

Frost Helps Accelerate Cotton Harvesting

Harvesting activity was slow over the Munday Classing Office territory last week. However, the frost will enable farmers of start stripping soon. The number of samples classes this season at the A. M. S. Cotton Division Office in Munday stands at 29,075. At this time last year 82,877 samples had been classed and the office was closed.

cent 1-1/32 and longer. The average staple length increased slightly from 30.30 the previous week to 30.44 thirty-seconds of an inch last week.

The micronaire reading were mostly in the 3.5 to 4.9 range. This range accounted for 71 per cent of the total classed last week. The 5.0 and higher range accounted for 27 per cent.

The estimated pressley strength this season shows over 2/3 of the cotton classed has a strength of 80,000 pounds per square inch or higher. Less than 500 samples were classed this week at the U.S.D.A. Cotton Classing Office in Munday.

The small amount of cotton available for sale moved into trade channels and prices were mostly unchanged. White cotton sold at 0 to 75 points over loan value. Middling Light Spots brought 50 to 100 points over the loan, and lower grades were bringing 70 to 125 points over loan values.

Helen Tisdale Circle Meets Monday

The Helen Tisdale Circle met in the home of Mrs. Vernon Buckley Monday night.

Mrs. Buckley, the chairman, opened the meeting by reading the names of missionaries on the prayer calendar. Mrs. W. E. Lovelace led the prayer.

Mrs. Homer Bales had charge of the Circle program. Those taking part on the program were Mmes. Harry Hickman, Vernon Buckley, Tolle Large and Homer Bales.

Refreshments were served to nine members.

HAPPY WEEK AFTER OUR BIRTHDAY TO US!

... And that is about all we are going to say about it. We can't give you any facts about the history of the Herald because we can't find any...

Seems as though everyone disagrees as to who owned or operated it when, and so far as we can determine, there is no way to dig up the facts.

We have contacted everyone we can think of who could possibly remember that many (60) years back but so far have netted little.

Everybody knows the Herald was situated at one time at the location the Shamrock Station is now located, later it moved across the street to the old Ford building, now Lewis Paint and Body Shop...

Methodist Church Selected As A Participant

The Knox City Methodist Church has been selected as one of nine churches in the North-west Texas Conference to participate in a "Feedback" program for evaluation of Christian Studies for Methodist Children, the new children's curriculum material now in use in the Methodist Church.

These nine churches are representative of the entire conference with variety as to size of church, type of church and facilities for use in educational work.

Superintendents and teachers participating in this program are: Mr. Joe M. Clonts, Mrs. Oleta Fitzgerald, Mrs. L. W. Graham, Mrs. Guy Robinson, Mrs. Loyce Teague, Mrs. Alfred Acosta, Mrs. Robert Howell, Mrs. Jeff Graham, Mrs. Paul Hoge, Mrs. Vernon Dodd, Mrs. Kenneth Crowmover, Mrs. Allan McGaughey, Mrs. Sam Clonts, Mrs. A. J. Keathley, Mrs. Joe Smith, Mrs. Jarrell Sharp and Mrs. Joe Clonts.

... Here are all the names who have come up with to date: L. B. Hammock, Mack Sweetney, W. L. Garner, J. T. Daniel, Hunter Lanier, a man named Gibson, R. E. Hughes, Mr. Hammock again, C. H. Moss, Jimmie and Rene Branch and now the Hills.

Oh, yes, a Mr. Atterbury published the paper at some time. L. B. Hammock married a local girl, Miss Stella Teague. They both died in the middle 50's. Mrs. Hammock is Loyce Teague's sister.

J. A. Hammock was the first photographer in Knox City and was assisted by his son, Earl. Earl graduated from high school in 1915, and married another KC girl, Miss Ethel Barrington. Af-

CARD OF THANKS

Dear Ruth and other wonderful friends: Even though this is slow, I have to write and express our thanks again to you and the good neighbors who contributed to that wonderful dinner for us. Thanks to you and the rest for the sincere expressions of sympathy for the loss of our father. He did so love your community and the many friends he had there. To all us children, you will always be a part of our lives.

The services, flowers, and arrangements were so lovely and appropriate. I have been away for so long that I have forgotten just how nice and sincere you wonderful people are.

The opposite to the heated blind fraternity will have a go at it periodically for one month beginning Dec. 1, when the annually conducted coastal marshes waterfowl hunt will be held on the J. D. Murphree Wildlife Management Area near Port Arthur in Jefferson County.

It will be strictly a commando-type water borne operation, according to Al Springs, coordinator for wildlife for the Parks and Wildlife Department, with an ominous overtone in the official instructions: "Be prepared for heavy mosquito infestation."

But Springs observed that the effort may be worthwhile because the area is in "malard country" and the limit this year is two per day.

The intrepid gunners also will be contributing to scientific research since the Murphree Area is an 8,400-acre State owned fresh and brackish water marsh on which experimental marsh management techniques are being tried. The hunt provides sporting activity for the public incidental to the Parks and Wildlife Department's need to test the effectiveness of its management program, to experiment with hunting procedures and to obtain biological data from the harvested birds.

The free public hunt, set only for Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, will involve 13 half-days through January 2 with 40 permits being issued each time on a first come, first serve basis. The order of issuance, Springs said, will be determined by the order in which the applicants line up at the headquarters office at 4 a.m. on the morning of each scheduled hunt.

Dates are: Dec. 3, 5, 8, 10, 12, 15, 17, 19, 22, 29, 31, and January 2.

Qualifying hunters may participate in hunts on any two days. Here is Springs' formal outline of procedure:

"The Murphree Area is located adjacent to the Port Arthur SW city limits. The headquarters is located on Highway 73 across the highway and 200 yds. west of the Sea Shell Motel and one-half mile east of the Port Arthur city limits at the Taylor Bayou bridge on Highway 73. A state highway sign marks the headquarters' entrance.

"Only persons 17 years of age or older with valid hunting license and waterfowl stamps will be eligible to hunt on this area.

"Each hunting party will be required to be equipped with a boat and motor. It is recommended that motors in the 10 to 50 horsepower class be used because of the distance to some of the hunting sites and the depth of the water along the access route. All boats will need to have Coast Guard approved running lights and a life preserver per hunter. A maximum of four hunters will be allowed per boat.

"A short orientation lecture will follow the permit issuance and then hunters will be assigned a position in line and led in a water caravan up Big Bayou to the hunting sites.

IT'S THE LAW

UNFAIR LAWS

Our Constitution says Congress shall pass no bill of attainder nor any ex post facto law. The fear that our Parliament might repeat what the early English parliament did, lead our founding fathers to limit the power of Congress.

1. In a bill of attainder a legislative body punishes someone without a court trial, most often someone the lawmakers don't like.

2. After the Civil War, some northern states tried to keep Confederate supporters from suing in their courts. The U.S. Supreme Court said nix: such laws punished without a fair trial.

In later years Congress has tried now and then to penalize persons who have not cooperated with Congressional Investigating Committees, in one case by cutting their salaries and requiring Senate re-confirmation before they got paid. The U.S. Supreme Court held: The law unconstitutional. Congress could not thus punish a person without a court trial.

Usually a bill of attainder strikes at a few persons by burdening them without fair warning or hearing.

Our legislature may penalize anyone who breaks its laws. If you don't pay your auto registration on time, you have to pay a penalty automatically. Such a penalty does not violate the bill of attainder clause.

Ex post facto laws would make crimes out of acts which often they were done were lawful. In one case a new law took away a court defense which had been allowed.

In another case a state law cut the jurors allowed in a criminal trial from 12 to 8. The U. S. Supreme Court said that no such law could apply to past crimes. A person accused might be put to a disadvantage.

The ex-post facto clause applies only to legislative acts, not to new court interpretations.

One law changed the punishment for murder from hanging to electrocution. The courts held the law valid. It did not change the punishment.

The procedure for the trial, or the rules of evidence may be revised if they do not add punishment or take away a protection.

(This newsfeature, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform — not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

HUNT GUIDE HAS ANSWERS

The Texas hunting map showing where to hunt what and when has popularized a new hunting digest prepared by the Parks and Wildlife Department, according to T. D. Carroll, coordinator for information and education.

In fact, the 254 Texas counties provide a mottled design involving dates, species and limits, said Carroll.

The illustrated digest, which folds into the approximate size of the state highway map, is available at most places where hunting and fishing licenses are issued.

Carroll invited Texans lacking the guide and unable to obtain it locally to write for a copy at Parks and Wildlife Department, John H. Reagan Building, Austin, Texas.

Carroll said the writers also may obtain a fishing regulations brochure, a migratory game supplement and a dove map upon request.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

A post-election review of state-wide voting totals shows that only 89 per cent of the 3,100,000 Texans who were qualified to vote actually made it to the polls on Nov. 3.

Total number of votes cast—2,770,788.

Not all of those who went to the polls voted in all the races. In Travis County, for instance, 3,461 of the 67,419 who cast ballots failed to vote in the presidential race. Elsewhere around the state, 52,304 Texans who voted in the governor's race did not vote on the lieutenant governor's race, which placed next on the ballot.

Highest vote getter, in this election and in Texas history, was Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr. He racked up 1,901,038 votes. Gov. John Connally was next with 1,877,137. Lt. Gov. Preston Smith was third with 1,833,747.

LAWMAKERS TAKE OATH—All 42 freshmen in the 150-member House of Representatives already have taken the oath that makes them State officials. They started drawing their $4,800 a year salary the day of their oath-taking.

Thirty-three took the oath jointly in the special swearing-in ceremony. Lt. Gov. Preston Smith participated, along with House Speaker Byron Tunnell and Secretary of State Crawford Martin.

Freshmen legislators who did not come to the Capitol were sworn in at home by local judges. Many did so for sentimental reasons.

TRAIN HEARING SET—Right after the order was issued allowing the Texas and Pacific Railroad to discontinue two passenger trains that ran between Fort Worth and El Paso, the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe Railway Company filed a request with the Railroad Commission to discontinue two trains in West Texas.

Company said it wants to stop service of passenger trains Nos. 77 and 78 between Brownwood and San Angelo because Railway Post Office service was halted on them Sept. 26. Company said governments failure to renew the postal contract will increase the railroad's already substantial net annual "out-of-pocket deficit" by more than 75 per cent.

Hearing on the application will be held in the Tom Green County Courthouse on Jan. 14.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES—Attorney General Waggoner Carr branded unconstitutional a section of the tax law providing for cigarette tax payments to the State Treasurer.

He noted that the law calls for payments for the treasurer to ship cigarette stamps, or a set meter for use in stamping cigarettes, without receiving payment in advance.

Carr declared it improper lending of state credit. Thousands of dollars are lost under present practices, he said.

The Attorney General also ruled that a county commissioners court does not have authority to prescribe office hours for a county official holding a constitutionally-created post.

Opinion stated that a county official may close his office on Saturdays without consent of the commissioners court, because no provision in the statutes or constitution requires county offices to be open to the public for any specific time other than for a "reasonable time."

INDUSTRIAL GROWTH—A study of UT's Bureau of Business Research's monthly reports on industrial growth from January through November shows that a total of 611 new plant locations and significant plant expansions were announced for Texas in those 11 months.

The Houston metropolitan area led all others with 126 new plants and expansions; Dallas with 81 was next; and Fort Worth followed with 65. However, there were dozens of little towns which boasted big industrial boosts.

COLLEGE FUND PLAN ADOPTED—Texas Commission on Higher Education has adopted a plan for distribution of $11,700,000 in federal building funds among 90 junior and senior colleges in 1965.

Forty-five per cent of points allocated to schools under the system must be based on projected enrollment increases and utilization of existing facilities.

Formal applications of schools can be submitted after the U. S. Office of Education approves the state plan—probably about December 1. January 15 is deadline for applications.

RIO GRANDE WATER ESTIMATED—Texas Water Commission has estimated Rio Grande Valley has water supplies to irrigate up to 680,000 acres over the requirement for municipal and industrial purposes.

Commission figured 124,000-acre feet annually would be needed for municipal and industrial uses. Report was written for the attorney general who is participating in a giant lawsuit over Rio Grande water rights involving Starr, Hidalgo, Cameron and Willacy Counties.

OIL ALLOWABLE—Texas Railroad Commission set December oil allowable at 29 per cent of maximum for prorated wells, compared to 28.4 per cent in November.

Increase is expected to be 29,914 barrels a day higher than the estimated November average of 2,541,909 barrels a day.

TB CONTROL PLAN MAPPED—A sweeping new plan for tuberculosis control aimed at consolidating all TB services under one agency and providing treatment of patients close to home has been recommended by the Governor's Committee on TB Eradication.

Committee found the state's program, now divided among four agencies and costing some $16,200,000 a year, not equal to the job at hand. It proposes placing all related activities in the TB Services Division of the State Health Department.

Recommended treatment procedures, calling for shorter hospitalization but careful at-home treatment after the infectious period is passed and a lifetime "follow-up", would cost more but would be more effective, the committee believes.

AUSTIN—State Representatives who were sworn to the 1965 Legislature on Monday have military matters very much on their minds. Constituencies of those lawmakers with military bases in their districts stand to be affected by both Federal and State proposals.

Some lawmakers were sworn in with the knowledge that many Federal workers in their districts stand to lose their jobs by U. S. Defense Department cutbacks. Operations will be cut out at James Connally Air Force Base at Waco and Amarillo Air Force Base and cut down at Dyess Air Force Base in Abilene and Eagle Mountain Army maintenance facility at Fort Worth.

San Antonio bases and Carswell AFB at Fort Worth stand to gain by the big shift. And that also will present new problems for State Representatives.

REDISTRICTING—Congressional redistricting, one of the major problems facing the 1965 Legislature, may cause a headache for legislators whose districts embrace bases.

Bob Johnson, executive director of the Texas Legislative Council, believes the Legislature could—if it chose—leave out military and State hospital populations in deciding the "population" of a county for redistricting purposes.

By State constitutional provision, persons in State mental hospitals cannot vote, nor can persons in military service who enlisted in other states. Therefore, they could be left out of population totals if the Congressional redistricting goal of "one man, one vote" is considered paramount.

However, Johnson conceded that the mathematics involved in paring down population in communities as heavily military as, say, Bexar County might become so complicated that the Legislature would choose to proceed on full population figures.

LBJ RANCH—Orders involving President Johnson's ranch home near Stonewall from the Parks and Wildlife Commission and the State Highway Commission raised the question of whether tourists from Texas and elsewhere ever will get glimpses of the President at his "little White House" as Washington, D. C., visitors enjoy at the big White House.

Parks and Wildlife Commission authorized creation of a Lyndon B. Johnson State Park directly across from the LBJ Ranch. Commission said the proposed park—located on some 245 acres between Ranch Road 1 and Highway 290—would be created in cooperation with Gillespie County. Commission does not have authority to condemn land for parks but the County does.

The question came up a day later when the Texas Highway Commission granted the U. S. Secret Service's requested authority to restrict traffic on that part of Ranch Road 1 when President Johnson is there—in the interest of presidential safety.

The President returned home last Thursday and is due to remain on the LBJ Ranch until after Thanksgiving.

BORDER DISPUTE—Gov. John Connally, Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler and Attorney Wilson Fox of Taylor, members of the State School Land Board, filed a protest with Louisiana's Board of Mineral Development over the Sabine River border dispute.

Area in dispute is the western half of the Sabine River and Sabine Lake and a pie-shaped wedge of the Gulf of Mexico pointed at the mouth of the Sabine and widening sharply until it reaches the line three miles out where Louisiana's offshore boundary lies. Beyond that point, the area extends to Texas' outer offshore boundary of 10.5 miles.

Controversy grew out of Louisiana's offer of two oil and gas lease tracts which lie in an area claimed by Texas, but also claimed by Louisiana

COTTON VOTE 1965 CHOICES ARE DEFINED

Just what a "yes" or "no" vote will mean in the Dec. 15, referendum on upland cotton marketing quotas was explained today by Mr. O. E. Moore, Chairman Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Knox Co. Committee. All farmers who engaged in the production of upland cotton in 1964 are eligible to vote in the referendum. The Chairman said that the basic program choices are:

A. If at least two-thirds of the growers who vote in the referendum approve of quotas, the quotas will be in effect for the 1965 upland cotton crop, marketing penalties will apply to any excess cotton produced on a farm, price-support loans at a level within the range of 65 to 90 per cent of parity will be available to farmers who do not exceed their acreage allotments and — in addition — price-support payments can be earned by farmers for keeping their acreage within the farm's "domestic" allotment.

B. On the other hand, if more than one-third of the growers who vote oppose the quotas, then there will be no quotas and no penalties applicable to the 1965 upland cotton crop, no "domestic allotment" program providing price-support payments, and price support to farmers who comply with their acreage allotments will be available at 50 per cent of parity, as directed by law.

The regular acreage allotment program is not affected by the outcome of the balloting. The allotments will remain in effect — whether or not quotas are approved — as a means of determining eligibility for the available price support.

Moore pointed out that, while the Secretary of Agriculture is directed by law to proclaim quotas for the next crop when the total upland cotton supply exceeds normal, it is the growers themselves who decide whether or not quotas shall be used. Previous votes on the subject have been outstandingly favorable. Marketing quotas for the 1964 upland cotton crop were approved by 94 per cent of the growers voting.

In the scriptures we find the unsearchable riches of Christ. They are made known to man, that he might see what is the fellowship of the mystery which from the beginning of the world hath been hid in God who created all things by Jesus Christ; to the intent that now unto the principalities and powers in heavenly places might be made known by the church the manifold wisdom of God, according to the eternal purpose which he purposed in Christ Jesus our Lord; In whom we have boldness and access with confidence by the faith of Him (Eph. 3-8-12). When Christ dwelleth in the inner man by faith he understands the breadth, length, depth and height of the love of Christ which fills you with the fullness of God.

FARM and RANCH Notes

JOE W. DOBY
COUNTY AGRICULTURAL AGENT

Swine producers in Knox County should mark their calendars for January 4, 5, and 6, to attend a Swine Production Short Course. It will be held in the Rhineland School beginning at 7:30 p.m. each night. Swine Specialist Donald Osbourn Colege Station; Area Livestock Specialist, Dixon Hubbard, Lubbock; Farm Management Specialist Norman Brints, Vernon;

Extension Veterinarian Dr. C. M. Patterson and Meats Specialist Frank Orts, College Station will be on the program.

Recommended practices in herd management feeding breeding meat type hogs and health will be covered during the three nights. Specialists will be available for on the farm consultations during the day if requested.

This is a program that is planned for the commercial hog producer regardless of the size of his operations. Make plans now to attend if you are interested in swine production in any way.

Lice are beginning to infest livestock with the beginning of cold weather. They are not to be noticed but will be taking a toll of the profits. Don't wait until cattle have rubbed patches of hair off or let the lice feed for half the winter before spraying, control them now.

Animals infested with lice eat less, do not have a good feed conversion and have a rough, coarse coat of hair.

Sprays recommended for controlling lice on beef animals include Clodrin, Co-Ral, Methoxychlor, Malthion, Dalnav, lindane, Ruelene, Sevin, ronnel and toxaphene.

If cattle haven't been sprayed one can just about bet they need to be. I would not worry about the cold water doing any harm except to cattle that have just been hauled long distances or weaned calves. These cattle have had enough stresses without adding more. Wetting cattle with spray is no worse than them being in the rain or snow.

One precaution I would urge everyone to do is follow directions on the label and to the letter. Don't guess. Another precaution is to be sure the formulation you are using is made for use on animals and NOT field crops.

The same materials can be used on hogs with the exception of ruelene.

With the opening of quail season on December 1st, hunters are cautioned to remind themselves of safety rules for good hunting. Our wildlife specialist says that two-thirds of all hunting accidents are caused by humans in line of fire, humans mistaken for animals and the failure of hunters to use the safety catch on their guns. Carrying loaded guns in automobiles is another dangerous practice as is leaving them loaded in the home. Don't be a statistic.

The Agriculture Experiment Station has released a publication which described the management factors on 45 cotton farms with high yields and 59 farms with average yields in the Blackland Prairie.

This report showed that the high yielding farms had a 3 year

A "Little Hurt" Can Prevent A Lot Of Sickness

The paradox that a "little hurt" can prevent a lot of sickness was discovered by scientists about a hundred years ago.

An English country doctor named Edward Jenner took a little serum from a cowpox pustule on the arm of a milkmaid and scratched it with a lancet into the arm of a neighbor boy. A smallpox-like sore appeared on his arm, and he had other mild smallpox-like symptoms.

Today, thanks to Dr. Jenner, we can have a similar immunization and avoid the disfiguring and killing smallpox epidemics which once swept Europe.

Several years later in France average of cotton lint of 363 pounds and grain sorghum of 3,062 pounds. The farms with average yields had only 152 lbs. of cotton and 217 pounds of grain sorghum.

Some of the main things observed on the high-yielding farms were as follows: 1. They prepared land early. 2. They planted early. 3. They did farm work at the optimum time. 4. They finished harvest relatively early. The early harvest reduced the risk of storm loss.

Also, the quality difference in favor of early harvesting varied from $7.50 to $10.00 per bale most years and as much as $12.50 some years.

There was little difference between the high and average farms in the amount of fertilizer used or the amount used per acre. The main difference in fertilizer use was that the high to a much larger proportion of the total cotton and most of the other crop acreages than did the average yield producers.

High yield farms controlled insects and in 1961, all growers in this group carried out the recommended control schedule for early season cotton insect pests. Half of the farmers found it necessary to apply late season control. Among the average yield producers only about 50 per cent used the recommended spray schedule for early season insects.

The provisions of the rental agreement was a major factor in the increasing yields on the rented farms. For rapid adoption of new farming technology it is important that crop share leases be adjusted so that each party contributes to the added cost in the way it benefits.

Many times high yield and average yield farmers followed quite similar practices, but the great difference between the two groups was the ability of those making high yield to perform practices at the optimum time.

Superior management combines the ability to make wise decisions relative to the selection of late production methods and the most effective time to perform a farming operation.

Louis Pasteur made a startling discovery one morning. The discovery — a re-inoculation of some chickens with chicken cholera — set the wheels turning in Pasteur's creative mind.

"I've found a way to make a beast a little sick . . . inject some aged microbes into a chicken so that it gets the disease, but only a little of it . . . and when it gets better . . . it can resist the disease! We can apply this to other diseases in man; we can save lives."

These dedicated scientists did not conquer these diseases — smallpox, rabies, diphtheria, polio and measles — in the literal sense. They simply gave us a means of preventing them.

To take advantage of the paradox — a little hurt to prevent sickness or death — see your physician about an immunization schedule for your family.

CRISIS CALLS TASK WARDENS

Hunters invading the open spaces without knowing where they will be, should inform their families of their eventual whereabouts, said J. B. Phillips, coordinator for law enforcement of the Parks and Wildlife Department.

"Every year," he said, "our wardens are called upon to help locate some hunter and deliver an emergency message. Sometimes this takes hours, and even days.

A mere station-to-station phone call back home after a hunter decides where he will be can avoid all of this, and possibly avoid a tragedy."

Phillips also said he spoke for residents of communities in the hunting country since they are frequently asked to try to find people without having any clue whatever as to their location.

Baptist Association Will Meet In Rule On December 7

On December 7, the Haskell-Knox Baptist Association will participate in "Mobilization Night." This is a Southwide movement where 33,000 Southern Baptist Churches are invited to participate. The purpose is to mobilize all the Training Union forces of the churches.

The local meeting will be held at the First Baptist Church in Rule, at 7 p.m. on Dec. 7.

Each church has been assigned a goal of 10 per cent of their Training Union enrollment. A special section will be reserved for each church in the auditorium of the First Baptist in Rule.

Every pastor whose church reaches their goal will be presented with a pastor's award.

The program consists of special music by the Youth Choir of the First Baptist Church in Haskell, under direction of Charles Merritt. Rev. Johnny Smith, pastor of the Knox City First Baptist Church, will present the pastor's awards. Mr. Chester Hodgins T. U. Director of East Side Baptist Church, Haskell, will conduct the responsive reading service, and Mr. Jimmy Owens, T. U. Director of First Baptist Church Haskell will close the service with prayer.

The message of the evening will be brought by Rev. Faust, pastor of First Baptist Church in Graham.

'64 Agriculture Census Brings Farm-Ranch Statistics Up

The 1964 Census of Agriculture, now being conducted by the Bureau of the Census, U.S. Department of Commerce, in Knox County, will bring up to date the farm and ranch statistics last collected in 1959.

Here are a few of the many facts recorded in the 1959 agriculture census for this county:

There were 663 farms and ranches in 1959, compared with 837 in 1954. The average size of the farm and ranch was 700.5 acres in 1959, compared with 689.3 acres in 1954.

The value of products sold by the county's farmers and ranchers in 1959 was $8,494,065. The value of all crops sold was $6,679,233. The value of all livestock and livestock products sold was $1,804,832.

The 1964 national Census of Agriculture is the 18th in a series which began in 1840. Because of the rapid changes American agriculture has been undergoing in recent years, Census Bureau officials regard the current census as one of the most significant ever taken. They ask every farmer and rancher to cooperate in compiling an accurate record of these changes by filling out the census form he receives in the mail and holding the completed questionnaire until a census taker calls for it.
