NUMBER 29

"If you think I'm going to speak to you about something you want to hear, you're mistaken," so began the Attorney General, in last week's talk to area residents at the Lions Club annual banquet.

It was a timely speech and one we especially enjoyed.

With all the duties, business, and obligations his office is required to perform, it is a feather in our cap and a commendable gesture on the Attorney General's part to have come here last week for a speaking engagement.

It is comforting to know we in Knox City mean just as much as the folks in Dallas.

Brazos Valley Care Home was well attended Sunday afternoon during the open house celebration.

If a place of that order should be a mixture of a up-to-date hospital, boarding house, swank apartment building, plus a restricted club for the select few—then we have it here in Knox City!

We are gonna see the board of directors tomorrow and see if we can get in that club at 40!

Talked to Zane Branham Monday and he said he had hopes of moving into Branham Chevrolet Company's new building in the very near future.

As area residents will note the new building is modern in design and will definitely be an asset to the community's new building boom.

A Munday resident pointed out to us recently that although we had numerous new homes and business buildings, we were getting long on vacant buildings in our business area.

Facts speak louder than words and it's true! At present we can think of three big holes in the business area. Although we have added new buildings, we haven't added enough new businesses to ballyhoo too much about.

As far as we can ascertain, we are one business shy of the figure we had here four years ago.

Had a long visit with our State Representative Roy Arledge Friday, and Roy told us something we bet you didn't know.

The Texas Fish and Game is a money-making proposition in this state and there is another agency that makes money—$30 million a year—the Texas Liquor Control Board!

We heard we will have a game warden stationed here, but so far, haven't had the pleasure of making his acquaintance. We are acquainted with the Liquor Control Agent O. D. Wallace, however, and so far, all our relations have been friendly.

Roy was high in his praise of Knox City's school board, for they are to blame for his getting a law passed to make them have the same authority as a city on tax delinquent persons.

According to bills passed and defeated, looks to us like Roy and this year's men are conservative if not tight in spending our money. If you are for more waste, and more spending, this bunch is not in your league!

Immaculate and impeccable E. Hob Smith after almost five years of our acquaintance, finally got caught with his spats down. Well, if it were anyone else it wouldn't even be noticed, but for Hob it was horrible.

Recently we noticed that Hob was paying more attention to his obviously new tie than would ordinarily be required. When we commented on its good looks and also the fact that he can make both ends come out even, Hob confessed that he took the scissors to them occasionally—and proved the fact that the new one he was wearing had received this unique treatment.

ATTY. GEN. WAGGONER CARR SPEAKS TO LIONS HERE FRIDAY

Knox City's Lions Club members held their annual Ladies Night Banquet Friday night and master of ceremonies for the occasion was David Counts.

Counts introduced State Rep. Bill Healy of Paducah, who in turn introduced Attorney General Waggoner Carr, as principal speaker.

Carr told the capacity audience that he was not making a political speech and that what he had to say would not please most of those present. "You may not like to hear what I am going to say, but keep an open mind," he said.

"You are fortunate to be an American," Carr said, and "there are 160 million people in America. Only seven per cent of the people in the world live in the United States."

"We are losing the battle but it's not too late to turn back the tide of history," he added. He was referring to the deterioration within our society. He quoted the "world's greatest historian Toynbee's" theory that all nations since the dawn of history have gone through six periods on the road to oblivion.

They are Freedom, Glory,

Power, Vice, Corruption, and Barbarism, and asked the audience to pick the period we are now living in.

Carr said that according to history all great powers showed signs of decay near their 150th birthday, and pointed out that Khrushchev was a student of history. He mentioned the well-known statement by the communist leader that our great-grandchildren would all be communists by their own free will.

"Mr. Khrushchev is a student of history . . . he knows the laws of history and the laws of chance favor him," he said.

Will this generation have more wisdom than any other in his story . . . We will have to prove him wrong."

Carr pointed out that the recent FBI report by J. Edgar Hoover said crime was at emergency proportions and in Texas Homer Garrison said in the last 10 years crime was up 2,000 percent in America.

"These are men of steel," Carr said, "and to have them say there is an emergency is something."

He pointed out that crime is a most accurate barometer of internal condition and said we are "2,000 per cent sick."

Crime in Texas is five times more than the population increase . . . crimes committed by youth is seven times as fast as population . . . and he stated that more murders are committed in Texas than any other state, that California ranked as Number Two but that we are "twice as bad as California."

He also said that a major crime was committed in Texas every two and one-half minutes . . . that of 13,000 persons in Texas as prisons, 40 per cent of these are below the age of 24.

In a recent survey of boys in Scouting age, two-thirds of them were not regular attenders of church. One-fourth have never read nor heard of the Ten Commandments. One-third have never been inside a church.

Carr concluded with: "We . . . our generation . . . don't want to preside over the decline of our country."

Installation of officers was conducted by Joe Weaver of Olney.

Officers for the year will be: President, Henry White; first vice president Jim Ross; second vice president, David Counts; third vice president, Zeb Smith; secretary-treasurer, Tom Van Winkle; Lion tamer, Kenneth Lawson, and tail twister, Kenneth Crowover.

Directors are Monty Penman, Tommy Kent, E. Hob Smith, George Davis and Bill Sams, Immediate Past President.

Santa Rosa Rodeo To Begin June 19

Opening day at the Santa Rosa Roundup and Livestock Exposition is expected to be one of the biggest in the eight-year history of the event. The four-day celebration is scheduled June 19-22.

The festive downtown parade at 3 p.m. preceding the opening of the rodeo, annually attracts thousands of visitors from all over the Southwest who join area residents to jam streets along the two-mile parade route.

Riding groups from a wide area, with colorfully costumed horsemen, will bring hundreds of mounts to the city as horse flesh rivals automobile as the most popular mode of transportation.

Annual trail drives by riding clubs from cities such as Frederick and Altus, Okla., have become a tradition of the event.

High School marching bands and gala decorated floats join the horses in the two-hour parade. Most of the horsemen also take part in the opening night rodeo grand entry at the Santa Rosa Rodeo grounds at 8 p.m.

A total of $725 in prizes is expected to bring out dozens of attractive floats to add to the color and appeal of the parade.

In addition to prizes in four categories, a sweepstakes trophy will be awarded to the float considered the best in the parade.

After the festive downtown show, the thousands who annually flock to Vernon on opening day will be treated to rodeo entertainment equal to the best seen anywhere in the nation.

The Rodeo Cowboys' Association All-Around Cowboy, Tom Nesmith of Bethel, Okla., heads the list of the nation's best bronc and bull riders, calf ropers and steer wrestlers who will be on hand for Santa Rosa—rated as one of the United States' top 10 shows.

Many other top names in the rodeo circuit will be on hand to make this year's show one of the best yet.

Guar Crop Planting Underway Here

With the planting season just now at hand as the push for increased guar bean production continues in the drive for expanded acreage in more wide-spread areas, new interest is being evidenced, based on planting intent.

Guar, while no miracle crop, offers farmers double-barreled benefits with its cash crop returns from bean production along with substantial soil-conditioning benefits for increased yields of cotton or grain that follow in rotation on guar-land. Such rotations in many areas are the answer to dry-land farming success.

"Guar's soil conditioning qualities and its high resistance to drought are only two of several reasons for renewed interest in the crop," explains John W. Stewart, General Mills' Field Representative.

"Guar is also relatively easy to plant and harvest, and it fills a long-felt need for an annual legume that will readily fit into a cotton-grain rotation," he added.

"More and more farmers are turning to the sturdy plant to breathe new life into land wearied of successive crops of cotton and grain."

"It seems to be our best answer to the fertility problem of the dry-land farmer," he concluded. "It's roots dig deep for moisture, and they keep soils loose and pliable to absorb and hold what little rainfall that might come."

"You can't make a complete failure with guar," he said, "even if it doesn't make you a seed crop, you get your planting costs back in soil improvement. That's an important item to any farmer, especially the dry-land operator," he concluded.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Texas Research League, a non-profit government study organization that does many administration studies at the request of the state, has issued a report on its year-long probe of the Railroad Commission. Many of its recommendations on agency management and oil and gas conservation already are being programmed.

One scheduled change involves the staffing and management of Railroad Commission district offices. Commission now has 12 such offices. Responsibilities with respect to wells and staff members are so varied that the League believes the system unfairly imbalanced.

District 8 in Midland, for example, has approximately four times as many wells as District 4 in Corpus Christi, but each office is staffed with only four engineers. Wichita Falls has more than twice as many wells as Houston, but two less field men.

Four field men watch over 62,148 operating wells in the Midland district, yet 21 men oversee 26,036 wells in the Kilgore area.

League's answer to the problem is to redistrict and cut the districts from 12 to 10.

The huge Midland district would be divided into three areas with new offices at Lubbock and Fort Stockton.

San Angelo, Refugio, Mount Pleasant and Palestine offices would be absorbed by other districts under the new operation plan.

PADRE ISLAND PARK Plans Underway — If and when Congress approves a $1,500,000 appropriation to meet the land-buying needs of Padre Island National Seashore park, newly-named park superintendent William L. Bowen will begin to acquire land for the proposed 80.5-mile coastal playground.

U. S. Secretary of the Interior Stewart Udall said Bowen will open an office in Corpus Christi some time after July 1, with a small staff. Bowen, Kansas-born veteran of the national park service, took part in preliminary studies leading to the establishment of the new national seashore area on Padre Island.

COMMITTEE OF 25 AT Work — Gov. John B. Connally entertained his "Committee of 25" with a coffee, then set them to work. Committee has the year-long task of studying education beyond the high school.

Connally told them Texas needs a "total policy to guide all institutions, all segments of our higher education enterprise." He said this included state, church and private schools, junior and senior colleges and academic and technical institutions.

Committee met and decided to send their chairman, H. B. Zachary of San Antonio, suggestions on how to approach the challenge. They meet again in August.

SPECIAL SESSION TALK DWINDLES — Rumors of a special session to get an appropriations bill more to Governor Connally's liking still are going around. But now predictions are being made about a January session, rather than one in the summer or fall.

Connally said he didn't like the one passed by the Legislature in the regular session because it "short-changed" higher education.

HOME-BUILDING ABUSES — Reported abuses of home building practices and loans were the subject of a recent conversation between Gov. Connally and Lubbock Dist. Attorney Alton Griffin, president of the state district and county attorneys association.

Connally said, "It may be that additional legislation will be necessary to get at the heart of the matter."

One reported abuse that concerns them is the alleged practice of "double contracting" wherein 100 per cent home financing is achieved by cushioning appraisals and other real estate sales documents.

APPOINTMENTS — Connally appointed three new members to the State Finance Commission including S. R. Jones Jr., president of the First Pasadena State Bank in Pasadena, and Rex Baker Jr., president of Southwestern Savings Association of Houston. He also reappointed Taylor attorney Roman J. Barthosh.

Bert Fields, Dallas Oil operator, was reappointed and named chairman of the Texas Turnpike Authority, on which he has served since 1953. A new appointee is J. M. Haggard Jr. of Dallas, vice president of the company that manufactures Haggard slacks for men.

Haggard replaced Armistead Rust of San Angelo.

CARR'S CHORES LIGHTENED — After Aug. 23, the governor will have to make 15 more state board appointments. These 15 citizens named will take the place of just one man—Attorney General Waggoner Carr. Switch was made necessary by

Uncle Ben from Benjamin says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR: Zeke Grubb's preacher come by the country store Saturday night, said he was just setting at home feeling sorry for his wife and figured he'd come out and get some fresh air.

First off, he told the fellers him and his old lady got along fine. He said they made a deal when they were married that she'd handle the little things and he'd take care of the big ones. She decides how they'll spend their money, how they'll raise the younguns and things like that, and he takes care of the big things like Cuba and the Berlin wall.

He reported this plan worked out real good and his wife would be mighty happy if it wasn't for the female members of his congregation. Last year, for instance, she put on a little lipstick on account of some members thinking she was too plain. The first account of her wearing shorts Sunday she went to church with it on, some of the ladies was up in arms, said she looked like a no-good hussy.

He told the fellers the young wimmen in his congregation wouldn't pal around with his wife because she's too straight-laced and the old ones wouldn't have nothing to do with her on Republicans. The good Parson around the house.

The good parson said if his old lady dressed a little fancy she was spend - happy and if she a bill, supported by the attorney general, which passed during the recent legislative session. End result will be to peel down the pile of "ex-officio" jobs, which have burdened attorneys general in the past, and give Carr more time for his main job as the state's head lawyer.

POST MORTEM — About 300 state labor leaders came to Austin to reflect on the accomplishments — or lack of accomplishments — of the 58th Legislature.

Speakers at the seminar included Rep. Dick Cherry, Waco Democrat, and Rep. Ike Harris, Dallas Republican, and Sen. A. R. (Babe) Schwartz of Galveston.

"The 58th could turn out better than the 59th," Cherry said. "Next time, you'll have the problems of a big tax session and a second-term speaker (Speaker Byron Tunnell, supposedly) running for Attorney General."

As session achievements, Cherry listed the Padre Island bill, Municipal Annexation bill, Tourist Development program, Water Storage expansion and provisions for teacher retirement.

Measures for rural development, which did not pass, were among the considered failures of the Legislature.

GOOD NEWS — Although state and federal animal health officials reported that 72 Texas counties are now tagged "screwworm infested" the report was good news, said Dr. R. G. Garrett, executive director of the Texas Animal Health Commission.

Garrett said that 333 samples confirmed as screwworms in the March 31-April 27 period represented a decrease of 95 to 98 per cent in the number of cases in years before the screwworm eradication project went into effect.

"We're real happy with the success of the program," Dr. Garrett said. "We hope to be completely successful in wiping out the screwworm by the end of the three-year program." He said livestock producers were responsible for the stamping out of the costly pest in at least two ways:

Through their $3,000,000 contributions and through "excellent" cooperation in reporting cases and sending samples.

"It's strictly a producers program . . . initiated by livestock producers and wholeheartedly by producers."

The three-year, $12,000,000 producer-federal-state program almost has reached the mid-way point in its progress.

dressed plain she was a tightwad. If she gets friendly with some lady in the congregation she was picking favorites, and if she don't she's stuck up. If she goes calling with him they say she's nosy and if she stays at home she's peculiar.

He said ever time his wife took on a little job in the Church somebody claimed she was trying to take over, and if she didn't take the job they said she didn't have the proper interest in the Church. He told the fellers he aimed to write a sermon on preachers wives and put it in his new book, "Moving Sermons."

And he reported that him and Rufe Zinder was having a little trouble. He said his sermon last Sunday was on the Fairises and Publicans. Rufe wasn't there but his youngun went home and told Rufe he was preaching about the spread around so bad that a del-said he tried to explain it to Rufe but Rufe said he didn't care how you spelled it, he didn't appreciate nobody preaching about his party. In fact, said the Parson, Rufe got this nonsense spread around so bad that a delegation of Democrats come to his house Thursday night and demanded equal time. And so, he announced, come Sunday morning he was going to preach on the Democrats. Up to now, he allowed, he ain't been able to find nothing in the Bible about either Democrats or Republicans, so he was going to take his text from the Congressional Record.

Yours truly,
Uncle Ben

ing bulls chosen for the 1962 National Finals Rodeo in Los Angeles. Number 61 will be in Beutler Brothers' string when they produce the 18th annual Santa Rosa Roundup rodeo in Vernon, Texas, June 19-22. Santa Rosa is one of the nation's top 10 rated rodeos.

FARM and RANCH Notes

JOE W. DOBY
COUNTY AGRICULTURAL AGENT

The first confirmed screw-worm in Knox County in 1963 was discovered last week in a pasture on the edge of Vera.

It was taken from the navel of a calf on the farm of Clyde and J. W. Peemster. Sterile flies are being dropped weekly in the area and the cattle in pastures surrounding Vera are being sprayed.

It is somewhat of a mystery why they showed up in this particular place since no new cattle have been brought in lately and the pasture is surrounded by cultivated land on all sides.

This only serves to point up the fact that all producers must keep a check on their livestock and take samples of all suspected cases. There are several species of maggots that resemble screwworms and the only way to make a positive identification is to send the sample in for checking under magnification.

Producers can also reduce the chance of screwworms by spraying their cattle with Co-Ral Korlan. These insecticides will also control horn flies and cattle grubs. Follow directions on the label. A pint may be just what the doctor ordered but a quart might kill the cattle too, so be careful with your mixing.

Remember only you can stop screwworms.

There has been a great deal of interest in recent years in early harvesting of forage sorghums as a means of improving quality, both for green chop and silage. Several studies have been conducted to determine the influence of harvesting at various stages of maturity on yield, recovery growth and physical and chemical characteristics of the forage. Some feeding studies have been conducted to find out the relationship of stage of maturity to feeding value but these are incomplete and inconclusive. This report is limited to the evaluation of production practices.

Yield, quality and physical characteristics are influenced by the stage of maturity of the plants at the time of harvest. Forage harvested in the boot stage is higher in moisture content (78 to 88 percent), protein and percentage of leaves than that harvested at a later stage of maturity. Forage harvested in the dough stage is lower in moisture and higher in grain than forage from earlier stages. Maximum dry weather production is reached by most varieties and hybrids by the milk to soft-dough stages.

Harvesting in the milk to soft-dough stage is suggested from the results of these tests until feeding results are available.

Harvesting in the milk to soft-dough stage is suggested from the results of these tests until feeding results are available.

Two sorghum varieties, Atlas and Tracy and two commercial hybrids, Silo King and Beef Builder were used in the tests where these results were obtained. These tests were conducted at College Station and Angleton in 1959 and 1961.

The County is in good shape right now on moisture. Even the Truscott and Gilliland area has received rain.

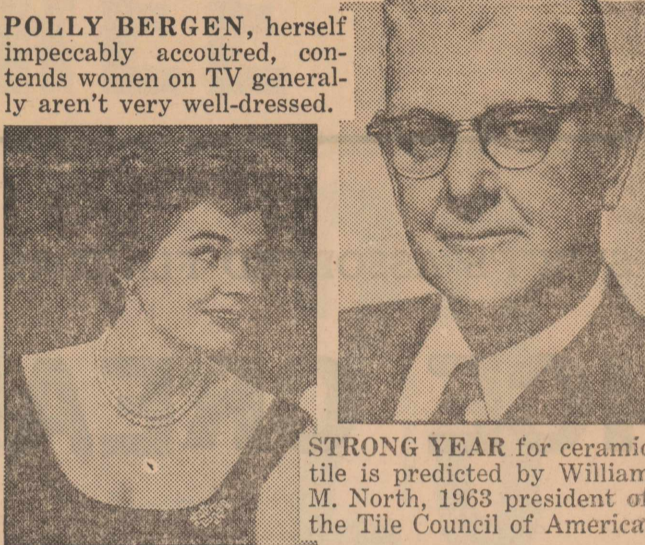

Cotton is squaring and blooming in lots of fields this week. A few fields will need to be replanted because of rain. Check the part of your field that borders fence rows, shelter belts, pasture lands or similar places where the boll weevil can hibernation. He will come out of hibernation, enter the cotton at this point and go to work. Spraying these spots in the field may save you several spray jobs on down the line.

In the study of Genesis we find Abraham was blessed with temporal blessings as well as spiritual blessings he had obeyed God in his ways. He served his God and the promise was: "I will bless your bread; and your water; and I will take sickness away from the midst of thee."

And again His promise is, "Then shall He give rain to thy seed, that thou shall sow the ground withal; and bread of increase of the earth, an dit shall be fat and plenteous; in that shall thou cattle feed in large pastures." (Isa 30:23).

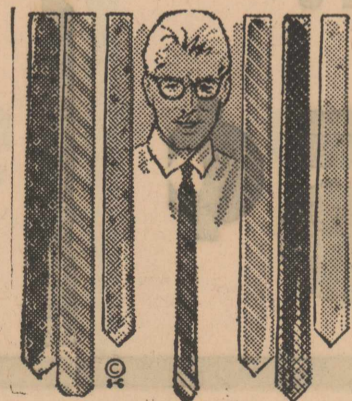

The promises are unto all who will believe and obey their God. The conditions are: Bring ye all the tithes unto the storehouse, that there may be meat in mine house, and prove me now herewith, saith the Lord of hosts. If I will not open the windows and pour you out a blessing, that thou shall not be room enough to receive it. (Matt. 3:10).

Knox City One Of Numerous Texas Towns Looking After Senior Citizens

Texas is trying to do something about and for her senior citizens who need care because of illness or advanced age. A gigantic building boom in nursing homes throughout the state is the factor helping to remove some of the shadows of gloom and despair generally associated with such institutions.

Much of this upsurge in construction is concentrated in the West, North Central and Central Texas, areas which lead the state in the number of elderly persons needing rest home care.

Bright shiny new buildings, designed especially for treating the aged and the infirm, are springing up in many communities, and one of them will be open for inspection this week in Knox City.

Most of these structures are equipped with modern furnishings and equipment to give the patients up to date services, care and treatment.

These functional-type structures gradually are replacing the dismal, dark and dreary rooming house type buildings which for years served as a blight on Texas' care for the senior citizens.

The new units range from 30 to 100 beds with concentrations aimed at the 30-bed project as the institution that can best serve a small community.

Knox City can accommodate 34 patients.

Texas participation in the federal government's program for helping the elderly is responsible for most of the current boom in nursing home construction.

Through the old age assistance program, the state welfare department, using both state and federal funds, will grant up to $217 a month for the care of the impoverished oldsters in nursing or rest homes.

This guarantee has spurred interest from all levels in the field of providing institutions to care for the sick and the aged.

In many cases private promoters have entered the field of constructing rest homes much in the same manner as home builders developed residential areas in the postwar years.

The promoters and operators have to follow rigid standards of construction and operation to qualify for financing under the state welfare program.

They have to meet the basic minimum standards established by the State Health Department, standards that touch on all phases of construction.

And to obtain approval of their applications for permits to operate, promoters had better offer the health department plans that will exceed minimum qualifications if they want speedy approval.

That is the word of J. W. Hornburg, chief of the department's nursing home licensing division.

"We encourage rest home builders and operators to go beyond our basic standards," he said.

"The better the structure, the better the service and the better chance of success the home has," he stated.

A full detailed plan of financing also must accompany applications. It must explain where the money is coming from, who sponsored the organization and an explanation on how the home will operate.

Hornburg and his staff review all points, check the need for the home and discuss the problems of operation with sponsors before a permit is granted.

Some of the points stressed by the department in checking construction plans for new units include:

Vents for the heating system, use of non combustible materials in roofs and walls, electrical wiring that conforms to the national building code.

Home laundry rooms must be separated from other sections of the unit. The kitchen must be up to date, well lighted and meet sanitary requirements. Upper floors of multistoried units (the department tries to discourage this type construction) must be equipped with sprinkler systems.

Daily meals must contain the basic foods recommended by the Texas Nutrition Council.

Copies of the daily menu and invoices on food purchases must be maintained and checked.

Since the licensing law went into effect in 1953 and the well-under way two years ago, the state has licensed 717 new projects.

Hornburg said that as of Saturday the 717 homes offered custodial care for 23,670 patients. Most of the homes are in the 30 to 50 bed category.

The state official estimated that Texas needs space for at least 30,000 senior citizens.

This number grows each year as more and more senior citizens enter the upper span of life where custodial care is required.

Under a formula established by the welfare and health departments, the ratio for nursing home bed space is calculated at three beds per 1,000 population.

This is not a fixed figure because certain areas have a more critical need than others.

In those areas, said Hornburg, the formula cannot be followed because of the high percentage of persons over 65 needing custodial care.

Statistics show that on a statewide basis, persons over 65 make up 8 per cent of the population in Texas.

But in certain sections, those near Fort Worth and in some areas of Central Texas, the ratio is about 10 to 15 per cent of the total. Most of these senior citizens depended on farming or ranching for their livelihood. They did not follow their children to the highly developed urban areas that offered industry and high wages to lure young people off the farm.

When time for retirement came, the oldsters had no place to go. Income of their children, spent on the high cost of living in big cities, did not provide a way for the parents to find a place in the sun.

As a result, when the oldsters became ill or feeble they had to turn to the rest home for care.

Civic and community leaders in many areas have banded together to sponsor and to continue financing for the private care home.

They have contracted with private promoters and operators to build the homes for a profit and either operate them themselves or use services of an organization specializing in nursing home care.

The Health Department checks closely into the financial plan that will be used to construct the projects. The Welfare Dept. also keeps tabs on the operational plan, checking into the services offered to make certain they are up to standard.

The average cost of construction is pegged at between $1,500 to $2,000 per bed. This is based on the minimum standards established by the Health Department.

"We make certain that the cost does not fall below this figure because to do so would defeat the very purpose of our program," Hornburg said.

"We want to provide proper facilities so that Texas no longer will be ashamed of the care it offers its senior citizens," he concluded.

What a difference

Grandma may talk about the good old days, but a whole team of horses couldn't drag her back to an old fashioned kitchen. When you compare the two pictures, you observe an important fact. All the marvelously improved conveniences you see are made possible by electricity — every single one. Yes, electricity makes the difference, and what a difference it makes! It eliminates drudgery and creates more leisure time by performing countless tasks in the home at the flip of a switch. It turns factory wheels, lights the darkness, and does all these things effortlessly and economically. That is one of two reasons why the use of electricity is increasing here in the Center of the Southwest. The other is that more people, more businesses, more industries are coming our way. Our expansion program is keyed to this increase, for we are convinced our service area faces GROWTH UNLIMITED.
