

All Around The Town

By Mary Ann Sarchet

Our high school graduating class of 1953 of Tulia High School will be having its 50-year reunion in Tulia Saturday, during the annual Picnic celebration.

I have been corresponding and talking on the phone with several members of the class, and am really looking forward to seeing all these friends again. Many of them I have not seen in many years. They will be coming from California, Florida, Colorado, Arizona and a number of cities in Texas.

The sad part of the reunion will be that some of my best friends will not be there. They have passed away, and will be remembered in memoriam.

All of our grandchildren were here Saturday, and Brandon, Meredith, Jordan and Charlie played golf at Tulia Saturday morning. Molly arrived Saturday afternoon, and had her new student orientation at Texas Tech Sunday and Monday. It had been several months since we had seen Molly, and we were very glad to get hugs from her.

I had a call from a grandson of William Albert (Bill) Ellis Monday morning. He told me that his grandfather raised the first cotton here in 1911. He operated a Phillips station here in the 1930's and a Texaco station in the 1940's.

Allen and Tish Thomas of Greenville, Texas spent several days visiting their mother, Violet Thomas, and other relatives last week.

They enjoyed visiting and musical entertainment Thursday evening in the home of Glenn and Winnie Smith.

Attending were Grover and Syble Thomas, Doris Yates, Lynn and Connie Smith, Jack and Lataine Dillard, all of Silverton; Inez Richardson of Tulia and Melvin and Lou Hutson of Gainesville, Texas.

Silverton Chamber Wraps Up Plans

President John Burson called a special meeting of the Silverton Chamber of Commerce on Tuesday, July 1, 2003, in the Pioneer Room at City Bank.

Jim Burson was selected to be master of ceremonies and to set up the agenda for the Fourth of July Concert. John said the clean-up was good and the rodeo grounds really look nice.

The steps for those who have problems getting up the ones in the rodeo stands have not been attended to. Loretha Rhoderick said they need to be done.

The 4-H youth were chosen to present the colors, and Sarah Craiker agreed to sing the National Anthem. Harvey McJimsey promised to have the flags there. Kyle Fuston suggested that someone should sell ice cream. Maybe one of the youth groups would like to do it.

John and Leon Lavy will take care of the electricity.

Many people are to be thanked for helping out. Thank you SO much if you are one of those folks!

New members are Jackie Mercer who attended the meeting; Atmos Energy, Mid-Plains Telephone, Lane Garvin, Jeanette Nickel (Mackenzie Lake Marina), Dwayne Juarez (Tropical Sno).

Others attending the meeting were Kathy Kingery and Lataine Dillard.

Next meeting was scheduled for Tuesday, July 15, to wind up the Briscoe County Birthday Celebration plans and to choose the Pioneer Couple.

We Can Control Our Anger

The Bible tells us that we should be quick to listen, but slow to become angry, and that man's anger does not achieve God's righteous purpose. Each day, we are faced with people who cannot control their anger, and when they lose their temper, they embarrass themselves and cause ill feelings to others.

Although anger is a normal emotion for self-preservation, control of this emotion is necessary for getting along in our society. Even though we all may get angry for one reason or another, when we put our lives and those around us in jeopardy, we are not acting as God would want us to.

We should concentrate on what makes us upset, and realize that when our anger causes us to be out of control, we are not only hurting ourselves, but those around us. We should try to not let other people's actions affect our emotions in a hurtful way, and seeking God's help and praying about uncontrolled anger will help us to live a more peaceful life.

*Don't give in to worry or anger;
it only leads to trouble.*

With strong fundamental market signals supporting futures prices and a steadily increasing Adjusted World Price, producers seem to have a compounding number of marketing and production decisions facing them as they enter the middle innings of the 2003 growing season.

AWP Increase Adds Costs To Loan Cotton

One of the trends many growers have been watching has been the steady increase in the Adjusted World Price for cotton.

The AWP effective for the week of July 10-17 has been announced at 50.37 cents per pound. That means the Loan Deficiency Payment rate for the July 10-17 time period is 1.63 cents per pound.

To a producer the increase in the AWP is evidence that cotton prices are moving up through a combination of tightening cotton stocks, increased demand and uncertainty of how much production there will be in 2003.

A downside of the AWP increase does exist, however, for producers who still have 2002-crop cotton in the loan. Should the AWP equal or surpass the 52-cent Upland cotton base loan rate growers become liable for paying specific charges tied to the cotton.

When the AWP is below the upland cotton base loan rate of 52 cents per pound, accrued storage charges and interest are forgiven when the cotton is redeemed and the loan is settled. The producer would only be responsible for paying storage charges accrued prior to the date the cotton entered the CCC loan.

If the AWP rises above the base loan rate then the grower is responsible for repaying all storage and interest charges when the cotton is sold and the loan is settled.

The net effect could add up to $12-15 per bale in charges growers would have to pay if they wait until after the AWP passes the Loan rate to sell their crop, or if they decide to forfeit the crop to the CCC to settle the loan.

With prudent planning growers should be able to avoid these costs. The quickest route is to go ahead and sell their 2002 cotton before the AWP rises above 52 cents, or redeem the cotton themselves and avoid paying storage and interest charges.

This strategy would prove beneficial to the producer by protecting the full amount of the loan price through the combination of the cash sale price and the remaining marketing loan gain they realize by redeeming at a lower price per pound.

Time to Think About Hedging 2003 CC Payments

Another trend many growers have already noticed is the general strengthening of futures prices across 2003 crop New York futures contracts.

One of the issues associated with increasing prices is that as new crop prices improve, 2003 counter cyclical payments (CC), authorized in the 2002 Farm Bill, will begin to shrink if the average price received by growers for the 2003 marketing year rises above the 52 base loan rate.

July Events at Caprock Canyons

Birding 101 will be the event from 9:00 until 11:00 a.m. Saturday, July 19. If you are interested in bird watching, the fastest growing sport in North America, join park officials for a short lesson in bird identification and then try your newly-acquired skills. Binoculars and bird guides are helpful, but not required. Bring plenty of water. Regular park fees apply.

Prairie Grasses will be the topic on Saturday morning, July 26, and this will be followed in the evening by a History of Caprock Canyons State Park.

The Prairie Grasses program will be from 9:00 until 11:00 a.m., and the History of Caprock Canyons State Park begins at 8:30 p.m.

the field with a good chance to take a crop to harvest will likely have the advantage of higher prices to offset any reduced CC payment rate.

CC Payment Workshops Being Scheduled

Plains Cotton Growers and the Texas Cooperative Extension Service are currently pulling together a series of meetings scheduled for early August to provide tips and strategies growers can employ to hedge against the erosion of the 2003 CC payment.

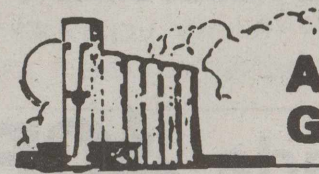

A total of three CC payment workshops have been scheduled for August 5 and 6. The two meetings scheduled for August 5 are: Plainview, at the Ollie Liner Center beginning at 9:00 a.m., and Muleshoe, at the Bailey County Coliseum starting at 2:00 p.m.

The last meeting has been tentatively scheduled for August 6 at Brownfield in the City Park Meeting Room, beginning at 9:00 a.m.
