

Says district judge...

No decision yet on appointments

District Judge Gene Dulaney, newly elected to his second four-year term, said Thursday morning he has made no final decision as yet regarding appointments he will make effective Jan. 1 for the posts of auditor and probation officer for Scurry County.

District judges make these four-year appointments concurrent with their elected terms and there has been speculation in the community that Dulaney might be considering replacements, specifically for the post of county auditor now held by Bernhard Bartels.

He said Thursday he has not ruled out any possibilities, but See APPOINTMENTS, page 9

White House chief of staff

Bush to pick Gov. Sununu

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect George Bush will announce his choice of New Hampshire Gov. John Sununu as White House chief of staff at a mid-afternoon news conference, sources close to Bush said today.

The sources, who insisted on anonymity, said Bush is also likely to announce that Lee Atwater, his campaign manager, will succeed Frank Fahrenkopf Jr. as chairman of the Republican National Committee.

The transition office said only that Bush will make an announcement "involving his White House transition" at the 3 p.m. EST session at the Old Executive Office Building.

The Associated Press and others reported Tuesday that Bush had settled on Sununu, 49, a blunt-spoken three-term governor, to run the White House, passing over transition co-chairman Craig L. Fuller. Fuller has been chief of Bush's vice presidential staff for the past four years.

Bush told reporters today to "stay tuned" but refused to say whether he would make Sununu's appointment official or make any other announcements.

"I don't know," he said. "Maybe so, but I'm not sure."

For his part, Sununu refused to confirm at a news conference in Concord on Wednesday that Bush has tapped him for White House chief of staff.

"A request isn't a formal request until the tall thin guy sings," Sununu said. "And the tall thin guy hasn't sung publicly, and therefore I'm not going to comment."

Sununu has a reputation for being a quick study, highly intelligent and assertive. Some regard him as arrogant and abrasive, traits that could hurt him in working with Congress. He made light of that reputation Wednesday.

Ask Us

Q — What is the origin of the word "stump" in connection with political campaigns?

A — The Scurry County Library staff referred us to the "Dictionary of Word Origins," which states that this use of the word dates to 1775, when speakers would often climb onto the stumps of large trees to deliver their address.

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — The government expelled the head of the U.S. Embassy's political section for having too close contacts with Iraq's embattled Kurdish minority, diplomatic sources said today.

Speaking on condition of anonymity, the diplomats said Haywood Rankin was asked to leave Iraq after making an unauthorized trip to the north, home of Iraq's estimated 3.5 million Kurds.

Drama at WTC to open

"The Fifth Sun," which will comprise Western Texas College's American College Theatre Festival entry this year, will open its three-day run Friday in the Fine Arts Theatre on campus.

The play will be repeated nightly at 8 o'clock both Saturday and Monday.

The American Theatre Festival will be held in El Paso this year. WTC will be one of nine colleges and universities participating at the event.

Tickets for the local production may be reserved by calling 573-8511, ext. 240, during regular office hours or 573-8519 at other hours. Tickets are $5 for adults and $2 for students and senior citizens. WTC students with identification cards are admitted free of charge but are to pick up their tickets in advance of the performance they wish to attend.

WTC director Jim Rambo calls "The Fifth Sun" a departure from recent college productions. Written by Nicholas A. Patricca, it is based on the assassination of Archbishop Oscar Romero in San Salvador in 1980.

Appearing as the archbishop will be Dave Harveson from Fort Worth. Ken Howard from Graham will appear as the colonel in the El Salvadoran army's special forces who became involved in the conflict leading to the assassination. Dan Hawkins from Graham appears as the Nuncio, papal ambassador to Central America.

Kendra Christopher from Lubbock portrays Anne Dunn, a Mercy sister from America. Anthony Lopez of Eldorado is Hector Navarez, a diocesan priest of San Salvador, and Anthony Galvez from Andrews is Rutilo Grande, a Jesuit priest in El Salvador. Galvez also appears as the assassin.

The Mayan influence is felt throughout "The Fifth Sun." Five guardian deities appear in the play. Kukulkan, the priest and the Lord of Life are played by Cameron Hopson of Shallowater. Ahpuch, the Lord of Death, is played by Hawkins. Chac, the Lord of Rain, is played by Lori Tate of Hermleigh.

OPENS TOMORROW — A Catholic Archbishop who was assassinated in Latin America in the early 1980s, portrayed by Dave Harveson, is surrounded by sympathetic Mayan gods as the political forces that will lead to his death grow stronger in "The Fifth Sun," a

First local freeze is definitely 'late'

A first freeze date of Nov. 16 is considered a "late freeze," so late, in fact, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service says it is almost a once a decade occurrence.

Scurry County recorded its first freeze Wednesday with an official reading of 31 degrees. Early Thursday morning, the freeze repeated as the mercury dipped to 30.

According to the extension service, a first freeze "on or before"

Nov. 19 this Saturday for this area only occurs once every 10 years.

The average first freeze date, which conversely occurs five out of 10 times on the average, is on or before Nov. 4.

At the opposite end, an "early" freeze for this area would have been on or before Oct. 20. According to statistics, this occurs on the average once in a decade also.

This year's freeze was said behind schedule for much of the High Plains of Texas.

The National Weather Service expects the remainder of the month to have temperatures near normal for November.

Freezing weather this fall and winter may well be harder than usual on trees and shrubs, officials note, because plants have already been under stress from drought over much of this year's growing season.

As any Texas resident knows, the winters get colder as you move further north in the state.

The average first freeze date for the Panhandle area is Oct. 25. For the South Plains, it is Oct. 30.

South of here in Central Texas, the average first freeze occurs on Nov. 15, 11 days later than the Snyder average.

In the Coastal Bend or Valley Region of the state, a reading of 32 degrees or colder normally doesn't occur until Dec. 11.

TDC supporters here court Counts' support

Newly elected 78th District State Rep. David Counts of Knox City accompanied a group of local civic leaders to Dallas this week to a Texas Department of Corrections board meeting. Board of County Development members were told Wednesday.

In a noon meeting at Snyder Country Club, board member Jack Smartt said Counts was introduced to TDC board chairman Charles Terrell and promised to be supportive of Snyder and its new TDC unit.

Smartt said a reception and a separate fund-raising event are being planned for Counts here.

Board chairman Jack Denman commented community leaders have been correct in recently trying to become more involved in area and statewide politics as the city adjusts to its changing economic structure.

Other business in the hour-long meeting included a report from Chamber Manager Bill Moss on the revamping of a billboard advertising Snyder on Interstate 20 near Sweetwater and the repainting of two more billboards on U.S. 84 touting the city's attractions.

Moss received clearance to spend $1,200 on the two other billboards, saying he was pleased with the job that Snyder Signs did on the billboard near Sweetwater, which says, "Snyder, the place to be" and "a good place to retire."

Roy McQueen of the BCD's economic development committee attended the meeting, as did board members Eddie Johnson and Max von Roeder. Bill Parker was absent.

The teller on Deep Creek says, "One thing about the College of Hard Knocks—you can't drop the course."

Prior to becoming librarian at Snyder High School, Billie Harding was an English teacher. We first encountered her as a senior English teacher determined to make students read and ah yes, memorize Shakespeare.

She was also a taskmaster on proper grammar, punctuation and spelling. Each day when she stops to buy a newspaper, we expect to see her with red pencil in hand.

We were reminded of her insistence to avoid dangling participles and split infinitives when reading a small article about the ever-changing English language.

According to some word scholars, split infinitives are no longer taboo. A survey done by an Indiana University professor emeritus says 52 percent of the word merchants approve of a sentence using the words "to instantly trace." Just seven years ago, 90 percent would have found it unprintable.

If we live long enough, West Texan may become an acceptable language.

Some things don't change and that includes woman's love affair with footwear.

A new line of numbered, made-to-order designer shoes from Charles Jourdan cost up to $4,000 a pair. Available in New York, each pair will sport the owner's name inside. Buyers must allow two months for delivery.

Thompson's Sonny Greenfield says he'll make housecalls for a lot less. We're also curious if those $4,000 shoes are numbered from left to right or from right to left?

On a more practical footing, there is a new line of shoes for pregnant women. They are called "O.B. GEES."

Speaking of practical, a college student claims his father played a lousy trick on him.

"I sent an urgent letter home asking for $100 to buy a new dictionary, and he sent me a dictionary."

According to records, rooming house landlady had odd past

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — She appeared to be a grandmotherly landlady who took in the homeless, but court records show the woman arrested in the deaths of seven tenants was a dangerous eccentric who preyed on the ill and elderly for years.

The records indicate that 59-year-old Dorothea Montalvo Puente, who was arrested late Wednesday in downtown Los Angeles after a five-day search, could be kind and generous one moment and cunning and cruel the next.

Puente had not been seen since Saturday, when police allowed her to walk away from her Victorian rooming house after the first of seven bodies was unearthed in the yard.

Her estranged daughter, Linda Bloom of South Pasadena, described her as "shy, withdrawn and reserved" with "no real personality." Doctors discovered she may have a penchant for poisoning as far back as 1980, according to a probation report.

Police believe Puente killed tenants to collect their Social Security benefits. They have a list of two dozen people who are missing and who might have lived at Puente's eight-bedroom house at one time or another.

One former tenant, Homer Myers, told reporters Wednesday that he and other tenants unknowingly helped Puente dispose of the bodies by digging the makeshift graves.

Myers, 74, said Puente first asked him to dig a hole in the back yard for an apricot tree.

"She said she had contacted a nursery and they told her she needed a hole that was 4 feet by 4 feet and 5 feet deep. I thought that was a little deep. Now I know why."

Court documents, including a record of her first conviction for forging checks in 1948, paint the picture of a conniving, manipulative woman who can concoct a story for any occasion.

In the court documents, most of which were filed in connection with search or arrest warrants, Puente claimed to be of Mexican descent, the youngest of 18 children. However, San Bernardino County recorded her birth as Dorothea Helen Gray, on Jan. 19, 1929, in Redlands, to Jessie Gray, an ex-serviceman, and Trudy Yates, a housewife.

Composer Ludwig van Beethoven died in 1827 in Vienna.

Dear Abby

It's a Crime When Punishment Completely Fails to Fit Offense

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am enclosing two items clipped today from the Atlanta Constitution. They appeared one directly above the other. The first reports that a Mineola, N.Y., driver was racing down the street at 100 miles per hour. His car crashed into a limousine carrying a wedding party. Instantly killed were the groom, age 27, and his brother, who was the best man, age 29. The bride (age 24) died 18 days later without knowing of her husband's death.

The driver of the car that killed them was sentenced to 28 months to seven years in prison.

The other item was about a man in Lubbock, Texas, who was sentenced to 10 years in prison for biting off part of a police officer's ear! The jury deliberated only 10 minutes before arriving at the sentence.

Am I mistaken? Or is this a case of misplaced priorities?

OUT OF STEP IN ATLANTA

DEAR OUT OF STEP: If you are out of step, so am I. In the case of the reckless driver who crashed into the limousine, killing three members of the wedding party, I think the sentence was outrageously lenient.

And in case No. 2: The sentence was excessively harsh.

DEAR ABBY: In response to the young woman who was embarrassed to wear her Phi Beta Kappa pin: Being elected PBK is an honor; it doesn't mean you're a snob or a nerd. That's why I proudly wear my Phi Beta Kappa key as an earring.

DEAR NANCY: One earring? Bright people usually attract bright people. Lead with the ear wearing the Phi Beta Kappa key, and you might end up with a pair.

DEAR ABBY: I am a Chinese woman who came to the United States 15 years ago. I was in my late 20s and could not speak English very well. I read your column faithfully to learn the English language and more about the customs in my new country.

Lately I have read in your column that some people do not wish to be called "Honey." May I relate my experience regarding same?

When I first came here, I was especially nervous talking on the telephone because my English was so poor. Once I had to make a business call, so I dialed a number. A lady answered with a very sweet voice, and when I told her whom I was looking for, she said, "Honey, I'm afraid you dialed a wrong number." I said, "Oh, I am very sorry."

I dialed again, and the same lady answered the phone! I was very embarrassed, but the lady was very patient, and she said sweetly, "What number did you dial, Honey?" I told her, and she said, "That is my number, but there is no such person here. I think you should check the number again."

Abby, 15 years have passed. I do not remember whom I was looking for, but I will never forget the first time in my entire life someone — a total stranger whom I had bothered twice — called me "Honey" twice! This would never have happened in my country.

So why not keep the friendly American custom? You may use my Chinese name.

Two major pot seizures reported

LOS EBANOS, Texas (AP) — More than 2,500 pounds of marijuana have been found this week by alert U.S. Customs agents on surveillance details.

Agents watching a stretch of the Rio Grande about 200 yards west of the Hidalgo County border town of Los Ebanos on Tuesday night spotted a man floating something across the river on a rubber raft.

They arrested him and found 424 pounds of marijuana with an estimated street value of $381,000 on a rubber raft. Customs spokesman Charles Conroy said.

"We had surveillance in the area because it is a known smuggling area," Conroy said.

Agents arrested 35-year-old Joaquin Garcia-Rios of Diaz Ordaz, Tamaulipas, Mexico, who was being held in the Hidalgo County Jail in Edinburg, pending arraignment, said Conroy.

Creative decorating is Beta Sigma Phi topic

"Creative Ideas for Decorating" was the topic presented by Barbara Bills at the Nov. 1 meeting of Beta Sigma Phi held in the Bills home.

Members were urged to unlock their imaginations to create unique holiday decorations. Bills said that personal style is a measure of good design and that one's home should reveal the occupants' interests, regional heritage, talents and loves.

The group discussed collectibles and were given an opportunity to view many of Bills' collections including antiques, miniature boxes, Depression glass, and Special Moments figures.

Patricia Warren received a hand decorated basket for naming most of the collection items.

In summary, members were told that nothing warms and relaxes a home more than sharing personal things with friends who visit.

Dena Ellis, president, conducted the business session with Jacalyn Lowrance calling roll and reading minutes. Jeanne Johnson discussed the current ways and means project and gave the treasurer's report.

Other committee reports were given by Carolyn House, programs; Wanda Early, social;

Lowrance, ways and means; and Mona Bryan, service.

Hostesses for the evening were Bills and Anne Foster.

Usually it's wrong to lead a singleton in the declarer's side-suit. You only help declarer bring in the suit. Here there would never be any play for 11 tricks if West led a spade. The defenders would play three rounds of spades. Declarer would ruff, draw trumps and eventually get to dummy with the heart ace to take a diamond finesse. And East should wait until the second diamond honor was played from dummy before covering with the queen. That would give East the setting trick with the nine of diamonds.

But the seven of diamonds was led. Sure enough, South called for dummy's 10. East played low, and declarer was down one anyway. After drawing trumps and returning to dummy with the heart ace to play the diamond jack, declarer had a diamond loser after East had covered. Declarer's winning action at trick one is simply to play the diamond eight from dummy. Whatever now happens, South can draw trumps, get back to dummy and take whatever further diamond finesses are necessary.

SHS Tigers have potential, need leadership, hard work

Coach Larry Scott said his 1988-89 Snyder High School varsity boys basketball team has potential but will have to work hard to achieve success.

"We're in the same place we were last year. We have the potential to have a good team but we need some leaders to step forward and we really need to work hard on a lot of things," said Scott, whose Tigers open the season Friday in Abilene.

Three lettermen, including two starters, return from a squad that reached the regional semifinals last year enroute to a 24-9 record.

Last year's district sophomore of the year, Tracy Braziel returns, as does two-year senior letterman Lewis Wesley. The other returnee is Dwayne Clinkinbeard, a 6-2 senior.

Braziel, 6-1, averaged 14.7 points and 8.4 rebounds as a sophomore.

Joining them will be Michael Avila, a 5-11 senior transfer.

Other seniors are 6-4 Jeff Franklin, 6-1 Tyrone Durst, 5-11 Michael Riggins, 6-3 Tony Anderson and 5-10 Shane McCarter. Juniors are 5-10 Jason West and 5-11 Lee Hamilton.

Jimmy Sturdivant is the team statistician-manager. Bud Birks is Scott's assistant coach.

"We don't have the overall physical talent we've had in the past. The last three or four years we had Chris Garrett and Trey Tippens and they both went to major college Division I football programs," noted Scott. "We've got some good athletes, but not in the same quantity as in the past."

Garrett, a 1987 graduate, signed with Nebraska while Tippens, who was a member of last season's Tiger squad, signed with Oklahoma.

Scott lists tradition as the Tigers' greatest asset heading into the season, but tradition has also caused havoc with the schedule. Snyder opens with a trio of Class 5A teams, and plays only two home games before Jan. 10.

"We'd like to have more home games early but a lot of teams don't want to play us because of our tradition," said Scott. "Sometimes the only people we can play are 5A teams."

Snyder could have possibly scheduled two more home games but they would have involved strong 5A schools. Instead, the Tigers will play Brownwood in Abilene on Nov. 29 and Mineral Wells in Clyde on Dec. 6.

"The first few games are going to be real important for us," said Scott. "Cooper is picked to win its district and Lubbock High has been picked second in theirs."

Friday's contest with Abilene Cooper is scheduled for a 7:30 p.m. start in Abilene. A junior varsity contest is set for 6 p.m.

The Tigers make their home debut on Saturday, hosting Lubbock High at 7:30 p.m. in Scurry County Coliseum. Junior varsity squads vie at 6 p.m. Tonight, Snyder freshmen boys open their season by hosting Cooper at 5:30 p.m. in the high school gym.

SWC cage teams look good; guards among nation's best

DALLAS (AP) - In its 75th year, the Southwest Conference could feature the best guard play in the nation, its coaches said on the league's media day.

"The guards in this league are comparable to any on the outside," said Houston coach Pat Foster. "College basketball is becoming a guard game. You will see a lot of teams going to three-guard offenses. There are few great centers and the three-point shot can offset them."

Arkansas coach Nolan Richardson said "the really good guards from the three-point line can offset those inside aircraft carriers. And we could have the best guards of any league in the country in this country. Those guards out there can make you or break you."

Texas' Tom Penders and Southern Methodist's John Shumate, new coaches on the Southwest Conference basketball block, drew a lot of attention on the media day that was held Wednesday.

Penders, who came to the Longhorns from Rhode Island, promised a run-and-gun offense, saying "I think a high-risk offense is too many passes. If you have too many passes you have too many chances to kick the ball out the door."

Rhode Island averaged 90 points per game last year.

"Every team we played tried to hold the ball against us but we still got our points," he said. "I disagree with the conclusion that you can't run and play defense. We will play an aggressive, gambling defense."

Penders replaced Bob Weltlich who was fired after producing methodical, mediocre teams that drew an average of less than 4,000 fans to Texas' home games.

Shumate, who was an assistant under Digger Phelps at Notre Dame, inherited a well-stocked SWC champion from Dave Bliss, who went to New Mexico.

"We'll try to be a running team because with the athletes we have in the backcourt (Kato Armstrong and Todd Alexander) it would do an injustice to walk the ball up," Shumate said. "I can adjust my style of play to the talent on hand. I'm comfortable doing what it takes to win."

Shumate gets an early test. The Mustangs play Wyoming in Laramie on Friday night in a nationally televised (10 p.m. ESPN) first round game of the Big Apple NIT.

"There's some great talent in the Southwest Conference this year," Shumate said. "I wouldn't be surprised if the league had two teams in the Top 20 and four teams in the NCAA playoffs."

Southwest Conference teams will be playing in one brand new building to play in this year - the Ferrell Center at Baylor.

Canseco AL's Most Valuable

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) - Jose Canseco plans to announce his next lofty goal in spring training. It's already clear he won't settle for 40 home runs and 40 stolen bases again.

"I want to become a better ballplayer," the Oakland right fielder, the unanimous winner of the American League Most Valuable Player award, said Wednesday. "I'm not going to stop improving. I'm only 24 years old."

Canseco can't improve on the results of voting by members of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

He is the seventh AL player to be the MVP unanimously, and the first in 15 years. Hank Greenberg (1935), Al Rosen (1953), Mickey Mantle (1956), Frank Robinson (1966), Denny McLain (1968) and Reggie Jackson (1973) preceded him.

"I'm real happy to win the MVP ... but if I didn't win it I wasn't going to be really disappointed," he said. "The thing that will stand out mostly in my mind is the 40-40 because I was the first to do it."

Canseco reached the historic 40-40 plateau in homers and stolen bases on Sept. 23. When he announced it as a goal last spring, he didn't realize that no one had ever achieved it.

Boston left fielder Mike Greenwell was a distant runner-up with 242 points, 150 behind Canseco. He was followed by Minnesota center fielder Kirby Puckett, New York Yankees right fielder Dave Winfield, A's reliever Dennis Eckersley, Boston third baseman Wade Boggs and Detroit shortstop Alan Trammell.

In his third full season, Canseco hit .307 with a major-league high 42 homers and 124 runs batted in while leading the Athletics to a major league-leading 104 victories and the AL pennant. He stole 40 bases and was second in the AL with 120 runs scored, finishing among the top 10 players in 12 of 17 official offensive categories.

Givens sues Tyson

NEW YORK (AP) - Mike Tyson's fights continue to take place outside the ring.

Robin Givens, his estranged wife, filed a $125-million libel suit Wednesday against the undisputed heavyweight champion.

In a lawsuit filed in federal court in Manhattan, the 23-year-old actress accused Tyson of holding her up "to public contempt, ridicule, embarrassment disgrace and prejudice" for remarks he made that were quoted by the New York Post.

Among Tyson's quotes in the Post article that angered Givens: "She manipulated me ... Now it turns out she was lying when she said she didn't want anything from me."

"The nature of those two women (Givens and her mother, Ruth Roper) is to be mean, and vindictive. She said she wants nothing, but she refused to sign a release."

"And she (Givens) stole money from me when we were together."

The Post was not named as a defendant in the lawsuit, which described the article as "false, defamatory, malicious and libelous." The newspaper had no immediate comment.

Tyson and Givens, married Feb. 12, have filed for divorce. He is suing her in New Jersey and she is suing him in California.

"I think it's funny," Tyson's manager, Bill Cayton, told The Associated Press.

"The lawsuit is outrageous and ludicrous," Howard Weitzman, Tyson's lawyer, said. "This young lady once again is attempting to shift blame from her conduct to someone else and blame them for any problems she perceives she's having."

Opinions vary on FBI investigation

MIDLAND, Texas (AP) — A federal judge is expected to decide by the end of the month whether the FBI illegally secured a grand jury subpoena in an investigation of an agent who filed a class-action racial discrimination lawsuit against the bureau.

An assistant U.S. attorney from Virginia testified Wednesday that an FBI agent asked him to obtain the subpoena for "an administrative inquiry with a criminal aspect."

The FBI says its probe of agent Bernardo "Matt" Perez is administrative, although grand jury subpoenas are supposed to be used in only criminal — not administrative — investigations.

Perez filed the racial discrimination suit in January 1987. After a two-week, non-jury trial in El Paso in August, Judge Lucius Bunton ruled that the FBI had discriminated against Perez and the 310 Hispanic agents who joined him in the lawsuit. Perez is the No. 2 agent in El Paso.

The administrative inquiry into Perez was launched just two weeks after he filed the lawsuit and about three weeks after the FBI exonerated Perez in a criminal perjury investigation related to the administrative probe.

Perez and his attorneys maintain the administrative inquiry is retaliation for filing the suit and for contradicting his boss' testimony in the espionage trial of Los Angeles agent Richard Miller.

Specifically, FBI inspector Gary Hart asked for the subpoena through an intermediary so he could examine telephone toll records to determine whether Perez had tried to call Hart one day while Hart was conducting the criminal investigation, according to testimony. Perez said he tried to call Hart; Hart said Perez didn't.

Justice Williams, an assistant U.S. attorney in Virginia, testified Wednesday that FBI agent Raymond Connally Jr. asked Williams to obtain the subpoena in early 1987. He said Connally implied the investigation into Perez could become a criminal probe.

Williams testified he never told the grand jury about the subpoena issued in its name.

Connally said Hart asked him to request the subpoena.

Hart testified Tuesday he wanted to subpoena the phone records to ascertain Perez' believability because "credibility was the underlying purpose of the inquiry."

Texas has more carbon dioxide emissions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mexico's Chihuahuan Desert is creeping deeper into West Texas, and Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower blames a global warming trend that he says could devastate vast stretches of farm and rangeland.

"The current situation truly calls upon state leadership to think globally and act locally," Hightower said Wednesday at a news conference to release a study of the state-by-state contributions to the carbon gases from fossil fuels responsible for the greenhouse effect.

"Turning the corner on greenhouse gases is too big to leave to the federal government.

It requires a multitude of decentralized decisions that improve our energy efficiency, alter our energy source mix, change the way we grow our food and the way we help our economies grow," Hightower said.

Hightower said a failure to stabilize the global warming trend could have staggering implications for Texas farmers as well as its timber and aquaculture industries along the Gulf Coast, such as commercial fishing and tourism.

A study by Renew America, a Washington-based conservation group, said Texas in 1986 released 155 million metric tons in carbon emissions from fossil fuels, almost double the second-ranking state, California, which spewed 85.23 million metric tons into the air.

Hightower, a member of the Renew America board of directors, said Texans' penchant for the pickup truck and lack of mass transportation in urban areas, the oil industry, coastal area refineries, chemical and plastics plants all contribute to the emissions level.

Of all the gases that contribute to the greenhouse effect, carbon dioxide is the largest single element at about half, Renew America said.

"Substantially cutting carbon dioxide emissions is a crucial, and achievable, approach to the goal of stabilizing the atmospheric chemistry," the report said.

"At the same time, reducing fossil fuel consumption can help ease the problems of acid rain and ground-level ozone pollution."

The report recommended improvements in energy efficiency, a switch from oil and coal to natural gas in generating electricity, and the transition to an energy system based on solar and other renewable, non-fossil energy resources.

Hightower said his office is examining the trend's effects on the state.

Mother, sons treated following wreck here

A Snyder woman and her two young sons were injured in a two-vehicle collision at 7:50 a.m. Thursday in the 1000 Block of 28th St.

Maria Gonzalez and her sons, 10-year-old Jesse and 9-year-old Joe, were taken by Snyder EMS Ambulance Service to Cogdell Memorial Hospital, where the boys were examined and released.

Mrs. Gonzalez, suffering from a bump on her head and arm pain, declined treatment at the hospital, saying that she would see a private physician.

Police said a 1983 Ford pickup driven south on Ave. J by Julian Olivarez of 1501 Ave. G was in collision with the 1980 Ford station wagon driven west on 28th by Gonzalez.

Both vehicles had to be towed from the scene.

Message: smoking just isn't chic

By The Associated Press

Americans hoping to live tobacco-free were determined to butt out of smoking today in the 12th annual Great American Smokeout as celebrities stressed the message: You're a fool if you think smoking is cool.

"I started smoking at 14 because I thought it was chic," said actress Celeste Holm, who with other stars at New York City's Lincoln Center on Wednesday urged participation in the smokeout.

"I didn't know it would kill you. Now we know better."

Anti-smokers around the country prepared for the big snuff-out, which attempts to coax puff-ers to say, "Enough!" — at least for a day.

In Nebraska, a sheriff said he wanted to "arrest smoking," newborn babies in Seattle and Council Bluffs, Iowa, were adorned with anti-smoking T-shirts and the operator of the trans-Alaska oil pipeline tried to convince people that it's no joke to smoke.

New to the smokeout this year is the "Back a Quitter" program. Backers act as buddies to the smokers for the day. By soliciting pledges from co-workers for every hour they go without a cigarette, the smokers also will raise funds for the American Cancer Society.

The American Cancer Society, which sponsors the event, estimated nearly 40 percent of the nation's 50 million smokers participated last year.

"Here's our answer to a pack-a-day — a pachyderm!" shouted ringmaster Paul Binder in New York as one of two cigarette-smashing elephants stomped a Styrofoam butt to promote the smokeout at New York's "Big Apple Circus."

"I bet if you could show people who don't smoke have a much better sex life, most people would quit today," said Dr. Ruth Westheimer, the sex therapist who managed a smile despite the elephant trunks swinging over her. "So let's pretend that's true."

DWI is charged

A 21-year-old man was arrested for DWI at 1:29 a.m. Thursday in the 2300 Block of Ave. O.

Accused mass murderer convicted

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A man accused of fatally slashing and stabbing four siblings in their mobile home last spring was convicted of capital murder after being labeled by prosecutors as a cold, cowardly, cutthroat murderer.

Leo Narvaiz Jr., 20, showed no emotion when the verdict was read shortly before 6 p.m. Wednesday.

The 11-woman, one-man jury deliberated about 2 1/2 hours before finding Narvaiz guilty of killing his former girlfriend, Shannon, Mann, 17, along with her siblings, Jennifer, 19; Martha, 15; and Ernest, 11; at their mobile home on April 15.

The punishment phase of the trial is scheduled to begin today and Narvaiz faces the maximum penalty of death by injection. Testimony in the three-week trial indicated that the Manns were brutally slain with knives taken from their kitchen. Some of the knives were propelled with such force that they broke in the victims' bodies.

Testimony also has revealed that Narvaiz was high on cocaine the morning of the slayings and that his former girlfriend told her she loved him and begged for her life moments before she died of multiple stab wounds.

Bexar County District Attorney Fred Rodriguez declined to comment, but Narvaiz's attorneys said their client was somewhat surprised by the verdict.

"I think anybody would be surprised by a verdict such as this," attorney Ernie Glenn said. "(But) I think Leo will accept the verdict as it came back from the jury."

The guilty verdict came one day after jurors heard Shannon Mann's final words, in which she made a call to a 911 emergency operator to say Narvaiz was attacking them.

Rodriguez said that Narvaiz killed the Manns to punish them because Shannon refused to see him anymore.

"He wants justice. He's gotten the right to a public trial," Rodriguez said in closing arguments Wednesday.

"What right did this gutless, spineless, murderer accord them? None at all," Rodriguez said, describing the slayings as the most grisly in the county's history.

Play's cast listed below

Ghanan, the Lord of Cultivation, is played by Joy McSpadden of Snyder, and Nanuatzin, the Fifth Sun, is played by Larry Almanza of Snyder. Appearing as other dieties, bishops, villagers and strike organizers will be Ila Kay Gross of Knox, Trisha Phillips of Snyder, Christopher, Lopez, Hawkins, Howard, Hopson, Tate and McSpadden.

Serving as technical director for the play is Galen Price of Snyder. Special music is being arranged by Jane Womack.

He started out with that grain of vengeance in his black heart. He got to thinking he had been replaced. He had a mission in mind and when he got out there he executed it.

"There was a smell of fear in the mobile home. They stared death in the face and they saw a knife-wielding, cowardly, cutthroat — Leo Narvaiz — and that was the last person they saw before they died," Rodriguez said.

Narvaiz, accused of breaking windows in a truck belonging to Shannon's boyfriend in late March, had maintained his innocence after his arrest.

He told police investigators two days after the slayings, however, that he remembered going to the Mann home after snorting a large amount of cocaine. He said he stabbed Jennifer after she stabbed him, but that he did not remember stabbing Ernest, Shannon or Martha.

In the tape-recorded telephone call, however, Shannon Mann names her attacker as Leo, prosecutors said.

"Leo, please don't," Shannon Mann is heard saying. "I love you. I love... I love you."

A voice on the tape, identified by a police detective as Narvaiz's, asked Shannon Mann, "Why did you have to do this to me?" and "Did you call the cops?"

"No, I didn't," she said. Glenn maintained in closing arguments that police did not do their job correctly and may be trying to pin the crime on Narvaiz.

"Look at these pictures and decide. Is it possible that this little guy did this all by himself?" he said.

Canadian businessmen leading bidders going into PTL auction

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP) — Two Canadian businessmen were the leading candidates to purchase the assets of PTL at a bankruptcy-court auction today that culminates 18 months of financial troubles for the once-affluent ministry.

U.S. Bankruptcy Judge Rufus Reynolds on Wednesday rejected the initial proposals by the Canadians to buy PTL and ordered an auction in his courtroom, with bidding to begin at $115 million.

Reynolds said he could not accept the competing bids by Stephen Mernick of Toronto and Peter Thomas of Vancouver, British Columbia, in part because they contained clauses allowing the buyer to walk away from the purchase within a certain time after closing.

Mernick, a 34-year-old real estate developer who is an Orthodox Jew, had offered $115 million to be financed by using the Christian ministry's assets as collateral. Thomas had proposed a $113 million financed bid or $70 million cash bid.

PTL bankruptcy trustee M.C. "Red" Benton had recommended Mernick as the ministry's buyer.

Neither Mernick nor Thomas would say whether they intended to bid at the auction. Thomas said he planned to attend and would consider his position overnight.

Mernick spokesman Alex Coffin said Mernick did not plan to attend.

emphasized that he has yet to reach any final decisions. "I'll make my choices Dec. 31," he said.

The probation officer position is now held by Larry Thompson. Bartels, a former county commissioner and a member along with Dulaney of the Republican Party, was appointed by the new judge as he first took office in January of 1985. At that time, Bartels replaced Gwen Sealy, who had been appointed by former District Judge Wayland G. Holt.

Thompson received his appointment following the death while in office of former probation officer Bill Zimmerman.

Salinas recognized

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The conservative National Action Party said it had ended its efforts to annul the results of the July 6 election and adopted the role of "a responsible democratic opposition" to President-elect Carlos Salinas de Gortari.

National Action on Wednesday said it still maintained that Salinas, of the ruling Institutional Revolutionary Party, won the presidency in a fraudulent election.

Abel Vicencio Tovar, National Action's PAN's secretary general, called on Salinas to begin his term on Dec. 1 with "a transition to a real democracy."

Textbook shortage handicaps schools

BOSTON (AP) — Severe textbook shortages are undercutting education in urban school districts nationwide because of higher book prices, budgetary constraints and a tendency to cut books before people, educators complain.

"One of the things about textbooks is they don't vote and they don't go out on strike. If you cut personnel, you get screams of anguish," said Harriet Tyson-Bernstein, author of "A Conspiracy of Good Intentions: America's Textbook Fiasco," a new book highly critical of the textbook industry.

A study of 31 schools in five urban districts by the Washington-based Institute for Educational Leadership, released in September, found an across-the-board lack of instructional materials, including textbooks.

"In general, the resource situation is pretty bleak. The lack of supplies in the school systems is pretty obvious," said Lisa Walker, policy resource director for the private, non-profit think tank. "This is often an area of the budget where funding is cut."

But the textbook shortage compromises educational quality, some principals contend. "One of the teachers said it was like building a house without any nails," said Walker.

At Mather elementary school in a working-class Boston neighborhood, the second grade doesn't have enough math textbooks, the fourth grade needs social studies books and the sixth grade lacks language texts. Health books are missing entirely in the school of 550 students.

Forced to pare its budget, the Boston School Department last spring eliminated $1.3 million in funding for instructional supplies, leaving $3.7 million for textbooks, paper, pencils and other materials.

"It's one of the few variable costs you have in the School Department," said Peter Rowe, deputy superintendent for planning and business affairs for the 58,000-student system. Higher book costs also have hurt.

"It was a choice when we came to it between things like textbooks or librarians or nurses or athletic programs or field trips," he said Wednesday.

In the September study of schools in Detroit, Denver, New Orleans, Indianapolis and Rochester, N.Y., 20 of the 31 schools surveyed said they had "serious problems" with instructional materials

Dr. Gott

Peter Gott, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My daughter had a very long and difficult labor. During it, she developed a swelling at her jaw joint and under her eye which closed the eye completely. It went away in a few weeks. Now she's pregnant again. I'm very worried that she was close to a stroke during her previous labor. What do you think?

DEAR READER: I do not know the cause of your daughter's facial swelling during labor.

However, I very much doubt that a blood clot was to blame. Perhaps she developed edema (fluid in the tissue) as a result of the strenuous bearing-down she experienced during childbirth.

Discuss your concerns with her obstetrician. I am sure that he or she can answer your question.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Well, I've used saltpeper with my Labrador during spring and fall mating seasons. The substance reduced his sexual interest and made him less obnoxious.

DEAR READER: Well, OK. Labrador owners take notice.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I have chronic bronchitis and emphysema. I can handle it except for the 35-pound weight gain I experienced when I started prednisone. My oxygen level is too low for exercise and skippy diets won't work as I take too much medicine. Do you have any suggestions?

DEAR READER: I followed your reasoning all right, until the part about diet and medicine.

Patients who take cortisone drugs, such as prednisone, may tend to retain salt and accumulate fluid. I can appreciate that exercise is not an option for you, because of your low oxygen.

However, if you are overweight, you can still diet and take medicine. As a start, avoid "empty" calories: Eliminate alcohol and sugar from your diet, eat smaller portions and reduce your intake of fat. In this way, you can remove unwanted pounds and still take the necessary medicines.

Emphysema can be helped by maintaining an "ideal weight"; your doctor, in conjunction with a dietician, can assist you in this effort.

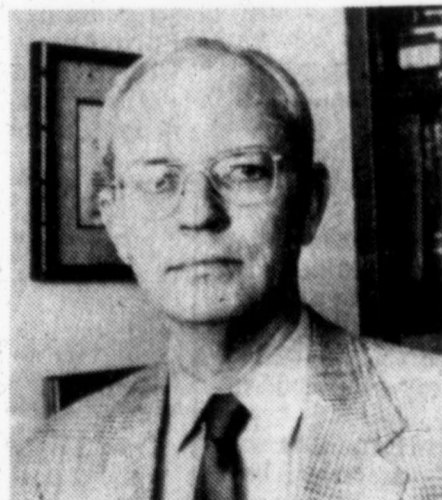

For more information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Winning the Battle of the Bulge." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.
