Apartments may be on the rise again in Midland

Midland's apartment proliferation, spawned by the influx of workers needed for the petroleum-fed booming economy but dampened by the high cost of money, may be noticeably boosted if fax-exempt financing is sought by apartment developers.

The proposal, made to entice both developers and lenders with the taxfree 11½ percent bond financing, was run "up the flag pole" today by both the Midland and Midland County Housing Finance Corporations. Financing without tax-free benefits is several percentage points

"Our primary interest is to fulfill a (housing) need in Midland, Texas," said Harry Clark, president of the corporations.

Clark, a bank executive, noted that "current costs of funds have dampened apartment construction" in the Midland area and that the proposal represents a possible solution to the situation.'

We realize that existing apartment owners may not think this is a good idea," Clark said in making the announcement Friday in City

MORE APARTMENTS possibly would "effect a more competitive"

The plan is an auxiliary to the single-family housing finance programs promoted by the two corporations in 1979 and 1980

"The multi-family plan differs in that each apartment-type unit is constructed and operated by a developer and the salability of the securities to finance the project," said Clark. At present, Midland has 4,922 apartment units in 52 apartment complexes, which range from 16-unit apartments to those with 600 units. Occupancy is 98 percent. The total of households is about 26,600 in the city and 3,000 in rural Midland County.

The proposed program is merely to provide more dwelling places for Midland's denizens and "possibly to effect a more competitive" rent situation, Clark explained

The Midland Chamber of Commerce, which keeps attuned to Midland's industrial-business-residential growth, estimates the population growth at 6 percent, which is tantamount to 1,000 or more new residents

MIDLAND'S ESTIMATED population is 82,600. Some 7,400 live out-ide the city in suburbs, in isolated rural areas and in the Greenwood and

Clark said the proposal is being made mainly to help satisfy the demand for housing. Supply is lagging.

"We frankly want to get feedback from the public," governing bodies and possibly developers, said Clark.

The multi-family program differs from the single-family program in that the direct benefit of the tax-exempt fund financing is not passed along to the renter," he said.

The benefit to renters merely would be in the availability of housing and possibly in more competitively-priced living quarters. The renter would pay the going rate.

"These are not subsidized units," Clark said.

However, Clark did allow that the "law requires that 20 percent of the units must be occupied" by Midlanders whose household income is 80 percent of the median and "on the low side." That "low side" tops at about $17,000 income per household per year.

In Midland, the median income is $22,419, which ranks No. 1 in Texas

Stone a Texas link to Washington

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the las in a series of articles by Reporter-Tel egram political writer Lana Cun ningham on recent interviews in Washington.

By LANA CUNNINGHAM Political Writer

WASHINGTON - The traffic hurries by at 19th and K streets during the morning rush hour, sweeping aside anything caught in its path.

Buildings at this corner vary: A white fake marble edifice on one corner; highrise building with the inverted pyramid bottom on another; and a Radio Shack store on a third. It's in a dark building next to the Radio Shack where the Texans' office is located. Few

Lana Cunningham

Texans know about the office, labeled ambiguously as the Texas State-Federal Relations Office, nor can they find it without precise instructions.

There are no headings on the outside of the building to let Washingtonians know of its presence. Stepping off the elevator on the eighth floor into a dark short hallway, there is no indication that the State of Texas inhabits part of that building.

But turn to the right, go around the corner and glued to the door is the Texas State Seal.

Inside is Dary Stone, director of that office since his appointment in January by Gov. Bill Clements. While the title may not state the office's purpose, Stone does:

"To represent the State of Texas

THERE'S MORE TO IT than meets the eye, the blond-haired Stone assures. "The state government deals with the federal government so much that they need a liaison here. We feed minute by minute action on the budget up here down to the Legislature.

Some agencies get federal money and the Legislature, in making up its budget, needs to know if it will be cut."

Stone, who has worked with Clements since 1977 and recently as a member of the governor's legal counsel, was sent to Washington to beef up the much-neglected office.

The Baylor law school graduate explained the State-Federal Relations Office will become more active in the near future in dealing with top government officials. And when Stone says "top," he means just that.

Clements was Reagan's campaign chairman for Texas, Stone explained, and the governor worked just as hard to see Reagan elected as President as he did to get the governor's post.

But a primary reason for needing that Washington liaison office is the impact that Texans plan to make upon federal government

The governor is really important to the state because of his friendships here. He's close to Reagan. He was a former deputy secretary of defense, which means he was involved in the day-to-day operation of the department," Stone relates.

"EVERYONE IN TOWN remembers him, including Al Haig (secretary of state). He still knows the senators well and also members of the Armed Services Committee.'

Clements decided after the election it was time to "recharge" that office, Stone said. "We're restaffing it with people who look out for the concerns of Texas.

That does not mean the office competes with congressmen over who will do what for the constituents, he emphasized. Congressmen handle the local people; the Texas-Federal office the state officials.

However, the office assists congressmen when they need research information. "We get tons of data in here on how bills would impact Texas," said Stone.

And when a piece of federal legislation will have a particularly strong effect on the state, that office brings their best natives to Washington.

Reagan lifts grain embargo

Reagan overrode his secretary of state on Friday and lifted the 16month-old grain embargo against the Soviet Union. But the chief executive warned the Kremlin not to interpret the move as a sign of tolerance for Russia's "aggressive acts around the

His decision Friday was announced in a statement after the president embled his Cabinet and personally told them. News of his plans had leaked out earlier this week. By Friday evening, U.S. and Soviet officials already were talking about grain sales to Russia. Agriculture Secretary John Block told reporters that "They (Soviet officials) are in our building, right now. It's not special, don't make a big deal out of this ... We'll just have to see what develops.'

Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. had argued against lifting the embargo to the very end, according to a top aide who asked not to be identified. However, Haig told the American Society of Newspaper Editors within an hour of the announcement that he would support the decision, even as he chose the occasion to denounce the Soviet Union as the world's greatest threat to peace.

In Moscow, the Soviet news agency

Tass attributed the president's deci sion to the "serious economic loss" suffered by the United States, not Russia. The embargo "painfully hurt, above all, American farmers and presented the United States in an unfavorable light in front of the whole world as an unreliable trading partner," Tass said. Despite pressure from farm groups, Reagan kept the embargo in place after taking office because he was persuaded by Haig it would signal weakness to the Soviet Union.

In ending the embargo, Reagan said, "I have determined that our position now cannot be mistaken: The United States, along with the vast majority of nations has condemned and remains opposed to the Soviet occupation of Afghanistan and other aggressive acts around the world.

We will react strongly to acts of aggression wherever they take place," Reagan vowed. "There will never be a weakening of this re-

Administration officials said the dwindling prospects of a Soviet military move into of Poland played a part in Reagan's decision, but they acknowledged the United States had not extracted any promises from Moscow in return.

Asked if Reagan's action were a reward for Soviet good behavior, a high-ranking administration official said, "No, no it's not."

Asked if the decision sends any kind of message to Afghan rebels still fighting Soviet troops in their country, the official said, "I don't think it sends a message to the Afghan freedom fighters.'

The official, briefing reporters with the understanding that he would not be identified, refused to characterize the Soviets' reaction to the decision.

"We have no immediate expectation as to how the Soviets will receive this news," the official said. "We will watch very carefully and analyze very carefully their reaction both publicly and informally ... If they do consider a positive gesture that would also be of interest, I think."

ATLANTA (AP) - Police have located and interviewed the man linked by civil rights leader Roy Innis to Atlanta's slayings of young blacks, but he "is not considered a suspect at this time," Public Safety Commission-

Brown told a news conference that, "We do not question Mr. Innis' or his witness' sincerity, but as has been in the case in a number of instances, what was believed to be valid information did not turn out to be that way after investigation. But Innis, staff director of the Congress of Racial Equality, said at a news conference 21/2 hours later that his staff "has full confidence in our findings and investigation ... We will not back off one inch." Innis had claimed from the steps of City Hall on Wednesday that he had Innis had said Wednesday his upporterswould arrest the man themselves if city officials failed to do so by 1 p.m. Saturday. But on Friday he said, "I am ready to pull back the deadline and to send my people out to search and continue our investigation.

The witness Innis claimed could link the man to some of the slayings was identified by The Atlanta Constitution in its Saturday editions as Shirley McGill of Miami.

Midland girl charged with murder of infant

A Midland woman has been charged with murder in the death of her premature baby, which allegedly had been wrapped in a towel and thrown out the window of a Dallas hotel Thursday.

Dallas County Justice of the Peace Robert Cole set bond of $50,000 on 17-year-old Nancy Snyder of 2502 Maxwell Drive. She is a junior at Lee High School.

The formal charge followed a ruling Friday by Medical Examiner Dr. Art Copeland that the baby died of "multiple injuries" after being droppedfrom the seventh-floor of the Sheraton Hotel in downtown Dallas. A doorman found the infant at the foot of the hotel about 6:20 p.m. Thursday. A room-to-room search located the baby's mother, who has told the family's lawyer she thought she had miscarried and didn't know the baby was alive.

The lawyer, Arch McColl of Dallas, denied news reports that two other persons were in the room with the Snyder woman, who reportedly was in her sixth month of pregnancy. "Nancy was alone at the time," he

Fair skies, warm temperatures in weekend forecast for area

The weatherman is predicting fair skies and warmer temperatures for Midland at least through Sunday. According to the National Weather Service forecast, skies should become fair today and the high temperature should reach the low 80s, after a morning low in the low 50s. About the same is expected for Sunday: A morning low in the mid-50s and a high in the upper 80s.

Winds today should blow from the southwest at 10-15 mph

Low temperature Friday was 44 and the high Thursday reached 69 degrees. Record low reading for Friday's date is 39 degrees, set in 1937. Record high for Thursday's date is 95, set in 1943.

Cloudy skies and showers continued across South Texas Friday, just a day after tornadoes, gusting winds and heavy rains deluged the southeastern portion of the state.

Temperatures were mostly in the 60s and 70s, with a few 80s across portions of North and East Texas. The afternoon extremes were 82 degrees at both Childress and Tyler and 67 degrees at Wink.

Forecasters predicted cloudy skies to prevail across the state Saturday, with rain predicted for South Texas. The rain should end Sunday, bringing warmer days and mild nights.

Showers and a few thundershowers hit the Northeast and upper Ohio Valley on Friday, with similar weather across north Florida and the western Gulf Coast region.

Widely scattered showers fell over the northern Rocky Mountains and Northern California, with a few showers near the Washington coast.

As one example, Moak Rollins will be in the nation's capital soon to testify on the Fuel Use Act.

With the election of Reagan, Texas' influence on the workings of federal government grew by King Kong-sized leaps. First, said Stone, there's Vice President George Bush who comes from Midland and Houston.

THEN THERE'S James Baker, a former lawyer from Houston who ran Bush's sprint for the presidency and now is one of Reagan's top three men with the title of Chief of Staff. Stone continued rattling off Texans' names, including Carol Denkins, the first woman to be an Assistant U.S. Attorney for land and natural resources; Ray Barnhart who is now with the Highways and Transportation Commission; Mike Butler, who is nominated to chair the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission; and the continuing influence of John Con-

"Clements has good access to that administration. When he wants to talk about the synfuels program, they not only listen to him but they respect him," Stone said enthusiastically. "He can talk about energy and defense — the two primary concerns to Texas. He's effective and impactive

In speaking of effective Texans, Stone mentioned Kent Hance, the congressman who represents Midland's 19th Congressional District. Although the Democrat stands alone in a sea of Texas Republicans, Stone expressed his admiration for the second-term

"Philosophically, he represents Texas and that district. He is very good at what he does, and very effective. He's a real star in a somewhat tarnished gallery here."

STONE'S OFFICE is at the back of the building, where he has a scenic view of the back of other edifices. It is small with white walls and dark furniture. A pale blue State of Texas rug in front of his desk provides the only sparkle to the room.

But the governor and Stone have other ideas. The director is looking for an office "closer to the Hill. We would be closer for Texas officials to operate out of when they come to town.' As it is, the building is several blocks north of the political game. While Stone hasn't been in the job long, he doesn't plan on staying there too many years. "I can't miss my Baylor football games," he laughed. But he does "plan to get this office

Vickie Daniel faces a murder charge in the Jan. 19 shooting death of former Texas House Speaker Price Daniel Jr.

Dallas may stop using mobile X-rays units

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas affiliate of the American Lung Association may stop using its mobile X-ray units this summer instead of waiting until the April 1982 deadline imposed by the Texas Lung Association, a spokesman and Eviday man said Friday.

Dr. Joy Robertson, a member of the Dallas chapter executive board and an outspoken critic of the organization's use of mobile X-ray vans for tuberculosis screening, said the chapter will stop accepting screening appointments in July.

The organization was ordered this month by the Texas state division of the American Lung Association to cease using its three X-ray vans or face revocation of its charter as an ALA affiliate.

The screening has been criticized by the medical profession for years, and the ALA says the vans needlessly expose patients to radiation. The preferred method of tuberculosis screening is a simple skin test, the ALA says.

Jury foreman says murder charge ignored in Daniel custody suit

LIBERTY, Texas (AP) — Jurors refused to weigh the murder charge against Vickie Daniel when they decided to let her retain custody of her two small sons, the jury foreman said Friday.

Mrs. Daniel is accused of shooting to death her husband, former Texas House Speaker Price Daniel Jr., Jan. 19. She is expected to be tried on that charge in October, and her lawyers any she will plead self defense.

say she will plead self defense.

"The unfortunate events of the 19th of January had absolutely nothing whatsoever to with our consideration or decision," said jury foreman Jack L. Stansel, 40, of Cleveland, Texas.

"Our concern was what was best for the children — period," said Stansel, an electronics technician.

Jurors deliberated two hours before reaching a unanimous verdict late Thursday. Technically, they awarded custody to neither Mrs. Daniel nor Jean Daniel Murph, the sister of the slain speaker, who filed the lawsuit. But Stansel said jurors knew that such a verdict would give Mrs. Daniel custody of the boys, aged 1 and 3.

"It was clearly explained (in the judge's instructions) that a vote of 'neither' would give Vickie Daniel full parental rights to the exclusion of Jean Daniel Murph," Stansel said.

He said he was satisfied with the verdict but added "It wasn't easy."
Stansel said jurors spent more time in court than they should have because of the sensetional aspects of the in court than they should have be cause of the sensational aspects of the case.

"Unfortunately, we sat through six weeks of a lot of testimony that had nothing whatsoever to do with wheth er or not Mrs. Daniel was a good, bad or indifferent mother. "But the overwhelming thing was that no evidence that we could find ... showed that Mrs. Daniel was not a good mother," he said.

Mrs. Daniel's lawyer, Richard "Racehorse" Haynes, called the verdict just.

"Vickie Daniel is still the mama and nobody has the right to see her children if she doesn't want them to," said Haynes.

Mrs. Murph said, "I will have to say some extra prayers for the boys because I think they have a mom with a lot of problems, and I hope she can get the help she needs." Her attorneys said no appeal was planned.

said no appeal was planned.
One of her lawyers, Zeke Zbranek, said, "The biggest myth has been that Vickie Daniel has not hurt those little children. She's hurt them more than she can ever repay. She killed their daddy."

During the custody case, which some viewed as a rehearsal of Mrs. Daniel's murder trial, Haynes portrayed her as a woman victimized by a husband who beat and sodomized her, abused her two children from her first marriage, fondled his own son's genitals, smoked marijuana, drank to excess and had a "weird" relationship with his sister.

Witnesses for Mrs. Murph, including Daniel's father, former Texas Gov. Price Daniel Sr., questioned those allegations and depicted Mrs. Daniel as an emotionally unstable woman who might harm her children.

President Reagan's doctors say he is progressing satisfactorily and they won't be worried unless he is having minor difficulties after six months. This photo was taken at the White House

Doctor has no misgivings about Reagan's therapy

By JOANN RODGERS Science Writer Hearst Special News Service

WASHINGTON - Responding to fears that President Reagan's recovery has slowed, the surgeon who removed the .22 caliber bullet from the chief executive's left lung says he would "not even begin to be concerned" unless the president failed to be fully rehabilitated six months from now.

The statement was made in an interview with The Hearst Newspapers just a few hours before the White House announced that the president will make his first major public appearance—before a joint session of Congress Tuesday—since he was shot March_30.

Dr. Benjamin Aaron of George Washington University Medical Center called Reagan's physical comeback from a March 30 assassination attempt "brisk and right on track"and denied that expectations about the president's recuperation timetable had been originally overstated.

"We are just about ready to terminate his official treatment," Aaron said, "and I believe he will make a full and complete recovery from his wound, just as we have said all along. Precisely how much time that will take, I don't know, but he is continuing to make remarkable progress. I would not even begin to be concerned right now. If he weren't fully recovered in six months, okay, then I might begin to be.

In the interview Thursday, Aaron and GW chief of medicine Dennis O'Leary noted that 25 days after the assassination attempt, the president is exercising regularly on a mechanical treadmill and lifting weights.

He has regained five of the ten pounds he lost during surgery and hospitalization and has been completely off antibiotics since Saturday.

"The only medication the president is taking is a pain pill," Aaron said. He declined to identify the drug, characterizing it only as "purely analgesic" and incapable of "blunting" mental capacity. "What pain he has tends to occur early in the day and work itself out later on," he added, and is entirely reasonable in anyone of any age who has undergone thoracotomy (opening of

"How many 70 year olds," asked O'Leary, "would be doing what the president is doing just three weeks after major surgery?"

Hints that Reagan's recovery has been seriously marred by a post-operative bout of fever and his age have been bolstered by photographs that show him somewhat wan and gaunt. Further feeding the recovery slowdown talk was a comment from a member of the National Security Council who called the president "still weak" and "taking" longer to recuperate than initially expected Mike Deaver, the president's deputy chief of staff, added still more worry this week when he described "little things that are being done to make it easier on Reagan" (such as later morning briefings) and expressed fear that the shooting could have ended any plans for a re-election race in 1984.

Dr. Daniel Ruge, the president's personal physican would not project any timetable for recovery, but said "I think he'll be recuperating for a long time to come." He added that Reagan is "very exceptional and he's working and doing

Aaron and O'Leary see no conflict with Ruge in their interpretation of Reagan's progress. In the final analysis, they said, it is probably impossible to predict precisely the time of recovery.

Eruption to be marked by another 'blast'

SALEM, Ore. (AP) - On the anniversary of the devastating eruption of Mount St. Helens, the emergency center beneath the Oregon state Capitol will be buzzing with reports of earthquakes, flying ash and a furious eruption at Mount Hood. But the sleeping volcano, in all probability, will still be dozing.

State officials want to know what to do if Mount Hood ever erupts, as Mount

St. Helens in Washington did on May 18. So the state Emergency Services Division has planned a mock eruption to test a new Oregon volcano emergency plan.

Division Director Harvey Latham said Gov. Vic Atiyeh called for the plan, named Annex N, last summer after the U.S. Geological Survey warned that Mount Hood had the potential for a major volcanic eruption.

In July, two days of earthquakes under the mountain shocked area residents still jittery from the Mount St. Helens eruption, which left 61 people dead

"The plan is, for all intents and purposes, completed, but it's no good unless we test it," Latham said Thursday.

The 11,235-foot Mount Hood, 45 miles east of Portland, is one of several particularly suspect mountains in the Cascade chain, said U.S. Geological Survey geologist Susan Russell-Robinson.

The others include Washington's Mount St. Helens, Mount Baker and Mount

Rainier, and California's Mount Lassen and Mount Shasta It is believed that Mount Hood last erupted in the mid-1800s, although little

Reagan still enjoys majority backing on economy

NEW YORK (AP) - A substantial number of Americans say Ronald Reagan's proposed cuts in federal spending and taxes go too far, although his economic package continues to have the support of most of the public, an Associated Press-NBC News poll shows.

Contradictory currents thus remain a major feature of public opinion about government spending, as Congress comes back to Washington next week to resume debate over the Rea-

Public support for Reagan's economic proposals has not surged in recent weeks as have the public's ratings of him personally in the wake of the attempt upon his life March 30.

9 ASNE members elected to board

WASHINGTON (AP) - Nine members of the American Society of Newspaper Editors have been elected to serve on its board of directors.

Five of the editors were elected to three-year terms on the 20-member board, three were named to two-year terms and one was elected to a one-

The nine were among 18 seeking positions on the board. The election took place Thursday at the society's annual meeting at the Sheraton Wash-

Elected to three-year terms were Robert M. Stiff, editor of the St. Petersburg (Fla.) Independent; Robert P. Clark, editor of the Florida Times-Union; Robert C. Maynard, editor of the Oakland (Calif.) Tribune; Loren F. Ghiglione, editor and publisher of the Southbridge (Mass.) News; and Judith W. Brown, editor of The New Britain (Conn.) Herald.

Selected to serve two-year terms were Katherine Fanning, editor and publisher of The Anchorage (Alaska) Daily News; Maxwell McCrohon, editor of the Chicago Tribune; and Edward Cony, vice president for news of The Wall Street Journal.

Argentina Hills, editor and president of El Mundo of San Juan, Puerto Rico, was re-elected to a one-year

His increased personal popularity might, of course, help him get the package through Congress.

More than six out of ten Americans support each of the three main tenets of the Reagan policies — cuts in feder-al spending, cuts in federal taxes and higher defense spending. Sixty-one percent of those who had heard of Reagan's proposals said they backed Reagan's proposed $48.6 billion in cuts in federal spending. Thirteen percent said they favor some of the cuts and oppose others. Another 13 percent flatly oppose the reductions. Thirteen percent of the 1,604 adults interviewed across the country April 13-14 by telephone were not sure. In the late February AP-NBC News poll, 58 percent favored the cuts and 16 percent opposed them.

On Regan's proposed three-year tax cuts, 71 percent of those who had heard of the economic proposals fa-vored the program and 15 percent opposed it. Fourteen percent were not sure. That is the same as found by the February poll.

Reagan's proposed increases in spending on the military and defense get strong backing, with 70 percent favoring such increases. Nine... percent were opposed and 11 percent

But there is a fear that Reagan has gone too far.

Thirty-nine percent of those who knew of the proposals agreed that while federal spending should be cut, "Reagan's "roposed cuts go too far." Fifty-two percent disagreed.

On the issue of tax cuts, 36 percent termed Reagan's plan too drastic. Fifty-four percent disagreed with that

But there is also sentiment going the other way on the issue of spending

In answer to another question, 28 percent of those who knew of the proposals said that the spending cuts don't go far enough. Sixty-four percent disagreed.

There has also been little change in the public's judgment of the probable impact of the Reagan proposals.

Twenty-eight percent now say it is very likely that the president's proposals would reduce inflation if they are put into effect. Fifty-one percent said it is somewhat likely that his programs would reduce inflation and 17 percent said it is not likely at all. These figures are almost identical to those from the Feburary survey.

One of the key arguments over proper government economic policies turns on the choice between cutting spending and cutting taxes. The Reagan proposal essentially seeks to achieve both at the same time.

If a choice has to be made, the public would prefer to cut spending before cutting taxes. Given three choices, 50 percent said that the government should cut taxes first, while only 27 percent said federal taxes should be cut as the first measure. Nineteen percent said in-creased defense spending should come first. Four percent were not

LOS ANGELES (AP) - A former jail inmate is suing the Los Angeles County sheriff for $10 million, claiming she was forced to give birth while chained to a hospi-

The lawsuit was filed two years to the day after Fern Dalton gave birth to a healthy baby girl, also named Fern. It alleges the former inmate of the Sybil Brand Institute went through labor and delivery manacled and handcuffed to a bed because the deputy who had the key to the chains could not be Sheriff Peter J Pitchess, the defendant in the lawsuit, had no comment immediately, according to Deputy Chet Ballew. Ballew said the department could not comment until reviewing the allegations. He said he did not know if or when such a review would take place.

Ms. Dalton's attorney,

Gloria Allred, said the sheriff reversed his policy of chaining women while in labor after a petition was filed in court last July challenging the practice.

At that time, Pitchess denied any woman had given birth in chains, a statement that prompted Ms. Dalton to look for a

"I felt like I WAS BEING SACRIFICED. I'll never forget it. But God brought me through it and I had accepted it. Ms. -Dalton recalled. "But when I saw in the paper that the sheriff denied that any woman had gone through the whole birth process in chains, when I saw that lie, I had to speak out." Ms. Dalton, 38, of Los Angeles, filed suit in Superior Court on Thursday, her daughter's second birthday. Ms. Dalton, who is unemployed, also has two sons.

"The doctor was so angry he had tears in his eyes - he had told them to leave the key in the drawer," Ms. Dalton recalled Thursday.

Ms. Allred said that because of heavy metal chains wrapped around her client's ankles and the bedposts, it was im-possible for Ms. Dalton to move into the necessary delivery positions.

The attorney said she has not yet spoken to the doctor, and did not know whether officials considered trying to cut the

Ms. Dalton, who said she is the daughter of a Navajo chief, said she had been considered a high-risk maternity pa-tient because she had a form of uterine cancer. She said her doctor had ordered her transferred to an operating room for

Because the deputy could not be found, Ms. Dalton had to "undergo a painful vaginal birth" in her bed at the Los A1geles County Medical Center, said Ms. Allred. 'That Fern Dalton was

North and South in new civil war

WASHINGTON (AP) - The North and South are fighting a new civil war, but unlike the bloody conflict of 120 years ago, this one is a struggle for federal grants in the halls of Congress.

Regional conflict, brewing since the creation of the Northeast-Midwest congressional coalition in 1976, flared into open warfare in the past week when

Southern and Southwestern states formed their own alliance. The Sun Belt Council, comprised of 90 House members from 17 states, exists solely to counterattack what its leaders perceive as an unfair recent shift of federal funds to the North. In coming months, council members plan to fight as a unit in committees and on the House floor for public works projects, job programs and various federal our Yankee colleagues have forced this confrontation upon us," said Rep. Charles Wilson, D-Texas, the fiery chairman of the fledgling council. Their organization has done a good snow job. They've determined that the

'Until now we have resisted in splitting the Congress along regional lines, but pending budget cuts will fall much more heavily on the Snow Belt than on the Sun Belt. At the very least, we want to counter their misinformation," Wilson

Leaders of the Northeast-Midwest coalition, surprised by the sudden rhetorical salvos, say they are puzzled by such a reaction because Southern states have been successful in obtaining lucrative military bases and water projects.
"Southern congressmen and senators have had a very good buddy system that's been operating since the Civil War out of necessity. The victories of the Northeast-Midwest coalition haven't shifted the flow of funds more than a small amount," said Thomas Cochran, executive director of the Northeast-Midwest Institute, the research arm of the Northern coalition.

Rep. Robert Edgar, D-Pa., chairman of the Northern coalition, said he hopes to reduce the rhetoric and channel friction between the two camps into constructive argument during House debate.

The Pennsylvania congressman is drafting a letter inviting Wilson to sit down and discufs the issues that separate the two sides.

"I don't feel threatenednby the new group at all. It raises more issues and forces us to be even more accountable," Edgar said.

Despite Edgar's peaceful overture, Wilson said he is determined to combat the view that President Reagan's proposed federal budy)m are slanted against older industrial centers in the Northeast.

They blame all the problems of their area on the formula for federal grants, which is pretty absurd," said Wilson, a second-year congressman and member of the House Appropriations Committee.

The Sun Belt Council has hired former Rep. John Buchanan, D-Ala., to build a staff and work under a $100,000 budget.

The new council's member states are Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Mississippi, Alabama, Tennessee, Arkansas, Louisiana, Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Arizona, Florida, Kentucky, Utah and Colora-Wilson still is seeking members from other states, including California.

The Northeast-Midwest coalition includes 213 House members from 18 states and has a budget of about $100,000 and a staff of five. The Northeast-Midwest Institute has a staff of 20 persons and a budget of more than $400,000.

The coalition's member states are Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Vermont and Wisconsin.

Wilson said his group hopes to counter "outrageous propaganda and statistics" generated by the coalition and institute in their weekly news releases and frequent published studies. Cochran and Edgar refuse to respond to such charges.

When the rhetorical pitch heats up, I just hope that both sides don't end up debating the wrong issues, like which region is the worst off," Cochran said.

Compiling Modern Greek-English Dictionary tough job

GRAND FORKS, Neb. (AP) - For 20 years Demetrius J. Georgacas, 73, has been laboring in the world of words, compiling what will be the first comprehensive Modern Greek-English Dictionary.

He estimates his efforts have cost $1 million so far, and would cost $3 million to duplicate today. His records include 3 million cards stored in 1,200 card file drawers that form a long, awesome corridor — an ac-cumulation that won't increase much more, since the project is now in edit-

The enormity of the work surprises even the researcher; he looks across the room at his work of two decades and asks, "Did I do that?"

He often works a ninehour day, breaks for supper and an hour-long nap, and returns to work another five hours.

The lexicographer is never far from his craft. Asked how to pronounce his Greek name, he responds not only with the pronunciation, (Jor-gah-kis), but the root word from which it's taken, and the meaning: "Big fat George." His wife, Barbara, has been his associate on the dictionary and other projects from the day in 1947 when they first met in a library and she of-fered to help him with a research paper. They were married a year

Georgacas estimated the Modern Greek-English Dictionary, with 300,000 entries, will be completed by 1990, depending on finances. The first volume will go to the publisher in 1983, he everyday language. "Educators thought they should use ancient Greek to show they're equal to their ancestors," Georgacas said. "In schools they said, 'No, no, the language must be pure. Then we show the world we are Many Greeks without a formal education didn't use or understand classical Greek, but it wasn't until 1976 that the Greek government brought modern Greek into the schools.

Bordersville pays taxes, but does without running water

HOUSTON (AP) - Although the community of Bordersville is officially part of this sprawling, ultra-modern city, many people in its 250 house-holds have used outhouses and drawn their water from rusty barrels filled three times a week by a Houston fire truck. Now, 16 years after the community was annexed by Houston, the residents of Bordersville are finally getting what they have only dreamed of - city water service. Houston's public works department Wednesday began putting in water lines for the northeast neighborhood. T've been at it so long. I got used to it," said Tilda Mae Prater, 67, who has been toting buckets of water from barrels on her porch into her home for years. "But I could stand running. water if I had it."

While Bordersville is the extreme, Houston city officials admit there are "vast areas" of newly annexed territory. under their jurisdiction that don't have basic services such as water or sewage systems. One estimate is that as many as 25 communities may be without basic city services for which they are paying taxes.

The city fathers are just gobbling up com-munities and feel they don't have to deliver any services," said Jeff Bet-lewski, 30, a former VISTA volunteer who helped lead the Bordersville fight for water.

Some communities are fighting annexation because of the problem. South of Houston in Clear Lake City, residents submitted petitions with more than 53,000 names of people who didn't want their city swallowed by the collosus to the north. But the Houston city council has already annexed their community. "I will not only defend annexation, I will point to it as one of the most far-sighted policies available to cities like Houston," said Dan Jones, a spokesman for 'It is a means by which Houston is keeping itself alive," he said. "And I sense a great deal cluding Dallas, about our growing tax base."

Bordersville, north of the Intercontinental Airport, was annexed in 1969 by city fathers hoping to cash in on the lucrative airport area.

The poverty-stricken area is little more than a collection of run-down wooden shanties. Residents thought, at the time, that joining the city would mean getting services they had not had previously.

Bordersville was entitled to new roads, garbage pickup and police and fire service, provided by Houston. But residents were told it would be too expensive to lay water and sewage lines to the sparsely populated

Houston officials cited a city ordinance that only communities with more than 50 percent of their land developed could get city-provided water and sewage sys-

"Our water and sewage system has to make money — it is not supported with tax dollars and therefore we cannot sell it at a loss," Jones

"It was determined that it was not appropriate or desirable to provide Bordersville with these utilities. If you believe in free enterprise, I think you will understand that it is all extremely just," he added. Soon after Bordersville was annexed, Houston city officials decided the community's water would be provided by truck. So, a city fire truck makes the rounds of Bordersville homes three times a week, filling up the rusty 55-gallon barrels which residents are supplied.

"We use it for washing, cooking, cleaning — for everything," Betlewski said. "So you can imagine it's never enough."

The majority of residents also do not have their own septic tanks and use outhouses, in-gospel throughout the world. With todays space age technology, "word processors" are helping to make that difficult task a bit easier. Japan's crown prince a quiet symbol of change-

TOKYO (AP) - Halfway around the world from the European kings and queens, princes and princesses who live amid pomp and publicity, Japan's middle-aged Crown Prince Akihito waits dutifully for his turn to be emperor of the world's seventh most populous nation.

Akihito, a graying 47, is a ribbon-cutter and ceremony opener, father of three and loyal subject to his father, Emperor Hirohito. Except for occasional trips abroad with Crown Princess Michiko, Akihito's activities are usually reported in the back page briefs of local newspapers.

Hirohito, who turns 80 next Wednesday, is reported to be in excellent health and, in accordance with imperial law, will not abdicate the throne he has occupied for 56 years in favor of his elder son.

But the crown prince has already altered some of the ultra-conservative traditions of the 2,600-year-old Chrysanthemum Throne, and on the day he does become Japan's 125th emperor, there will be a further parting — if slight — in the ancient silk curtain that surrounds the imperial family.

Among other things, his ascension may end the nation's decades-old hangup over Hirohito's role in World War II.

Akihito grew up the "Revered Son of the Sun-God Emperor" in a period when Japanese militarists, cementing their power through fanatical devotion to a deified monarch, led the nation into a disastrous war. In the tradition of the cloistered palace, Akihito had been separated from his parents at age 3 and was raised by nurses, tutors and stripe-trousered

The emperor renounced his divinity on New Year's Day 1946. Under Japan's postwar constitution he was denied political power but became "the symbol of the unity of the people, deriving his position from the will of the people."

Hirohito accepted the advice of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, the Allied occupation commander, to educate his son democratically. Flourishing in his new-found freedom, Akihito became the first crown prince to attend regular college classes. He ate noodles with his classmates and stoically endured criticism of his elitist upbringing.

Born the fifth of seven children — four sisters preceded him and a brother and sister followed - Akihito was formally invested as heir in a public ceremony in 1952. The next year he represented his father at the coronation of Britain's Queen Elizabeth II.

In 1959, after a two-year romance that began on the tennis courts of a summer resort, Akihito married Michiko Shoda, the comely daughter of a wealthy Tokyo miller — the first commoner in Japanese history to become a royal consort.

Akihito again broke precedent by deciding to raise his children, two boys now aged 21 and 15, and his 12-year-old daughter, at home. The family always eats breakfast together and frequently spends Sundays playing tennis, horseback riding or swimming.

Yasuo Shigeta, who has been Akihito's chamberlain for the past 16 years, said in an interview that the crown prince favors close family ties because "he found from his own experience there is no better way to learn imperial tradition than being with the emperor.'

A marine biologist like his father, Akihito has made science a hobby.

Working out of a laboratory next to his study, he has produced 22 papers on the gobyfish, or mudsucker, and last year was elected as a foreign member of the prestigious Linnean Society of London.

Akihito follows world and Japanese affairs in newspapers and on TV, but in keeping with the imperial family's tradition of avoiding political involvements, he will not comment on issues of the day, Shigeta said.

Nevertheless he has been an active diplomat, making 16 official overseas trips to date, many to nations of economic and political Akihito does not smoke, and drinks only the necessary champagne or wine toasts at official functions, the chamberlain said. But he does not always stay within the strait-laced mold demanded by imperial proto-

He has been known to talk well into the night with such friends as King Baudouin of Belgium, and in 1978, en route home from South America, the prince made a special stopover in Philadelphia to visit Elizabeth Vining, a Quaker schoolteacher who had tutored him in English after the war. People still stand in awe of the emperor, but there is a real sense of intimacy with the crown prince and princess," Shigeta said.

But the chamberlain added that the time has not yet come where members of the imperial family can mingle freely with the public as some of their European counterparts do.

"The Japanese, after all, are by nature gawkers," Shigeta said. "If Princess Michiko ventured out of the palace for a shopping trip it would

Protestants warn Northern Ireland on brink of war

Ireland (AP) - Protestant extremists warned Friday that Northern Ireland was on the brink of civil war and that more than 50,000 lovalists will take to the streets with guns to counter Catholic violence if jailed IRA guerrilla Bobby Sands dies from fasting.

Sammy Duddy, spokesman for the Ulster Defense Association, issued the warning as two members of the European Commission for Human Rights flew to London amid hopes they could break the deadlock over Bobby Sands' 55day-old hunger strike that has brought him close to death.

The pro-British Protestants are bitterly opposed to the IRA's campaign to end British rule in the province and reunite it with the overwhelmingly Catholic Irish Republic

The IRA's Provisional wing has threatened to unleash a new campaign of terror if Sands dies. That warning was underlined Thursday night ated former militiaman John Robinson, a 38year-old Protestant, in

Cardinal Tomas O Fiaich, Catholic Primate of All Ireland, condemned the killing as "an incitement to further sectarian violence" and appealed to the IRA for 'the immediate cessation of these murderous

He stressed that the militant Protestants' main objective right now is to defend their areas from attack but indicated without elaboration that the "elimination of Republican agitators" will likely continue.

Duddy spoke after the Ulster Army Council, representing the UDA and four other extremist Protestant organizations, announced it was putting its forces on alert as Sands moved closer to

The commission last June rejected claims by IRA men in the Maze that they should have political status, which the British refuse to grant on the grounds that it would give political respectability to the outlawed IRA. But the commission also chastised the British for their "inflexible ap-proach" to the problem.

FAA reports near miss of jets closer than they should

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) - Two jetliners came within 1,000 feet of colliding Friday 35,000 feet over northeast Florida during a computer failure at an air traffic control center, the Federal Aviation Administration reported.

"This is what we refer to technically as a systems error. It certainly was nearly a mid-air collision," FAA spokesman Jack Barker said in At-

The Delta Air Lines L-1011 and the USAir DC-9 should have been separated by several miles, Barker said. It was not immediately known how many people were aboard the planes, which completed their flights safely.

The incident occurred at 10:46 a.m. EST north of Jacksonville as the Delta jet was flying from Altanta to Fort Lauder dale and the USAir aircraft was en route from Baltimore to Tampa, Barker said.

While the computer was not working, radar was functioning normally, Barker said.

At the same time, a computer was out of service at an air traffic control station in Hilliard in the northeast Florida.

An investigation was begun immediately, but reasons for the incident might not be pieced to-

New mortgage could hike payments

WASHINGTON (AP)

— A new type of mortgage, which consumer groups say could make foreclosure likely for unwary home buyers, will allow lenders to raise borrowers' monthly payments — or increase their total debt — as often as every 30 days.

Government officials say they had to open up loan practices for financially strapped savings and loan associations or else already-tight homeloan money would have dried up almost comple-

But consumer groups say the new type of mortgage could "wreak total havoc" in the housing market and could cause people to overextend themselves when buying a home.

The Federal Home Loan Bank Board, by a 3-0 vote Thursday, authorized federally chartered savings and loan associations to offer open-ended, adjustable-loan mortgages. Under such an agreement, a lender could raise a home-buyer's monthly payments, raise the total of the loan or lengthen the life of the loan in tandem with increases in market interest rates.

The lender also could lower mortgage payments.

Market rates, such as the interest on shortterm securities, have been highly erratic recently but generally have been moving upward.

Ellen Broadman, attorney for Consumers Union, said of the bank board's action: "They're turning owning a home into a game of chance" in which many buyers would face foreclosure if interest rates rose quickHowever, board members said financially troubled lenders must be given greater flexibility in designing loans if mortgages are to remain

Many S&Ls lost money in the past year or so because they had to pay interest rates as high as 15 percent to attract deposits, while being repaid for older home loans at rates of 6 percent or lower.

"We simply cannot continue to have savers subsidizing borrowers," said board member Andrew DiPrete. He called the relaxation of the loan agreement rules "long overdue."

The house-construction industry also has been hurt by high mortgage rates, now averaging close to 15.5 percent. In theory, S&Ls might offer the new mortgages

could raise payments later if market interest rates surged.

"I think this regulation will make money available for housing," said John Dalton, a board member who was chairman until recently.

Consumers will be protected because of competition for loan business, he said, contending that "if an association doesn't offer a loan instrument in the best interest of the borrower, I think, very simply, his competition will."

The new regulation, which takes effect next Thursday, will not affect existing mortgages. And board members said they do not expect the new type of mortgage to completely replace traditional fixed-rate, fixed-

Richard Pratt, the new board chairman, predicted there would be "a good deal of activity" in the new type of mortgage, but he would not be specific.

The new rule directly covers only federally chartered savings and loans — about half the nation's 4,400 S&Ls — but industry representatives said many state-chartered associations also will be included through state tie-in agreements. S&Ls make a majority of the home loans in the United States.

The new regulation provides that a savings institution and a home-buyer would agree to tie future mortgage-rate increases or declines to one of more than a dozen approved indexes, such as the discount rate for Treasury bills or the average private mortgage rate as computed by the bank board.

Residents warned about possibility of condo collapse

SATELLITE BEACH, Fla. (AP) — An engineer says an 8-year-old condominium in this Atlantic beach resort could collapse because of cracks in support beams.

But most residents refuse to leave while emergency repairs are underway, even though a hearby condominium collapsed while under construction a month ago.

Engineer Jimmy Schilling said he has told residents in the eight-story Buccaneer condominium that "a complete and sudden collapse" could occur if all of the building's floors are loaded with even 60 percent of the weight they were designed to handle.

The Buccaneer homeowners' association hired Schilling of nearby Indialantic after one resident noticed the cracks.

In reports filed with the Satellite Beach building department, Schilling said the only reason the building still is standing is because a concrete wall was used for support between the second and third floors and because the 60-percent weight figure has not been reached.

Schilling told the residents at a meeting Thursday night it will cost $110,000, or $1,500 each, for the emergency repairs. The residents planned to meet today with an attorney to discuss possible legal action against the condominium's builder if more repairs are needed.

The concern over the Buccaneer condominium comes less than a month after the collapse of the partly completed Harbor Cay condominium in nearby Cocoa Beach. Eleven construction workers lost their lives and 23 others were injured when the five-story building collapsed March 27.

The cause of the collapse is still under investigaion.

Meanwhile, a complaint analyzer with the Florida Department of Professional Regulation said investigators would visit Satellite Beach to determine if the state has any jurisdiction. "We recognize the importance of it," said Frost

"We recognize the importance of it," said Frost Burke.

The Buccaneer was built in 1973 by Boland Construction Co., headed by Donald Boland of Titusville, Fla. The developers, Boland Development Inc., dissolved more than three years ago and turned the building over to the homeowners' association.

Boland declined comment on the matter, saying he wanted to find out more about it. But the architect and structural engineer of the building defended their work.

Architect David Putnam says he doubted there are any problems with the building, but added that if there are, they are not his fault.

"Don (Boland) told me there were cracks in the frames since they were cast," Putnam said. "I doubt seriously there's any problem."

Artificial skin saves lives

BOSTON (AP) — A compound that sounds as though it might have come from a witch's cauldron has been used to make artificial skin for victims of what would have been fatal burns, and doctors hope the covering will never have to be removed.

The skin — made from cowhide, shark cartilage and plastic — has been used so far to treat 10 patients, doctors say.

The skin has been under development for 10 years by Dr. John F. Burke of Massachusetts General Hospital and Dr. Ioannis Yannis of Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Without the new skin, Burke said, three of the first 10 recipients probably would have died. The victims' third-degree burns covered between 50 percent and 90 percent of their bodies.

"They were very badly burned," said Burke, "On a scale of one to 10, they were 11. We chose these patients because we felt we had an enormous lot to offer."

Yannis said the goal of the skin development was "to treat the patient so he would survive and go back

"After that, the intention was to create a skin covering for the patient that would enable him to look like he did before he was brought into the hospital," Yannis said. "These goals were achieved."

Severe burns must be closed while they are healing to prevent potentially fatal loss of fluid or infec-

Although the skin does not look exactly like the unburned variety, Burke said its appearance is better than natural skin that has been transplanted from elsewhere on the patient's body.

Burke said the new skin actually becomes part of the patient's body.

the patient's body.

"The nerve fibers from below, which are still alive, grow up into the new material, just like blood vessels and connective tissue," he said. "So these patients have the same kind of sensations as with a skin graft. It isn't perfect, but it is very good."

Yannas said the artificial skin can be used in Yannas said the artificial skin can be used in 6-by-10 inch patches and may be stockpiled at hospitals so that it is immediately available for burn emergencies.

Like real skin, the artificial variety has two layers. The innermost surface is made from connective material found in cowhide and a chemical derived from shark cartilage. The outer layer is a kind of medical plastic called Silastic.

The usual method for treating large burns is to cover the wound temporarily with skin taken from pigs, human cadavers or living donors.

And now, 5-5A's second half act

By MIKE CRUVER

Now that Midland Lee and Midland High have finally ended first-half play in District 5-5A, they can get down to the serious business of the second half baseball today. Actually, the Rebels are one step up on the Bulldogs as Lee has already beaten San Angelo, 8-1, in a second half contest. MHS, on the other hand, had its second half opener with Big Springs rained out.

For Lee, today's encounter with Abilene Cooper at the Lee diamond in a 2 p.m. contest is an extremely important one. Lee, Abilene Cooper and Abilene High shared the first half title

The club that wins today's clash would take an early lead in determining the overall district crown. Big Spring helped the Rebs and Cougars by defeating Abilene High, 5-2, Thursday in Abilene COOPER had a chance to win the first-half race outright but stubbed its toe, 3-2, against Abilene High in the final first half game. In their first second half game, the Cougars had to huff and puff to down San Angelo 5-4 in extra innings. The Cougars will come into the Tall City with revenge on their minds. In the first meeting of the year between the clubs, Lee bombed the Cougars

Cooper will be facing a Lee team that appears to be peaking at just the right time. Lee defeated San Angelo behind Bill Dern, which enabled Ernie Johnson to keep Alan Koonce and Randy Velarde fresh. Johsnon's wisdom seems to be working out well as Koonce turned in a four-hit, 13-strikeout performance in Lee's 3-0 win over the Bulldogs Thursday.

Cooper will be facing an offensive team that tore the cover off the ball during the first half. As a team, Lee hit at a .369 clip over the first half. Randy Velarde led the Rebs with a 478 mark but Alan Koonce was just a step behind at .458. Koonce is the Rebs top RBI man with eight while Velarde has knocked in seven. Kevin Bradshaw is the other Rebel over the .400 mark (.417 with five RBI). Hitting in the .300 range for the Rebels are Barry Corley, .348; Bill Dern, 368; Barry Blackwell, .389; and Randy Pepper, 364.

IN THE power department, Koonce, Velarde, Bradshaw and Blackwell have all hit one homer while Koonce and Corley have one triple and Ricky Wright leads the team in doubles with two.

Defensively, the Rebels committed seven errors in their first seven district games. Pitching is also a strong point for Lee. Koonce, 3-1, with 36 strikeouts; three walks; and 21 hits in 30 innings of work, has complied an ERA of 1.63. Velarde has an ERA of 0.56 covering 18.1 innings pitched in which he has given up 16 hits, struck out 15, and walked 20.

Randy Pepper is the only other Rebel to hurl for an inning in the first half. He worked two innings and surrendered no hits or runs while fanning one and allowing three base on balls. Johnson is expected to start Velarde in the key battle today. Both clubs enter the fray with 6-2 district contests. In all, the Dogs committed 27 bobbles in seven outings. Of course, in the last couple of outings MHS has cut the number of errors drastically although a couple of wild pitches hurt dearly in the loss to Lee.

ACROSS TOWN, coach Tim Whalen hopes his hard-hitting Bulldogs have shaken the ball handling troubles that cost the Purple Pack several first half

Whalen hopes the new-found ball handling skills and the offensive punch of MHS will carry the Pack to a win over Abilene High today on the Eagles field. Whalen would like nothing better than to extend AHS' losing streak to two in the second half while the Pack starts a second half winning streak of their own.

MHS' strength is in hitting the ball. The Bulldogs carry a .316 mark as a team with Jerry Zachery's .632 leading the Pack. Included in Zachery's collection of hits are three doubles two triples and one home run plus a team-leading six RBI. Michael Feldt has belted the ball to the tune of .455 and Frank Garramone has driven in five runs and doubled twice while building up a .421 average.

SOPHOMORE Tim Davis, hitting an even .400, rounds out the big sticks for the Pack. The next highest average for the Dogs is Eddie Portillo's .333 but he has been to bat only three times. Kyle Ford, the regular rightfielder, follows the big four with a .261

Along with errors, walks have proven fatal to the Dogs. In their first seven games, the Dog pitchers have allowed 35 free passes, only one inten-tional. On the other hand, MHS hurlers have struck out 25 batters in the seven games.

Joel Castaneda has been the workhorse for MHS. He has pitched 28.1 innings; striking out 13, walking 22, and giving up 20 hits while building an ERA of 2.99 to go with his 1-1 district mark. Michael Feldt, who made his pitching debut in district, has one win and two loses to show for his efforts. He has worked 10.2 innings and giving up 15 earned runs, 17 hits, walked 10 and struckout seven.

Mark Hewitt has won a game and Doug McLean has lost one district outing for the Dogs. Hewitt carries an ERA of 4.45 while McLean, victim of three unearned runs in his loss to Lee, has an ERA of 0.00.

Whalen is not sure who will start on the hill for the Pack today in Abilene at 2 p.m. AHS carries a 5-3 district mark into the game while the Pack goes 3-4.

Wayne Simmons rapped an RBI double, Mel Hall followed with another run-scoring double and Tom Grant wrapped up the Cubs' scoring with a run producing single.

THE DIABLOS quickly grabbed the lead. Two errors on Cub thirdbaseman Martinez' opened the door as El Paso pushed a across four runs to take a 4-3 lead.

Cub manager Roy Hartsfield stayed with starter and loser Craig Lefferts (1-1) until he got in trouble with one out in the fourth. Mike Wright came in to put out the fire but the Diablos still picked up a run on Terry Shoebridge's RBI double.

Schooler scores double in 1600, 3200 meters

R-T Sports Writer

SAN ANGELO-For once, the District 5-5A track meet, long noted for its rhubarbs and close calls, put controversy in the back seat and let the athletes make the news here Friday

It was a refreshing difference. The 5-5A meet was almost notice-able for its lack of controversy and the athletes made it all worth while with eight new records, including six by Midland Lee and one by Midland

San Angelo got the other record and the team title to boot as the Bobcats rolled out 140 points to Lee's second place 128. That was really the extent of the team race.

But it was the individuals who shined in this one as they brought their running shoes to the fast and well-groomed all weather track that awaited them

LEE'S ROBERT Schooler put on a record-busting show by setting new district marks in the 3200 and 1600 meter runs. Schooler posted a 9:22.59 in the 3200, 10 seconds better than his career best. He later turned in a district record 4:20.40 in the 1600, a full four seconds better than his previ-

I was pleased with the time and I didn't run myself out in the 3200, despite the time," Schooler said after the 3200.

Then Lee's Arthur Williams used an earlier disappointment to post an amazing 20.97 to win the 200 meters in redord time. In fact, that is one of the top times posted in the state this "They beat my little brother and I had to pay them back," Williams said after brother Darrin, the favorite in the 100 meters, finished third to Permian's Billy Howell and Odessa High's Hector Sanchez. Darrin's loss was the biggest surprise of the meet. Lee's David Piccolo repeated as the 5-5A 300 meter hurdle champion with a 38.82, a meet and school record. That also beat his own district record. It was not an easy task as he had to come from behind to nip Midland High's Robert Crawford at the tape. Crawford had a 38.83, his career best and he will join Piccolo in the Region I meet next week in Lubbock.

"I KNEW all along that it couldn't be anything but close because Crawford just keeps getting better and better," Piccolo said.

Crawford added, "I had three stutter steps in the race and it cost me. I think I had David over the last hurdle, but he beat me at the tape. I'll have to

Midland High sophomore James Beverley turned the 800 meters into a rout with a record time of 1:53.56, a career best for the second week in a row. "I was just waiting for something unexpected to happen, but I felt in control all the way," Beverley

Lee's Michael Goodley, who three weeks ago seemed a good bet for the junior varsity, pulled another of the meet's suprises with a second place in the 800 meters, with a 1:54.95, "Two weeks ago I broke two minutes for the first time and the time has been falling ever since. I knew this was my race," Goodley said after knocking three seconds off lis previous best.

Lee's Keith Brown also captured a region berth by winning the shot put with a season best 58-9 1/4. He had one throw just short of 60 feet, but scratched, "I'm going to work real hard this week, and I think I can beat 60 feet. I can be competitive if I do that," Brown said.

MIDLAND'S Jim Kemper overcame some big odds in the lack luster pole vault with a second place 12-6 to win another Bulldog region berth. Permian Sophomore Brent Kelley won the event with a 12-6 and in an event that was expected to bust 13

Kemper was just glad he showed up, "I had a temperature of 101 Thursday and my Mom really didn't want me to compete today. I tried to call and tell the coach I couldn't make it, but I couldn't get anyone, so I decided to try. Also Allen Chick (a teammate) broke my pole and I had to use a shorter one. I couldn't grip it very high. I really didn't think there was any hope for me today."

Lee also qualified both relay teams for region by setting two meet records. Lee posted a 41.80 in the sprint relay with Williams brothers, Troy Barber, and Carlton Johnson, and then set the 1600 relay record with a blazing 3:18.36 behind Barber, Goodley, and the Williams team. Both were season's bests.

SAN ANGELO got the margin for the team title by placing one, two, three in the 400 meters with Randy Bartlett leading the way with a record 48.98. The Bobcats also got a double winner out of Paul Hayes in the high junmp and long jump. Abilene Cooper's Billy Mitchell was a big surprise in the discus with a 172-2, an event in which he had never gone over 165 feet. Abilene High's Loyal Proffitt won the 110 hurdles with a 14.50 to complete the winners

Philly holds 2-1 lead

Erving's 22 sparks 76ers

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Julius Erving scored 22 points and helped contain Boston star Larry Bird with a brilliant defensive effort to lead the Philadelphia 76ers to a 110-100 victory over the Celtics Friday night and a 2-1 lead in the National Basketball Association Eastern Conference playoff

Bird had scored 67 points in the first two games of the series, but although he led the Celtics with 22 points, he was unable to dominate play as he had in the earlier games.

Reserve guard Andrew Toney added 19 points for Philadelphia, giving the rookie 80 in the three games so far. Lionel Hollins and Bobby Jones contributed 16 points apiece and Darryl Dawkins scored 15 for Philadel-

The fourth game of the best-ofseven series will be played here Sunday afternoon before the series returns to Boston for Game 5 Wednesday night.

The lead changed hands five times in the early going before Philadelphia pulled away with 11 straight points for a 21-11 advantage with 4:25 to go in the first period. Erving, Maurice Cheeks and Hollins hit jumpers, Hollins scored on a fast-break lavup and Bobby Jones capped the two-minute flurry with a three-point play.

Boston, which missed nine of its first 11 shots, closed within five before an 8-2 spurt in the final two minutes gave the 76ers a 31-22 lead after the opening period. Philadelphia stretcaed the margin to as many as 18 points in the second quarter and led 62-47 at halftime.

While Rhiladelphia shot 50 percent from the field in the first half, Boston made just 14 of 41 attempts for 34 percent. Celtics' center Robert Parish was scoreless in the half, missing all five of his shots, while the Boston reserves shot b collective 3-for-12.

Boston made a brief run in the third quarter, pulling within nine at 75-66 on a basket by Bird following an offensive rebound with 4:28 in the third quarter, but Bobby Jones scored six points and Toney five as Philadelphia turned back that challenge by outscoring the Celtics 14-7 to take an 89-73 lead into the final period. Boston made one last charge, reeling off nine straight points early in the fourth quarter and closing to 100-94 with 4:02 to play. But a layup by Dawkins followed by two free throws apiece by Cheeks and Erving clinched the victory for the 76ers.

Chi-Cubs suffer 10th loss in row

Mike Schmidt couldn't wait to get to Wrigley field, his favorite hitting haven, and the National League's Most Valuable Player of 1980 responded in his usual manner.

Schmidt blasted a tworun homer to cap a fourrun fifth inning, leading Steve Carlton and the Philadelphia Phillies to a 6-4 victory over Chicago Friday, stretching the Cubs' losing streak to 10 games.
"I like to come to Chicago," said Schmidt. who has hit 31 of his 287 career homers in Wrigley field. "I like the town and I like the ballpark."

Schmidt also had a walk and two singles. But probably the hardest ball he hit during the game, in the seventh inning, was a shot to leftcenter that the wind held up and was caught. Carlton, 3-0, yielded 12 hits and struck out five in seven innings. He is three strikeouts short of becoming the sixth pitcher and first left-hander to record 3,000 strikeouts.

With one out in the fifth, Carlton walked. One out later, Pete Rose doubled to left, and Bake McBride singled home both runners, before Schmidt unloaded his fourth homer of the season and the 31st of his career in Wrigley Field.

The Cubs broke a string of 24 scoreless innings when they took a 1-0 lead in the first.

Luzinski homers as Chisox win

Greg Luzinski calls his change from the National to the American League a "re-birth," and the Chicago White Sox' slugger gave the Detroit Tigers a sample of his new life Friday.

Luzinksi, who was purchased by the White Sox from the Philadelphia Phillies during spring training, drilled a 10thinning homer, powering Chicago to a 3-2 victory that extended the White Sox' winning streak to four games.

The loss was the fifth in a row for the slumping Tigers.

Lamarr Hoyt, 3-0, who relieved starter Chicago

Steve Trout to start the ninth, was the winner.

Brewers romp

MILWAUKEE (AP) -Ben Oglivie and Ted Simmons belted threerun homers as the Milwaukee Brewers crushed the Kansas City Royals-6-1 Friday night.

In the first inning, an infield hit by Marshall Edwards and a single by Cecil Cooper preceded Oglivie's third homer of the year; hit off Rich Gale, 1-1. Gale then held the Brewers hitless until Roy Howell singled with two out in the sixth.

Simmons's second home run of the season came in the seventh off reliever Dan Quisenberry after Cooper singled and Oglivie walked.

The Royals had been shut out for 18 successive innings until Willie Aikens hit his second homer of the year with two out in the Kansas City sixth.

Hal McRae and Amos Otis followed with singles, chasing winner Jim Slaton, 2-1. Reggie Cleveland relieved and retired John Wathan on a

MC's Sports Banquet slated at Center

Members of Midland College's five athletic teams will be honored May 5 at the annual All Sports Banquet, it was announced by Athletic Director Delnor Poss.

"This year the banquet will be held in the Chaparral center in order to provide more space and better acoustics," Poss said. "we also can accommodate more people who might like to attend the banquet than we could at the Student Center in past years."

Banquet tickets are $4.50 and may be obtained at the Chaparral center ticket office or college athletic offices in the Physical Education Building. Deadline is 5 p.m. May 1. "This should be one of our more exciting banquets," Poss said. "All our teams have done well this year. The basketball team won 30 games and lost just three in winning MC's first Western Junior College Conference title. We had our first all-America basketball player in Charles Johnson. Both our men's and women's teams have been doing well. Our women's golf team is headed for its best season ever and our men's squad has done

Due to the number of athletes to be honored, there will be no guest speaker this year.

Rangers eliminate Blues

NEW YORK (AP) - Rookie Lance Nethery's rebound goal stemmed a St.Louis Blues second-peri-od comeback Friday night and vaulted the New York Rangers to a 7-4 National Hockey League playoff victory that moved the Rangers into the Stanley Cup Nethery's spectacular effort, in which he skated around and through three Blues, then put his own rebound past St. Louis goaltender Mike Liut, culminated New York's six-game quarterfinal upset of the Blues. St. Louis, which finished second overall in the regular-season standings to the Rangers' 13th, had beaten the Rangers all four times the teams met during the season.

BUT THE Rangers controlled most of this series, taking advantage of a leaky St.Louis defense and miscues by Liut, an All-Star goalie. Nethery's goal was typical of the Rangers' ability to capitalize on

New York bolted to a 3-0 first-period lead on goals by Steve Vickers, Anders Hedberg and Ron Duguay. Vickers beat Liut from the slot at 3:27; Hedberg's weak wrist shot somehow snuck through Liut's pads at 5:49, and Duguay, thwarted by Liut on a short-handed breakaway, netted the rebound at 16:10. After Barry Beck wristed a 30-footer past Liut at 1:59 of the middle session, the Rangers seemed to relax and the Blues came alive, scoring three times in 1 minute, 50 seconds.

BERNIE FEDERKO beat New York goalie Steve Baker on a breakaway only 17 seconds after Beck's goal. Fifty-eight seconds after that, Rick LaP-ointe scored on a two-on-one dash to make it 4-2. And, at 4:06, Blues defenseman Joe Micheletti stole a weak clearing pass and fed Federko, who knocked in a short wrist shot.

The Blues clearly had New York reeling but the Rangers once again showed the resiliency that has marked their playoff performances, steadfastly protecting Baker and ending the Blues' surprising season — St.Louis rose from 10th to second in the NHL this vear.

New York's Peter Wallin and St.Louis' Ed Kea exchanged long-range tallies in the third period and. when New York's Ulf Nilsson blasted home a 40-foot drive, the Rangers — who were 30-36-14 this season — clinched the triumph to continue their remarkable post-season run.

Morgan's 66 good for NO golf lead gan completed a 6-under-par 66 with a string of four consecutive "3's" and established a one-stroke lead Friday in the second round of the $350,000 USF&G New Orleans Open Golf Tour-

Morgan's eagle-birdie-par-birdie closing burst completed a day of exceptionally low scoring, probably the lowest on the PGA Tour this year, and lifted him out of a pack of more than a dozen men scrambling for the lead.

The non-practicing optometrist, still bothered by an injured left wrist that forced him out of Wednesday's pro-am, had a 36-hole total of 134, 10 shots under par on the 7,080-yard Lakewood Country Club cours.

Veteran Dave Eichelberger, a winner last week in the Tallahassee Open, shot a 67 in the near-perfect playing conditions — mild temperatures with just the hint of a breeze from ancient cypress trees - and was a single shot back at 135. "I feel like I'm playing real good," said Eichelberger, who hasn't yet made a bogey in the tournament. "My confidence is up and I feel like I'm right on top of my game. I can't keep somebody else from shooting 63 and beating me, but I feel like I can hang

The big group at 136, 8-under par, included former Masters champion Fuzzy Zoeller, J.C. Snead, Wayne Levi, Jay Haas, Scott Hoch, Barry Jaeckel, Mike Reid, David Edwards and Keith Fergus.

Tom Watson, the Masters champion and defending titleholder here, managed a 69 despite a triple bogey-7 on the fifth hole, where he hit one out of bounds. He remained in the hunt at 138, four strokes back with 36 holes to

The only upset Friday was a minor one, as Teacher ousted the No.3 seed, Vitas Gerulaitis, 7-5, 6-4; Tanner, meanwhile, breezed to a 6-1, 6-4 triumph over seventh-seeded Brian

Lendl, a 21-year-old from Czechoslovakia, will face Teacher in the semis and Solomon and Tanner will battle for the other spot in Sunday's finals, which will carry a $60,000 win-

Teacher, who attacked the net and volleyed well against Gerulaitis, said he knows he has his work cut out for him against Lendl, but is not overly concerned.

"I played well today and I'm not going to play any different against Lendl," Teacher said. "I'm not worried about meeting him.' The two met three times on the Asian tour last year, with Lendl win-

In the victory over Gerulaitis, Teacher broke service in the deciding game of the first set, the only service break in the set. In the second, Gerulaitis shot out to a 4-2 lead, but then Teacher broke service twice, including the 10th and deciding game.

Lendl, meanwhile, had little trouble with Smith, breaking away from a 2-2 tie in the first set to win nine of the

Nagle-Thomson birdie into lead

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Kel Nagle knocked in seven birdies including one from a bunker — and Peter Thomson added another, giving the Australians a 1-shot lead Friday after 36 holes in the Legends of Golf Tournament.

Nagle and Thomson combined for a second-day round of 7-under-par 63 for a 128 total — 12 under par over the tight but treacherous Onion Creek Golf Club.

The 60-year-old Nagle shot a 6-under par 29 on his own ball on the back nine. He birdied the 10th, 13th, 14th, 15th, 16th and 18th holes while his partner cheered him on.

"All I did was just stand on the side and watch him putt," said Thomson. "I hardly ever had to play my ball."

The 21-team field in the best-ball tournament is competing for a first-place prize of $70,000. Each player is guaranteed $5,-

The Thomson-Nagle showing over the 6,584-yard, par-70 course gave them a 1-shot lead over Gene Littler and Bob Rosburg, who also shot 63 for an 11-under-par total. There were three groups at 10-under-par 130, including defending champions Art Wall and Tommy Bolt, Arnold Palmer and Dow Finsterwald, and Mike Souchak and Charlie Sifford.

Nagle chipped in off the green from 25 feet to birdie the first hole, then made putts of 16, 12, 2, 4 and 10 feet on the back nine. He holed a 20-yard bunker shot on the 440-yard par-4 No.14 for

"I was there merely in an advisory role," said Thomson, who made a 16-footer for a birdie on the 377-yard No. 3 hole. "When he (Nagle) holed that bunker shot it really got him going," said Bolt whose team struggled to a 3-under-par 67.

By DAVE O'HARA

AP Sports Writer
BOSTON (AP) — The change in atmosphere is noticeable to even the occasional visitor to the Boston clubhouse in chummy Fenway Park. From Manager Ralph Houk and his coaches on down, the Red Sox are fun to be around once again.

Once known as the country club set, the Red Sox rid themselves of that tag by wimning American League pennants in 1967 and 1975. However, things began to fall apart in 1976, even though the team had an apparent winning nucleus for years ahead.

Manager Don Zimmer pulled loose strings together in his first full season in 1977 for a second place finish. Then the club blew a big lead and eventually lost to the New York Yankees in a playoff in

That was the beginning of the end for the Zimmer regime. The Red Sox split into cliques. Most were pretty good guys, but team unity was lacking. Although regarded as a smart baseball man by his peers, Zimmer became the fall guy as the once mighty machine slipped to a tie for fourth, 19 games

He was fired.

At one point last August, things became so bad that veteran Tony Perez, owner of five championship rings earned with the Cincinnati Reds, ripped his teammates for their losing attitude.

General Manager Haywood Sullivan, the chief target of bitter fans, began a major overhaul of the team by luring Houk out of two years of retirement in Florida. Houk, who managed the Yankees for 11 years and the Detroit Tigers for five, had become bored with fishing and golfing.

Houk took over as the Red Sox were faced with personnel headaches. All-Stars Rick Burleson, Fred Lynn and Carlton Fisk were headed into option years on contracts signed in 1976. Slugger Butch Hobson was unhappy as a part-time third basemen.

Sullivan cleaned house. He traded Burleson and Hobson to California for Carney Lansford, Rick Miller and Mark Clear. Then he sent Lynn and Steve Renko to the Angels for Frank 1 anana and Joe

Fenway is chummy again

Rudi. Houk was ready for the challenge when spring training started. The loss of Fisk to free agency and the Chicago White Sox, didn't shake him up. He simply promoted Gary Allenson, a two-year backup catcher, to replace Fisk. Houk quickly won his players' respect. He offered them time off in training. And, probably most important, any chewing out is done behind a closed door in his office. "There's a big change around here this year," said Perez, only a couple weeks away from his 39th birthday. "We're having fun. We all like and respect Ralph, but there's more to it than a change in managers. Everybody is happy, talking and laughing and pulling for each other.

One or two guys, even superstars, don't win ball games. It takes a team to win. And that's what we have this year, a team playing together."

Competing in a division with the Yankees, Baltimore Orioles, Milwaukee Brewers, Detroit Tigers and Cleveland Indians, the Red Sox are picked as also-rans. But Houk is optimistic.

"I like what I see here," he said. "I'm not predicting any pennant, but we're going to surprise a lot of people. We're not just going to win our share of ballgames. We're going to win more than our

Asked how he would react to complaints about lack of playing time, or squawks from pitchers about being lifted quickly, Houk said: "If they don't like it

That sounded like the old major. Although approaching 62, Ralph Houk still is not a man to challenge

FSU back hit with charges

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) - Michael Whiting, starting fullback for Florida State, has been charged with two counts of battery in connection with a barroom brawl two months

State Attorney Don Modesitt said charges were filed Thursday against Whiting, 22, a junior from St. Petersburg, Fla. He is the seventh FSU football player to be charged with a crime during the past two months.

Florida State finished the 1980 season with a 10-2 record and was ranked fifth in the nation after losing 18-17 to Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl.

On March 11, six Seminoles, including All America noseguard Ron Simmons, were charged with aiding grand retail theft in connection with televisions and stereos stolen from a local department store.

"I don't want to comment on it." FSU Coach Bobby Bowden said when asked about the latest allegations against one of his players. "I'm tired of all that."

Storm precautions urged during spring showers

By TERRY WILKS For Rex Worrell

Rain, rain, is all we seem to be able to make happen at Hogan Park this past week. Thunderstorms have slowed play on the course with lighning the most threatening factor. As there have been many deaths and injuries from lightning on golf courses, all players, caddies and sponsors of golf are urged to take every precaution for protection of persons against lightning. The National Bureau of Standards points out "If golf clubs could be impressed with the necessity of calling off matches before the storm is near enough to be hazardous, the cases of multiple injury or death among players and spectators could be eliminated."

Raising golf clubs or umbrellas above the head adds to the element of personal hazard during electrical storms. Metal spikes on golf shoes do little to increase the hazard, according to the bureau.

THIS WEEK in golf, O.D. Huckabee hit a perfect 5-iron shot into the hole on hole No. 10. O.D., a Ranchland Hills member, playing here on Mon-day had nothing but good things to say about the shape of the course, especially the greens. Congratulations, O.D. for a superb shot, and hole-in-ghost of Jim "Jumbo" Elliott prevailed on Franklin Field Friday as Villanova came from behind with 200 meters left to win the distance medley relay of the Penn Relays track and field meet for the 16th straight year.

Wildcats win one for 'Jumbo Jim'

Villanova's Sidney Maree of South Africa edged ahead of Georgetown's John Gregorek as the field reached the halfway point of the final lap in the 1,600-meter anchor leg. Maree then ran away from the Hoyas' anchor man to win by 15 yards.

Villanova's winning time was 9:36.78, with Georgetown clocked in Arkansas ran third, 9:39.45; Virginia fourth, 9:41.36, and Fairleigh-Dickinson fifth, 9:43.89.

The Villanova runners wore black ribbons just below a strap of their white jerseys in memory of Elliott, who died of a heart attack last month. He was recognized as one of the world's premier track coaches.

"The thought of Jumbo definitely was there today," said Maree. "I remember his words before every time we ran — 'Let it hurt' — and I did today. I thought of those words when I challenged Gregorek."

Earlier in the first day of the twoday meet, being held on a new artificial surface, South Carolina's Tony Rambo successfully defended his 400meter intermediate hurdles championship in 50.9, defeating Penn State football player Paul Lankford, who gan was third in 51.2. Carl Lewis, a Houston sophomore from nearby Willingboro, N.J., won the long jump with a Penn Relays meet record 26 feet, 9 inches. He erased the 24-year-old record of 26-11/2 set in 1957 by Indiana's Greg Bell.

Maree said if Villanova had lost the distance-medley relay "we would have shown that not only is Jumbo gone, but the tradition is gone. But now we can say his spirit still lives."

Southern Methodist's Richard Olsen won the hammer throw, breaking his own collegiate record with a throw of 242 feet. 1 inch. Olsen has broken the hammer mark three times this year.

The 23-year-old Olsen, from Norway, said he was proud of the record, but that he wouldn't be satisfied until he went over 250 feet.

In trials for Saturday's finals, Tennessee led the 400-meter relay in 39.97, while Houston's 1:22.88 was the best of six qualifiers in the 800-meter relay. Michigan, South Carolina State and Tennessee and Houston qualified in both sprint relays.

Other qualifiers in the 400 were North Carolina State and Adelphi. Additional 800 qualifiers were Seton Hall and Penn.

In the 100-meter dash qualifying, Andrew Bruce of Michigan turned in the best time; 10.40, while Cletus Clark of Houston led the 110-meter hurdle qualifiers in 13.95.

Lattany anchors Dogs to record win at Drake

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) - Mel Lattany anchored Georgia to a record-breaking victory in the 800-meter relay and earned a chance for an unprecedented fourth straight victory in the 100 meters at the 72nd Drake Relays Friday.

Lattany also anchored the Bulldogs to the fastest qualifying time in the 400-meter relay, and Georgia, in a splendid first-day showing, got a first-place finish from Darryl Simmons in the long jump.

On a perfect, sunny day, Kansas State's Joe Bramlage completed a Texas-Kansas-Drake relays sweep in the javelin, but David Lee of Southern Illinois was thwarted in his bid for a similar sweep in the 400-meter intermediate hurdles by Indiana's Nate Lundy.

A crowd of 16,100 saw Georgia streak to a record of 1 minute, 21.08 seconds in the 800 relay with a team of Ricky Campbell, Simmons, Paul was 1:21.7 by Texas A&M in 1970. Lattany led all qualifiers in the 100 with a wind-aided time of 10.08 seconds. That was better than his Drake record of 10.24 set last year, but the 7.4 mph wind was over the allowable

Campbell, who was third here a year ago, and football star Herschel Walker also qualified for Saturday's final in the 100 as did Oklahoma State's Ron Ingram, who is seeking a Texas-Kansas-Drake sweep.

Lattany started his busy day by anchoring the Bulldogs' 400-meter team to preliminary-race time of 40.16 seconds. The Georgia unit of Campbell, Walker, Claude Austin and Lattany will be a solid favorite in Saturday's final and has a shot at Auburn's meet record of 39.31.

"I'm in the best condition of my life and will go in tomorrow with a very high attitude," Lattany said.

WEST TEXAS SPORTS 5-6 Webb should be treat for Chap fans

"This is really an exciting player that specta-tors will enjoy watching," enthuses Midland College basketball Coach Jerry Stone after signing 5-6 Anthony "Spud" Webb out of Dallas Wilmer-Hutchins High School.

All-district and 1980-81's MVP in district, Webb also was named to first team all-region and the Texas Sportswriters Association all-state first team. He was named player of the year in the Dallas-Fort Worth metroplex, averaging 24 points a game as floor leader for coach Homer Smith's Wilmer-Hutchins squad this year.

"Fans really get excited when they see Spud dunk a basketball, despite his size," Stone said, "But he is a complete player who can shoot, make the good passes, and penetrate the defense. He really runs the team on the floor and makes good things happen.

"Midland College has had a number of excellent small point guards, going back to Tommy Parks and Cullen Mayfield, but we think Spud can be equally as good for the Chaps."

Webb, who was sought by a number of major universities, is the third player signed by Stone this season as he seeks to replace eight departing sophomores including juco All-American Charles Johnson, who is going to Texas Tech. Earlier signees include Jerome Crowe from South Garland and Reginald Hurd from Dallas South Oak Cliff.

Then there was a helicopter-like flying machine designed to use kites for lift. There is no evidence that the machine was even built, said associate project director Leonard S. Reich.

During the late 1920s, Edison used goldenrod as substitute for rubber. Tire pioneer Harry Firestone gave Edison four goldenrod tires, but the venture failed, though Jenkins still isn't sure why.

Historic fire never goes out for 81-year-old lawyer

BONN, West Germany (AP) — A lawyer who watched the Reichstag burn 48 years ago is still trying to convince a West German court the Nazis executed an innocent man for setting the blaze.

Robert Kempner, 81-year-old lawyer for the family of the man he says was unjustly executed for the fire, said Friday he will keep trying to set the record straight despite a legal setback this week.

Adolf Hitler used the fire that burned part of the German Parliament building in 1933 as an excuse to crack down on th Nazis' poliical enemies and consolidate his absolute

Many historians speculate that the Natis set the fire themselves in order

Kempner said he is appealing a ruling by West Berlin's highest court that let stand the Nazi verdict of guilt for accused Communist Marinus van der Lubbe, a 23-year-old Dutchman executed after a show trial that convicted him of arson and treason.

The ruling has sparked a new de-bate on whether Nazi judges, who condemned thousands to death on specious grounds under the Hitler regime, should be brought to justice.

Kempner, who was U.S. deputy chief of counsel at the Nuremberg war crimes trial, maintains residences in West Germany and Lansthe courts to take testimony from three witnesses who could cast doubt on van der Lubbe's guilt and testify to Nazi involvement in the fire.

Kempner declined to identify them but said one is a "high official of the Berlin police" who was in charge of the arson investigation until called off by Hermann Goering, then Prussian interior minister and later Hitler's air force commander.

The attorney recalled his own encounters with Goering, including one outside the Reichstag as it burned on Feb. 27, 1933.

"I was at a meeting with reporter friends, when the call came — hurry to the Reichstag," he said. "I went along, and when we were standing outside ... Goering came down the steps of the burning building and talked to us, and said the Communists made the arson.

Kempner said he didn't believe it then any more than he does now.

Goering was sentenced to death for war crimes, but he swallowed a poison capsule two hours before his scheduled execution.

"This fire never goes out," Kempner said of the Reichstag innocence in West German courts since 1955 and won a ruling in 1968 that van der Lubbe's execution for treason was wrong.

The arson verdict remained intact, however, until last December when a West Berlin court called the Nazi decision a "clear miscarriage of justice" and acquitted van der Lubbe.

Berlin's Supreme Court overturned that decision Wednesday. It said there was no legal ground for the ruling and ordered the case closed.

Kempner said he filed a petition to reopen the case with West Germany's highest civil court. He also pledged to take the case to the Allied Control Commission, West Berlin's ultimate legal authority, if West German courts fail to resolve it.

Martin Hirsch, justice of the country's highest criminal court, criticized the latest decision in a broadcast interview Friday. He said the greatest shame of the West German legal system since the war was its failure to punish the Nazi-era "murderers in judges' robes."

this weekend. Under French law, if no candidate wins an absolute majority in the first round Sunday, the top two vote-getters go into a runoff two weeks later. The polls give none of the 10 candidates more than 27 percent of the vote, making a runoff almost certain.

For months, the conventional wisdom has predicted a May 10 contest between President Valery Giscard d'Estaing, who is seeking a second seven-year term, and Socialist rival Francois Mitterrand - a repeat of the 1974 election. But Chirac's steady rise in recent polls is giving many plundits second

American kids cholesterol low

NEW YORK (AP) - American 13year-olds have lower cholesterol levels than children from many other nations and are heavier, taller and smoke more than most of the other children, a new study reveals.

The study, by the Mahoney Institute of the American Health Foundation here, found that children in the United States and around the world show some of the same health problems known to increase the risk of heart disease in adults.

The scientists warned that their findings should be used with "some caution" in making comparisons since there was no effort made to select a representative sampling of children from each country.

Nevertheless, they said, the study shows there are significant differences in these risk factors from nation to nation.

"In general, these differences do not relate to genetics but to national life-style. The pediatric precursors should be viewed as potential risk factors of disease in adult life." they said in the March issue of the foundation's journal, Preventive Medicine.

Data for the study were gathered from 5,331 13-year-olds enrolled in the foundation's "Know Your Body" school health programs in 15 countries. Investigators compared height, weight, blood pressure, cholesterol levels and smoking habits.

The American children, all from the New York City area, ranked fifth from the bottom in the average level of cholesterol in their blood, the scien-

Reporters' integrity greatest asset, say news editors

By RANDOLPH E. SCHMID Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - News executives are vowing to tighten procedures after a Washington Post reporter's admission of fabricating a Pulitzer Prize-winning story, but they say the integrity of their journalists remains their greatest asset. "A newspaper will stand or fall on the honesty of its reporters," said Ned Thomas, publisher of the Port An-

Ringo the perfect Starr for movie 'Caveman

By BOB THOMAS Associated Press Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP) Director-writer Carl Gottlieb ate a hearty lunch over an interview at the posh Bistro Gardens. No wonder. He had been on the picket line all morning. Gottlieb, like the other 8,300 members of the Writers Guild of America, was on strike against the motion picture and television producers. He had done his morning duty at 20th Century-Fox studio, where he has an office ("I thought about using my parking space on the lot but decided against it").

He presented his interviewer with a flyer MANAGEMENT FAILED TO BARGAIN IN GOOD FAITH!") and then settled down to talk about "Caveman," the new United Artists release he directed and cowrote (with Rudy De Luca). It is all about cavemen and dinosaurs, with a cast including Ringo Starr, Barbara Bach, Dennis Quaid, Jack Gilford and Oakland Raider footballer John Matuszak.

The project started three and a half years ago during a conference with producers Lawerence Turman and David Foster. A comedy version of "One Million B.C." was suggested. "I thought the Racquel Welch version was pretty funny," said Gottlieb.

He started work on a script. Although his biggest successes were coscripting the two "Jaws" films, his roots were in comedy, dating back to his start with "The Committee" troupe in San Francisco. His other script credits include "Which Way is Up?" with Richard Pryor and "The Jerk" with Steve Martin.

"Caveman" was declined by Warner Brothers, rejected by a narrow vote at 20th Century-

Fox, accepted by United Artists. Like many screenwriters who see their work mangled by other hands, Gottlieb wanted to direct. He trained by directing a Steve Martin short, "The Absent-Minded Waiter' and segments of "Laverne and Shirley" and

"Delta House" for TV. Crucial to "Caveman" was the casting of Atouk, the hip member of the Misfit Tribe.

"What we needed was a charming, romantic star who was short and unprepossessing," said Gottlieb. "After Robin Williams, Dustin Hoffman and Dudley Moore, who is there? The casting chief Lynn Stalmaster suggested Ringo Starr, and I said, 'Right!' Especially since Gary Coleman isn't old

Gottlieb checked with Richard Lester, for whom he had acted in "Petulia." Lester had directed Starr in the Beatles movies, "A Hard Day's Night" and "Help!" and assured that Ringo was a solid performer who could improvise during scenes.

Still concerned, Gottlieb was finally convinced by a musician friend who observed:

Beatles, Rolling Stones and The Who were really oriented to show business, not merely rock 'n'

In any case, Ringo would have no worry about dialouge. The cavepeople speak a prehistoric jargon which is unintelligible to the modern ear. The only English in the movie is spoken by a visitor from China.

"Ringo was always on time — a real, old-fa-shioned professional," Gottlieb testified. "We shot 55 days, and he had only two days off.

'Aloha Paradise worth forgetting

By PETER J. BOYER AP Television Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) - ABC is dispensing some more placebo television, airy TV fill that carries a title and has stars and occupies a spot on the schedule but really doesn't exist at all.

The idea behind placebo television, which has become a specialty at ABC, is to fool the viewer into believing he's get-ting a real TV program when in fact there's nothing coming across the tube but a gelatin capsule that dissolves away under the slightest scrutiny.

You might have seen ABC's newest sugar pill, "Aloha Paradise." Then again, you probably wouldn't remember. This show, a spring try-out program, wouldn't register an image if held next to a mirror.

If "Love Boat" is Muzak you can see, 'Aloha Paradise" is but the illusion of Muzak you can see. It comes from Aaron Spelling, who is ABC's placebo pusher. He also makes "Love Boat," "Fantasy Island" and "Hart to Hart," which together weigh less than a butterfly

"Aloha Paradise's" non-stories flit about the edges of sitcom and drama without ever quite taking the plunge into either. Debbie Reynolds does the Ricardo Montalban-Gavin MacLeod number, playing chipper Hawaiian resort hostess to a relentless group of vacationing zombies, bloodless standard-issue TV guest stars who come equipped with problems that can be resolved painlessly in an hour.

Ray Bolger and Phil Harris appeared one week as a couple of old pals who try to snooker each other in pursuit of a dame (Harriet Nelson). The routine was much better accomplished by Spanky and Alfalfa in a 1936 "Little Rascals"

As in "Love Boat," the lead character is supplied with assistants, who seem to roam around the set sheepishly wondering whether they really get paid for this.

But Fosse is the master whose unmistakable, highly energized style stamps "Dancin" with his signature. Benedict danced in and served as dance captain (crew boss) of the Broadway show for two and a half years. Now, as chief assistant, she re-creates the master's touch for the traveling company of "Dancin'." One group's in the United States, a second in London, and Benedict hopes to estab-lish a company in Paris.

"I teach them how to to the show, eight times week and still be fresh. It can't be just a bunch of steps. You have to work with your whole being because Fosse has this idea that the body can be contorted like silly putty." Benedict's been principal dancer, singer (her voice range goes from lyric soprano to a lusty belt), violinist, folk guitarist, stage and movie actress ("All That Jazz" and the recently completed "The Fan.") She's also in the chorus of Broadway's '42nd Street" and has been a 7:30 p.m. to maybe 10:30 p.m. and you have all this free time. But it doesn't work that way. With a show like 'Dancin" you need more time to warm up because the first dance is the hardest on your feet and physically it's a shock to your body. You gotta be ready. Then you have two matinees a week, plus company rehearsals, company calls, les-sons, and when you have some time off you're so many other things.

'Nighthawks' a thriller in Hitchcock tradition

By BOB THOMAS

NIGHTHAWKS is a breathtaking thriller that would do honor to Alfred Hitchcock. In fact, director Bruce Malmuth evokes memories of the late, great Hitch with masterful pacing and visual brilliance (Hitch would never have allowed such vulgar language, however). The story pits a decoy-squad New York cop (Sylvester Stallone) vs. a notorious inter-national terrorist (Rutger Hauer) who siezes United Nations hostages aboard the Roosevelt Island tram.
The action is continuous, helping to sublimate most of the plot's incongruities. An action hero for the first time, Stallone meets all standards, receiving strong support from partner Billy Dee Williams. Dutch actor Hauer emerges as a major find in the killer role. (Rated R, with much violence and street language).

Twenty-five years ago Dad placed this snapshot in Baby Book - Volume Two. His own firm hand wrote the caption, PRINCESS - HER

EASTER BONNET. While Dad often poked fun at women's hats and had a sort of patient tolerance of the whole fashion bit, Easter was a day he took very seriously

As I grew up he used to reason with me. "Princess," he'd say, "if Christ never rose from the dead - well those disciples sure fooled a hundred generations.

"But you and I believe he did arise, And that makes Easter the greatest day of all-time. You can't really celebrate it, therefore, by what you put on your head. You can only celebrate it, Princess, by what you put in your heart."

With Mother and our-two children, Bob and I will be in church next week . . . renewing in our own hearts that firm belief in eternal Life that Dad always cherished.

HE'S INNOCENT: "KILL HIM ANYWAY!"

Herod was delighted at the opportunity to see Jesus, for he had heard a lot about Him and had been hoping to see Him perform a miracle. He asked Jesus question after question, but there was no

Meanwhile, the chief priests and other religious leaders stood there shouting their accusations. Now Herod and his soldiers began mocking and ridiculing Jesus; and putting a kingly robe on Him, they sent Him back to Pilate. That day Herod and Pilate--enemies before--became fast friends.

Then Pilate called together the chief priests and other Jewish leaders, along with the people, and announced his verdict: "You brought this man to me, accusing him of leading a revolt against the Roman government. I have examined him thoroughly on this point and find him innocent. Herod came to the same conclusion and sent him back to us-nothing this man has done calls for the death penalty. I will therefore have him scourged with leaded thongs, and release him."

But now a mighty roar rose from the crowd as with one voice they shouted, "Kill him, and release Barabbas to us!" (Barabbas was in prison for starting an insurrection in Jerusalem against the government, and for murder.)

Pilate argued with them, for he wanted to release Jesus. But they shouted, "Crucify him! Crucify him!"

Once more, for the third time, he demended, "Why? What crime has he committed? I have found no reason to sentence him to death. I will therefore scourge him and let him go." But they shouted louder and louder for Jesus's death, and their voices prevailed. Luke 23:8-23

Mrs. America says you must believe

She says you must put God first and think positive

By BETH MOHR Copley News Service

HOLLYWOOD - Carol Ann McEwen knew she was going to be Mrs. America 1980 weeks before the pageant took place that April in Las Vegas, Nev.

No one told her and she had no crystal ball to give her a privileged look into the future. She knew it because she believed it.

'When I was 25, I was very jealous of my husband's accomplishments, his positive image and the assurance he always seemed to have," McEwen said in an interview. "He had all of the confidence that I lacked. I thought I was unattractive and dumb and without much of a personality.

"Then, about seven years ago, I bought a copy of Norman Vincent Peale's book, 'The Power of Positive Thinking.' I read it five times and began reading every other self-improvement book I could find. They all agree that we have to believe in our-

"I knew I had to become a more positive person. The change was gradual, but I began to feel that I was living in color instead of the drab grays that I used to think filled my life. Things began to get better."

This day, she looked like anything but a woman who had thought of herself as unattractive. Her size 6. slim, straight skirt and matching blouse fit her 5-foot-7-inch frame as perfectly as any model could wish. Her round, pert face is blessed with a flawless complexion and dominated by large gray eyes.

Looking beautiful and years younger than 35, she is certain that her appearance began to change for the better as her attitudes about herself became more positive.

It was her husband, Clark, who first envisioned her as Mrs. America. A sales representative for a commercial printing firm, he was reading the newspaper in their Austin, Texas, home one evening when he looked up and said:

"You are going to be Mrs. America. You have to be Mrs. Texas first and this item in the paper tells how we can enter you."

McEwen became interested in the project and the couple's two sons, Clark Jr., 13, and Michael, 10, thought the idea was exciting. McEwen's actual participation took positive thinking plus work.

After we had sent in the entrance form for the Mrs. Texas pageant, I began to think about the expense," McEwen said. "The entrance fee was $275. I needed an evening gown, a swimsuit and other new clothes. When the president of the pageant called to ask why he hadn't heard from me, I told him I didn't think we could afford it at that time. Then, he mentioned that some entrants had sponsors to help with the expense."

The McEwens decided to give it a "It could be scary and even a little embarrassing to ask people to sponsor you, but I kept seeing myself as Mrs. America and wouldn't let myself be afraid. I avoided any negative thoughts," McEwen said. "A dress shop provided the gown and my hairdresser volunteered to pay half of the entrance fee. I had sponsors in no

She won the Mrs. Texas title and went on to the Mrs. America competition still clinging to her positive

"Once during the Mrs. America pageant, I let fear block my thoughts," she said. "I walked up on the stage to make a talk, realizing that I was surrounded by so many beautiful women and remembering that the biggest thing I had ever done before an audience was to give a book report in the sixth grade. I felt the fear grip me."

Then she revealed that she adds prayers to positive thoughts:

"I looked at the others and said, God take away my fear and let your Holy Spirit fill my mind and my body so that I can think clearly and intelligently.' I wondered if I was afraid to fail or afraid to win. Then, I said, 'God, I want to be Mrs. America for my family and myself."

When she was a small child, her mother converted to Catholicism and her father remained Protestant. She and her brother were given the opportunity to make their own choices when they were 12. Both became Catholics, the religion of McEwen's family today. Her husband gave up a career as a Catholic brother to marry

She met him after her own brother entered St. Anthony's Catholic Semi-nary in San Antonio, Texas, when she was 16. After an illness, he returned home to convalesce, and another brother, Clark, came to visit him.

Another of McEwen's attitudinal accomplishments is visualization.

Methodist panel adopts overseas ransom guide

NEW YORK (AP) The United Methodist Church's world division has adopted guidelines that in cases of kidnapping of overseas personnel "no ransom will be authorized."

Such a reponse would place "in jeopardy all personnel and programs of the church," the guidelines say. The guidelines, subject to review by legal counsel and approval of overseas missionaries, are similar to those recently adopted by the Southern Baptist Foreign Missions Board.

The church positions came in the wake of the recent kidnapping and subsequent killing in Colombia of an American linguist of the Wycliff Bible

The Methodist guidelines say the world division would work jointly with local leaders in any country concerned in "seeking a solution to the problem" and would "rely on local leadership to determine the motives' of any kidnappers and to suggest alternative solutions to paying ran-

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - An Islamic scholar, S. Hossein Nasr of Temple University, has been chosen to deliver the famous Gifford Lectures April 27 to May 15 at the Univer-

PINEVILLE, La. (AP) - "Today's world is perishing for want of moral order in its soul," the head of the Southern Baptist Christian Life Commission said in a recent lecture to Louisiana College students.

The Rev. Foy Valentine said unless churches get more serious about recovering and communicating moral values, Western civilization cannot survive the current moral anarchy.

DENVER (AP) - A coalition of religious and other groups opposed to nuclear weapons plans rallies, marches and other events in cities across the country this weekend under the banner of "Freeze the Arms Race.

The actions, scheduled in about 60 cities in about 25 states, call for a halt to further testing, producing and de-ployment of nuclear weapons system by the United States and the Soviet Union and resumption of arms-control negotiations.

Simultaneously, churches and synagogues in many cities are observing "Peace Sabbath" this weekend, urging a change in policies seen as em phaszing military solutions rather than political-economic solutions.

At New York's Riverside Church, the Rev. William Sloane Coffin Jr. said the Reagan administration plans to increase military spending by 50 percent during the next five years, getting the money by cutting social services for the poor. "The American government is be-coming a Robin Hood in reverse — robbing the poor to feed the mili-tary," Coffin said. Harvard University theologian Harvey Cox, in a prepared sermon for Sunday, said, "It is time to say 'no'.

Heart bypass worth money

WASHINGTON - Controversial heart bypass surgery, the expensive operation that detours blood around blocked vessels, appears to be worth the money, according to a new

But some heart experts and health economists said Wednesday that the operation still may be overused, consuming more than its share of shrinking health dollars.

Specialists from around the country, including physicians, lawyers and economists, discussed coronary artery bypass surgery at a three-day meeting which ends today.

The conference, convened by the National Center for Health Care Technology, is a followup to one held last fall at which experts concluded the operation has proven medical bene-

After the latest conference, participants will develop a statement on the economic, social and ethical implications of the surgery, which involves transplanting blood vessels from other parts of the body to the heart. "Coronary artery bypass graft sur-gery, at least as it applied to patients with symptometic coronary heart with symptomatic coronary heart disease, appears to be a reasonably cost-effective use of health care resources, said Dr. Milton Weinstein of the Harvard University School of Public Health

In just one decade, bypass operations have become the type of heart surgery performed most frequently in this country, according to Dr. Seymour Perry, director of the National Center for Health Care Technology.

"In 1970, it accounted for approximately 15 percent of all cardiac sur-gery," Perry said. "Within five years, this figure rose to over 50

Doctors have performed more than a half-million bypass operations in this country and currently are doing about 100,000 annually, he added.

Dr. Elliot Rapaport of the University of California at San Francisco said the cost of the diagnosis, surgery and followup varies around the country.

"As a national average today, it is reasonable to project that the entire work-up and management of the average surgical case is in the neighborhood of $15,000 to $20,000," Rapaport told the meeting.

With the average cost being about $17,500, "insurance pays around 80 percent of the bill with the cost to the patient being around $3,500," he con-

Weinstein and Dr. William Stason, also of the Harvard University School of Public Health, presented the costeffectiveness study, which attached dollar values to the benefits and contrasted these with the costs.

His job includes 'sign of the times'

By JULES LOH AP Special Correspondent

NEW YORK (AP) - The job demanded fluency in bilingual. Even so, he fretted. He put the application in the mail and held his breath.

The second language he had listed was American Sign Language - Ameslan - the language of the

"I half expected them to reject it," he was saying the other day, in fluent English. "But it is a language in every sense. It has its grammar, syntax, idioms. It is rich in idiom. Still, I expected at least to get an

"Instead, I was told to come immediately. They acted as if they had been sitting around waiting for me to apply.

Thus did Rick Holt become a Pan Am flight attendant, and thus have the "invisibly handicapped," as he calls them, been able to tune in on all the chit-chat from the captain, to order their coffee, tea or milk along with the other passengers, to know when to return their seat backs and tray tables to their original upright positions.

"You should see their faces light up when they discover they are not left out of things," he said. "Little things. The routine of air travel the rest of us take for granted.

"The trip becomes enjoyable for them - and for me, too. I like to feel I do something more important than just serve drinks.'

So, apparently, does Pan Am. Holt was hired three years ago. Since then, the airline has hired 15 more attendants proficient in Ameslan, and Holt has supervised a film to teach other employees how to spot and attend to a deaf passenger.

Pan Am grades its employees' language proficiency as "fair," "good" or "excellent." A fourth rating, "native," identifies the employee's own natural tongue. Holt's rating in Ameslan, as in English, is

Holt is 30. For just about half his life, well into his teens, he grew up as a vocal member (and an articulate one, at that) of what he describes as "the deaf society."

"I lived in a small town - Salem, Ohio, about 2,500 people. But the deaf society is a large one. My mother and father met at the Ohio School for the Deaf, in Columbus, so they had all their college friends, all around Ohio and beyond.

"We traveled from coast to coast. You would be surprised how many social clubs and associations there are for the deaf. It's sad, in a way, that they have to look for one another just to have a conversation, but it's a blessing that they have this net-Rick served as interpreter for his parents"— when the phone rang, or the doorbell, or something had to be ordered from the drugstore.

It was easy for him, after college, to slide into a job at the Columbus Technical Institute, where deaf students learned right along with those who could hear. His duty was to stand beside the instructor and translate his words into sign language.

"My specialty was medical lab. I had to invent to coin — literally hundreds of technical words and phrases. All have been adopted. That is how the Amesian language grows.

Holt qualified, without much effort, for the Registry of Interpreters for the Deaf and envisioned a career at being useful, in whatever way, to those with impaired hearing whom he had known from Trouble was, those early trips with his parents had leo left him with a nagging itch to travel.
