To accept nomination...

Dukakis set for top spot

ATLANTA (AP) — Michael Dukakis, whose methodical marathon turned into his own Massachusetts miracle, accepts the presidential nomination tonight of a unified Democratic Party that senses victory in the air.

Dukakis, harvesting what he had reaped in the primaries, clinched his party's nod Wednesday night at a convention celebration where he was hailed by Arkansas Gov. Bill Clinton as possessing "the vision America needs at this moment in our journey."

Now, just 10 days after a blowup over Dukakis' selection of Sen. Lloyd Bentsen of Texas as Dukakis' running mate, the convention's next order of business is Bentsen's formal nomination and acceptance tonight, giving the Democrats a ticket considerably less liberal than has become customary.

The frictions touched off by the choice of Bentsen, and by Dukakis' failure to notify Jackson first, once threatened to raise a Jackson challenge for second place, a job he said he wanted.

But in the determined spirit of harmony that guided this convention, that seemed forgotten.

With no suspense about the outcome, the delegate tally Wednesday night reached 2,876.25 for Dukakis to 1,218.5 for Jesse Jackson before Jackson released

Lions Club brings visitor from Japan

By Shirley A. Gorman
SDN News Editor

Toshiya Sato, 21, of Yuzawa, Japan arrived in Snyder on July 17 and has been staying with the Dennis Chisum family. His visit has been arranged through the Lions Club Youth Exchange Program.

When he leaves Snyder on Aug. 1 he will travel to Lubbock where he will spend three weeks with the Lions Club district governor. They will tour the district for three weeks.

Sato's hometown is located some 360 miles north of Tokyo. He is a junior in college and is currently studying economics at the Tokyo College of Economics. Someday he said he hopes to work for a movie studio.

While in Snyder, Sato visited the local jail and was fingerprinted for fun. He called it an interesting experience.

Sunday he will visit the district Lions Club meeting in Rotan.

Chisum said they also plan to take Sato to visit Sea World in San Antonio.

Sato will also play his first game of golf in Snyder. He said golf is very expensive in Japan.

This is Sato's first trip outside of his home country and his first trip to the United States. He said he likes coming here because it gives him a chance to practice his English which he began studying in the eighth grade.

Since Japan does not border any other country, he said it is difficult for Japanese people to travel to other countries. He said about 85 percent of the Japanese never leave their country.

Sato's parents manage a flower shop. He has an older brother who is 22 and a younger sister who is 19. Last year his brother visited Paraguay, Mexico and Peru. His sister has not traveled outside Japan.

Sato shared a few thoughts

15-year-old in custody for burglary

A 15-year-old boy was arrested Wednesday night in connection with the Tuesday burglary of Kwik Drive-in Grocery at 2704 25th St.

A city detective said another juvenile was being sought in the case.

The break-in was discovered by a city patrolman at 4:39 a.m. Tuesday.

Entry to the building had been gained by the removal of a board from the back of the building.

A small amount of change, cigarettes and magazines about skateboarding were missing, and the detective said most of the missing property had been recovered.

The 15-year-old was arrested at 9:28 p.m. Wednesday at the police station.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "A visionary farmer is one who plants 40 percent cotton and 60 percent polyester."

We can be thankful for small favors. There's one dispute that so far has been confined to California where it can best be described as a real dog fight.

The disagreement centers on the heavy issue of who can lawfully clean dogs' teeth. Pet groomers in the state, who provide this service for about $5, claim veterinarians in the state are conspiring to drive them out of the dog tooth-care business. Pet groomers say the vets charge about $100 for cleaning a mutt's teeth. Countered one vet, "It's like allowing a hairdresser to perform surgery."

There is a law on the books in California against non-professionals doing tooth work, so one state official sent in an undercover pooch to break up what they viewed as an illegal dog-tooth cleaning operation.

A groomer in Stockton, Calif., was issued a civil citation in the sting, but he responded by promptly filing suit against the state. The debate ended in the lap of a superior court judge which ruled there is nothing wrong in brushing, flossing or even scraping a dog's teeth with a metal dental instrument.

However, the judge did grant an injunction prohibiting groomers from using more sophisticated devices. Now new laws are being drafted in California to regulate the industry.

Citizens like the more economical services and already thousands have signed a petition supporting the groomers for what they describe as a needed public service. The vets contend that unskilled use of certain dental instruments may cause the dog unnecessary pain.

There is one area on which both litigants readily agree: Dogs who have their teeth cleaned on a regular basis have fresher breath.

BCD member due leadership session

The Board of County Development Wednesday voted to send board chairman Jack Denman to attend Texas A&M University's 38th annual Texas Industrial Development Conference Sept. 7 through 9 in College Station.

Board members said the event is further described as an economic leadership conference.

Other action in the noon meeting at Snyder Country Club included a discussion of the BCD's proposed budget for next year.

Chamber of Commerce

manager Bill Moss said the 1989 budget, which has not been finalized, would be at about the same level it was in 1987 but less than the 1985 and '86 budgets.

Noting that the 1988 budget was substantially cut from the 1987 level, Moss reported that county commissioners have indicated a favorable disposition toward the proposal as it is written.

The meeting was attended by board members Bill Parker, Eddie Johnson, Max von Roeder and Jack Smartt. Denman was absent.

In Brief

Locked out

ATLANTA (AP) — The woman who delivered the Democratic National Convention's keynote address missed the convention's key vote when officials locked The Omni because of overcrowding.

Texas Treasurer Ann Richards arrived at the arena at about 8:30 Wednesday night, shortly before the presidential nomination balloting.

Bill Cryer, her press aide, said security guards told Ms. Richards that no one was being allowed into the building. That's when the people on the street recognized the white-haired Ms. Richards and staged an impromptu rally in her support.

"They started shouting, 'Let Ann in. Let Ann in. Let Ann in,'" Cryer said.

"Ann told the security guard she understood there were rules and she didn't want to cause any problems. So she turned away and started to go back to the hotel," Cryer said.

Prison riot

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Inmates in a Michoacan state penitentiary disarmed guards but failed to escape and started an hour-long riot. Officials said 10 prisoners were killed and 13 people wounded in a shootout with police.

State attorney general Jose Franco Villa said the violence Wednesday at the prison in Morelia was "an attempt at a mass breakout." It was not clear how many of the prison's 2,000 inmates were involved.

Franco Villa blamed the rioting on a "group of highly dangerous inmates, most of whom were sentenced for drug trafficking, bank robberies and homicides."

Morelia, the state capital, is about 150 miles west of Mexico City.

Franco Villa told a news conference Wednesday night that 10 inmates were killed and 13 people wounded, including prisoners, guards and two visitors.

Moreno fired

DALLAS (AP) — Assistant City Manager Samuel Moreno, the city's highest-ranking Hispanic employee, has been fired in the wake of a federal bankruptcy judge's ruling that he embezzled funds from his former company before filing for bankruptcy five years ago.

City Manager Richard Knight told City Council members Wednesday he had "no choice" but to fire Moreno, a move criticized by some Hispanic leaders.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1988 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: Last June (1987) I went back to Torrington, Conn., for my 50th high school reunion. I live in Augusta, Ga., and drove 900 miles to get there. Classmates came from California, Texas, Oregon, Utah and heaven knows where else. Out of a class of 300, 153 classmates showed up.

It would have been a perfect reunion, except for one thing — there was no class picture! When I asked the chairman of the reunion where the photographer was, he told me, "There isn't going to be any." I couldn't believe I had heard correctly, but, Abby, I had! I was furious and demanded to know why not. He chuckled and said, "One of the committee members pointed out the fact that while the grads were having their class picture taken, their spouses would be bored standing around and doing nothing, so we decided to skip the picture."

I argued, pleaded, begged and even offered him a check for $1,000 to hire a photographer that very night. Well, I was turned down, and the golden opportunity was lost forever.

What a letdown! Everyone I spoke to felt the same way I did. We all knew that our chances of ever getting together again like that were nil.

The thrust of this letter, is to advise all future 50th anniversary class reunion committees to be sure this doesn't happen to you. It left a terrible taste in many mouths.

LUVERNE PHILLIPS HINSON

DEAR LUVERNE: The decision concerning a group picture for a 50th high school reunion should not have been made by two people who would deprive an entire class of a memorable souvenir. And for such a fatuous reason. My typewriter is smoking!

DEAR ABBY: Well, it happened again, and I must vent my anger. Sorry, but you are elected.

As a church secretary, I get memorial contributions every day or so in memory of someone who has died. Abby, I just received one for $3! The tightwad who sent it will get the same recognition as the person who sent $100 yesterday. One cannot buy a decent card for that amount, much less a small bouquet of flowers.

Should we refuse to accept memorial contributions for less than $15? Is there some way we could let the family of the deceased know that Mrs. Tightwad sent us $3 and Mr. Generous sent $100? Would it be totally inappropriate to mention the amount in the acknowledgement I mail to the family of the deceased?

I need some of your ingenuity.

SLOW BURN IN TEXAS

DEAR SLOW BURN: Neither you nor I know how much the next person can afford to give. The fact that a memorial contribution was made is important — the amount is not. Contributions in any amount are acceptable, and it's not our place to label the tightwads and the generous.

DEAR ABBY: I just read your response to "Offended in Lake Charles, La.," who criticized you for having put down the U.S. Postal Service because it took a letter three and a half years to get from Lynn, Mass., to Los Angeles.

Well, I just read in the Daily Evening Item (Lynn, Mass.) that it took a valentine 45 years to get from Boise, Idaho, to East Haven, Conn. Can anybody top that?

VICKI SCROGGS, LYNN, MASS.

DEAR VICKI: I doubt it. Readers?

Most teen-agers do not know the facts about drugs, AIDS, how to prevent unwanted pregnancy and how to handle the pain of growing up. It's all in Abby's new, updated, expanded booklet, "What Every Teen Should Know." To order, send your name and address, clearly printed, plus check or money order for $3.50 ($4 in Canada) to: Dear Abby's Teen Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054. Oliver North was target of potential assassination plot

WASHINGTON (AP) — Oliver L. North was the target of a potential assassination plot that involved one of eight men charged with illegal pro-Libyan activities in the United States, an administration source says.

The man, Mousa Hawamda, is a naturalized American who was identified Wednesday at an arraignment hearing for six of those arrested in the alleged scheme, which prosecutors said involved diversion of Libyan funds to support anti-American activities.

Hawamda was described as a Libyan intelligence operative who operates under the guise of a Washington travel agency owner.

U.S. Attorney Henry Hudson said that based on information received by the FBI, Hawamda "was involved in a potential plot to assassinate a high government official of the United States."

Hudson did not identify the official or give any other details.

But another official, speaking on condition he not be identified, said the target was North, a former National Security Council aide and a major player in the Iran-Contra arms and money scandal.

North, who was fired from his NSC post in November 1986 over allegations that he illegally funneled money to the Contra rebels in Nicaragua, masterminded counterterrorism operations against Libya, including the April 1986 aerial bombing of Tripoli.

During the congressional hearings on the Iran-Contra affair, North said threats against his life had prompted him to install a security fence around his home.

Women in business

NEW YORK (AP) — Women are starting and operating their own businesses in growing numbers.

The most recent government statistics show that women now own 3.7 million businesses, generating $65 billion a year. That is almost one-third of all firms in the United States. A decade ago, women owned 700,000 companies.

Traditionally, women-owned businesses were mainly in retail services. But this is changing. In a "Women of Enterprise" awards program organized by Avon Products Inc. and the U.S. Small Business Administration, the winners included female owners of a construction company, janitorial service, oil production company, management consulting firm and a sausage-making firm.

West's leap to four clubs propelled North-South into a precarious slam. Part of it was due to confusion. North meant his five-club cue-bid as simply showing a club control and slam interest. South thought that North might be asking him to bid another suit, and he did have four spades to the ace. Any way they got there, and it was now up to South to make it.

He won dummy's ace of clubs, ruffed a club and drew the trumps in two rounds. With no clear indication of the diamond-spade distribution in the West hand, declarer now cashed the ace of spades. His hope was that West would hold K-x or Q-x and not be shrewd enough to unblock the suit. He now played three rounds of diamonds ending in his hand and exited with a low spade. When West showed out, East took the setting tricks with the Q-10.

The winning play, after drawing trumps, is for declarer to take three rounds of diamonds without cashing the spade ace. He can then get off lead with a low spade, keeping the ace in his hand. West will be locked in with the singleton king and have to give declarer a sluff and a ruff and his contract. This line of play also prevails when West starts with K-Q or K-10 or Q-10 in the spade suit, and can work even if West begins with 10-x or the singleton 10 if declarer correctly analyzes the position.

James Jacoby's books "Jacoby on Bridge" and "Jacoby on Card Games" (written with his father, the late Oswald Jacoby) are now available at bookstores. Both are published by Pharos Books.

Doctor finds dinosaurs, humans share chemistry

CHICAGO (AP) — Dinosaurs and human beings share a common body material, according to a researcher who has spent more than three decades uncovering the elusive chemistry that produces bones, teeth and other hard tissue in the human body.

"Proteins that have been found in dinosaur bones are still found in human bones today," says Dr. Melvin Glimcher, a Harvard Medical School professor and director of orthopedic research at The Children's Hospital, Boston.

"One of the proteins that plays a critical role in the formation of human tooth enamel today also is found in 200-million-year-old dinosaur teeth," he adds.

His research suggests that the evolutionary mechanism that produced hard bone in dinosaurs 200 million years ago is still at work building bone in humans today.

Glimcher, who has received numerous awards and honors for his work in orthopedics, added a new prize recently: $25,000 from Bristol-Myers-Zimmer for outstanding orthopedic research. Earlier, The Children's Hospital won a $250,000 grant from the company for the orthopedic research program under Glimcher's direction. Both awards were determined by independent panels of leading orthopedic researchers.

- Carry water with you if possible.
- Stop smoking.

Morgan named Bo-Sox manager

BOSTON (AP) - Joe Morgan, a coach with the Red Sox for 3½ years, Morgan was promoted as manager of the Boston Red Sox for the remainder of the 1988 season. McNamara was fired last Thursday.

Carl Lewis qualifies in 200 meters but has to settle for second place

The Snyder (Tex.) Daily News, Thur., July 21, 1988 5

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) - The pupil beat the teacher, and instead of a trip to the principal's office he gets a trip to the Seoul Olympics as a reward.

The pupil was Joe DeLoach, who will be a senior at the University of Houston. He won Wednesday's 200-meter final at the U.S. Olympic Track and Field Trials in 19.96 seconds. Carl Lewis, the defending Trials and Olympic medalist who trains with DeLoach, was second at 20.01. It was Lewis' first outdoor loss in the 200 since June 21, 1986, a span of 14 races that included nine finals.

"I'm so elated to see Joe make the team. You always want to win, but if you don't win, it makes it better when you lose to a dear friend and that's what Joe is to me," Lewis said of DeLoach. "He's been very motivational to me and very, very encouraging," DeLoach said of Lewis. "I call myself a novice and Carl has perfection in everything he does. I enjoy working with him and learning from his experience."

In another shocker, Butch Reynolds ran the second fastest 400 ever. His meet record of 43.93 was just seven-hundredths of a second slower than the world record set by American Lee Evans in the 1968 Olympics. Roy Martin, who managed to beat DeLoach when they both were high school students in Texas, edged out Albert Robinson for the third and final spot on the U.S. team in the 200. Both were timed at 20.05.

Calvin Smith, the 1987 world champion in the event, failed to earn a spot on the team. He placed fifth.

"It was a very tough race. I gave 100 percent, but tonight it wasn't enough," said Smith, who won an Olympic gold in the 400 relay in 1984. "I just couldn't stay with them down the stretch. I feel good about qualifying in the 100 and being on the relay team."

Lewis, who finished first in the 100 and long jump earlier in the Trials as he seeks to duplicate his 1984 feat of four Olympic golds, wasn't surprised with his loss.

"Joe simply ran the best race," Lewis said. "I've been talking about him for a long time. I knew he was one of the great talents and I knew he could do it."

DeLoach, 21, made the team in the 200 with his personal best after earlier failing to qualify in the 100.

Reynolds, 24, is optimistic about the future.

"I think 43 (seconds) is within reach - maybe 42," said the former Ohio State runner who won a Bronze Medalist in the 1987 World Championships. His time was the fastest ever 400 meters at sea level and runner-up Danny Everett, the NCAA champion, ran 43.98, the second-best sea level time ever.

It was the first time two runners had broken 44 seconds since the 1968 Games, when Larry James finished behind Evans in 43.97.

UCLA freshman Steve Lewis, who set the world junior record of 44.11 in the semifinals, was third in the final at 44.37. Antonio McKay, the 1984 Olympic bronze medalist, wound up fifth in 44.79, behind Kevin Robinson's 44.61.

All-Stars battle Anson for crown

ROTAN - Snyder and Anson battle for the Area II Little League championship here today at 7 p.m.

Snyder made its way to the finals by battling back through the loser's bracket after a 6-3 loss to Hamlin last week. The All-Stars defeated Hamlin 10-0 on Monday, then edged Anson 6-5 to set up tonight's contest.

On the mound for Snyder is expected to be Randall Thomas, who pitched both games against Hamlin. Thomas struck out 21 in a losing effort, then pitched a nine-strikeout, no-hitter on Monday.

Snyder's stint in the double-elimination tournament has also included wins over Stonewall-Kent and Rotan.

Anson, unbeaten until Tuesday's loss to Snyder, reached the finals with wins over Rotan and Hamlin.

Managing the Snyder All-Stars is George Page. The coach is David Sisson.

Tonight's winner will advance to further Little League competition beginning Monday, July 25, in Breckenridge. The Area II winner, either Snyder or Rotan, will play Area III champ Baird at 8 p.m. on that date. At 6 p.m., Area I winner Abilene Dixie will square off against Area IV winner Robert Lee.

Snyder's Oilers, the Astros from Sweetwater, the White Sox from Colorado City and a team from Eastland will compete in the double-elimination tournament, which sends its winner to state competition in Palestine.

League officials will meet at 2 p.m. Sunday to pair off the teams.

Anyone wishing to volunteer is urged to contact Webb at the Snyder Athletic Center (573-8551).

DID YOU KNOW THAT A BABY IS BORN TO A TEENAGER EVERY TWO MINUTES?

HOLY COW! WE'VE GOT TO FIND THAT TEENAGER AND STOP HER!

An 1897 earthquake in Assam, India, claimed 1,542 lives.

British statesman Sir Anthony Eden was born in 1897.

Officer begged for his life

HOUSTON (AP) — Police described the shooting of a vice officer who pleaded with the gunman for his life as a "cold-blooded execution."

Homicide investigators late Wednesday said they had no new leads and have made no arrests in the case.

However, they said their investigation has been aided because 30 minutes before Officer Elston Howard was shot late Tuesday night at a 24-hour bookstore, a suspect went to another nearby bookstore and robbed it. Police say that suspect had the same description as the man who shot Howard.

Howard, 26, was behind the counter with a clerk at the Mr. Peepers adult bookstore in southwest Houston issuing a citation when the gunman walked in, police spokesman Dan Turner said Wednesday.

The gunman "noticed the officer was wearing a (Houston police) raid jacket and at that point shot the officer at least twice," Turner said.

After the gunman fired, the officer attempted to struggle with the armed suspect, police spokesman Al Baker said.

Peter Gott, M.D.

Management of migraine

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I've been having migraines — vomiting, pain, etc. — for 20 years. They usually come with my menstrual periods. I'm now 42. Because of fibrous tumors, I've started having heavy bleeding with my periods and my doctor has suggested a hysterectomy. Estrogen causes an increase in the frequency and duration of the migraines. I've read that artificial onset of menopause can also cause more headaches. Can you suggest a way out of my dilemma?

DEAR READER: Some migraine headaches appear to be estrogen-sensitive. However, this should not be a reason for you to refuse a hysterectomy if there are valid medical indications for surgery.

To begin with, you need not take hormones after hysterectomy; they are not absolutely necessary in all women. Second, if your doctor wishes you to take estrogen, the type and dose can be altered to minimize the frequency and duration of your migraines. Third, prophylactic treatment of migraine, using drugs such as beta-blockers, often prevents the headaches from occurring.

I suggest that you seek a consultation with a neurologist, a specialist in nerve disorders and headaches. Working with your gynecologist, the neurologist may be able to hit on a plan that will solve your dilemma and, at the same time, allow you to undergo whatever gynecological treatment you need. For example, by using beta-blockers and sequential hormone therapy, you may be able to avoid the headaches and the surgery altogether.

To give you more information, I'm sending you a free copy of my Health Report, "Headache." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1 and their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm 70 and have had a dull ache at the base of my skull for several weeks. It's hard to hold my head up because of the pain. I also have pain along the jawline and ears, dizziness that causes me to stagger, and blurred vision. What really bothers me is that I feel so much anger, almost uncontrollable rages. What's happening to me?

DEAR READER: You seem to be describing muscle-contraction pain; this consists of headache and other symptoms that are caused by muscle spasms in the neck, shoulder and head areas. Anger is a common cause of muscle contractions. Therefore, your physical complaints could well be helped by addressing the root of your rage.

I suggest that you have a medical examination (to make sure you are physically OK) and ask the doctor to refer you for counseling. By working through the basis of your emotional discomfort, you may experience much relief from your pain and dizziness.

Of course, muscle-contraction pain can be associated with many illnesses, such as hypertension and muscle disorders. Therefore, your visit to the doctor would serve two purposes: evaluation of potentially treatable physical ailments plus the opportunity to obtain psychological support, if indicated.

Vice presidential nominee said ready for his big night

ATLANTA (AP) — There'll be four Lloyd Bentsens at the Democratic National Convention tonight. One of them will leave as the vice presidential nominee. The others, no doubt, will be applauding loudly.

Tonight will be a family affair as spectators include the Texas senator's 94-year-old father, Lloyd Bentsen; son, Lloyd Bentsen III; and grandson, Lloyd Bentsen IV.

The nominee won't be hard to find. He's the tall, smooth-talking senator who has made the rounds this week receiving praise from civil rights and women's groups, winning over some skeptical delegates and trading accolades with Jesse Jackson and Michael Dukakis.

And tonight, as he accepts his party's nomination, Bentsen apparently will continue to aim to please. He says he intends to highlight similarities he has with the more liberal Dukakis, not differences.

"I'm going to talk about jobs, education, health care and growth," the 67-year-old senator told reporters Wednesday.

Vice President George Bush, who has been the brunt of many comments by convention speakers, will not be the object of "Bush-bashing" by Bentsen.

Like Bush, Bentsen claims Houston as his hometown. Bentsen vowed to avoid a bitter personal campaign against his friend.

"Mine will not be a personal attack," said Bentsen. "He's a friend of mine, and our wives are friends. We're talking about differences on issues and differences on results. That's the basis of the campaign."

Bentsen took more than an hour to practice his speech Wednesday in a room backstage at The Omni convention center, joined by his wife Beryl Ann, known as B.A. He returned to the hall today to check out the podium from which he'll give the address.

He has chosen Illinois Rep. Dan Rostenkowski, a friend from Capitol Hill, to nominate him and he will be introduced by Sen. John Glenn of Ohio, who was also considered by Dukakis as a possible running mate.

On Wednesday, Bentsen took time out from speech preparation to pay tribute to women's groups and court their support for November.

Ann Richards, who delivered the keynote speech to the Democratic convention Monday night, gave Bentsen a rousing inroduction at one appearance, calling him "a friend to women" and hailing his effort to help female Democratic candidates.

"Lloyd Bentsen's name is absolute magic in the state of Texas, and I believe in this coming election it's going to be magic for the Democratic ticket," she said. She called Bentsen a mentor and "one of the reasons I serve as treasurer of Texas."

Bentsen said Dukakis "has a great record on issues involving women."

Several women in the group stood and shouted "No Contra aid" as Bentsen, a supporter of aid to the Nicaraguan rebels, left the room.

Contra aid is just one of the foreign policy issues on which Bentsen and Dukakis disagree. But Ms. Richards called the ticket a balanced one and added: "I think he gives us a real shot at this election in November."

On Friday, Bentsen will get a chance to demonstrate his value to the ticket in Texas, going with Dukakis to Houston for a rally. While there, Bentsen also will receive an award for efforts to clean up Galveston Bay.

The candidates will fly to California and then swing back East over the weekend.

Letter-writer overwhelmed

ATLANTA (AP) — Donna Alexander's previous letters to politicians always brought form-letter replies. But her letter to Texas Treasurer Ann Richards got a personal response on national television.

"I felt kind of embarrassed a little bit," said Ms. Alexander, who watched the Monday night keynote speech while wrapping up a Tupperware party at her Lorena, Texas, home.

In her speech, Ms. Richards quoted at length from Ms. Alexander's letter to her about the difficulties faced by "average" families. The letter was written on a lunch break after Ms. Alexander heard that families would be the key note in the keynote speech.

"For a number of years, I've wondered if people like us are forgotten. We're not the poor and we're not the rich. We're not the very young or the aged. We're the average American family," she told Ms. Richards in the letter.

The Alexanders earn about $50,000 a year and have difficulty making ends meet for them and their three children, she said.

his delegates to make the nomination unanimous.

So tonight belongs to Dukakis to deliver an acceptance speech setting the theme for his campaign to break an eight-year GOP lock on the White House and defeat Vice President George Bush, the sure nominee of the Republican Party.

In the long battle of primary elections, Dukakis, the Massachusetts governor, outlasted six other opponents and won 22 of 36 states. He promised to extend nationally the "Massachusetts miracle" of economic prosperity that has blessed his home state.

Dukakis showed little emotion when the nomination finally became his during a late-night convention roll call Wednesday.

"We want Mike," thousands of delegates roared. They waved a sea of signs. They would have danced if there had been room in the narrow aisles.

"It's all a little bit like a play. I feel terrific," Dukakis said, watching on television at a nearby hotel's penthouse with his wife, Kitty, and family.

He smiled and raised his fist in victory as California delegates gave him the winning margin.

When campaign aide Joe Warren addressed him as, "Mr. President," Dukakis responded, "Careful, Joe — you don't want to put the evil eye on me."

Dukakis and Bentsen came to this convention city with a modest lead in the polls over Bush, who calls himself the underdog. With the intense publicity of this week, the Democrats look for a boost in the ratings, if only temporarily.

Democrats believe Bush, unlike President Reagan, is vulnerable, given the voters' concern over the Iran-Contra scandal and illegal drug trafficking and what the polls say is a broad uneasiness over the nation's economic prospects.

New York Gov. Mario Cuomo, who doggedly resisted overtures to enter the race, said Dukakis-Bentsen "is a winning combination if I ever saw one."

Dukakis' aides said his speech tonight would be "an effort to distill the essence" of his candidacy.

Clements: stroke was light

AUSTIN (AP) — Recuperating from a mild stroke that briefly impaired his vision and speech, Gov. Bill Clements says he feels fine and wants to return to work soon.

"I don't think it will have any impact whatsoever on my activities," Clements said when asked if he would cut down on his workload, political campaigning or tennis games. "I feel great. I feel real good."

The doctor "was very emphatic that he could resume a normal routine, which I think is good news," added first lady Rita Clements.

The 71-year-old governor, interviewed briefly in his hospital room on Wednesday, described the stroke he suffered Monday night and joked that the Democratic National Convention may have caused his illness.

Clements admitted himself to Seton Medical Center on Tuesday evening. He said doctors told him it appeared that a small blood clot had formed and passed into the upper left quarter of his brain, causing problems in his right eye and with his speech.

"It impacted the vision in my right eye. It also impacted my speech. That, then, was gone the next (Tuesday) morning," he said.

"I've never had anything like this before. Apparently, a lot of people have this sort of thing and never recognize or sense that there's anything of a serious nature about it."

Clements said problems developed while he was reading the biography of a West Texas pioneer after having watched the opening session of the Democratic convention on television. "That Democratic convention may have made this happen. I don't know," the Republican governor chuckled.

Physicians who were treating the governor weren't talking to news reporters Wednesday, preferring to wait until results of all tests were known before discussing the case, said hospital spokeswoman M.A. Bengtson.

However, Ms. Bengtson said the governor underwent a CAT scan Tuesday night and was given cardiovascular and neurological tests Wednesday.

"It was a very small, very tiny clot that passed through the heart and into the back quadrant of the brain. And it just dissolved," she said. "That was what was causing the visual impairment, and as the clot went away ... it just took about a 24-hour period. As that clot was beginning to dissolve, the symptoms began to dissipate."

Clements said the only medicine he was taking was aspirin, which doctors say acts as an anti-coagulant. Ms. Bengtson said Clements' blood pressure and temperature were being monitored every two hours.

Clements was listed in good condition late Wednesday, said hospital spokeswoman Cheryl McEntire.

Clements received numerous flower arrangements, two of his favorite flavors of ice cream and a telegram from President Reagan among greetings from well-wishers, said George Bayoud, the governor's chief of staff.

Bayoud read the Reagan telegram: "Nancy and I were sorry to learn you have been spending some time in the hospital. But we were heartened by reports that you are well on the mend. We're keeping you in our thoughts and prayers. President's orders: Get well soon."

Bayoud said the governor had taken care of some state business from his hospital room Wednesday. The two discussed the possible appointment of a public utility commissioner, a judge and jail overcrowding problems, Bayoud said.

Dressed in blue hospital pajamas and a multi-colored robe, Clements sat on a sofa with his wife and talked with a few reporters for about 10 minutes.

"The results are excellent, and I feel very fortunate that it was just a temporary situation," the governor said.

He said the doctors hadn't yet told him what might have caused the stroke.

Press secretary Reggie Bashur said Clements still hoped to be able to attend a prison groundbreaking ceremony scheduled for Friday in Amarillo, although that depends on when doctors discharge him. Wednesday, the State Board of Corrections voted to name the 2,250-bed maximum-security facility the William P. Clements Jr. Unit.

Man killed by police

DALLAS (AP) — A man was killed by police after a five-minute shootout and footchase that zig-zagged through alleys and around apartment complexes, bringing rush-hour traffic to a halt.

Officers fired at least 19 times as they pursued the man who was pronounced dead at Baylor University Medical Center late Wednesday afternoon. The man, whose name was not released Wednesday, suffered gunshot wounds to the upper chest, neck and leg, said Katherine Wright, hospital administrator.

No officers were wounded in the gun battle, police said.

"Officers had to withhold their fire a couple of times because they were facing traffic or people," said Lt. Jerry Calame.
