

Democrats gear for Waller opponent

By DONNY BROWN
SDN Managing Editor

The 12 Democratic Party chairmen which comprise the 78th District for the state house of representatives are to meet Tuesday night to select a candidate who they hope will be on the November ballot in place of outgoing incumbent Steve Carriker (D-Roby) against former Snyder Mayor Rod Waller.

The two names before the chairmen include Greg Wortham, 27, an aide to Carriker now attending the Lyndon B. Johnson

School of Public Affairs in Austin whose official residence is listed as Sweetwater; and David Counts, 51, a Knox City real estate and insurance man who currently serves as the Democratic Party county chair for Knox County.

With the nomination process slated, however, the question remains unanswered if the Democratic Party will actually be able to get a name on the ballot to oppose Waller.

Republicans point to a legal opinion set forth by Secretary of State Jack Rains that once Carriker officially steps down to run for the 30th Senatorial seat once held by Ray Farabee, his party will be unable to replace him on the ballot for his 78th House seat.

Democrats say, however, they are confident they can get a candidate before the voters, and have even expressed the "last resort" option of having Carriker legally change his place of residence.

Carriker himself has called this option a "fail-safe method in case nothing else works."

If he moved outside the 78th District, but still resided within the 30th Senatorial District, he would be declared constitutionally ineligible to run for the House seat.

And, under the law, an ineligible candidate can be replaced on the ballot.

Scurry County Democratic Party Chairman Earl (Hassie) Sneed says he plans to be at the Tuesday night meeting when a possible candidate is to be named.

The meeting will be at Hickman's Restaurant in Aspermont beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Sneed noted the planning for the meeting has essentially been handled by Dusty Rhodes, Taylor County Democratic chair.

Regarding having a Democratic nominee for the 78th District post, Sneed said "We expect to have a name on the ballot."

He added he doubts the option of asking Carriker to legally move his residency will be required. Such an option requires a residency of at least 30 days and has been done in the past using either home or mobile homes.

"I think we have a better avenue," Sneed said, noting that he believes an attorney general's opinion would find that the Democrats could place a name

During local visit...

Gramm predicts ultimate repeal of 'Windfall Profits'

By BOB CAMPBELL
SDN Staff Writer

U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm commented about the ailing Texas oil industry and possible "help on the way" during a brief visit and tour of Western Texas College Saturday.

In other world events, Gramm said the Soviet Union's apparent willingness to restructure its relationship with the United States "is directly attributable" to the beefing-up that the American military underwent in the early 1980s.

Following a breakfast and tour at Western Texas College, the senator said he expects the oil economy to be helped later this year when Congress repeals the Windfall Profits Tax.

Gramm visited Snyder on a 19-city economic and business development tour.

"I'm not a golfer," he quipped during a visit to the WTC golf course and landscape technology building. "I have no vice except immodesty."

In an interview on the way to Winston Field airport, the former Texas A&M University economics professor compared Railroad Commissioner Kent Hance's talks with OPEC to the United States' attempt to have a more constructive relationship with

Smoking, landfill before city tonight

Two requests by local residents will go before Snyder city councilmen Monday—one related to the regulation of smoking in public and a second involving the city landfill, has requested that a fence be erected around it.

The smoking ordinance request is listed under old business and was first proposed to council members at a May 9 meeting. It was tabled at that time.

Submitting the request for some type of smoking ordinance—along with a petition of some 150 names—were Betty Benson and Art Richmond.

In a second citizen-request due consideration Monday, John Short, a property owner adjacent to the landfill, has requested to speak to the council.

In his letter, he notes his request pertains to the fencing of the city landfill.

Both items are listed for the 6:30 p.m. June meeting, which will include also the oath of office for new council member Vernest Tippens. She won the district 1 seat on the council at a May 28 runoff.

Other agenda items listed for Monday include:

Soviet blast kills 68

MOSCOW (AP) — Pravda said today that residents thought war had broken out when a freight train packed with 120 tons of explosives blew up at a rail crossing in a city near Gorky, killing at least 68 people and injuring 230.

"First I saw a high column of flames shoot up. Then I heard a rumbling, and then a great mushroom cloud rose," the official Communist Party daily quoted a witness, V. Dormidontov, as saying.

Soviet news reports said Saturday's blast in Arzamas, an industrial city about 240 miles east of Moscow, flattened several city blocks and tossed railroad cars and other vehicles like feathers.

Dozens of doctors were rushed to the city and rescue workers continued today to pour through the debris and Pravda said the true death toll may never be known. In some areas, all that was left from the blast were car wheels or rubble from multi-storied apartment buildings, today's paper added.

Soviet media said the blast involved three boxcars packed with industrial explosives and destroyed the homes of 600 people. At least eight children were among those killed.

The official media's reporting of the disaster was among its most detailed and rapid ever about such an accident — an apparent sign of Mikhail S. Gorbachev's policy of "glasnost," or greater openness.

What shocked Arzamas residents, Pravda said "was not the damaged houses or destroyed cars, but the crippled people calling for help."

The newspaper quoted one unidentified, weeping woman as saying: "The first thing that came to my mind was, has it started?" an apparent reference to war.

Witnesses said the explosion was so powerful that windows were shattered about 1 1/2 miles away and sections of track were discovered a mile from the accident site, the news reports said.

Pravda described the scene as being one of "brief panic," but said those who were not injured quickly rushed to help victims.

More than 80 doctors were flown to Arzamas, a city of more than 90,000 people. Nearby residents rushed to offer blood and food for the survivors, the media said.

Pravda said the death toll would probably mount. "How is it possible to determine how many people were killed in cars parked nearby?"

It noted that, in some cases, only wheels were left at the site. The story appeared on the back page of today's paper. There were no photographs.

Incentives slated with blood effort

Local blood drive sponsors are once again seeking donations Tuesday from noon until 8 p.m. at the Towle Park Barn.

A long list of incentives will again be offered.

For first time donors, United Blood Services (UBS) of Lubbock is donating a free coffee mug. A ballpoint pen from UBS will be given out to all donors also.

Each donor can also expect a dollar coupon from Golden Corral Steak House as well as coupons good for a DQ Sundae at Dairy Queen and a malt or milk shake from Sonic Drive-In and Gandy's Dairies.

For every other donor, drive incentives will include coupons good for a medium drink at Long John Silver's and a regular order at Gill's Fried Chicken.

Every fifth donor will receive a free six-pack of soft drink courtesy of Dr. Pepper-Pepsi Bottling Company of Sweetwater.

During the drive, Jaramillo's Mexican Food restaurant will give away seven $5 gift certificates. These will be distributed by random drawings.

All donors will also be given refreshments to include orange juice and cookies. The juice is provided by the Cogdell

Memorial Hospital Auxiliary, co-sponsors of the drive along with UBS, and the cookies by Lawrence IGA.

Outdoor sign space has been donated to advertise Tuesday's drive by Bar-H-Bar, Ben Wilson Supply, Burgess-McWilliams Pharmacy, Gill's Fried Chicken, Golden Corral Steak House, Kmart, Pizza Hut, Reta's Cake Shop, Scurry County Coliseum and The Shack.

'Phantom' wins seven Tonys

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Phantom of the Opera" captured seven Tony Awards, including best musical, but the fairy tale "Into the Woods" deprived it of the prizes for musical score and book.

"Into the Woods" won three Tonys at Sunday night's nationally televised awards presentations for the 1987-88 Broadway season. Also winning three were the exotic love story "M. Butterfly," and the revival of Cole Porter's "Anything Goes."

"Phantom," which is the season's biggest hit and is sold out well into next year, is the second straight British import to win for musical. Last year, "Les Miserables" won that award and seven others.

In addition to musical, "Phantom," the story of a disfigured ghoul who abducts a beautiful singer at the Paris Opera, won the musical categories for best actor, Michael Crawford; director, Harold Prince; and featured actress, Judy Kaye; and all three technical awards: Maria Bjorn-Woods.

"I'm so glad that Stephen won, so I don't have to share this with him," said Lapine in accepting the book award.

Joanna Gleason won the best actress in the musical, in which she plays the baker's wife who wants a child and turns to a witch for help.

"For the past two years, people have thought I was the baker's wife, but I felt more like Cinderella at the ball," Miss Gleason said after winning her prize.

"M. Butterfly" author David Henry Hwang thanked "the real-life French diplomat who carried on an affair for 20 years with a Chinese actress without realizing she was a man."

"I like improbable plots but I'm not sure I could have made that one up," Hwang said.

In addition to best play, it won for director John Dexter and actor B.D. Wong, who plays the singer and grasped his tailcoat and curtsied after his award was announced.

Bill McCutcheon, a comic gangster on the lam in "Anything Goes," received the featured actor in a musical award.

"Thank God for letting me live this long to be here," said McCutcheon. The 1934 Cole Porter musical also was named best revival and received the choreography award, which went to Michael Smuin.

L. Scott Caldwell received the featured actress in a play prize for her portrayal of the boarding house owner's wife in "Joe Turner's Come and Gone" by August Wilson.

The singer Madonna, who is in "Speed-the-Plow," presented a special Tony to the South Coast Repertory Company of Costa Mesa, Calif.

In presenting the award to David Emmes and Martin Benson, who founded it in 1964, she started by saying the microphone wasn't high enough, but was told it was all right. She tried to stand in a bent position, finally said, "This isn't good for my posture," and added, "I'm being punished for not coming to rehearsal today."

The nominees were chosen by a 12-member panel of theater professionals. The contenders were announced May 9, and then ballots were sent to 730 journalists and members of the theatrical profession.

Leaders propose acid rain policy

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The governors of Ohio and New York have agreed on a policy to sharply reduce acid rain while protecting the interests of the coal-producing states, officials say.

Details of the national proposal were to be released today, Debra Phillips, press secretary for Ohio Gov. Richard Celeste, said Sunday night. The plan would need congressional approval.

Sulfur dioxide emissions from the burning of coal have been blamed as a major cause of acid rain, which environmentalists say is destroying waters and woodlands in the Northeast. Much of the sulfur dioxide comes from coal-burning power plants along the Ohio River.

New York is involved in a U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals lawsuit in Washington against the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency. The lawsuit is protesting the EPA's refusal to revise the air pollution control plans of Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee, West Virginia and Illinois to reduce sulfur dioxide emissions in the Northeast.

The New York Times today quoted New York Gov. Mario Cuomo as calling the agreement "a reasonable and imaginative effort to resolve our differences and solve the problem of acid rain." He said he would "push hard and will keep pushing" to achieve a national program to deal with the issue.

Kremlin in self breaks stereotypes

MOSCOW (AP) — For many of the Americans getting their first peek at the Kremlin during last week's summit, one surprise was simply aesthetic.

The Kremlin — as in "President Reagan rattled the Kremlin with his demand that..." — conjures up the image of a big, no-nonsense, government-issue office building with which we would all be familiar except that it is hidden behind suffocating security.

Like the Pentagon, for example, or the General Motors Building

Moscow has more than its share of these sorts of structures, but the Kremlin isn't one of them.

AP analysis

The Kremlin is a complex of antique buildings framed by an imposing red-brick wall. It includes breathtaking, centuries-old cathedrals, many of them highlighted by gilt-painted onion domes. Several ornate palaces —

Italian-renaissance yellow, not government gray — have passed from the czars to become offices of the commissars. The grounds are lavish, and at least in late May they are green and beautiful. The red flags always wave, and the red star shines bright above several spectacular gates.

Much of the Kremlin is off limits, but some of it is not. Tourists stroll through. Russians use it as a shortcut to work. Brides, still wearing their dresses and veils, stop by and leave their wedding-day flowers at memorials to Russia's war dead.

"This is ground zero?" asked one American journalist, a fellow who found it incongruous to consider that if the bombing ever starts, the White House and the Kremlin will be the first to go, wedding-day flowers or not.

Repairman Goes Through Roof When Labeled Unprofessional

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I read about the Pasadena lady who got ripped off by a man she hired to repair her roof. He wanted $400 in advance to buy the tiles. She gave it to him, and that was the last she saw of him.

Speaking as a self-employed mason and repair specialist, I resent your saying, "Fly-by-night laborers who don't have the materials to work with are obviously not professional." There are times when I ask for money in advance to buy materials because I can't afford to have a large inventory sitting around.

Of course, people who buy services should always check out the craftsman first. (I always have five or six references.) But please don't label all laborers who ask for money in advance as "unprofessional." I am a pro, and I've never ripped off anyone in my entire career.

new Cadillac for cash, and all he had to do was write some letters and send a few dollars to people whose names he got from a mailing list. It sounds so easy, and he says it is 100 percent legitimate.

He has written to me three times. There is no return address on his envelopes, so I can't write and tell him what I think of this, but I know there has got to be a catch in it somewhere, so I am not following his instructions and sending a dollar to the five names listed.

I am enclosing his letter and all the instructions so you can see for yourself. What do you think of this? I can't believe a person can make $50,000 in four months doing nothing. He says it's a legitimate business opportunity.

JOHN E. DENISON, DALLAS

DEAR MR. DENISON: You aren't the only repair specialist who complained about my answer. But be fair, John, the man who ripped off the lady in Pasadena was a stranger who rang her doorbell and offered to repair her roof. He offered no references, and she asked for none. (Big mistake.) I said that he was an irresponsible, fly-by-night crook — which he was — but I didn't mean to tar all roofers with the same brush.

In some instances, the craftsman is ripped off by a little old lady who does not come up with the money after the work has been done, so I recommend that a contract (or agreement) be drawn up in advance to protect both parties.

BERTHA C. SHELBY, OHIO

DEAR BERTHA: This get-rich scheme is a scam. There is no Santa Claus, tooth fairy or free lunch. Chain letters requesting money are illegal. I am sending this "business opportunity" offer to the postmaster, which is what every person should do when a letter of this kind shows up in the mail.

Aide worked on new book

WASHINGTON (AP) — A former aide to House Speaker Jim Wright says in an interview published today that he spent about 200 hours of congressional office time working on Wright's book "Reflections of a Public Man."

The book, and Wright's royalties from it, have sparked calls for an ethics committee investigation of the House speaker.

Former Wright aide Matthew Cossolotto, who worked for the Texas Democrat from 1983 until early this year, told the Washington Post he spent about 200 hours working on the book project during office hours.

He said he also flew to Fort Worth, Texas, and spent almost three weeks doing final editing on the book with Wright's publishers.

Cossolotto said that at the time he was working on the book, he received no other compensation besides his congressional salary of about $27,000.

M&F Plastic Pipe has variety of sizes

M & F Plastic Pipe is your locally owned dealer for polyethylene pipe and PVC pipe in many areas. It is much more versatile than PVC and more economical than steel. It's flexibility makes it easier to handle, therefore saving you time and labor. The durability of this pipe has been proven under all kinds of weather conditions and it can be re-spooled and re-laid several times without damage to the pipe.

They have spooling trailers, reel trailers and a spooling truck to handle pipe up to three inches. Pipe that is four inches or larger comes in joints and must be laid by hand. It is "welded" together by using an electric iron that melts each end of the pipe and then it fuses when put together. This eliminates the worry about leaks from bad threads or not being tight enough such as in steel pipe or the hassle of cleaning and gluing as in PVC.

Poly pipe can be used for water lines in homes, stock tanks, water wells, water supply for drilling, transfer lines, gas lines or production flow lines.

They will lay new or used pipe, provide you with valves, fittings, ditching, etc. to suit your needs and will also repair your lines, relocate it or replace it if needed.

M & F Plastic Pipe is owned and operated by Ricky and Teresa Trammel. Please feel free to call them or Darby K. Scott, manager, for prices or information at 373-8612.

Businessmen hold talks on trade

HOUSTON (AP) — Politics and petrochemicals are on the agenda for Arab and U.S. businessmen holding three days of trade talks.

The cheaper U.S. dollar has made U.S. products and services especially competitive compared to European and Japanese suppliers, because most Arab countries' oil revenues are priced in dollars.

So nearly 100 Arab business and government leaders from seven countries are talking part in the GULF/AMERICA conference.

"The major thrust of the conference will be business match-making," said organizer Michael Saba, who hopes millions of dollars of contracts will follow from business contacts made at the gathering.

A similar conference in Atlanta in 1983 resulted in about $200 million worth of business for both sides, Saba said.

Countries taking part in the latest meeting include Saudi Arabia, Bahrain, United Arab Emirates, Kuwait, Qatar, Oman and Iraq.

Kennedy recalled campaigned for former presidential candidate Robert F. Kennedy still mourn the death of the politician, who they say showed a determination that compelled them to act on their beliefs.

Today marks the 20th anniversary of Kennedy's death. Shortly after midnight June 5, 1968, hours after winning the California primary, Kennedy was shot three times as he left a victory celebration at the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles. The 42-year-old senator died the next day.

"Had he become president, he would have been the greatest president of this century," said Houston lawyer Benton Musslewhite, who helped organize the younger Kennedy's presidential campaign in Texas.

"As he evolved as attorney general and senator, he became more and more beholden to his ideals," Musslewhite said. "As president, he would have been much more determined to see progress made in the ideals he held."

"I would give anything for a Bobby Kennedy today," Musslewhite said.

Former U.S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough of Austin, a personal friend of Kennedy, said America still mourns the assassinations of the senator and his older brother, President John F. Kennedy, nearly five years earlier.

"Losing those two Kennedy brothers was a terrific loss for this country," Yarborough said. "We still haven't gotten over those assassinations yet. We may not for a long time."

What to do about asbestos

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: We recently moved into my parents' home and suspect that the ceiling tiles are asbestos. Should we just live quietly beneath them, get them removed or paint them? Would an air purifier help?

DEAR READER: You are probably not in any danger, providing the tiles are not shredding or coming loose. Removal is quite a job and should be performed only by qualified personnel; the process is quite expensive. Painting the tiles would help if a health hazard exists.

I suggest that you have the house inspected by a building inspector. Based on his findings, you can make a reasonable decision. In my experience, asbestos insulation on pipes is a greater potential threat than are ceiling tiles. Nevertheless, an authorized inspector can advise you and, I hope, put your mind to rest.

DEAR DR. GOTT: When I was in my 30s, an ophthalmologist examined my eyes and remarked, "I bet you get motion sickness." I had been plagued with this problem since childhood. He went on to tell me that my vision was blurry at a distance and that this would cause it. He prescribed eyeglasses and I've never been sick since. Maybe your readers who get motion sickness should have their eyes checked.

DEAR READER: Ophthalmologists can often discover amazing things. I think they plan it that way, to astound unsophisticated and unwary general doctors. A friend of mine, who is a very good ophthalmologist, once told me, "They don't teach you guys the really interesting parts of ophthalmology in medical school; they save that stuff for us."

In any case, your eye specialist made an astute observation. Motion sickness can be related to poor distance vision, because one of the ways to avoid being motion-sick is to focus on distant objects. This tends to reorient the body. Obviously, if distance vision is blurred, this reorientation is difficult. In my experience, poor distance vision is not a common cause of motion sickness, but it certainly could be a factor in special cases. I wonder what new surprises ophthalmologists have in store for us!

Power struggle awaits George Bush

AUSTIN (AP) — A rift between supporters of Vice President George Bush and former presidential candidate Pat Robertson could cast a shadow on the Texas Republican Convention this week when Bush is expected to call for party unity.

Robertson supporters and other evangelical Republicans say they do not plan to start a fight at the convention, which runs from Thursday through Saturday in Houston. But, they say they will protest that the vice president does not pay enough attention to the far right.

"I see no spirit of cooperation from the Bush campaign," said Richie Martin, who directed Robertson's Texas presidential race. "They believe that they can win in November without us, and they're wrong."

The philosophical fight has occurred in other states, but it could be particularly embarrassing for the Bush campaign in a state he calls home.

"A bruising party fight could be as damaging to him as another Noriega," said one Democratic pollster. "The Texas party fight could be symbolic of the vice president's lack of strength."

Bush trounced Robertson in Texas in the March 8 Super Tuesday primary, winning all 111 of the state's delegates to the August national convention in New Orleans.

About 55 percent of the 6,000 delegates to the Texas convention are Bush loyalists. But the remaining 45 percent come largely from the religious right and oppose a platform that moves more toward center.

"There's a lot of healing that has to take place, and we can't take another bruise," Martin said.

Still, Bush's state campaign director Jim Oberwetter said the vice president will proceed with his planned speech to GOP delegates.

"The vice president will have a message of great interest to all Republicans," Oberwetter said. "His message to all of us will be one of unity and keeping the White House in Republican hands."

Balloon ready for drug smugglers

SIERRA VISTA, Ariz. (AP) — A huge blimp-like balloon floating serenely in the southern Arizona sky is a new weapon in a widening war, a radar-packed eye-in-the-sky searching for airborne drug smugglers.

When it becomes fully operational this month, the nearly $18 million balloon will scan the sky to the south, tracking low-flying planes that try to evade regular radar, and helping U.S. Customs Service aircraft chase smugglers within 80,000 square miles.

The helium-filled, white balloon already has tracked planes twice, leading to arrests and seizure of drugs, said Daniel Wiley, senior engineer and site manager for the contractor, Westinghouse Defense and Electronic Systems Co.

It is the first of at least five balloons Customs officials hope to position along the Southwest border to plug gaps in ground-based radar surveillance that have allowed smugglers to enter the country with impunity via Mexico.

Some residents near the giant balloon's mooring on the southern edge of the Fort Huachuca military reservation say they're worried that it poses a danger to them.

"I'm sure the government's going to leave it there until it has an accident, and then things will change. And it ultimately will have an accident," said Harry Woodward, whose home is within the radius of the balloon's 10,000-foot-long tether.

Within the balloon's range are 1,000 homes, five churches and Huachuca Mountain Elementary School, where Carol Southland, a second-grade teacher, is among those who appreciate its deterrent role in the war on drugs.

"I just don't think the risk is there," she said. "I don't think the balloon's gonna run away through the neighborhood and carry off the children."

Army and Customs officials say the site was the best available and fears of an accident are unfounded.

The balloon has a rapid deflation device to allow operators to lower it quickly while controlling where it lands if it were to break from its tether.

Olton Smith is a qualified master plumber and he can handle any job. If you want to be sure your plumbing job is done right, call Smith Plumbing at 573-2501 or go by the shop at 3902 College Avenue.
