State revenue forecast...

Officials hail 'good news'

AUSTIN (AP) — The projection that state revenues will grow during the next two years is being hailed by Texas officials who've had to cope with repeated budget crises and seen taxes raised by record amounts.

State Comptroller Bob Bullock's official revenue estimate says the Legislature will find an additional $1.6 billion available to spend when it convenes in January and total state income over the next two years rising $4.2 billion.

Bullock's estimate for the 1990-91 budget years said the state would take in $45 billion from all sources, with the increase due to a rebounding economy.

"The Texas economy is in recovery and state government's revenue outlook is better than it has been in years," Bullock said.

Bullock said the additional $1.6 billion available marks a $3.7 billion turnaround from the point less than two years ago when the state's available income fell by $2.1 billion.

"We have bounced back big and strong and we think the improvement will continue. And our estimate would have been even larger if it had not been for the continued poor condition of the oil industry," the comptroller said in the forecast given to Gov. Bill Clements and legislators Tuesday.

Bullock said the additional $1.6 billion will be available to lawmakers even though several temporary taxes adopted by the 1987 Legislature are set to expire on Aug. 31, 1989.

The good news follows massive budget problems that began in November 1985, when oil prices plunged from near $30 a barrel to less than $10 and took the state's economy down with it.

"It's certainly positive news for us for the first time in a long time," said state Treasurer Ann Richards.

House Speaker Gib Lewis, D-Fort Worth, said the news arrived in the nick of time.

"The announcement could not come at a more critical time in light of the growing demands on state services in the areas of prison overcrowding, public and higher education enrollment increases, as well as new mandates from the federal government on welfare and nursing home reform," Lewis said.

A Clements spokesman, Jay Rosser, called the forecast "wonderful news for state government and great news for Texas taxpayers" and said it is "proof positive that the Texas economy continues to grow and expand and a sure sign that our

Yule concert Sunday

The Christmas concert of the Western Texas College music department will be presented at 2 p.m. Sunday in the Fine Arts Theatre.

Performing on the program will be the WTC Choir, the Ladies Ensemble, a brass quintet and the flute ensemble. The program will be under the direction of Jane Womack and Brent Hardegree.

Ty Brunson, WTC art instructor, will be exhibiting pottery and ceramic sculpture in the Fine Arts Gallery in a show opening at 1 p.m. the same day.

Both the concert and the Brunson exhibit are part of the annual Christmas Happening hosted by the Scurry County Museum and the college. The public is invited. There is no charge for admission to the concert or other activities.

Cable television's expansion to be switched over Thursday

At 2 p.m. Thursday, Snyder cable television subscribers will see their selection expand to a potential of 30 channels as a new program lineup is begun by Snyder Cablevision.

The change has been implemented by the sale of the local cable franchise.

For those subscribing to the "basic" service, the addition will mean a switch from 13 to 27 channel selections.

A "premium" service will be offered as well with two movie channels, HBO and Cinemax, and the Disney Channel available for an additional fee.

For the month of December, the added channels, to include HBO, Cinemax and Disney, will be offered to all customers. Effective Jan. 1, the movie channels and Disney will be scrambled and available only to "premium" subscribers.

Also effective Jan. 1, the basic package of 27 channels will cost $16.95, up from the current rate of $11.24.

For the premium stations, several options will be available. To add the Disney Channel only, the cost will be $23.95 and to add either HBO or Cinemax, the cost will go to $27.45.

To add both HBO and Cinemax, the cost will be $35.95. To add Disney and either HBO or Cinemax, the cost will be $34.45.

To receive the entire package, customers will pay $42.95 per month.

With the switch, converter boxes will be required by customers who do not have "cable ready" televisions, those which can be programmed to

TDC guard class signup will begin at WTC Thursday

Thursday is the first day applications will be made available to enroll in the second correctional officers training class offered through Western Texas College for employment with the Texas Department of Corrections.

These will be accepted through Jan. 10, but WTC officials note that the college campus will be closed for the Christmas holidays from Dec. 16 until Jan. 2.

Because of this, they encourage those considering enrolling in the class to pick up their applications prior to the 16th, two weeks from this Friday.

The application forms are available at the adult and continuing education office on campus located in the Learning Resource Center.

A class size of around 40 is sought. WTC officials note that the second class will graduate April 20 and its members will be eligible for employment at the 1,000-man unit scheduled to be completed here in mid-June.

Four documents are required in order to apply, a driver's license, social security card, certified birth certificate and a copy of a diploma or transcript.

The teller on Deep Creek says, "Strength is the capacity to break a chocolate bar into four pieces with your bare hands and then eat just one piece."

We understand that the Yuppie era is over, and economic experts say that the heyday of the high-paid, fast-spending young professional will never make a comeback.

One Texas yuppie, the victim of the state's economic downturn in both oil and real estate, moaned, "I really don't want a lot of money. I just wish we could afford to live the way we're living now."

The list of the nation's richest people came out recently, and Sam Walton, founder of Walmart, is still said to pace the wealthy list.

Walton tries to be modest, saying he only owns a pickup and some company stock. "It's all on paper," he says.

Texan H.L. Hunt once was asked by a TV reporter if it were true that his income was a million dollars a week. "Or is a billion a week?"

Replied Hunt: "Why, I'd starve to death on just a million a week."

Salaries often amaze us. You can hire a president, and there were plenty of folks wanting the job, for $200,000 a year. He does, of course, get housing and a few other perks provided.

A football player making $600,000 is always happy until he learns a teammate has hammered out a contract for $800,000. We've never had much respect for a million dollar quarterback that slides to avoid being tackled.

Singer Michael Jackson is reported to make $60 million a year, and comedian Bill Cosby is close behind. Boxer Mike Tyson is due to make $45 million this year, but we predict his wife, mother-in-law and attorneys will wind up with most of it. There are said to be 42 Americans who make from $16 million to $60 million a year.

We wonder if the guy who makes $60 million a year is as tired at the end of his day as those of us still trying to figure out how to meet the mortgage.

Q — Is there not going to be a Santa for the kids this year as there has been in the past?

A — Santa has traditionally arrived here the Friday after Thanksgiving, but he is scheduled this year this coming Saturday at the courthouse bandstand from 2 until 5 p.m.

In Brief

Space shuttle

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP). — Weather officials said today that an advancing storm has reduced the odds to one in five that Atlantis and its five astronauts can be launched Thursday on a secret military satellite mission.

A leaking tire on the shuttle's main landing gear was a less bothersome concern.

NASA's 21-member Mission Management Team met to assess the worsening forecast, which called for winds up to 24 mph, heavy clouds and the possibility of light rain at the planned launch time.

Because all details of the flight are classified, NASA has said only that the planned launch time was between 6:32 a.m. and 9:32 a.m. Sources said liftoff was set for about 7 a.m.

Lions stopped

REYNOSA, Mexico (AP). — The coordinator of a service organization trying to donate 14,000 pairs of eyeglasses to the needy in Guatemala says he is frustrated by Mexican customs officials' demand that the group pay for a custodian to escort them across the country.

"We're trying to do service and trying to help people that are less fortunate than we are," said Jim Cameron of Lions Clubs International. "When you run into a situation like this, it's really frustrating."

A convoy involving 38 members of the organization was stopped Tuesday at the Texas-Mexico border between Hidalgo, Texas, and Reynosa, with eyeglasses and other medical supplies. Customs officials demanded the group pay $6,000 for three custodians who would accompany them on their trip into Mexico.

Hearing starts

DALLAS (AP). — A man who has served 12 years in prison for the shooting death of a Dallas police officer in 1976 will ask a state district judge for a new trial today.

Randall Dale Adams, whose case was resurrected with the help of a documentary filmmaker, was convicted and sentenced to death for the 1976 murder of Dallas police officer Robert Wood. His sentence was later commuted to life in prison, but Adams has always maintained his innocence.

Adams' attorney, Randy Schaffer, says he expects the hearing to last several days, subpoenaed about 15 and 20 witnesses.

Texas is losing money to New York

AUSTIN (AP) — Treasurer Ann Richards said a legal battle between New York and Delaware over unclaimed money could make losers of the remaining 48 states, including Texas.

Richards said on Tuesday that Texas has intervened in the New York-Delaware lawsuit in order to get what she calls Texas' share of unclaimed money leftover in brokerage houses. And she is urging other states to do the same.

The case concerns ownership of millions of dollars in dividends and interest that have no known owner, but originated in businesses and governmental entities nationwide.

"Texas money is now being sent to the state of New York. Neither Delaware nor New York should benefit from Wall Street's accounting errors," she said.

"We are talking about lots and lots of money," said Ms. Richards.

She said the exact amount of money in question is unknown, but added that a report filed with the state of New York showed the amount of money remitted by one brokerage firm was $3 million, $300,000 of which was from Texas businesses.

How this money became unclaimed is a complicated matter.

2 parties arrive at settlement

PECOS, Texas (AP) — Reeves County and the survivors of the Saragosa tornado have agreed to a $15,000 settlement in a lawsuit the survivors filed to force the sheriff's office to account for unsolicited tornado-relief funds it received.

Under terms of the settlement, the county will take $15,000 from the sheriff's budget next fiscal year and give it to the Saragosa Finance Committee, County Attorney Scott Johnson said Tuesday.

For example, a brokerage house may buy shares of a Texas company from another brokerage house for a client.

When the Texas company returns a dividend, the first brokerage house credits the purchaser, but the transfer of the stock has not been recorded so the second brokerage house also is credited with a dividend. This money becomes unclaimed and its owner unknown. New York claims the money is theirs, since the brokerage houses are in New York. Delaware says it is their money, since the brokerage firms are incorporated in Delaware.

Ms. Richards said the money should be returned to states based on where the original payments came from.

The finance committee, which is run by the county but is separate from the sheriff's office, probably will give the money to the public Reeves County Hospital to pay unreimbursed expenses arising from the May 22, 1987, tornado, Johnson said.

The twister killed 30 people, injured 60 and destroyed 61 houses in the tiny cotton-farming town about 25 miles south of Pecos.

Thousands of dollars of unsolicited contributions poured in from around the country after the tornado. Most went to the Saragosa Finance Committee, but some went to the sheriff's office, whose fund was completely separate from the finance committee.

The legal trouble started when the tornado's survivors asked how much money the sheriff's office collected and how it was spent. Saragosans eventually enlisted Texas Rural Legal Aid's help in filing suit against the county to force Sheriff Raul Florez to answer its questions. After poring through a pile of loose receipts and jumbled records, an independent auditor determined that the sheriff's office had collected about $53,000 in donations, Legal Aid attorney David Horton said Tuesday.

About $22,000 of that money was used to buy building materials and otherwise help the tornado victims, Horton said. But the sheriff spent about $31,000 on overtime expenses, utilities, fuel and a sheet-metal shed where some sheriff's office vehicles are now stored, Horton said.

Johnson and Horton said the $31,000 was "negligently spent."

Dear Abby

Woman Feels Blue Because She Continually Turns Red

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1988 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I am a 35-year-old single woman, and I still blush. This didn't really get bad until I was about 19 years old. I think maybe I'm afraid of people. Have you ever heard of anything so stupid?

When I'm with a crowd of people and a stranger comes up to talk to me, I get so red I could stand on a street corner and stop traffic. What is wrong with me?

If I have a couple of drinks, I get so relaxed, I can talk to anyone. I can't understand this. When I don't drink and a stranger approaches me, I get hot and sweaty and I can feel my cheeks burning, so I know I am beet-red.

I kept hoping I would outgrow this, but it seems to be getting worse. Is there any cure for blushing?

HATES THE COLOR RED

DEAR HATES: Blushing is a physical reaction to a mental stimulus. It is simply a reddening of the face as a result of experiencing shame, embarrassment, confusion or helplessness. Because it's an involuntary act, it is difficult — but not impossible — to control. Our blood pressure can be raised or lowered by our thoughts (this is called "biofeedback"), and thought-control techniques can control the emotions that cause us to blush. The fear of blushing can cause one to blush.

Instead of taking a couple of drinks to relax in a social situation, give yourself a stern order: Tell yourself firmly, "No more of this stupid blushing! I can handle this without embarrassment." And the chances are great that your body will hear your words and make them true.

DEAR ABBY: My husband (I'll call him John) is getting on in years, but he refuses to talk about funeral arrangements. He says he wants to donate all his organs to medical science. I think he has the idea that he will save on funeral expenses if he follows this procedure. But, Abby, when "science" is through with him, doesn't his family get what's left? I would like to get all these arrangements taken care of right now while we both have our heads on straight.

I have my plot bought and paid for because this is my second marriage and I am going to be buried next to my first husband in his family plot. But my present husband's burial troubles me.

Is it true that a person who donates his whole body to medical science gets a free burial? If you print this, please keep me anonymous. This is a small town, and I'd rather not have this known. Thank you.

PENNY-PINCHER'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: When organs are donated, "what's left" is returned to the family. However, if John wishes to donate his entire body to medical science, he must preregister with the medical school nearest him. For a list of medical schools, send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to: The Living Bank, P.O. Box 6725, Houston, Texas 77265.

Don't put off writing thank-you notes, letters of sympathy, etc. because you don't know what to say. Get Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Send a check or money order for $2.89 ($3.39 in Canada) to: Dear Abby, Letter Booklet, P.O. Box 147, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054. (Postage is included.)

Relatives of family that died in crash are seeking answers

IRVING, Texas (AP) — Some had come because it was like seeing a mystery novel unfold, hoping they would find out who or what was responsible for the crash of Delta Flight 1141.

Others were scribbling notes furiously, stocking new nuggets of knowledge for the day the inevitable trials begin.

But Helen and Paul Bare, of Trophy Club, Texas, were not like the rest.

They had come to the Marriott Hotel on Tuesday to watch the public inquiry into the crash of the Boeing 727 at Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport, hoping to uncover answers they fear are buried along with their daughter, their son-in-law and their granddaughter.

Patrick Scott Morgan, 28, Barbara Kay Morgan, 29, and their 14-month-old daughter Tiffany Lynn, were among the first to be identified as fatalities from the Aug. 31 crash.

"We're just here because we want to know what happened,"

Mrs. Bare said. On the hearing's first day, they heard something they had never heard before about the crash.

"Someone had tried to get the back door open," Mrs. Bare said, her eyes tearing up and her voice breaking. "But the door didn't open."

Robert R. Coester, who also had been a passenger aboard the flight that left Dallas bound for Salt Lake City, told the federal investigative panel how he had tried in vain to reach passengers he knew were trapped by flames in the back of the plane.

Coester said he felt "hopeless and helpless" as he realized the rear left door wouldn't not open and that he had successfully kicked out a window only to realize that there was metal behind the new opening.

At other windows, he could occasionally see hands come to the window and try in vain to push it out only to disappear again into the blackness.

Meeting the Bares after the day's testimony stunned Coester, he said.

During the Great Depression, Congress authorized the formation of the Civilian Conservation Corps in 1933.

GOP claims...

Election moves Senate to left

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democrats say they elected George Mitchell as majority leader to give them an eloquent spokesman. Republicans like him, too — both as someone to work with and as a liberal to attack.

"I think it's a very good choice. George is very liberal, and it will push the Senate to the left," said Sen. Orrin Hatch, R-Utah, a conservative. "Whoever won that race was destined to be the spokesman for the Democrats in America."

"It seems to me the Democrats have decided to move toward the left wing of the party and decided to do so with considerable momentum," said Richard Lugar, R-Ind. "This could make it easier for Bob Dole, as our leader, to obtain majorities."

"They are swimming against the tide of national politics," he said.

Mitchell, 55, of Maine, was elected Tuesday by the Democrats of the next Senate, handily defeating rivals Daniel Inouye of Hawaii and Bennett Johnston of Louisiana. Mitchell won 27 votes on the first ballot, compared with only 14 each for the others, and he then was declared the winner by acclamation.

The former federal judge and prosecutor emerged from the secret meeting and sounded a tone of caution and compromise, declaring that the Democrats would develop an agenda and "wait with interest and enthusiasm for the proposals of the next administration."

"We hope to move forward on a broad range of issues," he said, citing the federal deficit, health care, day care and the environment.

Mitchell planned to meet today with Senate Republican leader Bob Dole, R-Kan., a colleague from the Senate Finance Committee who was re-elected to his post by GOP colleagues on Tuesday.

Insurance board to reorganize

AUSTIN (AP) — The State Board of Insurance, amid charges of mismanagement, will undergo what members call a significant reorganization.

The board Tuesday changed the responsibilities of senior deputy commissioner James Odiorne, the second major step this month since being stung by criticism from legislators and consumer representatives about its handling of the recent failure of an insurance company.

Board member David Thornberry said the move was not a reflection on Odiorne's job performance.

"He has more responsibility than any one man can handle," Thornberry said.

Earlier this month, the board placed Insurance Commissioner Doyce Lee on leave pending an investigation into charges the agency is beset with management problems and mishandled the largest insolvency of a property and casualty insurance company in state history.

The three-member board on Tuesday also voted to make other organizational changes designed to speed up the flow of information on troubled insurance companies to the insurance commissioner and the board.

Odiorne was removed as head of the financial division, but kept on as chief liquidator of insolvent insurance companies. Previously he held both positions.

Board members said the two positions — chief liquidator and head of finance — have an inherent conflict of interest.

As liquidator, Odiorne must try to gather assets of a failed company to cover claims against the company. To accomplish this, the liquidator may have to file a lawsuit against a related company. But if the related company was also in trouble, Odiorne, as head of the finance division, was responsible to help it also.

Willy gets greedy

By James Jacoby

We let two old friends of ours play today's deal. The first declarer was Willy Nilly. On the opening lead of the spade 10, Willy put up the jack from dummy. When that held the trick, he quickly and happily played the king of clubs. Surprise! Everybody played low. Willy came to his hand with the diamond ace and led a club to dummy's queen. As you might imagine, East won with the appropriate card and continued spades. Now Willy played king and a diamond, but that suit did not split. He wound up with only seven tricks — down two. While Willy was nursing his wounds, we presented the deal to Careful Charlie.

Charlie started out the same way as Willy, winning dummy's jack of spades. But then came a play unknown to bridge players blinded by greed for overtricks. Charlie played a low club from dummy. Sure, East put up the jack and played back a spade. Charlie won and played a second club. Now when the king forced out the ace, the queen was positioned to win the third round of the suit, making the remaining low clubs winners, and declarer still had dummy's king of diamonds as an entry.

It's true that Charlie had given up a chance for overtricks whenever West held the ace of clubs only once or twice-guarded. (Charlie could arrange to lead up to the K-Q twice, getting to his hand with the ace of diamonds and a high spade.) But his play deprived East of the opportunity of setting the contract by ducking with the ace on the first lead of the suit. All we can say about Willy Nilly's play is that now you know how he got his name.

Higher U. S. farm exports forseen by some analysts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bolstered by higher world prices, U.S. farm exports are expected to continue to grow in value in 1989, rising about $1 billion to $36.5 billion, according to the latest Agriculture Department projections.

However, export volumes are forecast to shrink by 8 percent in fiscal year 1989 in response to declines for some farm products hard hit by last summer's drought.

The projected increase in export values would mark the third straight year of growth. American farm exports rose from $26.3 billion in fiscal year 1986 to $27.9 billion in 1987 to $35.5 billion in 1988.

The volume of sales probably will fall to 136 million metric tons in 1989, down from a six-year high of nearly 148 million metric tons in the year ended Sept. 30, according to Richard W. Goldberg, acting undersecretary of agriculture for international affairs and commodity programs.

Goldberg delivered what he described as a "bright" agricultural trade forecast at Tuesday's opening session of USDA's Agricultural Outlook Conference, an annual event in which government analysts outline prospects for the coming year for farmers and agribusiness.

"Export volume is forecast smaller as the U.S. share of world trade shrinks for drought-affected products," Goldberg said.

Overall, the United States is expected to account for 48 percent of world total grain trade in 1989, down from 50 percent.

One of the hardest hit commodities is soybeans, with the U.S. share of world soybean trade forecast to drop to 35 percent in 1989 from 49 percent.

Rice, corn and horticultural products are among the few commodities expected to see increases in 1989 export volumes, with wheat and wheat flour falling about 2 percent to 40.2 million metric tons.

But with global grain stocks drawn down largely because of the drought in North America, Goldberg said that world prices for wheat, corn and soybeans should be their highest since 1985.

Goldberg said a $2.6 billion increase in the value of U.S. grain and feed exports will offset declines for cotton and oilseeds in 1989.

"For U.S. agriculture, the challenge in the coming year will be to sustain the momentum in overseas sales which has been regained over the past few years," said Goldberg. "This will require more competitive prices, aggressive market development, persistent trade policy efforts and a market-oriented trade philosophy."

Imports of agricultural products into the United States are expected to remain about the same as 1988's record $21 billion. That means that the U.S. agricultural trade surplus should rise about $1 billion in 1989, reaching about $15.5 billion. In contrast, the surplus stood at only $5.4 billion in 1985.

KKK murder spawns high court argument about juries makeup

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — A racist murder that led to a $7 million civil verdict against the nation's oldest Ku Klux Klan group is moving to the U.S. Supreme Court for a decision on whether defense lawyers can bar blacks from juries.

Defense lawyers say they doubt the high court will review whether they can challenge every prospective black juror in order to put together an all-white panel for Klan defendants.

But prosecutors in Alabama, joined by other states, contend the issue needs to be reviewed to prevent racial discrimination and give prosecutors equal standing with defense lawyers when picking a jury in a racially oriented case.

"The argument is not whether you have an all-white jury. The argument is whether you can strike anybody because of race," said University of Virginia law associate professor Pamela Karlan.

A recent Supreme Court ruling barred prosecutors from such racially tainted jury selection tactics. The question the court might face if it decides to hear the case is whether the ruling can be extended to apply to the defense. A deadline for briefs was set for today.

Defense attorneys are allowed to use any means within the law to get their clients off and this has included striking potential jurors whom they believe would be prejudiced against their clients.

The case in question began March 21, 1981, when Michael Donald, a 19-year-old black Mobile man, was abducted at random from a city street, beaten to death and his body hanged in a tree. KKK members Henry Francis Hays and James "Tiger" Knowles were arrested in connection with the slaying.

Hays was convicted of capital murder and received the death penalty. Knowles pleaded guilty to a federal charge of violating Donald's civil rights and received a life prison sentence.

Last year, Donald's mother, Beulah Mae Donald, won a $7 million lawsuit against the United Klans of America, resulting in her acquisition of the KKK headquarters building in Tuscaloosa. She sold the building to a stockbroker. Mrs. Donald, 67, died earlier this year.

Mobile County prosecutors also filed murder charges against Hays' father, Bennie Jack Hays, and the younger Hays' brother-in-law, Frank Cox. During trial last February, the elder Hays collapsed in court, prompting a mistrial.

But before the two can be retried, attorneys want the high court to answer the question about jury composition: Can defense attorneys use peremptory challenges to strike all blacks from a jury simply because of their race?

Study finds more border diseases

WASHINGTON (AP) — A health inventory along the Texas-Mexico border has found a higher than average prevalence of diseases linked to polluted water and other unsanitary conditions, coupled with medical care shortages, says Sen. Lloyd Bentsen.

Bentsen, a Texas Democrat who requested the study by the General Accounting Office, said the results are not surprising and illustrate that there is a "health care crisis along our border."

Bentsen, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, vowed to use the influential position to push for answers and money to combat the problem.

Communicable diseases reported at a rate two to three times higher than in the United States include gastrointestinal diseases, hepatitis, tuberculosis and syphilis, the GAO said.

Cases of leprosy and malaria, which are not common in most other parts of the country, were also reported on the 1,000-mile stretch of border, said GAO. Congress' investigative arm reported cases of those diseases, however, were low compared to other health problems, while the incidence of AIDS and gonorrhea also was lower than the national average.

The six leading causes of death on the border were the same for the United States and Texas, the study said.

The GAO looked at the incidence of disease and the availability of health care in the 16 counties between El Paso and Brownsville.

"Not surprisingly, the GAO study indicates some serious health problems along our border, and less medical care to cope with those problems than is available in the rest of Texas and the country at large," said Bentsen.

Quayle moving slowly on decisions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unlike George Bush, who is rapidly picking top aides, Dan Quayle has yet to make major staffing decisions in a transition period marked chiefly by meetings with conservatives and others seeking his ear.

The turtle-like pace of Quayle's transition, aides say, reflects that a politician moving from the legislative to the executive branch of government inevitably needs some educating.

Moreover, the vice president-elect apparently is in no hurry to make appointments without Bush's acquiescence.

"He's not going to rush it," said Dan Evans, the head of Quayle's transition team whose friendship with the Indiana senator goes back nearly 20 years. Quayle's transition team operates from a white, federal-style town house off Pennsylvania Avenue near the Old Executive Office Building where Quayle eventually will work as vice president.

The town house customarily is set aside for the use of former presidents, and the walls are adorned with photographs of Gerald Ford, Jimmy Carter and Richard Nixon. The quarters are elegant, if cramped, with barely enough room for Secret Service agents posted in the narrow hallways. Press aides on the second floor must move to the lobby if the senator wishes to use the conference room that serves as their makeshift office.

Those drawbacks aside, Evans says Quayle's transition is moving ahead as it should and Quayle is selecting his staff "in consultation with President-elect Bush and his staff."

"He isn't waiting for approval or disapproval, but in keeping with the collegiality of the decision-making process, decisions will not be made in a vacuum," Evans said in a recent interview.

Bush moved quickly to pick his chief of staff, John Sununu, and many of his top Cabinet officials. An announcement on Quayle's chief of staff, who will head a team of roughly 100 people, is expected in early December.

Evans himself is said not to be in the running, nor are any of the top "handlers" that traveled with Quayle during the campaign. Many of them, veterans of previous White House jobs, have said they now prefer private life. Evans won't say whether Quayle is looking for a Washington insider, Indiana crony or someone from his Senate staff.

Dozens of "high quality resumes" and hundreds of unsolicited resumes have come into the transition office, Evans says, but Quayle is "educating himself on the executive branch before he makes his staffing decisions."

And although Quayle's staff organization will be patterned after Bush's vice presidential office, there is one top adviser who doesn't appear on any official flow chart. That is Marilyn Quayle, the senator's wife, who occupies an office in the transition building and who probably will have space in the vice presidential office as well.

"There is no adviser senior to her," Evans says.

Soviet nixes publication of 'Gulag'

MOSCOW (AP) — The Kremlin ideology chief indicated that glasnost does not extend to author Alexander Solzhenitsyn, who was thrown out of the country after chronicling Soviet repressions in his Nobel Prize-winning work.

"I am against the publication of a number of works by Solzhenitsyn, and in the first place such works as 'Lenin in Zurich,' and the 'Gulag Archipelago,'" Vadim A. Medvedev said Tuesday during a news conference.

"To publish Solzhenitsyn's works would mean to, in effect, undermine the foundations on which today's life rests," Medvedev said.

Medvedev, the newest member of the ruling Politburo, is regarded as one of those closest to President Mikhail S. Gorbachev.

Under Gorbachev's policy of glasnost, or greater openness, many prohibited works have been published.

Some writers, artists and activists in informal political groups have urged that Solzhenitsyn's works be published and that he be allowed to visit the Soviet Union.

Medvedev is considered a theoretician of many social and economic reform policies, but his statement made clear there still are limits on the amount of openness allowed under Gorbachev's reforms.

Dr. Gott

Peter Gott, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: A young man, 24, of our acquaintance, has trouble dealing with life's problems. While in high school, he saw a counselor who suggested he take a baseball bat to the living-room furniture while thinking it was his grandfather, the one who had presumably caused his problems. What do you think of this therapy?

DEAR READER: Expensive, noisy and bound to create more problems than it solves.

The expression of pent-up anger is a useful therapeutic tool to reduce rage and channel aggressive tendencies. To this end, it is more appropriate to beat up a pillow or have a shouting match with yourself away from everyone else. Busting up perfectly good furniture with a baseball bat is not only wacky, it's stupid. It sounds to me as though the high-school counselor needs some help himself.

You do raise an interesting question, however: the issue of personal responsibility. Many people who have trouble dealing with life's problems, labor under the misperception that someone else is to blame for their difficulties. The favorite scapegoats in this fantasy are parents, grandparents, spouses, boyfriends and girlfriends.

When you're angry and confused, it's all too easy to say that someone else has responsibility for your feelings and failures. Of course, as any experienced adult knows, this is pure hogwash. No one "makes" us angry. We don't have to be victims. We choose to be angry, although we have other, better options.

Most children have unpleasant experiences — or even go through catastrophic tragedies. We all live through unhappiness and frustration. What else is new? In order to promote a growth process, we have to "own" our feelings: I am happy or sad — not, you made me happy or sad.

In all likelihood, your acquaintance's grandfather was not the sole cause of his problems. Once the person puts the focus on himself, he can start dealing with the responsibility for his own feelings and behavior. This is the beginning of getting well.

Naturally, this is a difficult first step to take. But it's essential. Otherwise, you run the risk of establishing a "blame-everybody" philosophy, when what you really need is a little self-honesty and the courage to look hard at your own attitudes.

Young people, in particular, tend to throw around a lot of blame. "I use drugs because my father rejected me"; "I get drunk because my girlfriend broke up with me"; "school makes me mad." I don't buy this kind of cop-out. People behave the way they choose to behave; alternatives are always available and are more suitable.

Therefore, my advice to your young acquaintance is: Get off the pity-pot, look at yourself and get some help with your feelings. Leave the baseball bats to the little leaguers.

For more information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Help II — Mental/Substance Abuse." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

Play defending 3A champ next...

Lady Tigers run into Wall

Snyder's Lady Tigers ran into a Wall here Tuesday night and they can expect to face an even tougher test Thursday in the Coahoma Tournament.

The ladies fell behind early and lost to a strong Wall Hawks team 62-48 Tuesday. Thursday, they meet defending Class 3A state champion Brownfield in Coahoma.

"They'll be tough and that's an understatement," said Coach Ken Housden, whose ladies are 1-4 for the young season.

Here Tuesday, Wall jumped out to an 8-0 advantage and led 26-10 after the first quarter. The Hawks used half-court and full-court pressure to force some turnovers and got their fast break going enough times to run up the early advantage.

"The first quarter just killed us," said Coach Housden. "After that, we pretty well played with them."

Snyder outscored the Hawks 13-12 in the second quarter, dropped the third 12-9 and won the fourth 16-11.

"Our man (man-to-man) offense still needs a lot of work," said the coach. "It was a combination of them playing real well and us still having problems with our man offense. I think we'll eventually get it but it will take some time."

Melody Pickering led the Tigers with 16 points - all in the second half. Anne Osborn, who scored 12 first-half points, notched 15 for the game. Evette Housden added 10 points.

Snyder hit 18 of 30 free throws for 60 percent.

"That isn't real good but it's better than we have been shooting," pointed out Housden.

Wall, 4-0 now, dominated on the boards, outrebounding the Lady Tigers 48 to 22. Osborn led Snyder with 11.

Thursday, Snyder takes on highly-touted Brownfield at 5:30 p.m. in the Coahoma Tournament. The winner plays again Friday at 4 p.m. The loser doesn't play again until 9 a.m. Saturday.

In other action here Tuesday, Snyder defeated Wall in a junior varsity game, 39-38. Camille Thompson scored 14 for Snyder. Liz Greathouse and Freda Clay added 8 points each.

The JV, now 3-0, will entertain

Lamesa at 8:30 p.m. Friday in the high school gym as they host the Snyder Junior Varsity Tournament.

"Camille did a great job. She kept us in the game," said Coach Laurie Welch of Tuesday's win. "Some of the others who normally score a lot weren't scoring much and Camille made up the difference. Robbie (Braziel) and Freda did a good job on the boards."

Eight named to first team...

Hogs dominate All-SWC list

DALLAS (AP) - Cotton Bowl-bound Arkansas hogged honors on The Associated Press 1988 All-Southwest Conference football team in a tribute paid by the coaches, who named eight Razorbacks players to the first team.

Arkansas' Ken Hatfield was selected as Coach of the Year in balloting that had Jack Pardee of Houston a close second.

Hatfield's team was the first in five years to win all its SWC games. It was only the fifth time in history Arkansas had won 10 regular season contests.

The Hogs meet UCLA on Jan. 2 in the Cotton Bowl.

Defensive tackle Wayne Martin of the Razorbacks was picked and defensive back Steve Atwater.

Arkansas also scored on the second team with center Elbert Crawford, defensive linemen Kerry Crawford and Michael Shephard, and defensive backs Patrick Williams and Richard Brothers.

In all, 13 Razorbacks were honored on either the first or second teams.

The offensive player of the year was Texas A&M's Darren Lewis, who had eight straight rushing games of over 100 yards. He edged record-setting wide receiver Jason Phillips of Houston.

Lewis joined Texas' Eric Metcalf in the first team backfield.

Brownwood stops SHS Tigers, 61-57

ABILENE -- Snyder's Tigers fell behind by 11 points in the third quarter here Tuesday and couldn't make up the difference, losing to Brownwood in a non-district basketball game, 61-57.

The game was played at Hunt P.E. Center on the McMurry College campus.

"We played pretty even until halftime. We came out in third quarter and they threw a little press on us and we got down by 11 in about 50 seconds," said Coach Larry Scott. "We threw the ball away a couple of times and missed some shots and they rebounded and scored."

Brownwood, under the direction of former Snyder basketball-football coach George Byerly, led 33-29 at halftime and 49-39 heading into the fourth quarter. Snyder rallied, but could not catch the Lions.

"We had 16 turnovers, they had nine," said Scott. "It seemed like everytime we'd pull within about four points we'd turn the ball over a couple of times or miss some shots."

The loss was Snyder's third in a row and drops the Tigers to 2-3 on the season. Brownwood is 3-1.

Tracy Braziel led the Tigers with 23 points and 16 rebounds. Jeff Franklin scored 18 points and had 15 boards while Dewayne Clinkinbeard pitched in 9 points.

The Tigers were without Lewis Wesley, who is expected to miss the next three weeks following arthroscopic surgery, and Jason West, who is recovering from an Achilles tendon injury. West is doubtful for weekend play when Snyder enters the Levelland Classic.

Brownwood got 13 points from Chet Byerly, 12 from Edwin Randle and Roosevelt Duffy and 10 from Jason Henderson.

In other action here Tuesday, Brownwood defeated Snyder junior varsity 61-40.

Carlton Sanders scored 9 points and Justin Hester, Marcus Greene and Hayward Clay added 8 each for Snyder JV.

Coach Scott's varsity will enter the Levelland Classic on Thursday. The Tigers take on Morton at 1 p.m. They also play Stephenville at 2:30 p.m. Friday and Levelland at 8 p.m. Saturday.

Snyder JV plays in the Coahoma Tournament. No bracket was available Wednesday morning.

Police arrest two suspects in sniper attack on rafters

MARFA, Texas (AP) — The wife of a man who was killed by snipers on a rafting trip down the Rio Grande says she hopes the suspects arrested Tuesday will face the death penalty if convicted.

Police said Tuesday they arrested two boys, ages 16 and 17, in the Nov. 19 shooting death of Michael Heffley, 40, of Eastland. They also are suspected of shooting and wounding Heffley's wife, Jamie, and rafting guide Jim Burr.

The 17-year-old, identified as Eduardo Pineda Rodriguez, was arrested about 8:30 a.m. Tuesday at his parents' home east of the Big Bend village of Redford, Presidio County Sheriff Rick Thompson said Tuesday. Pineda, a Mexican citizen and resident alien of the United States, was charged with murder in Heffley's death, the sheriff said.

The 16-year-old was arrested a short time later by Chihuahua state judicial police in Ojinaga, Mexico, Thompson said. The boy, whose name was withheld because of his age, also was charged with murder, Thompson said.

The sheriff added that police are looking for two more teen-age suspects, both of whom are believed to be in hiding in Mexico.

The attackers opened up with rifle fire on the trio of rafters as they floated through Colorado Canyon, about 22 miles east of Redford. Mrs. Heffley and Burr have said their assailants stalked them from a 300-foot-high canyon rim on the Mexican side of the river, which is about 75 feet wide as it flows through the red-walled canyon. Heffley was shot on a sandbar on the U.S. side of the river.

Both suspects gave statements, and Thompson said it appears the assailants began shooting at the victims on a whim.

"We have no motive for the shootings," the sheriff said. "They saw them coming down the river and decided to shoot at them."

Mrs. Heffley, 32, told The Associated Press she was pleased to hear of the suspects' capture.

"I'm glad that they are being caught and I think this incident should be made a public example," she said. "I think they should be executed, because if they are not, relations will never get better across the border. Nobody should have to go through this kind of torture."

Mrs. Heffley's wishes probably will not be fulfilled because Pineda is not charged with capital murder, and Mexico does not have a death penalty.

Under international law, a person standing in one country who fatally shoots a person in another country can be tried in either nation.

The two survivors said they had been rafting about an hour on the 10-hour trip when someone started shooting at them. After they abandoned the bullet-riddled raft, Burr suffered a gunshot to the right thigh. Then Mrs. Heffley was shot in the left shoulder and left side. Her husband was shot fatally in the back as he shielded her and tried to drag her to safety.

Police searched the canyon rim the next day and found shell casings from at least three rifles. Four rifles — a .30-30, a .22, a .44

Magnum and a 7 mm Magnum — were seized from Pineda's residence, Thompson said. The calibers match those of the shell casings found on the canyon rim.

Thompson said the 7 mm Magnum had been reported stolen from a house in Kermit.

Police searching Pineda's room discovered $3,100 cash hidden in a portable safe resembling a briefcase, said Thompson, adding that Pineda apparently did not have a regular job.

The isolated stretch of the Rio Grande where the attack took place is a well-known crossing point for smalltime smugglers of drugs and other contraband. Thompson refused to speculate publicly whether Pineda was a smuggler.

Thompson said police on both sides of the border acted on a tip.

"It was just information that we had all received," Thompson said, refusing to elaborate. "We think the arrests of the other two (suspects) will be in a reasonable length of time."

The sheriff praised the work of the Mexican police. "It was excellent," he said. "Without that (cooperation), we wouldn't have got anything done."

Teenager sentenced to 30 years in prison

DALLAS (AP) — A Dallas area teenager convicted in the shooting death of two men in a park area frequented by homosexuals has been sentenced to 30 years in prison.

The sentence drew immediate criticism from a local gay leader, who said it lowers the value of a gay person's life.

District Judge Jack Hampton Tuesday sentenced Richard Bednarski, 18, of Mesquite, to serve concurrent 30-year prison terms for the May shooting deaths of two men in Reverchon Park.

"I'm not the person who killed those two people," Bednarski told the judge before he announced the sentence. "I'm not a violent person."

A jury had earlier convicted Bednarski in the shooting deaths of Tommy Lee Trimble, 34, and John Lloyd Griffin, 27. The defendant had requested that his punishment be set by the judge instead of the jury.

Bednarski, who could have received a maximum of life in prison and a $20,000 fine for each of the killings, will be eligible for parole in about eight years.

Defense lawyer Kevin Clancy said he will appeal and contend that one of the 12 jurors engaged in misconduct by visiting the scene of the killing during the trial.

TRACEY JOHNSON

Locals' grandchild garners award

Tracey Johnson, daughter of Will and Vicki Johnson of Ranger and granddaughter of Jean and Vonnie Black of Snyder and Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Johnson of Sabine, has been selected as one of the winners of the 1988 NCTE Achievement Awards in Writing.

Johnson was one of 700 seniors nationwide to receive this award. Only 54 were from Texas in the National Council of Teachers of English writing contest.

She was nominated to represent Ranger High School during her junior year. She was required to submit two samples of her writing. One was a group of eight original poems and the other was an essay written under teacher supervision during a 75 minute time period. The topic was impromptu.

Johnson's name has been published in a booklet and sent by NCTE to 3,000 two and four year colleges in the United States. It was accompanied by a letter of recommendation.

Cook makes Who's Who

CANYON—Forty-seven West Texas University students have been named to "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges," including David Cook of Snyder. He is a senior majoring in computer science. He is a member of the Computer Science Association and Epsilon Delta Pi.

Telephone...

Local residential rates are lower than nat'l average

Southwestern Bell Telephone (SWBT) customers in Snyder and across the state pay less for basic residential local telephone service than most customers across the nation, according to a recent study by the Federal Communications Commission.

"In Snyder, residential one-party customers pay only $8.35 per month which is about the same as the price of a large pizza," said Jim West, area manager-external affairs. "Or, on a daily basis, the basic rate is 28 cents per day for a service that's always available, providing contact with friends, relatives and emergency services," he said.

Nationally, the average monthly rate for basic residential services is $12.19. In Texas, residential service rates range from $8.15 to $11.05 per month depending on the size of the local calling scope.

Rates quoted in the FCC study include only rotary dial, unlimited calling, one-party basic service. The monthly rates do not reflect federal subscriber line charges, state and local taxes, long distance, custom calling, touch-tone or other optional services.

Southwestern Bell Telephone subscribers in Texas also have a lower-cost option available to them. Economy service, available throughout most of the state, allows 25 outgoing calls and unlimited incoming calls, for half the basic charge.

The company's customer surveys show that 96 percent of those customers questioned say they are satisfied with their telephone service.

The FCC study compared basic monthly residential telephone rates in 95 cities. The rates range from a low $6.60 in Fort Dodge, Iowa to a high $23.39 in Huntington, W. V.

Six Texas cities included in the study rank near the lower two-thirds of the 95 cities surveyed nationwide. The Texas cities, where each ranked in the survey, and the basic monthly residential rate for each: Houston-57 ($11.05); Dallas-67 ($10.40); Fort Worth and San Antonio-both 69 ($9.85); Corpus Christi-78 ($9.10); and Brownsville-81 ($8.80).

Midwest Electric Co-op sets plans for youth tour

Area teenagers have a chance to be in Washington, D. C. in June for a first-hand glimpse of the political process. The Government-in-Action Youth Tour program is sponsored locally by Midwest Electric Co-op. Youths, 15 to 19 years of age, can earn an expense paid trip to the nation's Capitol by winning the Youth Tour Contest competition.

Local winners will join other co-op-sponsored youngsters for the June 15-27 adventure. Being a Youth Tour participant in Washington D. C. is special. The Texans will visit their respective congressman. A wreath will be laid at the Tombs of the Unknown Soldiers in Arlington National Cemetery. A special tour of the White House and a possible meeting with the president are scheduled.

Other tour highlights include visits to Mt. Vernon, the National Archives—home of the original Declaration of Independence, the Constitution and the Bill of Rights—the Smithsonian Institution, the Bureau of Engraving and Printing and many more famous monuments and memorials.

For more details about the Youth Tour program, contact Edwin Jackson at the Midwest office in Roby (776-2244) or in Snyder (573-3161).

The stands of trees that greeted Sir Edmund Hillary and Tenzing Norgay at Everest's base in 1953, when they became the first men to scale the mountain, have all but disappeared.

Devastating hurricane season has ended for Central America

NEW YORK (AP) — The costliest hurricane season to batter the Caribbean, Central and South America ends today, leaving hundreds dead and damage that will take years to rebuild.

Six hurricanes and five other tropical storms sank boats, deluged villages and blasted everything in their paths, killing more than 500 people and causing more than $5 billion in damage.

documenting the highest level of education completed.

Regarding the birth certificate, WTC staffers note a "certified" document is one issued by a state, county or municipal authority. Birth certificates issued by a hospital or church are not acceptable.

The class involves 120 hours of instruction and will meet on Tuesday and Thursday nights, some Friday nights and some Saturdays.

Other dates associated with the second class will include:

—Jan. 12, all applications will be mailed to TDC.

—Jan. 31-Feb. 1, the pre-screening of applicants will be completed by the TDC staff here. This includes a weight check, administration of the pre-employment test and an interview.

—Feb. 7, TDC will notify WTC which applicants are acceptable for employment pending the completion of a background check and completion of the class.

—Feb. 9: fingerprinting and registration will be completed. At this time, a fee and tuition payment of $200 is due.

—Feb. 11, the first class day.

—April 18, the last day of class.

—April 20, class graduation.

according to figures compiled by the National Hurricane Center in Coral Gables, Fla.

The six-month season was not that destructive in the United States.

The worst hit countries — Jamaica and Nicaragua — are still reeling in the wake of hurricanes Gilbert and Joan.

Twenty percent of Jamaica's 2.3 million people were still without electricity by early November and 40 percent of the water supply had not been restored. It will take six months to repair rural roads, Prime Minister Edward Seaga said.

If a lesson was learned, it was that "good international information and good building codes paid off," said Bob Sheets, director of the National Hurricane Center, which is responsible for forecasting storms for the region under a United Nations agreement.

"There was a continuous flow of information back and forth" from the 25 nations linked by the agreement, Sheets said in a telephone interview. "In fact, President (Oscar) Arias of Costa Rica called here four times himself." The 1988 season was the costliest in terms of damage, but not in terms of lives, said Sheets.

Fire run made

Firemen were called to the scene of a reported grass fire at 2:06 p.m. Tuesday at FM 644 and FM 1606 four miles of Hermleigh but found upon their arrival that it was a controlled burn.

Markets Midday Stocks

Table with columns: NEW YORK (AP), High, Low, Last. Lists various stock indices like AMR Corp, AMI Inc, etc.

Hurricane Fifi made 1974 the deadliest season with more than 10,000 Hondurans killed in floods and mudslides.

Gilbert, the hurricane with the lowest pressure ever recorded, pounded Jamaica with 145 mph winds, damaging or destroying four of every five houses and leaving 500,000 people homeless.

Seaga, who called the Sept. 12 hurricane the worst disaster in Jamaica history, estimated damage at up to $1 billion.

Gilbert killed more than 100 people in the Caribbean — 45 in Jamaica, 50 in Haiti and eight in the Dominican Republic, and caused extensive crop damage in those countries.

Tire cuttings cause arrests

A city detective Wednesday reported the Tuesday night arrests of three juvenile boys in connection with two tire-cutting incidents reported Sunday in the 400 Block of 36th St.

The three, two 11 years of age and the other 13, were taken into custody in connection with the slashing of three tires on a Sun Exploration pickup truck parked at 411 36th St. and one tire on a Sun Exploration pickup parked at 401 36th St., the detective said.

He reported that the same suspects, whose criminal mischief cases were being forwarded to the district attorney's office, cut a tire on a personal car at one of the residences on Nov. 13.

The total value of the ruined tires was $373, he said.

Auto, pickup collide Tuesday

A 1987 Lincoln four-door driven by Gerald N. Houser of Lubbock was in collision with a 1984 Chevrolet pickup driven by Samuel R. Wylie of Tuscola at 1:52 p.m. Tuesday in the 700 Block of the East Hwy.

Police said Houser and a passenger in the pickup, 33-year-old Joe Rivera of Sweetwater, both appeared to have been injured but declined medical attention.

Wylie's pickup was towed from the scene. A 1984 Cadillac driven by Billie H. Wheeler of 2204 45th St. was in collision with a 1977 Oldsmobile two-door driven by Michael D. Brasher of Rt. 2 at 11:56 a.m. Tuesday in the 3800 Block of Austin Ave.

A 1988 Chevrolet two-door driven by Theresa D. Ashworth of 3714 Ave. U was in collision with a 1984 Datsun two-door driven by Jacy C. LaRoux of 3733 Dalton Ave. at 2:56 p.m. Tuesday in the 2900 Block of College Ave.

Services set for ranchhand killed in wreck

Graveside services for Sandy Carmichael, 37, of Fluvanna will be at 4 p.m. Thursday at the Miller Ranch Cemetery with the Rev. Ray Cunningham of Lubbock officiating. Services will be under the direction of Bell-Cypert-Seale Funeral Home.

He was killed in a pickup rollover which was discovered Tuesday around 8:15 a.m. by a pilot flying over the scene. It is now estimated the wreck occurred around 9:30 p.m. Monday.

Officiating in the death was Borden County Judge Van York. The accident occurred some seven miles north of Gail on FM 669.

A jaws of life device provided by the Lamesa Fire Department was required to remove the body from the pickup. Carmichael was born April 10, 1951 in South, S.D. and had lived in Fluvanna since 1968, moving from South Dakota. He had worked for the Miller Ranch for 20 years.

He was married to Terri Aten Jan. 23, 1986 in Post. She survives.

He is survived by one son, Larry Don Lee of the home; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vern Carmichael of Faith, S.D.; three sisters, Patricia Hefferman of West Salem, Wis., Peggy Falvey of Lemmon, N.D., and Judy Taylor of Caputa, S.D.; two brothers, Rev. Dean Carmichael of Gettysburg, S.D. and Arlen Carmichael of New Underwood, S.D.

Streep plays mom accused of murder

By Robert DiMatteo

In Movie Theaters

A CRY IN THE DARK (PG-13) Australian director Fred Schepisi ("Chant of Jimmie Blacksmith," "Roxanne") once again explores his native landscape and culture in this fact-based drama about an Aussie woman charged with the murder of her baby daughter. The 1988 case remains the most sensational in Australian history, and Schepisi uses it as a way to study the lynch mob mentality encouraged by the media.

It's meant as a compliment to Meryl Streep to say that she gives one of her least gratifying performances as the accused woman, Lindy Chamberlain. Lindy is a plain-looking Seventh Day Adventist who claims her sleeping baby was carried out of a tent by a dingo one night while she and her husband Michael (Sam Neill) were on vacation in the outback. This bizarre explanation fails to convince people, especially since Lindy strikes many as cold and abrupt, and since she has seemed to be exploiting the case through interviews with the press. Her husband's vague testimony in court doesn't help her cause, either.

The movie is well-acted and moderately engrossing, but it's not the knockout it might have been. From the start, there's a frustration involved. The film sort of shows us what happened to the baby: An elliptically presented version of the "event" early in the film suggests that Lindy's story is true. This means there's very little chance for ambiguity or suspense to build as we sit through the remaining hour and a half, while everyone on screen misinterprets what really happened. But see the film for Streep's hard-edged, bravura performance and for some well-paced jabs at the press. GRADE: ★★½

New Home Video

COCOON: THE RETURN (PG) It's been a bad year for sequels — "Short Circuit 2," "Arthur 2," "Rambo III" and "Nightmare on Elm Street 4." Now comes this lame, lachrymose follow-up to the charming Ron Howard original about a group of St. Petersburg senior citizens (Jessica Tandy, Hume Cronyn, Jack Gilford, Wilford Brimley, Gwen Verdon, Don Ameche and Maureen Stapleton) who discover an extraterrestrial source of rejuvenation.

When we last saw them, the group had gone off to another planet, where they would never grow old. Now they're back, for reasons that never make any sense (something about rescuing the pods of aliens that were left behind).

With Daniel Petrie replacing Ron Howard as director, this is a cheesy affair. The original movie's witty take on senior citizens degenerates into cutesy, "aren't-these-old-geezers-spunky?" humor (including a basketball game where four old-timers show up a quartet of young dudes).

In between jokes, there are frequent visits to the hospital; you've never seen so many hospital-bed scenes in one movie. And the picture has about 10 false endings, while tears are being jerked and coy romances bloom. The terrific cast does its best with this second-rate material, and Elaine Stritch, the one newcomer to the group, livens things up briefly as a flamboyant man-chaser. But it's a dismal, soggy movie. GRADE: ★½

THE LONELY PASSION OF JUDITH HEARNE (R) Cannon, $89.95. Maggie Smith gives a brilliant performance as a spinster piano teacher who moves into a Dublin rooming house. Bob Hoskins co-stars as the landlady's shady brother who pursues Smith because he thinks she has money.

Jack Clayton's 1987 adaptation of Brian Moore's novel is one of those slightly precious, small-scale studies of repressed "little people" that inevitably fail to generate much box office or audience. But it's beautifully done, and Maggie Smith is sublime. GRADE: ★★

FUNNY FARM (PG) Warner, $89.95. Chevy Chase stars as a sports-writer who drops out of the Manhattan rat race, moving with his wife (the charming Madolyn Smith) to the country. This breezy little bucolic affair steals from "Mr. Blandings Builds His Dream House" and dozens of other movies, but it's relatively pleasant — until the script collapses in the second half. # Toddler gets 5 new organs

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A 3-year-old girl who has spent virtually her entire life in hospitals can expect to lead a normal, healthy life if her five-organ transplant succeeds and all goes well, doctors say.

Rolandrea Dodge of Fruitland, N.M., received a new liver, pancreas, stomach, small intestine and part of a large intestine during the 16½-hour operation that ended Tuesday afternoon. Her spleen also was removed in the experimental surgery.

"The prognosis is very difficult to say, but I'm expecting it to go well," said Dr. Satoru Todo, who headed the surgical team at Children's Hospital of Pittsburgh.

"At this point, you don't know where you are other than that you got through the surgery very successfully," agreed Dr. William Donaldson, the hospital's medical director.

The operation went smoothly except for one episode when the chilled organs, which came from an unidentified young victim, were inserted into Rolandrea's 30-pound body, Todo said. Her body temperature dropped dramatically and her heart stopped beating for about a minute.

Surgeons restarted her heart with cardiopulmonary resuscitation.

Todo said Rolandrea's heart was functioning normally following the operation and her new liver was producing bile. She also was moving her hands and legs to the delight of her parents, Branden and Cyndi Dodge.

She was in critical condition today in the hospital's intensive care unit.

State welcomes economic news

economic development programs are working." The governor was traveling in Europe.

Although revenue from all sources will rise $4.2 billion, all that extra money won't go into the Legislature's checkbook.

State and federal laws and the Texas Constitution restrict $2.1 billion of the increase to education, highways, human services and other specific programs.

Another $1.5 billion is a reserve to pay for pending legal challenges to the state's tax laws, particularly the corporate franchise, insurance and utility taxes, Bullock said.

That leaves a net increase of $600 million in income, but lawmakers in the 1989 Legislature also gain $1 billion that had to be spent last session to repay debts left over from 1986-87.

While OPEC nations agreed this week on production controls to boost oil prices to $18 per barrel, Bullock said the relative importance of Texas' oil and gas taxes has fallen dramatically and the industry remains a shaky economic link.

In 1990-91, oil and gas taxes will bring in just 8 percent of tax revenues, down from a peak of 27 percent in 1982.

"At this time, a protracted decline in oil prices could be a major threat to the state's economic recovery," the comptroller's estimate said. "If oil prices fall below $10 per barrel for six months or longer, Texas probably would be forced back into recession."

The estimate assumes oil prices will average $15 a barrel in 1989, $16 in 1990 and $17.50 in 1991.

According to the revenue estimate, 1990-91 sales tax revenue will climb 15.7 percent, while motor vehicle tax collections will rise 13.5 percent. Bullock projected smaller increases for motor fuel taxes, oil and gas taxes, and for the state's corporate franchise tax.

The Texas economy is seen growing 3.6 percent per year, "a little more than 1 percent faster than the national growth rate," during 1990 and 1991.

More Texans will be working, too, the forecast said. It projected that by the end of 1989, statewide employment will top the previous record of 6.7 million set in 1985. It will reach nearly 7 million by the end of 1991.
