Outstanding Students Named At Annual Awards Program

During the seventh annual awards assembly April 19 in the fine arts theatre, Becky Rhodes and David Galvan were named the outstanding students for 1978-79.

Dr. Robert Clinton, WTC president, presented the awards.

Rhodes is a legal secretary major. She is president of OEA and will travel to Cincinnati for national competition in May. She is a member of Phi Theta Kappa and was named to Who's Who Among Students in American Junior Colleges for 1978-79. The Lubbock sophomore displays a 4.0 grade point average.

Galvan is a drama scholarship recipient. He is president of the Student Senate and vice-president of Phi Theta Kappa. He was named to Who's Who and has participated in all of the theatre productions during the last two years. He is a sophomore from Loraine.

Jeanne Kobuszewski, theatre director, served as mistress of ceremonies for the program, sponsored by the Faculty Association.

Student Mark Cozart provided music and BSU Director, Darrell Grimley, gave the invocation.

Science awards were presented by Dr. Shelby Hillis. Receiving Outstanding Sophomore Student in Science was Dale Hobbs. Sherri Muncrief was the Outstanding Sophomore Girl in Science and Carita Wood, Linda Mize and Nancy Soles were Outstanding Sophomore Biology Students.

Britt Fuqua, Kelly Culp, Joyce Plagens, Elaine Byrd, Katy Day and Betsy Benson were Outstanding Freshman Biology Students. Cozart was presented the Outstanding

Lynn Wimmer received the Outstanding Algebra Student award, presented by Elsie Anderson.

Charlene Light awarded Outstanding Intermediate Typing Student to Brenda Martin and Outstanding Office Occupations Student and Outstanding OEA Member to Rhodes.

Jimmy Ray Albus and Larry Parks were named Outstanding Farm-Ranch Management Students by Kent Mills.

Bob Hays presented Outstanding Mid-management Student awards to Danny McCormick and Marcelo Alvarez.

Rich Nelson received Outstanding Male Law Enforcement Student and Mary Ann Smith received Outstanding Female Law Enforcement Student from Ray Robbins.

Mr., Miss WTC to be Named at Spring Formal

The Spring Formal, May 1, will be highlighted by the announcement of Mr. and Miss WTC at the National Guard Armory.

Candidates for Miss WTC include Kathy Brzozowski, Brigitte Hamilton, Ginger Peden, Sheila Sandbothe, Kathleen Utsman and Becky Westbrook.

Nominees for Mr. WTC are David Galvan, Kenneth Levens, Mike Mahan, John Utsman, Mike Waller and Dwight Williams.

Brzozowski, a Wylie freshman majoring in physical education, is a member of PTK and is on the Duster basketball team and the Student Senate.

Jayton freshman, Hamilton, is majoring in engineering. She is also a Duster and a member of PTK who enjoys rollerskating and window shopping.

Peden, freshman physical education major from Levelland, is a member of PTK and plays on the basketball team. Swimming, tennis, racketball and shopping are her hobbies.

A legal secretary major, Sandbothe is an Anson freshman minoring in journalism. She is a member of PTK, Student Senate, Press Club and OEA. She is feature editor of The Western Texan and was a nominee for Miss Trailhand.

Kathleen Utsman, Colorado City sophomore, is president pro-tem for the Student Senate, a member of the Judo team and is first vice-president of the Judo Club. She was Homecoming Queen last year, a Miss Trailhand nominee, WTC favorite and golf sweetheart.

A sophomore elementary education major from Kermit, Westbrook is a member of PTK and is treasurer for the Student Senate. She was selected to Who's Who, was a Homecoming Queen and Trailhand nominee, and was campus favorite last year.

Galvan, Loraine sophomore, is a drama major and was recently selected Outstanding Drama Student as well as Outstanding Male Student at WTC. He is student body president, PTK vice-president and a member of the drama department.

An agriculture business major, Levens, Anson freshman, is a member of PTK, chaplain for the Student Senate, participates in judo and is resident hall assistant in the dorm. He was a nominee for Mr. Trailhand.

Mahan, Midland freshman, is a petroleum engineering major, a varsity golfer and is on the Student Senate. He is a member of PTK, has made the Dean's List.

A Colorado City sophomore majoring in business, John Utsman likes painting, drawing and working on cars.

Waller, Ft. Stockton sophomore, is an electrical engineering major and is co-captain of the golf team. He serves on the judo team and was nominee for Trailhand and made the Dean's List for three semesters.

Basketball co-captain, Williams, El Paso sophomore, is majoring in broadcasting. He played basketball for the Westerners and was named third team all regional. He was on the Dean's List.

Summer Dorm Problem

Students wishing to live in the dormitories this summer will find themselves semi-commuting to school and possibly spending more money than they really need to.

Anyone taking summer courses at WTC may live in the dorms for the six-week or nine-week term, according to Dr. Duane Hood, Dean of Student Services.

One drawback, though, students will face is that the dorms will close each Friday at 1 p.m. and re-open on Sundays at 6 p.m.

Students who reside there will pay $110 for the six-week term and $175 for the nine-week term. This price does not include meals, tuition, fees or transportation home on the weekend.

Six hours is the maximum load a student may carry in one summer term, without special permission, which seems to make some wonder if it is worth it.

For example, anyone taking a three-hour course and living on-campus during the six-week term will pay $110 for room, $30 for tuition, $3 for building use fee, approximately $300 for meals based on $10 per day, five days a week for six weeks and an estimate of $15 for gas to travel home on weekends (if the student lived, say, in Rotan).

This means that such a student may pay at least $450 plus any lab fees, for one six-week course. Assuming a dorm student could be enrolled for two courses during the fall or spring semester, he would actually be paying approximately $560, plus lab fees.

Granted, neither illustration provides for weekend meals. And furthermore, dorm students who already "live-in" do not have to go home on weekends — if they do, that is their own additional transportation expense. Bear in mind, educational expense figures are based upon information in the 1978-80 college catalog.

Dr. Hood told The Western Texan, "We have to close the dorms on weekends to save money. We usually don't have many in the dorm during the summer, and we would lose money on electricity."

The cost to attend summer school and to live on-campus appears to be expensive for some students.

Snyder residents or commuting students should have no problem with summer school, but will the summer term be worth it to the out-of-town "resident" student?

If an out-of-town'er takes the extra course, instead, in the fall or spring semester of the next year, he could save over $400 in expenses. Adding the cost of a class to others already enrolled for in the long term is a minimal expenditure.

Considering everything, is summer school really worth it for students who live outside of Snyder and plan to stay on-campus?

Sooner Than You Think

With the end of the school year getting closer, students seem to be working at a feverish pace in an attempt to hurry up and get it over with. Now we have to make up for all that lagging we did at the beginning of the semester, just to pull our grades back up to standard.

The important thing is to get everything in on time. Even though the semester seems to be going slowly, there's usually just barely enough time to get school work finished when it's due.

We all have good reasons for going to college — some of us even like it. But we all have good reasons for wanting to have a nice long break from it for a while, too.

As soon as school is over, I plan to catch up on some reading — when I feel like it — and do all those little things I haven't had time to do since last August. Things like sewing and baking and working jigsaw puzzles.

But by September, I will have had my fill of that and be ready for all this wretched studying again.

"No" to Pop Contests

It's that time again. Time for another "popularity contest", only this time it's 'campus favorites.' This "contest" is immature, creates insecurity and is simply that — a contest!

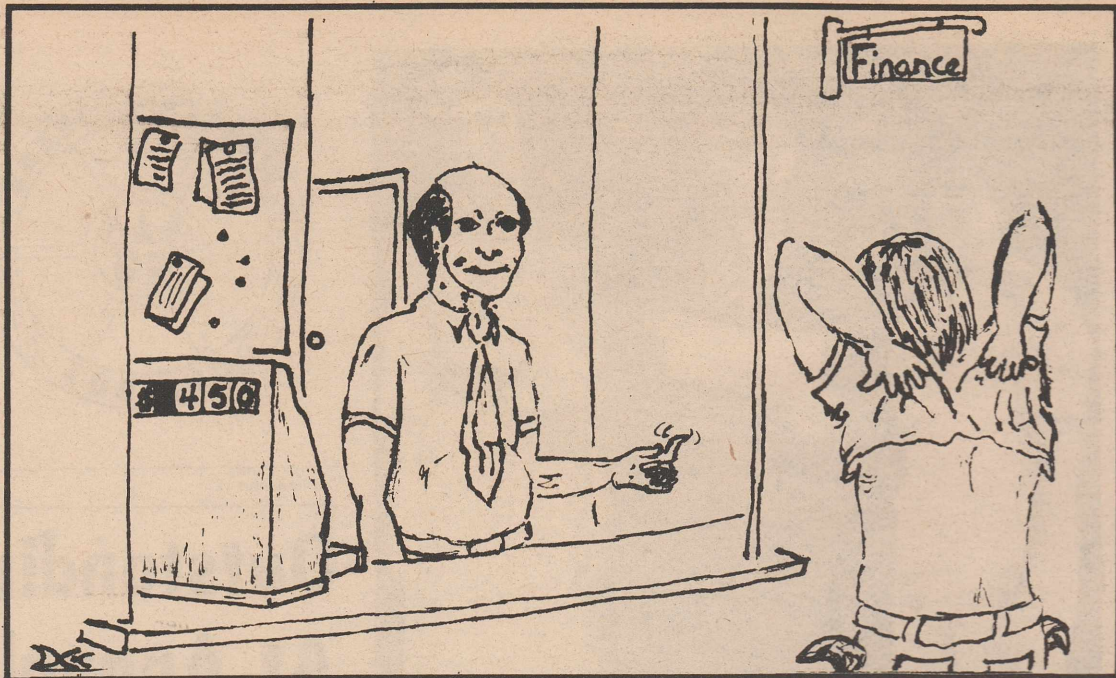

This is college, not high school. It is supposed to be the last step into the "real world". There are no popularity contests in the "real world".

Granted, such "contests" recognize "outstanding" persons. But, if these persons are truly outstanding, they don't need a title to tell them so. There are many more persons of note, than titles to bestow. This process of selection leads to loss of self-esteem and insecurity in those not so titled.

As for being a contest, ever notice how the incumbents suddenly become friendlier, more outgoing, vying for votes when titling time comes?

And what does a person have after "winning"? Simply a title to live up to ... or one to live down.

WT POLL

Students Anticipate Summer

by Debra Littlepage

The school year is coming to a close, and thoughts are turning to summer. This week students were polled on their upcoming activities planned. Responses included:

"I'm going to work and try to save up some money," commented Janice Posey, Seminole freshman.

Susie Miller, Snyder sophomore, is going overseas.

El Campo freshman Lane Foltyn said he was going to "rodeo".

Coach Lee Burke answered, "I'm going back to Lubbock and enroll at Texas Tech to do some more graduate work. I'm also going to babysit!"

Snyder freshman David Fleming said, "I don't know. I imagine just work and farm."

Ron Hester, Snyder sophomore, will become a "tea-sipper".

Freshman Nora Pina is moving to Seminole to work. She comes from Crosbyton.

Lubbock native Norman Burge will work. He is a sophomore.

Terry Goodman, Brownwood freshman, revealed that he would rodeo, as did Jess Evans, Marfa freshman.

Jeanna Duke replied, "Go to summer school and hopefully take a nice vacation." She is a Snyder sophomore.

Summer school is also in the plans of Beckye Everett, Snyder sophomore.

Rita Hardegree is a Colorado City sophomore. "I'm going to recuperate and get ready for another semester," she emphasized.

To get on summer stock (plays) at Mankato, Minnesota is the goal of Darrell Hayes, Caldwell freshman.

What are you going to do this summer? Whatever it is, just enjoy yourself — and we'll see some of you next year!

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

I would like to take this opportunity to express my sincere thanks to all those who were involved in the outcome of WTC's yearbook, Trailblazer '79. If the Trailblazer was to be dedicated to anyone, that person would definitely be Dr. Mike McBride, because he was essential to its success. The last two years he has gone beyond being adviser by giving his time, ideas and support to its production.

I especially thank photographers Joe Boldon, Debbie Sutton and Cody Bell. Joe and Debbie also helped in copy. Other staff members contributing were Renee Muirhead, Darlene Neatherlin, Jim Price and Gerald Colbert. I thank Rocky Alexander and The Western Texan staff for always allowing us news space.

I also thank WTC students for showing their support by purchasing the annuals. I am grateful for the last two years' experience of serving WTC as editor of the Trailblazer. I will always remember it, but it wouldn't have been possible without the journalism department.

On behalf of the Trailblazer staff, I express our apologies for any mistakes. Some could not be helped because copy was already in the hands of our publishing company. I also express our hope that everyone will enjoy the book now and in the years to come.

— Connie Jones

Faculty Profile

Travel, Theatre Mix in 'Ms. K'

by Debra Littlepage
 "Theatre is the means to teach the human heart the knowledge of itself." This quote 'sums it up' for Jeanne Kobuszewski, head of WTC's theatre department.

Commonly referred to as 'Ms. K', for obvious reasons, this farm girl grew up in Western Kansas. She received her bachelor's degree in speech and drama from Mary Mount College. Her master's degree in stage direction was awarded by Central Michigan University, and she began her doctorate study under Valerie Colgan at the University of London through Kansas University. Ms. Colgan is an upcoming British actress who has starred in Masterpiece Theatre on public television.

'Ms. K' toured 13 countries during her London college career. She found Dachau in Germany to be her most memorable spot. "It was a concentration camp. I viewed the block houses where my ancestors stayed and the crematories where they were executed. It was devastating," she recalled.

On the lighter side, she toured such places as the Louvre in Paris and the French Palace of Versailles. She commented that Europeans have a higher respect for academics. "They appreciate history and preserve it more," she added.

The overseas traveller revealed she was a romanticist and found the parks, flowers and people of Europe memorable. She explained that females are more important in Europe. "Men place them on a pedestal. They look at all women as if they are beautiful."

Before joining the WTC staff, the drama director taught a year in North Dakota and four years in West Virginia.

"I chose WTC because the committee seemed to care about who taught here. There is a positive attitude here," the second-year instructor revealed.

She also commented that she enjoys the division of faculty that she works with. "They're close-knit, young and dedicated. They're cooperative and support one another."

Having directed 35 plays, she decided that each had a fabulous experience to remember — and its challenges. She prefers drama that is meaty and has substance. She looks for a theme dealing with man's inhumanity to man. She attributes this to her serious-minded attitude.

'Ms. K' enjoys "students who have a genuine dedication to theatre and the maturity to give what is necessary for a quality show." She said a lot of public relations work is involved in the theatre for students. This has included hours spent on the recent fashion show and judging high school UIL literary events.

"I enjoy working with older persons. I have a high regard and respect for them and their invaluable experiences," she expressed, citing the community RSVP which is saving the students many hours by cutting foliage for the upcoming children's theatre.

"The purpose of the theatre is to fulfill a need. Persons can identify with the dramatic characters," the director stated. "When people leave they become self-aware. They can be so much more than they are."

Petition Deadline Today For Student Body Offices

Today marks the final day for submitting petitions to run for student body offices for 1979-80. Potential candidates must have a petition completed and turned in to the Student Activities Office in order to be eligible for the election.

As of this writing, only one candidate for each office has filed a petition.

The election, sponsored by the Student Senate, will be held Monday, April 30 and Tuesday, May 1.

The Senate is also preparing for the upcoming Spring Formal scheduled for May 1 at the National Guard Armory.

The dance will be climaxed by the announcement of Mr. and Miss WTC. Class favorites and winners of the student body elections will also be presented.

There will be no admission, but only WTC students and their dates are invited.

Music will be provided by Jook-Box of Austin. The theme of the 1979 formal is "Mayday Festival."

The final Senate activity will be the annual Spring Fling to be held in Towle Park May 10. Students are requested to bring frisbees, tennis rackets and other recreational equipment.

Bar-b-que will be served at the pavilion at 5 p.m.

Trimble, Brown Victorious In Superstars Competition

David Brown and Verna Trimble are the winners of WTC's recent second annual "Superstars" competition.

The contestants were divided into two divisions: male and female.

Brown, the overall men's winner, scored a total of 46 points after he won over Joe Salinas in a tennis playoff. Salinas was second, also totaling 46 points, and Scott Russell scored 28 to hold on to the third place position.

Overall women's winner was Trimble with a score of 42 points. Joyce Plagens gathered 40 points for second place, and in third place was Laura Wheatly with 38.

Winners of the individual sports were as follows: Golf, Wheatly and Salinas; Softball, Nodia Vaughn and Salinas; Ping Pong, Plagens and Freddie Davis; Basketball, Wheatly and Bill Stockton; 60-yard dash, Liz Hooper and Brown; Pool, Cynthia Betts and Russell; and tennis, Plagens and Brown.

Each contestant had to enter eight of the nine events scheduled.

The Superstars competition was held April 16-23. It was planned by the activities council of the Student Senate.

'Page Three' Signs Off With Tears

by Rudy England
 SOB!!! SNIFFLE!!!
 Excuse me a minute while I go get a kleenex....

O.K. I think I'm all right now. It's just that it's that time of year again. We'll be saying "So long, see you next year!" or "So long, hope to see you again!" before you know it. The phrase you use depends upon whether you're a sophomore or a freshman.

This is the last issue of the year, and it could probably be called "the old cry on the shoulder, pat on the back, good luck!" issue.

You're fortunate to see this in print, you know. By the time I got through writing and the editor and re-write people got through reading this column, it had so many splotches from tears that the words ran together so much it doesn't say the same thing it did when I wrote it. (Sounds like a good excuse, anyway!)

Everyone at WTC really deserves alot of credit! From administration to faculty to students, I don't think I've ever run into a more congenial group. It's a group that I'm proud to be a part of. I might add that my juco days will always provide better memories than previous school years.

I can't think of any place I'd rather have been for the past year. Although I admit I'm getting rather tired of school work now, the character and personalities of the people I've been around have more than made up for it.

For you freshmen (soon to be sophomores, of course), there's only one more year to go here. You can look forward to what the sophomores (soon to be juniors) are headed for — the 'big time' stuff! Then there are those who are "in-betweeners." I'll be finishing up this summer hopefully.

Anyway, the whole message behind this column is "So long, hope to see you again!"

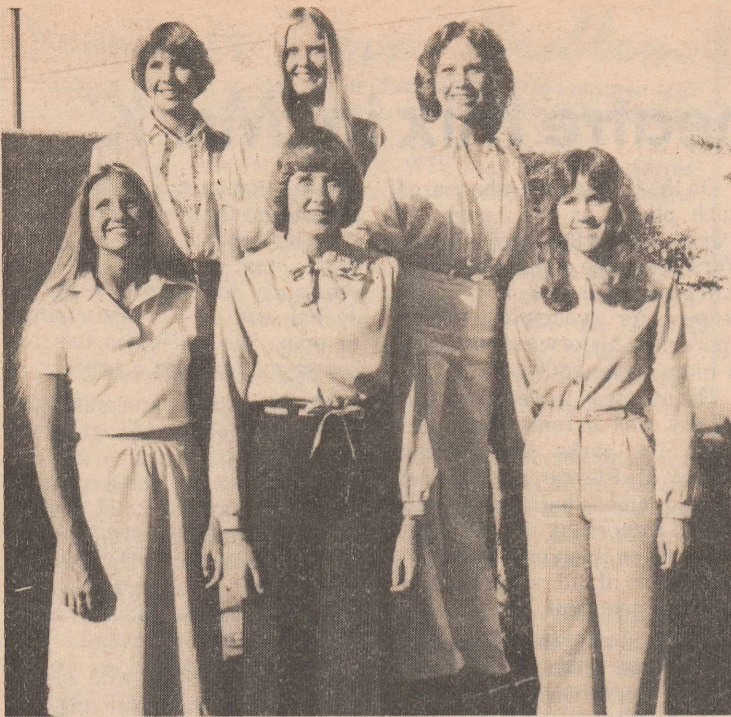

Sounds familiar, doesn't it?

Paper Places Third at State Meet

The Western Texan received third place in general excellence at the Texas Junior College Press Association convention in Arlington last weekend and WTC placed fourth in overall newspaper sweepstakes with 13 points.

In individual competition, Rocky Alexander, editor, won third place in page makeup and third place in editorial writing, while Debra Littlepage, associate editor, won second place in editorial writing.

Grayson County College won sweepstakes with 39 points. Second and third were McLennan College and Blinn College with 22 and 21, respectively.

Other colleges placing were Bee County 10, Paris 9, North Harris County 9, Midland 8, Henderson County 5, Del Mar 5, San Jacinto North 4 and Tarrant County Northwest 3.

Attending were Alexander, Cody Bell and Joe Boldon. Dr. Mike McBride, adviser, accompanied the students.

Classic Children's Tale Presented Cast, Crew Set for Performance

WTC's theatre department will stage the final production of the season, "Greensleeves' Magic," May 11 and 12 in the fine arts theatre.

Performances are scheduled at 10:30 a.m., 1:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Tickets are available and prices at $1 for students and $2 for adults. Reservations can be made by calling the fine arts division office at 573-8511, ext. 324.

Fourteen characters will unravel the "Greensleeves' Magic" theme, "to sing, to laugh, to dance." The play will be performed mainly for children and will last about an hour.

The set will illustrate the backyard of a castle with weeping willow trees, a fountain, flowers and a bridge.

The folktale spins a charming yarn in which a wicked Duchess, portrayed by Janice Posey, has cast a spell over an entire kingdom. A drama scholarship recipient from Seminole, Posey was last seen as Grace Kimbrough in "Never Too Late."

The king who formerly ruled the enchanted land will be played by John Hopkins, a scholarship recipient from Snyder who performed as Ben in "The Little Foxes" and as Harry Lambert in "Never Too Late."

The king is a worry wart and fearful of the Duchess. His queen will be portrayed by Monette Sentell, a Snyder journalism and drama major making her stage debut.

Janice Northern, another newcomer to the WTC stage but a veteran of high school theatre, will portray the eldest daughter of the kind and queen, Miranda. She is employed as a dental assistant in Snyder.

Miranda's younger sister, Mary, will be played by Soyla Santos, a legal secretary major from O'Donnell. She was active in high school drama and children's plays.

Playing the ignorant, hilarious, kind sidekick of the Grand Duchess is David Galvan of Loraine. In his final acting role at WTC, he will portray Fitsneeze. A scholarship recipient, Galvan was last seen as Mr. Vladez, the carpenter, in "Never Too Late". He is serving as Student Senate president and plans to continue his drama career at Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos.

Cast in the lead role of Greensleeves, a handsome young ballad singer, is Rick Mantooth. A sophomore drama major and scholarship recipient from Seminole, Mantooth was seen as Oscar in "The Little Foxes" and as Dr. James Kimbrough in "Never Too Late." He is employed as a disc jockey at KSNY radio.

In the roles of the two strongest men in the kingdom, the Farmer and the Tailor, are Robby Moore of Snyder and Darrell Hayes of Caldwell. Also cast as dancers, Moore and Hayes are freshmen drama scholarship recipients. Moore was last seen as Charlie in "Never Too Late." Caldwell portrayed the policeman and served as stage manager in that production.

Kathleen Utsman, sophomore from Colorado City and Kathy Brzozowski, freshman from Abilene, will dance with Greensleeves and the two "strongest men" to regain the joy that has been gone from the kingdom for years.

Utsman was Homecoming Queen in 1978 and Golf Sweetheart for 1979. She is a member of the WTC Judo Team and placed first in her weight division in competition at state level. Brzozowski, a member of the Dusters' basketball squad, was chosen Miss Wylie High School and Most Spirited Athlete and served as a cheerleader.

Completing the cast of "Greensleeves' Magic" are the townspeople, Elida DeLoera, Larry Redden and Kathy Howell.

A WTC cheerleader from Loraine, DeLoera competed in UIL while at Loraine High School. She was voted Miss School Spirit, Football Sweetheart and Most Popular Model of the Year at LHS and was a member of the Student Council, FHA, FTA and a class officer.

Redden, a Snyder High School senior, plans to attend WTC next fall to minor in drama. He enjoys music and plans to work in technical theatre during the current production.

Howell hails from Abilene and is a backstage veteran of several WTC plays. An elementary education major, she will be making her acting debut.

Jeanne Kobuszewski, drama instructor, is director of the production.

New Tapes Added to DUFI

Students in interpretive reading have put their skills to use by preparing tape recordings of children's stories for the WTC Dial Us For Information (DUFI) collection.

Two of the tapes, "Mr. Bun" (Tape 75) and "The Ugly Duckling" (Tape 76) have already been added to the tape library. Each of the tapes lasts about seven minutes.

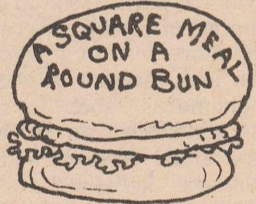

The DUFI collection includes a number of self-help and self-improvement tapes concerning subjects ranging from Retirement (Tape 148) to Pre-Planning for Children (Tape 131).

Persons who would like to hear one or more tapes may call 573-8511, and ask for extensions 328 or 329, then request the tape by number. A complete listing of all tapes available may be obtained by writing the Counseling Office.

Calls may be made between 8 a.m. and 9 p.m. Monday through Thursday and from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Fridays.

End of School, But Not Life!

by Monette Sentell

Have you ever noticed how hectic things get near the end of a semester??? Or is it just that way around my house?!

I must have had a loose screw in my head when I took on 18 hours this semester on top of my civic commitments, plus being mother to two pre-teenage girls and wife, chief cook and bottle-washer.

All weekend I was trying to think of something really interesting to write my final column of the semester about... and all I saw was tons and tons of laundry! I've never figured out if my family is the cleanest or the dirtiest family in Snyder! I've even accused my nine-year-old of collecting dirty clothes from the neighbors just to keep me occupied while she and her friends try out the latest shades of lipstick... all over their faces.

Ah, the trials and tribulations of motherhood!!

I've also become a great short-order cook this semester, at least a couple of times a week. It's amazing how you can

"sandwich" in so many things in so little time! (Pardon the pun!!)

My latest undertaking has been as a member of the cast of "Greensleeves' Magic", the children's theatre to be presented May 11 and 12. I play the part of the queen.

The only reason I am able to do this and not have my family completely disown me is that I remain in the dungeon during the major part of the play and therefore do not have to be present for all rehearsals.

It's a great life, if you don't weaken!

Back to the hectic ending of the terms: I have a really big gripe concerning exemptions on finals. Why is it that the courses I carry A's in are the ones taught by the professors who do not believe in exempting?! Just lucky, I guess!!

I do wish that the faculty could set up a standardized rule that either an "A" or perfect attendance would qualify one for exemption if the student so desired. Just think of the time they would save grading papers and averaging grades.

One final note: I've enjoyed writing this column, and I thank what readers I have for their comments, both bad and good. Those of you who have gotten to know me have realized that just because you're over 30 doesn't always mean you have good sense or are over the hill!

It's been my pleasure getting to know you students and professors and I look forward to one more semester at WTC next fall.

I'm sure this is meant to be my last attempt at writing this school year. I had an omen when I opened my typewriting paper. One of my nine-year-old's teeth fell out of the box. How it got into my writing supplies is a story I think I'll save for next year.

Have a great, safe summer and see you all next fall!

Alexander Awarded Scholarship

Several WTC journalists won awards and others received special recognition at the Texas Intercollegiate Press Assn. annual convention in El Paso April 12-14.

Rocky Alexander, editor of The Western Texan, was awarded one of two $400 scholarships by TIPA during a scholarship luncheon April 13. The organization made the presentation for the first time, named in honor of Dr. Frank W. Buckley, long-time director of the TIPA central office and mass communications faculty member at Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos.

He received the junior college honor, based upon written application and screening by the TIPA Scholarship Committee. The senior college award went to Patricia Hammond, a junior at SWTSU.

In live competition on the University of Texas at El Paso campus, Debra Littlepage, associate editor of The Western Texan, won second place in editorial writing. Other WTC print contest representatives were Darlene Neatherlin, news writing; Sheila Sanbothe, feature writing, and Alexander, headline writing.

Radio-television live contestants were Veronica Melgar and Louise Johnson. Melgar won second place in TV announcing and vied in radio announcing and radio news writing. Johnson competed in commercial copy writing.

Melgar also won WTC's only first place in best radio news story up to two minutes, a canned competition category.

In live photography competition, Cody Bell won third place in feature picture and also was in the picture story contest. Joe Boldon was entered in both photo categories.

Two more students received recognition in print areas, Soyla Santos with second place in newspaper sports series and Troy Lilly with third place in literary magazine essay.

Sandbothe served as acting parliamentarian during the official TIPA business meeting April 14.

Dr. Mike McBride, publications adviser and associate professor of journalism, was elected president of the Texas Intercollegiate Press Advisers Assn. for 1979-81. He has served two years as vice-president of TIPAA.

As president, he will be in charge of the annual fall TIPAA meeting tentatively to be held in Snyder for the first time. He will preside at next spring's convention in Beaumont.

CUTE — Laura Wheatly and Verna Trimble, alias the salt and pepper team, pose with their friend, Clem.

Student Profile

'Salt and Pepper' Team Unique

by Sheila Sandbothe
Verna Trimble and Laura Wheatly — they call themselves the salt and pepper team. Why? They're literally the only Black and White roommates at WTC. They not only like being roommates, they requested to be. Last year, Laura and Verna both had different 'roomies' but decided to stay together this year.

Both are P.E. majors and both have plans to attend Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos this fall.

Verna claims, "We get along when it's necessary."

However, Laura feels differently. She admits, "We don't get along when it's necessary — we get along all the time!"

They have experienced several strange incidents, such as the first time that Laura took Verna to her hometown, Hedley (in the Panhandle).

Laura says she was scared that someone would say something to embarrass her or Verna, for Hedley has no Black people. However, everything went OK.

Verna is a sophomore from Coleman. She likes to read and spend time outdoors. In high school, she ran track and went to regionals three years. In fact, she played basketball all four years and was All-District her senior year.

She played the clarinet and bass drum in the band and was president of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes her junior and senior years.

Laura enjoys sitting and listening to music. She has taken piano and voice lessons and likes to sew. Her hobbies also include all sports — she was a manager for the Dusters this year.

Maybe they are in an ideal situation. When Verna gets mad, Laura just sits there and listens — she never says anything back. Then Verna claims to get even madder!

Weight Program 'Huge' Success

by Darlene Neatherlin

Stop! Take a look at yourself! Are you getting a few extra pounds on your body or losing a few that you really don't need to lose?

Let the community weight program help you eat and enjoy it without gaining those extra calories.

There really is no exercising to the program, just plain good eating habits. That is, eating the right foods at the right time — with no cheating.

It really works, too. One lady in the class weighed 240 pounds before she started the program. Today? She only weighs 140 — man, what a change!

The program sticks to the basics, helping members eat what they need and whatever suits them best.

The group meets every Monday at 6 p.m. in the history wing — but starting April 30, they will also have an afternoon program.

It started meeting four years ago, and is sponsored as a community offering. They now have about 40 members who come to the lectures, not including individualized members.

Would you like to join? Food makes a difference in the upcoming summer months. You can start off right by getting into the food program offered to you.

Cost of the program is $7 for lifetime membership, and $2 each time you visit, plus only $1 for students and senior citizens. You go for eight weeks to short lectures and the specialized diet. Then you only have to go once a month after that.

Go ahead! Sign up today by calling Pat Dennis at 573-9888 or Sandy Miller at 573-2384.

What have you got to lose? Alot!

Athletes Recognized at Banquet

by Darlene Neatherlin

Several awards and letter certificates were presented during the annual WTC athletic banquet April 24 in the Student Center.

All the women basketball players received letter jackets and certificates. Nodia Vaughn was recognized as most valuable player and was also recognized for being named MVP in the Region V All-Star basketball game held in Waco last weekend. Liz Hooper was named the player who took charge with responsibility and Katie Fisher was given the most improved player award. Coach Joe Cushing was the presenter.

In judo, Dr. Shelby Hillis presented Danny Ramoz, David Peralez, Mark Thomas, Kathleen Utsman, Joe Dunn and Soyla Santos with special letters.

Van Rigby recognized all the rodeo team members.

The golf team was recognized by Coach Bob O'Day, who will present awards after the regional tournament.

Westerners were recognized by Texas Junior College Coach of the Year, Nolan Richardson. He awarded medals to Paul Pressey for making first team All-Regional, and Dwight Williams for making third team All-Regional. Greg Stewart and Pressey received second team All-Conference, while David Brown, Melvin Patridge, Bill Patterson and Joe Mendoza received third team All-Conference. He also recognized Williams as the most valuable player and Mendoza for taking charge.

Virginia Whitson received the "most contributive fan" award for her support of the Westerners.

WTC's cheerleaders also were recognized and given letter jackets by sponsor Mickey Baird.

PTK Sponsors Toga Party

Phi Theta Kappa sponsored a Toga Party in the Student Center cafeteria April 18, but one guest attended without paying.

Sheila Sandbothe and David Galvan won an album for "Best All-Around Togas." The "Sexy" ribbons were presented to Teresa Sterling and J.D. Sheffield. Ginger Peden received a ribbon for being "Colorful", Chris Sautell got the "Funky" ribbon, Ronnie Werner grabbed the "Far Out" ribbon and Kathleen Utsman was awarded the "Cool" ribbon.

After the dance, the head night custodian, Dub Shafer, went to the closet to turn on the lights. But what did he find? A three-foot grass snake hiding under the dust mop.

The snake was immediately executed for not wearing a toga!

Linksters Drop Own Tourney; Finish Fourth in Conference

Midland College broke the WTC golf team's three-year winning streak here Saturday in the Western Junior College Conference race by winning the tournament and the championship.

WTC was part of a three-way tie for second in the tourney, with Odessa College and New Mexico Junior College, but wound up in fourth place for the conference.

Final loop standings are as follows: Midland College, first; Odessa and NMJC tied for second; WTC, fourth; New Mexico Military Institute, fifth, and Frank Phillips, sixth.

Going into Saturday's tournament, WTC and Midland trailed Odessa and NMJC by one point. It was thought that the Westerners would pull ahead when they played on their own course, but Coach Bob O'Day said the Westerners played poorly on the front side.

"We were 15 over par on the front and only two over on the back. I guess our players were trying too hard the first few holes and had too many penalty strokes. We lost the conference championship by four shots and second by one stroke."

Top individual WTC scores in the tourney were as follows: Billy Sitton, 73; Mike Waller, 74; Greg Reynolds, 75, and Britt Lindsey, 75.

Tim O'Conner of Midland took tournament medalist honors with a 70.7 average. Lindsey placed third with 72.7. Also, Sitton was fifth with 73 and Waller stood at ninth with 75.

The Westerners will have a chance for a comeback at the Region V Tournament in Waco April 30 and May 1.

Today Through Saturday

WTC to Host NIRA Rodeo

Terry Walls of Stephenville, one of the best amateur rodeo producers in the state, will bring livestock for WTC's NIRA rodeo in Snyder tonight through April 28.

The rodeo will be held in the arena on West 30th Street with performances beginning at 7:30 nightly. Admission will be $2 for adults and $1 for students, with pre-schoolers admitted free of charge.

A special event has been added to the rodeo program. A calf scramble open to boys and girls 12 and under will be held each evening, with cash prizes for the winners.

Contestants from colleges throughout the Southwest Region of the NIRA will be competing in the other events, including bull riding, bareback bronc riding, saddlebronc riding, team roping, calf roping and steer wrestling. Women's events include barrel racing, breakaway roping and goat tying.

Twelve buckles will be awarded to the winners in each event and to the All-Around Cowboy and Cowgirl. They are on display at Bar-H-Bar Western Wear in the College Heights Shopping Center.

Bob Cathey and Bob Doty of Big Spring will be judges for the college rodeo. Rick Chatman will be the rodeo clown, and Jerry Baird will be the announcer.

A concession stand will be in operation, and a dance will be held in the pavilion on the grounds starting at 9 o'clock nightly.

WTC's Lane Foltyn finished second in All-Around Cowboy honors with 125 points at the Howard College rodeo in Big Spring April 5-7.

Winner of All-Around honors was Buddy Reynolds, former member of the WTC rodeo team who is now at Texas Tech University. He led the field with 205 points.

The host college and Tech tied for first place with 210 points each, while WTC finished third with 185.

The WTC's women's team finished in fifth place. Tammie Matthews won second in the long go barrel racing with a time of 16.7 seconds. She was third in the short go with 16.5 and second in the average.

Foltyn won the long go in steer wrestling with 4.5 seconds. In the long go he split fourth and fifth with 60 points. He took first in the short go with a mark of 73 and was best in the average.

He now stands first in the Southwest Region of the NIRA in bull riding with 290 points, more than 100 points ahead of the second place contestant, and is second in the All-Around standing.

Other winners from WTC in men's events were Jess Evans and Ronny Werner.

Evans won third in the short go, the long go and the average in bull riding. He marked 61 on his first bull and 63 on the second.

Werner split fourth and fifth in bareback riding with 56 points.

Kathleen Utsman

'I'm Just in it for Fun'

by Rudy England

Is there any pressure on Kathleen Utsman to go to Texas A & M just because her father went there? "Tradition sounds better!" she exclaimed.

In high school at Colorado City, Utsman was among the ten most contributing seniors, received the principal's trophy, and was football sweetheart her senior year. She was also a member of Who's Who her last two years in high school.

"The signs around campus" last year got her interested in judo. "I decided I might as well try it," she said, quickly reminding that "I got into it for self-defense, too. You never know!"

Last year, as second vice-president of the Judo Club, she won first in her weight division at the state AAU meet and at the state collegiate meet. She duplicated those honors this year, and attended the nationals both years, placing fifth in 1978. Also during her freshman year, Utsman was homecoming queen and campus favorite.

The sophomore is president pro-tem of the senate, a nominee for Miss WTC, golf sweetheart, and is first vice-president of the Judo Club. When she heads off for College Station, she'll be hoping to put her talent to work for the Aggie judo team.

A resident of the dorm and chemistry lab worker, Utsman likes WTC and Snyder, claiming that both Snyder and Colorado City "feel like home. It's hard to compare the two!"

Although she's undecided about her major, she's pretty sure she won't be teaching judo. "I'm just in it for fun!"
