Workers rescue 6 people

Storm collapses 3-story building

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Rescuers digging through tons of concrete and twisted steel for the victims of a department store collapse today rescued six people and worked to free others believed alive. At least 11 people were killed and 43 injured.

Two women, a 2-year-old girl, a boy and girl both aged 8, and a 14-year-old girl were rescued during the morning. At least one survivor was still trapped more than 20 hours after the disaster, officials said.

The 2-year-old "appeared to have been protected by some other people around her who are believed dead," said Lt. Victor Rodriguez of the city's police department.

Another rescued child, 8-year-old Jorge Mena Lire, was pulled from the rubble and taken on a stretcher to be examined by waiting doctors.

"The little boy kept crying that he wanted to come out. He was scared and he wanted a little ball and he wanted some refreshments," said fireman William Briggs. "He was also a little scared, which is natural, and he's also afraid of dying."

The three-story Amigo Store collapsed Thursday afternoon during a storm that dumped more than 2 inches of rain in less than 30 minutes. Some witnesses said as many as 125 people sought shelter inside the downtown building before it crumbled, but Sgt. Dean Poos, a police spokesman, said only about 50 had been inside.

There was continuing confusion over the numbers and identities of people in the building. Officials first said that the wife and two children of Dr. Jose Carrera were alive in the rubble; later in the morning they were less certain.

Chances for rain listed at 40 percent

From Local, Wire Reports
The Snyder area has a 40 percent chance for thunderstorms Friday after the city received .11 of-an-inch Thursday night.

Snyder had the only measurable precipitation from reports received Friday morning. Traces of rain were reported at Ira, Dunn and Fluvanna.

Showers and thunderstorms are said possible across all of Texas Friday with forecasters warning of the possibility of locally heavy rain.

Showers and thunderstorms dumped as much as two inches of rainfall in the Midland-Odessa area during the night, triggering street flooding in the area.

Midland authorities reported numerous intersections were flooded, Ector County deputies said there was flooding on some area highways and authorities said several underpasses near Midland International Airport were flooded.

A flash flood watch was in effect for the Permian Basin through Friday night.

Showers and thunderstorms triggered by a combination of warm, moist air and an upper level low pressure area extending from the Panhandle along the Red River into Northeast Texas were forecast across the entire state through Saturday.

Lows Friday night will be in the 60s over the Panhandle and in the 70s over the rest of the state.

Hights Saturday will be in the 80s across West Texas, the 80s and 90s in North Texas and in the 90s over most of South Texas, ranging from the 80s along the coast to near 100 on the Rio Grande plains.

Scattered showers and thunderstorms were also reported early Friday in East Texas and along the coastal plains.

Early morning temperatures were mostly in the 70s, ranging from the upper 50s and lower 60s across West Texas to the lower 80s along the coast in South Texas. Extremes ranged from 59 at Guadalupe Pass to 81 at Corpus Christi.

Other early morning temperatures around the state included 65 at Amarillo, 70 at Wichita Falls, 73 at Fort Worth, 71 at Waco, 73 at Austin, 75 at San Antonio, 72 at Houston, 76 at Brownsville, 71 at San Angelo, 68 at Lubbock and 69 at El Paso.

5-year-old critical after wreck injury

A 5-year-old Snyder boy remained in critical condition Friday at Hendrick Medical Center in Abilene following surgery for head injuries in a two-car collision near Anson in which his mother and 7-year-old brother were also seriously hurt.

Kevin Guynes suffered massive head injuries and remained in critical condition in the hospital's critical care unit, a hospital spokesman said.

His brother, Bobby Joe, and mother, Karen, 28, were in fair condition at Humana Hospital after being listed in serious but Keeping tabs on our neighbors: George Dolan, in the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, noted that practically every industry has been touched by the troubled economic times.

Most have become "lean and mean." Big business, he says, has gone on Weight Watchers. Still, people keep their sense of humor about it. A friend told Dolan, "My wife and I are lean and mean, all right. I've lost weight and she just continues to be herself."

In a related item, Dolan noticed that the depressed economy brings out the hungry job-seekers with an intense sense of creativity in some.

A well-dressed businessman in Houston is said to have jumped into Buffalo Bay. A bystander nastily dived in after him.

The first guy yelled, "Leave me alone...I want to die...Don't save me."
"I'm not trying to save you," the other shouted.
"I want to know where you work."

O. G. Nieman, in the Hereford Brand, was reminded of lean times during World War II. A young farmer in the army overseas received a desperate letter from his wife wanting to know how to plant the potatoes in the east 40 without his help.

The soldier wrote back and warned his wife not to dig up the east 40. "That's where the guns are buried."

As was customary in wartime, his letter was read by a censor. Not long after he received another letter from his wife saying, "A company of soldiers overran the east 40 and dug it all up. What shall I do now?"

"Plant the potatoes," came the reply.

Nolan County abuse charges prompt arrest

County deputies arrested a 31-year-old Sweetwater man who had been sought for the past five months on two Nolan County indictments for child abuse when he reported for work at 6:15 a.m. Friday at a Snyder well servicing company.

Justice of the Peace Dan Callaway set bond for Greg Gutierrez at $50,000 on each charge, and a Nolan County deputy returned with Gutierrez to Sweetwater Friday morning.

City police took a 26-year-old man into custody for DWI and not having a driver's license at 12:05 a.m. Friday in the 400 Block of 23rd St.

Jobless rate

DALLAS (AP) — Slow, steady improvement in the Texas job market pushed the state's unemployment rate down by another 0.3 percent in June, leaving the figure at 6.9 percent — its lowest point since January 1986.

The state's labor force surpassed 8.5 million last month, the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics reported today. An estimated 7.9 million people held jobs while another 592,000 were looking for work.

June's rate was 1.7 percent below the level of one year earlier and the best showing since the 6.5 percent recorded by the BLS at the start of 1986.

Peace convoy

AUSTIN (AP) — Approximately 30 people demonstrated Thursday in support of the Veteran's Peace Convoy, which plans to try again this weekend to cross the border at Laredo and take vehicles and supplies to Nicaragua.

"Feed the children, not the war — let the convoy pass," the demonstrators chanted as they carried signs, walking in a large circle near the Federal Building.

"Convoy si, contras no," they shouted.

The convoy of about 40 vehicles was turned back at Laredo last month.

Tank collapse

PHILLIPS, Texas (AP) — A gasoline storage tank at a Texas Panhandle refinery collapsed and caught fire as a heavy thunderstorm moved through the area, authorities said today.

The 80,000-gallon tank's contents, unleaded gasoline, caught fire after the collapse about 7 p.m. Thursday at the Phillips Petroleum Co. refinery here, said the Hutchinson County sheriff's office.

No injuries were reported and there were no estimates of damage. Heavy rains of up to 6 inches moved through the area about the time of the collapse.

Foreigners flock to first art auction held in Soviet Union

MOSCOW (AP) — In 1974, Vladimir Nemukhin and Bela Levikova helped organize an outdoor art show that drew cool reviews from KGB agents, who bulldozed the artwork.

On Thursday, the two Soviet artists displayed their work at the country's first international art auction, an unlikely event that raked in $3.6 million from a flock of art-loving foreigners.

About 2,000 people crowded into a hall at the International Trade Center for the auction organized by Sotheby's of London. In two hectic hours, 120 works of art were put up for bids.

The event drew more than a little curiosity in a country where prices usually are regulated by bureaucrats.

"Maybe money is a bad standard for merit, but it's a worldwide standard," said Nikolai Filatov, a Ukrainian-born artist who had two works sold.

Art that deviated from the principles of Socialist Realism once met with the Kremlin's disdain. KGB agents used dump trucks and bulldozers to literally crush the exhibition that Nemukhin and Levikova helped organize in a Moscow park 14 years ago.

Bids at the auction were taken from the 1,000 people in the audience, as well as by telephone and through written offers submitted in advance.

Because payment in British pounds was required, Soviets in theory were excluded from taking part in the auction, since it is illegal for them to hold foreign currency.

But they made their feelings known, applauding when a contemporary work fetched more than $400,000, and when paintings by Ilya Glazunov, an artist with high-level official support, failed to sell for their minimum estimated value.

The total bids was $3.6 million, which Sotheby auctioneer Simon de Pury said "exceeded our wildest expectations."

London art dealer David Juda won a fierce bidding war with $567,000 offer for Alexander Rodchenko's "Line," a 1920 oil painting that depicts a white line zigzagging across a matte black canvas.

TB can occur at any age

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Please settle a disagreement I have with two well-read friends. I'm of the opinion that a person between the ages of 30 and 40 is more susceptible to tuberculosis than a person between 60 and 70, assuming a similar standard of living. Am I right?

DEAR READER: No. Tuberculosis is a bacterial infection that commonly affects the lungs. It is spread by direct contact with infected persons. Some people with immune deficiencies are more susceptible to tuberculosis than are normals, but this is not usually age-related. In the past, when TB was a common occurrence, many people — particularly children — contracted it and got well without treatment. Sometime later, these individuals were surprised to find, on routine chest X-rays, that they had had TB: Enlarged and calcified lymph glands were visible in the chest films.

Tuberculosis can be a serious infection in the very young and the very old. Patients with "burned-out" infection can have it become reactivated at a later date if they become ill with another disease; the TB bacteria can remain dormant in the body for years. TB is no longer the tremendous public health problem it was up to the time of World War II. Today, the infection is treatable with several different antibiotics.

As far as I know, the susceptibility to tuberculosis is a complex, individual matter that bears little relation to age per se.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My 2-year-old is "tongue-tied." His frenulum is attached so far forward that he cannot stick his tongue out. There seems to be a difference of opinion as to whether or not this will affect his speech and should be surgically corrected. At what age should he be evaluated by a speech therapist?

DEAR READER: I suggest you take your son to an ear, nose and throat specialist before you involve a speech pathologist. Surgical release of the frenulum (the web of tissue connecting the tongue to the floor of the mouth) is a simple and safe operation that may make further evaluation unnecessary. On the other hand, if your son's doctors recommend a speech therapist's evaluation, get one now.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1988 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I am currently in the U.S. Navy and have just returned from a six-month deployment in Keflavik, Iceland. I want to tell you that through Operation Dear Abby, I met the woman of my dreams! We corresponded for six months and I finally met her when I came home on leave, and we've been inseparable ever since.

I want to thank the thousands of Dear Abby readers who sent letters to our troops in Keflavik. What a great morale booster! It helps to know that people appreciate our efforts when we're overseas. Needless to say, it made my holiday season much happier. Now my future looks brighter because of the wonderful woman I met — through you. Thank you.

A02 BRUCE BLOUNT, KEY WEST, FLA.

P.S. Here's a letter from "her": DEAR ABBY: I took part in your Operation Dear Abby to cheer those men in uniform who would be far from home over the holidays. I decided to write to someone in Iceland because that seemed like the most desolate place in the world to be over the holidays.

To my surprise, a Navy man named Bruce answered my letter. During the six months we exchanged letters, we discovered we had a lot in common. And when we finally met, I became a true believer in "love at first sight."

Abby, there is something very special about getting to know a person "between the lines" of letters. Our lives will never be the same. Thank you for bringing us together.

LIN CHARVAT, SCHAUMBURG, ILL.

DEAR BRUCE AND LIN: Congratulations. Although not all pen pal relationships lead to romance, many do. School-teachers have made class projects of America Remembers and Operation Dear Abby with fascinating results.

For those out there who would like a pen pal in the North Pole and Alaska, here's the address for troops stationed there: Operation Dear Abby, America Remembers U.S. Forces in Alaska, c/o USCG Support Center Kodiak, Attention: PAO, Kodiak, Alaska 99619-5000. They represent men and women from all branches of the military.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I received a graduation announcement from "Jennifer," the daughter of a man who works for the same company my husband works for. They live in another state, we have never met the girl, and my husband and her father are not close friends. We saw no reason to send this girl a gift, but we did send a very nice card.

Today, we received an acknowledgment from Jennifer. Inside the envelope was the card we had sent her, folded to fit the small envelope. Her message was: "Thank you so much for the nice card for my graduation. I thought maybe you would like to use the card again. (Signed) Jennifer."

Abby, I never knew it was mandatory to send a gift when one receives an announcement. We send graduation gifts to all our relatives and friends we know well. Were we wrong to send only a card? I am now thinking that perhaps she could have used a book on etiquette. Please comment.

BEWILDERED IN NEWARK

DEAR BEWILDERED: An announcement is not a bill. Under the circumstances, you were under no obligation to send a gift. I doubt that an etiquette book would help. What Jennifer could really use is a good spanking.

Your Birthday

July 9, 1988

People you have helped in the past will make a concerted effort to repay you in the year ahead. Two, in particular, look like they will make outstanding contributions.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You can find plenty of enjoyable things to do today that won't be expensive. For the sake of your budget, steer clear of the activities that are hard on your purse. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Matchmaker can help you understand what it might take to restore the relationship. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You'll make a favorable impression today if you are expansive and friendly, rather than assertive. Don't come on strong.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Be self-assured if you have to deal with a person who likes to cause problems. You'll know how to handle the situation.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Business situations should work out favorably for you today if friends are not directly involved. Keep your social and business lives separate.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Don't be too upset with your mate today if he or she can't see what you want to do is for their own good. The dawn will eventually break.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Although this will be a productive day, it might not be as rewarding as it could be because of some actions you may take later in the day.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Moderation is a must today, because you might have to contend with a tendency to overindulge. Enjoy yourself, but keep a foot on the brake.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) A close friend may be a source of annoyance today, but it's nothing that can't be managed. If you laugh it off, the friend will too.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Your first ideas are likely to be your best ones today, so strive to follow them through. The revisions you make aren't apt to be as effective.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Material opportunity is about your today. There is a possibility you might not capitalize on it properly, owing to impulsiveness or indifference.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Your motives will be unselfish today, yet you are likely to fare better than the people you are trying to assist. It won't be your fault.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Things in general should work rather smoothly today. However, there is a chance you might undermine one of your own achievements. Don't be irrational.

Sheer agony

By James Jacoby

Here is another cruel result. You are West, and you hopefully lead the king of clubs against six spades. Declarer plays the queen, but you know he might be false-carding. So you play the club ace at trick two. It should come as no surprise that declarer ruffs, plays ace of spades, and then, in quick order, heart ace, heart ruff, a low spade to dummy's eight and another heart ruff, a diamond to the king and one more heart ruff. The last heart is now a winner, and the ace of diamonds is still an entry to dummy.

Why is all this so cruel? Because West should defeat the slam. He should give South more credit than to bid six spades with two potential club losers. If South has only the lone club queen, there is something better to do at the second trick. If West plays a diamond at that point, declarer can no longer ruff out the hearts to set up the last heart winner and still get to dummy to cash it. This was real bridge agony — letting the opponents bid and make a slam that should have been defeated.

One more point. South bid too much when he asked for aces. What if North held ♠ 4, ♥ K-Q-J-10-5, ♦ K-Q-J-10, ♣ K-J? No one would quarrel with his opening the bidding, but the declarer would still be missing three aces. South is better advised just to jump to four spades at his second turn.

Fumes kill three in Pasadena fire

HOUSTON (AP) — A man frantically tried to rescue his wife, a 3-year-old daughter and an overnight guest from his smoke-filled home Thursday, but all three suffocated on poisonous fumes from a lounge chair ignited by a cigarette, authorities said.

The victims, Elizabeth Denise Disiere, 28, her daughter, Elizabeth Daniell, and Janice Crawford, 40, a neighbor, died apparently after they were overcome by carbon monoxide from a smoldering chair stuffed with polyurethane, acting Pasadena Fire Marshal Bill Yearout said.

Yearout said Joseph Disiere, 31, arrived home about 8:15 a.m. from his graveyard-shift job as a computer operator for Houston Lighting & Power Co. and found the home engulfed by thick smoke.

Disiere stumbled through the hallway and found his daughter and Crawford, who he mistakenly thought was his wife, and carried them outside to the front porch.

Disiere went back into the home for his wife, who lay sprawled in the bathroom, but could not reach her.

Regulators double Texas bailout figures

WASHINGTON (AP) — Members of Congress are seeing red at federal regulators' newest projections more than doubling the bill the government will be left with as it tries to bail out Texas' faltering savings and loan industry.

M. Danny Wall, chairman of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, raised the ante on the bailouts Thursday, telling the House Banking Committee that the estimated cost of dealing with the problems of Texas thrifts would be $15.2 billion. Previously, regulators had said the bill would be $7 billion.

"Now you see it, now you don't," said a frustrated Rep. Fernand J. St Germain, D-R.I., chairman of the banking panel. "Watch the bouncing ball."

"It's called garbage in and garbage out," said Rep. Stan Parriss, R-Va. "The definition of rosy scenario is changing so fast I can't even keep up with it."

Wall said his agency's estimate of bailout costs in Texas had increased because thrifts' losses, and the costs of resolving their problems, have been more expensive than expected. St Germain, however, said there were other factors as well.

"Some of the problems are just plain old-fashioned mismanagement, insider dealing, fraud and high-flying excesses, exacerbated by lax supervision and hesitant enforcement," he said.

Many lawmakers have long been jousting with bank board officials, accusing them of using optimistic economic scenarios to justify rosy cost projections.

Wall did not reveal a new projection for what it would cost to bail out all of the country's savings and loans facing financial problems. But he said, "We see that the resources ... can be and would be sufficient for the size of the problem as we see it."

Wall also told the lawmakers that his agency would be able to raise $42.5 billion over the next decade to cover insolvencies across the country.

The government had previously estimated that the cost of bailouts nationally would be in the $25 billion to $30 billion range and that the bank board would have $30.2 billion at its disposal to merge, sell or liquidate troubled thrifts.

Wall said that to pay for the newly estimated costs of the Texas bailouts, his agency will raise an additional $12.3 billion, mostly by extending the special assessment the thrifts now pay on their deposits.

Of the country's 3,100 thrifts, the bank board has a caseload of 259 that will need financial assistance from the government and has identified 252 others likely to need financial help.

About 60 percent of the troubled thrifts are in the Southwest. Half of those are in Texas alone, where the economy has faltered in recent years because of falling oil prices. Until now, the government had estimated it would cost $7 billion to deal with the Texas savings and loans.

The country's savings and loans hold $950 billion in deposits in 100 million accounts.

Drought through one farmer's eyes

MORRIS, Ill. (AP) — The cornstalks that should have been at Pete Kodat's eyes barely reached the silver buckle on his hand-tooled, brown leather belt. The soybeans that should have been flourishing full green leaves hugged the dusty, dry soil instead.

"If you want to bring this home to the people in the cities," said Kodat, 40, the third generation of a family whose roots in Grundy County stretch back to the 1800s, "tell them to imagine what it's like to be facing a full year of expenses with very little income."

Exactly how little depends on how soon his prayers get answered during the worst drought to hit the nation's midsection since the 1930s Dust Bowl.

Last year, each of Kodat's 720 acres of corn yielded between 140 and 160 bushels. But last year 9.98 inches of rain fell between April and July 1.

This year, only 3.96 inches have fallen over the same period of time. And many, perhaps most, of those same acres could yield no corn at all.

Kodat has higher hopes for his 540-acre bean crop because the plants have lapsed into a dormant stage — a kind of natural defense against the drought. But continued dryness would ravage them as well — cutting deeply into a yield he patiently raised to 40 bushels per acre.

"If we catch some of the rain they're predicting for this weekend and temperatures moderate," Kodat said Thursday, "I might still get out with 40 or 50 percent of my corn and 70 percent of my beans."

"But if another two or three weeks pass (without rain), there'll be no pollination. And what you'll be looking at are ears of corn with no kernels on them."

When Kodat put the seeds into the ground April 17, he was aiming at the modest price of about $2 per bushel. With an investment of about $250 per acre, he figured to pocket between $30 and $60 profit on each.

But like some cruel joke, the same drought that has driven the commodity market to push the price of corn to $3 per bushel is threatening to destroy many of the farmers who grow it.

"This is a medium-sized operation ... like a lot of the ones around here. Now maybe only 3 or 4 percent of the farmers are going to take a hit they can't outlast," said Kodat. "But maybe a lot more are just going to throw in the towel."

Not far from the Kodats' brown, brick four-bedroom home, about 75,000 bushels of corn harvested from last year's bumper crop sit in four aluminum-sided silos, and not far away from those graze some cattle the Kodats raise for their own table.

His wife, Carla, hasn't cut back on the groceries — and doesn't plan to. At least not right away.

"Things haven't changed for us right now, and I tell him every morning that worrying won't make any difference anyway," she said. "Everybody's in the same shape, it just seems so senseless."

So the Kodats pray instead. Every day.

"I started farming when I was a freshman in high school with 80 acres and a little help from my dad and I've been at it ever since," said Kodat, adding that when times were lean in the early 1970s, he left the farm and took a job sweeping floors at the nearby Commonwealth Edison nuclear power plant.

Debt, he figures, is an occupational hazard.

"No matter what happens, I won't be planting any less next year. In fact, I expect I'll be planting more."

Ex-Baylor line editor is dead

WACO, Texas (AP) — Mrs. Harry Provence, former editor of the Baylor Line and wife of the retired editor-in-chief of the Waco Tribune-Herald, died Wednesday at her home after a lengthy illness.

Services will be at 11:30 a.m. Friday at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, under the direction of Wilkerson-Hatch Funeral Home. Burial will be in Oakwood Cemetery.

Frances Provence was born Dec. 22, 1915, in Martin, Tenn., daughter of Richard and Lessie Neely Bludworth. She earned her degree in journalism from Baylor University in 1937.

The Provences married June 1, 1938.

Mrs. Provence joined the staff of the Baylor Line university alumni magazine in 1953 and became editor in 1955. During her 10 years as editor, she won national recognition for the magazine and was selected a member of the board of directors of Editorial Projects in Education, a Carnegie Foundation project.

Summits frequently do not use world leaders' power

WASHINGTON (AP) — Quick. Think back to the Moscow summit. It was only a few weeks ago. What did it produce?

An end to the nuclear arms race? A Middle East agreement? Superpower cooperation to end the Iran-Iraq war?

None of the above. President Reagan, who now leads all U.S. chief executives in superpower summits with four of them, gave his enthusiastic support to Mikhail Gorbachev's campaign to restructure the Soviet economy.

That was significant, and very dramatic.

Here was the American president, a pronounced critic of communism, in Moscow endorsing Gorbachev's perestroika program — and blaming the bureaucracy, not the Kremlin, for violations of human rights.

But the agreements reached in Moscow were on the level of fishing and maritime pacts — not the sort of accords that require the immense political power of the U.S. president and the Soviet general secretary.

Charles M. Fairbanks Jr., a scholar at the Johns Hopkins School of Advanced International Studies, has concluded that summits frequently fail to make effective use of the considerable authority of national leaders.

In a recent study, and an interview, Fairbanks said summits frequently become occasions of drama rather than instruments of coordinated diplomacy.

The Moscow summit, he said, "produced essentially nothing in diplomatic terms. The most important thing, I think, that took place was Reagan speaking to a Soviet audience. That probably served a useful function. But it's certainly not the function a summit is held out to serve."

Summits have come to be understood as occasions for personal negotiations between immensely powerful political leaders. At Reykjavik, in 1986, for instance, Gorbachev presented Reagan with a series of historic arms control proposals.

These included the abolition of ballistic missiles and, possibly, all nuclear weapons.

AP analysis

Normally, diplomats at lower levels work for years to reach the point where such cosmic decisions can be made at the summit.

"The advantages of traditional diplomacy are that it is calm, quiet and usually secret," Fairbanks writes. "Summit conferences, however, are very dramatic."

Gorbachev used the Reykjavik summit to symbolize his dedication to arms control. It also produced pressure for concessions from Reagan, but they were later withdrawn. The idea of banning ballistic missiles was quickly and quietly buried only a few months later.

Bay area rivals LA's risk of earthquakes

MENLO PARK, Calif. (AP) — The odds of a catastrophic earthquake that could kill thousands of people in Southern California are higher than once believed, and the San Francisco Bay area faces a similar threat, a federal report says. Recent concern about the so-called "big one" on the San Andreas Fault has centered on the greater Los Angeles-San Bernardino area because so much strain on the fault's north end was released by San Francisco's great quake of 1906, which measured an estimated 8.3 on the Richter scale.

But a report issued Thursday by the U.S. Geological Survey and a working group of its National Earthquake Prediction Evaluation Council said the San Francisco Bay area is nearly as likely to suffer a great quake.

"Unless we aggressively pursue earthquake reduction measures, there is the potential for many people to die, perhaps more people than ever died in a single day from any (natural) disaster in the United States," said Richard Andrews, deputy director of California's Office of Emergency Services.

A 1983 state emergency plan said a great quake near metropolitan Los Angeles would be America's worst disaster since the Civil War.

Two separate studies, one being published today in the journal Science, say that quakes along the San Andreas in the Mojave region near Los Angeles tend historically to occur in bursts of two or three within a relatively short time, followed by 200- to 300-year periods without large temblors.

By demonstrating such clustering, both studies suggest the Mojave segment may be in a quiet period, with another major quake unlikely for 70 years or more.

The new Geological Survey report, however, said there is a 50 percent chance in 60 years and a 20 percent chance within the next decade that a major quake measuring 7.0 on the Richter scale will rupture the northern San Andreas or Hayward faults.

Services will be held nightly at 7:30. The public is invited. The pastor is the Rev. Salathiel Lozoya. The church is located at 313 26th Street.

Church upgrades school's status

DALLAS (AP) — Saying the school has made "quite a turnaround" since last year's pay-for-play football scandal, the United Methodist Church has upgraded the status of Southern Methodist as a church-related institute.

The denomination's University Senate president, Roy B. Schilling, said in a statement released Thursday that the senate voted at its semi-annual meeting on June 28 to restore SMU's status from "approved with warning" to "fully approved without qualification."

The statement wasn't made public until SMU was notified this week of the change, a United Methodist News Service official said.

"This is certainly good news for SMU, and it's a sign to us that we are doing some things right," said Leighton Farrell, chairman of SMU's trusteeship committee, which monitors the university's board of trustees.

Farrell said the church senate "shows a great deal of confidence in SMU's progress" by deciding to approve the university's status "without qualifications," bypassing the intervening step of "approved with qualifications."

He credited SMU's new president, A. Kenneth Pye, and a change in the governing structure for improvements at the university.

Farrell, also senior pastor of Highland Park United Methodist Church, said the action represents a "big step" since troubles in SMU's athletic department led to a public warning by the 29-member senate in June 1987.

At that time, a report from two on-site visits by senate representatives charged that SMU officials knew of illegal payments to student football players and acted to cover up the scandal.

But school officials seem to have put that behind them, looking more toward the future.

"We are very pleased with the tremendous work that has been done to improve conditions at the school," Schilling said.

Oilers 16, Bullets 0

Mark King got strong offensive backing but didn't need it as he pitched a no-hitter to blank the Bullets on Thursday.

King helped offensively with a double and a single. Jamey Morton led the attack with three doubles while Coy Berryman rapped a triple, a double and a single. Also hitting were Jason Taylor and John Wright, two singles each; and Richard Morris, Wyatt Webster and Chad Fox, one single apiece.

Oilers 10, Bullets 9

A bases-loaded walk forced in the winning run in the 10th inning as the Oilers nipped the Bullets in this game, which was started on June 20 and finished Thursday, July 7.

The teams had played to a 9-9 deadlock last month. The win puts the Oilers at 6-0 in second-round play.

John Wright led the Oilers' 10-hit attack with four singles. Jason Taylor and Coy Berryman hit two singles each and Jason Rios and Wyatt Webster added one apiece.

Jason Chapman drilled a double and a single for the Bullets, 1-5. Others getting hits were Terry Leatherwood, two singles; and Anthony Alvarez, Chris Winter and Jason Bynum, one single apiece.

Snyder faces Tigers in showdown tonight

The showdown between Snyder and the Sweetwater Tigers for first place in Senior Teenage League ball takes place tonight at Moffett Field here.

Game time is 8 p.m. Both teams are 8-1 in league play and split with each other in earlier meetings. Snyder won the first game 12-1 while Sweetwater's Tigers took the second 16-15.

"Both teams are capable of producing a lot of runs," said Snyder coach Mike Montgomery. "More than likely we'll see their good left hander. It's an important game for us. We'd like to get a good crowd out."

Snyder will be missing two players who helped the varsity baseball team last season, pitchers Lee Fletcher and Bert Otto. Expected to start on the mound will be Tommy Lane. Around the diamond will be Todd Morris at first base, Randy Hinojos at shortstop, Shane McCarter at third and Tracy Odom at catcher. The outfield, left to right, will likely be Kevin Dollins, Bert Merritt and Willie Garcia.

Other team members include Toby Goodwin, Lee Hamilton, Simon Gutierrez, Bill Freeman, Jeffery Block, Bart Morton, Fletcher and Otto.

Tonight's victor will take over the league lead with two games left on the schedule. The eventual champion will advance to tournament play.

Golfers Partnership slated this weekend at country club

Fifty-six teams are to tee off Saturday in the first day of the annual Golfer's Memorial Partnership at Snyder Country Club.

Practice rounds were being held today. Saturday's play will be a two-man scramble. The format changes to low ball on Sunday. Teams were preflighted according to the lower handicap of the two players. There will be six flights.

The tournament will feature dinner and dancing Saturday evening. The Maverick Band will provide music.

Search resumes, but little hope remains for workers

ABERDEEN, Scotland (AP) — Rescue workers in ships and planes today resumed a massive search for 149 workers missing after an explosion blew apart an oil rig, but officials said they had little hope of finding anyone alive.

Seventeen bodies and 64 survivors were pulled out of the North Sea after the blast Wednesday night on the Piper Alpha oil rig 120 miles off Scotland. The owner, U.S.-based Occidental Petroleum, said the explosion was apparently caused by a gas leak.

Asked whether rescuers had given up hope of finding more survivors after the world's worst oil rig disaster, British Energy Department minister Peter Morrison said: "To be honest, yes. At this stage there is very little hope indeed."

A joint statement issued by Occidental spokesman David Mathys in London and police in Aberdeen this morning said: "In all, 230 personnel were involved in the incident. This was made up of 227 on Occidental facilities and three in a small rescue boat. Seventeen bodies have been recovered. Total survivors to date are 64, and 149 are unaccounted for."

Mathys said initial confusion had caused discrepancies in the figures earlier.

The three men in the rescue boat, which was on permanent standby, vanished into the flames while trying to rescue oilmen from the rig.

Mathys said American oil expert Red Adair of Houston, Texas, and assistants were to visit the wrecked rig later today at Occidental's request.

He said Adair, who was brought in to cap the first blowout on a North Sea rig in April 1977, was asked "to assist however possible in making the platform safe."

Firemen spent 30 minutes at the scene of a reported truck fire at 10:40 p.m. Thursday two miles north of Snyder on U.S. 84 but found upon their arrival that the truck only had a broken radiator hose.

A department spokesman said the driver of the 18-wheel tractor-trailer rig apparently had summoned help or had been given a ride because no one was at the scene.

Firemen spent 30 minutes at the 2809 23rd St. home of Ron Utley Thursday, but the reported fire apparently only involved smoke.

The alarm was called in at 9:05 a.m.

Fatigue may signify an illness

By Dr. Richard N. Podell

Can you be sure your doctor has done all the standard tests for the most common, detectable physical causes of fatigue? Remember, a typical visit to a family physician or internist lasts only 10 to 20 minutes.

If the complaint is "Doc, I feel tired all the time," most physicians take a brief history of the problem (when it started, when it occurs), perform a short physical examination, and order a standard set of laboratory tests.

The screening laboratory examination provides an extraordinary amount of information about most of the organs of the body. Physical causes of fatigue usually produce some abnormality on one or more of these tests.

The most common physical causes of fatigue that are likely to be discovered by a standard office examination and laboratory tests are anemia, infections, liver disease, kidney disease, thyroid disorders, diabetes, abnormalities of mineral and acid/base metabolism, certain cancers, and most heart and lung disorders.

When we think of heart disease, we usually consider typical symptoms to be chest pain, shortness of breath, fluid retention, or palpitations (heart-beat irregularities). Actually, chronic fatigue can be one of heart disease's earliest warning signs.

For example, angina pectoris (chest pain due to heart disease) or even the initial stages of a heart attack can be present with fatigue as the only obvious symptom.

Consider that your fatigue might relate to worsening heart disease if: The fatigue began recently, you know you have heart disease, and you are 50 years old or older and have one or more major heart disease risk factors.

Those factors include pain or pressure in the chest, shoulder, neck, jaw or arm that tends to occur with exercise or get better with rest, rapid, irregular or unusually slow heartbeat, a family history of atherosclerosis, heart attack, or sudden death before age 55; tobacco smoking, high blood pressure, high blood cholesterol or diabetes.

An easily overlooked cause of tiredness is an abnormality of the heart's

White House ponders making reparations

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration is moving closer to a decision on offering reparations for the destruction of Iran Air flight 655, saying the United States will not shirk its "moral responsibility" in the wake of the Persian Gulf tragedy.

"I suspect that doing what we think is right will be the deciding factor," White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said.

Fitzwater's comments Thursday marked a significant change in the tone of administration pronouncements after several days of noncommittal responses on the issue of reparations for families of the 290 victims.

"One of the driving forces behind our consideration is simply the moral responsibility of America and the fact that we've always been a humane nation that takes these kinds of problems very seriously and assumes personal responsibilities," he said.

The Defense Department acknowledged Thursday that the Iranian A300 Airbus shot down by the U.S. warship was within a commercial airline corridor, but said that alone did not guarantee its safety.

"An airway is not a safety zone," said Pentagon spokesman Dan Howard. "All this means is that within that zone, within that area, the air traffic control authorities have agreed to track aircraft."

Fitzwater stressed that no decision on reparations has been made either by senior staff or President Reagan. But in contrast to his suggestion earlier this week that the decision will await the outcome of the Navy's investigation of the incident, Fitzwater said he wanted to emphasize that "we're moving along through the consideration process."

"We don't have final decisions yet, but it clearly is an issue that is under active discussion," Fitzwater said.

On Capitol Hill, House Speaker Jim Wright, D-Texas, said Congress would likely support a request for compensation if it came from the president.

"It should come from the president," Wright said.

The Pentagon spokesman, in a briefing with reporters, said that even though the airliner was in a civilian air corridor, Vincennes skipper Capt. Will C. Rogers III still could not rule out the chance he was facing an attacking F-14 fighter.

Howard said Iran must share some responsibility for the deaths because the Airbus took off from a military-civilian airport at Bandar Abbas during an exchange of fire between the Vincennes and Iranian gunboats.

"The Iranians are the ones who bear the responsibility for ensuring that if they are the ones who provoke the hostilities, they are the ones who began the shooting in this incident, that they ensure the safety of their civilian aircraft by not sending them into harm's way," Howard said.

Howard discounted speculation on Capitol Hill that an Iranian warplane might have been flying behind the commercial flight in an attempt to use it as a cover to sneak up on the USS Vincennes.

He repeated that U.S. warships had broadcast 12 warnings to the Iranian aircraft, seven from the Vincennes and five from the USS John H. Sides. And he released the transcript of an Iranian F-14 responding to a similar warning the day before the Airbus went down.

The F-14 identified itself to the USS Halsey and "went away," Howard said.

On Sunday, the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Adm. William Crowe, had told reporters one reason Rogers believed the Iranian aircraft was a military jet was that it was outside the air corridor.

But both Crowe and Howard have said the most compelling reason Rogers mistook the aircraft for a military plane was an electronic emission from the Airbus. On Tuesday, Howard identified the transmission as signals broadcast on a frequency used only by military aircraft.

The signal sent by the Airbus, said Howard, was similar to codes broadcast within the previous several days by Iranian F-14 fighters recently stationed at Bandar Abbas.

add 12 new basic service channels for subscribers. This changeover is projected to take six months.

Following this, a rate increase is expected to be put in place also, raising the monthly basic rate fee to $16.95.

Mathis has said the rate change will likely be implemented within six to eight months.

The 12-channel basic service offered by SCAT will remain the same with the additions of the Spanish International Network, the Nashville Network, CNN Headline News, ESPN, the USA Network, the Fashion Channel, the Weather Channel, Nickelodeon, the Arts and Entertainment Network, MTV and the Home Shopping Network.

On the "premium" side, the new system will offer HBO, Cinemax and the Disney Channel.

Original owners for the cable company were N.R. Clements, Paula Hughes Gilbert and the Wendell Mayes family of Austin.

When SCAT was built in 1958 it was one of the first four in the state.

Other systems built at approximately the same time were in Mineral Wells, Lampasas, and Tyler.

The system now totals some 100 miles of wire and service with approximately 5,000 subscribers.

The driver of the other car, 59-year-old Joyce Vaughn of Cross Plains, was in critical condition Friday at Humana Hospital.

A Department of Public Safety trooper said the cars collided at a rural intersection east of Anson Thursday morning. Reports indicate Vaughn ran a stop sign and hit the Guynes vehicle.

The husband of Karen Guynes and father of the Guynes children is Carl Guynes, who is employed at B-Line Vacuum at B&J Welding Service.

Richard Crenshaw

He died at 7:25 p.m. Friday at the VA hospital in Big Spring.

He was born Aug. 17, 1911.

He is survived by his wife, Lena; and one son, Leon of Snyder.
