Randy Jackson and Barbara Brooks were named Mr. and Miss WTC during the annual Spring Formal last Thursday in the National Guard Armory. They were elected by student vote from a field of ten campus favorites.

Others in the balloting were Mike Banks, Ira Harris, Darryl Smith, Sam Thompson, Nancy Baird, Vickie Berryman, Tesa Mohler and Stacy Payne.

Jackson, Wichita Falls sophomore, is an agri-business major, president of the Rodeo Club, Student Senate member and serves on the Traffic Appeals Board.

He is active in bull riding, team roping and steer wrestling on the rodeo team and is a first-year member of the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Assn.

Winner of the open division of the arm wrestling competition this spring and nominee for Mr. Trailhand, Jackson has participated in intramural sports at WTC.

Miss Brooks, freshman history major from Snyder, is a member of Phi Theta Kappa, Student Senate and Explorer Post.

She was a nominee for Miss Trailhand this spring and named to the President's List last fall. She attended Medical Records School in Abilene and received the ART degree.

The former University of Texas student was employed by a group of radiologists in Austin.

Magnum from Austin provided music for the affair.

Texas Tech Prexy To Address 115 Candidates For Graduation

Dr. Cecil Mackey, professor of law and president of Texas Tech University in Lubbock, will address 115 WTC candidates for graduation during commencement ceremonies Thursday, May 12 at 8 p.m. in the central courtyard.

The speaker was vice president for administration at Florida State University in 1969, executive vice president at FSU from 1969-1971, and president of the University of South Florida from 1971-'76.

He succeeded Dr. Grover Murray at Texas Tech in September, 1976.

Dr. Mackey was a lecturer in business law at the University of Alabama in 1958, assistant professor of law at Alabama from 1959-1962, and visiting professor in the College of Business and Public Administration at the University of Maryland in 1969.

Government service includes being assistant secretary for policy development, U.S. Dept. of Transportation, from 1967-1969; director of the office of transportation policy, U.S. Dept. of Commerce, from 1965-1967; director of the office of policy development, Federal Aviation Agency, from 1963-1965; and assistant counsel, subcommittee on Anti-trust and Monopoly, U.S. Senate, from 1962-1963.

He also served as a faculty member at the U.S. Air Force Academy, leading articles editor of the Alabama Law Review, chairman of the Governor's Advisory Committee on Transportation (Florida), member of the U.S. Coast Guard Academy Advisory Committee, and treasurer and member of the board of directors, American Assn. of State Colleges and Universities.

The former recipient of the Arthur S. Flemming Award as one of the ten outstanding young men in the Federal Service in 1967, Dr. Mackey holds the B.A. and M.A. degrees from Alabama, and the Ph.D. from Illinois.

Fifty-nine WTC Associate in Arts degree candidates include Karen Ruth Arp, Jo Ann Thomp-

Fancher, James R. Farren, Cynthia Ferrell, Vicki Lynn Frazier, Donna Ruth Gafford, Deborah Minette Geeslin, Charles A. Greenfield, Jean D. Gusta, Kerry Lynette Harston, Ira Eugene Harris, Iva Grace Haywood, Daniel L. Herrera and Steven Douglas Hines.

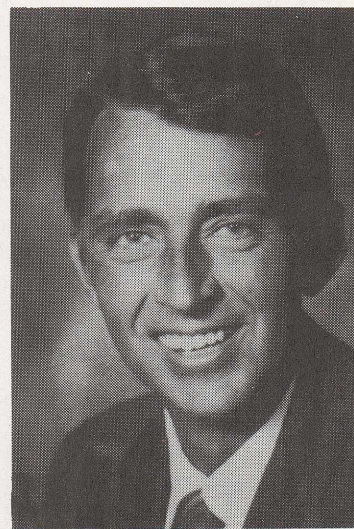

Others are Temi Baker Holladay, Katherine Diane Howell, Robert Walker Huddleston, Randall Craig Jackson, Ronald Eugene Lackey, Frank Lambaron Jr., Mildred Faye Maxwell, Elizabeth Mijares, Manuel C. Molina, Larry Keith Orton, Gwendolyn Calley Patrick, Helen Deneese Pemberton, Raymond Person, Martha Joy Reed Piland and Cynthia Ann Potts.

Finally, Doris Evelyn Rodriguez, Tommy Joe Rylander, Marketta Mae Sissom, Darryl Landra Smith, Jean Ann Gray Smith, Raymond Earl Smith, Dora Katharine Spencer, Charles E. Stephens, Freida Marie Stephens, Nancy Gayle Sterling, Evelyn Slater, Pete Wayne Tercero, Catherine V. West and Celeste Williamson.

Forty-nine Associate in Applied Science degree students are Guy Jay Adams, Pat Alexander, Vickie Lynne Berryman, Walter John Bilano, Jerry Wade Boyd, Tyra C. Chaney, Margie Hardy Cornoyer, Hector De Hoyos Jr., Renee Claudette Dodds, Jimmy Ray Driver, Eve Duran, Stanley G. Ferrell, Johnny Edward Gelski, Doyce W. Gillilan, Linda Margaret Gladish and Cruz G. Gomez Jr.

Others include Linda Hair Grissom, Carl Maurice Guinn, Kenneth L. Gusta, Lanny R.

'Fashion Flight '77' Show Today

"Fashion Flight '77" is leaving Snyder at approximately 2 p.m. today from the Student Center to many locations for a touch of fashion and romance!

WTC coeds selected to model for the show are Ginger Hamilton, Tressie Griffin, Stacy Payne, Tesa Mohler, Millie Maxwell, Christie Booker, Sarah Coleman, Denise Gladson, Patricia Osborne and Rachel Phillips.

They will model the latest fashions for Gray's Style Shop, Rachel's, Ramona's, Glover's, Bea Owens Specialty Shop, C.R. Anthony Co. and It's A Boutique.

Mickey Baird, student activities director, said, "We would like to invite everyone to board our simulated flight for an imaginary trip to some of the exciting places in the United States with interesting fashions to wear."

Gay Idom, assistant to Mrs. Baird and one-time professional model has spent time with the coeds to prepare them for the show. She will coordinate the event.

No admission is charged for the show, but persons planning to attend should make reservations by contacting Mrs. Baird's office so seating and refreshments may be arranged in advance.

Senate Needs You!

By PAULA

Are you interested in student government?
Do you like being part of a decision-making body?
Do you enjoy planning activities?
If you answer yes to all three questions, maybe you're the one to run for a student senate office!

If you're interested, stop by Mickey Baird's office in the Student Center to pick up a petition. Only returning freshmen are eligible to run; however, you must act today because your petition needs to be signed by 25 students and returned to Mrs. Baird's office by 5 p.m. this afternoon!

On May 2, each candidate will speak at noon in the Student Center. Voting will take place afterward and continue May 3.

The work involved as an officer is very rewarding. It gives you a feeling of accomplishment, experience, and a chance to better each student's rights on campus.

Holding down an office also requires knowledge of parliamentary procedure and proper conduct of a business meeting.

It is important that WTC have an efficient and well-organized student senate. Besides considerable work, there is a tremendous amount of enjoyment in responsibility.

Why not give it a try? Enjoy, but hurry because today is the deadline!

"Energetic" Proposal?

by DIANE

Everyone has probably heard by now, at least a little something, about President Carter's energy plan — and lots are grumbling about it. Some might think it's a good deal, but only a few.

His points: a standby gasoline tax increase, starting at five cents per gallon and rising to 50 cents after 10 years; if gas consumption isn't down, a tax rising to a maximum of $2,488 by 1986 on each gas-guzzling car, accompanied by a rebate of up to $493 for fuel-efficient cars; tax credits up to $410 for homeowners who insulate their houses or take other steps to make their homes energy-efficient; imposing a new tax on crude oil, in addition to the hike in gas taxes, which will raise the price of gas another seven cents per gallon; and increased use of the federal Highway Trust Fund for repair and construction of highways, to offset the loss of gasoline taxes imposed by the states.

Although none of his proposals are very popular around here, you can't say the President isn't taking his job seriously. If something isn't done before long, though, we could have, as Carter said, "a national catastrophe" on our hands — then where'd we be? Up a creek, without a paddle!

So, how about rationing? Would prices go up any more than they are now? Would people cut down on their usage if they were on rations? Would rationing solve the problem?

What about trying to convert old oil into reserves? Yes, it would call for more money, but would it hurt to try? Research is being done on everything else these days — might as well use research for something useful.

No matter who the President might be or what ideas he or the Congress have, we must stand together and iron out these problems, as a nation, to see our way back on top — not only in the energy crisis, but in the many problems facing the United States today.

If we do it together, we can't be beat!

Religious "Tolerance"?

by KAY

Religious intolerance and small, rural communities just seem to go hand-in-hand.

Granted, theology, justifiably, is a big factor here at WTC. We have the BSU, Kappa Chi and Christian Student Center as examples that we can see and touch, BUT there is underlying major influence of religion here that can only be felt.

A person is not a Christian, but Baptist, Church of Christ, Methodist, Presbyterian and so on. And if a person engages in what one sect calls a vice, be it dancing, drinking or smoking, he is immediately "going to hell."

The concept of religion should be centered upon compassion and concern; yet, some so-called "pious people" seem to be focusing their attention upon condemnation and inflicting guilt.

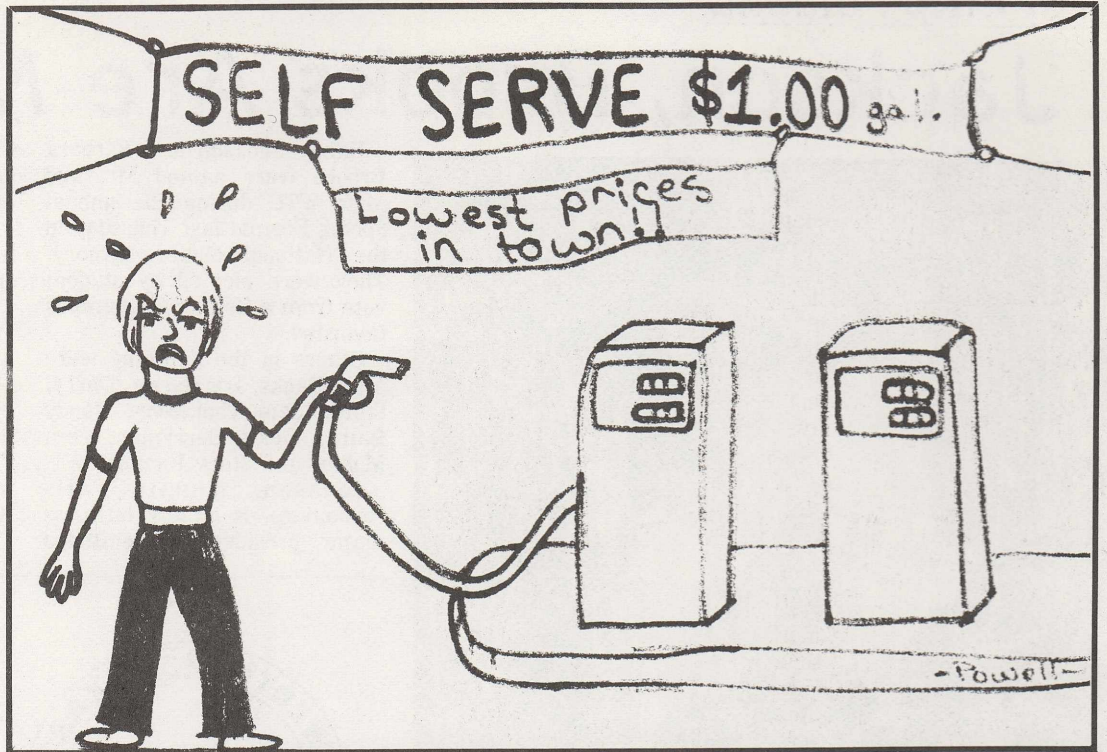

Theology should provide a feeling of unity, but the denominationalism prevailing in some circles is resulting in divisions and friction.

But, it is not religion at fault. The flaw is that people have misinterpreted it. Instead of loving you into Heaven, they try to torment you out of hell!

Specific examples could verify this observation, but it is not necessary to heighten what is already here.

Maybe, one day, small, rural communities will change...

Remember Senate Elections!

SNOOPIN' AROUND

by Jacque Johnson

Bubbles, bubbles, bubbles!

The Amarillo College Rangers held a bubblegum contest in two different divisions, one to see who could blow the biggest bubble and the other to see how many could be blown inside another.

Biggest bubble was 10½ inches across, and the most blown inside another was 15.

The outcome of the contest? One great big blow-out!

The Visitor!

Texarkana Community

College had a very unusual visitor on campus a few weeks ago — a lion whose name was 'Leo'.

He made a hit with the students. Owners plan to mate Leo with a female and sell the offspring for $600 a cub.

So, if you thought of having a pet that would really shock your friends, think about the effect a pet lion would have!

Lock 'er Up!

Women students of H-SU have been warned by police officer Roger Dickey that it is a must for females to keep their car doors locked when in it and offer no help to anyone unless someone is with them.

The reason seems to be that four men abducted a 23-year-old and raped her. They are still at large.

Plan a trip to Abilene anytime soon? Just remember to keep your doors locked and don't go alone.

WRIGHT ON!

Sweat Over Summer Abode!

by Diane Wright

Two more weeks, if you want to count finals week as a week and that's it, folks!! But what about summer school? What about jobs that some people have in town? Some of us won't go home this summer; we'll get to stay in Snyder!

Which presents a problem, or rather, a series of problems, — where to live if you've been living in the dorm? Apartments aren't the easiest thing to find in this town — in fact, Snyder has a very limited number of decent, inexpensive apartments! And they're even harder to find if you start looking before school is out!

So you start by reading the local paper's ads. Almost no luck there. Either someone has already gotten the place you're checking on or the person doesn't know anything about it because he's a relative of the people who own the apartment!

So you start asking around. You hear about one spot — get your hopes up, then find out the people are going to remodel. Then you hear about another place — this time you hit the jackpot and you've got yourself a place to live this summer, if you can afford it.

Next, you learn about all the little things: whether the utilities are paid or not, or whether the place is furnished or not.

So the solution: find someone to split all the bills with. New problem: who can you put up with and who can put up with you?

Okay, you finally find a roommate and an apartment. Now maybe you need a job. Finding a job in Snyder is going to be as hard as finding an apartment, almost! No, the problems don't end after (if and when) you find a job. Now, you've got to tell your folks you're staying here this summer instead of going home.

By the time you get through all these problems, you may just wish you had gone on home or moved to a bigger city with lots of apartments and job opportunities!

Have a great summer and see you next year... maybe!

REVIEW

'Oliver's Story' No 'Love Story!'

by Kay Ellington

Whatever you do, do not buy Erich Segal's sequel to "Love Story," a book called "Oliver's Story."

In this novel, Segal prostitutes the poignant tale he penned in "Love Story."

The story opens after Jenny's death, and Oliver tells how he misses her. But he keeps busy with his volunteer law work in the slums.

The next scenario has a highly unfeasible situation. Jenny's father comes to visit Oliver and tells him it's time for him to get a wife (the first of numerous literary flaws).

Well, five pages after Oliver was mourning Jenny's death, he's hustling some chick jogging in the park. (Jenny would be rolling over in her grave!)

What happens next? You guessed it. Oliver falls for the one in the sweat suit, and they have a fervent love affair.

Although Oliver has completed law school in this book and is doing social legal work,

"Oliver's Story" in no way compares to "Love Story" for social comment.

In Segal's first work, Jenny was risqué, daring, and radical. The excitement that she generated is completely gone in this version.

Overall, "Oliver's Story" is blasphemous to the memory of Jenny.

There is no justification for buying "Oliver's Story," so don't!

RESIDENT STORYTELLER

Love Affair With 'Master' Matt!

by Stacy Payne
 "Stacy Payne, you are despicable!"

I'll never forget those words screamed at me after several failures at making a 747 jetliner from a sheet of notebook paper. I was crushed, to say the least, as the door slammed, and I heard him walk away.

I thought to myself, "Where have I failed?" This isn't the first time we've gotten into a scrape. Oh well, it will be better tomorrow.

The next day, all was well. Matt and I carried on as if nothing had happened. We went to the Pizza Hut for a soda and later to the best toy-shop in town. We ended the day with a game of 'Sorry' and a good night kiss. "What more could I ask for?" I thought, as I retreated for another night of dreams.

We have a very special love affair. Matt is the four-year-old son of George and Becky Maxwell, WTC residence hall directors.

So far, they have approved our courtship — even if there is a sixteen-year difference in our ages!

Every woman thinks her man is the most intelligent person she's ever known. I guess I'm the same. Even his mother thinks so.

"Matt could walk at eleven months. He had a vocabulary of about six words when he was a year old — not all of them intelligible except to me. 'Light' was his first word, but 'motorcycle' was his favorite. From then on, there was no stopping his talking."

She continues, "He asked questions about everything. We read stories to him almost constantly because it was the only way we could keep him out of things. At two years old, he had memorized one of his small books called 'Doctor in the Zoo.'"

She remembers an event with Matt's cousin, Barry. "We convinced Barry, that Matt could read. He knew where to turn the pages, and after the last page, Matt would say 'The End' and close the book. Barry is still not sure, so everytime we see him he takes Matt into the back room and hands him a book to read!"

Getting off the subject of intelligence — I know deep down that Matt has other girlfriends. It hurts a little, but he has his own life to lead. In fact, he doesn't even hide it!

I've come in from work tired, looking for a bit of relaxation with him. I'll be darned if he isn't watching "Charlie's Angels" with the resident assistant on West Second or playing bionic tag with a nursing major!

I heard one girl say, "He's a good date — not bad for a four-year-old!" I'll bet she never had a date with him like I did the night we went to see "The Pink Panther Strikes Again!" We didn't make it home before 9:30 p.m.!

As for Matt's imagination — he holds me in the palm of his hand while he goes to work on a story. His eyes light up with creativity, he looks straight into my own true blues — and begins. Here is the latest.

"Orton, the elephant, was flying over our city and Lazy-day bird asked him to sit on her egg while she played."

Well, you see, he sat on it night and day, and day and night and spring and fall and snow and rain and everything! Then she was out playing and decided to fly over Orton, the elephant, again!"

"A man saw Orton, the elephant, and said, 'That's funny, I never saw an elephant in a tree before!' When the egg finally hatched open — well, guess what it was — a baby elephant that could fly and he looked just like Orton, the big elephant. Only it was a little elephant!"

What more could you ask for?!

I'll never forget the time Matt saved me from the fiery dragon that lived on the roof of North Third. I had just come in from a hard day and plopped face down on my bed.

The door slammed. Matt rushed up and threw his loving arms around me.

"Stacy, you looked horrible! Did the fiery dragon on North Third chase you in here?!" he screamed.

Going along with the enlightened imagination, I said weakly, "Yes, Matt, I barely made it in without getting singed."

He was flabbergasted as he patted my head. "I'll get him! Don't you worry, I'll get him!" he said as he burst out the door.

I lay quietly until he reappeared with a triumphant air. "Stace, I did it. I got out my bionic laser beam. He came barreling at me with a bunch of fire coming out his nose. He almost burned me up, but I shot him just in time!"

"What would I do without you, Matt?" I said.

"Well, just be glad I am always around in time of need," he exclaimed as he raced out — probably to save yet another damsel in distress.

School is almost over for another year and I'll be leaving this little wonder behind. Sometimes I become very sad, but Matt will always make me happy again.

"You know what I always say, 'a boy is a boy and a girl is a girl!'"

What more could I ask for?

SNIP-SNIP — Dale diligently works on a student's hair during cosmetology class.

'Man In Lady's World' Tops In Cosmetology!

by Linda Grissom

You've seen those like him in the big cities and perhaps the movies, but not around Snyder! Men like him are an odyssey around this part of the country. He looks like any other man you would meet in town, but if you think he is-you're wrong!

He's not just another guy — he's Delos Joe Wilson, WTC's first, and currently, only male cosmetology student.

Before his decision to enter the field of cosmetology, Dale (as he is known to everyone) was a counselor for a state hospital in Austin.

His influence toward this profession came with an interesting job offer by a noted salon in the Austin area. "When you get a deal like that, you don't usually turn it down," he explained.

"I felt odd when I first started. Being the only male brought some of those 'what are you doing here' looks, and if I was around any of the girls when they were talking, they would shut-up with one of those 'oh, I forgot you were here' kind of looks!"

He went on to say, "Vallene Turney, our instructor, would always announce something by starting 'Now girls', then she would see me there, stop, and add 'and guys!'"

Dale is well liked and highly praised by his instructors and fellow students. "At first, the girls were a little leery of a male in the class, but now they've accepted him and respect him for his courage of choosing a field like this to go into," stated Ms. Turney.

She continued, "He's a good student, very business-minded, knows his work, is a hard worker and takes pride in everything he does. He is going to make a fine cosmetologist when he finishes school."

"He's a real cut-up," Karen McClure and Julie Dunivan throw in. "We tease him a lot, and he throws it right back at us, but it's all in fun!" added classmate, Gina Claxton.

As for being teased about his chosen profession, there's no way to get around it. "Even at home I catch it from my younger 'goat-roper' brothers!"

He sometimes has to be pressured about his age. When asked how old he was, he replied in a very serious, solemn, and straight voice, "I'm 54!" — when actually, he is a very well kept 30!

A native of Colorado City, Texas, Dale said he wouldn't try to influence other young men to enter the field. "It's a touchy area to go into. You won't make it unless you've got the ability to really get down, learn it, and be interested in it."

Becoming a good cosmetologist requires special talents and skills waiting to be developed into a prominent profession. Along with that, goes a lot of in-depth study into many different kinds of skin and scalp irregularities and diseases.

"There is some advantage to being a male hairdresser," he commented. "You don't have to sell yourself to your customers as much as a female would. A woman who comes to a male cosmetologist will listen to his suggestions more readily than those of another woman. She may even agree with him though she thinks differently, simply because he is of the opposite sex!"

"Because I am a man in a lady's world, it makes me want to work harder, not only to sell my services — but also to make myself more reliable and influencing in the eyes of my patrons."

A man, an outstanding student (with a sense of humor), and a future cosmetologist with a goal as high as the sky just waiting to be fulfilled—that's Dale!

NOTICE!

Final date for a regular student to drop a class is Monday, May 2. Grades for all graduating sophomores are due in the registrar's office by 4 p.m. Friday, May 6. Other grades are due Friday, May 13.

Several Museum Exhibits Set

Several exhibits are scheduled in the Scurry County Museum on campus through next month.

Watercolors by Warren Cullar, former WTC art faculty member, will be shown through tomorrow.

A special showing of a collection of lighting devices dating from about 1690-1900 opened

Sunday and will remain through May 15.

The annual art exhibit of Snyder public school students will run May 1-13.

Beginning May 15, members of the Texas Cowboy Artists group will exhibit works in the museum.

Engineering Tech New For This Fall

Two former occupational-technical programs, electromechanical and petroleum technology, have been combined for next year.

The new program, engineering technology, as approved by the Texas Education Agency, will be offered this fall semester, according to Dr. Gene McClurg, dean of occupational education and technology.

Most courses in engineering technology have been available in the past, but with the new approach, students will have more flexibility in preparing themselves for job opportunities as technicians.

All students working toward the Associate in Applied Science degree are required to take core curriculum offerings, and may select from two major options, petroleum technology or electromechanical technology.

Two new courses have been added, including TPHY 142 (Physical Properties and Fluids) and ET 242 (Industrial Electronics).

The first course combines the basic principles of fluids and molecular structures with heat transfer relationships and corrosion control.

ET 242 explores major areas of industrial control systems, feed-back systems, automated processing systems, and the interfacing of hydraulic, pneumatic and electronic subsystems.

Other courses cover a variety of fields, including digital and computer electronics, microprocessors, motor controls, mechanics, hydraulics, manufacturing processes and drafting.

Four scholarships will be offered for students enrolling in the engineering technology program, and students interested in applying for a scholarship are encouraged to contact Bob Klemm, EMT instructor, or Glenn Davis, financial aids officer.

Under the petroleum technology option, a $500 scholarship will be provided by the Snyder chapter of the American Petroleum Institute. The college will also offer a $200 scholarship for the electromechanical technology option.

Selection of scholarship recipients will be made on the basis of academic record and leadership abilities in the engineering technology fields; however, this does not preclude awarding a scholarship to a student on the basis of financial need.

Scholarship recipients will be required to maintain a C average (2.0 GPA on a 4.0 scale) and complete at least 12 semester hours each term.

According to Carl Barber, ET instructor, "Engineering technology students have a more flexible and dynamic program to look forward to next year!"

Paper Second In TIPA Contest; Seven Journalists Win Awards

WTC's student newspaper, Western Texan, won second place in Division II of the 55th annual Texas Intercollegiate Press Association in San Angelo Saturday, April 16, and the college finished second in newspaper sweepstakes.

The biweekly campus publication ranked behind The Ram Page of Angelo State University and ahead of The Megaphone of Southwestern University.

In sweepstakes, WTC scored 39 points to ASU's 87. Third-place Tarrant Co. Junior College-Northwest tallied 34.

Other Division II schools and newspaper point standings were: Tarrant Co.-South 31, Southwestern 26, Wayland Baptist College 22, Amarillo College 21, Tarrant Co.-Northeast 20, San Jacinto College 16½, Texas Wesleyan College 11, Howard Payne University 9½, Paris Junior College 8, Houston Baptist University and Blinn College 7 each, Tarleton State University 5, Howard College 4, and Texas Eastern University and Odessa College 3 each.

Critic judge William Roesgen, editor, Billings (Mont.) Gazette, said of the Western Texan: "This paper has some excellent writing. Considerable care is given to leads that attract interest in stories, and there is concern for featuring stories with the widest possible interest... I had a terrible time trying to find a third place in the class with the top two newspapers."

Individual WTC newspaper winners included Weldon Jefferson, Colorado City freshman, first, single ad; Tracy Moore, Snyder sophomore, second, news story; Paul Gilbert, Snyder sophomore, third, sports photo; Kay Ellington, Snyder freshman, second, feature; and Ellington, third, critical review.

In Division II general magazine competition, WTC students received individual honors. They were Linda Grissom, Snyder sophomore, second, sports photo; Randy Parrott, Albany freshman, second, editorial, and Paula Cornoyer, Sweetwater sophomore, and Ellington, third, feature story.

WTC's literary magazine, UNITY, is expected to be judged later. Editor is Stacy Payne, Stanton sophomore.

Students representing the college in live contests in print media were Diane Wright, Brownfield freshman, news writing; Ellington, editorial writing; Payne, feature writing, and Cornoyer, headline writing.

Broadcast media entries included Kathy Spencer, Anson sophomore, and Wright, radio newswriting; Payne and Ellington, commercial copywriting; Stephanie Stephens, Snyder freshman, and Grissom, Spencer and Ellington, radio announcing, and Stephens and Grissom, TV announcing.

Other students attending the conference were Judi Huffman, Jill Palmer, LaDonna Powell and Neely Wright, all entered in TIPA newspaper and magazine contests.

Mike McBride, associate professor of journalism, was elected to a two-year term as vice-president of the Texas Intercollegiate Press Advisers Assn. President is Wilma Wirt, University of Texas-El Paso, and secretary is JoAnn Langston, Texas Wesleyan College.

Grissom was elected 1977-'78 secretary of the student organization. President is Margaret Lee, Sam Houston State University, and vice-president is Christy Harlin, Stephen F. Austin State University.

Other TIPA member schools are Angelina College, Bee County College, Brazosport College, Eastfield College, Lamar University, Lee College, McMurry College, Midland College, Midwestern University, Pan American University, Sam Houston, Southwest Texas Junior College, Southwest Texas State University, Stephen F. Austin, Sul Ross State University, Texas A & I University, UT-Arlington, UT-El Paso, UT-Permian Basin, and West Texas State University.

Awards were presented during a brunch in the ASU Houston Harte University Center ballroom.

Cage, 'Leader, Bible Camps Set

Three summer camps are planned on campus, including girls' basketball, cheerleading and Bible.

The third annual girls' basketball camp is June 6-10. Enrollment is limited to 72 students.

Gay Benson of Slaton and Dr. Sid Simpson, Duster coach, are co-directors of the camp. Staff members include Sharon Neighbors of Sweetwater and Marilyn Payton, an all-American cager during her WTC basketball career.

Current members of the college women's team will be assistants and dormitory counselors.

The camp is designed for elementary and junior high girls. Campers will live in air conditioned dormitories and eat in the Student Center cafeteria.

Morning hours will be filled with instruction in rebounding, passing, shooting, dribbling and defense. Afternoon and evening hours feature intra-camp games, individual contests, basketball films and swimming.

All-star contests and presentation of awards June 10 will conclude the camp.

A cheerleader clinic will be held June 13-17, instructed by personnel from the national All-Star Cheerleading Conference.

The camp is primarily designed for present and prospective high school cheerleaders, although students from junior highs and colleges are invited.

Cheer techniques, soul chants, pompom routines, skit and pep rally planning, fund-raising ideas, tumbling, partner stunts, squad coordination, tryout tips, voice control, uniform design, and leadership and responsibility will be stressed.

Special seminars are scheduled daily for advisors, who are welcome to accompany their squads at a minimum rate.

Mickey Baird, student activities director, is coordinating the clinic.

Gary Lowe, director of the Christian Student Center, is supervisor of a Bible Camp to be scheduled July 10-16.

Open to young people in grades seven through twelve, including recent high school graduates, the camp will feature classes coordinated by Bible students.

Outdoor devotionals and inspirational speakers will provide other opportunities for spiritual growth, according to Lowe.

Students also will participate in team sports, crafts and swimming. The gym, indoor pool and campus golf course will be used for these activities.

Information on each camp may be obtained by contacting Simpson, Baird or Lowe.

'People-Watcher' Hits 'Celebrity Sweepstake' In Vegas!

by Debbie Sutton

The afternoon had been a long one.

I decided to spend a relaxing evening people-watching. Boring, you say? Not when you're sitting in the casino-lobby of the Sahara Hotel in Las Vegas, Nevada!

There goes an interesting person. Bet he has a hotel of his own, somewhere around home! You can tell by the way he keeps looking around, muttering "There isn't that much difference!"

THAT one HAS to be a mother! It's evident when she tugs at her husband's hand, telling him to stand straight and push his hair out of his eyes.

Here comes one who's probably a — hey, wait a minute — is that — no, it couldn't be, but it is. It's Rose Marie! Wonder what she's doing here? Oh, and there's Florence Henderson, and Carl Reiner, and, oh my gosh! It's Milton Berle! WHAT's going on?

They're all headed upstairs. I wonder what — OH, YES, the celebrity reception for Totie Fields! She's on a two-week engagement here in the Congo Room, her first since having major surgery almost a year ago.

Camera! Where's my camera? In my room... rush, rush, rush. Rush to get it. Wonder how many celebrities I'll miss while I'm gone?

Record time. Camera ready. "Sorry, miss, no pictures in the casino." Oh well, at least I've seen some of them. But hold it, what goes up must come down! Wait, wait, wait... can't stand it any longer! Wonder if they'll stop me if I try to go up?

MADE IT! But they've all gone into a convention room. There's got to be some way I can get in there. If only I had a press badge... that's it!!! My college identification badge! The worst they can do is tell me to leave.

I can't believe it, it worked! LOOK AT ALL THE FAMOUS PEOPLE IN HERE!!!! Calm down, get your camera ready. There's Uncle Milty... click, click... and Phyllis Diller... click, click... and even Andy Griffith... click, click, click.

Is THAT who I think it is? Jerry Lewis, my favorite!

"Mister Lewis, would you mind if I took a few pictures?"

"Texas, why?"

"No, not all the draws are as bad as mine."

"Why, thank you. I never thought of it as being good."

"Yes, everything is bigger and better in Texas!"

"Thank you, Mr. Lewis, for posing for me."

"Hold it a minute, Mr. Griffith... thank you very much!"

Jan Murray... click, click... and Marty Allen, too... click, click... LOVE that expression!

They're all gone now. Wow!!! I can't believe I've seen so many stars! I hope I can remember all of them.

Let's see, there was Lucille Ball, and her daughter, Lucie Arnaz, Rona Barrett, Ross Martin, Steve Lawrence and Eydie Gorme, Shecky Green, Jerry Vale, Steve Allen and Jayne Meadows, Peter Marshall, Pat Cooper, Billy Daniels, Sergio Franchi, Sid and Marty Kroft, Tommy Leonetti, Ed McMahon, Mrs. Peter Finch, Jackie Mason, George Montgomery, and Leslie Uggams.

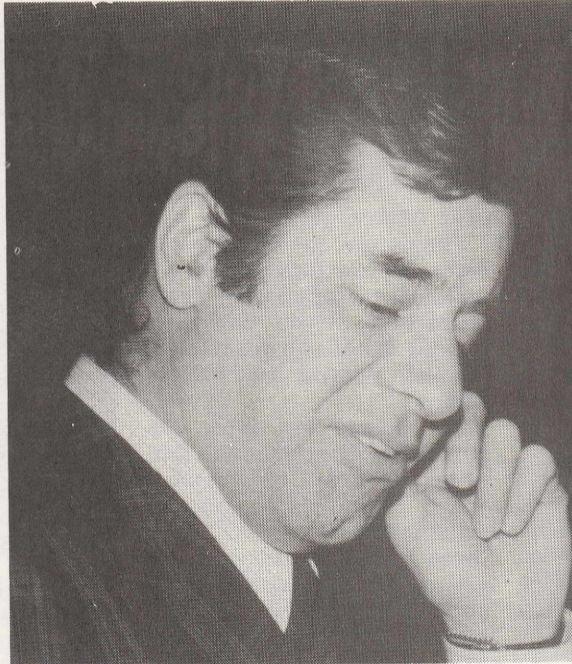

Imagine, ME — a student at Western Texas College — seeing all those celebrities in ONE place, and getting to take pictures! My daddy will be so proud!

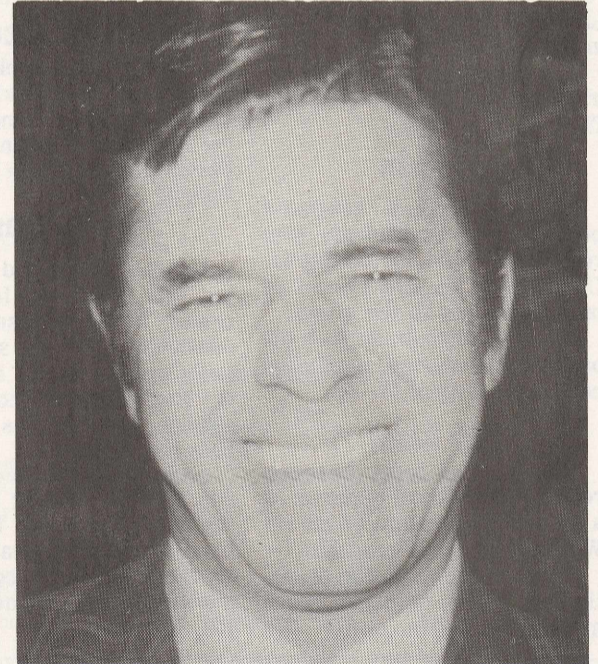

PHYLLIS DILLER — Really, what DID you do to your hair!? Ah, Ha, Ha!!

JERRY LEWIS — What's up, Doc??

Well, now let's see...

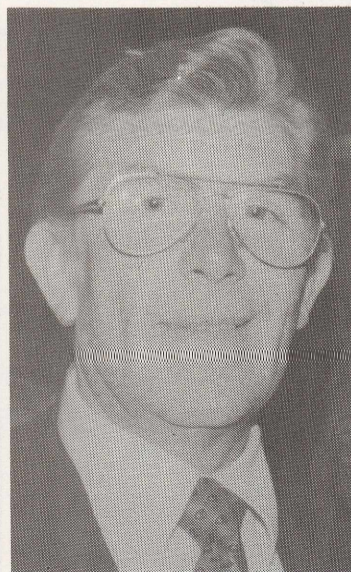

Aw, gee whiz, nice lady!!

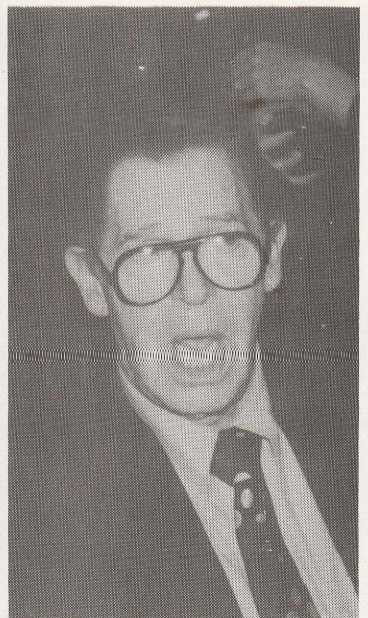

MARTY ALLEN — Who, me?? Where's my 'better' half, you say?

ROSEMARIE — No Van Dyke no more!

ANDY GRIFFITH — G-o-o-d cracker of a show!!

MILTON BERLE — The cigar's here... somewhere!!

★ NEWS BRIEFS ★

Golf Course

The Western Texas College golf course is tentatively set to be dedicated Saturday, May 7. According to Golf Coach Bob O'Day, the dedication ceremony is still in the planning stages. Possibilities for the event, though, include having the WTC golf team shoot some holes, watching local celebrities play a few holes or, perhaps, inviting a pro to give a clinic for the occasion.

Nurses Aides

A new Nurses' Aide course will start May 2 and offer 60 hours of classroom instruction with 60 hours of clinical experience.

The program is an adult education course not carrying college credit; however, those who complete the course will receive certificates of completion.

Library Meet

Hattie Simpson, associate director of library science, and Kathy Genuchi, assistant director of library science, represented WTC at the Texas Library Association convention in El Paso, April 12-16.

Mrs. Simpson is secretary-treasurer of District 1 of the TLA.

Councilman

Dr. Joe Reaves, associate professor of psychology, was recently elected to the Snyder City Council. He fills Place 3 as only newcomer to the group.

The new councilman took the oath of office during installation ceremonies, April 11.

CWS Grant

Congressman Omar Burleson recently announced approval of a $4,000 supplemental award for WTC's work-study program.

Funds to be used for an estimated nine students were made available under the awards period of July 1, 1976 through June 30, 1977.

Scholarships

The English department will award three scholarships to freshmen for 1977-'78 who demonstrate unusual ability in the language, although applicants are not required to major or minor in the field.

Prospective students interested in applying may get forms or more information from Dr. Ed Barkowsky, division chairman.

Completed applications are due in the department by May 10. Scholarships will be awarded by June 1.

Rail Tale

Joe R. Thompson, Jayton sociology student, published an article and photographs on "Mixed Train to Moscow" in a recent issue of National Railway Bulletin, publication of the National Railway Historical Society.

The article deals with East Texas railroad history near Moscow, Texas.

He holds the BBA degree from the University of Houston.

Barrel Race

Renee Hawkins took first last Thursday in barrel racing, clocked in 19.5 seconds, during the 31st annual Hardin-Simmons Univ. Intercollegiate Rodeo in Abilene.

Flying Class

Students interested in enrolling this fall term for a non-credit flying course through continuing education should contact Carl Barber, ET instructor, or Rex Hopkins, community service director, as soon as possible.

According to Barber, students will receive training leading to preparation for the FAA pilot license test. "A local aviation service company is considering allowing us use of a new Cessna 150," he said.

SAFE!! — Tim Pringle slides home for a score, so says umpire Gary Johnson.

The spring, the park and other things, namely softball, frisbees, volleyball, tennis — and of course George Gann's barbecue — brought Towle Park alive Tuesday with the fun-filled frolics of WTC's Spring Fling!

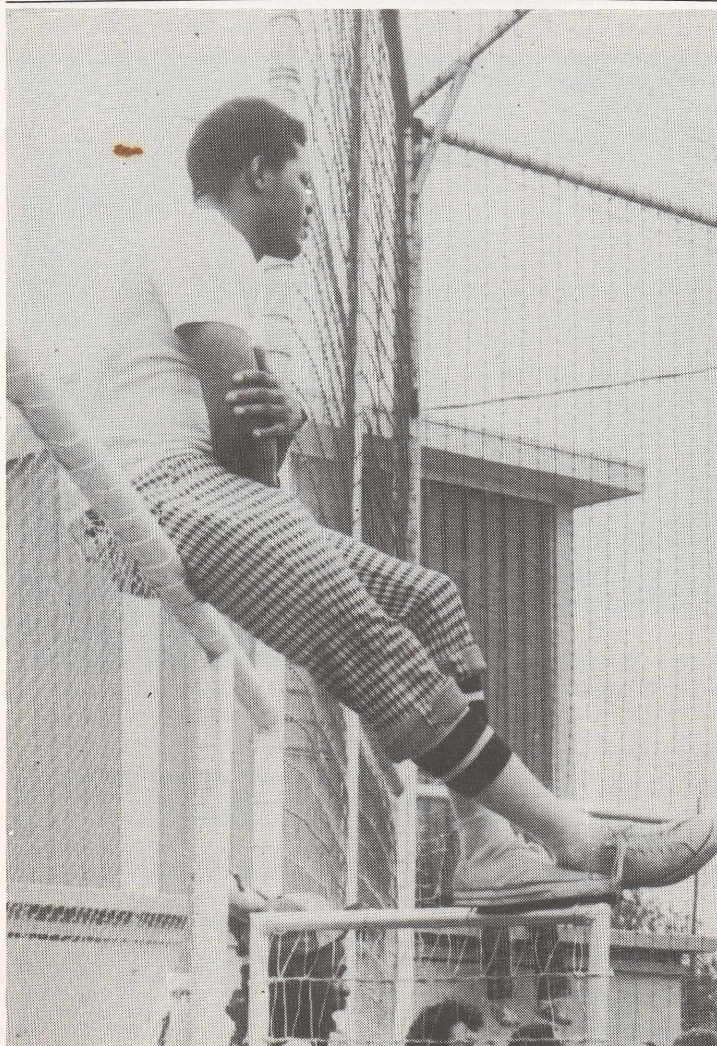

It was that special time for everyone to "let loose" and be themselves, whether becoming the major league pitcher they always dreamed of being, but couldn't, or the world's champion frisbee thrower!

Assistance in serving the barbecue was provided by the "ole goat cooker himself" Jerry Baird (who, if you remember, won the World's Champion Goat Cooking Contest last fall in Brady).

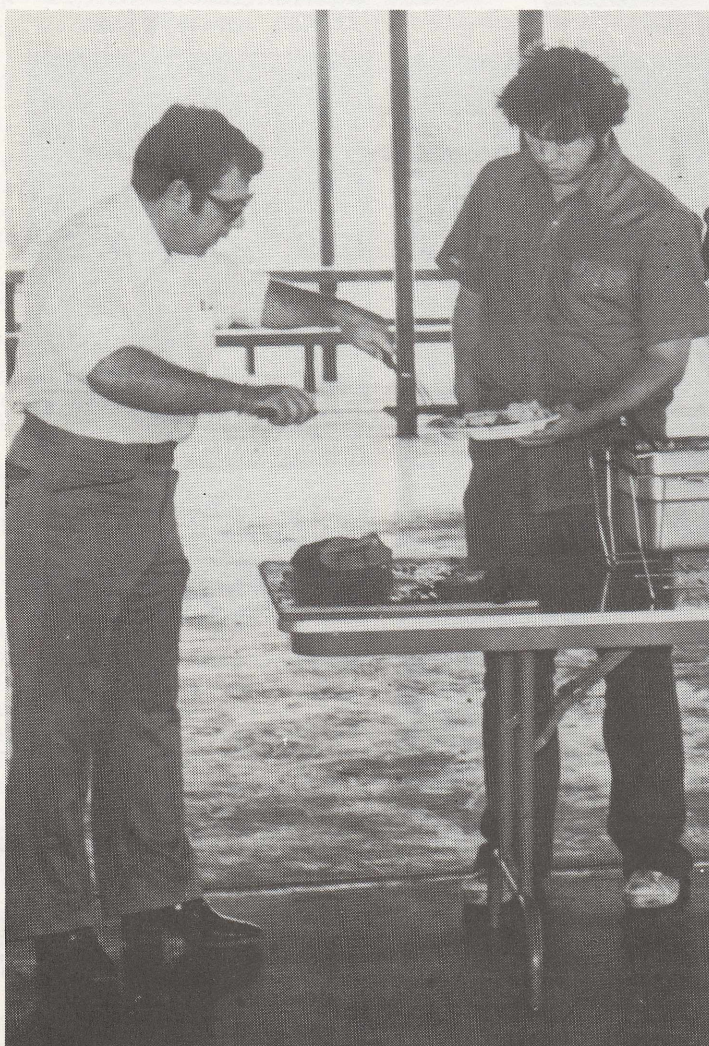

"It turned out nice, the weather cooperated and everybody had a great time," stated Mickey Baird, student activities director. The sky at times threatened to spoil the gala affair but was scarcely noticed by any of the fun seekers.

WHOOSH! — Carla Welch pitches a low ball during the game in Towle Park.

IDLIN' — Ira Harris has the 'best seat in the house' for watching the contest.

MORE!! — Jerry Baird serves up some barbeque to a hungry Dwayne Kemp after the action.

M-M-M! — Linda Gladish helps herself.

MOUTHFUL — Jeff Matsler can't wait!

Funding Formula Proposed

The Senate Education Committee late last month approved a proposed special formula to guarantee state junior colleges funding to meet growth demands and changes in popularity of courses offered.

Sen. A.M. Aiken of Paris sponsored the bill and is a member of the committee. His proposal would set up an advisory committee, appointed by the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System, to assist in developing formulas to insure equitable distribution of adequate state financial aid to public two-year schools.

If the bill became law, junior colleges would continue to receive legislative funding but would be guaranteed more automatically if justified by the formula, determined by multiplying student contact hours in each program during the preceding fiscal year by the median cost factor for that program area.

ET Field Trips Taken

Engineering technology students completed five field trips this semester, according to Carl Barber, ET instructor.

Cities visited were Snyder, Colorado City, Lubbock, Midland and Ft. Worth/Arlington, the most recent, April 14-15.

Industrial and electronic complexes toured were a SUNCO gas refinery, electrical power plant, radio/TV station, automobile assembly plant, petroleum museum, equipment manufacturing plant, communications - radar - computer center and automated packaging plant.

"Students have a better idea of the job opportunities available to a well-trained technician, whether in electromechanical or petroleum technology," Barber said.

The trips contribute to a student's practical education, providing first-hand study of complex industrial bases and often resulting in employment opportunities, he added. Four companies visited expressed interest in interviewing WTC technical sophomores.

Instructors organizing and participating in the field trips were Barber, Bob Klemm, Jerry Row, Randy Mosley and George Baskins.

Sul Ross Courses Scheduled

Several graduate classes will be offered this summer through the Sul Ross University extension program.

First six-week term offerings are Ed. 5306 — Advanced Tests and Measurements, Ed. 5310 — Educational Statistics, Ed. 5314 — Personality Theories, Ed. 5317 — History and Philosophy of Education, Ed. 5320 — Advanced Methodology, Exceptional Children, Ed. 6304 — Seminar in School Administration and Ed. 7304 — Curriculum Development in the Elementary Schools.

Registration will be May 24-25.

Second six-week classes include Ed. 5312 — Advanced Survey, Exceptional Children, Ed. 6310 — Advanced Kindergarten Techniques and Materials, Ed. 7305 — Workshop in Education: Communication and Small Group Process for Educators, Ed. 7307 — Theories in Administration and His. 5309 — Seminar in Southwestern History: Range Cattle Industry of the Southwest.

Registration will be July 5-6.

For further information, contact Mary Pinkston, Sul Ross coordinator, in the WTC administration building.

Newspaper, Staff Recognized In JUCO Press Competition

The Western Texan, WTC newspaper, placed third in general excellence and six journalists won awards in the Texas Junior College Press Assn. contests this year.

Competing in the small junior college division, students honored are Stacy Payne, Stanton sophomore, first, sports feature writing; Randy Parrott, Albany freshman, first, sports news writing; and Paula Cornoyer, Sweetwater sophomore, third, editorial writing.

Others recognized with honorable mentions are Diane Wright, Brownfield freshman, page makeup; Jill Palmer, Ira sophomore, investigative reporting, and Kay Ellington, Snyder freshman, feature writing.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

by Kathy Spencer

Privacy and truth are cherished by everyone. Our Constitution provides the "Right to Privacy" for all citizens "to be secure in their persons, houses, papers and effects against unreasonable searches and seizures."

A written and valued part of our government, but what of our own personal scruples?

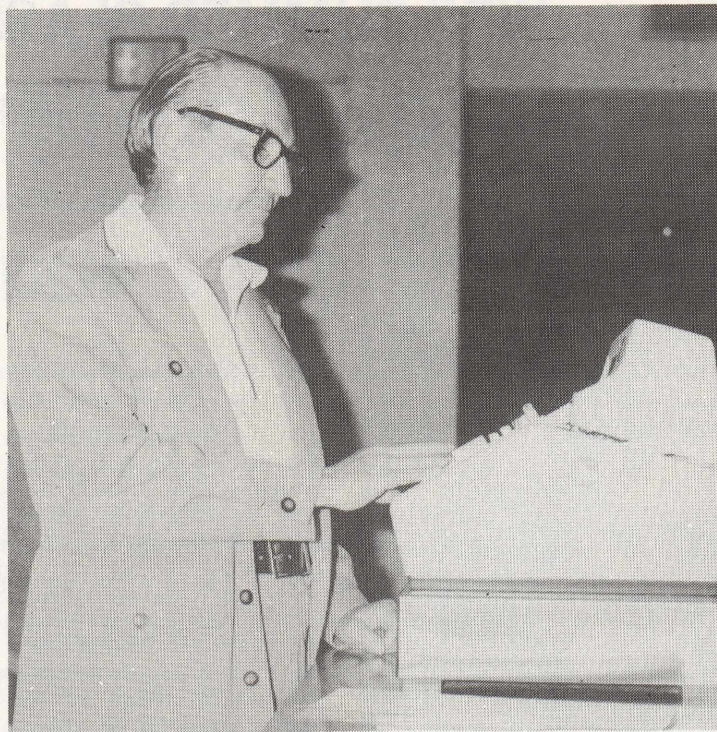

We've all heard old sayings such as: "Mind your own business.", "Keep your nose in your own business.", and "It's their problem." There may be wisdom in these words.

People with problems realize their troubles before you do. If you are a true friend, they will take you into their "confidence" and ask advice.

To be a true friend, you should keep their "confidence." Their privacy is then entrusted to you. Of course, you could say, "Well, if they didn't want anyone to know, they shouldn't have told me!" Sounds bad, huh? How many times have you needed confidential advice from a friend?

If you can count more friends like this than fingers on your right hand, consider yourself a person with miraculous acquaintances!

Respect for each individual's right to privacy and truth is one of the most precious responsibilities we hold as human beings and friends.

Who Cooked For A Governor?

by Stacy Payne

Not only do you see him everyday (maybe two or three times daily), but obviously you trust him a great deal because he prepares the food you eat in the dorm cafeteria!

What do you know about this special man?

He started in the food business at age 14 and has 45 years of experience backing him up.

Not only that, but did you know that George Gann used to cook for Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel? Why, he even escorted Molly O'Daniel (the governor's daughter) to the movies in his spare time!

Yes, George did it! He served two years as president of the San Angelo chapter of the Texas Restaurant Association and two more on the TRA state board of directors, giving him the opportunity to meet such distinguished people as Pres. Lyndon Johnson, Gov. John Connally, Sen. John Tower, Rep. O.C. Fisher and Pres. John Kennedy!

Why did he choose this field? "Because I like to cook, and it gives me great pleasure to see someone eat and enjoy my food!"

TV's Martin Set

Michael Henry Martin, television personality for KTXS-TV, Channel 12, Sweetwater-Abilene, will speak Tuesday, May 3 at 9 a.m. in SC-105.

He will address radio-TV students in Jour. 232 class, but all interested students and faculty are invited to attend.

Martin appears daily on the "Henry's Den" show.

Mitchell Hired As S-Idaho AD

Four-year Westerner cage coach, Mike Mitchell, has resigned, effective May 1, to become head basketball coach and athletic director at College of Southern Idaho in Twin Falls.

Mitchell, who compiled a 117-21 record at WTC and led the men's team to three conference championships, two regional titles and a national tournament victory in 1975, replaces Boyd Grant who will assume head coaching duties at Fresno State Univ. in California.

CSI has been to the national meet in Hutchinson, Kan. eight straight years, winning the title in 1976 after losing to WTC in the finals two years ago.

One of the best junior college basketball programs in the country, Southern Idaho at one time this season had copped 60 consecutive games, a JUCO record. Mitchell reportedly was selected over more than 400 applicants.

He coached Western Texas to a 34-4 mark this year, his squad finishing sixth in the NJCAA in March. He has been regional Coach of the Year twice and was named national Coach of the Year in 1975 with his 36-1 team.

Dr. Sid Simpson, WTC athletic director and Duster coach, is accepting applications for the post. A large number of applicants are expected, and at press time no one had filled the vacancy. WTC is seeking someone with junior college coaching experience or who has been a college assistant with strong recruiting credentials.

Other CSI coaches before Grant and Mitchell were Jerry Hale, currently head coach at Oral Roberts Univ., and Eddie Sutton, who guided Arkansas to the Southwest Conference crown this season.

Mitchell previously served as assistant coach at West Texas State in Canyon, head coach at Hereford High School and WTSU freshmen mentor.

He attended West Texas and played one year with the Los Angeles Stars of the defunct American Basketball Assn. before becoming a coach.

Rodeo Team Wins At ASU

Three WTC rodeo team members placed in early performances of the Angelo State University rodeo, April 15.

Jo Ann Whitehead was first in barrel racing with a time of 18.76 seconds, despite a rain-soaked arena.

She defeated Jana Williamson of Tarleton State University in 19.10 and Paula Best of Eastern New Mexico in 19.62.

Rick Bolding took third in calf roping, timed in 18.4 seconds behind NMSU's Jimmie Cooper and Sul Ross State's Clabe Pearson.

Renee Hawkins also won third, in 16.21, in goat tying. First and second places went to Texas Tech's Ann Tillman and Pattie Cowden.

Athletes Recognized At Sports Banquet

WTC athletes were honored during a sports banquet, April 12, in the Student Center cafeteria.

Franklin Pruitt, associate professor of history, served as master of ceremonies for the Booster Club sponsored affair. Dr. Robert Clinton, WTC president, gave the invocation.

Athletes were recognized by Dr. Sid Simpson, women's basketball coach; Joe Carter (for Van Rigby), rodeo team; Mike Mitchell, men's basketball coach; Bob O'Day, golf coach; and Mickey Baird, cheerleader advisor.

Receiving special recognition were Mickey Baird, student activities director, and Guy Sullivan, Booster Club president.

Honored from the Westerner basketball team which took sixth place in the NJCAA tournament in March were Wayne Jamison, Butch Person, Lawrence Butler, Allen Corder, Charles Gipson, Lonnie Nichols, Larry Orton, Doug Worthington, Robert Brown, Darryl Smith, Jon Moorehead, Walter Benjamin, Jerome Mobley, Adam Beadle and trainer Mike Banks.

Members honored from the conference championship

Duster basketball team included Cathy Minton, Rosemary Scott, Debby McIvor, Cindy Luttrull, Temi Baker Holliday, Janice Verden, Pam Tatum, Barbara Denman, Jamie Branch, Marketta Sissom, trainer Karen Arp and assistant coach Mickey Porter.

Scott Robbins, Miller Scott, Brown McCrory, Dave Foster, Chris Brown, Donnie Loerwald, Tommy Taylor, Ronald Koerth, Terry Kendrick and Larry Baker were recognized from the golf team, in competition for the conference title.

The rodeo team, standing fourth in region in the men's division and third in women's, recognized participants Randy Jackson, Dare Nolan, Rick Bolding, Buddy Reynolds, Rode Walker, Marc Barrington, Keith Rowan, Jo Ann Whitehead, Sherry Hibbert and Renee Hawkins.

Also recognized were cheerleaders Stacy Hoover, Theresa Sterling and Millie Maxwell.

Appropriately, the banquet program printed: "Western Texas College athletes have truly never had a losing season... Proud of our athletes? You bet we are!"

Lee Elected President Of PTK

Sonny Lee was recently elected president of the Psi Zeta chapter of Phi Theta Kappa for 1977-78, the only nationally-recognized honor fraternity for community college students.

Other new officers are Terry Scarbrough, vice-president; William Sullenger, secretary; Joni Huffman, treasurer; Lisa McBroom, reporter, and Rachel Phillips, historian.

They were installed at a spring picnic, April 24, at the Colorado City Lake.

Of 115 students graduating, May 12, 38 are PTK members. Completing the Associate in Arts degree are JoAnn Thompson Ashley, Mike Banks, Dennis Bellah, Walter Benjamin, Amy Bollinger, Danny Brumley, Kellye Crenshaw and Bettye Fancher.

Also, Cynthia Ferrell, Charles Greenfield, Jean Gusta, Kerry Harston, Iva Grace Haywood, Daniel Herrera, Steven Hines and Kathy Howell.

More include Robert Huddleston, Elizabeth Mijares, Deneese Pemberton, Martha Joy Piland, Tommy Rylander, Marketta Sissom, Jean Ann Gray Smith and Charles Stephens.

Those completing the Associate in Applied Science degree include Vickie Berryman, Jerry Boyd, Tyra Elkins Chaney, Renee Dodds, Stan Ferrell and Carl Guinn.

Finally, Ken Gusta, Lanny Hall, Randall Kurtz, R.L. Mickle, Johnny Pilgrim, Tim Pringle and Ronald Stevens. Stacy Hoover will receive a certificate of technology.

The local chapter is a service organization for the college and community, with membership by invitation only. Prospective members academically must be in the top 10 percent of students in the college.

Sponsors are Dr. Mary Hood and Dr. Ed Barkowsky.

LOERWALD MEDALIST

Golfers Capture Conference Crown

SWEETHEART — Barbara Brooks, 1976-1977 golf sweetheart, is joined by co-captains Donnie Loerwald and Dave Foster.

Sophomore Donnie Loerwald fired a four-under 68 Friday in Hobbs, N.M. to pace WTC's golf squad to their second consecutive Western Junior College Athletic conference championship and the final loop meet title.

Medalist and top shooter on the All-Conference team with a 71.6 average, Loerwald was joined by teammate Brown McCrory, who shot 70, for runnerup medalist honors.

WTC shaded host New Mexico Junior College by 287-292, and both schools finished 1-2 in the final conference point standings, 70½-70.

Coach Bob O'Day's men were only one-half point behind the Thunderbirds going into the tournament, but their one-under score of 287 pulled it out.

Westerner freshman, Chris Brown, earned spot number nine on the all-loop team with a 74.5 average, and teammate Miller Scott, who fired a four-over 76, missed the elite unit by one point. Terry Kendrick had a one-over 73 for the tourney.

Final conference point standings include WTC 70½, NMJC 70, Odessa 56½, Midland 54½, Amarillo 46, Howard 42, Clarendon 28½, NMMI 20½ and Frank Phillips 15.

Other team scores Friday, behind WTC and New Mexico, are Odessa and Midland 302 each, Amarillo 304, Howard 309, NMMI 313, Clarendon 322 and Frank Phillips 328.

The Westerners trailed NMJC by two strokes through the first nine holes on the front side and by one after holes 10-12, but turned it around on 13-15 for a six-stroke advantage. WTC hit one under to New Mexico's five over.

Loerwald had been tied for third place with the Thunderbirds' Arlin Maddox going into the ninth and final affair. Maddox closed in fifth, while teammate Steve Brewster took second and Odessa's Gary Varnadore was third.

“We met the challenge and came through under pressure to win,” O'Day said. “NMJC has an outstanding golf team and a few weeks ago won the New Mexico State tournament, the first time a junior college has won it.”

Of the locals, O'Day said, “It was a team effort all year. Nine players competed in the different conference tournaments and contributed to the championship. This was supposed to have been a rebuilding year because we lost four starters from last season's team.”

The coach expressed pride in the squad. “They worked very hard, showed a lot of dedication, pulled for each other even though they might not have made the travelling squad, and had a super attitude on and off the course. I'm proud of them!”

Individual Westerner averages in conference and season play, respectively, are: Robbins 72 and 73.4 (2 and 12 rounds), Loerwald 74.6 and 74.6 (9 and 28 rounds), Kendrick 74.8 and 76.1 (5 and 19 rounds), McCrory 77 and 76.1 (5 and 22 rounds), Brown 77.2 and 76.1 (9 and 28 rounds), Taylor 78.5 and 76 (2 and 9 rounds), Scott 78.7 and 77.3 (9 and 25 rounds), Koerth 80 and 77.6 (3 and 18 rounds), and Foster 80 and 76.8 (1 and 15 rounds).

Western Texas advances to the Region V tournament Friday and Saturday at the Lake Tanglewood Country Club at Denison. They will play 54 holes, and the top two teams and individual medalist will advance to the national meet at Ft. Myers, Fla. the second week in June.
