

Clements says school ruling No. 1 priority

By DONNY BROWN
SDN Managing Editor
The names of George Bush and Harley Clark came up often Wednesday during an interview with Texas Gov. Bill Clements—although the qualities attributed to both varied in the extreme. Clements campaigned in Snyder for almost two hours, and he used the opportunity to praise and support presidential candidate Bush and to lambaste Clark, the Austin district judge whose ruling in the case Edgewood vs. Kirby now threatens how Texas allocates funds to its 1,100 school districts. Clements' message regarding Bush was to the point. That Republicans should not be "lulled into a false sense of security" based upon polls which show their candidate far ahead of Democratic nominee Michael Dukakis. "The polls always narrow as it gets closer to the election," Clements told the SDN. "And when you're ahead, it's easy to feel a sense of complacency." His message later to a crowd of some 60 individuals meeting at the local GOP headquarters was to turn out Nov. 8 to help those candidates "at the bottom of the ballot"—urging the so-called "shirttail effect" that would occur with a sweeping Republican victory in the presidential race. Regarding Clark and his school district ruling, Clements said finding a remedy to this will be far and away the Number 1 priority of the upcoming session of Texas' elected leaders.

"The legislature will be in session until next Christmas until we get that solved," he told the SDN. See CLEMENTS, page 11

Oil derrick plunges into water, mud

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Part of an oil rig sank into quicksand-type soil as four crewmen working at the well scurried for safety after it blew out. Located about 40 miles southeast of Lubbock, the well blew out Wednesday as it was being drilled and the rig struck a pocket of air in the shallow Yates formation, officials said. It later settled quickly to an apparently stable foundation estimated to be 35 to 65 feet below the surface. None of the crewmen working on the derrick were injured, and they said the only casualties were four Rolex watches left on a part of the rig now underground. Crewmen abandoned the rig just before the derrick floor, which normally is some 15 feet above ground, plunged to a depth of at least 20 feet in mud and water. "It fell quick. It set down in about 1 1/2 minutes," crewman Mickey Norris said. "I was running." Norris said he and other crew members fled the derrick as the rig-floor steps were folding up behind them. He said the workers encountered the pocket of air at 7 p.m. Tuesday. The rig started falling into the mire early Wednesday.

The well called the No. 1 Irish, was being drilled by Wes-Tex Drilling Co. of Abilene for Siete Petroleum Corp. of Midland. John Howerton, assistant drilling superintendent at Wes-Tex, said 60 feet of the Lee C. Moore double-derrick rig began sinking about 2 a.m. Wednesday. Howerton said he doesn't know how the crewmen managed to escape when the rig sank. "Only God knows," he said.

The well was targeted to the Canyon reef formation at 7,300 feet near a fork of the Brazos River in Kent County. Howerton said he doesn't know if the rig is salvageable, or if it will be left in the hole. A replacement rig is estimated to cost about $200,000. Wes-Tex officials said they are surveying the damage and are in contact with the Texas Railroad Commission.

Crowd views air show

The general contractor for the Winston Field airport renovation project told an estimated 250 people at a Wednesday air show at the field that his company put more than $97,000 into Snyder's economy during the project. Bob Price of Price Construction in Big Spring said during a 2 p.m. ceremony that living expenses, materials purchased locally, salaries to eight Snyder men who were employed during the job and numerous other expenditures resulted in almost $100,000 being spent here. Price had the expenditures tabulated in a long list of categories. Other speakers included area Federal Aviation Administration head Gerald Musick of Fort Worth, who County Judge Bobby Goodwin said was an instrumental figure in getting two federal grants, for $1.1 million and, last January, $50,000, approved to finance the project. Musick said it was "one of the See AIR SHOW, page 11

Cogdell to mull contract

Details of what might ultimately prove to be incentive offers to attract an internist and general surgeon to the Cogdell Memorial Hospital medical staff will be discussed Thursday during the regular October session of the hospital board. The meeting will begin with the monthly meal at 6:30 p.m. Administrator Tom Hochwalt says he will seek authorization to "negotiate contracts" with potential candidates for the two doctor's positions sought here. On Oct. 4, the board voted to employ the Houston firm of Whitaker, Fellows and Associates for two physician search. See COGDELL, page 11

The feller on Deep Creek says, "When things go wrong, he who smiles thought of someone else to blame it on." Drew Scott, son of Doyle and Nancy Scott, is stationed in the army at Ft. Eustis, Va. Recently he mailed to his parents in Snyder a clipping from the base newspaper. With absentee voting underway, and Nov. 8 election day just around the corner, Mrs. Scott said the article made them stop and think about the importance of a single vote. It read: "Two hundred years ago, the U.S. was in a lot of trouble and it almost didn't work out. Here was the situation: The colonists had fought and won the war for their independence which left the newly free Americans exhausted and bankrupt. "Congress had become a debating society that couldn't enforce its own laws. It couldn't raise money to run the government or protect the country from the Spanish, English and French who were thinking of stealing pieces. No president or national court system existed, and the states were squabbling among themselves. "A group of national leaders met in Philadelphia in May 1787 to create a new government that would save what had been won at the cost of many lives... "As important as the convention was, the rivalry and suspicion between big states and small states was so fierce that many delegates almost decided their cause was hopeless and to dissolve the convention. Had this happened, there probably would not have been a Constitution nor a United States. "On July 6, 1787, a compromise was suggested and a vote was taken. The compromise passed and the Constitution and the U.S. became a reality. "That great compromise made in Independence Hall 201 years ago passed by one vote. One vote is all that stood between the death and the birth of this country. "Keep that in mind the next time you think one vote doesn't matter." Well said

Artist exhibit tonight

A reception is planned Thursday from 7:30 until 8 p.m. for Vanita Smithey, whose exhibit of watercolor paintings will open at the Western Texas College Fine Arts Gallery in the lobby area of the Fine Arts Theatre. Smithey, a resident of Missouri City, is a former WTC student. Following the reception Thursday, she plans a demonstration of watercolor techniques from 8 until 9 p.m. in the Fine Arts Theatre. Manager given performance award

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Energy gave a manager of the Savannah River Plant $59,750 in awards for excellence despite continuing problems that have stopped the manufacture of nuclear weapons material there, according to government documents.

The manager, Robert Morgan, who retired early this year, is one of many individuals and organizations that received cash bonuses totaling millions of dollars despite a steady decline in the safety of the Savannah River nuclear weapons production complex run by the Energy Department for the Pentagon.

A department spokesman, Will Callicott, said he was not aware of any plans to review the system of awards.

Morgan received the bonuses in 1981-1987 despite growing safety problems which finally forced the department this year to close down all three nuclear reactors at Savannah River, according to Energy Department documents and Capitol Hill testimony. The three reactors went into operation in the early 1950's at the plant, in Aiken, S.C.

According to an Oct. 26, 1983 letter from Rep. John Dingell, chairman of the House subcommittee on oversight and investigations, the following individuals are among the many who received cash awards:

—Herman Roser, then assistant secretary, received $36,917 in bonuses 1980-83, although according to Dingell he "killed the independent assessment program which had been severely critical of his security program" when he ran the department's regional headquarters in Albuquerque, N.M.

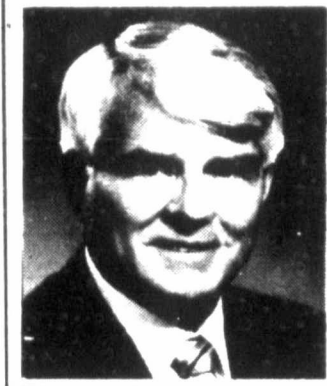

—Troy Wade, then deputy assistant secretary, was awarded $32,713 in 1980-83, although according to Dingell he backed Roser in closing the independent assessment office.

—James Culpepper, then deputy assistant secretary, received $21,112 in awards and bonuses in 1980-83, although according to Dingell he was in charge of developing a report on safeguards that the congressional General Accounting Office later described as "misleading."

—Ralph Cradle, then the Director of the Office of Safeguards and Security, received awards totaling $14,943 1982-83, despite making what Dingell called "not true" statements about safeguards at department facilities.

The department spokesman, Callicott, said he could not discuss the bonus program in detail, and referred a reporter to comments made by Energy Secretary John S. Herrington in an interview published Wednesday by The New York Times, which detailed other awards made to individuals and contractors.

Officials are mum on the National Guard

MARFA, Texas (AP) — Officials aren't saying much about the recent, simultaneous presence of three sophisticated U.S. Customs aircraft and a Texas Army National Guard unit in this quiet town.

The National Guard set up a camouflage tent inside a fenced-in compound behind the U.S. Border Patrol sector headquarters and left Monday morning after a week of secret communications exercises, officials said.

While the National Guard was in Marfa, U.S. Customs stationed a Blackhawk helicopter, a twin-engine Cessna Citation II jet and a single-propeller Ayres Thrush 600 at the town's municipal airport. Such aircraft are usually kept at hangars in El Paso, San Angelo and San Antonio, even when they are sent on patrols in the Big Bend area south of Marfa, a Customs official said.

The presence of the National Guard and the contingent of Customs aircraft coincided with the fall marijuana harvest season in Mexico, and come just a month before the deployment of a radar balloon designed to detect drug smugglers flying and driving across the border.

But officials would not say whether the National Guard and Customs were working together, or whether either's presence had anything to do with the harvest season or December's deployment of the radar balloon above Marfa.

The National Guard unit's mission was so secret that the assistant chief of staff of the Texas Guard said he was kept uninformed. Charles Conroy, spokesman for U.S. Customs in Texas, said he knew of no special operations based in Marfa.

Lt. Col. Dwain James, assistant chief of staff of the Texas Army National Guard, said Tuesday by phone from Austin that he was told only that the guard unit was in Marfa to perform a classified communications exercise.

New Mate Will Be Old News After Cousin Spreads Word

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1988 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I am a 27-year-old woman. Five years ago I married and moved across the country. I haven't been in touch with most of my relatives since then. A lot has happened in the last five years. I'm now divorced and I'm planning to marry again next month.

My question: Is there a proper way to spread the news about my upcoming wedding to my relatives? I was never very close to these people, but I thought I'd just bring them up to date on my marital status. I don't want to send them wedding announcements because it might look like I'm soliciting gifts. I considered sending handwritten notes, but then again, it might look like I'm asking for a wedding gift.

Should I wait until December and include a little note with my Christmas card? Should I just tell my big-mouth cousin and wait for her to spread the news? Or should I just settle down to a life with my new husband and forget my relatives?
RELATIVELY ALONE

DEAR ALONE: The CBS (Cousin Broadcasting System) is probably the most efficient way to spread the news. But cover all the bases and enclose a personal note with your Christmas cards.

DEAR ABBY: I'm wondering how come it's always the husband who buys the wife a gift on their wedding anniversary — and not the other way around?

In this age of "equal rights" and "women's lib," one would expect gift-giving to be reciprocal, but apparently women seem quite content with the old double standard.

And by the way, while I was buying flowers for my wife for our anniversary, I raised that question with the florist. She said, "Don't you think your wife deserves flowers for having given you two wonderful children?" This confused me even more, as I was under the impression that the children were my wife's, too!

CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: Come on, now! I'm old enough to remember the pre-women's liberation days when women gave their husbands neckties and cuff links on their anniversaries. And that's when most wives didn't work outside the home. They shaved a little off the grocery allowance and stashed it in the sugar bowl for such occasions.

DEAR ABBY: Your column changed my life! Through Operation Dear Abby, I met Chief Petty Officer Ken Watson, stationed aboard the USS Robert E. Peary in Pearl Harbor, Hawaii.

We corresponded for four months, then he flew to Michigan to visit me. He took me back to Hawaii with him for a week's vacation, where he proposed to me on his birthday on a beautiful moonlit beach at midnight. We were married in August. His two sons from a previous marriage now live with us, along with my two sons from a previous marriage!

Abby, I never knew what happiness was until I met this wonderful man. He is absolutely the best husband and father in the world. I am writing this on the one-month anniversary of our marriage. I could never thank you enough for putting me together with the man I want to spend the rest of my life with.

MRS. KEN WATSON,
ROMULUS, MICH.

Buck shot after it chases man up tree

ELK RIVER, Minn. (AP) — A Texan, who was amazed to see a buck bigger than one back home and just wanted a closer look, was rammed by the deer and chased up a tree until someone heard his cries for help and called police, who shot the animal.

The incident has left Benjamin Kirkland, of Lufkin, Texas, with a new appreciation for Minnesota wildlife and officials shaking their heads in disbelief that a wild deer would attack and "tree" a human.

"I thought sure enough I was a goner," said Kirkland, 26, of his close encounter late last week with a 225-pound, eight-point deer, which attacked him in the woods near Elk River.

Kirkland said he was returning to his motel around dusk Friday after working on a nearby pipeline when he saw the large buck grazing in a field a few hundred yards behind his motel, about 30 miles northwest of the Twin Cities.

"Where I'm from, deer just don't get as big as that," he said Wednesday. "This looked like a monster to me."

Kirkland said he crawled behind an embankment, planning to sneak up behind the buck and get a good look without being detected. But when he reached the spot where he thought the buck should be, there was nothing.

He stood up to walk away, and the buck was 30 steps away, staring at him.

Kirkland froze. "Generally, a buck deer like that is going to break and run to get away from you. He's supposed to be way scarier of you than you are of him," Kirkland said.

But this deer began walking toward Kirkland, who said he thought it must be somebody's pet. The deer came up and smelled him, then charged, slamming its antlers into Kirkland's ribs, he said.

The deer then slammed Kirkland into a pine tree and he grabbed onto the tree and scampered up it.

"I knew that tree was going to save me — it was the only way out," Kirkland said.

Kirkland says he sat in the tree about 40 minutes, with the buck pacing below and pawing the ground, before people at a nearby shopping center heard his cries for help and called police.

A crucial overtrick

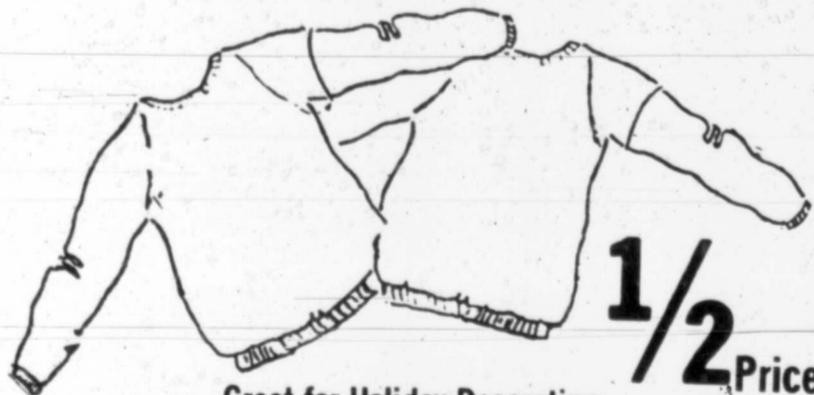

By James Jacoby

Californian Helen Utegaard has had a good year. She played on the winning women's team in the North American championships last March; then that team won the United States Women's Team championship in June. More recently her mixed team-of-four was victorious in the North American championships held in Salt Lake City in July. Today's deal from that event shows Helen playing an innocuous part-score contract to best advantage for a winning result.

Helen's partner responded two diamonds, a Jacoby transfer bid compelling the opening no-trump bidder to mention hearts. After diamonds were led and continued, Helen ruffed in dummy and then played just two rounds of trumps. She then led a club toward dummy's king. East took the ace and returned a low club. Declarer won the queen and exited with a club to East's jack. East was on lead again but this time was helpless. A spade lead would be away from the king into dummy's queen, and a diamond lead would allow declarer to ruff with the heart honor she had carefully retained in her hand while discarding a spade from dummy. Either way she would make an overtrick, crucial in this case since her opponents at the other table made only eight tricks in their two-heart contract.

2 whales head to sea after capturing world's attention

BARROW, Alaska (AP) — Two whales that held the world's attention for weeks swam away from their icy trap in a channel cleared by a Soviet icebreaker and Eskimo chain saws, and rescuers hoped the leviathans would reach the open sea.

"It's in nature's hands now," said Gary Hufford, a National Weather Service ice analyst.

The California gray whales swam off into the sunset Wednesday on what was hoped would be a long journey to their winter home off Baja California.

Officials halted helicopter surveillance, at nightfall, and said they planned to meet today to decide whether to try to locate the whales that scientists dubbed Crossbeak and Bonnet.

But their fate may never be known. Scientists involved in the rescue that cost more than $800,000 didn't attach radio transmitters to the whales, in part because of concern that the devices would only add to the animals' stress, said federal marine mammal biologist Jim Harvey.

But a major factor in the decision against the transmitters was that "a lot of people really didn't want to know" the surviving whales' fate, Harvey said.

In a final frenzy Wednesday, Eskimos using chain saws cut 50 new breathing holes into the ice, nearly as many as they had cut in two weeks. The whales, which grew accustomed to the cutting, repeatedly surfaced in the new holes before the last block of ice was removed.

The animals moved to less than half a mile from a channel carved through the 18-inch-thick ice by two Soviet icebreakers late Tuesday and early Wednesday. Then, the Eskimos were ordered to retreat so the icebreaker Vladimir Arseniev could reopen the channel, already partially refrozen.

After two hours and no movement by the icebreaker, the Eskimos grew impatient. Their years of experience with the Arctic Ocean told them that a rising wind could begin stacking up the ice and undo all the progress.

Faced with a near revolt, rescue coordinators allowed the natives back onto the ice, and they quickly moved the whales to within one-quarter mile of the channel the Soviets had cut Tuesday.

Finally, the icebreaker appeared out of the snowy squall line ahead.

Just after 4 p.m. (9 p.m. EDT), rescue coordinator Ron Morris reported from his helicopter that the whales had surfaced in a small pool in the old channel.

They then slipped beneath the surface. Moments later, the whales appeared about 25 feet away in open water left by the icebreaker.

The crowd cheered.

Many viruses can cause discomfort

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Recently a friend of my teenage daughter was diagnosed as having Epstein-Barr virus. Do you know of any other non-life threatening viruses that cause chronic nuisance symptoms?

DEAR READER: Chronic virus infections are getting a lot of well-deserved medical attention — they are fascinating.

Certain viruses appear to be more or less permanent inhabitants of the body. At times, when a person's resistance is diminished, the viruses replicate (reproduce) at an astonishing rate to cause periodic disease. Herpes is one such type and produces recurring crops of skin blisters associated with tingling, stinging, fever and malaise (feeling unwell).

Varicella-zoster viruses, viruses that cause both chicken pox and shingles, can be activated to cause painful outbreaks of skin blisters.

Hepatitis virus, especially type B, can cause chronic liver inflammation and a disease characterized by weight loss, fever and loss of energy.

Cytomegalovirus infection can be cyclic. It causes a chronic disease resembling mononucleosis: swollen glands, hepatitis and malaise.

Retroviruses, such as Human Immunodeficiency Virus (HIV — the cause of AIDS), seems to infect the body but cause no discernible disease for months or years.

Elementary school principal accused

DALLAS (AP) — A Dallas elementary school principal has been accused of assault after he allegedly touched the buttocks of eight students, police say.

The eight Class C misdemeanor charges were filed Wednesday against Alberto Orozco, 59, principal at John F. Peeler Elementary School, police say. The charges allege that Peeler touched eight students on the buttocks during the past two months.

Two of the students, ages 10-12, were girls, Dallas Police Youth Division Lt. Bill Walsh said. Walsh quoted investigators as saying that in each case Orozco "squeezed, rubbed or grabbed (the students' buttocks) very hard."

Putting on weight was an accepted — indeed, expected — mark of Victorian success, says National Geographic.

Ira headed for Trent in key 7-1A ballgame

TRENT -- Ira's Bulldogs try to upset the state's third-ranked team and keep playoff hopes alive in the process when they battle the Trent Gorillas here Friday in a District 7-1A showdown.

Trent, the preseason district favorite, hasn't disappointed. The Gorillas have posted a 7-0 season mark which includes a 6-4 whipping of loop opponent Loraine and a convincing win over state-ranked Jayton in non-district play.

Ira, 5-3 overall and 2-1 in the 7-1A, also played Jayton and Loraine well but lost to both. The 38-30 loss to the Bulldogs two weeks ago was the biggest blow, putting Ira in a near must-win situation Friday night.

Elsewhere Friday, Blackwell battles the Cardinals in Hermleigh while Loraine travels to Highland.

The game at Hermleigh pits

two teams still in search of their first district wins. Hermleigh is 0-7 for the season while Blackwell is 1-5-1 after tying Highland last week, 16-16.

The deadlock left Highland at 4-3-1 overall and 1-1-1 in district play. The Hornets' opponent, Loraine, is 6-2 and 2-1.

All three 7-1A games are scheduled for 7:30 p.m. starts.

Snyder hosts Pecos Eagles; 'Stangs, Loboes set to clash

Snyder entertains Pecos for its final home effort of the season while Monahans challenges top-ranked Sweetwater in a game with playoff implications as District 4-4A gears up once again for another Friday night.

In other games, Big Spring is at Andrews and Fort Stockton visits San Angelo to play Lake View.

The 8 p.m. meeting between the Fightin' Tigers and Pecos Eagles at Tiger Stadium marks the final home contest for Coach David Baugh's troops, who have road games with Big Spring and Monahans left. Snyder would like to entertain the hometown crowd with a victory over the Eagles, who come into the game still searching for a district win.

Snyder is 1-6 overall and 1-3 in District 4-4A play. Pecos is 3-4 for the season but 0-4 for the loop, including last week's 31-24 loss to Big Spring.

Pecos features one of the area's top all-around players, quarterback Bobby Ray Smith. Smith has thrown for 610 yards and 6 TDs this season and run for another 195 steps. He ranks fifth in the district in total offense, with an average of 115 yards a ballgame.

Friday's clash between Sweetwater and Monahans pits the only teams in the district without a district loss. Sweetwater, ranked No. 1 in the state in Class 4A, is 7-0 overall. Monahans is 6-1 and unranked.

To stop the Mustangs, Monahans will have to thwart tailback Kenneth Norman, who has rushed for 1,290 yards and 14 touchdowns. Norman leads the district in both total yards (1,366) and tandem offense (1,337 yards). He has scored 90 points.

Sweetwater poses the district's No. 1 offensive team, averaging 401.3 yards a game, and its top defensive team, allowing just 112.6.

But Monahans won't give in easily. The Loboes are averaging 286 yards, and rank second in defense with a 193.4 average.

Highlighting a strong Lobo ground game is Ronnie Ramsey, who has 464 yards and 6 TDs.

Quarterback Chris Jordan has hit his receivers on 37 of 80 attempts for 558 yards. He is also the Loboes' third-leading rusher with 295 yards on 65 carries.

Meanwhile, Big Spring will put its big-play potential against Andrews' strong running game on Friday. The Steers have the district's second most prolific offensive attack, statistically, averaging 332 yards a game.

Big Spring, 2-4 and 2-2, is directed by quarterback Rance Thompson, who has passed for a district-high 970 yards and 9 touchdowns in six games. Tony Lewis is Thompson's top receiver with 17 catches for 369 yards.

Andrews, 5-2, 3-1, prefers to do its thing on solid ground. The Mustangs are rushing for over 200 yards a game, led by hard-running Mike Hernandez, who has 589 yards and 12 touchdowns on 143 carries. Quarterback Richard Morris has most of Andrews' passing yards - 235 of the total 299 - and has rushed for another 247.

District 4-4A's leading receiver will be in San Angelo on Friday, trying to thwart the Fort Stockton Panthers. Joe Parks leads a show that should feature some of the area's top pass catchers. The senior split end has 392 yards on 23 receptions while teammate Jaun Urias has pulled down 11 passes for another 180 steps. Quarterback Pete Martinez has done the throwing - 736 yards of it this season.

Lake View can counter with some hot receiving corps as well. The Chiefs boast five players with seven or more catches this season, including Troy Allen, 16 for 289 yards, tight end Jeff Sheppard, 15 for 173 yards, and Kyle Mullins, 11 for 156 yards.

Fort Stockton is 3-4 for the '88 campaign and 2-2 in district play. Lake View is 2-5 and 0-4.

Lasorda named top manager

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Tommy Lasorda was aboard a jetliner, flying home with his World Series champion Los Angeles Dodgers after a White House visit, when he got the news that he won National League Manager of the Year honors by a landslide.

The rotund skipper, known as much for his love of pasta as his baseball savvy, has won two World Series, four NL pennants and six NL West titles in 12 years at the helm of the Dodgers.

"This completes my day - one of the greatest days of my life," Lasorda said Wednesday. "Right now, you are definitely talking to the happiest man in the world."

A fast-talking Brooklyn native, Lasorda counts celebrities such as Frank Sinatra and Don Rickles among his friends and is well-known outside baseball circles because of his many appearances in TV commercials hawking products ranging from pizza and beer to yogurt and antacid tablets.

He received 19 of 24 possible first-place votes in the Baseball

Writers Association of America balloting and appeared on all but one.

He received 101 points in the vote by a committee of two writers from each NL city. Lasorda also was voted Manager (see LASORDA, page 7)

'I'm very optimistic...'

Tom's wife thinks he's great

IRVING, Texas (AP) - Alicia Landry says she wouldn't encourage her husband to quit professional football, saying "everyone who knows anything about the game still thinks he is doing a great job."

Her husband, Tom, has undergone a crossfire of criticism because of the Dallas Cowboys' 2-6 start, the team's worst in 25 years.

"So far I'm not worried because I'm very optimistic in Tommy's ability to coach and I know he can do it," she said Wednesday. "He has proved he can do it, hasn't he?"

Mrs. Landry said the carping "was from a very few unfair people. Their job is to say something awful. The polls are kind of tacky but there have been a lot of people standing up for him."

Alicia said the attacks on her husband were also attacks on his age, 64.

"Don't we have a president who is over 64?" she asked. "I guess it's a sign of the times that when you get a little older you aren't supposed to be able to do anything."

Alicia and Tom aren't letting the bad times get them down.

"When we came to Dallas in the early '60s, a good friend of mine from the New York Giants (Ann Mara) told me: 'Don't read the newspapers when you lose.' I guess that's why we've lived this long. I don't think Tom's morale is down. I don't think he will let it affect him."

A 24-23 loss to Philadelphia on Sunday triggered the criticism of Landry after Dallas blew a 20-point lead.

"It was a very tough loss," Alicia said. "I didn't dream we could lose that game."

She attends all the Cowboys' games at home and on the road.

"Sports is a lot like politics," Mrs. Landry said. "If you can't stand the critics then you have to get out. I know what you're saying right now - he should have retired, right?"

"You have to understand that Tom is a competitor. He thrives on competition. I wouldn't try to influence him to get out of the game - yet. He is the one who has to live with it, go to the office for those long hours every day."

Landry said on Tuesday he will honor his contract which lasts through the 1989 season.

She said her husband was "extremely crazy" about the current team.

"He's very happy with this team because it works so hard, that there is no dissension," Mrs. Landry said. "This team has so much heart and just a super mix. I just hope someone doesn't ruin it."

She said her husband does read the sports pages "for everything else but football."

Alicia said the Landrys plan to be around to see the Cowboys regain their NFL prominence.

"Life is difficult but once you know it, it isn't difficult anymore," she said. "Most of the people have been lovely. They've still been nice everywhere we go."

of the Year in 1983, its initial year.

"I'm honored, no question about it," he said. "But as I've said many times before, individualism wins trophies, but teamwork wins pennants."

"As a manager, whatever success you achieve, whatever awards you receive, becomes a reality because of the contributions of your players, your coaches, your trainers. I want everyone to share this with me."

Jim Leyland of Pittsburgh finished second with 50 points after leading the Pirates to an 85-75 record and second place in the East behind the New York Mets.

The Dodgers won the West by seven games as they finished 94-67 this year, a sharp improvement over identically poor 73-89 records in 1986 and 1987.

Lasorda boasts a 1,022-874 record as the Dodgers' manager. He ranks third among active managers in victories behind Detroit's Sparky Anderson and St. Louis' Whitey Herzog and is 38th on the all-time list.

Muncie indicted

SAN DIEGO (AP) - Former NFL running back Chuck Muncie, whose career ended in a cloud of drug problems, was indicted by a federal grand jury on cocaine distribution charges.

Three charges relate to Muncie's alleged cocaine sales to undercover agents from the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration and the San Diego County Narcotics Task Force between December 1987 and January 1988, U.S. Attorney William Braniff said.

Steve, Karen, Kathy, Stephanie and Jake.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Larry Flynt offered a self-styled soldier of fortune $1 million to kill rival sex magazine publishers Hugh Hefner and Bob Guccione, and Frank Sinatra and Walter Annenberg, authorities said.

The purported hitman, Mitchell WerBell, died of a heart attack in December 1983 about a month after Flynt gave him the check, sheriff's Capt. Robert Grimm said Wednesday night. WerBell was in his 60s when he died of natural causes, authorities said.

Flynt's alleged motive was not disclosed and no charges have been filed against him. Grimm told a news conference that information about the plot turned up recently in an investigation of the 1983 murder-for-hire slaying of New York theater producer Roy Radin, whom authorities said was embroiled in a soured finance deal for the movie "The Cotton Club."

A former Flynt bodyguard, William Mentzer, is one of four defendants charged in Radin's killing.

Investigators have not interviewed the Hustler magazine publisher and have not presented a case to the prosecutor, Grimm said. He declined to elaborate and said Los Angeles County Sheriff Sherman Block spoke about the purported plot earlier in the day because he had been approached by the news media.

"Our investigation is continuing," Grimm said. Grimm identified targets of the alleged plot as Hefner, Sinatra and Guccione. He declined to name a fourth person targeted, but authorities told KNBC-TV that person was Annenberg, the publishing magnate and former ambassador.

"Larry Flynt one evening called an individual by the name of WerBell to his home and allegedly offered him $1 million if he would arrange for the death of these four individuals," said Block, adding he took the matter seriously.

"I've been led to believe that Larry Flynt has a propensity to try to harm people he sees as his enemies, whether (over) business arrangements or whatever."

A woman at Flynt's office told The Associated Press Flynt "just said he doesn't make comments on trash like that." WerBell was an international arms dealer who developed the MAC-10 submachine gun. He called himself a retired general of the Royal Free Afghan Army, according to promotional material from his Georgia-based counterterrorism firm, Sionics Inc., released by the sheriff's department.

Grimm displayed a photocopy of a $1 million check allegedly signed by Flynt and made out to WerBell.

Block said a Flynt associate immediately stopped payment on the check so it never was negotiated. The year of the alleged plot, Flynt claimed to have knowledge of videotapes purportedly showing Vicki Morgan, mistress of the late Diners Club founder Alfred Bloomingdale, engaged in sexual antics with Reagan administration officials.

INS says families break law when they hire illegal aliens

HARLINGEN, Texas (AP) — Thousands of Texas households probably are violating the immigration reform law by employing undocumented aliens as domestic help, a government spokeswoman said after a family was fined for illegally hiring a maid from Mexico.

"People should just be aware that if they continue to violate this law, they are incurring some risk," said Virginia Kice, spokeswoman for the Immigration and Naturalization Service's Harlingen District.

A family from the Lower Rio Grande Valley city of San Benito was sent notice Tuesday that it will be fined $350 for hiring the illegal maid, who has already been sent back to Mexico, Ms. Kice said.

INS investigators on Oct. 13 visited the residence after receiving a telephone tip on the "Employer Sanctions Hotline," she said.

INS officials said they would not reveal the name of the San Benito family until a Certified Mail receipt from the fine notice returns to the agency's Harlingen office.

"This family conceded that they were in violation of the law, and agreed to pay the fine," said Ms. Kice, adding that hiring undocumented maids is a common practice.

Clements makes two-hour stop

Clark ruled that the current method of allocating state monies to school districts is inherently discriminatory against the poorer districts, the plaintiffs which initiated the suit Edgewood vs. Kirby.

Clements also charged that Texans are largely ignorant of the details of that ruling, which he said would create some six "mega-districts" statewide rather than the current system of locally-controlled independent school districts.

The result would see local voters losing the right to elect their own school board members which in turn set local tax rates, Clements said.

"I'm so totally opposed to this I just get mad whenever I think about it," he said.

A solution to this—and Clements stated emphatically, "We will find a solution"—will ultimately require an amendment to the Texas Constitution, he said.

"We have the votes to get it in the House," he said, "But the Senate will be more difficult," noting that both bodies would have to pass such legislation by a two-thirds majority vote in order to bring it before a statewide vote in November of 1989.

"Every candidate who asks you for your vote, ask him how he stands on the Judge Clark issue," Clements urged the crowd at the GOP headquarters.

Regarding the upcoming November election, Clements told the SDN he believes it will "hinge on the ticket-splitters," those persons who crossover between both the Republican and Democratic Parties.

"Our polls show that one-third of Texas voters are Republican, one-third are Democrats and one-third split the ticket," he said.

As to why his friend and fellow Republican George Bush has gained momentum in national and state polls, Clements said voters have had time to "identify the true personality" of his opponent Dukakis, who Clements called "unacceptable" to most Texans.

"You've heard him (Dukakis) say 'I balanced eight state budgets.' But what he isn't telling you is that Massachusetts has a constitutional amendment just like Texas which says the governor must balance the budget. He's done it but he's also raised taxes six times.

"Saying he's a budget balancer is a falsehood. He's a tax raiser," Clements charged.

Bush, on the other hand, will benefit Texas, he said, including the state's ailing oil industry. "We'll get an effective national energy policy from George Bush," Clements said, adding this did not occur with Ronald Reagan in the White House.

Asked why, he said, "He (Reagan) would never take a firm stand. You need an energy policy tied to national security to make it work."

During the upcoming session of the Texas Legislature, Clements said changes in workman's compensation laws will also be a priority item and that the state's improved financial conditions will see the "temporary taxes" implemented in 1987 "dropped."

When asked about the expansion of the state's prison system and how it might impact on the Snyder TDC unit now under construction, Clements again pledged the state will "put under contract 10,000 more beds" with the upcoming session.

This will equal the amount of beds approved during the first round of TDC construction. As to where prison sites might ultimately go, however, he called it "an open door" at this time.

Regarding his own political plans for the future, Clements restated his intent not to seek reelection when he goes out of office in two years.

He also said he would not accept any national appointments in the Republican Party assuming a Bush presidency is installed this coming January.

Transplant patient said back with liver problems

PITTSBURGH (AP) — An 11-year-old Texas girl who in 1984 became the world's first recipient of a combined heart-liver transplant has returned to Children's Hospital of Pittsburgh to be evaluated for liver problems, officials said.

Stormie Jones of White Settlement, a Fort Worth suburb, and her mother, Susie Purcell, arrived in Pittsburgh Wednesday evening aboard a commercial flight from Dallas.

"The fact that she's flying commercially is indicative of her overall strength," said Children's Hospital spokeswoman Sue Cardillo. "She's not that seriously ill where she requires a medical ambulance to fly her here. These last few days she's been her spunky self."

Stormie had been undergoing treatment for liver rejection since Sept. 28 at Children's Medical Center of Dallas, Miss Cardillo said.

"During her hospitalization she had experienced jaundice, itchininess, erratic sleeping pattern, and those are all indications of liver complications," she said.

"As far as we know, the heart is not involved yet," said Ann Harrell, a spokeswoman for the University of Texas Southwestern Medical Center.

She needed the transplant because of a rare congenital disease that increased the cholesterol in her blood to dangerous levels.

Miss Cardillo said recipients of liver transplants always face the danger of rejection.

"There's never a period where you're home free," she said. "You're always at risk of rejection."

The King and Queen of Sweden last April visited Dallas and presented Stormie with Swedish crystal with the royal crest. She gave them her school picture and a bouquet of blue and gold flowers, the colors of the Swedish flag, said Ms. Harrell.

Top state official sees dramatic change in eastern Europe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department's second-ranking official says Eastern Europe is in the throes of "dramatic change," with a strong desire for closer ties to the West and withdrawal of Soviet troops from the region.

The East European countries "are beginning to return to their historical position where they were independent countries, part of Europe, associated with the West economically, politically," John Whitehead said in an interview Wednesday. "I believe they are beginning to return to historically their more normal position."

Whitehead, who returned recently from an 11-day visit to the six Soviet allies in the region, said the pace of change is uneven, with Poland and Hungary at the forefront, Romania lagging behind and Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia and East Germany "somewhere in between."

"The impression of my trip is that there is dramatic change going on in Eastern Europe, not everywhere," he said. "This is a very favorable change from the point of view of the United States."

Whitehead, whose formal title is deputy secretary of state, has made six trips to Eastern Europe as part of his role as Secretary of State George P. Shultz's principal liaison with countries of the area. Part of his assignment is to encourage the changes now taking place.

The administration has felt that with the ambitious political and economic reform movement in the Soviet Union under President Mikhail S. Gorbachev, change was inevitable in Eastern Europe and officials have been monitoring developments there far more closely than before.

A major exception to the reform movement now underway is Romania where, Whitehead said, an "absolutely outrageous" human rights situation exists as a result of a government plan to demolish up to 7,000 villages under an agricultural modernization project.

He said the people in these villages are being moved to "cement block barracks-like structures" with no running water and no toilets.

"You can imagine living in an apartment house with no toilets. It's pretty atrocious," Whitehead said.

He said the four countries where the Soviets have stationed troops — East Germany, Poland, Czechoslovakia — are hopeful for the withdrawal of these forces and are not insisting that it take place in the context of an American troop pullback from Western Europe.

He added, however, that he does not foresee the dissolution of the Warsaw Pact as "imminent or likely."

There are an estimated 380,000 Soviet troops in East Germany, 80,000 in Czechoslovakia, 65,000 in Hungary and 40,000 in Poland.

Whitehead said the changes taking place in the region are the result of popular pressure.

"Governments are not immune from the dissatisfaction of their people," he said, adding that there is widespread recognition in the six countries that they are "slipping farther and farther behind" the West in every way.

Romania aside, he said, all the countries are improving their human rights performance and there are changes in other areas as well.

"They are making progress in changing their political systems, the structures of their political institutions to bring more democracy. They're making progress in converting their economic systems to Western-style free market systems," he said.

Whitehead said he sees an accelerated trend toward closer economic ties

Police find Tiger cub

Police picked up a 6-month-old tiger cub Wednesday morning in the 300 Block of 35th St. and returned it to its owner.

Bill Luna of 310 35th told officers at 6:40 a.m. Wednesday that he had seen the animal running loose.

Two officers went to the area, found the young tiger, and returned it to its owner, James Murray of 403 36th St., they said.

Theft, vandalism worked by police

Police are investigating a theft from a motor vehicle and a vandalism case that were reported Wednesday.
