Southwest Savings to be consolidated with C-City branch

The Snyder branch of Southwest Savings Association, formerly City Savings located at 3405 College Ave., will be closed effective Dec. 9 and the local accounts consolidated with the Southwest Savings branch in Colorado City.

Effective Dec. 12, a Monday, local checking account and savings account customers will be served at the Colorado City site, 2205 Hickory.

Local manager for the savings and loan, Debby Farmer, will be transferring to the C-City branch as a savings counselor. Also transferring will be Gayla Cook.

The consolidation of the Snyder office with Colorado City is part of an overall restructuring of its branches implemented by the Dallas-based Southwest Savings Association in mid-August.

Last May, Southwest Savings acquired City Savings and Loan Association of San Angelo which owned the local branch. Formerly, the office here was associated with Homestate Savings also.

The acquisition and closings are part of the so-called "Southwest Plan," which was announced by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board earlier this year. See SOUTHWEST, page 11

In Brief

New bomber

PALMDALE, Calif. (AP) — The dark, ominous-looking stealth bomber was rolled into the light of day after more than 10 years of secrecy-shrouded development, with the Air Force secretary declaring it essential to the nation's defense.

The black and gray boomerang-shaped B-2, designed and built by Northrop Corp., was towed ponderously out of a hangar Tuesday to cheers and the accompaniment of "The Stealth Fanfare," an original composition played by an Air Force Band.

"We can't afford to be without this program," Air Force Secretary Edward C. "Pete" Aldridge, Jr. declared to a select crowd of about 2,000 that included members of Congress, military brass and the B-2 labor force.

Responding to critics who contend the stealth bomber is an expensive, unneeded weapons system that could destabilize arms control efforts, Aldridge said the B-2 is a key to compelling the Soviet Union to adhere to current and future arms agreements.

"This program is essential," Aldridge told reporters after the unveiling at the Mojave Desert plant where the B-1 bomber and space shuttle are built.

Nuclear test

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union today staged its second underground nuclear test in less than two weeks, detonating a device with a yield approaching that of the Hiroshima atomic bomb, the Tass news agency reported.

Tass said the test blast, with a yield of up to 20 kilotons, occurred at 6:57 a.m. Moscow time at the Semipalatinsk test range on the steppes of Kazakhstan in Soviet Central Asia.

The test was conducted to check the results of research in the physics of a nuclear explosion," Tass reported, without providing details. It said radiation levels at Semipalatinsk and nearby were normal.

In their most recent test, the Soviets exploded a nuclear device at Semipalatinsk on Nov. 12.

Twenty kilotons, the force of 20,000 tons of TNT, was the yield of the U.S. atom bomb dropped on Hiroshima, Japan in 1945.

Thanksgiving travel sure to be hectic

DALLAS (AP) — Airport, bus and train terminals are sure to be stuffed with Thanksgiving Day holiday travelers today and transportation officials say they're ready for the rush.

Air and bus lines expect more passengers than normal and some travel already has picked up.

One travel expert has painted a grim picture for those who will be traveling by air.

"I think what you'll find is a bunch of anxious, stressed-out executives mixed in with a bunch of anxious, stressed-out leisure travelers, all traveling at the same time and going to the same place," Dan Smith, spokesman for Dallas-based Airline Passengers Association International, told the Dallas Morning News.

That makes for long lines at gates, limited parking and inevitable flight delays, Smith told The Dallas Morning News.

But airport officials say they've made some adjustments for the larger than normal crowds.

"We don't anticipate people having any problem, other than it being a little crowded," said Angel Biasatti, spokeswoman at Dallas Fort Worth International Airport.

She estimated that 51,000 automobiles will enter the airport on Wednesday, compared with about 38,000 on an average day. And about 136,000 passengers will pass through the terminals, compared with about 105,000 normally.

Len Perryman, operations supervisor at Dallas Love Field Airport, said air travel already has been heavier than normal for the days preceding the Thanksgiving holiday.

Officials at DFW's two major carriers, American Airlines and Delta Air Lines, say they are ready for the rush.

"Staffing is being beefed up for the holiday period," said Joe Licitra, Delta's director of marketing.

He said more than 27,000 people are expected to use the airline's 213 flights. At American, officials expect about 49,000 people to board its 382 flights.

Potts receives annual award

"Fireman of the Year" honors Tuesday went to Rodger Potts during the 59th annual Thanksgiving Banquet sponsored by the Snyder Fire Department.

The honor was given to him by Paula Gilbert, president of Snyder Broadcasting, parent company of KSNV Radio, which traditionally presents the award.

To recognize this honor, she was in turn presented a plaque by Fire Chief Terry Don McDowell to commemorate the years the award has been bestowed.

Also at Tuesday's banquet, firemen with perfect drill attendance were recognized. These include Jamie Baldwin, Jack Callaway, Jerry Dickey, Paul Gilbert, Tommy Guynes, Garry Kubena, Larry Kubena, Alton Sutter and Kenneth Wood.

Featured speaker Tuesday was James Roberts, Midland fire chief who assisted in the rescue effort last year of Jessica McClure.

For Cogdell's stability...

Patients-profit said the key

Cogdell Memorial Hospital counted its fifth straight month of net income during October, but Administrator Tom Hochwalt cautioned board members Tuesday that "continued profitability" at the facility will still greatly depend on improving patient admission numbers.

"While this financial report is encouraging, I want to caution the board that continued profitability will be very difficult to sustain without an increase in inpatient volume," Hochwalt said. "We have cut costs and increased our out-patient business

However, we need an increase in inpatient admissions to sustain long term profitability."

The average daily census count for the month was 27 patients, he said.

The most recent financial report indicates Cogdell had a monthly net income of $21,700 compared to a loss for the same period last year of minus $73,649.

The effort to reduce the annual operating loss at the facility continues to improve as well, although the year-to-date figure continues to be on the deficit side. Through October, the facility's net loss is now estimated at $141,079 as compared to a loss of some $777,205 last year at this time. This reflects an 81 percent reduction in the overall net loss.

Hochwalt noted these figures include a tax money supplement of $360,000 and interest income of some $70,000.

To help boost patient numbers, he noted two offers recently made to officials with the City of Snyder and Western Texas College, so-called "preferred provider arrangements."

These offers include such in-

Students will begin Thanksgiving break

Public school and college classes were to dismiss Wednesday afternoon as the Thanksgiving holiday begins locally.

Thursday will see all governmental entities closed in Snyder to include city, county, state and federal offices.

On Friday, however, federal offices will reopen for business as usual. This will include the Ag Service Center with its ASCS and SCS staffers as well as the U.S. Post Office in Snyder.

No mail will be delivered here Thursday but the normal delivery schedule will resume on Friday.

City and county employees will have a four day weekend, however, with both city hall and the courthouse closed. The related county facilities will be closed also to include the county health unit and the library, which will close Saturday also.

Snyder financial institutions will be closed Thursday for Thanksgiving but will reopen Friday.

Olney Savings is top blood donor Tuesday

Olney Savings and Loan was the winner Tuesday at a friendly competition between Snyder's financial institutions at the final blood drive of 1988.

The drive netted 187 registered donors and 161 pints drawn. The runnerup for Tuesday's competition was Snyder Savings and Loan.

Also honored Tuesday were longtime donors including one four-gallon pin to Zelma Irons. Others honored were Linda Compton with a three-gallon pin and Teresa Thamez with a two-gallon pin.

Those awarded one-gallon pins were Grady Williams, Derald Taylor, Connie Fitzgerald, Wanda Rinehart, Denise Beck, Sam Casey, Donald Doyis, Bud England and Gregory Clinton.

Thanks was extended also to Cub Scout Pack 177 for its help with cleanup at the drive. Troop members and leaders helping included Judy Border, Teresa Yearwood, John Border, Jay Callaway, Chad McMillian, Steve Pownell, Oscar Aguilar, J.D. Ashley, Jared Young and Dennis Young.

Local drives are sponsored jointly by the local advisory council for United Blood Services of Lubbock and the Cogdell Memorial Hospital Auxiliary.

The next regularly scheduled effort will be Jan. 17.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "The trouble with doing it right the first time is that other folks won't appreciate how hard it was."

Marsha Krenek, wife WTC President Dr. Harry Krenek, is an animal lover. She was also a science major in college.

A few months ago, she brought home a stray cat and assured Krenek that it was a male. Well, that male had a litter of kittens and so Krenek issued a presidential directive that "another home had to be found."

The animal lover did just that, placing the mother and young kittens at the Kinney Hart home on the Colorado City highway.

About a week later, the mother cat showed up at the Krenek's front door, showing no wear and tear from the six-mile cross-country trip.

Despite a trip to the vet for gender correction, the cat has remained happy at the Krenek home on Denison Ave. The college president was philosophical, "I guess we feed pretty well."

Credit is alive and well in Memphis, Tenn. A financial institution in that city has issued what it calls the first "personality" credit card. It features Elvis Presley.

Fans of Elvis are wanting the U.S. Postal service to issue a commemorative stamp in honor of the popular rock 'n' roll singer.

There seems to be red tape in the form of bureaucratic regulations. The postmaster general has noted that anyone so honored must be "demonstrably dead" for at least 10 years.

It's all a matter of perspective. A kid over at Central Elementary came home from school in high spirits.

He proudly announced to his parents, "I got the highest grade of all the kids who failed arithmetic."

Fish-killing algae spreads in Pecos river

PECOS, Texas (AP) — Algae is turning parts of the Pecos River rusty brown, but the toxin-producing scum has yet to kill many large fish, a biologist said.

Biologist Terry James of the Texas Water Commission's District 10 office in Odessa said the Pyrrnesium parvum algae has contaminated the river from Red Bluff Lake, near the Texas-New Mexico border, to near Imperial about 40 miles southwest of Odessa.

James, however, said that the number of fish killed is relatively small and its affect on fish "seems to be confined mostly to smaller fish, like minnows."

"We have found very few larger fish killed by the algae," he said.

The biologist began his investigation early last week after the algae was reported in a 20-mile stretch of the river north from Interstate 20 from Pecos, about 77 miles southwest of Odessa, The Odessa American reported Tuesday.

Bill Lockey, the district manager of the TWC's Odessa office, said last week, however, that if the algae begins a "spontaneous bloom," the entire Pecos River could be affected.

Lockey said the algae kills when it releases a chemical during growth that paralyzes the gills of a fish, effectively suffocating it. The chemical behaves like a toxin released by the deadly "Red Tide," which killed thousands of fish on the Texas Gulf Coast in the summer of 1985, Lockey said.

The algae contained in the Pecos is a rare species that has not been documented elsewhere in the United States, Lockey said.

Students witness shooting

ABILENE, Texas (AP) — As the stunned students finally made their way out of their first-period history class, one was crying, while others were simply in shock.

Prentice Martin, the teacher next door, estimates 27 to 30 students were in Rick Maloney's class at Abilene Cooper High School and saw him shot by one of his students Tuesday.

"I was just next door and I heard a shot," Martin said. "I heard a loud pop, and I just thought at the time it sounded like a gunshot."

Thirty-five-year-old Maloney, who taught physical education as well as history, was wounded in the left cheek as students filed out of his history class after watching a film, Abilene police Lt. Melvin Martin said.

Maloney underwent surgery at Humana Hospital-Abilene and was listed in fair and stable condition late Tuesday, nursing supervisor Deborah Stafford said. He suffered damage to his lip, teeth and cheek and tongue.

Authorities arrested a 16-year-old student from Maloney's class at a nearby park about two hours after the 9:40 a.m. shooting in connection with the incident. The teen-ager had fled the school in his car shortly after the shooting, officials said.

Police said the boy's 21-year-old brother persuaded him to turn himself in. He remained at the Taylor County Jail late Tuesday.

Assistant District Attorney Marilyn Bradley said a detention hearing will be conducted, probably Monday, to determine whether the student will be held in custody pending resolution of the case.

After the shooting, Prentice Martin, a geography teacher and golf coach, said he saw students coming out of the class, including one teen-age girl who was crying.

"I asked her what was the matter, and she wouldn't say anything," he said. "I imagine they were so shocked that they didn't do anything."

Prentice Martin said he and another teacher arrived at the room shortly after the shot went off. As the other teacher went to notify the nurse and call an ambulance, Martin entered the class.

"When I looked in the room there was just blood all over the floor," he said. "I could tell he'd been shot. He was bleeding from the mouth."

Prentice Martin said school went on the rest of the day, the last day before the Thanksgiving holiday.

He said students were wondering what had happened, but teachers were reluctant to explain. "I didn't really want to tell them anything," he said.

Eventually school principal Lynn Mendenhall came on the loud speaker and announced Maloney would be all right.

"So we went ahead and had the rest of the day," Prentice Martin said. "Since it was the last day before we got out, we tried to salvage it."

DR. GOTT PETER GOTT, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I recently lost the vision in my right eye due to optic neuritis. I'm 31 and a graphic artist. Will I lose sight in my other eye?

DEAR READER: Optic neuritis, inflammation of the optic nerve at the back of the eyeball, is a serious condition that may be caused by a range of neurological diseases (such as multiple sclerosis), viral infections, chemical poisoning and blood clots that interrupt the flow of oxygen to the retina. In many cases of optic neuritis, no cause can be found.

The primary symptom is loss of vision — either total loss or a central blind spot. Treatment depends on the cause, if one can be discovered. When therapy is started soon enough, vision may return.

However, if treatment is delayed, permanent damage will result because of post-neuritic optic atrophy, actual withering of the optic nerve.

I do not know whether your normal eye will be affected in the future. Because this would be such a disastrous possibility, I urge you to discuss your concerns with your ophthalmologist.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I had prostate cancer two years ago. The tumor was not removed but some lymph nodes were and radiation seeds were implanted. I also had radiation treatments. Recently, especially after exercise or being on my feet all day, I develop severe tender swelling on both sides of my pelvic area. Is this cancer? The urologist doesn't know.

DEAR READER: I don't know either. I suspect that your symptoms are due to something other than your prostate cancer, because the remaining cancer is not likely to affect you in this way.

For example, arthritis can cause painful pelvic swelling. Ask your urologist to refer you to an orthopedic specialist for an opinion.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I had some dysplastic moles removed. Now the dermatologist checks me regularly and removes any she thinks look funny. Is this correct?

DEAR READER: Yes. Some dysplastic moles are precancerous. In patients with a history of these lesions, any suspicious growths should be periodically removed.

For more information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "What You Should Know About Skin Cancer." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

Turkeys who survived wreck will be adopted

AUSTIN (AP) — About 20 turkeys that survived a slaughterhouse-bound truck wreck have been adopted, and animal rights advocates are looking for homes for another 20 that gained a Thanksgiving reprieve through the crash.

People adopting the turkeys "are just being nice enough to let them live out their lives," said Pamela Nielsen of the animal rights group Creature Comfort, adding that a turkey can live to be eight to 10 years old. "It's a compassionate time of year."

Eleven other birds that lived through the crash will play the traditional role of main course Thursday. Those birds apparently already had been pledged when the adoption idea was proposed, Ms. Nielsen said.

Following last Friday's truck wreck, which occurred on the way to a Waco slaughterhouse, the local Humane Society put 51 turkeys from that shipment at the Skyline Alcohol and Drug Treatment Center east of Austin.

The center had planned to feed its 60 residents and donate remaining birds to the needy, said Kay Tillman, assistant manager-director of the center.

"We're a non-profit organization," Ms. Tillman said. "We were delighted to be offered 50 turkeys. That wouldn't have just provided for Thanksgiving. It would have provided for Christmas and all next year."

But Ms. Nielsen and others, including Animal Rights Kinship, gained the reprieve for most of the birds.

"They seemed to feel as strongly about their cause as we do about ours," Ms. Tillman said.

"We're in the business of helping people," she said. "They're in the business of saving animals. If anyone is that dedicated to anything, you might as well help them."

Ms. Nielsen said she hoped the public would donate food and useful items to the treatment center to make up for the lost poultry.

"I'm hoping the press (coverage) they get will bring back to them a lot of things they need, for their kindness toward the birds," she said.

People who already have offered homes to 20 birds generally have farms with other animals, Ms. Nielsen said. She said she's confident none of the turkeys will be eaten because the adopting parties were contacted through vegetarians and animal rights advocates.

Creature Comfort was organized by Ms. Nielsen because she was concerned over such issues as the testing of household products on animals. She said she plans an adopt-a-boing. We saved 40 birds' lives," she said.

Teenager killed in Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — A 14-year-old boy was stabbed to death by a 13-year-old classmate as the two scuffled over a necklace in the hallway of a northeast Houston school, police said.

Dwayne Thomas, a seventh-grader at B.C. Elmore Middle School in the North Forest Independent School District, was pronounced dead on arrival at Ben Taub Hospital after he was stabbed in the chest about 3:35 p.m. Tuesday.

The other boy, also a seventh-grader, was taken into custody at the school after he boarded a school bus to flee the scene.

Police said the fight broke out as students were dismissed from school. Building trades teacher Brady Davis said Thomas tried to take a necklace from the 13-year-old boy.

"I told him (the younger boy) to drop the knife and he refused. I put my hands on his shoulders and then I reached under his arm and knocked the knife to the floor and I put my foot on it," Davis told the Houston Chronicle.

Davis said he eased the wounded student to the floor. "I lifted up his shirt and saw that he was in bad shape," he said. "I ran down to the office and told them to call 911 and get an ambulance because a boy had been stabbed real bad."

Davis said he chased the younger boy and snatched him from a bus.

Drought rocks 1988 economic forecast

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration says last summer's drought took such a large bite out of the economy that it will add about $3 billion to the reductions needed in next year's federal budget deficit.

Joseph R. Wright, director of the White House's Office of Management and Budget, said in an interview Tuesday that the administration now believes the fiscal 1990 deficit will have to be slashed by about $35 billion to comply with federal law.

He said that in the 1990 budget the administration currently is writing, about $15 billion in reductions probably would come from various benefit programs for the sick, farmers, federal retirees and others who automatically qualify for government help.

He said the rest would come from a combination of reductions in other federal spending, sales of federal assets and increases in user fees.

The 1990 budget year begins next Oct. 1.

He insisted there would be "no new taxes," although there have been disputes in the past between the Democratic-controlled Congress and President Reagan over whether some of his proposals for new revenues should be called tax increases.

Wright also said Social Security would not be cut, and that defense programs would probably receive a slight increase over the inflation rate. Military spending eats up about 30 percent of this year's $1.1 trillion budget.

"It is a conservative budget, and I think that's what Ronald Reagan should leave as his legacy in his last budget," Wright said.

He said the spending blueprint so far had no input from President-elect George Bush, but that the vice president easily would be able to adjust it to his own priorities once he takes office.

Wright said the administration now believes the deficit for fiscal 1990 will be $135 billion, or $3 billion higher than previously forecast. The Gramm-Rudman deficit reduction law requires a shortfall of no more than $100 billion next year, with billions in across-the-board spending cuts the consequence if the target is breached.

Wright said the budget would achieve the $100 billion target.

He also said Reagan had declared that cuts should not be made in benefits received directly by the elderly or the poor.

Citing the ongoing budget preparation process — in which OMB officials and agency heads still are making spending and program decisions — Wright said he could provide few details of where all the cuts would be made.

Just two weeks ago, the administration projected the 1990 deficit at $132 billion.

But earlier Tuesday in its final economic forecast, the administration said the nation's economy would grow by 2.6 percent this year, 0.7 percent less than it would have without the dry, hot weather that devastated many farmers and food producers.

Poorer than expected economic performance adds to the government's deficit by reducing its revenues and increasing its expenditures.

The government, however, projected a healthy growth rate for 1989 of 3.5 percent. It said consumer prices would rise by 3.7 percent next year, down from an annual rate of 4.6 percent through the first 10 months of 1988.

It also forecast that interest rates would begin to ease, and that unemployment would average 5.2 percent. It was 5.3 percent in October.

Private economists immediately disputed the rosy forecasts.

"They're very optimistic," said Sandra Shaber, an economist with The Futures Group in Washington.

But Beryl Sprinkel, Reagan's top economic adviser, said the critics were being too gloomy.

During the American Revolution, forces under Gen. George Washington suffered defeat Sept. 11, 1777, at the hands of the British in the Battle of Brandywine near Wilmington, Del. Washington's troops were forced back into Philadelphia, which fell to the British.

Meatpacker to pay hefty fine

WASHINGTON (AP) — IBP Corp. will pay a reduced fine of $975,000 to settle government charges of health and safety violations at its Dakota City, Neb., packinghouse that set off widespread investigations into the meatpacking industry, according to government and union sources.

Speaking on the condition of anonymity, the sources Tuesday said the reduction in fines originally totaling some $5.7 million is part of a settlement accord to be signed today by IBP, the Occupational Safety and Health Administration and the United Food and Commercial Workers Union.

The union, which represents 4,800 workers at IBP packinghouses in Dakota City and Joslin, Ill., called the settlement "historic and sweeping." The comment was contained in a press release saying a new conference would be held to announce the deal.

Union, OSHA and company officials declined to publicly specify the terms of the accord, which was to be formally signed this morning.

"Lot's of things can happen," said Terry Mikelson, an OSHA spokesman. "I'm not sure there is an agreement until it is signed by all parties."

OSHA last May fined IBP $3.1 million for ignoring repetitive motion hazards leading to serious and sometimes disabling neuromuscular disorders on the Dakota City plant's production lines among workers who cut and trim beef.

A year earlier it had fined the meatpacker $2.6 million for what government officials said was the most flagrant violation of government recordkeeping requirements on job injuries uncovered in the agency's 17-year history.

Both the 1987 and 1988 fines against IBP are settled in the new agreement, the sources said.

In addition, they said, IBP will undertake a massive, three-year program at all 15 of its meatpacking plants — including 11 non-union facilities and two where workers are represented by the Teamsters union — to reduce the incidence of cumulative trauma disorders.

The most common disorder caused by the repeated hand, wrist and arm motions — sometimes as many as 1,000 of them an hour — associated with cutting meat is carpal tunnel syndrome, an ailment which renders joints incapable of movement.

Studies commissioned by the agency showed that 620 workers at 45 work stations at the Dakota City were "at grave risk" of developing carpal tunnel syndrome or similar tendonitis-type ailments and that 377 of them had already incurred the injuries.

As part of the agreement, IBP will hire a full-time ergonomist for two years to remodel the Dakota City plant, the sources said. An ergonomist redesigns jobs to fit people.

Other plants are to be remodeled along ergonomic lines within three years in what government sources said could become a model for the meatpacking industry, which is listed by the government as being the most hazardous in the nation.

In response to a series of congressional hearings that began more than two years ago, OSHA has devoted a major part of its enforcement efforts on packinghouse job hazards and violations by meatpackers in under-reporting injuries in order to avoid government inspections.

Just last month OSHA fined another meatpacker, John Morrell & Co., $4.33 million

Tragic sequence recounted

DALLAS (AP) — The emergency room doctor who treated John F. Kennedy said that even today's sophisticated medical equipment could not have saved the president.

"They help you make a decision in borderline cases, but they don't save lives," said Charles Baxter, who was director of the emergency room at Parkland Memorial Hospital when Kennedy was brought in Nov. 22, 1963.

Baxter, who now runs the hospital's tissue transplant center, and 11 other Parkland employees recounted Kennedy's treatment during a roundtable discussion Tuesday on the 25th anniversary of the assassination. About 200 hospital staffers attended.

Baxter recalled he found it hard to believe Kennedy had been gunned down.

"I stopped when I got in the room," he said. "I looked twice to make sure it was him. It was like I was living a nightmare."

Kennedy was brought in with gunshot wounds to the head and throat.

Baxter said Kennedy probably would have survived a single gunshot to the throat, but added that he knew from the moment the president was brought in that he would not survive.

"It was a lethal head injury," he said. "The whole right side of his head was gone."

"You had to look twice. It was a terrible scene to view. Those are the emotions that hit you first."

As doctors tried to stabilize the president, his heartbeat weakened. At that point, the 10 doctors and nurses working on Kennedy realized the inevitable.

"It was as hopeless as anything we ever worked on," Baxter said. "The emotion in the room would have said to try and do something, even though it was a hopeless situation."

A few wrinkles in avoidance

By James Jacoby

The spade six goes to East's 10, and you of course win the jack. What next? It is clear that your main hope lies with the club suit. It is also very clear that your chances of making nine tricks will be slight if East should win the lead and come through your guarded king of spades. Oh, I suppose the opponents' spades might divide 4-4, but then you are going to make your contract anyway, barring a disastrous club split. But I think you are beginning to get the idea. You want to set up the club suit without letting East get the lead. How should that be done?

Your best bet is to play out the two high clubs, preventing East from coming on lead if he has the club queen doubleton. And if West holds the club queen, you do not mind giving up the lead to him, since he cannot attack your spade king. So, if all that works, you will make your contract. Is there some further point to all this? How exactly would you play the clubs?

If declarer lays down the club king first, he loses the contract. East, who now has 10-9-6 remaining after one club has been played, must win a trick. Since South never intends to take a club finesse, it cannot hurt him to play first to dummy's club ace, and it will gain enormous dividends in that rare instance when West holds the singleton queen. When a low club played to dummy brings the queen from West, declarer simply lets West hold the trick, thereby guaranteeing his contract.

James Jacoby's books "Jacoby on Bridge" and "Jacoby on Card Games" (written with his father, the late Oswald Jacoby) are now available at bookstores. Both are published by Pharos Books.

Dusters play in Cisco; men set for OC tourney

Western Texas College basketball teams hope to use some regular-season action tonight and this weekend to get ready for conference play.

Coach Kelly Chadwick's Dusters battle the Lady Wranglers in Cisco tonight - their final game before a Dec. 1 date with WJCAC foe Clarendon. Tipoff is set for 6 p.m. in Cisco.

The Dusters are 9-4. Western Texas Westerners will have three games to gear up for next week's conference opener as they take on Pratt, Hill and TSTI in the Odessa College Tournament beginning Thursday.

Western will play at 4 p.m. each day in the classic-style format, meeting Pratt College, Kan. on Thursday, Hill County College on Friday and Texas State Technical Institute of Waco on Saturday.

Next Monday, Nov. 28, the Westerners entertain Midland College for their first WJCAC action of the season. They will then join with the Dusters for a double-header in Clarendon on Dec. 1.

Coach Tony Mauldin's Westerners are off to a 6-1 start, and can insure a better record than last year's 8-23 mark with a sweep at the tournament in Odessa.

And don't get the win, either...

Tigers won't take charity

Snyder's Tigers wouldn't take any charity here Tuesday night. As a result, they lost their first ballgame of the season.

Hitting a paltry 12 of 28 from the free throw line, Snyder fell to Midland Lee 56-53. The Tigers put in just seven of 18 freebies in the second half and missed the front end of three bonus situations.

"There were a couple of series there, where we missed a lot of free throws. It's almost contagious," said Coach Larry Scott, whose Tigers are now 2-1.

In contrast, Lee canned 6 of 8 in the final 49 seconds as Snyder forced the Rebels to the line in attempts to get the ball.

"If you can foul and don't get called for the intentional there's a pretty good chance they'll miss some free throws and you can get the ball back and score. We were able to score, but they didn't miss the free throws," said Scott.

Twenty turnovers kept Snyder from gaining any momentum in the game, but Lee committed 18 of its own and also struggled.

The result was a close game all the way. Lee had a seven-point margin in the second quarter, 28-21, but Snyder scored the final five points before intermission. The Tigers had a chance to take a lead into the half, but hit just one of a possible four free throws in the final 42 seconds.

Snyder gained the lead briefly in the third when Tracy Braziel tied the game and Dwayne Clinkinbeard hit a free throw, 29-28. Lee came back on a bucket from Jared Edwards.

Though the Tigers tied the game again at 31-31 and 37-37, they were never able to regain an advantage on the scoreboard.

Jeff Franklin tallied the first points of the fourth period to knot the game at 37-37 and Snyder had a chance to go in front when Braziel rebounded Torval Crisp's jumper at the other end. The Tigers were called for an illegal screen, however, and couldn't take advantage.

Back-to-back turnovers took away more Snyder scoring opportunities and gave them to Lee, who fashioned a 43-37 lead with just over four minutes to play.

Snyder battled back and pulled within two points again when Braziel was fouled on a 2-pointer and converted for a three-point play with 1:47 remaining in the ballgame, 47-45. Lee then turned the ball over, giving Snyder an opportunity to tie.

But the Tigers missed a couple of shots from the field, and a front end of a one-and-one free throw situation. Crisp followed with a 3-point goal that put Midland ahead 50-45 with about a minute to play. Snyder was forced to foul and the Rebels were accurate enough from the line to prevent another comeback.

Snyder was without starting point-guard Lewis Wesley, who is nursing a twisted knee. He was replaced in the lineup by junior Jason West, who got educated quickly against Lee's full court pressure.

"Jason did a good job. Midland Lee is by far the best team we've played," said Scott, whose Tigers had earlier beaten Abilene Cooper and Lubbock High - two other Class 5A schools.

Braziel's 21 points led the Tigers, who also got 11 from Clinkinbeard, nine from Franklin and eight from West.

Durst led on the boards with eight rebounds, managed five assists and four points.

Lee, 3-0, came up with 20 points from Crisp, 13 from Ed Brown and 11 from Brown.

Next action for the Tigers will be in Levelland this Saturday.

Ladies run past Robert Lee for first win of 1988 season

ROBERT LEE -- Coach Ken Housden's Lady Tigers slammed Robert Lee here Tuesday night, 62-45, to locate their first win of the 1988-89 basketball season. "We were glad to get the win," said Coach Ken Housden, as the Lady Tigers improved their record to 1-3 for the season. Snyder took a 16-10 lead in the first quarter, stretched it to 31-22 by halftime, then outscored Robert Lee 24-14 in the third to put the game away.

"We started out real well," noted Housden. "We scored consistently through the third quarter. We didn't score much in the fourth quarter but we played a lot of people. The girls did a super job."

Melody Pickering scored 16 points and yanked down 15 rebounds to lead the Tiger attack. Anne Osborn had a game-high 17 points while Evette Housden and Beth Alvis added eight points each.

Coach Housden's Lady Tigers look for their second win next Tuesday, Nov. 29, as they return to Snyder to host Wall in a non-district game at SHS Gym.

Young Tigers blitz Robert Lee troops

Now 2-0, the young Lady Tigers will entertain Wall next Tuesday, Nov. 29, in Snyder.

Camille Thompson and Robbie Braziel crashed the boards for 17 points each while Freda Clay scored 10 and Liz Greathouse added 8.

"Overall we played great," said Coach Laurie Welch. "They couldn't handle our pressure. I think our speed helped a lot. They just couldn't stay with us. Camille really came out scoring in the first quarter. She got the ball off the press and scored a lot there. Robbie did too. I was real pleased."

JV boys take a fall against Midland Lee

Midland Lee defeated Snyder in a boy's junior varsity basketball game here Tuesday, 65-40.

Carlton Sanders bagged 15 points for Snyder, now 1-2, while Hayward Clay scored 11 and Marcus Greene added 9.

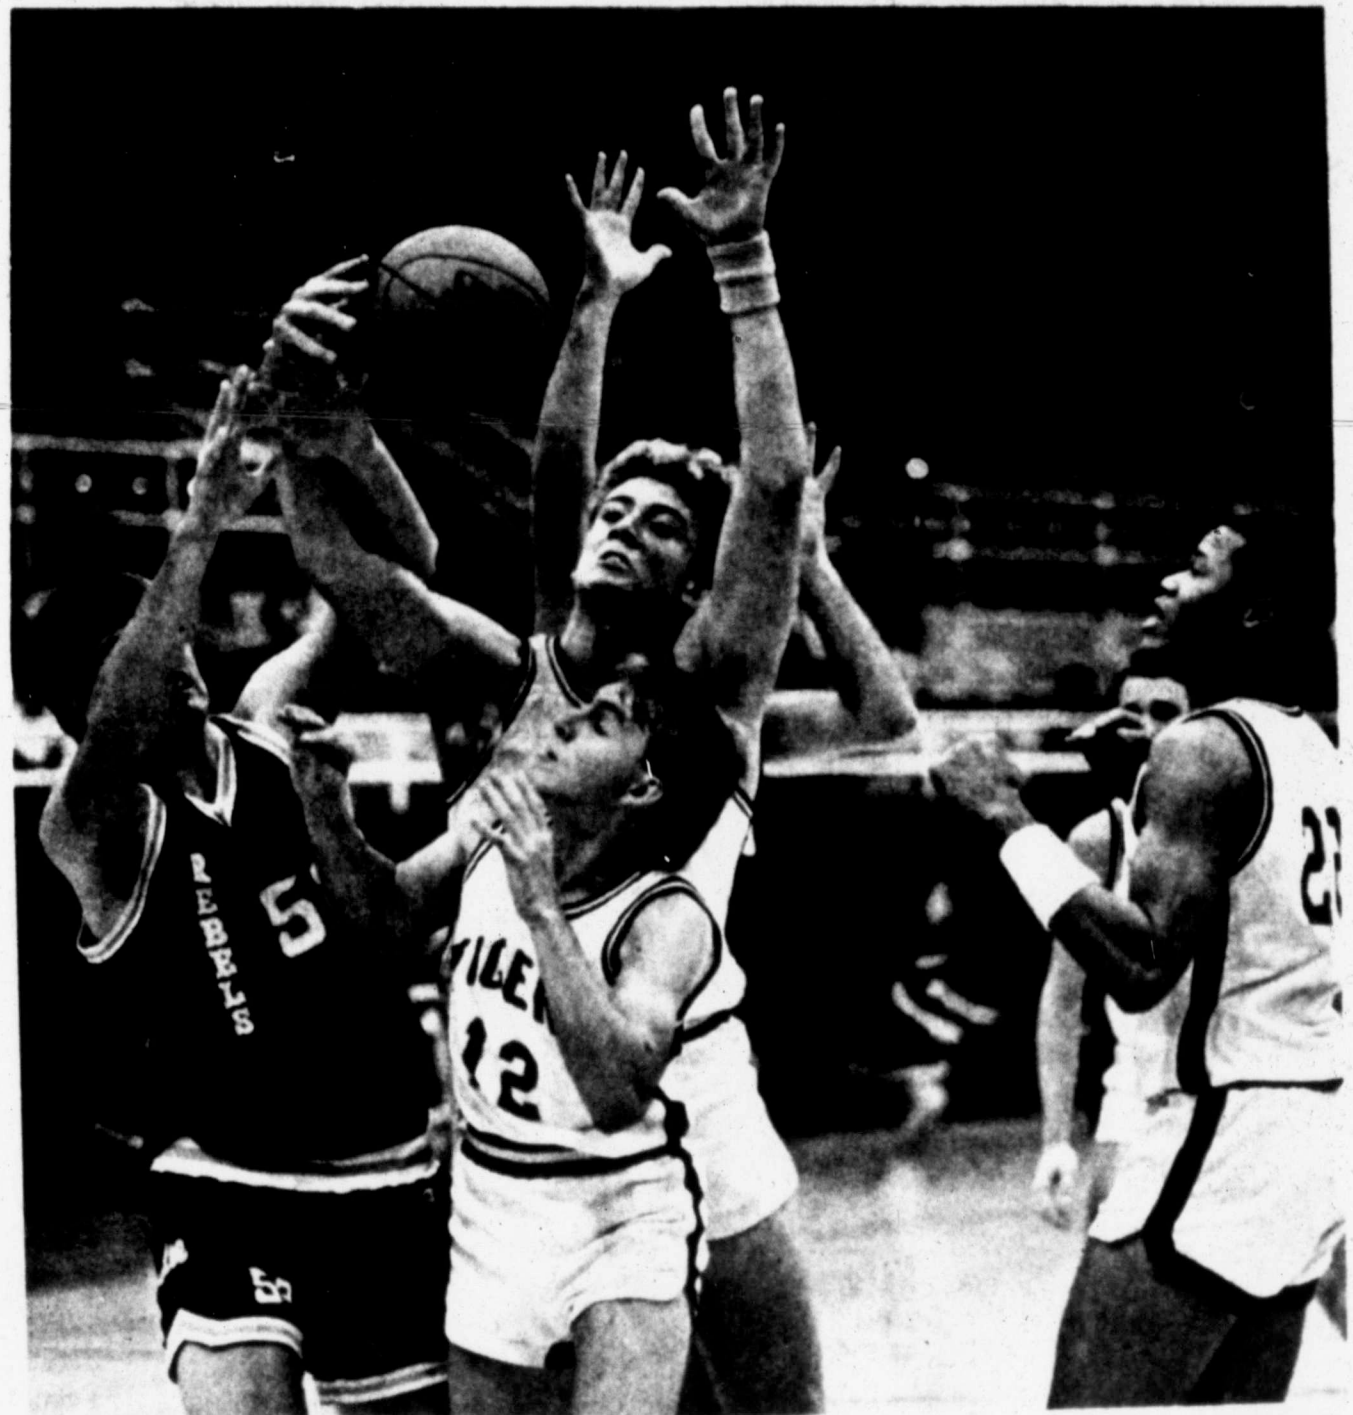

Lee led only 10-9 after the first quarter but outscored Snyder 17-8 in the second quarter and 16-6 in the third.

Baugh sees some progress as rebuilding job continues

By BILL McCLELLAN
SDN Sports Editor

It's safe to say David Baugh didn't expect a 1-9 season, even in his first year as Snyder High School football coach, and despite the fact that the Tigers haven't had a winning campaign since 1979.

Still, he remains optimistic. And, he's gained the respect of faculty and students and the community.

"Most towns and people would be down, you know, but Snyder has been nothing but positive," said the Texas Tech graduate with a smile. "You sure can't tell we were 1-9 by the support we've had. We really appreciate it."

Baugh, who directed Iowa Park to three bi-district championships before coming to Snyder, sees some progress. His words convey the feeling that better seasons are certainly ahead.

"Coming in, there were several things we wanted to do. One was to improve the win-loss record. Unfortunately, we didn't do that. Another was to get them playing better defense and I think we probably did that, compared to what I'd seen on film," said Baugh. "We finished fifth in the district in team defense, and I think for the most part we played fairly good defense."

Snyder gave up an average of 267.1 yards a game, despite suffering through a myriad of injuries that continually left the starting 11 a question mark, at least in some positions. Fifth was respectable, considering two District 4-4A teams, Sweetwater and Monahans, had defenses which ranked in the top 15 in the state.

"Another thing we wanted to do was to get our kids to play hard, not just for one game, but through the whole season. We want them to play hard every game and throughout every game. I think we made some progress there," he added. "There were a couple of games, against Levelland and maybe half of the game with Pecos, that I didn't feel like we played real hard, but for the most part I thought the kids gave a good effort most of the time."

A key to turning any program around is to change attitudes from negative to positive. Even even an especially talented individual can only reach limited potential with a negative frame of mind.

"Another thing we wanted to do was improve the overall attitude, team spirit - have a more positive frame of mind," noted Baugh. "I wouldn't say it was a howling success but I think we made progress. I think our spirit and attitude will improve over time. I believe the off-season will help a lot with that."

As for 1989, Baugh doesn't see the Tigers being more talented individually, but that doesn't mean he expects another 1-9 season.

"As far as pure talent I don't see us being any better. But we can be better in team unity and pulling together and playing together. Hopefully we'll be stronger and quicker. Definitely, we'll be one year more mature. I think we should see improvement for those reasons," he said.

Snyder will return three quarterbacks who saw action in 1988, including Randy Morris, who completed 23 of 52 passes for 399 yards. All-purpose back Jayson Presley returns as a junior, after rushing for 468 yards and catching eight passes for another 145.

A defensive backfield that includes veteranshp now with Morris, Willie Garcia, Charles Guynes, Shelby Bufkin and others will help, and linemen Jody Iglehart, Kevin Murdock, Clint Haywood and Robert Talamantez also return. Those are only a few names of the 18 underclassmen on Snyder's roster during the 1988 season.

An off-season program that will stress strength, quickness and mental attitude is already underway.

"We're not very strong and it showed up a lot of times on the field. I think there were times when the other team wasn't better coached and didn't have more fight but they were stronger and we got shoved around. Not every game, but some of them," Baugh said. "I think we can improve our quickness and our footwork, have good feet underneath us, not be so awkward. The third thing we'll work on is the mental edge, try to develop team unity, spirit."

Team unity was apparent on the Snyder junior varsity, which will combine with the returning varsity squadmen to make up next year's Fightin' Tigers.

"Our junior varsity kids played way above their ability," noted Baugh. "That's a real positive thing to me. When you get that you have a chance to win. Our JV believed they could win. They got after it and played hard. When you do that, lots of good things happen. We didn't have anybody outstanding, the kids just played well and were willing to work. I think this group will be a tough group of kids for us."

He sees some good talent in the freshman ranks.

"We've got some talented freshmen who should be good football players in the future. They'll make good JVers next year and there is the possibility that some of them could be on

Cowboys, Oilers clash

IRVING, Texas (AP) - Last year the Dallas Cowboys had a 7-8 record. This season they are 2-10 with an eight game losing streak.

Guess which team coach Tom Landry thinks is the better one?

"This team is a lot better than the one last year," Landry said. "It just hasn't been rewarded. It has better camaraderie, quality and morale."

Right now Landry would take a moral victory on Thursday against the Houston Oilers.

"There comes a time when winning is not important but how you play is important," he said. "When you are out of the playoffs, how you play and how you compete are important."

The Cowboys have been blown out of their last two games, losing 43-3 to Minnesota and 38-24 to Cincinnati.

The high-scoring Houston Oilers, 8-4, come to Texas Stadium on Thursday to test the porous Dallas defense.

Landry has decided to insert Steve Pelluer as the starting quarterback although Kevin Sweeney, who started the last two games, could play.

The Cowboys have been outscored 67-6 in the first half of the last three games.

"I hope Steve comes out relaxed against the Oilers," Landry said. "He played pretty well in the second half and threw the ball well. We'll definitely still use both quarterbacks the rest of the way depending on the situation."

Landry said he Dallas quarterbacking situation "will be evaluated after the next four games."

He said "the potential is still there on this team. It's tough not having the overall talent to help a quarterback. Even (Denver quarterback) John Elway can't always win by himself."

"We have a lot of good young offensive people who will be much better next year when they come out of camp."

Landry said he had only briefly seen UCLA quarterback Troy Aikman in action on television.

"He looked good," Landry said. "If we don't get the first draft pick and our (quarterbacking) situation didn't look good then I imagine we could try to put together a package for him."

Landry has ruled out using third string rookie quarterback Scott Secules this year.

"Scott needs another training camp," Landry said.

The Cowboys are five-point underdogs to the Oilers in 3 p.m. game.

Dallas has a 4-1 regular season record against Houston.

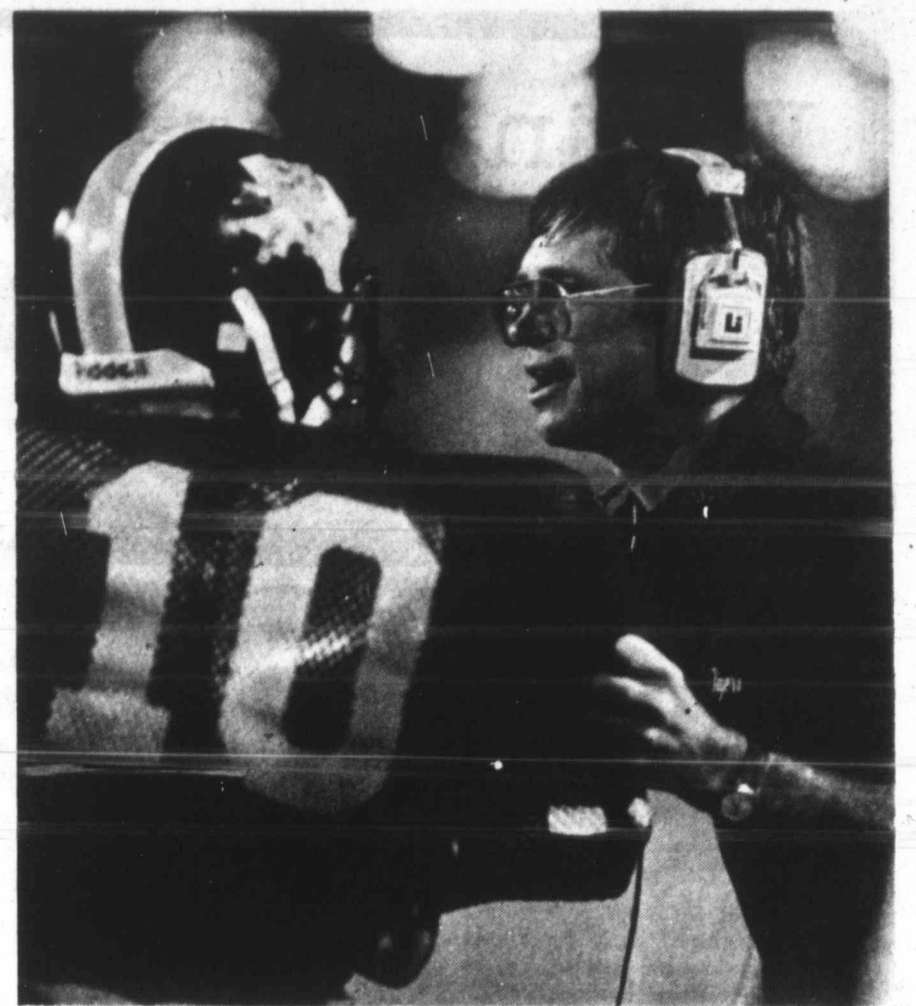

"It's kind of different to see the roles reversed with us down and them up," Landry said. "I like it the other way."

The Oilers whipped Dallas 54-10 in a preseason game last August.

"They had a good game with their run and shoot in the preseason," Landry said. "I'm sure we'll see a lot of it on Thursday. In the preseason, the run-and-shoot can tear you up in a hurry. We only had half our defense in. Maybe we'll be a little more ready this time."

Some 14,000 tickets were still available for the "Texas Championship" match.

talent down there," he said. One of Baugh's regrets is that he won't have more time to work with this year's seniors.

"This was probably more of a major change for them than any other group because they had been under different coaches and a different system," he said. "It doesn't effect the younger kids as much. The senior are the ones that set the pace, give direction to the rest of the kids. I wish we could have won more games for their sake. They stuck with us and worked hard. I just wish I could have coached them for four years."

President-elect set for holiday vacation in Maine

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-Elect George Bush says his meeting with incoming Mexican President Carlos Salinas de Gortari in Houston is the first step toward improved U.S.-Mexican relations.

Over a six-course lunch that included roasted pheasant and gilded chocolate truffles Tuesday, Bush and Salinas discussed drugs, immigration, trade and Mexico's staggering $102 billion international debt, aides said.

"I am absolutely confident after this initial visit that we're both committed to improving a bilateral relationship that is essential, in my view, as far as the United States of America is concerned," Bush said in brief remarks after talks that lasted two hours.

Salinas, using similarly upbeat diplomatic language that disclosed few specifics, called the session "a positive, respectful, cordial dialogue which I am certain will do a great deal to improve the relations between Mexico and the United States."

Bush thanked Salinas, who takes office Dec. 1, for greeting him in his adopted hometown. Salinas, speaking through a translator, invited Bush to visit him next time in Mexico City.

The vice president, in remarks applied to both Mexico and Canada, pledged to "never neglect our own friends in this hemisphere."

In an address earlier Tuesday to a meeting of Republican governors in Point Clear, Ala., Bush congratulated Canadian Prime Minister Brian Mulroney for a "spectacular win" in Monday's national elections that retained a House of Commons majority for Mulroney's Conservative party.

Bush called the election a ringing endorsement not only for the prime minister, but for the recently negotiated U.S.-Canadian free-trade pact whose fate had become a campaign issue. Bush also told the Republican Governors Association he would name negotiators for budget talks with Congress "on the first day of my presidency," suggesting a possible intention to sidestep the usual practice in which a new president first submits his own budget proposals.

He said he viewed his election as a mandate against new taxes.

And he told 20 of the nation's 23 GOP governors that Republicans were "on our way to becoming the majority party in America."

Meanwhile, Bush told reporters he still hadn't decided on a defense secretary, even though Bush transition sources who insist upon anonymity have said that former Sen. John Tower of Texas is the likely choice.

Bush indicated he would not announce his selection for the major Cabinet post until after he returns from Maine.

The vice president said he hopes to have his full Cabinet and most other senior members of his administration designated within a month.

Then, noting that President Dwight D. Eisenhower had taken his newly assembled Cabinet to Hawaii for meetings, Bush joked that he would go to Hawaii with his chief of staff, also suggested that the vice president still had not decided on a defense secretary.

But, when asked if Tower could be ruled out, Sununu said: "I wouldn't rule out anybody with that kind of experience at this point."

Bush said that while he still hopes to meet with defeated rival Michael Dukakis, he did not think such a meeting would take place this weekend.

Bush advised some of the several dozen reporters expected to accompany him to Kennebunkport: "You ought to stay home with your families."

He noted he took an eight-mile walk home from church last Thanksgiving holiday.

Improvements seen in Delta cockpits

WASHINGTON (AP) — A safety review at Delta Air Lines shows improvements in operations and training, but lingering concern over "lapses in crew coordination and discipline" in some Delta cockpits, according to the Federal Aviation Administration.

The FAA gave the assessment in a document made public Tuesday in which an FAA team outlined its findings during an inspection at Delta in early October.

The agency team said Delta's management "has taken strong and positive action" in response to a critical review of Delta's operations 14 months ago and that it "observed competent performances in the majority of Delta's cockpits."

But the FAA said the team also "observed many of the same behavior patterns that were previously noted in the 1987 audit" in which the airline was chastized for allowing poor discipline and communications among flight crews. It said some Delta pilots may "not perceive" a problem or "may simply not be observant" enough to correct their shortcomings.

In the recent follow-up review, the FAA inspection team again "observed lapses in crew coordination and discipline in a small but significant percentage of cockpits," said the agency. It said some pilots improperly used checklists, relied on memory when conducting pre-flight checks, and in some cases demonstrated an "unstructured cockpit management" style.

The FAA also said Delta management pilots should be tougher when conducting proficiency checks and too often require pilots to meet only minimum standards.

The airline has more than 6,500 pilots.

Delta's cockpit operations and its training program came under intense FAA scrutiny in the summer of 1987 after a series of errors by Delta pilots brought the airline close to having several serious accidents including a near-collision over the Atlantic.

Pilot performance also has become a focal point in the investigation of the crash last August of a Delta Boeing 727 as it attempted to depart the Dallas-Fort Worth airport. Federal investigators are trying to determine whether the three-man crew forgot to properly set the wing flaps, causing the crash, which killed 14 of the 108 people aboard.

The FAA review made no mention of the crash.

Since the string of incidents in 1987, Delta's management has improved its training and operational manuals and instituted other training and quality control improvements, the FAA said.

But it said some of the improvements have yet to go into effect. A series of changes in the way pilots conduct checklists before departure and prior to landing will go into effect next month. The new procedures are aimed at clarifying the duties of each flight crew member and require that each check procedure be acknowledged verbally to lessen the possibility one will be forgotten.

Delta's revised cockpit resource management training program which has been under development for some time is scheduled to be implemented next January, the FAA said.

The FAA's interest in cockpit procedures at the major airlines was sharpened last year by the string of Delta incidents and by the crash in Detroit of a Northwest Airlines jet in which the two pilots forgot to set the wing flaps, preventing the aircraft from gaining proper lift.

Appetite for hot dogs is stirring up competition

WASHINGTON (AP) — A growing Japanese appetite for hotdogs is stirring up competition between the United States and several other countries, including Australia and Mexico.

Total sausage sales in Japan, made up mostly of frankfurters and wieners, have grown 26 percent in the last three years, an Agriculture Department report said Tuesday. Imports have more than doubled.

Shipments by U.S. processors in 1987 totaled 699 metric tons, representing 28 percent of Japan's total sausage imports, the report said.

Other competitors include: Australia, with a 22 percent of 1987 Japanese sausage imports; Mexico, 15 percent; Taiwan, 9 percent; Denmark, 6 percent; Netherlands, 5 percent; West Germany, 5 percent; and others, 10 percent.

Former president apologizes

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Former President Chun Doo-hwan, saying he's "pained and ashamed" over human rights abuses and corruption during his rule, told the nation today that he is surrendering $24 million and going into internal exile.

But opposition leaders demanded a thorough investigation into corruption under Chun and said he must account for billions of dollars they contend was misappropriated. They doubted the apology would be sufficient.

"I am pained and ashamed of my past. I have no intention at all to make an excuse," Chun, looking tired and strained, said in a nationally televised 30-minute address.

"I have to bear full responsibility for the past seven years, which is branded by the people as an era of authoritarianism and misdeeds, although I tried to do my best in my way," Chun said. "My dear people, I am really sorry," said the former general who took power with military backing in 1980.

He made a special apology for the bloody military suppression of a 1980 uprising by students and citizens in the southern city of Kwangju that left about 200 people dead. He described the incident as a "tragedy."

Chun said he was turning over his property to the government, including his Seoul house, two golf club memberships and $3.3 million in cash. He also said he would return about $20 million in political funds.

With his wife, Lee Soon-ja, Chun left their home after the speech to go into exile at an undisclosed rural location in a traditional gesture of apology. Mrs. Lee went while her president sat stone-faced in the car that took them away.

Millions of Koreans watched the live midmorning broadcast. People flocked around TV sets in shops and offices, and traffic was light as people stayed home to see Chun's apology.

News reports indicated Chun was going to a Buddhist monastery in mountains east of Seoul or possibly the country home of an industrialist. The government declined to reveal the location for security reasons.

About 50 radical students with firebombs and steel rods tried to rush Chun's home after the speech, but they were stopped by some of the 5,000 riot police ringing the area. Chun had already left.

"Arrest Chun Doo-hwan," protesters yelled as police dispersed them.

Radical students and dissidents called for daily protests to demand Chun's arrest. Dissident groups said the apology was an empty gesture and denounced President Roh Tae-woo for trying to protect his predecessor.

Seoul newspapers reported today that Roh plans to pardon

Chun in the next few days and reshuffle the government to remove supporters of the former president. Officials declined comment.

Roh, another former general and close ally of Chun, is trying to defuse mounting public anger against the former president without damaging himself and the government he took over from Chun. Some opposition groups are calling for Roh's removal, contending he is a front for military rule.

Many observers doubt Chun's apology will defuse the crisis and Roh is expected to face more problems in coming weeks. Roh took office as Chun's seven-year term ended in February.

Chun asked for forgiveness, but said he was ready to accept the peoples' judgment. He asked the nation to allow him to stay in South Korea, indicating he did not want to be exiled overseas.

Average jar of peanut butter consumed in a month or less

WASHINGTON (AP) — Just when it seemed the pollsters had gone on vacation after the Nov. 8 election, the Peanut Advisory Board says a recent fan club survey shows that the average jar of peanut butter is consumed in a month or less.

According to the board, which is made up of peanut farmers in Georgia, Alabama and Florida, 40.6 percent of those polled said a jar lasts two weeks or less, while 35.4 percent reported less than a month. Jar size was not specified.

Nearly 4,000 people nationwide were surveyed as part of a campaign billed by a New York public relations firm as the second annual Adults Only Peanut Butter Lovers Fan Club Poll.

"The Adults Only Peanut Butter Lovers Fan Club, which recently topped the 30,000-member mark, was established more than two years ago as a support group for adults with a confessed passion for peanut butter," the board said.

Findings also showed that comedian Bill Cosby is the celebrity 25.4 percent said they would most like to eat peanut butter with, followed by Robert Redford, 23.9 percent; Willard Scott, 23.9 percent (tie); Elizabeth Taylor 20.5 percent; and Phyllis Diller, 19.2 percent.

But the survey report also showed that women and men differ about their celebrity choices.

Twenty-nine percent of the women said they would like to eat peanut butter with Redford, while only 7.9 percent of the men said they would. In the case of Elizabeth Taylor, 29.8 percent of the men favored her, compared with 17.5 percent of the women.

President Salvador Allende of Chile was deposed in a military coup in 1973. The new leaders said Allende had committed suicide.

Volunteers at dinner for homeless say more help needed

AUSTIN (AP) — Organizers of a Thanksgiving dinner heling bedrolls and some pushing shopping carts, were fed at the dinner held Tuesday on the State Capitol grounds.

"This is a way to say we care for you and we're going to support you in the future," said volunteer Stephen Rosales before the signal was given to form lines for the meal of turkey, dressing, vegetables, milk and cookies.

The meal was served by some 300 volunteers, mostly from the state comptroller's office, who took annual leave to work in two-hour shifts throughout the day for the dinner, according to State Comptroller Bob Bullock.

"Thanksgiving is a time to count our blessings, and I'm proud that workers from this agency are so willing to share with those less fortunate," Bullock said in a prepared release.

Rosales, a regional director in the comptroller's office, said he has met war veterans who don't have a place to sleep. "There's no reason for that," he said.

Sonny Basey, a single parent of three, was at the dinner and urged her 3-year-old son Bucky to pick a cookie from a box being passed around.

"That's just part of a cookie. Get a whole cookie," she said.

Since injuring her wrist and leaving her job as a groundskeeper at an apartment complex, Ms. Basey said she has been living in a hotel, scraping for food from charities and joining an extended family who all pitch in diving into trash bins for cans to sell for recycling.

"The people in the streets and the people in Austin have been real good," she said.

Bob Call, 23, and Ken Harvala, 27, agreed. Harvala, who said he works most of the year for a carnival, said, "I've never seen anything like this in other towns. In other towns, usually they run you off after four or five days."

Call joked that the hospitable atmosphere of Austin was attracting too many homeless people. "It's getting like California. There are no cans to be found anywhere."

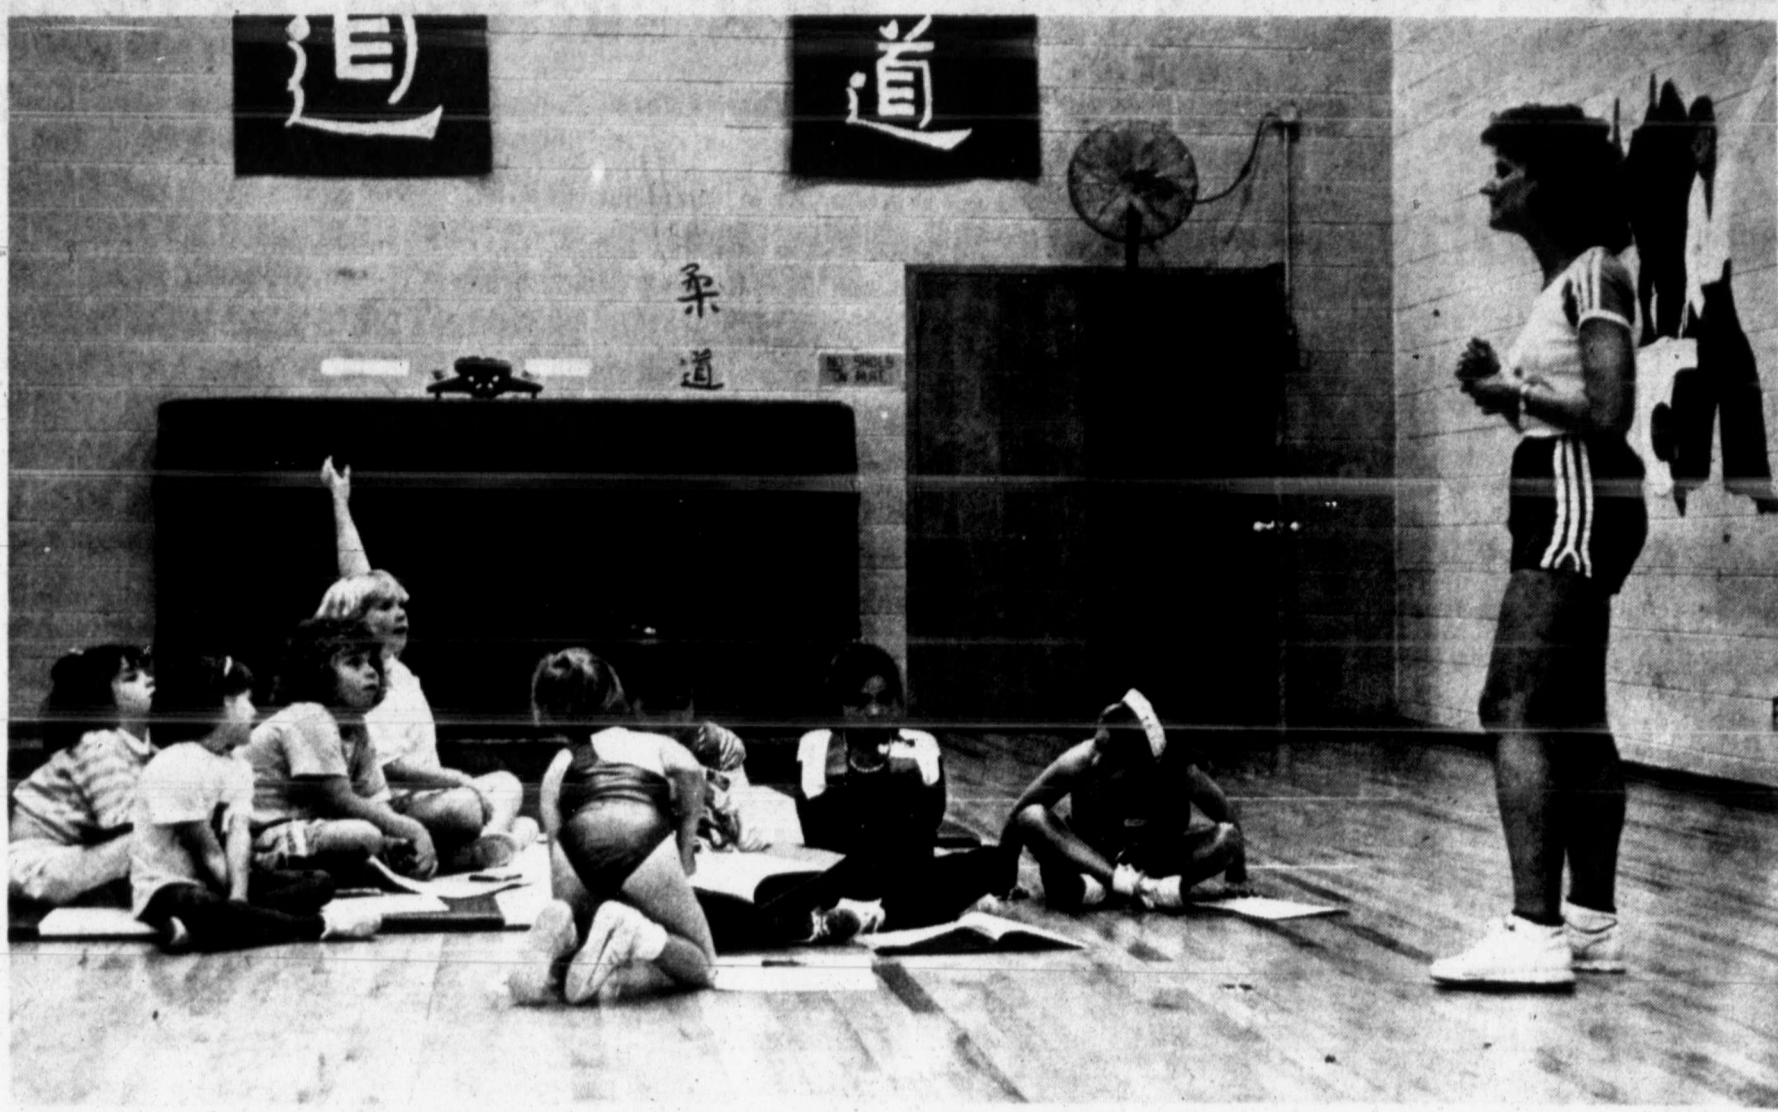

Nearly two dozen local businesses contributed food and other goods for the project. Enough food was on hand for about 2,000 meals. The leftovers, in addition to clothes and blankets that were collected, will be given to the Salvation Army, volunteers said.

Deborah Fine-Knapp, an enforcement supervisor with the state comptroller, said when she approached businesses for donations, "I got a lot more yeses than noes."

Leading the prayer before the dinner, Care Darby, who described herself as a street person, stood barefoot on a folding chair, and said, "We have asked for the gift to merely survive on the face of the Earth."

Although Ms. Basey said her hotel room is little more than a closet with a bed, she was optimistic about the future for her three sons, ages 7, 3, and 18 months.

She said she wants them to learn as many foreign languages as possible. "Maybe some day they'll work for the U.N.," she said.

Unemployed couple runs soup kitchen

MIDLAND, Texas (AP) — On Thanksgiving Day, Mariano Rendon and his wife say they will praise the Lord he lost his plumbing job three weeks ago.

Time spent fixing drains and disposals can now be applied to more substantive work — restoring wretched souls.

Mariano and his wife, Maria, operate the Blessings for Obedience Soup Kitchen in south Midland. They live next door to the land they donated on which the soup kitchen is built. Midland's charity home-refurbishing group, Christmas in April, renovated the soup kitchen building, an old Army barracks in a former life.

"They are not shy," Mariano said of the hungry who are fed every day — with food and a hearty dose of the message that "Jesus loves you" — from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. "They even want to pray themselves. We notice they can't wait for the next day."

"Some of them ... it's the only meal they get."

Rendon says the stomach sometimes is the way to get a man's heart.

"We need to show them there is a God by first filling their stomach. Then, we fill them with the word," Mariano says. "They actually believe there's a God, but they won't receive it ... But when they see that meal, they know."

Since Mariano's layoff, money is scarce in the Rendon household, Maria admits. She says she's had to ask the Salvation Army to help with the family utility bills.

Though they don't receive any money for operating the soup kitchen, Mariano says "our heart is in this. I think the Lord led me to be here."

"A week before I got laid off I went to church and renewed my life to the Lord. On Monday, I went to work and he said, 'Mariano, I can't use you anymore.'"

The former plumber says the Lord told him in a dream three years ago to help the hungry, the needy and the poor.

Shortly thereafter, the Rendons say, they were spurred onward by a speaker at a Midland Business and Fellowship Conference.

The man, Michael Ratliff, asked if there was a Spanish couple in the audience. He said he had a message for them from the Lord, Mariano remembers.

According to a transcript of a cassette recording taken at the luncheon, Ratliff told the Rensons that God said: "...there'll be an ongoing of your lives, in a certain respect, that you may host and be given to hospitality, to the people of God as they would come and as they would begin to receive of my hand, they receive of my hand in your home."

Thinking they were following God's plan, the Rendons opened a restaurant. It was open only five months.

"People used to come to the back door," Mariano chuckles. "I think I was giving more food out the back" than he was selling in the front. "That's the reason we went broke," he says, laughing with his wife.

Obviously, something had been lost in the dream's translation between heaven and Earth.

Then six months ago, two Midland men, Doug Wright and Kelly Coleman, appeared at the Rendons' and said, "We're here to help you," Maria remembers. It seemed a fulfillment of Ratliff's prophecy that God would supply the money for their helping venture.

The now-out-of-work couple donated their last resource, the land, while Coleman and Wright handled the costs of getting the kitchen off the ground.

Today, the Rendons say they are probably the happiest unemployed couple in Midland. In their eyes, they're richer than any oil baron in town.

"The more we give, the more we get. We notice that every day," Maria exhorts.

In fact, Maria won't let her husband look for a new job because she says she can't run the soup kitchen without him.

Maria shuns the potential for depression that can come when a married couple finds themselves out of a job.

"I'm taking that one day at a time. I have to. The Lord will supply ... I know ... I know."

Obituaries

Minnie Ola West

Services for Minnie Ola West, 84, of Snyder Nursing Center are set for 10 a.m. Friday at Bell-Cypert-Seale Chapel with the Rev. Ken Brnham, pastor of First Baptist Church, officiating. Burial will follow at Hillside Memorial Gardens.

She died at approximately 9:45 p.m. Tuesday at Snyder Nursing Center. She was born Sept. 10, 1904 in Brady, Tex. She had lived in Snyder since 1972, moving from Wenatchee, Wash. She had lived at 3107 Avenue W before residing at Snyder Nursing Center.

She was a member of the First Christian Church and had been a former department store clerk and curio shop clerk in Washington.

She was married to Eugene West on Feb. 17, 1962 in Everett, Wash. He died in 1968.

She is survived by one daughter, Barbara Howell of Snyder; two grandchildren Danny Howell and Lori Howell, both of Snyder; four great-grandchildren; one sister, Florence Sproat of Maple Valley, Calif.; two brothers, Clarence Kirk of Wenatchee, Wash. and Ellis Kirk of North Hollywood, Calif.

Nettie Etheredge

ROBY—Services for Nettie Etheredge, 81, of Roby, former Snyder resident, were to be held at 2 p.m. Wednesday at First Baptist Church with the Rev. Alvin Petty officiating. Burial was to follow in Roby Cemetery.

She died Monday at a Rotan hospital.

Born in Denton County, she was a longtime resident of Roby. She was the widow of Bryan B. Etheredge. She was a postal employee, retiring in 1977. She was a member of First Baptist Church and graduated from Camp Springs High School.

Survivors include two daughters, Billie Holcomb and Jane Branson, both of Roby; a son, Ted "Sonny" Etheredge of Healdsburg, Calif.; a sister, Maye Reep of Plainview; two brothers, S. T. Minor of Turpin, Okla., former Snyder resident, and Fred Minor of Park Hill, Okla.; nine grandchildren; and eight great-grandchildren.

First-time home buyers might consider a foreclosed home. The price of a foreclosed home may be lower than similar homes and financing may be more attractive, says PaceLine National Management.

Fire at house causes damage

Fire units were summoned to a reported house fire at 3102 Ave. C Tuesday, a residence occupied by Glen Parham. Firemen were at the scene from 10:55 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

A department spokesman said there was fire damage to a bedroom and heat and smoke damage to the rest of the house.

The cause was not reported.

Also Tuesday, firemen used two county roadgraders to put out a grass fire on the Shannon Ranch 13 miles northwest of Snyder.

The call came in at 3:28 p.m. and they returned to the station at 5:30 p.m.

There was a false alarm at 4:41 p.m. to a home rigged with a fire alarm at 2605 33rd St., with the trucks being turned back to the station before they arrived at the origin of the call.

2 wrecks noted

A 1987 Chevrolet Suburban driven by Ronald L. Bearden of 4009 Irving Ave. was in collision with a 1981 Ford two-door driven by Candace Milota of 417 36th Place at 10:35 a.m. Tuesday at 30th St. and Ave. M.

A parked 1978 Ford station wagon owned by William E. Prince of 315 36th Place was hit by a 1976 Chevrolet pickup driven by Olen Horn of Ira at 1:32 p.m. Tuesday in the Dairy Queen parking lot off College Ave.

Fitzwater, Frank clash on ethics

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — As President Reagan mulls whether to sign an ethics bill, his chief spokesman and the key House sponsor of the legislation are arguing over the measure's potential restrictions on the executive branch.

Rep. Barney Frank, D-Mass., took vehement exception Tuesday to White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater's assertions that the Post-Government Restrictions Act could have the effect of prohibiting a former president from "calling an incumbent president."

Reacting to this description offered by Fitzwater on Monday, Frank said the presidential spokesman's complaints about the bill were rooted in "flat lies."

For his part, Fitzwater backed away Tuesday from his earlier suggestion that Reagan might withhold his signature from the legislation because of "strong opposition from Cabinet officials."

Fitzwater actually has declined all along to predict whether Reagan would exercise his constitutional right of pocket veto by letting a 10-day deadline pass without his signature. The bill will die unless Reagan signs it before 12:01 a.m. EST Saturday.

The bill was passed 347-7 in the House, and by voice vote in the Senate, in late October.

year and designed to lessen competition for deposits and loans in the troubled Texas thrift market.

Other City Savings offices in Roscoe and Rotan were closed in August but it was speculated the Snyder office might remain open. The mergers were to include closings of up to 25 branch offices.

The local S&L opened here on Feb. 1, 1982, as Homestate Savings, a branch of Sweetwater Savings and Loan.

It was acquired in 1984 by the San Angelo-based City Savings, and again on May 18 of this year by Southwest Savings.

Under the legislation, Cabinet members and their top deputies would be prohibited from lobbying their agency for one year after leaving, and top executive centives as a reduction in health care costs offered by Cogdell to both entities for claims incurred by their employees.

In addition, the employees would be offered a discount on their "co-insurance" costs, the out-of-pocket expense the employees must pay on insurance claims, when Cogdell services or medical staffers are used.

To date, Hochwalt noted, no followup action related to the two offers has been made.

In other steps to increase patient volume, the hospital board is now under contract for two physician searches. Last Oct. 4, the board retained the Houston-based doctor recruitment firm of Whitaker, Fellows and Associates to secure both an internal medicine specialist and a general surgeon here.

In an update report Tuesday, Hochwalt said no firm leads have developed for either position.

He noted there has been at least one inquiry regarding a similar effort to secure a family practitioner for Snyder, an effort undertaken "internally" at Cogdell by other members of the medical staff.

Hochwalt said he would like to follow this internal approach for branch staff could not lobby their agency for a year without approval from the Office of Government Ethics.

Holiday due closings Thursday

The Scurry County Museum at WTC will close Thursday through Sunday and the Diamond M Museum will close Thursday through Monday.

Public school students in Snyder, Hermleigh and Ira will return to class at the regular time on Monday, Nov. 28.

Classes at Western Texas College will resume Monday as well. The Snyder Daily News will be delivered early on Thursday and the newspaper office will be closed during the day.

Thursday's editions will include sale information on the traditional "Two-Day" sale here which opens the Christmas shopping season.

Some 31 local merchants will offer sale prices as part of this year's promotion.

approximately two more months and, if unsuccessful at that time, would like the board to consider using a physician recruitment firm for this post as well.

Also Tuesday, the board approved medical staff privileges for Dr. Tom Aycock, a Sweetwater surgeon who is currently keeping daily office hours and performing surgeries here, and Dr. Douglas Carmichael, one of the physicians providing weekend emergency room coverage under a contractual agreement with Emergicare Systems Inc. of Abilene.

Hochwalt informed them also that an offer is being considered to contract with the City of Snyder for shared space on its computer system.

This would be an alternative to purchasing new equipment at Cogdell, a plan estimated to cost from $135,000 to $334,000

Dear Abby

On This Day of Thanks, Don't Worry, Be Happy

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1988 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR READERS: An update on my traditional Thanksgiving column: Tomorrow is Thanksgiving, so why not take a few minutes to count your blessings?

How's your health? You have a few minor complaints? Well, thank God they're not major. Obviously, you're still alive. You can probably think of at least one person who isn't around this year.

If you awakened this morning and were able to hear the birds sing, use your vocal cords to utter human sounds, walk to the breakfast table on two good legs and read the newspaper with two good eyes (or even one), praise the Lord! A lot of people couldn't.

How's your pocketbook? Thin? Well, most of the world is a lot poorer. No pensions. No welfare. No food stamps. No Social Security. No Medicare. In fact, one-third of the people in the world will go to bed hungry tonight. Would you rather be in Bangladesh, Ethiopia or Nicaragua?

Are you lonely? The way to have a friend is to be one. If nobody calls you, pick up the phone and call somebody. Go out of your way to do something nice for somebody. It's a sure cure for the blues.

Are you concerned about your country's future? Hooray! Our system has been saved by such concern. If you don't like your elected officials, you can go to work and vote them out of office. We still have the soapbox and the ballot box.

Freedom rings! You can still worship at the church of your choice, or not worship at all if you don't want to. You can cast a secret ballot, and even criticize your government without fearing a knock on the head or a knock on your door in the middle of the night. And if you want to live under a different system, goodbye and good luck! You are free to go. There are no walls or fences to keep you here.

As a final thought, I'll repeat my Thanksgiving prayer; perhaps you will want to use it at your table tomorrow:

O, heavenly Father: We thank thee for food and remember the hungry.

We thank thee for health and remember the sick.

We thank thee for friends and remember the friendless.

We thank thee for freedom and remember the enslaved.

May these remembrances stir us to service

That thy gifts to us may be used for others. Amen.

Have a wonderful Thanksgiving, and may God bless you and yours. — Love, ABBY

By the way, want an instant high? The surest cure for the post-holiday blues is to do something nice for someone. Why not call someone who lives alone and invite him (or her) to join you for lunch or dinner?

Better yet, call and say, "I'm coming to get you, and I'll see that you get home." (Many older people don't drive, and those who do don't like to go out alone after dark.)

P.S. Special greetings to those of you in the military who wrote from remote corners of the world to tell me that you are using my Thanksgiving prayer.

JFK saluted 25 years after slaying

WASHINGTON (AP) — It was the evening of David Hibbard's last day as a Peace Corps volunteer in a mud-hut village in Nigeria when his overseas radio crackled with the bulletin that John F. Kennedy had been assassinated, and Hibbard's lonely nightmare began.

"I felt an overwhelming sense of loss and grief," said Hibbard, now a doctor in Boulder, Colo. "I stayed up all night listening for details. I wondered irrationally whether he might have lived if I'd stayed in Nigeria another year. I cried myself to sleep, exhausted."

Jim Hagan of Santa Cruz, Calif., recalls he was a youngster trying to hitchhike out of a blizzard in Buffalo, N.Y., to attend the president's funeral in Washington. He never made it, but he joined the Peace Corps three years later for a stint in India.

Kennedy, said Hagan, embodied the Peace Corps' ideal of "helping others, breaking down barriers ... and promoting peace instead of war."

Hibbard and Hagan were among 450 former Peace Corps volunteers or their surrogates who saluted Kennedy's memory during a 24-hour vigil in the Capitol Rotunda which ended at midday Tuesday, the 25th anniversary of the president's murder in Dallas.

They joined hundreds of other former volunteers at a memorial Mass at St. Matthew's Roman Catholic Cathedral, where the Rev. Theodore Hesburgh recalled Nov. 22, 1963, as the day when "the heartbeat of a nation stood still."

Americans across the land stood still for a moment Tuesday to recall that dark day, although members of the Kennedy family said they hoped the president could be remembered for his life, not his death.

"I think we should think of the high points of his life, the laughter and the vision," said Eunice Shriver, the president's sister, who made an early-morning visit to his grave at Arlington National Cemetery. "Hopefully, someday we'll get excited about his birthday." Kennedy would have been 71 last May 29.

Robert Kennedy's widow, Ethel, appeared shortly after the cemetery gates opened at 8 a.m. Later in the day, Evelyn Lincoln, the president's personal secretary, laid three red roses before the eternal flame. She has visited the site every Nov. 22 since the assassination.

Thirty uniformed men of the Army's elite Green Berets laid a wreath, formed a semicircle and saluted their former commander in chief.

The president's youngest and only surviving brother, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., laid a single white rose at the Kennedy memorial at Runnymede, England, where King John made a historic grant of civil and political liberties in the Magna Carta.

"We think it's extremely important to celebrate the life of President Kennedy rather than the tragedy," Kennedy told reporters. "We're focusing on the birthday and the hope of his life rather than dwelling upon his loss."

A private Mass was held for the president's widow, Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis, and her two children, John Jr. and Caroline, at St. Thomas More's Roman Catholic Church in New York City. The former first lady made no public appearances.

In Dallas, no official ceremonies were held, but about 2,500 people gathered at Dealey Plaza to pray silently and observe the site where Kennedy was killed by an assassin's gunfire as he waved to crowds from the back of an open limousine.
