In Brief

Clean air

WASHINGTON (AP) — More areas violated federal clean air standards last year for ozone, a principal part of smog, while fewer violated the carbon-monoxide standard, the Environmental Protection Agency said today.

Sixty-eight urban and rural areas failed to meet the limit for ozone, up from 62 last year. Fifty-nine urban areas failed to meet the carbon monoxide standard, down from 65 last year.

There is substantial overlap between the two lists, and all the nation's 24 largest metropolitan areas are on one or both. The largest urban area not on either list is Kansas City.

1 dead, 2 hurt

BONHAM, Texas (AP) — A domestic dispute is being blamed for a shooting incident that left a man dead and two police officers wounded in this North Texas town, authorities say.

Sherman Whisenbunt, 53, who fired several blasts from a 12-gauge shotgun, was shot at least four times by three officers. Bonham Police Chief Mike Bankston said.

"He was shot twice in the chest area and once in each foot," Bankston said.

Michael Dukakis, steadily building his delegate lead over Democratic presidential rival Jesse Jackson, was heavily favored to score victories in Ohio and Indiana today while Jackson was certain to carry the District of Columbia.

Vice President George Bush, his claim to the GOP nomination secure, was hammering away at Dukakis as inexperienced on foreign policy. Dukakis shot back with a swipe at Attorney General Edwin Meese III and criticism of the Reagan administration for failing to provide sufficient funding for day care.

1,000 Poles join strike at shipyard

Lech Walesa pledges support in morning appearance

GDANSK, Poland (AP) — Solidarity leader Lech Walesa today addressed thousands of striking workers at the Lenin shipyard as a walkout took hold at the facility that was the birthplace of the outlawed labor federation.

"We don't want to be the beggars of Europe and of the world," Walesa told the cheering workers as he endorsed the strike that began Monday. The workers responded with chants of "Lech, Lech."

Strike leaders inside the shipyard said 7,000 to 8,000 of the shipyard's 12,000 workers were striking. Production appeared to be completely shut down.

A large poster at the gate listed the strikers, which had increased since Monday. It demanded higher pay, reinstatement of Solidarity nationwide, release of political prisoners and rehiring of fired activists.

The work stoppage at the shipyard was at least the fourth strike in communist Poland in a week and contributed to the worst wave of labor unrest since the government's December 1981 military crackdown on Solidarity.

Walesa, who headed the August 1980 strike at the shipyard that gave rise to the East bloc's first independent labor movement, received a loud cheer from the workers when he entered the yard this morning.

While giving unqualified support for the strike, the 44-year-old Walesa told workers gathered inside the gate and perched on a fence and rooftops: "I am not your leader. I am tired. You have to find for yourself a new Walesa."

He also told the workers they were taking up the same cause he fought for in 1980. "We lost eight years," he said, speaking through a loudspeaker. He was interrupted by shouts of "Lech" and "Bravo Bravo."

"Here, in the birthplace of Solidarity, I state to the authorities that they are deepening the losses, they are forcing Solidarity to lead the nation onto the road to reforms," said Walesa, winner of the 1983 Nobel Peace Prize.

Alojzy Szablewski, 62, a 36-year veteran of the shipyard who led a strike at the shipyard when martial law was imposed in December 1981, has emerged as the leader of the strike committee.

"The nation has to believe somebody. It will believe only Solidarity," Szablewski said in an earlier speech at the shipyard gate.

Walesa "supports us," Szablewski told the strikers. "We listen to him and follow his advice."

Walesa, who still works at the shipyard as an electrician, also endorsed the strike when it began Monday.

Western Co. sees new start

Emergence seen from Chapter 11

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Western Co. of North America probably will emerge from its Chapter 11 bankruptcy during the fourth quarter in a settlement whereby about 97.5 percent of existing shareholder equity will be given to creditors, shareholders were told.

Sheldon R. Erickson, the president and chief executive officer of the company, said at the oil service company's annual meeting Monday that details are being worked out and it is too early to speculate on a final plan.

A plan patterned on Houston-based Global Marine Inc.'s settlement would give the holder of 100 shares of the present Western Co. about 2 1/2 shares of the reorganized company, Erickson said.

The annual meeting was the last for founder H.E. "Eddie" Chiles as chairman. After an emotional invocation by his wife, Fran, Chiles said he was stepping down and that he probably should have taken the action sooner.

"If I'd done it about 1983, I could have quit while I was winning," he said. "I thought the boom was going to continue forever."

Chiles, who also is principal owner of the Texas Rangers baseball franchise, formally agreed to step down as Western Co. chairman in a letter dated Feb. 1, which was filed as an exhibit to the company's Form 10-K filed Feb. 28 with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Lincoln ISD.

Second session beginning at 7:30 p.m. "The Foreigner," by Gregory Portland ISD; "The Corn is Green," by Snyder ISD; "Anastasia," by Brazosport ISD; and "And They Dance Real Slow in Jackson," by Granbury ISD.

The SHS production tells the story of a school teacher in the early 1900s who sets up a school to serve the children of the Welsh coalminers.

Heading the 15-member cast is Kirsten Miller as the teacher,

Miss Moffat, and Brandon Neeley as her scholarship winning student, Morgan Evans.

Assisting Miss Moffat at the school are Miss Ronberry and Mr. Jones, portrayed by Ashley Miller and Corey McDaniel.

Other lead characters include Mrs. Watty, portrayed by Joy McSpadden, her daughter Bessie, portrayed by Amber Adams, and the squire, Judson Morrison.

Other members of the cast, to include mining boys and townspeople, are Amy Polk, John Griffin, Clay Travis, Jeff Franklin, Tommy Reeves, Chris Robbins, Melissa Hodges and Coy Berryman.

Crew members include lighting technician Galen Price, sound technician Jason Best, and stage manager Robert Lane.

Other members of the crew, who double as alternates, are Kristi Mize, Emily King, Rebecca Vestal, Lei Holcomb and David Stewart.

His other offices with the Texas Grain and Feed Association include service as a director, first and second vice president. In addition, he has served on the mixed feed and arbitration committees.

The association, headquartered in Fort Worth, is one of the largest grain and feed organizations in the world, with a membership in excess of 1,200. Members represent grain elevators, feed mills and flour

City council candidates

Walter Cox
City Council
Place 1

Biographical data: Walter E. Cox, 56, lives at 809 26th St. and is a self-employed businessman. He currently operates Cox's Laundry and is the former owner of the Minute Market. He is a member of the Scurry County Masonic Lodge No. 706 and the First Baptist Church.

Q. — State any specific goals you would like to see accomplished.

A. — Basically, to see that we have fair and equal representation throughout the city.

Q. — What do you consider the most pressing problem facing the city council today?

A. — We have a serious problem facing the city in the near future as a result of new federal regulations regarding sewer plants and water treatment plants. My district has a vested interest in these future proceedings because we are already suffering from low water pressure in our area. Over the years as the east side of town has expanded, our water supply has slowly been reaching the point of being inadequate to supply households. Large areas of our district cannot flush a toilet and run water in the kitchen sink at the same time. I'd say this is a pressing problem for us. We are consistently without water somewhere in our area because waterline leaks are being worked on. This is not only inconvenient but costly. Changes are coming as I stated due to updated requirements by the government, so I want to see that we in District 1 get our needs met regarding our low water pressure problem.

Q. — Outline the solution to this need.

A. — The city council is presently seeking help through grants from state and federal funds to assist Snyder in upgrading and expanding our water treatment plant and our sewer plant. If we can receive these grants this work can be accomplished without an increase of city taxes or the need for bonds. I would continue that work as a city councilman. Also, I would push for a solution to our district's low water pressure problem.

Q. — Define briefly the role of a city council member.

A. — Council members are the city's legislators. Their primary duty is policy making, which includes identifying the needs of local residents; formulating programs to meet the changing requirements of the community; and measuring the effectiveness of ongoing municipal services.

Vernest Tippens
City Council
Place 1

Biographical data: Vernest Tippens, 57, has lived in Snyder 54 years. She now resides at 810 33rd St. She works as a custodian at Western Texas College. She is a member of the Education for Self Responsibility advisory committee. She is also treasurer for the local NAACP chapter and for her church, Mt. Olive Baptist. She has been a board candidate one time previously, running for the Snyder school board.

Q. — State any specific goals you would like to see accomplished.

A. — I would like to see more consideration in the maintenance of our streets, extended sewer lines, more fire plugs, water drainage, as well as other benefits be spread equally among the residents of the city.

Q. — What do you consider the most pressing problem facing the city council today?

A. — I feel the most pressing problem we face today is our economic instability.

Q. — Outline the solution to this need.

A. — To solve our problem of economics we need to attract new industries and secure grants that will benefit the city.

Q. — Define briefly the role of a city council member.

A. — The role of a council member is to be a concerned citizen and an administrator of our city's affairs.

Joe Coronado
City Council
Place 3

Biographical data: A city resident for 13 years, Joe Coronado, 37, lives at 4113 Eastridge and is a partner in the CPA firm of Yorgesen, Blakey and Coronado. He is currently on the board of directors for the Snyder Chamber of Commerce, serving as treasurer, and the Scurry County Museum. He is a past director with the Snyder Lions Club. He is also a member of the Spanish Church of Christ, serving as church treasurer.

Q. — State any specific goals you would like to see accomplished.

A. — To help insure the economic stability of Snyder, maintain as low a tax rate as possible, help maintain the level of public service that we have been accustomed to.

Q. — What do you consider the most pressing problem facing the city council today?

A. — A declining tax base while at the same time the cost of providing services is increasing.

Q. — Outline the solution to this need.

A. — The solution is not easy and should involve various areas of work. These include the following and not necessarily in order of importance: cooperation with efforts made to attract and retain industry thereby aiding growth and economic stability, continue intergovernmental cooperation to eliminate duplication of service thereby reducing costs, and continue constant dialogue with various city and county boards to receive information crucial to developing policies that are conducive to both of the above.

Q. — Define briefly the role of a city council member.

A. — The council member in our particular form of city government should be well informed since he serves on the legislative body of the city government. It is the council's decisions that will set the policies under which the city will function.

Evelyn Malone
City Council
Place 3

Biographical data: Evelyn J. Malone, 40, has been a resident of Snyder for 29½ years. She is a teacher employed with Colorado City ISD and is currently serving on the zoning board of adjustment for the city. She has been a city council candidate before in August of 1986 and April of 1987. She is a member of Colonial Hill Baptist Church and is also active in the Musical Coterie. She serves as president of the local NAACP Chapter.

Q. — State any specific goals you would like to see accomplished.

A. — (a.) The citizen's tax dollars must be used wisely to maintain the level of services to all people. (b.) When citizens have issues that affect them, we as policy makers must adhere to their needs and provide the best solution to the issues. (c.) New businesses should be sought out to stimulate the economy therefore providing more jobs to reduce the level of unemployment.

Q. — What do you consider the most pressing problem facing the city council today?

A. — The economy within our city. Also in talking with people in District 3, several problems of vital concern to them were addressed to me. (a.) Some streets have pot holes that have been there over several months. (b.) Lack of proper street lights. (c.) Low water pressure. (d.) They want to know why new businesses are seldom developed on the east side.

Q. — Outline the solution to this need.

A. — We must continue to seek new business industry to promote growth for our city. In order that the needs of the people are met, I suggest that each council person become more in-tune and responsive to the people that are represented.

Q. — Define briefly the role of a city council member.

A. — City council persons make rules and ordinances. The council body is to collectively use the best resources and new ideas which are in the best interest of the entire city.

Dear Abby

Mom's in a Stew Over Guest Who Brought Her Own Dinner

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1988 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: Please settle this. My son brought his live-in girlfriend over to my house for supper. She's 32 and he's 26, and they plan to marry "someday." My specialty is stew. I am on a fixed income and can't afford anything fancier, but everyone who has had my stew says it's the best. Anyway, the live-in girlfriend brought her own microwave dinner! She said she's had my stew and she didn't care for it, so she brought something she could enjoy.

Miss Abby, I raised four children and taught them manners and respect for their elders, which is something this woman obviously never learned. If she had been on a special diet, I would have accommodated her with great compassion, but that wasn't the case, so I told her flat out that she was rude.

Now the girlfriend is mad at my son because he didn't stand up to me and take her part when I said she was rude.

So, please, tell me, who is right?
MOM IN 'THE MIDDLE

DEAR MOM: You aren't in the middle, your son is. Ms. Live-in was indeed rude to have brought her own dinner to your house. If she didn't care for your stew, she should have eaten a token and toyed with the rest. Furthermore, if she's mad at your son because he didn't side with her instead of you, she's not only rude, she's stupid. Every smart woman knows that in the long haul, a man will treat his wife the way he treats his mother.

DEAR ABBY: Here's the situation: I have been married for 11 years to a man who was married before. (I'll call him Paul.) He and his "ex" were divorced when I met him, so I had nothing to do with breaking up Paul's marriage. They had been married for 17 years and had three children. Now every time there is a death in Paul's family, his "ex" not only shows up at the funeral, she sits in the family room with his family. I think she has very poor taste. What would be a tactful way for me to get across to Paul's "ex" that she does not belong there?

ANNOYED

DEAR ANNOYED: It is not your place to get across to her that she "does not belong there." Perhaps she has warm feelings for members of Paul's family, and they for her. Her three children are bonds between her and your husband's family and always will be, even though she and Paul are divorced.

DEAR ABBY: You recently ran a letter from a Carlton R. Epperson (retired), First Class Petty Officer, who said he believes that his 11 months at sea without setting foot on land is a record. I am writing this letter to you for my uncle, who is still laughing so hard he can't write.

He served from 1942 to 1946 on the USS Minneapolis CA36 heavy cruiser and spent three years and nine months at open sea. (He has 11 battle stars.)

My uncle, who was both a shell-back and a polar bear, has gone around the world seven and a half times in water mileage, and engaged in surface battle with the Japanese fleet at Corregidor, the turning point of World War II — so maybe Mr. Epperson owes my uncle a right-hand salute. I'm sure you'll be hearing from many of the other 2,000 men who served on the USS Minneapolis during that time. Any one of them can verify this.

Altrurian Daughters studies pearl culture

Altrurian Daughters Club members met April 13 at Martha Ann Woman's Club for a special program on pearls arranged by Evelyn Davies.
Ronnie Cox of Cox Jewelry spoke on buying and caring for pearls. He pointed out that pearl color should be selected for the most flattering tone to the skin. Blondes generally look best in white rose pearls while brunettes are most flattered by light cream colors.
Body type is to be considered, also, with chokers good for a long, slim neck. A short, heavier neck is most flattered by a longer necklace. Dangling earrings are good for a round face while a slender face needs round button styles.

Since pearls are basically a calcium carbonate, they are rather soft and can be scratched or chipped. Since body oils, dirt and lotions or perfumes may cloud or attack the pearl's surface, they should be wiped after each wearing with a soft cloth or chamois.
Pearls may also be washed in a mild detergent solution. Care should be taken not to use perfume where the pearls are worn.
For protection, pearls should be restrung about once a year. The knots between pearls should be checked to make sure pearls do not rub against each other.
Pearls should be stored in a lined box away from other jewelry to prevent scratching. It's also a good idea to wrap them in a soft cloth.
Cox, owner and operator of Cox Jewelry in Snyder and Sweetwater, is the third generation with the firm. He is a member of the American Gem Society and holds the title of registered jeweler-certified gemologist from the society. A yearly testing is required to maintain membership in this organization.
Hostesses for the meeting were Georgene Galloway and Sadie Longbotham.

Bridge

James Jacoby

Did any of you notice that South blithely violated a well-known bidding rule? Once you have made a pre-emptive bid, then your partner is the one who decides about competing further. Why did South bid four hearts over three spades? First, he thought that his three cards in spades made it likely that his partner held a singleton. Second, he thought the opponents could make three spades. Third, he assumed he would play the hand well. He assumed wrong.
After the ace of spades, West cashed the ace of clubs. That shift was good for declarer, since continued spade plays would take away any chance for the contract. Then West played a diamond. Declarer played low from dummy and East won the king. East then played king of spades. When declarer ruffed in dummy, he suddenly had a brainstorm that West might hold the singleton queen of hearts. He played the queen of clubs, shedding his last spade, and then to shorten his trump holding to the same imagined length as East's, he ruffed a club. West gratefully overruffed for the setting trick.

Declarer erred in taking such an unusual play. At the point where East returned the spade king, declarer should simply ruff, cash the king of hearts and ruff a low club. Now the ace of hearts will either bring down the queen or not — but that is the best play. It is certainly much better than playing Russian roulette with the cards by conjuring up an exotic distribution and trying to counteract it.

Honey Do's Club meets

Honey Do's Extension Homemakers met at the home of Mary Vaughan for the April club meeting. President Virginia Fogle presided.

Marvin Ensor, Scurry County extension agent, gave a program on gardening. He informed the group of the best times to plant and fertilize and how to water properly.

Ensor told about various plant diseases and their cures as well as how to kill weeds.

Patsy Burleson and Shirley Bullard gave a report on the district meeting held in Levelland.

In honor of National Extension Homemakers Week, members subscribed to "Young Miss" magazine for the Scurry County Library and made a donation to the Dermott school restoration project.

The club also made sandwiches for workers in the Good Neighbors Sharing housing renovation project carried out Saturday.

A potluck luncheon was served with eight members present. Former member, May Thornton, was a visitor for the session.

Extension clubs to observe special week

Scurry County Extension Homemakers are observing National Extension Homemaker Week. Each of the five local clubs will honor the event during May.

Window displays of crafts and projects done during the year by Stargazers and Plainview Extension Homemakers will be shown at Lisa's Boutique and the old Anthony's building on the north side of the square.

County clubs meet once a month for a business session, educational program related to home economics and a craft demonstration. The groups are also involved in community projects.

The five local clubs and their meeting times are Honey Do's, third Thursday at 9:30 a.m.; Knapp, first Thursday at 1:30 p.m.; Stargazers, third Monday at 7 p.m.; Patchwork Squares, second Tuesday at 9:30 a.m.; Plainview, third Tuesday at 2 p.m.

Membership does not exclude anyone due to race, color, sex, religion, age, socioeconomic level, handicap or national origin. For more information about the clubs, call the extension agent, Kathryn Roberts, at 573-5423.

Daily air service from Montreal to New York began in 1928.

FILMETER

What's new in movies and video Robert DiMatteo

By Robert DiMatteo

BAD DREAMS (R) Gale Anne Hurd produced this low budget horror flick, and one approaches it expectantly hoping for the kind of hip, shrewdly executed schlock that marked Hurd's earlier productions.

It's not nearly that good, though the premise is choice. The survivor (Jennifer Rubin) of the mass suicide fire of a Jonestown-like hippie cult comes out of a coma in the 1980s, only to suspect that the cult leader (Richard Lynch) is haunting her.

Directed by Andrew Fleming, the movie has some distinctively snappy and tart dialogue especially in the early scenes with the patients, all of whom have colorful ties as they suffer from borderline personalities.

There's a jivey acting turn by Dean Cain as a manic patient with thick black eyebrows and a wisecracking wit reminiscent of a deranged Groucho Marx.

DOMINICK AND EUGENE (PG-13) This study of the bond of new-born fraternal twins — one a gifted med school student (Ray Liotta), the other a somewhat mentally retarded garbage man (Tom Hulce) — is one of those warm, bedraggled little films that get by as much on good intentions as on craft and achievement.

The acting helps a lot — Hulce achieves moments of considerable pathos as he conveys the childlike nature of his character, and Liotta shows a far gentler side than he did as the crazy ex con in "Something Wild."

It's a marvelous movie, nonetheless an Edwardian romantic comedy of repressed manners with melancholy undercurrents, in which the romantic protagonists are homosexual.

New Home Video

MAURICE (Not Rated) Lorimar, $79.95 This highly praised 1987 adaptation of a posthumously published E.M. Forster novel was the work of the genteel producer-director team of Ismail Merchant and James Ivory.

repressed manners with melancholy undercurrents, in which the romantic protagonists are homosexual.

Though Merchant and Ivory give us a richly detailed, lulling old-fashioned period production, their film has true iconoclasm and power in its portrait of a fair-haired and earnest Cambridge student (James Wilby) who attempts to deny his gay feelings.

Sustaining the sexual tension as long as possible, without becoming clogged and murky, "Maurice" achieves a satisfying full-blown romantic resolution as Maurice finds the blend of spiritual and physical love he desires.

Old 'remedy' isn't advisable

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My daughter was the worst biter in the world. I was at my wife's end. Then I tried the old-fashioned remedy of washing her mouth out with soap. After that, whenever she would open her mouth to bite, I would remind her of the soap. She never bit again.

DEAR READER: Washing out a child's mouth with soap used to be a fairly standard method of altering unacceptable behavior — and vocabulary. However, I advise against it. The practice is extremely unpleasant and I can tell you — ever since I had my mouth washed out with soap at summer camp when I was a child, I have strongly sympathized with youngsters who are subjected to this procedure. As a general rule, there are superior ways by which parents can control their children. Growing up is tough enough without having to do it while foaming at the mouth.

DEAR DR. GOTT: We want to buy a swing set for our child. What should we look for to assure a safe piece of equipment?

DEAR READER: All outside gym equipment has risks. No manufacturer could possibly make a completely safe swing set. If that were the case, the equipment wouldn't be fun, anyway. However, you can perform a service for your child by following these guidelines:

Make sure that infant swings have short chains and that slides have gentle slopes. Landing areas should be cushioned with sand or wood chips. At least once a month, check the equipment for sharp edges, splinters, loose nuts and bolts, and any dangerously worn places. Anchor the swing or gym securely with strong bolts or pegs and stabilize the structures so that they don't move in the ground. Remember that dangling ropes, chains and wires can be hazardous. Teach children the proper way to mount swings and slides, make sure they understand to stay clear of areas in front and in back of swings that are in use. Instruct youngsters in the appropriate methods of climbing ladders and other fixtures.

Most important: Supervise. Be present and be alert to potential problems while the children are playing. No safety feature is as good as a concerned parent who is in or near the play area.

For specific information about a particular piece of equipment, call the Consumer Product Safety Commission toll-free at 800-638-CPSC.

The number of women in Latin America's labor force has increased dramatically, according to the Inter-American Development Bank. The number of women more than tripled between 1950 and 1980, rising from 9.8 million to 30 million. Meanwhile, the number of men in the labor force nearly doubled during the same period. In percentages, the share of women rose from just under 18 at the beginning of the period to 26 by 1980.

Hance: keep talking to OPEC

AUSTIN (AP) — Railroad Commissioner Kent Hance, saying his trip to the OPEC meeting in Vienna last week was valuable for Texas, believes the state should keep talking with those oil-producing nations.

"I thought it was very worthwhile. I think a communication was established for a dialogue that will promote (oil price) stability," he said.

Not everyone agreed that Hance's trip was a good idea. One group, in fact, has called for prosecution of Hance on charges he violated the Logan Act, which bans private citizens from interfering with U.S. foreign policy.

The Citizen Labor Energy Coalition, boasting 12 million members who favor low energy prices, has urged Attorney General Edwin Meese to prosecute Hance.

A letter written by the coalition to Meese accused Hance of "attempting to devise, with agents of foreign governments, new governmental restraints on the operations of a free, competitive market in crude oil."

"It would appear that Commissioner Hance's efforts to assist OPEC in fixing world oil prices are in direct opposition to U.S. foreign and economic policy," Edwin S. Rothschild said in the letter to the attorney general.

"Commissioner Hance is carrying on a blatant campaign to assist OPEC in raising world oil prices and damaging U.S. economic interests," he added.

Hance said he agrees with Monday's prediction by the oil ministers of Saudi Arabia and Kuwait, who said they expected world oil prices to stabilize near current levels despite the breakdown of the OPEC meeting.

"I am disappointed that today they did not reach an agreement. I figured that if they didn't, prices would slide a little temporarily and then they would come back ... I still think that within the next year, you're going to see stable prices in the low $20s" per barrel, Hance said.

This latest Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries meeting ended with no agreement on a proposed 2 percent cut in the group's oil production, a move aimed at stabilizing prices that have undergone big fluctuations since late 1985.

Besides predicting stability, Saudi Oil Minister Hisham Nazer said he is optimistic about gaining more cooperation from non-OPEC oil exporters, including American oil-producing states. "The oil states in the United States are very, very much interested in the stabilization of the market," he said.

Hance said he hopes his visit opened lines of communication with OPEC that are vital to Texas.

"We're not trying to join OPEC, and we're not always going to agree with them. But when President Reagan tried to get nuclear arms stability, he had to deal with the Russians, who are our enemies," Hance said.

"The critical thing is — we're living in a world where someone else sets the price for our commodity. We have to have input."

The Railroad Commission for 40 years helped set world oil prices. The commission has monitored oil output since an oil price crash in the 1930s, and under state law the agency has authority to restrict production to avoid waste and to protect reserves.

Hance, who was criticized by the Reagan administration for making the trip, makes no apologies and said Texas officials should attend the next OPEC session.

Thousands rushing to meet deadline

HOUSTON (AP) — As the midnight Wednesday deadline nears, thousands of illegal aliens bearing lawn chairs, ice chests, and necessary documents waited in long lines for a chance to become American citizens.

Officers hired to patrol the crowds and traffic jams around the Immigration and Naturalization Service center in Houston, the nation's busiest, said they are bracing for a rush of people trying to meet the deadline.

"People are probably going to want to rush on Wednesday, but everyone in line will get serviced," Houston Police Officer Joe Garcia said. "We're going to go until the wee hours of the morning."

Monday, by evening, about 3,200 people had made their way through the line circling the shopping center that houses the Houston office, said Richard S. Rios, director of the center near downtown Houston. Many of those camped out since Sunday to be first in line, Rios said.

"This is exactly what we expected," regional INS commissioner Mario Ortiz said of the crowds. "It's like an inverted bell curve — there was a lot at the beginning, then a lull and then a mad rush at the end."

"This is an incredible amount of activity," Ortiz said. "The pace is really phenomenal, particularly in Dallas and Houston."

Due to the crush, portable bathrooms were provided and officials were keeping some offices open 24 hours per day and waiving interviews with applicants until after the deadline at midnight Wednesday. The INS says that anybody not on line by that time is out of luck.

"I really didn't know what to do" about filing an application, Zeerak Khan, 20, of Pakistan, said as she waited in the meandering line. "That's why I waited until the last minute."

One woman who stood in line holding her baby in one arm. In the other arm, she clutched amnesty documents that were longer than the infant. Others who camped out on lawn chairs brought ice chests and toys to keep their children amused.

Many police officers say they want more firepower

AUSTIN (AP) — Many law enforcement officers say they are switching from their traditional handguns to weapons with more firepower to keep up with drug dealers who are carrying semi-automatics and other sophisticated weapons.

The U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration, for example, has begun issuing 9mm submachine guns and 9mm semi-automatic pistols to every one of its 2,800 agents.

By late May, Austin police patrol officers will be given the option of carrying 9mm semi-automatic pistols instead of the standard .357-caliber Magnum revolvers. Austin police narcotics agents, organized crime officers and plainclothes detectives already have that option.

Fred Smith, supervisory agent in charge of the DEA office in Austin, said the increased firepower is "really a necessity for the overall protection of the agents."

Smith said his agents have confiscated hundreds of weapons, including machine guns, in Central Texas. In January, six machine guns were seized during a drug raid in Waco, he said.

Texas Department of Public Safety spokesman David Wells said DPS narcotics agents are considering boosting their firepower. Currently, DPS drug agents use .357-caliber Magnum revolvers, .22-caliber semi-automatic rifles and 12-gauge shotguns.

Our advertising staff has been especially trained to help you locate hidden co-op opportunities. They will help you prepare your ads, supply you with attractive, attention compelling art, write your copy and put it all together in an eye-catching layout. Our staff can produce results for you, and best of all, the co-op available to you can pay as much as 100% of the costs. Don't let co-op money slip through your fingers. The Texas Poll research data confirm once again a basic fact of marketing life:

Newspapers provide the most efficient means of reaching the best prospects in Texas.

Daily and Sunday newspaper readership is strong. The majority of adults in Texas read a daily newspaper everyday of the week; two thirds read every Sunday. In terms of where Texans get most of their shopping information, newspaper leads mail by more than 2 to 1 and TV by almost 3 to 1.

More good news—readership is even stronger among up-scale demographic groups. The highest income, occupation, and education groups are the strongest newspaper readership groups.
