Storm deaths

By The Associated Press The National Guard was patrolling in Tuscaloosa, Ala., as the South cleaned up today from a barrage of nearly two dozen lateseason tornadoes and storms that killed at least two people and damaged more than 150 homes

The same storm system carried high winds and heavy rains to parts of Ohio and Pennsylvania on Sunday, ripping off the roof of an empty school in southwestern Pennsylvania and toppling a 75-foot Christmas tree in Pittsburgh.

In the Caribbean, Tropical Storm Keith, the season's 11th storm, churned off Mexico's Yucatan Peninsula. Forecasters expect it to reach hurricane strength as it heads into the Gulf of Mexico.

It could hit Florida late in the week.

Fed drug testing will quadruple federal employee drug-testing program instituted by President Reagan will quadruple in size next year unless stopped in its tracks by legal challenges.

An estimated 50,000 employees were tested this year, mainly law enforcement officers, transportation inspectors and civilians working for the military

But the program is expected to test some 200,000 members of the 3.1 million federal work force in 1989, according to the National Institute of Drug Abuse.

About 150,000 to 170,000 of those will be tested at random and come from a pool of some 500,000 workers in positions deemed sen-

Diocese probes deal

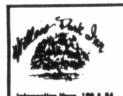

HOUSTON (AP) - A lawsuitaccusing a Vietnamese priest of bilking thousands of dollars from nearly 100 Vietnamese refugees through a condominium deal has prompted an investigation by the Diocese of Galveston-Houston, officials said. The Rev. Chinh Chan Tran is accused with other defendants in a lawsuit of intentionally misleading the investors, misusing funds for his own profit and abusing his position as a spiritual leader in the Vietnamese community

"In my country, priest is always respected, and we do not ask questions," said investor Vuong Thi. "Priest said the account was none of (our) business and he would take care of it."

Tran has denied any wrongdoing in the deal, which also has drawn the scrutiny of the Harris County district attorney's office.

"Whatever he has done, it has been without church sponsorship," said Chancellor Dan Shield of the diocese, which initiated its first investigation of Tran in April 1987.

Those figures do not include untold numbers of federal job applicants who will be tested if applying for sensitive positions, nor do they reflect the Transportation Department's far-reaching requirement to test nearly four million private sector transportation workers — from truckers to airline pilots. That program would begin late next year for businesses employing more than 50 workers. Those with fewer than 50 would have two years to get ready for testing.

Small counties find disaster plans costly

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas nothing to the commission. (AP) - No money and too little time are making it hard for Texas' smaller counties to comply disaster plans, county officials running into the most trouble.

"It's just like someone told you to do some overtime work on your own time without getting paid for it," said Charlie Stone, chairman of Refugio County's mittee. He often works 60 hours a week at his tire dealership in Refugio, leaving him little time to plan how to cope with D.C disasters.

Stone says no funding, little time and less cooperation have prevented him from completing the plan, which was due in Austin on Oct. 17. But he's not alone: of 254 counties in Texas, 225 have not complied.

HOUSTON (AP) - When the non-profit Texas Guaranty Student Loan Corp. board of directors spent more than $5,000 during a meeting at a plush South Padre Island resort, it drew gasps in financial aid circles.

But the 1986 meeting was only one of a series of expensive travel and entertainment costs, funded by student fees and federal money, that have surprised and angered some college officials.

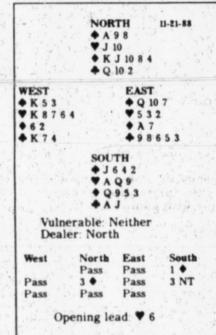

'Any money that TGSLC spends is money provided by students or the federal government," said Judy Walker, president of the Texas Association of Student Financial Aid Administrators. "Yet I feel like they operate in a world outside of mine because we don't spend money that way.'

Texas college students whose loans are guaranteed by the corporation pay higher guarantee fees than most other students across the country, a survey shows. In Texas, the fees as of Dec. 1 for various loans will range from 2.5 percent to 3 percent, the maximum allowed by the federal government.

"When I see them picking up expensive tabs for entertainment and travel, I get angry because it comes out of my students' pockets," said one financial aid officer at a small private college.

Avoidance is the name given to a special kind of play that declarer employs to keep the dangerous hand from gaining the lead until it's too late to do the defenders any good. This week we will look at several sample deals demonstrating the principles of avoidance. Today's hand illustrates an unusual play: setting up one trick before setting up four.

Although North was a passed hand, South accepted the game invitation. South had 14 points, and stoppers in all the unbid suits. Three no-trump was a good contract, but declarer failed to exercise the right type of avoidance. When dummy's 10 of hearts held the first trick, South went right after the diamonds. East of course took the ace and played a second heart. South played the queen, and West won the king and cleared the suit. Since that was only eight tricks, eventually declarer had to take a club finesse. West won the king and took two more heart tricks to set the contract.

Declarer makes the contract if he stifles his natural tendency to attack his long suit. Instead, at the second trick he should simply play a low club from dummy to his jack. Sure, West can take the king, but now the nondangerous hand is on lead, and the A-Q of hearts in declarer's hand cannot be attacked. And if West shifts to a spade, South should go right up with the ace and play the diamond suit. With that approach, the defenders can take no more than the club king, the diamond ace and two spade tricks.

College campuses packed

- A rebounding economy and rising university costs are pushing a growing number of students onto junior college campuses, but officials say the enrollment boost will bring greater financial pressure.

State funding normally lags years behind incurred operating expenses, and the boost in enrollment increases costs

Enrollment at community colleges has shot up by 20 percent in six years. Some colleges report increases of 15 percent in three years, and an 8 percent jump in enrollment since last year.

Area industry is rebounding and a need for vocational programs is beginning to increase, boosting applications at two-year schools. Rising state university costs are prompting high school graduates to stay home to attend junior colleges.

"We're close, convenient and

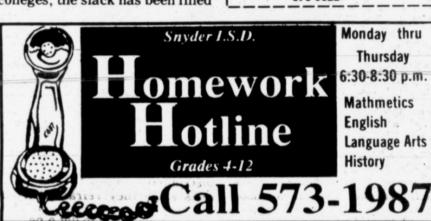

LAKE JACKSON, Texas (AP) affordable," said Jim Higgins, A rebounding economy and ris-spokesman for the College of the Mainland in Galveston County. "If someone is willing to stay home two more years, for a couple of hundred dollars they can attend community college. That's not a bad deal.

> While vocational training enrollment has declined in many colleges, the slack has been filled by a higher enrollment in academic courses. The student body is about 60 percent female, and the average age is 27.

DR. GOTT

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I had bypass surery a year ago. I was sent home with 10 different pills to take. I was sick all the time and the doctors have changed some of the medicine. I was admitted back into the hospital because of constipation and was told I had diverticulosis or maybe appendicitis. I was given conflicting advice in regard to surgery., I now go 14 days between bowel movements, have no appetite and am losing weight. Why would a heart problem make me constipated?

DEAR READER: I'll bet you the bottle cap from your milk of magnesia that you are constipated because of the medicine you are taking.

When my patients return to my care after having had coronary bypass surgery, I am usually astounded by the amount of medicine they are taking. In medical parlance, this is called "poly-pharmacy." It usually takes several weeks for me to sort things out. However, when the patients and I cooperate, I am usually successful

Unquestionably, some drugs are beneficial and necessary, but too many medications produce a variety of uncomfortable side effects, of which extreme constipation is one of the most common.

First of all, you need to be under the care of a physician who is going to be on your side and who will resist intimidation by medical-center specialists. Each drug you are taking needs to be scrupulously analyzed from the standpoint of necessity and side

Then, your doctor, in conjunction with the specialists, can begin the process of cutting back. I guarantee that you will feel better taking fewer pills. Of course, each patient's situation is unique; therefore, I cannot give specific advice about your case without knowing more about you. Nonetheless, I'm certain that with the help of your primary-care physician, you can substantially reduce your poly-pharmacy and feel much better as a result.

13 Hondurans to be sent home

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) - One of 13 Hondurans who packed into a single car and traveled five days from San Antonio, Texas, before running out of money at the Lincoln Tunnel says the men want work so they can bring their families to the United States.

"We want to work," said Humberto Santos, the driver of the car. "We'll do anything we can.

However, it is likely the 13 will be sent back to Honduras following an informal session scheduled today with Edward Doherty, supervisory special agent for the federal Immigration and Naturalization Service in Jersey City. The men would face extradition if they are determined to be illegal and won't go home voluntarily, Doherty said.

He said initial interviews indicated few if any of the 13 men had relatives in the United States, and that they most likely will be asked to leave voluntarily.

The men, who did not eat throughout their five-day sojourn, were packed into the car six in the front, six in the back and one in the trunk.

Santos was staying in a tworoom apartment in Union City with five of his companions. Their hosts were Pedro and Olga Hernandez, who grew up in Progresso Yoro, the same Honduran village as two of the men. The others were staying with relatives in New York.

Many of the men said they left wives and children in Hondgras, hoping to earn enough money in the United States to bring them

Snyder All-Stars defeat Pee Wee opponents here

Snyder defeated Crossroads in a pair of Pee Wee All-Star football games played at Tiger Stadium over the weekend.

Snyder 9-10 year-olds blanked the Big Spring-Forsan-Coahoma all-stars 38-0 as Wayne Braziel galloped for three touchdowns and Marlowe Riggins added two.

Matthew Fambro also scored one touchdown and one two-point

Snyder ran up 342 yards, led by Braziel's 106 yards on nine carries. Riggins had 99 on five and Fambro added 79 on eight. Crossroads managed just two yards worth of offense.

The local 11-12 year-olds won 20-8 as Rueben Foy played a part in three touchdowns for Snyder.

by The Associated Press

Now that the Southwest Conference champion Arkansas Razorbacks know they'll be meeting UCLA in the Cotton Bowl Classic on Jan. 2, they have some very important business to conclude in Miami on Saturday.

UCLA will be the first Pac-10 team in the Cotton Bowl. Oregon played SMU in 1949 as a member of the Pacific Coast Conference.

"We've got a marquee attraction, hoss, in UCLA and their great quarterback, Troy Aikman," said Jim Brock, vice president of the Cotton Bowl Athletic Association. "We'll get a lot of national attention."

UCLA finished as the Pac-10 runnerup after a 31-22 loss to Southern California.

Slocum coached Texas A&M to an 18-0 victory over Texas Christian while head coach Jackie Sherrill watched on television, Baylor beat Texas for the seventh time in the last eight tries in Waco 17-14, and Rice kept its losing streak alive at 17 with a 31-17 loss to North Texas.

Sherrill missed the TCU game while the George Smith confession was being investigated. Smith recanted sworn statements in the Dallas Morning News that Sherrill paid him hush money after he left Texas A&M. The Aggies have two games left on their schedule. Sherrill is expected to return for those two games.

It was TCU's 15th consecutive loss to the Aggies and ended the Frogs' season at 4-7.

Eldwin Rapheg's 50-yard scoring run in the fourth period gave the Bears their season-closing victory over Texas. Baylor finished with a 6-5 record and its fourth consecutive winning season under coach Grant Teaff.

Texas A&M is at Texas Thursday night in their annual Thwnksgiving collision.

Rice is at Houston in the Astrodome on Saturday as the Cougars try to compile a 9-2 regular season under coach Jack Pardee. Houston clinched second place in the SWC regular season with the victory at Lubbock

Tigers whip Lubbock High

Snyder scored 10 unanswered second-half points, including the final 8 of the third quarter, to whip Lubock High 64-51 in a nondistrict basketball game here Saturday.

It was only the second game of the season for Coach Larry Scott's Tigers, and their second win over a Class 5A opponent. They'll test another 5A school, Midland Lee, on Tuesday at the Coliseum. The game will be the Tigers' final home appearance until Jan. 10.

Snyder trailed 27-25 at halftime and the future looked bleak with starting point-guard Lewis Wesley nursing a twisted knee on the sidelines. Jason West came off the bench to fill in well for the senior, however, and a more patient style of play turned momentum toward the Tigers. 'We weren't patient in the first half," said Coach Scott. "We played better defense in the second half. We've been trying to convince the kids that even on the good outside shooters you've got to get a hand in their face. Lubbock has some real good outside shooters. Lester Wallace scored Wallace, who has signed a letter with Texas Tech University, scored 22 in a game-high effort. He was the only Westerner player in double figures, however.

Lubbock led by as many as four points in the third quarter but Snyder stayed close by hitting six of eight free throws. With 5:45 left. Durst was fouled on a shot and converted the freebie for a three-point play, putting Snyder on top, 31-30. Lubbock tied the game again but was never able to regain the lead.

Lady Dusters rip Temple JC, 49-40

BIG SPRING - The Lady Dusters starting five found themselves in a strange role cheering from the sidelines - as Western Texas' less experienced players saw all the action in a 49-40 victory over Temple here Saturday.

The win gave the 8-4 Dusters third place in the Howard College Hawk Queens Classic. They'll look for their ninth victory at home tonight when they entertain Ranger in the first half of a double header at Scurry County Coliseum, beginning at 6 p.m.

Coach Kelly Chadwick kept regulars Nickey Allen, Stephanie McKnight, Julie Roewe, Stacy Smith and Tami Wilson on the bench here Saturday and went with a "rookie" lineup. The new starting crew included sophomore Tabitha Walton, who has seen only limited playing time and the Beaumont standout responded with a 21-point performance.

Walton was the only sophomore to play for WTC in the game. Amarillo freshman Elayne Maddox added 10 points while Jayton first-year player Bobbie Brown sacked up 9.

Western cruised to a 21-14 halftime advantage and held off

Temple was led by Magena Collins' 8 points. Shannon Osborne and Cheryl Andrus scored 6 apiece.

Tiger girls fall twice in Pecos

PECOS -- Snyder's Lady Tigers, off to a struggling start this season, lost a pair of ballgames at the West of the Pecos Invitational here Friday and Saturday.

The Tigers, now 0-3, hope to find their first win when they play in Robert Lee at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday. A junior varsity game is set for 5 p.m.

Here over the weekend, the Lady Tigers lost 51-50 to Odessa High and 54-44 to Pecos.

"We're still having too many turnovers, not enough rebounding, and we're not executing our offense very well either," mused Coach Ken Housden.

Snyder had a chance at a final shot against Odessa but turned the ball over. The Lady Tigers trailed only 34-32 going into the final quarter against Pecos on Saturday, but starters Melody Pickering, Beth Alvis and Anne Osborn all fouled out and Holly Fuller was sidelined with a twisted ankle.

"We had four starters out and we just couldn't score," noted the coach. "We led most of both ballgames, we just couldn't sustain the lead."

Evette Housden popped for 17 points in the loss to Odessa. Osborn scored 13 and Pickering added 9.

The three led in other categories, also, with Osborn pulling down seven rebounds, Housden having three steals and Pickering managing five assists.

Osborn scored 13 and Pickering 10 in the game with Pecos. Housden led on the boards with

Mammoth bidding for RJR reportedly gets even bigger

Nabisco Inc. has gone into extra innings, with enriched offers record proposal from a new multibillion dollar free-for-all may get even wilder.

A special committee of RJR Nabisco's board of directors an- in 1989 of RJR's tobacco nounced the new proposals late Sunday and said it was extending the deadline for receiving further offers to buy the food and tobacco conglomerate.

Not only did the new buyout the guide said he saw four, Cox plans top previous bids, which said. already were in the unprecedented $20 billion range, the committee said every bidder could submit revised offers, signaling that the hefty bids it had gotten so far might not be good enough.

proposals. 'While no assurance can be given that any transaction will occur, the Special Committee expressed its belief that that process which it is overseeing will benefit all shareholders," said Charles Hugel, RJR Nabisco's chairman and head of the fivemember committee.

Jostling for approval are these proposals:

-A $100 a share cash and securities offer estimated at $22.5 billion from a group led by RJR Nabisco senior management and the investment firms Shearson Lehman Hutton Inc. and Salomon Brothers Inc. That group, which last month touched off the buyout battle with a proposed takeover, previously offered $92 a share, or $20.7 billion, for RJR's 225.3 million common shares outstanding.

-A $94 a share cash and securities offer worth about $21.2 sought Tuesday billion by a group led by buyout specialist Kohlberg Kravis offered $90 a share.

VIENNA, Austria (AP) -OPEC oil ministers, getting ready for the cartel's winter meeting, have continued their behind-the-scenes talks aimed at resolving some of the divisive issues surrounding overproduction that has depressed world crude prices.

Ministers of the 13-nation Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries gathered in Vienna for today's opening of the meeting.

A central issue in pre-meeting talks was how to resolve the quota dispute between bitter rivals Iran and Iraq that has stalled efforts to reach a new, cartel-wide agreement to fimit OPEC production and help boost

Iraqi Oil Minister Issam Abdul Raheem al-Chalabi gave no indication whether he had retreated from his demand for the same ceiling as Iran. But he was quoted as saying privately

Al-Chalabi also said, according Ignacio Chappa, all of San should come to an agreement now because their production than they levels were closer would be in the future.

OPEC's current 2-year-old output accord sets total production at about 15 million barrels a day. The agreement excludes Iraq.

Total cartel production in October was an estimated nearly 21.1 million barrels, according to the International Energy Agency, the highest monthly level in more than five years.

The surge in production has caused prices to slump to their lowest levels in about two years. OPEC maintains a benchmark

A 41 year-old man was arrested by the highway patrol on a traffic offense and for not having a driver's license at 11 p.m. Sunday five miles south of town on Hwy. 208, after which it was discovered that the man was wanted on Department of Public Safety warrants from San Angelo, a trooper said.

at about $10 a barrel. The December contract for West Texas Intermediate, the benchmark grade of U.S. crude oil, settled at $13.60 a barrel on Friday in New York Mercantile Exchange trading.

Since Iran and Iraq agreed to an August cease-fire, OPEC has stepped up its efforts to bring Iraq back into the quota system. Iran's current quota is 2.4 million barrels a day, while Iraq was allotted 1.5 million.

Analysts estimate Iraq has been producing at least 2.6 million barrels a day.

Aghazadeh has proposed giving Iraq "export parity" with Iran. That would allow Iran a higher overall ceiling to account for its larger internal oil demand, which it estimates at 1 million barrels a day.

The dispute could be resolved by giving Iraq a lower quota on paper, analysts suggest. The difference in the ceilings would be made up by letting Iraq keep a portion of the oil produced in an area called the neutral zone. which is shared by Saudi Arabia and Kuwait.

Hispanic political origins are rooted in Kennedy presidency

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Even Spanish, he promised progress on 25 years after President John F. civil rights and on U.S. foreign Kennedy's assassination, many Texas Hispanics still feel a special kinship with a man they respected and helped elect to the nation's highest office in 1960.

"We gave him 96 to 98 percent in the boxes all across the Southwest United States, and a lot of boxes gave him 100 percent," said Dr. Hector Garcia, founder of the American GI Forum and a civil rights leader.

The presidency that year was decided by fewer than 120,000 votes out of 64 million cast. Nationwide, Kennedy and Lyndon Johnson received an estimated 85 percent of the Hispanic vote.

In Texas, the Democrats got more than 90 percent of the Hispanic vote, winning the state by 50,000 votes, with an estimated 200,000 vote cushion in the Hispanic electorate.

The Hispanics' kinship with Kennedy runs deep. Kennedy was the first Roman Catholic president, he was charismatic and had a wife who spoke American Citizens.

civil rights and on U.S. foreign policy in Latin America and he dealt directly with Mexican-Americans in Texas, bypassing state party machines.

"The Mexican-American people have never responded to anyone like they did to him. I know Henry (Cisneros), and I know how people respond to him, and it is nothing compared to how they responded to JFK," said Dr. Ramiro Casso, a McAllen physician, who in 1960 headed the Viva Kennedy Club in Hidalgo County.

At the time, poll tax and gerrymandering were still used to weaken the independent vote of Spanish-speakers. Thus, when Kennedy came looking, he found a response.

"He was the first candidate for president to recognize the Hispanic constituency as a viable political power. He gave birth to a movement that goes on to this day," said Tony Bonilla of Corpus Christi, a former president of the League of United Latin

"He promoted the Viva Kennedy and Viva Johnson clubs, from them came PASSO, the Politial Association of Spanish Speaking Organizations, then came MAPA, the Mexican American Political Association, and then from these groups came the Chicano political move-ment," he told the Dallas Times Herald.

Albert Pena, presiding San Antonio municipal judge, was in 1960 a Bexar County commissioner. Kennedy came to Pena when he needed someone to organize Texas and after laying down some conditions, Pena agreed.

"Why? I believed that Kennedy spoke to the problems of the poeple of South Texas. He talked about civil rights, he talked about education and affordable housing, he talked about medical care. And these are the things that we repeated and talked about and built up," he told the Times Herald.

Aging veterans meet for last reunion

TEXAS CITY, Texas (AP) on opposite sides of Pancho Villa's bloody revolution, 100year-old Teodora Garcia and 90year-old Leo Reynosa sat as brothers in arms at what may have been the last reunion of its kind.

"That is what happens in life," said Reynosa, who fought with revolutionary leader Villa during the civil war that claimed 1 million Mexican lives. "On the one hand you are

The aging men were among four veterans of the Mexican Revolution still able to travel to a historical gathering that drew 400 people Sunday on the campus of the College of the Mainland.

Villa's youngest daughter, 72-year-old Alicia Villa, traveled from New Orleans to meet the veterans.

"The time that I was born was at the height of the revolution, so he was on the go," she said. "He was a thief, but I don't think he was as much a thief as some of those big presidents we've had in Mexico. The emotional gathering

"Villa's real contribution was that he mobilized the peasantry of Mexico - at one time with up to 100,000 soldiers - who were fighting, from their point of view, for social justice as well as economic justice," Urbina said.

'These gentlemen have been forgotten and unheralded for the most part," he said. "So, we have brought together these individuals who have played a significant role in Mexican as well as world history, and now they are receiving their just recognition."

Most of the talk among the veterans, however, was in recognition of Villa.

"He was a first man of the world in terms of what he tried to achieve for the peasant class of society," said Miguel Contreras, 87, who joined Villa's troops at 16 and now lives in Baytown.

Reyna, who now lives in Mercedes, said the men who fought with Villa understood the implications of the raid across the U.S. border, "but it was an order we were given, and we had to carry it out.'

The target, he said, was an arms dealer who failed to deliver 30,000 worth of good ordered by Villa, though others say Villa was retaliating against President Woodrow Wilson for supporting rival Venustiano Carranza.

Urbina said his biggest obstacle in organizing the event was the age of the veterans. One of the five veterans expected to attend suffered a stroke the night before the reunion and two others also were too ill to attend.
