

Facility commits $500,000 for workforce classes

One year ago, WTC embarked on what was called a new direction for the college, one described as creating a liaison between the institution and the area business community to include a key partnership role for industrial recruitment.

Twelve months later, the results to date include the go-ahead for a $520,000 facility on campus and the awarding of some $700,000 in state grants to fund the first round of workforce training instruction here.

WTC's new Workforce Training Center will be a 15,000 sq. ft. facility converted from existing classroom and office space which includes the former automotive/diesel area.

Its projected completion date is the first of the year and instruction is expected to begin at the facility as soon as it is completed.

Targeted for this workforce education are two existing industries, the employees of Amoco and Pennzoil, as well as Scurry County's newest, Lorber Industries of Texas, a cotton spinning and weaving plant to be built in the Snyder Industrial Park.

"The curriculum design for the Lorber training is already being written," noted John Gibson, director for the WTC Workforce Education Division.

That outline of material to be taught is being prepared by Michael Godfrey, plant manager with Lorber.

"These courses are so new they don't even have equivalents in the (state's) Common Course Manual," Gibson said. The manual outlines standardized courses—both academic and vocational—which the state recognizes for funding.

Once the curriculum design is complete, Gibson said his office will seek special approval from the state for the classes.

This will add a new vocational program for the college and will provide state contact hour funding in addition to the monies received for tuition and fees.

The initial training for Lorber will basically focus on the spinning operations. This will be followed by weaving training.

Classes for Amoco and Pennzoil employees will follow instruction currently provided by the college at off campus sites.

This will include skills instruction in such areas as automation technology, fluid and gas flow technology and pump and electrical troubleshooting.

Other areas covered include technical writing, time management, computer training and oc-but college officials are now exploring other ways to finance this. Gibson said, "We are pursuing other grants to fund the equipment this fall."

The facility would open the door for both vocational and academic distance learning classes, he said. WTC is taking an initial were announced.

The college received $402,500 as part of the Texas Department of Commerce's "Smart Jobs" program and $293,523 from the Texas Workforce Commission's Skills Development Fund.

The grant monies are to fund training expenses such as tu-

In early June, cost estimates for the project were pegged at $520,000, more than twice an initial cost estimate of some $250,000.

College board members expressed support to continue with the project and in mid-July agreed to issue general fee revenue bonds totaling $500,000 to finance it. Excess costs will be taken from college reserve funds.

The bonds are to be paid back over a 15-year period through an increase in the campus building use fee, which will increase from $1 to $2 per semester hour. Other income will be generated by a special facility use fee for the training center itself.

The facility will accommodate all workforce education as well as campus correctional officer training. It will include two classrooms, a computer lab, a large textile lab area measuring some 6,400 sq. ft. and a conference room which is expected to ultimately accommodate video conferencing. Space is provided also for the addition of the distance learning lab. All offices for the college's Continuing Education Division, now located in the Learning Resource Center, will be housed in the facility also.

The final portion of the state grant money will fund workforce classes through the spring of 1999. Following that, Gibson said the college is looking toward a long relationship with the three industries now affected.

The next goal, he said, is to locate other industries requiring training and to "customize" campus teaching curriculums to fulfill these needs.

The other targeted goal is to work in tandem with the Development Corporation of Snyder and the Board of County Development as they contact new industrial prospects.

"The fact that we can show new industry that we can train their people is seen as a terrific recruitment tool," Gibson said.

Three top posts realigned

The administrative staff for the college has been realigned over summer to include the naming of a new college vice president, dean of instruction and one division chair position.

Bettie McQueen, former dean of instruction, has been named vice president following the resignation of Gay Hickman, former VP for Business. Hickman has accepted a similar position at Midland College.

Dr. Jim Palmer, who assumed responsibility for distance learning here last year, has been promoted to dean of instruction. He will retain his distance learning responsibilities also.

Joe Carter is the newly named division chairman for the WTC Science Division which includes computer science, mathematics, political science and psychology.

Workforce grants announced

The end of the spring semester brought good news to the WTC campus as state officials revealed approximately $700,000 in workforce education grants awarded to the college. A new $500,000 facility is now under construction on campus to accommodate these classes, seen as a new direction for the institution as well as an industrial partnership with the community. Bruce Schneider, district coordinator for Sen. Tom Haywood, is shown making the grant announcement. In the audience is Dr. Harry Krenek at the May 8 ceremony. (WTC Photo)

Gibson said construction of the facility will benefit traditional college classes here also in the form of a planned distance learning lab.

Equipment for the lab area was cut from the original grant, step into distance learning this fall using a facility provided by the Stamford school district (see related story page one).

Plans for the new Workforce Training Center were unveiled on campus May 8 as the two grants totaling some $700,000 it, books and fees, training equipment, to include 20 computers, furniture for the Workforce Center, instructor's salaries and expenses related to curriculum development.

The facility itself is being built with college funds.

Academic faculty adds three new instructors

Three new academic instructors join the WTC faculty this fall: Stephanie Ducheneaux, math; Shelly Lewis-Buuck, math; and Helen Noey Cogan, drama.

Stephanie Ducheneaux comes to WTC from Hereford where she was a math instructor at Hereford High School. She previously taught in public schools at Canyon and Lubbock.

She is a high school graduate of Slaton and earned her BS degree in education from Southwestern University in Georgetown in 1989 and a masters degree from West Texas A&M University in Canyon in 1996.

Shelly Lewis-Buuck was a part-time instructor last school year at Tyler Junior College and previously was an eighth grade math teacher in Longview with the Pine Tree ISD.

She earned a BS degree in math from Sam Houston State University in Huntsville in 1992; her secondary mathematics teacher certification from the University of Texas at Tyler in 1994 and her master of science degree from UT-Tyler in 1997.

Helen Noey Cogan has been named WTC's new drama/speech instructor, assuming responsibility for the Drama Department.

She comes to Snyder from Lubbock, where she has earned her master of fine arts degree from Texas Tech University. She is working toward her doctorate through Tech and currently lacks only her dissertation.

She has taught for four years at Tech, three as a teaching assistant and the last year as an instructor. Also, she has worked as a contract instructor for South Plains College.

Her undergraduate degree is in the visual arts and her masters degree is in architecture.

Campus facilities receive major facelifts

Campus improvements have been underway this summer to include the library, campus housing and the Student Center.

More than $100,000 has been spent to renovate the WTC dormitory, campus apartments and Student Center.

Returning dormitory students will note new blue and green carpeting and tile as well as fresh coats of paint on all floors and new dormitory furniture.

The apartments have received a similar facelift to include paint, carpet and furniture.

A major renovation has occurred in the Student Center as offices for the Dean of Students have been built in the northern wing. The offices are located adjacent to counseling and take up the area formerly used for television viewing, which has been moved upstairs.

The center has received a fresh coat of paint as well as new carpeting and furniture.

In the library, the "fountain" area has been eliminated and the checkout desks moved into this space.

This will allow for the addition of more student-accessible computers.

In addition, the library card catalog is completely transferred to computer and students will now look up resource material electronically.

Distance learning experiment seen as future direction

This fall, Western Texas College is taking an initial step toward a new learning technology, a classroom situation incorporating devices both familiar—video cameras and microphones—and unfamiliar, such as touch control boards and codec compression equipment.

The classes are commonly referred to as distance learning, although the technology is known by other names such as instructional telecommunications and interactive video.

In brief, the college instructor is in a classroom most likely a far distance from the majority of his or her students. These "distant" students see the teaching and the teacher via a 37-inch television monitor.

The instructor is not on tape, however. The instruction is live or, as they say in distance learning, "real time." And, like a real classroom, the technology allows the students to directly address their instructor instantly—to interact.

To have true interactive distance learning, you must first have a properly equipped classroom. This fall, WTC will be using facilities recently installed by the Stamford school system.

At the Stamford location, two classes will be offered: English 1301 (beginning composition) and Math 1314 (college algebra).

The English class will be taught by WTC employing a part-time instructor and will be simultaneously taught in Stamford and broadcast "out" to those enrolling area-wide over the SCATE network of distance learning classes.

Regarding the math class, it will originate from Amarillo College and students in the Stamford area will have the opportunity to learn college algebra in their own home classroom.

A distance learning classroom on the campus of WTC is now in the planning phases and college officials hope to broadcast classes both "in" and "out" locally by the end of this school year.

Members of the Scurry County Board of Development were recently updated regarding these plans, which are included as part of the workforce training facility now primarily aimed at industrial instruction for the Lorber spinning mill plant as well as local oil companies Amoco and Pennzoil.

For traditional college students, the application could be both junior college classes originating at WTC and beamed to area high schools as well as junior-senior level classes transmitted from participating universities directly to Snyder.

As part of the fall plans, WTC has received experimental authority for up to nine distance learning classes. Other classes which can be taught are the second section of English composition (ENGL 1302), both History 1301 and 1302; Government 2305 and 2306; Psychology 2301; and Sociology 1301.

Efforts are underway also to secure grant monies to help fund the distance learning classroom on campus. Dr. Jim Palmer, recently named Dean of Instruction for the campus, currently doubles as the head of distance learning here.

New basketball coach is former WTC player

The new Lady Westerner basketball coach is a former WTC player herself, a member of the 1989 team which finished sixth in the nation.

Valery Jackson returns to the campus after coaching the past three years at Wilmer-Hutchins High School in Dallas, a 4-A school.

She has college coaching experience as well, serving from 1992-95 at Abilene Christian University, moving from the women's graduate assistant coach to junior varsity coach and assistant varsity coach before leaving to accept the Wilmer-Hutchins post.

Her degree is from ACU, earning a BBS in health education and physical education. She began her masters work there also in mid-management. She also taught both health education and physical education at ACU and at Wilmer-Hutchins.

She was an All-State basketball player both in 1987 and 1988 while in high school at Morton. Those same years, she was chosen to the USA Today All-American team. Morton High won the 2-A state championship in 1987.

She was a player at ACU after leaving WTC and teams there won the Lone Star Conference in 1991 and 1992.

Greg Rhodes is new rodeo coach

WTC's new rodeo coach is Greg Rhodes, who was a member of the WTC Men's Team before earning his associates degree in business management from WTC in 1985.

He later earned his BS degree in agriculture in 1993 from New Mexico State University in Las Cruces, N.M.

He was a member of the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association from 1984-90 and has maintained an interest in rodeo activities to the present time.

These activities include attendance at the PRCA Wrangler Judging School in 1988 and 1989 and service on various committees to include the NFR Stock Committee Selection of National Finals Rodeo Bulls, the El Paso Junior Rodeo Board and the executive board for the El Paso International Livestock Show and Rodeo.

From 1991 until the present, he was employed by Cee Sales Inc. as an animal health care supplier.

Rodeo team repeats at nationals

The WTC Men's Rodeo team was fourth overall in the nation this past summer following the annual College National Finals Rodeo held in Rapid City, S.D.

The team was honored also as the Rawhide Team of the Year and Coach Todd Danley was named rodeo coach of the year. Danley, who was in his third year at the college, announced in late June his intent to leave the rodeo coaching profession for a return to private business.

His team dominated the saddle bronc riding at the national competition as rodeo team members Jeff Decker of Perryton and Pete Ellis of Fort Worth finished first and second respectively.

In team roping, Rusty Henard of Tatum, N.M., a WTC competitor, paired with a Texas Tech cowboy to finish 7th in the overall competition.

In addition, Tanner Boyd of Merkel was 15th in team roping; Lance Gaillard of Texhoma, Okla. was 17th in saddle bronc riding; and Chad Maynard of Eastland finished 18th in bareback riding.

WTC rodeo team members also returned with $9,200 in rodeo scholarships.

Panhandle State University won the men's team championship at Rapid City.

Golf season marred with NJCAA suspension

The Western Texas College golf team had its season cut short last spring after the team was sanctioned by the National Junior College Athletic Association.

On April 16, WTC was informed its men's golf team was eliminated from post-season competition and put on one-year probation for having too many foreign golfers on athletic scholarship.

As part of these sanctions, the NJCAA ruled the WTC team could not participate at the regional tournament in Waco April 18-19.

In addition, the one-year probation limits the WTC team to only one foreign golf athletic scholarship this coming season. The team may otherwise compete as usual.

College officials earlier announced plans to honor a two-year scholarship offer made to four of the foreign golfers here last year.

These scholarships will be awarded through the student services fee fund. As such, these scholarships will not be officially classified as "athletic" scholarships.

NJCAA rules stipulate that an institution may not award more than two athletic scholarships to foreign golfers.

The WTC golf team had five international students on athletic scholarship, although college officials maintain they felt the college was in compliance because of the way the scholarships were awarded.

Specifically, four of the students split the benefits of two athletic scholarships and a fifth golfer received a donated award, the Gary Schoen Memorial Scholarship.

College secretarial staffers relocate, new personnel added recently

The WTC secretarial staff has several new faces including the administrative assistant to the president and administrative secretary to the vice president.

Sara Fritz, who first joined the WTC staff in 1993, is the new administrative assistant and the new administrative secretary is Debra Duddleston, who moved to Snyder in 1995.

Mrs. Fritz, a graduate of Andrews High, has earned college credit at several colleges including Texas Tech University.

Mrs. Duddleston is a graduate of Borden County High School and Texas Tech University.

Three other secretarial staffers are new this fall.

Sharon Gill, a native of Snyder, is a new faculty secretary. She earned both her associate degree in applied science computerized business technology and her accounting technician certificate from WTC.

In addition, Teresa Kay French is a new business office accounting clerk. She is a Levelland High graduate and has attended South Plains College.

Also, Teresa Pinkerton is a new cashier in the business office. She also earned her associate of arts degree from WTC.

Lady BB players 4-26 for year

The Region V basketball tournament held in Cisco last March was won by the Lady Hawks from Howard College in Big Spring.

The WTC Lady Westerners ended the season with four wins and 26 losses including a 2-15 conference record under first-year coach Anthony Portley.

The Westerners also failed to place any players on either the honorable mention or first team All Conference squads last year.

College has open admission policy

All high school graduates may be admitted to Western Texas College, but college officials remind that certain requirements must be met before students may register for classes.

Students must provide an official transcript or GED to WTC; submit their scores from the ACT or SAT admission exam or take the college's placement test; and complete the application for admission.

WTC offers also an early admission program for high school seniors. Those who have completed their junior year may enroll in classes to earn college credit.

Application forms for both regular and early admission are available in the Student Services office located in the front of the Learning Resource Center. Transfer students from another college must make application and present a transcript of their entire college record before they may register.

Financial aid moves to Student Center

A wide variety of financial aid is available to WTC students including scholarships, Pell, TPEG and Workstudy. Those interested are urged to contact personnel with the financial aid office, newly located in the Student Center.

Kathy Hall, financial aide officer, stresses that early application is the most important aspect of receiving aid.

Financial aid funds will be disbursed to students in two forms: by credit and by check. Students awarded grants and scholarships will have the amount of these awards credited to tuition, fees, books, and/or room and board (if in college housing) during the registration periods of each semester.

Any refunds due a student, after crediting accounts, will be issued after the 12th class day in the form of a check made payable to the student.

According to Mrs. Hall, students needing help in paying for the cost of an education should begin by picking up a Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) Pack from the financial aid office.

The form enables the student to apply for money from the federal government, state agencies, colleges and other programs. The complete FAFSA may be mailed or sent electronically through the financial aid office. The student should contact the financial aid office if they wish to send their FAFSA electronically. Questions should be addressed to the financial aid office.

Western Texas College scholarships are awarded in most departments on campus. The FAFSA and a brochure listing the various grants and scholarships available at WTC are available.

Four wing dorm houses 192 students

The WTC dormitory is comprised of four wings—two to house men students and two to house women—and has a total capacity for 192 residents.

Each floor accommodates 16 students and there is a large common area between the four wings to serve as a meeting place for occupants and their guests. These furnished living areas include a color television and a telephone for local calls.

Each dorm room is wired for telephones, although students must bring their own phone equipment. Laundry facilities are offered plus vending machines and pay telephones also.

Residents are required to purchase meal tickets which entitle them to eat the 15 meals prepared each week in the college cafeteria located in the Student Activities Building.

The cost for room and board is $1,025 if it is paid at the start of each semester. A pay-out plan is available also. These plans consist of an initial payment of $575 at registration and two installment payments of $235 due Oct. 1 and Nov. 1. A $50 deposit must be sent to the WTC Housing Department before a student can be considered for dorm residency.

Televisions, stereos and small refrigerators are allowed in the resident's rooms. There is a $25 charge for cable per semester for a television and a $25 charge per semester for electricity if small refrigerators are used.

A completed housing file is required before a student can move in. These forms consist of the $50 dorm deposit plus completion of a dorm contract, medical form, proof of insurance coverage and immunization records.

Campus apartments are available also

For students who meet specific criteria, WTC offers on-campus apartments rather than the traditional dormitory housing.

The apartments are available to all students, but preference is given to those enrolled in quarterly rather than per-semester programs; to foreign students; and to students living out-of-state or in-state students living a far distance from home.

Meal tickets are available but not required for apartment residents. Each apartment is fully furnished and including telephone jacks. Televisions are not provided, and students provide linens and other personal items.

To rent an apartment, a deposit of $110 is required. The cost of the apartments is $725 per semester, which includes five meals per week through the WTC cafeteria.

An apartment file must be completed before the student may move in. This includes the deposit amount and filling out an apartment contract, medical form, proof of insurance coverage and immunization records.

LRC offers varied facilities, Internet

WTC's Learning Resource Center houses thousands of books now served by an electronic card catalog, a computer lab with Internet capabilities and a reading center which is used for developmental reading students.

Also, the LRC houses a reference room complete with encyclopedias, research material, daily and weekly newspapers and periodicals.

The LRC contains also a microfilm area with magazine articles from past years stored and available. A copy machine is available to students and the library staff will make copies using the facility's microfilm copier. For both, the charge is 10 cents a copy.

The LRC also features an audio-visual department which will make copies of non-copyrighted cassette tapes for students at no cost. The students must provide a blank tape.

Cassette tapes and some movie videotapes are available. Cassette tape recorders are available from the circulation desk also with a three-day limit for use.

The LRC's operational schedule is: Monday-Thursday, 8 a.m. until 9 p.m.; Friday, 8 a.m. until 4 p.m.; and Sunday, 2 until 5 p.m.

College has four on roster

Four sophomore WTC students were named to the 1997 Talent Roster of Outstanding Minority Students during the spring term.

Joe Cardoso from Paducah is an agriculture major; Marco Mendoza is from Colorado City and is a business administration major; LaVeeda Newsome is a psychology major from Snyder; and Amanda Torres is from Sweetwater and is an elementary education major.

In order to be nominated for the honor, students must show strong academic achievement and the desire to pursue baccalaureate degrees.

The Talent Roster contains 5,580 students from 37 states and Puerto Rico. It does not provide scholarships but assists minorities in gaining admission to higher institutions.

The roster helps ethnic groups such as African Americans, Hispanic Americans, American Indians, Asian Americans and Pacific Islanders.

PTK honors WTC staffer

Counseling secretary Deborah Baremore was named recipient of the 1996 Founder's Day award here Nov. 19, presented by the Psi Zeta membership of Phi Theta Kappa.

Service to WTC students is the criteria for being chosen, specifically in one or more of the Phi Theta Kappa ideals of Scholarship, Leadership, Service and Fellowship.

GLT forms new group

The Golf and Landscape Technology department formed a new local chapter of the Golf Course Superintendents Association of America (GCSAA) last school year. GCSAS is a worldwide organization that represents individuals involved in every aspect of the golf course management industry.

Officers named were Craig Kight of Cape Girardeau, Mo., president; Tyson King of Cape Girardeau, Mo., vice president; J.B. Barret of Snyder, librarian; Pat O'Neal of Uvalde, secretary; and Ed Russell of Mineral Wells, treasurer.

The GCSAA was chartered in 1926 and now includes more than 16,500 members in some 60 countries. It is designed to provide students with educational and publication programs that enable them to reach their full potential in golf management.

Campus favorites

Carrion, Zarate chosen Mr-Miss WTC for 1997

Sophomores Michael Carrion and Carmen Zarate were named Mr. and Miss WTC at the annual spring formal here March 25.

They were chosen from a slate of eight students nominated as campus favorites in a campus-wide vote. The two receiving the most votes were then selected as Mr. and Miss WTC.

Others nominated for Mr. WTC were Steven Deitz, William Duarte and Paul Rucker. For Miss WTC, other nominees were Cindi Burrow, Jessica Jeffrey and Jana McCloy.

Michael Carrion is an electrical engineering major from Roby. He is the son of Catarina Moreno. Carmen Zarate is a pre-med major from Sweetwater. She was a WTC cheerleader and a member of the Student Senate. Her parent is Maria Zarate.

Regarding the other nominees for Mr. WTC, Steve (Puck) Dietz was a sophomore art major from Merkel. He is the son of Lavonne and Kay Dietz. His activities include membership in the Student Senate and volleyball. He was named Mr. Trailhand earlier this spring.

Will Duarte is an art major from Roaring Springs. He is the son of Rose and Stanley Hogland.

Paul Rucker is an elementary education major. His parents are Sonny and Mary Rucker from Lubbock. He was a Texan Staffer, a WTC cheerleader and a Phi Theta Kappa executive board member. He was a recipient of a Cunningham Scholarship here. Earlier this spring, he was a nominee for the Mr. Trailhand award.

Among the other Miss WTC nominees was Cindi Lou Burrow, an accounting and information systems major. She is the daughter of Sidney and Gloenna Burrow, formerly of Snyder. She was named an Outstanding Freshman English Student last spring and was a member of the Phi Theta Kappa executive board.

Jessica Jeffrey is from Hamlin and is a sophomore business major. Her parents are Ronnie and Jean Jeffrey. Jessica's activities at WTC included playing for two years on the basketball team, serving as Student Senate vice president and on its Recreations Committee and Traffic Appeals Committee. She was named Miss Trailhand earlier this spring.

Jana Marie McCloy is a physical therapy major, the daughter of Mark and Annette McCloy of Morse. She served as president of the WTC Student Senate. She was a member of Phi Theta Kappa and the Rodeo Team. Last spring, she received the Rodeo Team academic award. Recently, she was named one of two nominees for the All USA Community and Junior College Academic Team.

Two nominated for All-Academic Team

In a campus-wide selection process, two WTC sophomores were chosen as the college's nominees for the All USA Community and Junior College Academic Team sponsored by USA TODAY and Phi Theta Kappa.

Jonathan Carroll of Hawley and Jana McCloy of Morse were the winners.

They were chosen from a slate of five students who were themselves winnowed down from the list of 20 WTC students qualifying for inclusion in this year's Who's Who in American Junior Colleges publication (see related story).

WTC faculty members initially nominated students for the Who's Who honor. Based upon a criteria of highest grade point average and involvement in campus activities, the top five students from this list were then considered for the academic team honors.

In addition to Jonathan and Jana, other Top Five nominees were Coty Brasuell from Sweetwater, Cindi Burrow from Snyder and Pam Foster from Snyder.

Each of the five prepared an essay of 500 words or less detailing their most outstanding experience while attending WTC.

These essays were then ranked by five English teachers and, based on a point rating system, the top two were chosen.

Jonathan and Jana traveled to Austin Feb. 20 for the state-level of competition. Both placed on the second All-American team there.

GLT students compete at ALCA Career Days

WTC placed 16th overall out of 39 colleges an ALCA Career Days competition in the spring. The event is sponsored by the Associated Landscape Contractors of America (ALCA).

A group of 12 GLT students from here competed March 21-23 at Richland College in Dallas.

The group competed in 20 events related to irrigation, horticulture and landscaping. The categories were Interior Landscape Design, Interior Plant ID, Irrigation Design, Personal Management, and Sales Presentations. There were 481 students competing from the 39 colleges and universities.

For WTC, Coty Brasuell of Sweetwater finished 4th in his individual category, Irrigation Trouble Shooting. For the overall contest, he placed 122nd.

The top individual overall for WTC was Ed Russell of Mineral Wells, who placed 15th out of the 481 students.

In other individual competition, Marshall Carpenter of Buffalo Gap, 65th place; J.B. Barrett of Snyder, 76th place; Brian Hill of Des Moines, N.M., 98th place; Craig Kight of Cape Girardeau, Mo., 169th place.

Also, Luke Fletcher of Denver City, 177th place; Dale Daniels of Panhandle, 230th place; Patrick O'Neal of San Antonio, 233rd place; Tyson King of Cape Girardeau, Mo., 262nd place; Cody Parrott of Coleman, 291st place; and Simon Saucedo of Snyder, 297th place.

Steve Tate, faculty advisor who accompanied the team, said, "Considering the competition there, I think we did very well."

Psi Zeta takes honors at regional PTK convention

Members of WTC's Psi Zeta Chapter won several honors in Houston March 22 at the annual Regional Convention of Phi Theta Kappa including the opportunity to once again represent District 1 on the Regional Executive Board.

The win marked the second year in a row for the chapter to receive the honor. This past year, Psi Zeta member Barbara Chapman served as the District 1 vice president.

In chapter voting in April,

Charlie Sweatt of Hermleigh was chosen to represent WTC's Psi Zeta Chapter as vice president for District 1 next school year (see related story).

At the regional convention, chapter members campaigned for the position. The campaign process included a skit performed on the opening night of the convention.

The chapter chose the theme "Psi Zeta Family" and patterned the skit after the theme song of the television program, the Addams Family.

Members dressed as the various members of the Addams Family and sang original lyrics.

The executive board will be comprised of four vice-presidents, each serving their respective district, and a board president. District 1 ranges from Amarillo to the north to El Paso to the west and includes such colleges as South Plains in Levelland, Midland College and Odessa College.

Other chapters winning regional offices were Phi Tau from Tarrant County JC Northeast, District 2; Lambda Theta from Temple College, District 3; Alpha Alpha Rho from North Harris College, Houston, District 4.

The president's position was won by the Alpha Lambda Xi Chapter at Kingwood College, Houston.

In other honors, Psi Zeta was once again named to Five-Star status. Out of some 70 active chapters in the Texas Region, only 39 earned Five-Star status. Psi Zeta has achieved Five-Star status every year since it was chartered in 1972.

According to Duane Hood, Texas Region Comptroller and former chapter sponsor, Psi Zeta is "one of the few schools nationwide to ever do this."

The ranking is based on activities conducted by the chapter during the year.

Two members of the chapter were singled out for induction into the Phi Theta Kappa Texas Hall of Honor. Barbara Chapman of Snyder and Jonathan Carroll of Hawley were both inducted for service during the past year. Only 16 students were named statewide.

Becky Sweet of Colorado City received an "award of excellence" in the Hallmark Awards essay contest for her essay on leadership. This indicated she was among the top six students in this essay category.

The member who will represent WTC's Psi Zeta Chapter as vice president for District 1 this coming school year was named April 10 by a chapter vote.

Charlie Sweatt of Hermleigh was chosen from a field of three candidates campaigning for the office. In addition, the chapter named its seven-member executive board the 10th.

Executive board members will be April Martin, Rotan; Lacey Parker, Snyder; Stacey Parker, Snyder; Patrick Hancock, Aspermont; Patty Galvan, Roscoe; Paul Rucker, Lubbock; and Vanessa Early, Snyder.

As District 1 VP, Sweatt will serve as one of four vice presidents assisting the regional president and overseeing activities of the Texas Region in 1997-98.

He is a 1995 graduate of Hermleigh High School where he was his class salutatorian. He enrolled in WTC's Licensed Vocational Nursing program and graduated in August of 1996. He then passed his state exam and is now employed as an LVN at Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

He plans to continue work toward an associates degree at WTC this fall and spring. He is the son of Vivian and James Rinehart of Hermleigh.

National event has Meats 3rd

The Western Texas Meats Judging Team finished the year at the National Contest in Houston March 1 with a 3rd place finish.

The group set a record for the most points ever scored by a WTC team in a national competition.

Another WTC first was Shane Kelly of Colorado City, who won 1st place in the overall contest.

Thirty teams from two-year and four-year schools competed at the Houston Livestock Show. The WTC team came in 1st in lamb judging, 2nd in pork judging, 3rd in questions, 4th in beef judging and 5th in grading.

Second place in the competition went to Tarelton State and first place was won by the College of the Sequoians from California.

In addition to his 1st in the overall competition, Kelly was 1st in lamb judging, 2nd in pork judging and placings, 3rd in questions and in the Top Ten in all the other categories.

Aquifer wins 3 at TIPA

WTC's Literary Magazine "Aquifer" was awarded three prizes by the Texas Intercollegiate Press Association (TIPA) at the organization's annual spring convention held April 3-5.

The publication won in two of the major categories for Division 2 comprised of two-year and four-year schools with enrollment up to 3,000.

In the Short Story division, Shae Gowin won 2nd for her story "Until We Meet Again," and in the Essay Division, Carrie Keith won 3rd for her entry "Encounter at the Co-op."

In a third division, Sandra Hall won a 2nd place award for Literary Magazine Story Package. This category judges both the written work and how it is displayed.

She won for the entry "The Calling," which was a tribute to former WTC instructor Franklin Pruitt.

Faculty editors for "Aquifer" are Bill McGlothing, Jana Wesson-Martin, Janet Halbert, Donny Brown and Ben Sum.

Texan news staffers net 5 writing awards at annual TIPA event

WTC students attending the Texas Intercollegiate Press Association (TIPA) convention last spring came back with five awards for stories written in the student newspaper Texan.

This is the second highest number of awards WTC has won at TIPA since 1989, noted advisor Donny Brown. That is the year he assumed responsibility of the Mass Communications Department here.

Brown and seven students were in Austin April 3-5 for the three day convention, held at the Omni Hotel South. The Texan entries competed in Division 3 comprised of two-year and four-year schools with enrollment up to 2,000.

The Texan and its staff have won 34 awards at TIPA since 1989.

Brown stated, "The two hardest individual areas of this competition to win are the Feature Story and the News Story because everybody has entries. I'm proud that we did well in both."

In the Feature Story competition, a 1st place award was won by staffer writer Jonathan Carroll with his story on Israeli student Sagit Shlezinger.

Entitled "From Israel Military to WTC Campus," it was published in the Nov. 18 issue of the Texan last fall.

In the News Story category, writer Joyce May won 3rd place for her story "WTC Animal Test Negative for Infection" in the Oct. 21 Texan.

This same story was entered in the Sports News competition and won a 2nd place award also.

The story explained a quarantine of rodeo team horses due to a suspected horse disease.

Aside from these three awards, both Jonathan Carroll and Cindy Goates received honorable mention certificates.

Carroll's story, "Paper Pellets Conserve Water, Prevent Crop Erosion" was published in the March 4, 1996 issue of the Western Texan. It received honorable mention in the Newspaper News Feature competition.

Goate's story, "WTC Drama Student Performs in 'Texas' Musical," received honorable mention in Newspaper Feature competition and was published in the October 21 issue. This story profiled Cody Cummings as a participant in the play "Texas" held in Canyon.

Jessica Jeffery and Steven Deitz
Mr.-Miss Trailhand

Mr-Miss Trailhand annual honor goes to Deitz, Jeffery

Mr. and Miss Trailhand were announced at WTC's last home game Feb. 24

The winners were Jessica Jeffery and Steve (Puck) Deitz.

Jessica Jeffery is from Hamlin and is a sophomore business major. Her parents are Ronnie and Jean Jeffery. Jessica's activities at WTC included playing for two years on the basketball team, serving as Student Senate vice president and on its Recreation Committee and Traffic Appeals Committee.

Steve (Puck) Deitz was a sophomore art major from Merkel. He is the son of Lavonne and Kay Deitz. His activities include membership in the Student Senate and volleyball.

Other Mr.-Miss Trailhand

nominees were Jeff Decker of Perryton, Paul Rucker of Lubbock, Craig Kight of Cape Girardeau, Mo. and Harry Hernandez of Venezuela.

Miss Trailhand nominees included two sisters, Sahala and Jana McCloy of Morse, Kelly Smith of Wimborne, Alberta, Canada, and Heather Pairis of Sweetwater.

The purpose of the competition is to honor two outgoing persons that represent WTC and to serve as a fund-raiser for Psi Zeta, the local Phi Theta Kappa chapter.

Candidates were selected by a campus-wide voting process. Winners were selected on a "penny a vote" basis.

New campus organization targets ex-military students

In an attempt to recruit recently discharged soldiers into WTC, as well as inform current students of the benefits of the military, a new group formed on campus last spring tentatively known as the Military Affairs Organization.

According to Student Services secretary and WTC student Gabby Scott, who is spearheading the group, one of the biggest goals of the organization is to bring students to WTC.

"We hope to use it first of all as an organization to recruit students. There are a lot of students who get out of the military and don't know which direction to go.

We hope to recruit them to the college," Scott said.

Another goal of the group, and perhaps what brought about its formation, according to Scott, was the apparent need to get more information out to students about the military.

"A lot of it was I had found some information I wasn't aware of and there wasn't anyone who could fill in the blanks, so myself, Mr. Jack Price, Mr. Cormack and Mark Miles decided to start the organization," she said.

The Hazlewood Act was just one of the benefits Scott was unaware of.

"The State of Texas has the Hazlewood Act which states if you are a Texas resident and enter the military in Texas, once you are discharged from the military and once the funds from your GI Bill have been depleted, the Hazlewood Act kicks in and all tuition fees are waived in any Texas State funded college," Scott explained.

Because of her time served, Scott said she is set for the rest of her education.

"My GI Bill pays up to almost $30,000. That will put me almost into my senior year. Then I can start using the Hazlewood Act and get my doctorate."

Some students, Scott said, have expressed an interest in the group.

"We have seen some interest from a few people, but we think the young students don't understand the military. They think its rough like in the movies. They don't see the advantages," she said. "They see what's portrayed on television. There are a lot of advantages education-wise."

During her six years in the military, Scott said she met a lot of young people who joined simply for the education benefits.

"It's definitely an option for some students who simply don't have the finances."

To clear up some of the stereotypes, Scott said the organization hopes to set up a military day "so students can see what the military does."

The group is an official WTC club and Scott said they plan to get involved in the community.

"We did receive $1200 from the college. We are considered an organization and those are the set funds," she said.

Scott said the organization is not just for people in the military.

"Anybody who is remotely interested don't let the word military scare you off. It's not what a lot of people think."

The WTC Drama Department staged Shakespeare twice in 1996-97 and mounted two other modern productions featuring such diverse characters as the Frankenstein monster and the dying actor known only as "Sir."

From Shakespeare, the department's choices were "Henry V" and "The Merchant of Venice," featured respectively as the last production for the fall and the spring terms.

The season opener was a continuation of Mary Shelly's novel "Frankenstein" entitled "Playing With Fire," and the opening production for spring was the student-directed "The Dresser."

The department's first production of the year was set at the North Pole, where Victor Frankenstein faces the creature he created and must explain the

Concurrent classes expand to six cities

College classes which simultaneously offer high school students the opportunity to earn both high school and college-level credit are offered by WTC this fall term at six area schools.

The classes are part of the concurrent enrollment program began here last year.

Under it, a high school student can simultaneously fulfill both high school credits toward graduation and up to six-hours of college credit per semester.

This fall, classes are being offered at Colorado City, Crosbyton, Hamlin, Haskell, Post and Stamford.

Snyder High School students have the opportunity also to enroll in an introductory sociology class available for college credit only offered through WTC and taught at the high school.

The concurrent enrollment classes at the five other schools include English Composition I and college algebra as well as introductory courses in Spanish, biology, chemistry, psychology, history and government.

In most cases, part-time instructors which live in the individual communities are being used.

Concurrent enrollment is available to high school students who have completed their sophomore year and passed the TAAS test.

Permission from the student's parents and high school principal is required to be admitted. Also, students cannot take more than six credit hours—two classes—per semester.
