GTE announces relocation to Texas

IRVING, Texas (AP) — GTE Corp. announced today that it is relocating its biggest division to this Dallas suburb, said Kent Foster, group vice president of GTE telephone operations.

GTE will construct a one million square-foot "campus-like facility" on a 112-acre site in the Las Colinas area. The facility will house more than 4,000 employees and will be ready for occupancy in mid-1991.

"What all this tells us is that the Dallas Fort Worth area was simply the right place for us to be for all the right reasons," said James L. Johnson, chairman and chief executive officer of GTE Corp. "This move is just one more step in the growth of our great company."

Foster said three criteria were used in selecting the site. They included locating the facility in a GTE telephone operating area; finding a site that had easy access to all parts of the country; a site that could offer 700,000 square feet of temporary office space while construction of the permanent facility was in progress.

The other sites under consideration were Tampa, Fla., Thousand Oaks, Calif. and Westfield, Ind.

The GTE announcement joined a string of companies that have moved to Texas in the last several months.

AMR Corp., parent of American Airlines, moved to nearby Fort Worth about five years ago and J.C. Penney Co. Inc. is in the process of moving its headquarters to Plano. Both formerly were based in New York City.

The announcement also comes six days after the federal government picked a site just south of Dallas to build the "super collider" project. The $4.4 billion high-energy physics project also is expected to generate thousands of jobs.

According to an internal economic analysis relayed to The Dallas Morning News, the company expects to generate 6,750 jobs in the Dallas area — 4,500 at GTE and 2,250 at other employers.

The company also forecasts that it will spur $300 million in new home sales at a very conservative average price of $75,000.

Careers are topic tomorrow

Career Day activities for Scurry County high school students will begin at 8:40 a.m. Thursday with an assembly and program in Worsham Auditorium at Snyder High School.

Guest speaker at the assembly will be Dr. Jim Mankin, a professor at Abilene Christian University.

This year's Career Day, sponsored every year by Snyder Rotary, will see Snyder, Ira and Hermleigh students advised on more than 40 job fields.

Advising them will be approximately 100 working representatives of these career areas.

Students from the three high schools, with more than 950 expected, will attend two hour-long sessions of their choice. These will be held at 9:20 and 10:30 a.m.

At the end of the two morning sessions, all Career Day speakers will be invited to a luncheon sponsored by Rotary at The Shack. It will begin at 11:45 a.m.

Planning for Career Day has been completed with the assistance of counselors at both Snyder High School and Western Texas College.

Job areas to be discussed Thursday will include accounting, artist-interior design, architecture-landscaping, auto mechanics and auto paint and body.

Also, banking, business administration, chiropractics, church-related careers, computer programming, construction, cosmetology, counseling, dentistry, diesel mechanics, drama-theatre, electronics, education, engineering, fire-law enforcement-TDC security and floristry.

In addition, funeral home management, game warden-forestry-wildlife management, health-physical education, health-related technicians, home economics, journalism-radio-TV photography, legal profession careers, medicine, mid-level management and motel management.

Also, music, nursing, pharmacy, ranching-agribusiness, real estate, science-related careers, secretarial-court reporting, stockbroker careers, trucking, veterinary medicine and welding.

HONOREE — Western Texas College sociology-psychology professor Dr. Gil Fleer was honored for outstanding service to WTC students in a Tuesday ceremony sponsored by Phi Theta Kappa and the Student Senate in conjunction with Phi Theta Kappa Founder's

Day. The award was a surprise announcement at the Tuesday morning gathering. Shown with Fleer is his wife Ruth, a local elementary school teacher. (SDN Staff Photo)

First winter freeze reported overnight

Scurry County recorded its first freeze for the winter of 1988-89 early Wednesday as the official mercury reading at 7 a.m. dropped to 31 degrees.

The area forecast for Wednesday night was for even colder temperatures with the low expected in the upper 20s.

The forecast for West Texas Wednesday night calls for clear skies and cold nighttime temperatures, generally expected to be at or below freezing.

On Thursday, it will be mostly sunny and warmer.

Across Texas, a strong cold front tightened its grip on Texas Wednesday after triggering heavy thunderstorms that caused hail and high winds that ripped off building roofs and damaged trees and power lines.

High winds were experienced in Snyder Tuesday as the front moved through. No rainfall was experienced, however.

As the front moved through North Texas late Tuesday afternoon, high winds downed power lines, interrupting electrical service for thousands of residents, and tore roofs off businesses.

Large hail was reported across the area, the weather service said.

Wednesday morning, showers were still falling in parts of Southeast Texas and the upper Coastal Plains along and ahead of the cold front. Widely scattered patches of light rain, mixed with snow, covered the northwest corner of the Panhandle near Dalhart, said the National Weather Service.

Fair to partly cloudy skies were expected over much of the state through Thursday, with mostly cloudy skies and patchy light rain in the south.

Smokeout events seek out 'quitters'

Great American Smokeout activities, sponsored locally by the Scurry County Chapter of the American Cancer Society, are planned in Snyder Thursday.

On this day, smokers are encouraged to give up the habit of cigarettes at least for one day. To assist them, friends and family members may "adopt" a smoker for the day.

Adoption kits to help smokers give up cigarettes are now offered at the Smokeout headquarters for Snyder. L'il Rascals on the south side of the downtown square.

Debra Hester at L'il Rascals is serving as this year's Smokeout chairman.

Also offered are stick on lapel buttons which say "Kiss Me, I Don't Smoke" and "I'm a Star, I Quit Smoking."

Non-smokers are encouraged to pick these up and to wear them as incentives to those who still smoke.

At Snyder High School, members of the Future Homemakers of America have again taken on the Smokeout as a special project.

High school students are being encouraged to "adopt" their parents who still smoke. Also offered are "adopt a dipper" material for students who use smokeless tobacco.

At 3:30 p.m., a balloon release is planned in front of the high school to advertise the Smokeout activities.

Planning for the high school events has been handled by Carolyn Derouen and Carolyn Lamm.

Christmas concert slated by chamber

Dates, times and plans for a range of chamber-related events to include the annual Christmas program sponsored by the cultural affairs committee were discussed at Tuesday's regular November meeting of chamber directors.

The Christmas program this year will include a performance of the Midland Symphony, which will be accompanied in part by a community choir.

The event is slated Dec. 15, a Thursday, at Worsham Auditorium at Snyder High School. The performance will begin at 8 p.m.

Richard Hester, cultural affairs committee member, said the symphony will bring a 33-piece group. He noted Bill Lyon, SHS choir director, will be directing the community choir.

Also related to Christmas, retail merchant committee chairman Donna Gray noted the annual "shop at home" Christmas promotion is going well with 45 merchants participating.

Sales slip totals from these 45 dating to Oct. 1 will be used as bidding points at an auction planned Dec. 17, a Saturday, in the Scurry County Coliseum. The auction will begin at 7 p.m.

The total of the sales slips will equal bidding dollars for such

The SDN Column

By Roy McQueen

The teller on Deep Creek says, "Some brides try to make a good wife—others try to make some man a good husband."

At a Board of County Development meeting a few weeks ago, the suggestion was made that Snyder should be promoted as an excellent place to retire.

Many folks, especially oil company employees, have already made that choice and can attest that it has been a good decision.

Some individuals have countered that Snyder's taxes are too high for retirees. Nobody likes taxes and it is true that taxes have risen in Snyder and Scurry County due to declines in both oil prices and production.

Based on data from the Texas Research League, the total tax bite for a resident of Snyder is near the state's bottom. Out of 383 towns, 270 or 70 percent have a higher tax burden than residents of Snyder.

If a person wants low taxes, he might move to an unincorporated town without water, sewer and garbage collection. There likely won't be schools because there are no young people and there will likely be few churches or senior centers.

But if you want really low taxes, volume is the answer. Low taxes are found in large metropolitan areas where there is simply more people and more industry to pay them.

You may be surprised to learn that Texas residents with the lowest tax burden are in Highland Park near Dallas. If you can afford a home in the $300,000 range, then such a city might be to your liking.

It seems that taxes should be just one factor when considering a place to retire. An active seniors program, a sense of security, ease of mobility, availability of quality medical care and the presence of good friends may well be important considerations.

In reality the situation may be that local taxes are not really that high, but in the past an abundance of oil allowed taxes to be incredibly low.

In Brief

Change slated

REESE AIR FORCE BASE, Texas (AP) — Reese Air Force Base will begin training tanker pilots instead of fighter pilots beginning in 1990, base officials said.

The change in focus will mean a switch from using Northrup T-38 Talons to tanker aircraft similar to Lear jets, said Lt. Col. John Block Tuesday. The base west of Lubbock will continue to provide primary training of Air Force pilots in the T-37 aircraft now used at the base.

Budget cuts

AUSTIN, AP — Texas Railroad Commissioner John Sharp has called for cuts in the budget request his agency has submitted to the Texas Legislature.

"I did not get elected to this agency to preside over a growing bureaucracy. I got elected to streamline this agency and make it work more efficiently," Sharp said in a Tuesday statement. The statement said he called for the cuts in a speech to the Wharton Chamber of Commerce.

The commission's submitted request calls for increasing its budget from $35.17 million to $38 million next year and $37.9 million the following year. It would increase the number of personnel from the current 940 to 1,026 next year and 1,029 the following year.

Sharp's proposed budget reduces the request by $1 million each year.

The normal court schedule will resume Monday.

Death tape played for jurors

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Seven months after she died begging for her life, the screams of Shannon Mann, two sisters and a brother were played to jurors in the trial of their accused killer, who said he was high on cocaine on the morning of the slayings.

Leo Narvaiz Jr., 20, is charged with capital murder in the April 15 slayings of Miss Mann, 17, his former girlfriend; Jennifer Mann, 19; Martha Mann, 15; and Ernest Mann, 11.

The bodies were found in their blood-spattered mobile home, where bloody knives — some broken and imbedded in the victims' bodies — also were recovered.

Bexar County District Attorney Fred Rodriguez rested his case Tuesday shortly after introducing the tape recording and a statement in which Narvaiz said he was high on cocaine when the four were killed.

Narvaiz, who claimed to be distraught over his breakup with Shannon Mann and her relationship with another boyfriend, was arrested several hours after the slayings. He told officers that cuts and lacerations to his arms, left leg and chest occurred during a fight he had with another man.

But in a taped telephone call to the 911 emergency service around 3:20 a.m. on April 15 and played in court on Tuesday, Shannon Mann said Narvaiz was attacking her and her siblings.

"I feel bad about this," Narvaiz said in his statement to police. "When I went to Shannon's the cocaine really controlled me."

Police detective Jimmy Holguin — who investigated the slayings, talked to Narvaiz and took the statement from him — identified the voices on the tape.

"My boyfriend just beat us up," Shannon Mann told the 911 dispatcher over screams in the background.

"He's killed my little sister. Please hurry, please hurry," she says.

After a pause, she says, "Leo, please don't" and the conversation fades as if the telephone receiver had been dropped.

The operator says, "Hello," and that is followed by a male voice, which Holguin identified as Narvaiz's, who says, "Why did you have to do this to me?"

After some unintelligible sounds, Shannon Mann says, "I love you" twice in between a "Yeah," from the male at the home.

"I'm dying already. I can't breathe," Shannon Mann says. "Did you call the cops?" the man asks.

"No, I didn't," she says. "My mouth hurts."

OPEC practice criticized

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Energy Secretary Fernando Hiriart on Tuesday announced Mexico will set crude oil prices in accordance with prices of other independent producers, saying overproduction by OPEC had rendered that cartel's market quotas useless.

"Since OPEC has not had a serious policy when it comes to respecting production levels and pricing of energy products, producing a destabilization of the international petroleum market, we will ignore its projections about improving prices per barrel of crude," Hiriart said in a statement issued by the Energy, Mines and Parastatal Industries Department.

Mexico is not a member of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries but traditionally has followed the cartel's pricing and production guidelines.

Pemex, the government oil monopoly, has criticized OPEC producers this year for engaging in an undeclared price war, particularly in the United States, Mexico's No. 1 customer.

Pemex blames OPEC overproduction for lowering the average-price of Mexican export crude to $9.91 a barrel in October.

The conversation ends with a loud scream and then a fainter scream.

Narvaiz sat motionless through the tape playing after his attorneys unsuccessfully tried to get it barred.

Over defense objections, Rodriguez also introduced Narvaiz's statement.

Narvaiz said in the statement that he went to the Mann's trailer home early on April 15 after snorting a large amount of cocaine and driving around with some friends. Shannon answered the door and told him to go around the back door, Narvaiz said.

Great American Smokeout Brings Breath of Fresh Air

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1988 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR READERS: Tomorrow will mark the 12th Annual Great American Smokeout, a one-day campaign to encourage smokers to quit smoking for 24 hours, just to prove they can do it. The idea, conceived by Lynn R. Smith, editor of the Monticello (Minn.) Times, has now spread to Canada, Great Britain, France, Ireland, Australia, South Africa, Norway, Finland and Sweden.

Last year, more than 19.5 million smokers tried to quit for the day. This represents more than 39 percent of the nation's 50 million smokers. Breast cancer used to be the biggest killer for women. But the No. 1 cause of death among women and men today is lung cancer. An estimated 92,000 men and 44,000 women will die of lung cancer in 1988.

And now, a word about smoking-related diseases — emphysema, chronic bronchitis and heart disease: This year an estimated 320,000 will die from one of these. This total exceeds the number of U.S. battle deaths in World War II; it is eight times as many people who die in automobile accidents every year!

A congressional study has reported that health costs from the adverse effects of smoking have reached a new high of $100 billion a year in increased medical bills and lost productivity. The loss in death and disability cannot be measured. (And how does one measure the amount of heartache, remorse and guilt suffered as a result of a preventable, self-induced tragedy?)

What about "secondhand" smoke? Is it actually damaging to non-smokers to be in the presence of those who are smoking? Yes! Furthermore, studies reveal that the children of smokers are more prone to lung problems and allergies than are children of non-smokers.

For years I have begged my young readers, "If you smoke, quit now. If you don't smoke, don't start!" Yet an estimated 3,000 to 5,000 kids light up for the first time every day. Why? Peer pressure, no doubt.

Quitting "cold turkey" is the hardest way to quit, but my readers have told me it's the most effective, and in the long run, the easiest way. Cutting down is less traumatic, but the temptation to smoke is often too powerful to resist while smoking just one, two or three cigarettes a day.

Those who are heavily addicted may require help to break the habit. Call your local chapter of the American Cancer Society for information.

So if you're hooked on cigarettes and have been telling yourself, "One of these days I'm going to quit," why not start tomorrow?

It won't be easy, but it will be the best Thanksgiving present you can give yourself — and those who love you.

P.S. A favor, please? If you quit tomorrow, even for 24 hours, I want to hear from you. Then write again and let me know how long you were able to stay clean. Good luck. Keep me posted.

P.S.S. Apropos "Thanks for Not Smoking" signs some folks have in their homes: I once saw a sign that read: "If you smoke on these premises, we will assume that you are on fire, and you will be treated accordingly."

What teen-agers need to know about sex, drugs, AIDS, getting along with their peers and parents is now in Abby's updated, expanded booklet, "What Every Teen Should Know." Send your name and address, plus check or money order for $3.50 ($4 in Canada) to: Dear Abby's Teen Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054. Postage is included.

Scientists: big bellies may mean problems with heart

WASHINGTON (AP) — If your paunch is fatter than your haunch, the chances are you're at greater risk of having a heart attack, a stroke or diabetes.

Scientists at the American Heart Association meeting said Tuesday that a series of studies in the United States, Europe and Canada have now confirmed that a pooling of fat about the middle is a clear signal of heart attack risk.

A Santa Claus-style belly may be cute, but it can be as dangerous to the heart as cigarette smoking, high blood pressure or excess cholesterol in the blood stream, said Per Bjornorp of the University of Goteborg in Sweden.

"If a person has normal weight, but the fat is distributed wrong, it could be a risk," said Bjornorp. "When you compare it to the other risk factors, it is about the same strength."

He said he studied a group of 900 men and 1,400 women and found that those who had more fat on the waist than on the buttocks tended to have a greater number of heart attacks. Those with belly blubber also experienced more strokes and were more apt to develop diabetes.

Bjornorp said the study showed that men whose waists measured the same or more than their hips were more apt to have a heart attack than those who carried their weight elsewhere. For women, he said, the risks increase when the waist size was 80 percent of the hip size. And the fatter the waist, the higher the risk, he said.

In effect, if you're shaped like a barrel, you've got a greater chance of having a heart attack than if you're shaped like a pear.

A Canadian study of identical twins showed that the rate of weight gain and the distribution of fat may be determined, in part, by genetics.

Claude Bouchard of Laval University in Ste-Foy, Quebec, Canada, said he picked 12 pairs of identical twin males, aged 19 to 27, and overfed them by 1,000 calories a day during a 100-day stay in a dormitory.

Traveling club topic

"How to Pack and Travel Light" was the featured topic at the October meeting of the Scurry Charter Chapter of American Business Women's Association held at Martha Ann Woman's Club with 23 members present.

Janet Brown of Snyder Travel was introduced by Barbara Brown, program chairman. Brown and her husband, Jim, have owned the travel agency since 1982.

Brown pointed out that travelers should know the climate, dress customs, and use a list to plan traveling needs. She suggested one pair of shoes for walking, one for dress; one purse that goes with everything; and knits which pack well.

She also reminded tourists to take drivers license, cashiers checks, passport, flashlight, umbrella, alarm clock, and slippers. Wrinkles are usually removed by hanging clothes in a steamy bathroom for a few minutes.

Brown also gave the vocational speech, describing the office and employees. She stated that with in-office computers, they can now write tickets locally and save traveling money by planning trips in advance.

Faye Layne offered the invocation and also sponsored a new member, Sandi Pavlik, to the club. She is the owner of Sandi's Hair Design. Pauline Withers and Vivian Cochran of the Deep Creek ABWA Chapter visited the session.

Irene Brooks, MAWC representative, reminded members of Margaret's Style Show and luncheon at 11:30 a.m. Saturday at the clubhouse with tickets set at $7.50 per person. The Tour of Homes is planned for Dec. 4 and the game day and luncheon will be Dec. 10. MAWC cookbooks are also still on sale at $12.

The club's Christmas party with gift exchange and gift donations for the nursing homes will be held Dec. 12 at Martha Ann Woman's Club.

The U.S. Senate voted in 1834 to censure President Andrew Jackson for the removal of federal deposits from the Bank of the United States.

of diamonds, and East returned a club. Declarer won dummy's club ace and put off drawing trumps. (He needed communication back and forth in the spade suit.) Instead he led a low heart from dummy. East played low and South won the queen. A spade was played to dummy's king and another low heart was played from dummy. East correctly played the 10, winning the trick, and continued with the queen of clubs. Declarer won the king, played a low spade to the nine in dummy, and played another heart. Up came the ace; declarer ruffed and got back to dummy with a high spade to shed a losing club on the good king of hearts.

This line of play worked because the ace of hearts was guarded only twice. If East had started with four hearts, declarer's play would have still given East a chance to make the error of thinking that he needed to grab the ace early in case declarer had Q-J doubleton in the heart suit.

Practice to deceive

When you must find your crucial game-going trick in a side-suit, it can't hurt to practice a little deception. From time to time, making the right play will win anyway. But when the right play is not going to work, maybe you can trick the opponents into making a mistake.

In today's four-spade contract, declarer had three certain losers — two diamonds and a heart. Since he also had a club loser, he had to set up an extra winner in the heart suit for a club discard.

The defenders took the king and ace

Texas law will determine damage amount

DENVER (AP) — A federal judge has ruled that Texas laws will be used to determine damages, if any, to be paid in the nearly two dozen lawsuits pending against Continental Airlines over a 1987 crash here.

Chief U.S. District Judge Sherman Finesilver handed down the order Tuesday on the anniversary of the crash at Stapleton International Airport that killed 28 people and injured 54.

The ruling said Texas laws have "the most significant relationship to punitive damage claims in this litigation." The state's laws do not set a maximum on awards in personal injury lawsuits.

Finesilver issued the ruling in 22 lawsuits still pending out of 39 filed against Continental and its parent company, Texas Air Corp., over the Nov. 15, 1987, crash of Flight 1713 en route from Denver to Boise, Idaho.

"All this says is that Texas law will apply," Continental spokesman Ned Walker said.

"There is absolutely no basis to have any finding for punitive damages." The airline has made "generous settlement offers" to those who sued, and "the only reason it has gotten this far is because of some greedy attorneys," Walker said. "These bounty-hunter attorneys are seeking to justify their exorbitant contingency fees."

"We think that really these bounty-hunter attorneys are really performing a disservice to their clients," said Walker.

The crash, which happened during the season's first heavy snowstorm in Denver, was triggered by a combination of weather and pilot factors, the National Transportation Safety Board has ruled.

Big challenge for Dusters in Queens Classic this week

BIG SPRING — Coach Kelly Chadwick's Lady Dusters take on some of the top teams in the southwest when they enter the Howard Queen Classic here Thursday.

The Dusters, 6-3, and coming off of a big, 65-55 win over South Plains, hope to gain momentum from the tournament as they began preparations for the conference season.

"If we can win this classic I think it will give us a lot of confidence," said Coach Chadwick. "It's not too long now until we open conference (Dec. 1) and we need to be putting some things together and playing with some consistency."

Western, Odessa, Howard and McLennan highlight teams from Region 5 while Temple and Panola represent some of East Texas' top entries. Also involved are Weatherford and Mesa, Ariz.

The Lady Dusters tip-off against Panola in Thursday's tournament opener at 2 p.m. In other games, McLennan and Odessa play at 4 p.m. followed by Temple and Mesa, Ariz. at 6 p.m. and Weatherford and Howard at 8 p.m.

Panola is under the direction of former Dusters mentor Joe Cushing, who directed Western Texas to a conference championship in 1983. He left after the 1983 season and Chadwick took over, taking the Dusters to conference and regional titles in 1987.

"I talked to Joe yesterday (Tuesday) and I think he feels real good about his team," Chadwick said. "I've heard they've got some good people and of course Joe always had real good teams out here. We're looking for a tough ballgame. And if we're fortunate enough to get by Panola we'd face either Odessa or McLennan, so it's going to be tough."

Winner of the game will play the MCC-Odessa winner at 6 p.m. Friday. Losers of the two Thursday games will play at 2 p.m. Friday.

The tournament's championship game is set for 6:30 p.m. Saturday.

Chadwick coached at Amarillo College when Cushing was at Snyder, which brings out another connection with the Queens Classic.

"Mesa is directed by Olivia Jones, who was a two-time All-American for me at Amarillo," smiled Chadwick. "I think she's got a pretty good team but this will be their first games of the season, so the rest of us have a little edge in that regard."

"I'd love to play Mesa in the finals, but we have to get there first, and I know it won't be easy. We're looking forward to matching up against some really good competition at this tournament," he added.

Tournament tickets, available at the gate, are $3 for adults and $2 for students daily.

Investigation leads Hagan to resign as Kentucky AD

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Cliff Hagan has become the first casualty of an NCAA investigation of the University of Kentucky's basketball program, tendering his resignation as athletic director less than a week after saying he was being used as a scapegoat in the probe.

University lawyer Joseph Burch was named acting athletic director, Bernie Vonderheide, a UK spokesman, said during a news conference Tuesday.

Neither Hagan, who had held the job for 13 years, nor UK president David Roselle attended the news conference. Burch scheduled a news conference of his own today.

When reports surfaced last week that Roselle was unhappy with Hagan's performance during the investigation, the former UK basketball great said: "If someone wants to use the athletics director as a scapegoat, that's fine."

The NCAA has criticized the university's control and monitoring of the basketball program, which faces 18 allegations of wrongdoing.

"It is unfortunate that circumstances sometimes create a need for change that is regretful for all," Roselle said in a prepared statement. "In this case, the circumstances dictate the need for a different management style and philosophy."

"I have taken this action with a sense of regret over the circumstances which created for me and my institution a very difficult problem," Hagan said in his prepared statement.

"But I have always tried to do what was right and best for the university, and I believe that what I have done today was the right thing to do. It was also the right thing for me and my family."

Vonderheide said it was Hagan's decision to resign.

Mavs tumble, 108-99

DALLAS (AP) — The Detroit Pistons looked to another of their variety of weapons as center Bill Laimbeer piled up 23 points, 21 rebounds and five blocked shots to spearhead a 108-99 triumph over the Dallas Mavericks.

The Pistons' victory Tuesday night ran their record to 6-0, best in the NBA.

"Each night it seems a different guy's been taking over for this team," Pistons guard Isiah Thomas said. "Sometimes it's Joe Dumars, sometimes it's Bill Laimbeer or Adrian (Dantley). We're a really balanced team."

Dantley, Detroit's leading scorer at 21.6 points per game, was lost before the game was three minutes old when he collided with Dallas' Mark Aguirre. Dantley was taken by ambulance to a local hospital with a cut lip and three loosened front teeth.

"Once A.D. got hurt, somebody else had to step up," Laimbeer said. "We're a team that makes sacrifices. Tonight I got the chance to pop some three-pointers (he made three). Someone always seems to do what's necessary and that's a tribute to our club."

Dallas was without sixth man Roy Tarpley, who was scheduled to undergo arthroscopic surgery today to determine the extent of an injury to his left knee. Tarpley sprained the knee last Wednesday in a game against Phoenix and will be sidelined at least a

Landry will go with Sweeney

IRVING, Texas (AP) - Dallas coach Tom Landry figures Kevin Sweeney deserves another start because he survived Sunday night's 43-3 slaughter at the hands of the Minnesota Vikings. However, Landry will give both Sweeney and Steve Pelluer equal work this week. Landry indicated he would go to Pelluer if things don't work well offensively Sunday against the Cincinnati Bengals.

"My feeling was that Kevin didn't have a chance to do much against the Vikings," Landry said. "I want to take another look at him again, hopefully under better circumstances."

Sweeney suffered four interceptions, lost two fumbles, and was sacked five times by Minnesota in a 43-3 loss.

"The way we were getting beat up front, you (the quarterback) could end up dead," Landry said.

The Cowboys suffered their seventh consecutive loss and slipped to a 2-9 record going into Sunday's noon game in Texas Stadium.

"I'll have both quarterbacks ready and I wouldn't hesitate to substitute," Landry said. "Don't be surprised if you see Steve in there anytime during the game."

Landry said Sweeney would probably be ready although he suffered a bruised right shoulder, a bruised elbow, a sore wrist and a split lip.

"He's pretty beat up," Landry said. "He's young though, and that's the only reason he can recover."

Landry said it is unlikely that veteran quarterback Danny White, who has been on the injured reserve list, will play in the last five games.

"Danny is hard to evaluate right now as far as his future is concerned," Landry said. "He is still a quarterback who can play in our league. His injury problems are the thing right now."

Landry said he isn't embarrassed, but is "personally disappointed" by the Cowboys' worst season in 29 years.

"We've only been beaten bad twice," Landry said. "This team has tried hard and deserved better."

MAVERICKS

Aguirre poured in 37 points for the Mavericks and Rolando Blackman added 19, but the Dallas bench was outscored, 53-10, the widest margin since 1983.

The Mavericks said they were impressed with the Pistons, considered by many to be the team to beat in the Eastern Conference.

"They have a better focus than last year," said Mavericks coach John MacLeod. "They're better than they were. Of course it's not easy to play them when you don't have your whole team."

Ruling today on Carter's fate

AUSTIN (AP) - The Texas Education Agency and University Interscholastic League planned to rule today on whether undefeated Dallas Carter will be ousted from the state football playoffs for playing an athlete who may have failed an algebra class in the first six weeks.

The UIL state executive committee met Tuesday to decide whether Carter High has played and should be punished for playing an ineligible athlete.

But the panel abruptly broke off its hearing in the afternoon and adjourned until 1 p.m. today. The executive committee and TEA officials began to question the UIL's jurisdiction.

"The UIL cannot make a decision as to whether the player is ineligible," UIL assistant athletic director Gina Mazzolini said. "It's the TEA that needs to step in to decide whether punishments are deserved. Then the UIL would come in to decide what the penalties are."

Following six hours of testimony before a standing-room-only crowd, the 14-member UIL committee agreed to reconvene to give the State Board of Education a chance to decide if Dallas Carter player Gary Edwards is ineligible. State officials were looking into alleged grade tampering.

"If there is a violation, it has to be confirmed by the State Board of Education," said UIL Athletic Director Bill Farney. "If it is indeed a violation, the State Executive Committee will rule on what they have heard."

Dodgers' Gibson is chosen as MVP of National League

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Forget the three digits that represent the batting average. Disregard the numbers in the RBI and homer columns.

Some accomplishments don't lend themselves to impersonal, precise measurement.

Kirk Gibson's numbers weren't all that impressive this season. Then he had only one - very memorable - at-bat in the entire World Series. But his contributions to the world champions Los Angeles Dodgers were unmistakable.

Those contributions were recognized Tuesday when Gibson was named the National League's Most Valuable Player for 1988.

"He helped turn the team around and played a leadership role," the New York Mets' Kevin McReynolds, third in the MVP voting, said of Gibson.

"Winning the MVP was never my goal," Gibson said from his home in Michigan. "But I'm happy that so many people had the opinion that I had that much impact on our winning. My goal was for us to become world champs. That's what makes this that much sweeter..."

Gibson had just 76 RBI, the lowest total for a league MVP since Pete Rose won the award in 1973 - Gibson's batting average was .290 and he had 25 homers.

The four hitters who finished behind him in the MVP voting - the Mets' Darryl Strawberry and Kevin McReynolds, Pittsburgh's Andy Van Slyke and San Francisco's Will Clark - had better statistics.

Still, Gibson was an easy winner in the MVP balloting, receiving 13 first-place votes and 272 points. Strawberry had seven first-place votes and 236, followed by McReynolds with the other four first-place votes and 162.

Van Slyke was fourth with 160 points, Clark got 135 and Gibson's Dodger teammate, NL playoffs and World Series MVP Orel Hershiser had 111.

Two members of the Baseball Writers' Association of America in each NL city did the voting prior to the postseason.

Strawberry led the league with 39 home runs, was second with 101 RBI and batted .269. McReynolds hit .288 with 27 homers and 99 RBI. Van Slyke hit .288 with 25 homers and 100 RBI and Clark led the NL with 109 RBI and hit 29 home runs.

"There are always going to be critics, people who don't feel I'm worthy of this award," Gibson said. "Too bad it has to be only one person. I can make an argument for Orel, for Darryl, for Kevin. Things were just on the Dodgers' and my side."

PLO's move to moderation part of evolutionary process

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP) — It could be months before the PLO's strategic shift from guerrilla warfare to political pragmatism, based on indirect recognition of Israel, has any real impact on Middle East peace efforts.

But, if nurtured, the clear swing toward moderation by the Palestine Liberation Organization could mark the start of a serious peace dialogue.

The big question now is how far the United States and Israel are prepared to go in terms of direct talks with the PLO, which also declared an independent Palestinian state with Jerusalem as its capital.

Tuesday's declarations in Algiers, by implicitly recognizing Israel and renouncing terrorism, mark a significant breakthrough in the Middle East peace process even though Palestinian pragmatists have long advocated the moves.

A veteran Western diplomat, speaking on condition of anonymity, described the Palestinian National Council's resolutions as "a serious attempt" to break the logjam that has stymied previous efforts.

But with Ronald Reagan two months away from handing over the U.S. presidency to George Bush, it could be months before there is any significant movement in the Middle East equation.

The resolutions of the council, the PLO's policy-making body and parliament-in-exile, spelled out for the first time, however timidly, Palestinians' willingness to accept a state comprising only the West Bank and Gaza Strip.

The territories, which Israel seized in the 1967 Middle East war, are just part of what was originally Palestine — land the Palestinians have claimed since 1948.

Nabil Shaath, head of the political committee that drafted the resolutions, said: "We expect a change in the American attitude toward the Palestinian problem. If America looks hard, and seriously enough, it will find all the elements needed for a true change in its position."

"Only a blind statesman will fail to see what the Palestinians are offering," he said.

The United States' longstanding preconditions for direct negotiations with the PLO have been that it recognize Israel and renounce terrorism. The White House said Tuesday that the PLO resolutions had "positive elements", and Bush said he wanted to be sure that the Palestinians have truly recognized Israel.

Israeli leaders, however, rejected the PLO declaration of independence as being full of "double talk", saying it did not explicitly recognize Israel or renounce terrorism.

But some Israeli analysts said the move has put Israel on the defensive.

The resolutions speak volumes about what moderate Palestinians see as achievable and what they will settle for to get the peace ball rolling.

The declaration of independence based its legitimacy for a Palestinian state, albeit territory occupied by Israel, on a 1947 United Nations resolution proposing the partition of Palestine into Arab and Jewish states.

On that basis, it appears the PLO is prepared to negotiate.

But progress in attaining peace also hinges on how far Palestinian radicals are prepared to go along with the terms the national council laid down.

George Habash, leader of the Marxist Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine and a longtime critic of PLO leader Yasser Arafat's efforts to find a political solution, bluntly stated Tuesday that as far as he was concerned the PLO has not recognized Israel.

The national council, whose members include Arafat rivals such as Habash, for the first time unanimously endorsed the Cairo Declaration on terrorism, which Arafat signed in 1985. That restricted guerrilla operations to targets inside Israel after two decades of worldwide war against the Jewish state.

Renunciation of terrorism is something Arafat twice has failed to convince the PLO's legislative body to endorse.

Neither the declaration of independence nor the political statement explicitly define the borders for an independent Palestinian state.

Shaath said that even in that, the Palestinians were showing flexibility.

"It's obvious from the political document that the shape and borders of the state is a negotiable detail."

That's a long jump from the PLO's 1968 charter, which stressed that the Palestinian state should embrace all the land under the British mandate after World War II, not just the West Bank and Gaza.

Asked what he thought the chances of peace were after the victory of the hard-line Likud bloc in Israel's general election earlier this month, Shaath said: "Ironically, it helped us. The election showed the contrast between Israeli offers and Palestinian offers. The difference is striking and totally in our favor."

No. 2 Jewish leader quits

FRANKFURT, West Germany (AP) — A West Germany Jewish leader who defended last week's controversial Kristallnacht speech in parliament quit today after strong criticism from other Jews, officials said.

Michael Fuerst, deputy chairman of the national Jewish council, had been harshly criticized for the comments he made following Thursday's speech of then-Parliament President Philipp Jenninger.

Jenninger had reminded his audience that many Germans initially welcomed Nazi dictator Adolf Hitler, and recalled that many people thought the Jews deserved being "put back in their place."

Jenninger also called the early Nazi years a "triumphal procession."

Furor over the speech mounted at home and abroad, and Jenninger quit the next day. He said he had been misunderstood, but also told nationwide television "you can't call everything by its name in Germany."

Jenninger, 56, gave the speech on the 50th anniversary of Kristallnacht, the night of terror against the Jews that signaled the coming Holocaust.

Just hours after the speech, Fuerst told a nationally televised panel discussion: "I welcome the fact that the parliament president described in full clarity what was happening in Germany between 1933 and 1938... especially the fact that everything Hitler did was strongly supported by the masses of all Germans."

Fuerst, 41, on Monday told The Associated Press that he fully supported what he said last week, and said that he had received numerous telephone calls of approval.

Bus driver dies of gunshot wound

PORT ARTHUR, Texas (AP) — A school bus driver, apparently shot in the back of the head earlier this month by a 10-year-old boy, died at a local hospital.

Driver Russell Jean Hampton, 40, died at 2:28 p.m. Tuesday at St. Mary's Hospital, officials said. Ms. Hampton had been in critical condition and in the hospital's intensive care unit since the shooting Nov. 3.

The boy, meanwhile, remains in the Jefferson County Detention Center in Beaumont.

Roger Fry, an assistant district attorney, said he does not believe the 10-year-old will face criminal charges because of his age. Children younger than 15 cannot be certified to stand trial as an adult.

Bush fills out economic team

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect George Bush has tapped feisty Gov. John Sununu as his chief of staff, sources say, a signal of change after his first two top appointments went to Reagan administration veterans.

Bush today attended a colorful White House ceremony welcoming British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher, who told reporters "I think we're all very fortunate in the Western world" that Bush will be Ronald Reagan's successor.

Their styles will be different, she said, but "for the first time we shall have continuity of policies, stretching over a second presidency ... and that gives enormous stability and confidence to the feeling of the world."

Thatcher, who was paying a farewell call on President Reagan, praised his administration as "one of the greatest in American history."

With Reagan by her side at a White House ceremony filled with expressions of mutual admiration, Mrs. Thatcher said the Reagan years "have restored faith in the American dream."

Reagan, in turn, praised Mrs. Thatcher as a leader of "courage, resolve and vision."

Later, while posing for photographers with Reagan in his office, Mrs. Thatcher said her visit was aimed not only at reminiscing about past achievements but at looking ahead to the incoming administration.

Bush did not take part in the Oval Office meeting.

Meanwhile, Bush's transition co-chairmen, Craig Fuller and Robert Teeter, were holding a news conference to announce a raft of additions to the transition team.

Among those slated to be named deputy transition directors is Fred Fielding, the former Reagan White House counsel now advising Dan Quayle, the vice president-elect.

On Tuesday, after flying home from a four-day Florida vacation with Sununu in tow, Bush met with West German Chancellor Helmut Kohl and announced Brady as the second occupant of his Cabinet. He said he was not prepared to announce his chief of staff, "but it might be fairly soon."

Sources close to Bush who insisted on anonymity said the choice was already made, with the nod going to the 49-year-old lame duck New Hampshire governor who helped Bush bounce back from a defeat in the Iowa caucuses last February.

The blunt-spoken Sununu, a onetime engineering professor, was an indefatigable Bush campaigner, often employed as a surrogate to attack Gov. Michael Dukakis, the Democratic nominee, and his claims of a "Massachusetts miracle."

The Sununu choice should cheer conservatives worried that the pivotal White House job would fall to Fuller, chief of Bush's vice presidential staff for the past four years and regarded as more of a moderate and pragmatist. Fuller may be in line for a Cabinet post, possibly Transportation. He is expected to disdain working under Sununu at the White House.

But Sununu's selection would leave Bush with a right-hand aide with no Washington experience. Sununu's government experience consists of six years as chief executive of one of the smallest states in the union. A father of eight, Sununu decided against seeking a fourth term this fall, largely for financial reasons.

Brady, 58, former chairman of the investment banking house of Dillon, Read & Co., joins James A. Baker III, the secretary of state-designate, as a cornerstone member of the Bush Cabinet. Brady took over the Treasury Department post in August when Baker quit to run Bush's campaign.

Bush said Brady "will be the chief economic spokesman for my administration."

"He knows that our most important priority is to keep our economy growing with low inflation and ... that we must resist the policies that will impede that effort, such as raising taxes or resorting to protection."

Bush added that Brady also "knows we've got to sit down with the Congress and hammer out a budget deficit reduction agreement and that we have to do it soon."

"I'm putting together a good team here ...," said Bush. "You'll see some continuity and you'll see some change."

Sununu flew to Florida Monday for a private dinner with Bush at a friend's beach home where the Bushes took their post-election respite.

At a dinner Tuesday night honoring his wife Barbara for her crusade against illiteracy, Bush joked that he had not quite been able to escape the media on his vacation.

"The slogan was not, given these telephoto lens, 'Read our lips,' but 'Read our hips' as we were in the surf," he said.

Both Bushes were visibly moved by the salute at the National Literacy Honors dinner, where Mrs. Bush and 18 adults who recently learned to read received gold medallions. Opera star Sherill Milnes, singers Loretta Lynn and Pearl Bailey, Govs. Thomas Kean of New Jersey and Bill Clinton of Arkansas, and the Naval Academy Glee Club joined in the

Possible gunshot strikes windshield

Sheriff's officers are investigating a report that a bullet may have broken a tractor windshield about eight miles northeast of Snyder near Ennis Creek Tuesday.

Ernest Shifflett of 2111 Merrill Ave. told officers at 10:03 p.m. Tuesday that a farm worker was driving the tractor when something hit the windshield. Shifflett speculated that it might have been a shot fired by a hunter.

PI, possession charged locally

A 23-year-old man was arrested for public intoxication and possession of drug paraphernalia at 10:44 p.m. Tuesday at 28th St. and Ave. O.

festivities. "I really am overwhelmed," Mrs. Bush told the audience of 1,200.

Bush, taking up that theme, said the entire audience of literacy activists and corporate sponsors were all part of what he meant by "a thousand points of light" reaching out "to help someone else."

Twenty-three million American adults are said to be unable to read above a fourth grade level.

Million plus aliens apply for amnesty

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal officials say extensive fraud has surfaced in a special farm worker amnesty program that has attracted more than 1 million applications, more than twice most projections.

Duke Austin, a spokesman for the Immigration and Naturalization Service, said the program has resulted in cases of gross fraud, partly because of its generous provisions, and fraud "cartels" have sprung up to provide false affidavits or other work documentation.

In one of more than 100 cases of alleged fraud now under prosecution, a New Jersey woman with five acres attested to employing 1,000 applicants, Austin said.

"There is extensive fraud in the program," Austin said. "The problem is identifying the fraud and how you go about eliminating it. That is a serious concern of ours."

Under the special agricultural worker (SAW) program, aliens who can document that they worked in U.S. agriculture for 90 days between May 1985 and May 1986 are eligible for temporary residency. After waiting either one or two years, they are then eligible for permanent residency.

The government bears the burden of disproving an alien's claim under SAW, unlike the general amnesty program that required undocumented aliens to compile exhaustive evidence of having lived in the United States continuously since 1982, Austin said.

The application period ends Nov. 30, and already more than 1 million applications have been received, the majority from California, Florida and Texas, Austin said.

"I don't think anybody in government or the service anticipated this number," Austin said. Under the general amnesty program of the 1986 Immigration Reform Act, 1,765,000 aliens applied for legalization.

Ron D'Aloisio, executive director of the Farmer Worker Justice Fund, said the great majority of applicants have valid claims and warned that if INS overreacts to questions of fraud that it could "chill the desires of people who do have valid applications to step forward and apply."

The SAW part of the immigration bill was never debated in Congress and no public hearings were ever held, Austin said.

SAW was included in the bill as a compromise with Western growers of perishable fruits and vegetables, who feared a legalized work force would lead to farm worker shortages and that crops would rot in the fields.

Beginning Dec. 1, farm employers will face sanctions for hiring undocumented workers.

items as color televisions, VCRs, bicycles, jewelry and kitchen appliances.

All sales slips will be verified the night of the auction. These must include the name of the merchant and the date, it was noted. Only sales slips from the 45 participating merchants will be accepted.

Other upcoming events noted Tuesday were a chamber coffee honoring West Texas State Bank scheduled Dec. 14, a Wednesday, from 9 until 11 a.m. Helping to host that event will be the chamber auxiliary group, the Sparklers.

The date for the annual spring chamber banquet was revealed also. It will be held on March 25 this year.

Also noted was the Western Texas College-McDonald's college basketball tournament now planned Dec. 2-3 in the coliseum. Four teams, to include the WTC Westerners, will compete in what officials hope will become an annual event involving as many as 16 teams, both men and women.

Also Tuesday, Blanche Chisum of the chamber's tourist development committee toured efforts to secure football playoff games now underway.

She noted area schools winning playoff berths have been contacted. To date, no games have been scheduled due to the uncertainty of exact matchups.

In other business, the board adopted a resolution opposing the location of a toxic waste site in Fisher County.

Directors attending Tuesday included David Kattes, who presided, Herbie Figueredo, Joe Coronado, M.L. Duke, Harley Bynum, Harry Krenek, Bill Davies, Donna Gray, Barbara Williamson, Elizabeth Potts and Gary Landes. Billy Huddleston was absent.

English, civic classes for amnesty recipients fill up

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Just one to two months after the courses started, English and civics classes are being attended by thousands of immigration amnesty recipients seeking eligibility for permanent residency.

The classes, mostly offered at night, are free to amnesty recipients. The overwhelming majority of amnesty recipients in West Texas are Spanish-speakers from Mexico, El Salvador and other Latin-American countries.

Vickers expected about 5,000 people, but enrollment already is closer to 5,600; 4,416 are attending classes at public schools, 850 to 900 are attending classes under the direction of El Paso Community College and 320 are going to courses sponsored by the Catholic diocese, authorities said.

The community college and diocese are holding classes under a subcontract with El Paso ISD. The federal government pays approved school districts, through state education agencies, to put on the classes.

Vickers now says he expects about 7,500 people to sign up for English and civics classes by the end of September.

Under the Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986, people who had lived in the United States illegally since before Jan. 1, 1982, were allowed to apply for temporary residency and amnesty from deportation.

Bush-Congress honeymoon will probably be very brief

WASHINGTON (AP) — As one of eight or so senators who can claim George Bush as a constituent, Democrat George Mitchell says he's always had "a cordial relationship" with the president-elect despite their political differences and he hopes that will continue.

Of course, it won't continue. The going will get rough and probably fairly early in the Bush administration.

But for now the Republican president-elect and the Democrats who have firm control of Congress are acting determined to enjoy a bit of a honeymoon.

As soon as his victory was confirmed election night, Bush talked about his determination to work with Congress and he continued that theme Tuesday when he announced his intention to retain Nicholas F. Brady as Treasury secretary.

Bush said Brady "knows we've got to sit down with the Congress on a deficit-reduction agreement and we've got to do it soon."

From an office in the Capitol where he can look down the Mall to the Washington Monument and beyond to the White House, Mitchell picked at a fruit salad and steadfastly refused to pick a fight with the new administration.

"I am very much opposed to the notion that we should be confrontational for the sake of confrontation," said the Maine senator who was re-elected last week with 81 percent of the vote — the highest percentage ever received by a Senate candidate in his state.

Bush has a summer home in Maine. The president-elect was born in Massachusetts, grew up in Connecticut and votes in Texas. For political purposes, he likes to claim a kinship with all four states.

Mitchell is involved in another election now, one that gives special weight to his view of how relations might evolve between Bush and the Democrats in Congress.

The Maine senator is one of three candidates for Senate majority leader. The others are Sen. Bennett Johnston of Louisiana and Sen. Daniel Inouye of Hawaii.

"I think I have a chance to win on the first ballot," said Mitchell of the election that will take place at the end of this month.

But senators are not a readily predictable electorate. There is a history of commitments made and then broken when the secret ballots are marked in the party caucus.

Whoever emerges as the winner in that contest will join House Speaker Jim Wright of Texas near the top of the new president's VIP list.

While the talk is now of cooperation, the differences on how to deal with the budget deficit are clear.

"I think you begin with a positive attitude," said Mitchell. "On the other hand, it's obvious there are differences and there will be differences and we must be prepared to actively and aggressively establish our agenda."

The battleground will be on taxes.

Bush locked himself into a position of rejecting a tax increase. "Read my lips," he told the nation. "No new taxes."

The Democratic attitude at this point is: OK, then, you come up with a way to reduce the deficit.

"There's no question revenues must be a part of it," Johnston said. "That's not a question of philosophy; that's a question of mathematics."

Sen. Huey P. Long, the "Kingfish" of Louisiana politics, was shot and mortally wounded inside the state capitol in Baton Rouge on Sept. 8, 1935. He died two days later.

In 1939, President Franklin D. Roosevelt declared a "limited national emergency" in response to the outbreak of war in Europe.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I broke two bones in my fingers. The fractures have healed, and I'm getting physical therapy. However, I have developed reflex sympathetic dystrophy. What exactly is this condition?

DEAR READER: Reflex sympathetic dystrophy is a peculiar nerve reaction that can occur in areas of the body where bone or soft-tissue injury has taken place.

The primary components of the syndrome are pain and shrinkage of tissue, seen as atrophy (withering) of bone or skin, loss of hair and increased sweating or flushing.

The precise cause of the dystrophy seems to be malfunction of certain autonomic nerves, those that are not under conscious control.

Physical therapy (to maintain muscle function and prevent joint contractures) is usually combined with injected nerve blocks (medicine to deaden the nerves temporarily.) If the nerve block is effective, consideration is given to surgery to cut the nerve and give more lasting results.

TENS (transcutaneous electrical nerve stimulation, using electrical impulses to block nerve function) and acupuncture are also sometimes helpful.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Today there are many foreign doctors who speak with heavy accents. I find it hard to understand them. When I ask for clarification they get peeved. How can I tact-fully find out if a doctor speaks with a heavy accent before making an appointment?

DEAR READER: Foreign doctors are often drawn to practice in the United States because they perceive that opportunities are greater here than in their native countries. Although these doctors may be highly competent practitioners, the language barrier can be a problem.

In evaluating a foreign doctor, I suggest that you use the same method that you would apply in selecting an American physician.

Request a get-acquainted visit to find out whether the doctor appears caring and is in agreement with your general philosophy about medical treatment.

Is he willing, despite a language handicap, to discuss issues with you and help you understand what he proposes to do and why? What are his billing procedures? Will he make house calls? What are his views about issues of life-support? Is he willing to include you in the decision-making process? These and other topics are important.

I've found that, all things being equal, the doctor's competence, availability and attitude are more important than his accent. Keep looking for a doctor until you find one who answers your needs and with whom you feel comfortable.

As part of the selection process, be sure to check the practitioner's credentials: You will want to be certain that he received the training he says he did. The county medical society or the state licensing bureau can verify this information. Beware of the doctor who is not a member in good standing of the county or state medical society.

Also, be wary of practitioners who refuse to take the extra time to explain to you, in understandable terms, your health problem and the treatment for it.

Many foreign doctors provide excellent health-care resources. The extra time it takes you to find the right doctor will be amply repaid.

The point is, in non-emergencies, take the time.

Texas Oil Co. sues Tenneco

HOUSTON (AP) — Seagull Energy Corp. intentionally interfered in Texas Oil Co.'s plan to buy a Tenneco subsidiary, according to a lawsuit filed by Texas Oil against Tenneco, Seagull and Morgan Stanley & Co.

The lawsuit, filed Tuesday by Texas Oil Co. in state district court, seeks to block the proposed sale of Houston Oil & Minerals Corp. to Seagull. The suit also asks for recovery of whatever damages may result.

Tenneco, the nation's 10th largest oil company, announced in May it was getting out of the risky oil business and selling its oil and gas operations.
