularized, colorful legend, or a more historically accurate account.

The civil rights group claims the Daughters of the Republic, a group of women descended from citizens of the independent Texas nation, have sacrificed historical accuracy for legend in its accounts for the shrine's 2.5 million annual visitors.

Billie Averitte, president-general of the Daughters of the Republic of Texas, disagrees.

"The Daughters have the sole responsibility of (the Alamo), the expense, the care of it and everything and they have done a marvelous job, down through the years," she said.

Contributions of at least nine Hispanics who defended the Alamo have been ignored by the DRT, De Lara claims. He said the Mexican Army is depicted as the oppressor and the battle's account as solely between Mexicans and Americans is not accurate.

The DRT was granted rights by the state to run the Alamo after saving much of it from demolition in 1905.

Though historians say the DRT provided a great service to the state, many of them also agree that the organization's stewardship has been flawed.

There's "a willingness to cling to the legend rather than give a balanced account of what it was all about," said Paul Hutton, an Alamo historian and professor at the University of New Mexico.

"For a shrine of such importance, it should be in the hands of the government."

Legends such as the valiant death of Davy Crockett, who went down swinging his rifle, have been generated by popularization of the Alamo battle in 20 films and a television series.

Martha Rash of Rockwall, a past DRT president, said the legends are still important, though DRT officials deny the group sacrifices fact for colorful myth.

For more than 80 years, the DRT has run the Alamo without state support. Money to run the shrine comes from donations and proceeds from the gift shop, although DRT officials declined to disclose their income or the cost of running the Alamo.

Man sentenced

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A man was sentenced to 30 days in jail for killing his wife's kitten by cooking it in a microwave oven.

George Jimenez, 26, of suburban Atwater, pleaded no contest to one count of cruelty to animals in the Sept. 16 death of the cat.

He was in a drunken rage when he killed the animal because his wife went to a movie with a female friend, authorities said.

In addition to the jail term, Jimenez was ordered Monday to either pay a $150 fine or spend another five additional days in jail and was placed on two years' probation.

During the probation, Jimenez must undergo counseling and is forbidden to harass his wife, said Deputy City Attorney Katherine MacKenzie.

Dear Abby

Here's Prescription to Avoid Wrong Mix of Food, Drugs

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1988 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: A few years ago you published a list of foods that people who are taking certain prescription drugs should avoid. At the time I was perfectly healthy, so I paid no attention to it. However, now my husband is taking three different prescribed drugs, and I am taking two, and it occurs to me that there may be certain foods in our regular diet that could change the action of the drugs we are taking.

Abby, you would be doing all of your readers, especially the senior citizens, a big favor if you reprint that information.

DEAR L.J.L.: Here it is: The Food and Drug Administration, in cooperation with the National Council on Patient Information and Education, has embarked on a program to inform and educate people about the medications they use.

Most people are unaware that there can be an interaction between the prescribed drugs they are taking and certain foods they eat. This interaction can cause some drugs to work faster or slower, or to become totally ineffective.

For example, people who are taking certain prescribed drugs for severe depression or high blood pressure should avoid aged cheese, Chianti wine, pickled herring, yogurt, chicken liver, bananas, avocados, sour cream, and all foods prepared with meat tenderizers.

Persons taking anti-coagulants (blood thinners) should avoid liver and large amounts of leafy vegetables because the vitamin K in those foods tends to promote blood clotting.

People on thyroid medication should avoid brussels sprouts, turnips, cabbage, soybeans and kale.

Dairy products should not be eaten by a person who is taking a specific kind of antibiotic.

Alcohol and even aspirin should not be combined with certain other drugs. Mixing alcohol with a high dosage of Valium or Darvon can be fatal.

The next time you are given a prescription, don't hesitate to ask your physician, or your pharmacist, the following questions:

1. What is the name of the drug, and what is it supposed to do? (Write it down so you won't forget.)

2. When do I take it, and for how long? (Does "three times a day" mean morning, noon and night? Should it be taken before meals, with meals or after meals? If the instructions say "every four hours," should I get up during the night to take it? Should I keep taking it until it's all gone?)

3. Are there any foods, beverages, medications or activities I should avoid while taking this drug? (Is alcohol allowed? How about aspirin and antacids? Please be aware that there is alcohol in beer, liquor and wine.)

4. Are there any side effects? And what should I do if they do occur?

5. Is there any written information you can give me about the drug you have prescribed for me?

6. Is there an approved generic version of this drug? (There usually is, and it is much cheaper and no less effective.)

Readers, for a free brochure about prescription drugs, write to: RX Drugs, Consumer Information Center, Department DA, Pueblo, Colo. 81009. No stamped, self-addressed envelope is necessary, but please allow 30 days for delivery. When this hits print, the center will be deluged.

P.S. Tomorrow: What you should tell your physician before he or she prescribes any kind of medication for you. Also, some valuable tips to help you use prescription drugs safely and effectively.

Insurance fund deficit is no threat to depositors

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the officials who oversee the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corp. says the near doubling of the fund's deficit did not threaten depositors' money in the country's 3,126 federally insured savings and loans.

"No one has ever lost a dime in an insured deposit and no one ever will lose a dime," Federal Home Loan Bank Board member Lawrence White said Monday. "Congress has spoken to that."

The board oversees the S&L deposit insurance fund, which insures deposits up to $100,000.

Bank board officials said the estimated costs of closing or merging ailing S&Ls totaled $11.6 billion more than the fund's assets at the end of 1987. That figure compares with a deficit of $6.3 billion at the end of 1986.

Bank board officials conceded that even this sharply higher figure was disputed by congressional auditors, who contend it is too low.

The deficit figure underscores the problems facing the S&L industry, where hundreds of institutions are insolvent but are kept open because the government cannot afford to close them and pay off depositors.

The new report estimated it will cost $15.3 billion to close or sell 204 savings and loans which are considered to be in the worst shape.

When $3.7 billion in fund assets are subtracted from the $15.3 billion in expected liabilities, FSLIC is left with an estimated deficit of $11.6 billion.

However, the figure of 204 insolvent S&Ls represents only the worst financial cases. Another 306 institutions were also insolvent at the end of the year under generally accepted accounting principles.

The FSLIC report estimated that if all of these institutions had to be rescued, it would add another $6.5 billion to the amount of money the insurance fund will be obligated to pay out.

White defended the $6.5 billion estimate, saying not all of the additional S&Ls will actually need assistance and the institutions representing the biggest drain on the funds had already been included in the first group of 204 S&Ls.

However, critics contend that a figure of around $30 billion is a much more reasonable estimate and that the costs could climb as high as $60 billion for solving the industry's problems, far above the amount approved by Congress last year.

Venezuela declared its independence from Spain in 1811.

Deep Creek ABWA sees TaeKwon Do

The Deep Creek Chapter of American Business Women's Association met March 17 at The Texan Restaurant for a dinner meeting. Penny Cochran, president, offered the invocation and presided at the business session. Brenda Clark was introduced as the vocational speaker. She works at Travis Flowers and told the procedure for making funeral sprays. Mae Cole and Mary Pownell, chairmen of the Boss' Night committee, reminded members it would be held April 21 at 7:30 p.m. at The Texan. The evening feature was a talk and demonstration by Gregg and Donna Gafford, owners and instructors at West Texas TaeKwon Do Academy. They have operated the academy for four years and were in training for nine years. Gregg has earned the second degree black belt. Donna has earned her first degree black belt and will be testing for her second degree in April. The Gaffords are certified by the World TaeKwon Do Federation and are group members of the U.S. Olympic Committee. TaeKwon Do will be a demonstration sport at the Olympics to be held in Seoul, Korea. Gregg gave a brief history of the sport, saying it began around 2,000 B.C. Picturegraphs were passed down from generation to generation in Korea. TaeKwon Do is training in the hands, feet and mind. It contributes mental training and discipline to the individual. Donna spoke of the self-defense aspect of the sport, pointing out that women are attacked while shopping, at home, at work, or traveling. She reminded members not to walk alone at night and to park close to the entrance of buildings. She pointed out that women who appear confident and strong are not attacked as often as those who appear submissive in their stride, posture and attitude. If a woman feels uncomfortable in a situation, she should leave then and not wait for a dangerous situation to develop. If a woman is attacked, she should scream as loudly as possible. Donna also said the sensitive points to aim for in self-defense are the ears, eyes, legs and groin. Tammy Halkowitz, 13-year-old TaeKwon Do student in training for the first degree black belt, participated in demonstrations of the sport. Stella Bailey offered the benediction and the meeting was adjourned.

ace and a diamond to the ace will allow South to get rid of dummy's losing heart on his spade king. He will then have to lose only the diamond king. But this declarer was blind. After winning the opening lead, he played A-K of clubs and exited with a heart. East won the jack (better if he had let West win) and played a spade. Dummy's ace took the queen, the jack was cashed and declarer finessed to his diamond jack. He then cashed the spade king, hoping the 10 would fall, but no luck. Even now, running the clubs would squeeze East, but instead declarer ruffed the spade nine and tried to drop the diamond king. When it did not drop, the slam was one away. No doubt the unusual success of his wild pre-empt will encourage West to make similar idiot bids in the future.

Banquet honors WTC athletes

Western Texas College Booster Club held its All-Sports Banquet in honor of student athletes at WTC Monday evening. Individuals were recognized and honored in golf, rodeo, cheerleading and basketball as Stan Paregion, master of ceremonies, guided the program. Carl Williams, out-going club president, was honored with an appreciation plaque. Recognition of golf, rodeo and cheerleading students followed, by coaches Dave Foster, Bob Doty and Mickey Baird. Various special awards were given in basketball. Nickey Allen, a freshman from Amarillo, received awards as top rebounder, with a 7.6 season average, and field goal percent, 117 of 217 for 54 percent. Nancy Bals, from Lubbock and the lone sophomore on the team, was the top free throw shooter, hitting 19 of 27 for 70 percent. Haskell native Julie Roewe received honors for being the team assist leader - 84 in 22 games - while also getting the team's vote as Miss Hustle and Miss Congeniality.

Snyder's Stephanie McKnight was named the Best Defensive Player by Coach Kelly Chadwick. Richardson freshman Chawn Cummings was given the Hustle Award in men's basketball, presented by Tony Mauldin. The men's team also presented their "adoptive parents" with special recognition awards. Adoptive Parents is a program instituted by Mauldin for interaction between players and the community.

Statistical awards included recognition of Richmond, Va., sophomore Darrell Nelson, who had 78 assists and 91 steals. The conference's leading scorer, Nelson also led WTC in field goal percent, hitting 49.6 percent of his shots.

Bobby Spear, freshman from Albuquerque, N.M., was the team's top rebounder with 229 boards and top free throw shooter, hitting 71 percent. Top 3-point shooter was Derrick Greene, freshman from Austin, while Stratford first-year student Malcolm Waters was honored with the Sportsmanship Award.

Students, family, faculty and community members were welcomed to the program at Willow Park Inn by Dr. Harry Krenk, WTC president. Special thanks were offered to the board of trustees, banquet committee members Faye Layne, Annette Williams, Kim Roberts, Dianna Riggan, Flora Gladson, Jackie Hackfeld and Darla Doty. Shirley Fritz, Treava Boyd and Fran Bowden, WTC athletic secretary, and the local news media were thanked for their help.

Moffett Field, 7 p.m.

Tigers host Andrews tonight

Coach Albert Lewis Tigers hope to play the spoiler role when they take on the Andrews Mustangs at 7 p.m. in District 2-4A baseball action. A junior varsity game between the two schools starts at 4:30 p.m. Both games will be held at Moffett Field.

Snyder fell to 4-4 in district play following last Friday's loss to Pecos. Mathematically still in the playoff hunt, the Tigers cannot afford another loss. Andrews comes in at 7-1 and is tied for the league lead with Monahans. The Mustangs were ranked ninth in the state earlier this year. Lewis has indicated he will start Lee Fletcher on the mound. Fletcher, a junior right hander, is 4-6 with one save on the season. He has a season earned run average of 2.88.

The lineup remains the same for the Tigers, except in center field where Tracy Brazier will take over. The batting order is juggled, beginning with sophomore right fielder Randy Morris. Short stop Brad Gartman will follow. Next will be second baseman Van Echols, followed by first baseman David Martinez, third-sacker Bert Otto, Fletcher, left fielder Willie Garcia, designated hitter Wayne Ware, and catcher Tracy Odom. Martinez, who got a slow start at the plate this season, now leads Tiger hitters with a .467 batting average in district play. His .313 season average is an indication of how well he has hit over the past few ballgames. Gartman is batting .429 in district and has the most Tiger hits, 12. Echols follows at .417. Snyder is hitting .314 as a team in district play, though only three of tonight's starters are actually batting below that mark. Andrews brings a 15-4 season record into the contest, while Snyder is 10-9-1.

Sutton expected to issue statement

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) - University of Kentucky basketball coach Eddie Sutton said he will break his silence and issue a statement in support of assistant Dwane Casey, who is accused of sending $1,000 to the father of Wildcat recruit Chris Mills. Sutton said he had wanted to issue the statement Monday, but couldn't reach UK President David Roselle, on business in Texas, for his approval.

Sutton declined Monday to reveal the exact wording of the statement, which he planned to release today, but added, "You know it's going to be supportive."

The head coach hasn't talked about the allegation since the story first broke in The Daily News of Los Angeles last Thursday. The newspaper reported that Casey had sent the $1,000 in a videotape via Emery Worldwide air freight to Claud Mills, Chris' father. Several Emery employees said the envelope popped open during handling.

Casey's attorney, Joe B. Campbell of Bowling Green, Ky., said Monday that the package was unsealed and contained only a videotape when Casey left it with a secretary to be sent out.

Campbell said Casey told UK investigators that when he met with them for 2½ hours on April 10,

"Dwane's remembrance is he did not seal the package," Campbell said. "He put it on her desk. Now, if Dwane was going to do something improper, he'd do it himself."

The receptionist, Larnetta McDowell, "couldn't remember if she sealed the package or a coach did," Campbell said.

McDowell declined comment on Monday.

"I do know it was tightly sealed when it left the coaches' office" and was picked up by Emery, Campbell said.

Bo-Sox defeat Rangers, 4-3; Smith gets first AL victory

BOSTON (AP) - A strange thing happened to Lee Smith en route to his first American League victory.

The big right-hander was all set to get congratulations on his fifth save for the Boston Red Sox.

But catcher Rick Cerone, a 13-year veteran making just his second start for Boston, let a pitch get by him for a passed ball with two out in the ninth inning.

Instead of being within one strike of a save against Texas, Smith found himself in a tie game with the Rangers Monday.

The Red Sox rebounded quickly, though, taking Cerone off the hook on a walk, a double by Jim Rice and a sacrifice fly by Mike Greenwell in their half of the ninth, edging the Rangers 4-3 while completing a 5-2 homestand.

"On the way into the clubhouse, Rick said to me, 'Thanks for picking me up,'" Rice said. "He felt bad about what happened, but we won the game and that's all that counts."

With runners on first and third and the count 1-2 on Larry Parrish with two out in the Texas ninth, Smith's pitch glanced off Cerone's glove for a passed ball, permitting Scott Fletcher to score. Parrish then struck out to end the inning.

Mitch Williams, 0-1, became the third Texas pitcher in the last of the ninth. Wade Boggs walked on a 3-2 pitch to start the inning and Rice followed by lining a 3-1 pitch into the left-field corner for a double. Greenwell then hit a sacrifice fly to center, scoring Boggs.

The passed ball also cost unbeat Dennis "Oil Can" Boyd his third victory. Boyd allowed only three hits in seven innings, but two were Pete O'Brien's third and fourth homers of the season.

"Naturally, it's a disappointment not to get a win, but that's the way it goes," Boyd said. "That's part of the game."

Teacher rehired

CRANE, Texas (AP) — Members of the Crane school board have voted to renew the contract of the only black faculty member at Crane High School.

But Marian Bennett, 34, says she is still considering legal action against some board members despite Monday night's action to renew her contract.

The school board had singled her out for individual review last week when the school automatically renewed all other teaching contracts.

School Board President Charles Barrett called a meeting for Monday to vote on the matter again.

The board voted 5-2 to keep Bennett as a study skills teacher and 4-3 to keep her as a coach. Barrett said. He would not name the board members who voted against Bennett.

Bennett could not be reached Monday night. Her telephone was busy for more than three hours after the meeting, the El Paso Times reported.

Bennett told reporter Vanessa Tatum of KMID-TV in Midland that although it would be hard for her to stay in Crane after recently receiving threatening phone calls, she would fulfill the one-year contract.

Slain siblings buried Monday

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Four siblings brutally stabbed to death in their mobile home were buried side-by-side as family members called for a reform of a judicial system they partially blamed for the youths' deaths.

More than 1,000 mourners filed past the caskets of Jennifer Mann, 19; Shannon Mann, 17; Martha Mann, 15; and Ernest Mann, 11, at Mission Park Funeral Chapels. They were buried later at the funeral home burial park.

The four were killed early Friday when an assailant broke into their mobile home and attacked them with steak knives, some of which broke in their bodies because of the strength of the blows, authorities have said.

The children's parents, Ernest and Rebecca Mann, who are separated and were not home at the time of the attack, had to be supported physically by relatives as they walked to the burial site Monday.

Shannon Mann's former boyfriend, Leo Narvaiz Jr., 20, who was arrested shortly after the attack, remained in the Bexar County Jail Monday in lieu of $4.05 million bond on four capital murder charges and a charge of criminal mischief.

Grady Mann Jr., an uncle of the slain youths, told reporters prior to the memorial service that the judicial system was flawed because police did not arrest Narvaiz quickly enough in connection with an earlier threat against the Mann children and their friends.

"Although Ernest and Rebecca Mann and their four children believed enough in the system to allow the police department and the district attorney's office to protect them from threat and harm, the one fact remains what should have happened did not," Grady Mann said.

"It is our hope this tragedy might serve as a catalyst for all of us nationally to personally protest the system that has evolved," he said. "The system protects and shelters the rights of the few and in so doing neglects the needs of the many. The time for change is now, lest another family need go through the agony and torture of loss, whether one or many."

Narvaiz was accused of threatening Shannon Mann's current boyfriend, Ricky Moore, 24, and of damaging Moore's pickup truck during a fight on March 28.

Moore had filed a complaint against Narvaiz and Jennifer and Shannon Moore had given police statements about the incident. Authorities were looking for Narvaiz before the attack occurred.

The friends and family members who attended the memorial service walked past the four identical, gray caskets, on top of which were the victims' pictures.

Hundreds of roses surrounded the closed coffins and pink carnations were placed on top of the girls' coffins and blue carnations on top of the boys'.

Daniel M. Hubbell, assistant pastor of the Salem Sayers Baptist Church of Adkins who presided over the service, said the children loved their family dearly.

"When we face a crisis as we have faced this past weekend, a tragedy that gripped our community, our families and our lives, we know nothing will ever be the same again. We find that we either become very hard or very sensitive or very tender," he said.

He said he talked to the children's mother and she wanted him to give other youths a message.

"She wanted more than anything else for the young people that are here to understand the hurt and the pain so that you too may be prepared for it one day," he said. "...This proves to us today that we live in a sinful and murderous world."

After a 20-minute memorial service, the four coffins were placed in separate vehicles and driven about a mile to the burial place.

After a five-minute prayer service, Ernest Mann got up and screamed.

"I want my boy. I want my boy," he yelled.

Then, grabbing a friend, he shouted, "You get him for me. You get him for me." He did not elaborate.

News photographers were kept at a distance at both the memorial and graveside services.

Meanwhile, friends of the Manns have set up two funds to help defray the family's funeral costs, which are expected to total more than $10,000.

Authorities are continuing to analyze a tape in which one of the Mann girls called the 911 emergency exchange and said that her sister's boyfriend was attacking them.

Bexar County District Attorney Fred Rodriguez said it may be two months before a capital murder case is presented to a grand jury.

Iran is attacking second neutral ship

MANAMA, Bahrain (AP) — U.S. Navy warships and helicopters today searched for a missing U.S. helicopter, Iran attacked two neutral ships and more mines were sighted in the Persian Gulf.

Iran claimed it had shot down the helicopter during a sea battle that raged Monday over much of the southern gulf.

Iran fired five land-based missiles at U.S. warships during the fighting, in which American forces destroyed two Iranian oil platforms and blasted six Iranian vessels.

Navy officers identified the missiles as Chinese-made Silkworms but the Pentagon said it had yet to confirm what kind of missiles whistled past the warships.

In avoiding the missiles, the three-ship convoy led by the USS

Jack Williams took evasive action and fired chaff into the air, which confused the rockets' radar guidance system and caused the missiles to miss the convoy in the southern gulf.

Monday's confrontation was the most serious between U.S. and Iranian forces since the U.S. Navy sent its task force to the gulf last year.

President Reagan said today

"it seems to be quieting down" in the Persian Gulf. "We hope it continues that way," Reagan told reporters during a photo-taking session at the start of a meeting with Republican members of Congress. Leaders of the Senate Armed Services Committee said that while they support Reagan's action, the United States should reassess its go-it-alone policy of protecting the vital sea lanes.

"This is an action that was taken that was justified, and, I think, measured," said Sen. Sam Nunn, D-Ga., the committee's chairman.

Marketing of cattle to be topic

A beef cattle marketing clinic will be held Thursday at 1:30 p.m. in Room A of the Scurry County Coliseum. The program will primarily cover options trading in marketing beef cattle.

Joe Lane Wood from the Amarillo Brokerage Company and Charlie Henderson from West Texas State Bank of Snyder will present the program.

All interested persons are welcome to attend and there is no registration fee.

Program sponsors note many cattlemen tend to overlook marketing until the cattle or calves are ready for market. By that time, they say, it is normally too late to do anything other than accept the highest bid.

The program is designed to show cattlemen several alternatives to enhance the returns from their cattle. These include forward contracting, futures trading, options trading, and other marketing strategies which may be used when selling cattle.

Such methods will help cattle producers deal with the ups and downs of the market, sponsors note.

End of lawsuits seen with order future lawsuits is at least still possible. Since last Dec. 9, plaintiffs have filed a total of five legal challenges against the prison.

The non-suit designation will effectively end these five lawsuits, however. They were combined into a single action by Evins on March 11.

A non-suit ruling also requires plaintiffs to pay all court costs related to the legal proceedings to date. These mainly involve filing fees and court transcripts of hearings and depositions received from witnesses.

Attorneys fees are not included and will be borne by both sides.

The district clerk's office said Monday at this point they do not know an exact total for court costs which the plaintiffs will be required to pay.

Also during Monday's conference call, Evins authorized the withdrawal of one attorney for the plaintiffs, George Thompson of Lubbock.

The plaintiffs' counsel directed to help prepare the order for non-suit Monday was J. Mark Penley of Houston. Brad Crawford of Lubbock was ordered to perform a similar function for the defendants.

Crawford said from Lubbock Tuesday that he expects this order to be delivered to Evins later this week while the judge is in Abilene attending a judicial conference.

Also representing the plaintiffs during the telephone conference call Monday was Lawson Stiff.

Attorneys participating in the conference for defendants were Ernie Armstrong for the city; Mike Line, for the county; Crawford for the county and County Judge Bobby Goodwin as an individual; Pete Greene, for the Area Foundation; Gary Terrell and Brian Quinn of Lubbock for Joe Fowler, president of the Area Foundation as an individual; and Michael Hodge, for the TDC and the state of Texas.

City considers cable franchise and deletion of articles of speech and duplicative clauses.

The document is for a 12-year franchise, with Snyder Cablevision to pay three percent of its annual gross revenues to the city as a franchise fee.

It provides for two public access channels, with the possible addition of a third one later, for use by churches, Western Texas College, local governmental entities and other groups, for which the cable company is to provide technical assistance but not production equipment or personnel.

SCA will be required to expand the system's capacity to 35 channels "as soon as practicable," and the city would state its understanding that the company's rate may increase to $16.95 per month when basic service is increased to 24 channels — a move that is expected upon completion of the changeover in several months after the sale is completed.

Proof of performance tests will be run every fourth and eighth year and the results presented to the council.

Quarterly reports will be required on gross revenues.

Births

Carlos and Amanda Carrisalez are the parents of a baby girl weighing six pounds 11 ounces born at 8:25 p.m. Monday in Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

Dr. and Mrs. Sid Perry are the parents of a baby boy, Brooks Alan, born Tuesday in Poudre Valley Hospital, Ft. Collins, Colo. He was welcomed by a sister, Allison. Grandparents are Anna Mae Perry and Wanda and Joe Falls, all of Snyder.

Hospital turns away patients for second time

HOUSTON (AP) — Officials at Ben Taub Hospital say the hospital is so crowded that they have asked ambulances to bypass their emergency room and take critically ill patients to nearby Hermann Hospital.

It was the second time in the past two weeks that the hospital has had to take the action.

Officials said Monday that 34 very ill patients waited in the emergency room for a free bed in an intensive care unit or an adult ward, and officials decided they could accept no more emergency cases.

The emergency room itself was turned into a mini-intensive care unit, with patients being monitored right there.

The public hospital accepted only children as emergency patients during the overload period that administrator Mike Bullard expected to end early today.

Bullard said that all the adult wards and intensive care units are filled with very ill people who have crowded the hospital for more than a month.

Bullard said he could not explain why the hospital has been so crowded.

On April 6, when he first asked ambulances to bypass the hospital for about 18 hours, cocaine problems appeared to be the culprit.

Bullard asked the ambulance service to route all possible heart attack victims to Hermann because Taub's cardiac units were full.

Post office test signup scheduled

Through Friday of this week, application forms are available here for an examination to be given by U.S. Postal authorities to establish a register of persons eligible to become fulltime and part-time rural carriers serving Snyder and six other area cities.

Future vacancies in these posts will be filled by persons on this register. Applicants must first take the written test, which consists of vocabulary and reading comprehension questions plus computations.

To be considered, an individual must have also a safe driving record and must pass a post-office driving test.

The application forms may be obtained at the local post office between 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Other cities accepting the applications include Hermleigh, Roby, Roscoe, Rotan, Colorado City and Sweetwater.

Thick blood can be treated

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm 60, run 100 miles a month, cycle 400 miles a month, stand 5 feet 8, weigh 150 and have a resting heart rate of 48. My doctor says I have polycythemia. Will this cause a stroke with all my physical activity?

DEAR READER: Polycythemia refers to an abnormally high number of red blood cells. It can exist as a primary disease of the blood-forming organs (polycythemia vera) or as a condition that is secondary to another illness, such as emphysema. It causes the blood to be too thick, but it is readily treatable with medicine or by phlebotomy (drawing off excess blood). It has no relation to exercise.

On the other hand, an increase in red blood cells is common in healthy, well-trained athletes, such as you, particularly if they exercise at high altitudes. With less oxygen in the air (or with more demand for oxygen), the body adapts by manufacturing more oxygen-carrying red blood cells. This adaptation is usually called physiological erythremia. It is normal and not associated with any disease.

I'm confused by your question, because I don't know whether you have polycythemia or are showing a healthy biological response to your strenuous activity. You need further testing to define your condition. You may require treatment — or you may not. If the percentage of red cells exceeds 60 percent of your blood volume, you are at risk of thrombosis: blood clots that form and block arteries to the brain and heart.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm 27 and have been cutting three wisdom teeth for a long time. One dentist says to take them out, another says wait and see. I get headaches, neck aches and jaw aches. What do you think?

DEAR READER: I think that your decision depends on whether the wisdom teeth are growing in straight or crooked and whether they will adversely affect your bite by crowding your other teeth.

Wisdom teeth are molars at the back of the dental ridge that are the last to grow in, usually when people are in their 20s. These teeth are not necessary for proper dentition. In fact, they are sort of an afterthought by nature; they often produce problems by growing crookedly (impaction) or by putting pressure on teeth that are already in place, thereby causing pain, overriding and abnormalities of bite.

If you are having symptoms from your wisdom teeth and if dental X-rays show them to be misaligned, have them removed. If they appear to be in the normal position and your symptoms have other causes, let them alone and see what happens.

Dr. Gott's new Health Report on ALZHEIMER'S DISEASE discusses symptoms, management and new studies of this tragic and irreversible disease. For your copy, send $1 and your name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

Canada has blackout of power

MONTREAL (AP) — Officials restored power to parts of eastern Canada after a widespread blackout trapped thousands in Montreal's subways, prompted looting in downtown Montreal and delayed a National Hockey League playoff game.

The power failure Monday night extended to Quebec, parts of New Brunswick province and scattered districts of Maine and Vermont.

Hydro Quebec, the provincial power utility, said it was not known what caused the power outage, which began at 8:09 p.m. EDT.

The blackout terminated television coverage of the Adams Division final hockey game between the Montreal Canadiens and the Boston Bruins. The game at the Montreal Forum was interrupted in the first period but then continued with the use of emergency lights. Montreal won 5-2.

A Hydro Quebec spokesman, Jean-Guy Ouimet, said the breakdown began on a power line between Churchill Falls, Labrador, and the Arnaud generating station near Sept-Îles, Quebec. Power was being restored slowly, he said.

Hospitals and airports across the Quebec switched to emergency generators.

Jackson's popularity does not translate into delegates

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jesse Jackson's popularity in the Democratic presidential primaries hasn't translated into a single vote from the party delegates in the U.S. Senate.

Pose the question "why" to a Democratic member of that all-white group, and you'll get a look as though you asked why it doesn't snow here in July.

It's not group racism, lawmakers and analysts say. It's practical politics.

"A member of Congress has to look at it and see what's in it for him," says Charles Cook, a columnist and observer of internal congressional politics.

Senate Democrats send 43 delegates to the party's national convention in Atlanta. They are among the so-called super delegates, who serve by virtue of their positions as party leaders or elected officials.

Of the 32 delegates picked in the Senate so far, Michael Dukakis has nine; Sen. Albert Gore has five; Sen. Paul Simon, who mothballed his campaign, has two, and 16 are uncommitted.

Although Jackson is second in the overall delegate race to Dukakis, he has zero. It can be a sensitive topic.

Incumbent senators take a hard-nosed view of Jackson's chances of actually becoming president. Backing a losing ticket would be of no help to their own re-election chances — or for the Democrats retaining control of the Senate.

"There's a strong feeling that we've got to elect a president," said Sen. Max Baucus, D-Mont., who is committed to Dukakis.

"We need to do all we can to come up with the best possible out the large number of uncommitted. "The whole concept of super delegates is if the public has not made up their minds, then we come into play," he said.

"I think most senators want this situation to go away. It's a choice they don't want to make," said Cook.

The hope for senators is that the public will make a candidate the inevitable nominee soon so the super delegates can simply ratify the popular choice.

With few primaries left, a big win for Dukakis in today's New York contest could lead many senators to conclude that the public choice has been made.

What if Jackson surprises Dukakis in New York?

"They're going to keep their powder dry certainly until the convention," Mann said.

slate," said Sen. Jeff Bingaman, D-N.M. He's uncommitted, but says "Dukakis has certainly shown he has support. That has to be a major factor."

Thomas Mann, who studies government at the Brookings Institution, says some senators may have concluded that Jackson "has the capacity to excite blocs of voters in primaries but he'd have an extremely difficult time being elected in a general election."

"I think you'd find any number of members of the House and Senate embrace another black candidate," Mann said, mentioning as an example an elected public official such as Rep. William H. Gray III, D-Pa. Gray is supporting Jackson.

Sen. Wyche Fowler, D-Ga., who beat a Republican incumbent two years ago with the help of strong black support, is among the uncommitted.

"I haven't sensed any (racial) prejudice," Fowler said, pointing

Bowie's nose is damaged

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Authorities expressed shock upon learning that a portion of James Bowie's nose is missing from his carved marble figure on the 60-foot Cenotaph that stands as a shrine to Texas heroes in front of the Alamo.

The disfigured face of Bowie, among the best known of the 189 defenders of the Alamo, was discovered Monday when members of a solemn wreath-bearing procession took part in a Fiesta event known as the Pilgrimage to the Alamo.

Repairs are expected to begin in two weeks after the grandstand is removed from Alamo Plaza, officials say.

Although vandalism is considered a possibility for the damage, officials concerned with repairing Bowie's face also believe that the underlying marble might have flaked off causing the right portion and tip of Bowie's nose to fall off.

"We don't know what happened," Alamo Curator Emeritus Charles J. Long said. "There is no sign of natural breakage and no sign of vandalism. After 50 years, if that's the only damage, that's not too bad."

Long, a sculptor and curator of the Pompeo Coppini-Waldine Tauch Studios, where the Cenotaph was made, first discovered the damage Feb. 12, while walking by the Alamo on his way to eat lunch at a nearby restaurant.

Long quietly kept the damage to himself, only informing key officials in the San Antonio Parks and Recreation Department and current Alamo Curator Steve Beck.

"I saw his nose was missing as I walked by, and I looked around and found pieces of it on the ground," Long said.

"I couldn't see what caused the damage. The tip of the nose is in good shape. It just needs to be glued back on," he said.

Long volunteered to repair the damage and received permission to mend Bowie's nose from the Parks and Recreation Department.

Bowie's likeness is on the side of the Cenotaph facing the Alamo, on the north end.

Robert Allen must prove his mettle as chairman of AT&T

NEW YORK (AP) — Robert E. Allen will have a chance Wednesday to convince AT&T's shareholders that the communications giant remains on track despite the death of Chairman James E. Olson.

Olson's death from cancer Monday at age 62 came just two days before the annual shareholders' meeting in Denver. It shocked the company, coming just one month after the vigorous, tough-talking executive was reported ill with flu.

Allen, 53, who will field questions at the annual meeting, is the president and chief operating officer of American Telephone & Telegraph Co. and is serving as acting chairman.

Analysts say Allen was being groomed to succeed Olson as chairman, although no one expected the transition to come so quickly. He is the odds-on favorite to be named chairman by the board of directors, which might make a decision this week.

Like Olson, Allen rose in AT&T through the local telephone operating companies that once belonged to the Bell System. He also is a career AT&T executive. But in contrast to the blunt, gregarious Olson, Allen is described as quiet and thoughtful, though determined.

"He's a very bright and very direct kind of guy and very low-key. If you lived in a nice neighborhood, he'd be one of the nicer neighbors," said Peter Bernstein, senior analyst at Probe Research Inc. in Cedar Knolls, N.J.

Olson became AT&T chairman in September 1986, when the company still was adrift after the 1984 breakup of the Bell System. He cut costs, oversaw the painful cutting of 27,000 jobs and gave the company a sense of direction.

"Olson was the one guy who was hard-nosed enough that he would push and get his way, and drive people who may not feel the same pressure under the new chairman," said Fulton Holmes, an analyst for Thomson McKinnon Securities.

In a sign of Allen's standing, he shared the spotlight with Olson in the introduction to the company's latest annual report, which featured a question-and-answer session with the two.

Analysts differed on how significant Olson's loss would be.

IF YOU FEEL FORTUNATE YOUR CHILD JUST SMOKES MARIJUANA, THEN YOU SHOULD KNOW MORE ABOUT MARIJUANA.

Shall we start with the facts?

Marijuana makes your child lethargic, apathetic and paranoid. That's frightening. But so is this: Marijuana also causes mood shifts. And it causes your child to lose his memory.

It gets worse.

Marijuana causes a loss of motor coordination. Think about that next time your child drives the car home at night.

Had enough? No?

OK. Marijuana affects your child's reproductive system as well. It decreases your son's testosterone level. It can even lead to infertility.

Your daughter's reproductive system can suffer, too. With marijuana, unfortunately, come menstrual irregularities.

There's more.

Marijuana also does damage to your child's lungs. You think cigarettes are bad? Marijuana is far worse.

There are other effects that seem to show up with this "minor" drug: decreased productivity, absenteeism, impaired performance as well as impaired judgement and impaired learning capability.

Put it this way. It doesn't do much for your child's education.

If you'd like more information about marijuana or any other problem drug, contact your local agency on drug abuse.
