

Welfare needed for major changes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's welfare system is headed for a major overhaul with the conclusion of complex negotiations on a five-year plan aimed at moving welfare recipients into jobs and helping them collect more child support.

The initiative agreed on Monday by Senate, House and White House negotiators had been close to death all summer as negotiators sought a balance between conservatives favoring mandatory work and liberals concerned about increasing benefits to the needy and motivating people to enter the mainstream workplace.

"This was a critical day," said Rep. Tom Downey, D-N.Y., chairman of the subcommittee that handled the House welfare bill, emerging from Monday's pivotal meeting.

"There are some who will not be happy" with the outcome, Downey said. But when asked if the package would fly when presented to about 50 House and Senate conferees late this afternoon, he said, "Yes."

"I am very pleased," said Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, chairman of the House and Senate conferees and the Democratic vice presidential nominee. "I think it's a good final resolution of the differences... an excellent compromise."

Reagan's domestic policy adviser, Charles Hobbs, a participant in Monday's meeting, offered a conditional endorsement of the compromise. "If it's okay with the conferees and if it comes down the way I understand it, it's probably okay," he said.

The $3.34 billion welfare plan comes in above the Senate's own $2.8 billion measure but would cost less than half of the initial $7.1 billion plan passed by the House.

The cornerstone of the compromise is a Job Opportunities and Basic Skills (JOBS) program offering welfare parents — including those with preschool children — services such as job search help, education and job training. Child care and transportation aid would be available to participants.

States would have to be serving 7 percent of eligible welfare recipients by 1990 and 20 percent by 1995. States would be given $600 million for the JOBS program in 1989, rising to $1.3 billion in 1995.

Twenty-seven states now provide welfare benefits to households with two unemployed parents.

Ask Us

Q — Why is the price of antifreeze going up and do economists predict what the price will be by Christmas?

A — For an answer, we contacted the automotive cooling division of the Automotive Chemical Manufacturers Council, a New Jersey-based trades organization. A spokesman there said the basic reason is that manufacturers of glycol, the chief ingredient in antifreeze, now find it more profitable to sell their product to other industries. The supply to antifreeze companies is subsequently being curtailed, causing price increases. There were other factors, such as damage caused to two major glycol plants, but he said these effects were minimal. The industry prediction is for the cost per gallon to go to $10, a level it will likely stay at "for a good while."

In Brief

Helene update

MIAMI (AP) — Helene's days as a hurricane were numbered as it continued to push north into colder mid-Atlantic waters that have already reduced the storm's once-mighty winds to a minimal 80 mph, forecasters say.

"It's just barely a hurricane right now," Jim Gross, a forecaster at the National Hurricane Center, said today. "Our estimate is that it could hang on as a hurricane for the next 36 to 48 hours."

Helene, the fourth hurricane of the Atlantic season, was spawned last week near the Cape Verde Islands off west Africa and it reached 140 mph strength before veering northward. Its winds must wither to below 74 mph to be downgraded to a tropical storm.

Three miss 3

Three entrants in last week's SDN Football Contest had only three misses in a week where college games proved the downfall of many.

Using the tie-breaker procedure, Jerry Sorrells of Star Rt. Box 46 B, Colorado City was the $12.50 winner, and Ben Thomas Essery of Rt. 3 Box 257 was the $5 winner.

Another contest appears in this issue.

Trees for fencing mulled as buffer for city's landfill

City council members Monday night decided to investigate planting trees at the north end of the landfill site west of Snyder to satisfy the concerns of a landowner who has been asking for the construction of a fence.

Landowner John Short appeared with former city councilman Don Gressett, County Commissioner Ted Billingsley and Sheriff Keith Collier, who owns and leases land in the landfill area, to discuss the city's commitment to build a fence eight years ago and various concerns related to the landfill.

Short called on the city to "keep its word" and build a fence, and Councilman Paul Zeck said the commitment should be considered in light of whether or not there is a need for $15,000 to $20,000 in tax revenues to be expended on such a project.

Councilman Jack Greene Jr. suggested that wind-break cedars be planted on the northern boundary of the landfill property to effect the same type of an improvement a fence would bring, at substantially less cost.

Short said he might be satisfied with cedars in place of a fence, and the council moved to have the city staff investigate that option, noting that it will be many years before the landfill progresses north through a dense growth of mesquite trees to near Short's land.

Other business in the 1½-hour meeting included approval of a low bid from U.S. Risk Insurance Agency of Austin for liability insurance for city officials, with a bid for liability insurance for city law enforcement officers to be considered later.

The company, which is affiliated with Lloyd's of London and is providing similar coverage for 70 counties in the Texas Association of Counties, bid a $4,500 premium on a $10,000 deductible policy.

Rural thefts...

Equipment stolen in three incidents

Sheriff Keith Collier Tuesday said he is hoping for witnesses to come forward who saw two or more men who are believed to have committed three burglaries in Scurry and Borden counties late Sunday or early Monday.

"Somebody must have seen them," the sheriff said, referring to the long length of time that would have been required to commit the three offenses.

But the sheriff said he believes the break-ins probably took place in the early morning hours.

Two barns and a shop were hit, with a total estimated loss of $7,000 in farm-related equipment.

Collier's office Monday issued a regional bulletin requesting information about possible suspects in farm equipment thefts, but a deputy said he was not certain if the burglars were from Snyder or from outside the county.

"They acted like they had all the time in the world," he said, referring to the perpetrators' apparent lack of haste in dismantling and loading equipment at the burglary scenes.

South of Knapp near Lake J.B. Thomas, an air compressor, four hydraulic cylinders, an electric grinder, water and diesel transfer pumps and a four-wheel Honda weed-spraying rig were stolen at a barn owned by Weldon Key.

Three miles south of Snyder off the Big Spring Hwy., a Lincoln welder, two chain saws, a Skil saw and two lawn mowers were taken from a barn owned by Henry Clark, with the thieves carrying items from that burglary from the barn to a fence by the road.

A deputy said the equipment was probably carried in either a pickup truck or a van.

At a shop owned by Wayne Crow on the north side of Lake Thomas in Borden County, three hydraulic cylinders, an air compressor and a chain hoist were missing.

Tutoring notice to assist students

Notices will be mailed to parents throughout Snyder ISD this week indicating their child's school work is in need of additional tutoring.

Parents who receive such "deficiency notices" are urged to send their child to tutorials provided by the district for help.

These sessions will vary somewhat on a campus by campus-basis. Elementary teachers will be tutoring their students from 8 until 8:20 each morning.

At the junior high, tutoring will be offered from 8 until 8:15 and from 11:55 a.m. until 1 p.m. After school tutoring is planned also.

For the high school, a tutor is available for math, English, science and social studies. This will be offered from 8 until 8:25 a.m. Monday through Thursday.

Students having difficulty with their studies are also offered Homework Hotline Monday through Thursday from 6:30 until 8:30 p.m. By calling 573-1987, students may receive help in math, science, social studies and English.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "The only voice pop gets in family purchases is the invoice."

Roger Goodwin is 8th grade football coach, and he has been around the game for a long time. Goodwin was a varsity assistant in Snyder before moving to Santa Anna as head coach and then back to Snyder to head up the junior high program here.

One theory in football claims what the coach says in the locker room before, during and after the game can be as important as the techniques taught on the field.

Last week, Goodwin took his 25-member 8th grade team to Hamlin. All week he had been feeling sorry for Hamlin as the coach there had called lamenting the fact that his squad only had 14 players.

In fact, Goodwin cautioned his boys to be especially careful that they treated the host team with respect and display the best in sportsmanship.

After a frustrating game and a 22-6 loss to Hamlin, Goodwin took time after the game to review mistakes and discuss what they might have done differently.

One young player spoke up and said, "Coach, you know our biggest mistake?"

"What was that?" Goodwin asked.

"Our biggest mistake was getting off the bus at Hamlin."

Some coaches must feel like Ara Parseghian when he was coaching Miami, of Ohio through a terrible first half. Nothing had gone right that day, and the carefully prepared game plan might as well have been shredded.

At halftime in the locker room, the coach said, "I'm sorry we scheduled the game for today. I didn't know you fellows had something else to do."

Annual child's theatre sets 'Goldilocks' here

In what has become a fall tradition, Snyder can again expect a visit next week from Penguin Productions, the professional troupe of touring actors specializing in children's theatre.

The group will perform Goldilocks and the Three Bears in Worsham Auditorium on Monday beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Tickets are now available through the SHS drama department by calling 573-6301. Tickets will be available at the door also, $3 for adults and $2 for students.

The one-hour musical is now on tour in Texas, New Mexico and Louisiana. Since 1979, the Crockett-based theatre company has produced 25 tours, reaching hundreds of thousands of children.

The latest version of Goldilocks was written by Penguin Productions director Rena Newton.

She notes the original fairy tale takes its ancient Scottish, where the intruder into the home of the "three bears" was a fox.

As the story evolved, the fox became a wicked old woman and finally into the little girl known today as Goldilocks. The latest version dates to 1904, she says.

The production to be performed here is billed as a story which "appeals to the very young child, older children and adults."

Probe continues into shooting

GREENWOOD, S.C. (AP) — A young man accused in a school shooting spree that left an 8-year-old girl dead and 10 people wounded had been in and out of a hospital psychiatric ward over the past eight months, relatives said.

James William Wilson, who was arrested following Monday's violence at Oakdale Elementary School, is a hyperactive recluse fascinated by crime stories, his father and grandmother said.

The 19-year-old Greenwood man entered a school shortly after 11 a.m. Monday and opened fire in a classroom and the cafeteria, killing Shequila Tawonn Bradley and wounding two teachers and eight pupils, said Police Chief James Coursey.

"He seemed to be shooting people who were screaming," said School Superintendent Robert S. Watson. "The teacher said those who were screaming or making noise, he shot them."

The school in this city of about 20,000 people in South Carolina's textile belt 74 miles northwest of Columbia remained closed today.

Wilson was being held at the Greenwood Law Enforcement Center, police said. Authorities had no motive for the shooting, said Coursey.

Wilson had been admitted to Self Memorial Hospital's psychiatric ward three or four times in the past eight months, his father, James Wilson, and paternal grandmother, Gladys Wilson, said in interviews with The State newspaper.

They said he had not returned more recently because the family's medical insurance ran out.

The hefty, 5-foot-5 man, who is known as "Jamie," is bright and shy, and doesn't have many friends, they said.

"He was hyperactive, really more than hyperactive," Mrs. Wilson said.

James William Wilson said he liked going to the hospital because they gave him drugs, his father said, adding that until two months ago the young man had been taking medication for depression.

The young man was not employed. He "just didn't have the ability," his father said.

His parents divorced last year. Wilson had been living with his grandmother off and on since he was 14 and permanently the last two years.

He would keep himself sequestered in his bedroom and surrounded by books, Mrs. Wilson said. "He kept the blinds closed. He liked it to be dark," she said.

Lately, he'd been reading numerous crime books, she said.

His father, a welder, said he first learned of his son's arrest when he returned home from work Monday. "It just doesn't make no sense," he said.

The wounded teachers, Kat Finkbeiner and Eleanor Hodge, were listed in fair condition today at Self Memorial. A 7-year-old pupil was in critical condition and another was in fair condition.

Six other pupils were treated for superficial gunshot wounds and released Monday, said hospital spokesman Dan Branynon.

Shequila died of a gunshot wound to the neck, said Greenwood County Coroner Odell Duvall.

"There would have been a greater deal more injury and loss of life if it had not been for these brave teachers and the way they conducted themselves," said State Law Enforcement Division chief Robert Stewart.

Coursey said Wilson walked through the school's front door, went to the cafeteria and opened fire with a .22-caliber, nine-shot revolver, wounding one teacher and three students.

He left the cafeteria and entered a girl's restroom to reload his weapon. Ms. Finkbeiner followed and attempted to prevent him from leaving the room, Coursey said.

In the scuffle that followed, Ms. Finkbeiner was shot in the mouth and hand.

Wilson evaded Ms. Finkbeiner and entered a classroom, where he opened fire again, wounding five students and killing Shequila, Coursey said.

After emptying his pistol, Wilson dropped the weapon. Ms. Finkbeiner told him to raise his hands and stand until a police officer arrived, the chief said.

Chicken flying contest winners are announced

Chris Meador's Little Sue won first place in the chicken flying contest held in conjunction with the Scurry County Fair. Meador also trained the chicken which flew forty-one feet and eight inches.

Dwayne Robertson captured second place when his chicken, Barbarian, flew 39 feet. Meador trained the chicken.

Blake Robertson's Chick-a-dee came in third with a distance of 26 feet and 10 inches. Donny Robertson was the trainer.

Stacy Robertson's Goldie flew the shortest distance—six feet and two inches. She was trained by Donny Robertson and "got the frying pan."

Cousin Getting on His Feet Needs a Shove out the Door

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Over three months ago, our 22-year-old cousin got a job in our town (only 30 minutes from his home town), and his parents asked our parents if he could stay with us until he got on his feet. It now appears that Cousin Dearest has moved in with us permanently.

He first showed up with one suitcase. A week later, he brought in a great big suitcase and his own mattress because he had been sleeping on a couch in our den. The next thing we knew, he brought in the rest of his possessions! Abby, we are a family of eight and were cramped to begin with, and we can't accommodate another person permanently.

Cousin Dearest is rude to our parents, resents my mother's smoking and ridicules our family's lifestyle. Our father makes his lunch every morning, drives him to work and picks him up. Every evening, Cousin Dearest showers, puts on his pajamas, shows up for dinner (in pajamas) and retires to "his" room. The room that is now his used to be our family room—which we can no longer use in the evenings because he is sleeping on his mattress in the middle of the floor.

Although the rest of us are expected to help out either financially or with household chores, Cousin Dearest does not lift a finger and pays no rent. We are tired of watching our parents abused by this character and want him out. Our parents feel obligated to keep him because he's "family."

Our problem is how to get Cousin Dearest to move back home or to get a place of his own without causing hard feelings. Any suggestions? HAD IT

DEAR HAD IT: Your parents agreed to let Cousin Dearest stay with you until he "got on his feet." Now, it appears that he has gotten on your nerves before getting on his feet. (He is no longer a houseguest—he's a permanent house-pest!) It's unfair of your parents to allow this inconsiderate relative to inconvenience the entire household, but all you can do is complain loudly and consistently to your parents. And I suggest that you do so.

DEAR ABBY: What can we, as parents, do to get our 39-year-old daughter to repay the money we loaned her?

We loaned her money to make a down payment on a car. We loaned her money so she could go to beauty school. We loaned her money to pay her rent and security and electric company deposit—and instead, she used the money to give her stepdaughter a birthday party.

She promised to pay for the collect phone calls she made to us, but she hasn't. The list goes on and on.

Her father called and asked her to please send us a little something. All we get are promises. She manages an office and makes good money. Her husband also has a job that pays well.

Abby, we are trying to get along on our Social Security and need the money.

NEEDY PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: Unless you have an IOU or promissory note signed by your daughter, complete with the terms of repayment, your chances for collecting are slim. Sometimes threatening to sue will motivate a deadbeat.

I wish you luck. Meanwhile, this should be a lesson for others: Don't lend anybody (relatives included) money without a signed IOU or promissory note.

Don't put off writing thank-you notes, letters of sympathy, etc. because you don't know what to say. Send a check or money order for $2.89 ($3.39 in Canada) to: Dear Abby, Letter Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054. (Postage is included.)

By Bernice Bede Osol

Your Birthday
 Sept. 28, 1988

The year ahead could be one of exceptional promise, especially in areas where you are able to trade upon your knowledge and experience. Be appreciative of what you have to offer.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Something very prophetic could be in the offing. Although there will be others involved, you should be the one who will reap the greatest benefits. Libra, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $1 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Others will be busy working on your behalf in this cycle. However, you may be left in the dark about what's transpiring until the timing is right.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Two important allies will prove their worth over the next few weeks. Their actions will provide you with new insights into the value of friendships.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) The aspects indicate there will be a major change that will affect your status and reputation. This could come about in a surprising way.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Things you conceive today should be given priority and be vigorously pursued. Your ideas have merit and could result in something significant.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) If your desires are in harmony with those of your mate, what you both want could be rather easily attained. Think and act as one.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Someone who has been reluctant to accept your policies and suggestions will now see merit in what you offer and could become a staunch supporter.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Something promising could develop today where your career is concerned. It's an opportunity that can enhance your status and help increase earnings.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Be alert for a speculation today that will appear to be earmarked for you. However, at first glance, it might look like a foolish gamble.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) A situation that has caused apprehension looks like it can be successfully concluded today. It could pave the way for something of greater promise.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) An unexpected influence could eclipse your plans positively today. It should give you reason to be more hopeful.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) A new dawn is about to break on your financial horizons today. Money could begin to loosen up through previously untapped sources.

Car repair problems

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — If getting your imported car fixed is a hassle now, just wait: it could get worse.

Demand for imported car repair service may be growing too fast for traditional establishments to keep up, according to John Ayers of Allied Aftermarket Division, which markets auto products.

Since the 1970s, import car sales have increased dramatically. As many of these cars enter their "prime repair age," they need more service. The result: demand for foreign car service is growing five times as fast as for domestic cars.

coordinators of "Image" for women, gave a slide presentation of the program. Begun three years ago, the program is designed for women going back to college.

Some 45 women of all ages and economic groups enroll in the class each semester. The main emphasis of the program is preparing women for college-level classes and getting a more positive image for themselves. A federal grant pays tuition and child care.

Some use the program to obtain their G.E.D. diploma, also.

Club president Lavada Cates presided at the business session and new yearbooks were given to members.

Plans were discussed for the upcoming Blue Denim Ball set for Nov. 26 at the National Guard Armory.

A cookout is planned Oct. 8 at the home of Beverly Greene.

The Oct. 11 club meeting will be held at the Diamond M Museum with Greene and Maria Patterson as hostesses. Gloria Romo is program chairman for the session.

Local resident marks ninety-seven years

Maggie Boone, lifelong resident of Scurry County, celebrated her 97th birthday Sept. 15. She and her sister, Evelyn, welcomed friends throughout the afternoon.

Born Sept. 15, 1891, Maggie and her seven brothers and sisters were reared at Camp Springs where their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Boone, ranched and farmed.

As the oldest child with a sick mother, Maggie took on many household tasks. While the rest of the children went to college, Maggie stayed and took care of the home and her parents.

She remembers doing most of the laundry on the wash board. "I cooked a lot, washed a lot, cleaned a lot," Maggie stated. "I wouldn't have been happy if I hadn't had something to do, because I was born to work. So I was happy, and that took care of most of everything, you know. I've enjoyed my life — most all the time. Some people don't, but I did. Some parts weren't as good as others, but I fared alright even if I was the oldest."

"I enjoyed taking care of my brothers and sisters, because nobody else would. I bossed a little too much, I know, but if I hadn't done something like that I don't know how we would have gotten along."

Maggie said she didn't really know whether she was a good cook, but "all seven were healthy," she said. "Mama's mother was living during all that time, and I had a lot of help. There were a lot of cousins who were a lot of help."

Evelyn was born in a dugout. "We had a large home, but one cold, stormy night, we went to the dugout for protection. While we were down there, Evelyn was born."

Evelyn said, "I was born on a stormy night and I've been stormy all my life. They didn't give me a name, which was the worst part about it."

Maggie commented, "Papa had a cousin named Sally, and he liked the name. Mama didn't want to name her Sally, so they just went along for the longest without giving her a name, but they finally called her Sally. She added the name Evelyn herself after grandmother told her she could add another name if she wanted to. She thought she was left out because all the rest of us had two names."

led away from the king of spades. Would you, for instance, rush to lead away from the spade king when declarer had shown strength?

South decided the opening leader would not make such an aggressive lead, so he played low from dummy and won East's jack with the ace. Next followed three rounds of trump and three rounds of clubs.

Now South led his spade to the queen and waited to see if his play at trick one was correct. It was. East won the king as declarer had hoped. This left East endplayed. A diamond lead would solve declarer's problem in that suit, and a spade lead would provide a sluff and a ruff.

Note that South's play was necessary. If he plays the queen at trick one, East covers. Then when South leads his second spade, West can win and the diamond switch from his side will be fatal.

Johnson stripped of medal after tests show steroid use

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Heroes fall, but none so fast and so hard as Ben Johnson, who fled the Olympics "in a complete state of shock," stripped of his gold for cheating with drugs in the Games' most stunning scandal ever.

Johnson's positive test for steroids didn't surprise everyone — drug abuse is rampant in the sports world — but it shook athletes, officials and fans from the Olympic Village to Canada.

It led a group of about 100 athletes from 38 countries to issue a declaration urging unannounced random drug testing in training and competition, stiff penalties for guilty athletes, coaches and officials, and more education to prevent doping violations.

It also left Carl Lewis with Johnson's gold from the tainted 100-meter race, wiped out Johnson's world record time of 9.79 seconds, and brought Great Britain's Linford Christie a silver and American Calvin Smith a bronze.

Virtually missed were the tears of joy Greg Louganis shed after his dramatic one-point triumph over a Chinese teen-ager for his second gold, making him the first man to win springboard and platform diving in back-to-back Games.

Louganis saved his best for last. He knew he needed an exceptional effort to overtake 14-year-old Xiong Ni, and he came through on the final platform dive — a reverse $3\frac{1}{2}$ somersault in the tucked position, the toughest in the sport.

"That was probably the biggest dive of his career, the most pressure, the most difficult," U.S. coach Ron O'Brien said. "To hit it like that, under those circumstances certainly proved that he was a champion."

Jesus Mena of Mexico was the surprise bronze medalist.

"I think this is the closest (finish) I've been in, in a major international competition," Louganis said.

Louganis needed 85.57 points on the last attempt to overtake Xiong, who pushed the competition to the limit with an outstanding 82.56 on the next to last dive of the day. Louganis received 86.70 points, then rushed into O'Brien's tight embrace and burst into tears.

Wild finishes haven't roused Cowboy fans yet

IRVING, Texas (AP) — Fans of the Dallas Cowboys are staying away in droves although coach Tom Landry's team has played four wild games that have been decided late in the fourth period.

Only 39,702 fans watched the Cowboys' 26-20 victory over the Atlanta Falcons on Sunday, second lowest crowd in Texas Stadium history. Dallas drew 36,788 fans in its 1987 season finale.

The Cowboys had only 55,586 fans for their season opener against the New York Giants two weeks ago.

"It's pitiful," said Dallas cornerback Everson Walls. "It's just a shame."

Walls added: "We're playing exciting football. Real football fans realize this team is not lost. Our cause is still alive."

Defensive tackle Danny Noonan, who returned an interception for a touchdown and got a sack for a safety against the Falcons, said, "The fans will be back if we keep winning."

Club president Tex Schramm doesn't blame the fans because of the way the Cowboys have played in the last two years.

"We haven't been that interesting, and it's our responsibility to get the fans back," Schramm said.

The Cowboys sold 42,954 tickets for the game, leaving them with about 20,000 empty seats, costing the club about $500,000.

Wide receiver Michael Irvin said, "We just have to earn the fans' respect. Once we get that, they will be back. I think we went a long way toward doing that against the Falcons."

Quarterback Steve Pelluer turned the boos to cheers with a 29-yard touchdown pass to Ray Alexander with 1:48 to play to even Dallas' record at 2-2.

Pelluer had been heavily booed earlier in the game when he threw up an interception. He had lost games against Pittsburgh and the New York Giants with damaging interceptions in the last two minutes.

"I hate to see these games keep coming down to the last two minutes because it puts a lot of pressure on Pelluer," offensive guard Crawford Ker said.

Landry said the victory should make Pelluer, the master of the two-minute disaster, more relaxed.

Raiders rally from 24 back to beat Denver in overtime

DENVER (AP) — Leave it to Al Davis to paraphrase himself and the "just win, baby," philosophy that has been the trademark of the Oakland and Los Angeles Raiders for 25 years.

In fact, after quarterback Jay Schroeder, making his first start for the Raiders, led them back Monday night from a 24-point halftime deficit to send the game into overtime tied at 27-27, Davis scowled when he was congratulated on the comeback.

"The idea," he snarled, "is to win."

Win the Raiders did — tying the game with four seconds left on Matt Bahr's 44-yard field goal, then winning 30-27 on Bahr's 35-yarder with 3:26 left in overtime.

In an unlikely game, the winning kick was set up by the unlikeliest of players — Zeph Lee, a Largely ignored, too, were the U.S. women's basketball team's 102-88 victory over the Soviet Union that sent the Americans into a gold medal game against Yugoslavia, and boxing quarterfinal victories that assured at least bronzes to Americans Andrew Maynard, Michael Carbajal and Romallis Ellis.

Teammate Todd Foster, however, lost his 139-pound quarterfinal bout, ending U.S. hopes of repeating its nine gold medal performance of the 1984 Olympics.

Eight American fighters remain in the boxing competition, and three are in the semifinals. The other five fight Wednesday, with the winners advancing to the semis.

Toronto holds off Red Sox

by The Associated Press
The Boston Red Sox' magic number is still three because the Toronto Blue Jays still have their number.

"There isn't much to say," Red Sox manager Joe Morgan said after another loss to the Blue Jays, an 11-1 decision at Fenway Park on Monday night. "We didn't hit, we didn't field, we didn't pitch all that well. It's a good game to get out of the way in a hurry."

That marked Boston's ninth loss in 11 games to Toronto this season. The Red Sox have yet to beat the Blue Jays at home in five games.

"We saw a (pennant) celebration in Detroit last year, we saw it here in 1986, and we don't want to see another one in 1988," the Blue Jays' Jesse Barfield said. "Everytime they turn on the highlight film they show the team clinching against you. Hopefully, we can go out and win tomorrow and Wednesday, too."

The loss cut the Red Sox' American League East lead to 3 1/2 games over the second-place Detroit Tigers, 6-3 winners over the Cleveland Indians, and 4 1/2 games over the New York Yankees and Milwaukee Brewers. With their magic number stuck on three, the Red Sox have six games to go, the Tigers and Brewers have five games and the Yankees have seven remaining.

In other games, it was New York 5, Baltimore 4; Texas 5, Chicago 3, and Kansas City 5, Seattle 0.

Jeff Musselman led the Toronto victory by pitching seven-hit ball over seven innings.

Musselman, 6-5, outdueling converted reliever Wes Gardner, 8-6.

Nelson Liriano knocked in three runs and Rob Ducey collected four hits and an RBI to lead the 17-hit Toronto attack.

Rangers 5, White Sox 3

Steve Buechele and Jerry Browne hit consecutive RBI doubles in a three-run ninth inning to pace Texas over Chicago.

With the help of Carlton Fisk's 18th home run, the White Sox led 2-0 after seven innings. But the Rangers tied it with two runs in the eighth and then won it with three in the ninth on the RBI doubles by Buechel and Browne and an RBI single by Steve Rosenberg.

Texas starter Bobby Witt, 8-10, allowed seven hits, struck out seven and walked two in completing his 13th game and 12th in his last 15 starts.

Dodgers cop NL West title

by The Associated Press

The Los Angeles Dodgers, fully wiping out the memories of a disastrous 1987 season, got a clutch RBI single by Mickey Hatcher in the eighth inning and beat the San Diego Padres 3-2 Monday night to clinch their fourth National League West title in eight years.

"I've never been in the playoffs, I've never been in the World Series. I don't know what it's like," said Hatcher, signed by the Dodgers last year after the Twins released him before they went on to win the World Series.

"I've seen a lot of my friends and good people have the opportunity to go there, but all I was able to do was watch them on TV. Now I got the opportunity to celebrate and I'm going to enjoy it."

Manager Tom Lasorda, who has won six NL West titles and three pennants since taking over the team in 1977, never doubted the Dodgers would bounce back this season.

"This is what we kept thinking about," Lasorda said. "This is what we felt we were capable of doing. Here it is, right here."

Elsewhere, it was St. Louis 7, Pittsburgh 1; Montreal 3, Chicago 2; New York 10, Philadelphia 4, and Cincinnati 5, San Francisco 2.

The Dodgers must now take on the dreaded New York Mets, the NL East Champions, who beat Los Angeles 10 out of 11 times this season and were 6-0 at Dodger Stadium.

Relief ace Jay Howell, another key acquisition, got Marvell Wynne on a pop fly to end the game. Wynne worked the count to 3-2 and fouled off four pitches before lofting an easy fly to second baseman Steve Sax.

Shortstop Roger Peckinpah of the Washington Senators made eight errors in the 1925 World Series against Pittsburgh. It set a record for a seven-game series.

Defendant gets 20 year term in gang rape

SAN DIEGO, Texas (AP) — A jury early today set 20 years in prison as punishment for a man convicted in the alleged gang rape of a woman who claimed she was attacked by as many as 23 men.

Jurors deliberated about 20 minutes before returning shortly after 7 a.m. with a recommendation that Orlando Garza, 24, be given the maximum prison term for his part as the alleged ringleader. He had faced a possible fine of up to $10,000 but there was no mention of the fine when the jury's decision was announced.

There was little reaction from the defendant after the decision was read. He declined comment after the court session ended and as he left the Duval County Courthouse with his lawyers.

Earlier, there had been little reaction in the half-filled courtroom when the guilty verdict was returned about 4:15 a.m. after about two hours of jury deliberations.

Garza was the first of the defendants to stand trial in the case. He was accused of sexually assaulting the 19-year-old woman first on the night of March 26-27.

She reported that as many as 23 men raped her that night after she was forced to go to a ranch where illegal cockfights were being held north of the South Texas town of about 5,000.

Garza, she said, was one of the men who forced her into a car before raping and sodomizing her on the hood of a car at the ranch before other men began taking turns with her, sometimes two at a time.

A woman who had counseled the victim at Crisis Services of Corpus Christi said she telephoned the victim, who has moved away from the South Texas town, to tell her about the jury's verdict.

"She's happy," said counselor Barbara Jackson. "She said, 'Thank the Lord.'"

District Judge Ricardo Garcia kept the jury late because he said he wanted the panel reach a verdict before he leaves for a judicial conference in Fort Worth later today.

Jurors returned to the courtroom a short time after the verdict to hear a plea for probation from Garza.

Assistant District Attorney Rodolfo Gutierrez asked jurors to give Garza the maximum sentence. He told jurors that Garza had previously been given probation for two misdemeanor convictions and he had problems fulfilling the terms of the probation.

Gutierrez told a reporter he was asking for the maximum because, "He deserves it."

The prosecutor also said he believes that some of the other defendants might want to plea bargain for shorter prison terms if jurors sentence Garza to prison. The next trial of a defendant in the case is scheduled for next month.

Final arguments began shortly before midnight before a courtroom packed with more than 150 spectators. But the crowd began leaving after deliberations got under way and only about half of the spectators were on hand when jurors filed back into the courtroom shortly after 4:15 a.m.

After listening to the plea for probation and Gutierrez' request for maximum punishment, jurors began deliberating punishment at 6:45 a.m.

"To me, it's devastating that a young woman placed herself in a situation where something just extraordinary may have happened," defense attorney Albert Pena said in his final argument to the six-man, six-woman jury in the 229th District Court in Duval County.

"She went out there to that cockfight because she wanted to be with this man here," co-defense counsel Nago Alaniz said, referring to Garza.

Alaniz quoted a Spanish saying "pueblo chico, infierno grande" (small community, big hell), meaning "You can't keep skeletons in the closet in small communities," he said of the woman's character.

The defense attorney said she made up the kidnapping and gang-rape story to protect her reputation and keep her husband from finding out about her illicit sexual activity with Garza, who claimed he had been in an affair with the woman since January.

Garza on Monday said the woman insisted on having sex with him that night inside the car and later on the hood of the car, and that she refused to leave the ranch when he tried to take her home.

Alaniz said his client was the victim of a "circle of fire" created by the indictments of 9 other men in the case.

All 10 have pleaded innocent to charges ranging from kidnapping to sexual assault.

Gutierrez responded in his final argument that, "If I choose to get close to the fire, I'm not going to blame somebody else if I get burned, especially if I'm the one that set the fire."

Garza, he added, "was the head dog. He was the one who brought the meat."

Gutierrez said he was pleased with the verdict.

"Hopefully a lot of the bad things that were said about Duval County will be re-thought or retracted," Gutierrez said.

Residents of the South Texas county have long been subjected to bad publicity. For decades, the publicity centered around widespread political corruption and official misconduct in the county's government.

Publicity about the political corruption and official misconduct had died down several years ago, but reports of the alleged gang rape propelled Duval County back into the headlines, a position not enjoyed by residents of the close-knit community.

Assistant District Attorney Rocky Carrillo told the jury, "You all will have to determine if we have to reside in our county with the likes of Orlando Garza."

The week-long trial featured testimony by the alleged victim, her husband and a 12-year-old boy present at the cockfight, who said his family has moved to another city to escape harassment since he told authorities he saw the alleged gang rape.

"He was the only one who was man enough to come up here and tell you the truth," Gutierrez said of the boy while addressing the jury early today.

Garza also faces an aggravated kidnapping trial in the case.

Is this a cardiac or hernia problem?

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Eleven years ago I had a surgical repair of a non-functioning cardiac sphincter. I've been having similar symptoms recently. An endoscopy showed that my gastro-esophageal junction is wide open. I have pain much of the time and cough a lot, despite watching my diet and elevating my bed. Three doctors give me different answers. I'm confused as to whether I'm dealing with a cardiac or a hernia problem.

DEAR READER: With all the "cardiac" words wandering about, I can see how you could be easily confused by what the doctors are telling you. Your problem is in your upper intestinal tract, not your heart.

The cardiac sphincter is another term for the ring of muscle in the lower esophagus that prevents backwash of stomach acid. This sphincter, at the gastro-esophageal junction, plays an important role in discouraging acidic stomach contents from refluxing up into the sensitive and unprotected esophagus. The reflux is the hallmark of hiatal hernia, the general condition of which your ailment is a part. Refluxing gastric acid causes heartburn, inflammation of the esophagus, water brash (a feeling of discomfort in the upper chest) and cough; in short, an entirely unpleasant sensation, as you have discovered.

Reflux can often be controlled by the measures you mention: small, frequent meals and elevation of the head of the bed. Patients are often aided by taking antacids and medicine to retard the production of gastric acid. In some people, an incompetent (wide open) sphincter can be surgically repaired. However, in your case, the procedure was evidently unsuccessful.

I suggest that you seek a consultation with a gastroenterologist. This specialist can perform certain diagnostic tests and then advise you what to do. For instance, if medical management does not relieve your symptoms, you might consider re-operation to tighten the sphincter. For now, you need the guidance of an intestinal specialist. For more information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Hiatal Hernia." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1 and their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

Next shuttle flight...

New launch team takes over liftoff preparations

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Discovery's astronauts scheduled jet training flights today and kept an eye on the weather as a new team of engineers, born of the Challenger disaster, was taking over key decisions leading to Thursday's launch.

The leader of the 21-member team, veteran astronaut Robert Crippen, has sole authority to approve or stop a launch effort.

As the experts prepared to meet for the first time, the countdown proceeded without a snag toward the first shuttle launch in 32 months.

The five astronauts assigned to the mission were scheduled for physical examinations, countdown progress briefings and training flights.

The crew flew T-38 jets here Monday from their training base in Houston. Commander Frederick H. Hauck told reporters, "I tell you we're excited; we cannot wait to do this, and we are ready."

Their departure from a refueling stop in Tampa was delayed about 45 minutes because of lightning warnings at the Kennedy Space Center, a reminder of the unreliable weather that's normal along the central Florida coast.

Hauck said that based on the troublesome weather history at the Cape, "there is a 60 percent chance" of a launch on schedule.

NASA's rules, tightened since Challenger, forbid launching when there is lightning or rain within 10 miles of the pad.

Air Force forecasters said the outlook was favorable for the launch time of 9:59 a.m. Thursday. The forecast was for scattered and broken clouds, a wind of 10-15 knots from the southeast, temperatures of 85 degrees and widely scattered showers. Winds over 17 knots from the south or 24 knots from any direction would automatically scrub the liftoff.

One reason Crippen's team of NASA and shuttle contractor experts was established was a breakdown in communications that prevented the cold weather concerns of some engineers from reaching those who made the decision to launch Challenger on its ill-fated mission.

The 36-degree temperature was cited as contributing to the failure of the booster rocket joint blamed for the explosion that destroyed the shuttle and killed its crew of seven.

Crippen's team planned to closely monitor the countdown, which started Monday, and to make go-no-go decisions for important milestones such as filling Discovery's fuel tanks.

When the countdown reaches the nine-minute mark on launch day, the clock will be stopped automatically and will be held there for 10 minutes while Crippen polls his team and decides whether to give the final go-ahead for liftoff.

The group will be in a glass-enclosed corner of the launch control center, in constant contact with launch director Bob Sieck and with managers of all NASA field centers involved with the shuttle.

If there is anyone in the system with a concern, those thoughts will be relayed to Crippen through an elaborate communications setup.

Demo loss on wage bill means no hike in minimum pay figures

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some 4.7 million Americans will have to wait at least another year for the first raise in the $3.35-an-hour minimum wage since 1981 as Senate Democrats concede a major election-year legislative defeat to a Republican filibuster.

Refusing to bow to GOP demands for a broad-based subminimum floor under the 50-year-old minimum wage, Democratic leaders on Monday gave up all hope of raising the pay base by 40 cents to $3.75 an hour in January.

"There is no point in our continuing to pound on their door," Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., said on the Senate floor. "I'm now conceding that the Republican filibuster was successful."

Even before Monday's action, the bill faced an uncertain fate in the House, where there was intense opposition from some southern and midwestern Democrats.

"I think it's a pretty good result," said Senate Republican leader Bob Dole of Kansas. "This bill couldn't pass the House. It wasn't going to pass the Senate unless it was modified."

The Senate had been stymied for more than a week by parliamentary maneuvering on both sides as the two presidential candidates, Republican George Bush and Democrat Michael Dukakis, watched from the sidelines.

Lacking the 51 votes to effectively couple an increase with their desire for a 90-day, 80 percent subminimum for newly hired workers, Republicans refused to allow any votes on the bill itself or amendments.

Democrats, meanwhile, lacked the 60 votes necessary to limit the debate and shut off the filibuster despite the defection of eight GOP senators to their cause last Friday.

Each side sought to blame the other, with Democrats maintaining that Bush could have turned the vote around with a few phone calls to Republican lawmakers.

Bush three weeks ago had said he could support a modest increase — never specifying how much — but only if it was coupled with the creation of a broad subminimum "training" wage.

"Perhaps the word from the vice president's campaign has not gotten through to our friends on the other side," Byrd said. "Perhaps it has gotten through. Either way the results are evident. Some 15 million workers are the loser."

The bill, sponsored by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., would have raised the minimum wage in three annual 40-cent-a-hour increases to $4.55 by 1991, directly benefiting some 15 million workers now paid less than that, according to Kennedy.

Republicans blamed Kennedy's refusal to compromise on a lower figure, such as the $4.25 an hour suggested once by Dole or $4 an hour as urged by Bush's running mate, Sen. Dan Quayle, R-Ind.

But they said Kennedy's refusal to compromise on the so-called training wage, or the "youth training wage" as Quayle called it, overshadowed everything else.

"The real reason this is being pulled down is that the senator from Massachusetts knows we

"Under the new system," Crippen said, "the lines of communications will be open to anyone, anywhere in the system."

Before landing here Monday, Hauck and his crew took their T-38 jets in a turn around Discovery, perched on Launch Pad 39B on the Atlantic coast.

The other crew members are pilot Richard O. Covey and mission specialists John M. Lounge, George D. Nelson and David Hilmer.

Discovery's flight, the first since Challenger, is set for four days, during which the crew will release a $100 million communications satellite, conduct 11 experiments and check out modifications made to the shuttle since the accident.

were on the very edge of passing the training wage," said Sen. Orrin Hatch of Utah, the leader of the Republican opposition.

"The fact is that the international trade union movement in this country will not accept a training wage," Hatch said. "They consider the minimum wage as their single idea."

Hatch had introduced an amendment calling for the 80 percent subminimum for the first 90 days a new employee is on a company's payroll, saying it would "give a chance to those unskilled, undereducated youths who cannot get into the system any other way."

To prevent a vote on the amendment, Kennedy immediately introduced a substitute that would slightly expand a currently allowed but little-used $2.85 subminimum for full-time students working less than 20 hours a week.

Reagan pledges continuing U.S. Gulf presence

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — President Reagan is telling leaders of Persian Gulf states that the U.S. decision to stop escorting individual ships represents "just a slight difference" in the Navy's waterway policing operation.

Posing for pictures with Sheikh Jaber Al-Almed Al-Sabah, the amir of Kuwait, Reagan said, "We're not lessening our protection there at all."

On a busy day in which the president made his swan-song visit to the United Nations, Reagan also heard an upbeat assessment of Middle East peace prospects and voiced new hope that American hostages in Lebanon might be set free.

But Monday's meetings were dominated by talk of the administration's decision to abandon the policy of escorting U.S.-flagged ships traveling the dangerous Persian Gulf oil shipping lanes.

"We didn't stop. This is just a slight difference," Reagan said.

FILMETER What's new in movies and video Robert DiMatteo

By Robert DiMatteo

In Movie Theaters

RUNNING ON EMPTY (PG-13) Sidney Lumet is a meat-and-potatoes filmmaker. Others may bring a dazzling signature style to their work; Lumet's best films ("Prince of the City," "Serpico," "Dog Day Afternoon") tell powerful stories with a conviction that overrides any stylistic shortcomings.

Working from a thoughtful script by Naomi Foner, Lumet presents a generational father-son conflict in this study of '60s-style radicalism forced to stay underground in the '80s. Its protagonists are a family of four perpetually on the lam: The father (Judd Hirsch) and mother (Christine Lahti) made the FBI's 10 Most Wanted List 15 years earlier for taking part in the bombing of a government-sponsored napalm factory. Determined to keep the family together, the parents move from place to place with their two sons, constantly changing identities to elude the authorities.

Now the older son, Danny (River Phoenix), wants to go to Juilliard to study piano. To his dad, this is heresy: It will break up the family and initiate Danny into the elitist bourgeois culture that the family has always opposed.

True to erratic form, Lumet lets some scenes drag and others misfire. And he fails to convince us that Danny's gifts as a pianist are really as prodigious as others say. Yet the movie resonates. A post-birthday-dinner scene of the family dancing to James Taylor's "Fire and Rain" is more tonic and touching in a '60s-meets-'80s way than it has any right to be.

Lumet handles the younger members of the cast with special subtlety. As the precocious daughter of Danny's music teacher, and Danny's subsequent girlfriend, Martha Plumpton is a fetching blend of flirt and rebel. River Phoenix continues to show that he is the most instinctual of young actors. Meanwhile, Lahti shines in an achingly poignant scene where she is reunited with her estranged father over lunch in a posh Manhattan restaurant. GRADE: ★★★

MOON-OVER-PARADOR (PG-13) Paul Mazursky may be our most charming movie satirist — witness "Bob & Carol & Ted & Alice" and "Down and Out in Beverly Hills." But Mazursky has had his follies, like "Tempest," and like this comedy about role-playing — a subject he previously handled with quiet wit in "Next Stop, Greenwich Village."

Watching this fanciful portrait of a struggling, ambitious New York actor (Richard Dreyfuss) who fulfills himself when he is hired to impersonate a recently deceased Latin American dictator, one is never in doubt that the picture is the product of talent. Yet the comedy doesn't blossom, and the actors seem stranded on the screen — their hard work looks suspiciously like mugging.

Like "Tempest," the movie has a male-menopausal air about it that is exclusively Mazursky's. It's there in the "Playboy"-ogling manner in which Sonia Braga is presented. Braga plays the goddesslike mistress of the dead dictator, who becomes Dreyfuss-the-fake-dictator's mistress too. She's luscious — that's the extent of the part. In a dual role reminiscent of Chaplin's in "The Great Dictator," Dreyfuss acts up a storm, but the script just doesn't give him enough to work with.

Raul Julia hams it up as the dictator's right-hand fascist, and Mazursky himself appears in drag as the dictator's mother. Despite the effort, much of this comedy is flat and strained. GRADE: ★★

CINDERELLA (G) Walt Disney, $26.99. The price is right for this enchanting, cornball 1950 animated feature for the whole family. There are cute songs (like "Bibbidi Bobbidi Boo"), twittering birds and scampering mice, lovely put-upon Cinderella, and, of course, that gleaming glass slipper. GRADE: ★★★½

FRANTIC (R) Warner, $89.95. Director Roman Polanski takes the Hitchcockian tactic of structuring a narrative around an ordinary couple thrust into an extraordinary situation in an exotic city. He centers on the trauma of an American surgeon (Harrison Ford) whose wife (Betty Buckley) disappears soon after the couple checks into a Parisian hotel. The result is an atmospheric, yet overdeliberate, movie. GRADE: ★★½ (Film grading: ★★★★★ — excellent, ★★★ — good, ★★ — fair, ★ — poor)
