Attended our first regular school board meeting Tuesday night and we were made to feel extremely welcome for three of the seven-member board spoke to us!

We had made a New Year's resolution to attend all school board meetings we could, but got our dates mixed up so missed the first one.

Due to the fact that we spread ourselves fairly thin at times we are just now getting around to the school, one of the most important institutions in our county.

Being educated and informed are the two most important things in our lives.

MEETING DATES—The City Council meets the first Tuesday of each month at the city hall at 7:30 p.m.

County Commissioners hold their regular meetings on the second Monday of each month at the courthouse at 10 a.m.

The School Board meets on the second Tuesday of each month at the high school superintendent's office at 7:30 p.m.

WHOOPS! In the story about the bloodmobile week before last—Paul Hoge's name was omitted from the list of gallon (or more) donors, and come to find out Paul has donated THIRTY-FIVE pints of blood, to date.

Thanks to Mrs. Herbert Bellinghausen for bringing this to our attention.

'Scuse us, please.

Mrs. Leta Mangis, who folds papers for us on Thursday mornings, and is the possessor of a wonderful sense of humor, anyhow, was telling the biddies in the office about the night before Christmas, when she and her husband, Oscar, and their two children, Tommy and Sherry were at their farm checking on their cattle.

Tommy, who could find no good reason to stay out there, when they could be at grandma's house waiting for Santa, kept insisting they come home. His father told him they couldn't because they had to stay there with one of his "expecting" cows who was having a difficult time finding her calf.

Whereupon Tommy, age 4, exclaimed "Well for goodness sake Daddy, let's go to town and get a flashlight and come back and find it FOR her!"

SOMEBODY stole our cat (again). He is a bluish gray, long-haired amorous cat answering to the name of Napoleon. His sister, Josephine, sits in the window at the head of our bed and meows for him constantly, day and NIGHT (Yawn).

If anyone knows of his whereabouts, please let us know.

Roy Stewart reports that he has just returned from the state beauty show held in Dallas, and for those women who were thinking that "teasing" was going out of style... it isn't, sez Roy. He said all the stylists are still "teasing" hair, and will for the next year...

And we thought we had an impossible job... Mummmmm.

PROUD—We are especially proud of our kids this week for they have been outstanding not only in sports but also in FFA work. As you will notice in another story the kids just about won all the honors they could carry home from the Fort Worth Stock Show.

Our coaches and our FFA teacher, Mr. Leon Burkham, are to be commended.

Ways Listed To Plan Spending

By MISS S. C. KINSEY

There may be no statistics to prove it, but it's a safe bet that just about every family that succeeds in staying ahead of the bills uses some kind of money management plan.

Of course, there are plans and there are plans. In some families sound money management is accomplished simply by talking over proposed expenditures and keeping a sensible balance between income and outgo. Most families use some form of financial records — ranging all the way from a simple account book to complex ledgers where the amount of money available for each type of expense is carefully spelled out.

Many still prefer some variation of the familiar envelope system. Dad brings his pay home in cash, which is then parceled out into as many envelopes as there are major items of family expenditure.

Simple as this system sounds, it has a number of drawbacks—apart from the obvious risk involved in keeping substantial amounts of cash around the house.

This system probably made better sense in the days when money generally was earned—and spent—on a week-to-week basis. But nowadays more and more people are paid about twice a month, and some—such as teachers and government workers—just once a month. A similar pattern can be seen on the spending side of the ledger as well.

In addition to housing costs—which traditionally have been on a monthly basis—most families now have car and installment loan payments, insurance premiums, charge accounts, etc., to the point that many families have a quarter to a third of their after-tax income committed to regular monthly expenses. To complicate matters further, most of those payments are generally made by mail.

All this helps explain the soaring popularity of personal checking accounts, which can serve as a kind of informal financial control or, better yet, as a supplement to a more formal type of spending plan.

VISITS IN PROPPS HOME

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Propps last week were Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Krause of Fort Dodge, Iowa, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur H. Clark of Oklahoma City, Okla. The Krauses left Thursday for points in Old Mexico, and Mrs. Clark left Friday for her home. Mrs. Krause and Mrs. Clark are sisters of Mrs. Propps.

checks not only provide excellent tax records, but also make it easier for the family to keep track of spending and saving patterns, with an eye toward future improvements.

Knowing where the money went is not quite the same thing as planning for spending, but it's the first step in drawing up or revising a plan to make sure it's realistic—and therefore more likely to work out over the long pull.

"Realism," in fact, is one of the key words in the vocabulary of planning for spending. A good plan can't make two dollars do the work of three, or reform a spend thrift, or change radically a family's way of spending money. However, it can and should reflect the family's real goals, needs and interests. And, of course, it should take into account past financial history (for instance, debts to be paid off)—and any benefits available on the job (group life and health insurance, pension plan, Social Security, etc.)

Another key is "first things first." For every family there are fixed items, payments they have to meet—rent, heat utilities, insurance premiums. Then comes an emergency fund for the unexpected and the allocation for day-to-day expenses—(food, running the household and the car). After these have been taken care of, any workable plan includes an order of priorities for the distribution of money left over.

Perhaps the most important word in talking about spending plans is "attitude." The actual system adopted makes little difference. What counts is how well and how consistently it's used. It's no coincidence that financial troubles seem to haunt families that resort to a spending plan only in times of difficulty and abandon it until the next crisis appears on the horizon. A wiser course, is to use a plan for spending not as a remedy, but as preventive medicine for financial ills.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Gov. John Connally's alternate teacher pay proposal has drawn fire from the Texas State Teachers Association. And Connally has reciprocated!

Connally wants less of an immediate pay raise than the $45 a month the teachers ask. He wants to set up a 10-year program for steady and regular increases which in time would amount to greater rewards for more experienced teachers.

House Speaker Ben Barnes and Rep. George Hinson of Minola, who is sponsor of the TSTA-backed "45 in '65" program, both called for a cooling-off period. Compromise seemed unlikely due to strong feelings on both sides.

Sen. Jack Strong of Longview and Rep. W. S. Heatly of Pampa, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, introduced the Governor's 10-year pay plan—with substantial support. Among sponsors of the two bills are 17 House members who endorsed both measures.

Teachers complain the Connally program offers too little, too late. They charge it would put 70 per cent of raises on local school districts.

Connally produced figures showing cost of the 10-year program at $40,200,000 for the next biennium. He said the state would pick up $32,100,000 of the tab and local districts $8,000,000. His financing plan suggests that local school boards start paying a share of the cost of textbooks and teacher retirement, now being paid wholly by the state.

Connally believes his program would maintain the 80-20 cost ratio between state and local districts.

Meanwhile, teachers launched a campaign for their $85,000,000 salary adjustment program (it is geared to an additional $68,000,000 state outlay for the biennium).

Pressure is intense on legislators, both from the Governor's office and from the teachers' back home. Mail is piling high on lawmaker's desks.

Speaker Barnes said it will be three months before the Legislature can even consider a teacher's pay raise, since it has to pass the complicated appropriations bill first.

An all-out war now would injure all educational efforts under consideration, Barnes emphasized.

REDISTRICTING RESOLUTION PASSED — Both houses of the Legislature overwhelmingly adopted a resolution calling for a federal constitutional convention to permit one legislative chamber to be apportioned on factors other than population.

Thirty-four states must adopt the identical proposal before Congress has to consider calling a convention on a specific amendment. Three-fourths of the states must ratify any amendment thus submitted.

At least half a dozen proposals for congressional redistricting have been filed so far, plus bills for Senate redistricting and House redistricting.

Rep. Gus Mutscher of Brenham told his House Committee on Congressional and Legislative Districts he will canvass all representatives for their views on reapportioning the state.

House members are trying to work out a cooperative House redistricting plan, taking into consideration those who do not plan to run next time and those who plan to run for other offices.

Other two — congressional and senate — redistricting jobs will not be settled so amiably. As one legislator put it, "It's going to be a mean session."

BILLS TO GOVERNOR — The Legislature acted fast on two emergency budget requests by Gov. Connally.

One called for $702,785 in emergency appropriations to run some dollar-short agencies and programs. Included were $250,000 for carrying on the state's share of the screwworm eradication program for three months after April 1 and $290,000 for speeding up the Texas Water Commission's planning program.

Other bill set up procedure, and a library plan by which cities can take advantage of a $2,500,000 library building appropriation voted by Congress for Texas.

Both requests were granted in a matter of days.

TAX BILL PUSHED — Rep. Ben Atwell of Dallas, chairman of the House Revenue and Tax Committee, is pushing a bill to raise $15,300,000 under present tax laws.

Bill would repeal sales tax exemption on farm machinery and telephone and telegraph service; revise inheritance tax laws; repeal chain store tax ($7,200,000 loss) and theatre admissions tax ($1,200,000 loss); and grant a tax exemption for natural gas used in exploration and production in the same field where it is produced.

Serious consideration of tax bills must await passage of the general appropriations bill, Atwell said.

SALE OF STATE LEASES — Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler reports $39,000,000 in high bids on 475 tracts were received by the State School Land Board. It was the biggest oil and gas lease sale in Texas history.

Highest single bid was Dow Chemical's $1,077,000 for a submerged Gulf tract in Matagorda County. Second high was from Will Odum of Austin — $1,066,000 for another Gulf submerged tract in Kenedy County.

GOVERNOR'S PROGRAM INTRODUCED — Most of the governor's program already has been introduced in some form in one or both houses.

Bills or constitutional amendments filed would:

Set up an 18-man coordinating board over the state system of higher education;

Repeal state property and poll taxes;

Establish a State Department of Mental Health; Tighten driver license laws; Provide four-year terms for state officials;

Combine the Migrant Labor Council with Texas Good Neighbor Council;

Insure equal legal rights for women;

Establish a $10,000,000 college building fund;

Create a Fine Arts Commission;

Revise the Texas election code —and;

Free the Texas Water Commission for water rights administration and make Texas Water Development Board responsible for all water planning, financing and development activities.

BUILDING HIGHEST — Building shattered all records during 1964. Total permits issued in the state came up to $1,600,000,000 or seven per cent more over 1963, according to UT's Bureau of Business Research.

Bulk of the increase came from a 25 per cent gain in non-residential buildings, principally industrial structures which were up a sensational 92 per cent.

Home building authorizations dropped three per cent, while permits for alterations and repairs were up two per cent.

Non-metropolitan areas led the construction surge with a 30 per cent gain over the previous year. Metropolitan areas gained only three per cent.

The city with the biggest gain was Longview. Other big gains were shown in San Angelo, Lubbock, Tyler, Fort Worth, Odessa and Irving.

SHORT SNORTS — Bill authorizing the State Railroad Commission to order pooling of separately-owned oil and gas interests proration units has cleared the Senate Oil and Gas committee.

A four-system geographic grouping of colleges, rivaling a three-system setup proposed by Governor Connally, is called for in a bill by Sens. Dorsey Hardeeman of San Angelo and H. J. Blanchard of Lubbock.

Continuation of the Veterans' Land Program with another $200 million bond program is proposed in constitutional amendments introduced in both the House and Senate.

Sore throat is nature's warning system that something in your body is out of order.

Often a sore throat accompanies a common cold and the soreness passes in a few days with no further affect. But, says Today's Health, the magazine of the American Medical Association, sore throat also can be the symptom of any of a wide range of diseases, from diphtheria to leukemia, that require your doctor's skill, not your guessing to diagnose.

Sometimes tonsils and adenoids are involved in causing a sore throat, and when these organs cause trouble they frequently are removed. Tonsil-adenoid removals account for half of all operations performed on children. Today's Health reports. Sometimes the surgery helps!

did in late 1963, according to a Texas Highway Department radar check.

prevent sore throat, sometimes it doesn't.

Allergies can cause sore throats. Cold, dry winter air can trigger it. So can extreme thirst—excessive smoking or mouth breathing. Anything that dries out the throat and cuts off secretions that normally wash dust away.

Virus infections of many types also are a cause of sore throat and everyone who has had "flu" knows that this particular virus disease often causes the throat to hurt.

"Strep throat" is a serious infection that occasionally leads to rheumatic fever and a possible heart damage. It can be knocked out with penicillin, if it is diagnosed in time.

The crucial diagnostic test in sore throats is the swab test in which the germs causing the trouble can then be identified.

There is little or nothing you can do to cure a sore throat at home, says Today's Health.

There are medications which bring temporary relief easing of the discomfort but the cure must be launched by your physician.

The best money you can spend if you get a sore throat is the dime it takes to call your doctor.

World of a girl

By CECE ALLISON, Director Scott Home Service Center

DANCE JITTERS TROUBLE TEENS

Dear Cece: I'm 13 and my friends tell me I'm a good dancer. My problem is that when a boy I like asks me to dance I get nervous and I can't follow the simplest steps. It's getting so that I'd rather not go to parties than let everyone see how awkward I am. How can I get over this problem before it ruins my social life?

Jittery

Dear Jittery: Look on the bright side. There are lots of girls who seldom get asked to dance by anyone, let alone a "special" boy. You seem to be doing fine. Each of us has made the mistake of trying too hard to impress someone we like. And young teens are particularly vulnerable. You'll be able to forget the dance jitters if you remember that the boy who asks you to dance is just as anxious to make a good impression as you are. If you really can't follow a step, ask him to explain it to you. He'll be flattered and you'll both relax. Cece

Dear Cece: I want to give a party, but our apartment is very small and I can't seat more than eight or nine people comfortably. Can you give me some suggestions on how to entertain a small group of high school sophomores and juniors? No dancing - we live on the top floor.

Cara

Dear Cara: A television party can be fun if you pick a show that both boys and girls will find interesting. For example, a show like America's Junior Miss Pageant. You and your friends will especially enjoy watching it together because you are in the same age group as the contestants. As hostess, you might design an attractive ballot box (cover a shoe box with colored construction paper and trim it with carnations made from Scottie tissues) and ask each guest to vote for the girl he thinks should be crowned America's Junior Miss. If one of your guests picks the winner, give him a small, gaily wrapped prize. If no one agrees with the judges, give the prize to the one who comes closest by picking one of the 10 finalists.

For late evening refreshments, plan on sandwiches, which you can make early in the day and keep in the refrigerator protected by Cut-Rite plastic wrap. Then you, the hostess, can serve your guests without missing part of the pageant. If your family has TV trays, you can set them with attractive, disposable Scott Family Placemats in one of the bright new patterns. Use matching plastic cold cups for soft drinks or cider and fill a few large serving bowls with finger foods like potato chips and crackers. Keeping utensils to a minimum will eliminate major clean-up problems after the party.

Dear Readers: To receive a free copy of "You're Entertaining," a party-planning guide written especially for teenagers, send me a postcard at the address listed at the end of this column. Don't forget to print your own name and address clearly.

Cece

Questions and comments should be addressed to Mrs. Cece Allison, Room 1440, 420 Lexington Ave., New York 17, N. Y.

JOE W. DOBY
COUNTY AGRICULTURAL AGENT

Knox County wheat fields are showing the results of a heavy infestation of leaf rust. Leaf rust is spread by spores which must have living wheat plants on which to live. The winds carry the spores north in the summer to Canada where spring wheat is grown. Then in the fall, the north winds bring them back south. They infect the wheat in this area but usually are killed out by the cold weather. They overwinter in South Texas and Mexico and so are ready to start the cycle over again.

The mild winter we have experienced has failed to eradicate it from the area. Unless we can get some zero weather, the disease will probably live thru the winter and cause extensive damage this spring. The only defense we have against rust is resistant varieties and this is a neverending battle as the rust builds up new strains. We have been growing Triumph wheat for a number of years now and it seems to have little resistance to present strains.

The Irish Potato variety test will be conducted this year by Gene Thompson of Munday.

Weather permitting, the plot will be planted on Tuesday, Feb. 16, by Dr. Jack Kyle, Lubbock Research and Extension Center; Virgil Woodfin, Iowa Park Experiment Station and myself. We will have 148 miles in the test this year.

It will require 5,000 feet of row to plant the test.

USDA lines will be planted as well as lines from Mr. Ben Picha, potato breeder from Grand Forks, North Dakota. These lines will be evaluated in this and other tests. Those that excel will eventually become named varieties. An example of this is the russet potato which Duke, Mrs. G. H. Hudson, Mrs. Lou Leaverton and Jerry, Mrs. Bud Conner, Mrs. Lee Snailum, Mrs. Kathleen Melton, Mrs. Bobby Roberson, Mrs. Levoyn Kinnibrugh, Mrs. Jerry Wiles, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Tom Hudson, Gene Howse, Gerald Wiles and Joe Gore.

Bill Sams of Knox City was a Benjamin visitor Tuesday.

Herb Partridge grew with such success last year. It has now been named the Norgold Russet.

Another example of the value of the test to the area potato farmers was shown this year. Seed potatoes were very scarce and high priced this year so when one farmer could not secure the variety he wanted, he was able to secure another that has done well in past years in the variety test plot.

The Munday Chamber of Commerce now has mimeographed copies of recommended vegetable varieties. Planting dates for these that will enable home gardeners to have them ready for the Vegetable Festival, June 18, are also given. We need all the entries we can get to make it a big show.

Knox County has a wonderful group of dedicated volunteer 4-H adult leaders who contribute their time, effort and money to promote and assist the 4-H Club program. And they serve without pay.

To assist them in reducing their 1964 income taxes, there are a number of items they may claim as charitable deductions provided they itemize their deductions. Among the items are out-of-pocket transportation expenses including the cost for use of cars or trucks to and from 4-H sponsored events, necessarily incurred in rendering donated service to 4-H.

Actual unreimbursed expenses incurred by 4-H adult leaders in attending contests, training courses and other 4-H sponsored events. This includes meals, lodging and transportation expenses while away from home.

Also expenses for the cost and maintenance of uniforms and emblems required to be worn in performing and volunteer service and cash contributions and contributions in kind, such as equipment, plants and other supplies. The amount to deduct is the fair market value at the time the gift was made.

The Beautitudes each, have a hidden spiritual meaning. Much wonderful truth will be uncovered when we seek it with our spiritual eyes and ears open.

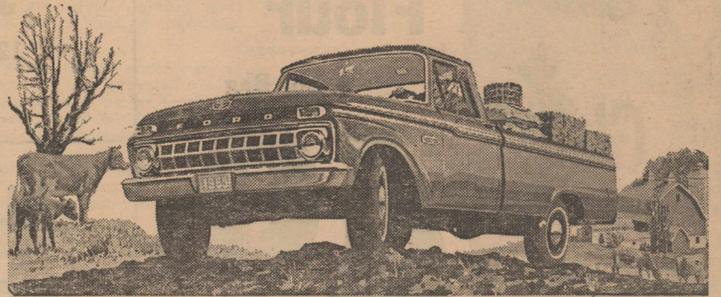

In them Jesus is telling us of No deductions is allowable for the time contributed.

Leaders who claim deductions by itemizing their accounts are encouraged to keep accurate records throughout the year.

VISITING SISTERS
Mrs. Orland Jamison is visiting her sisters in Amarillo and Arkansas.

HERE FROM DALLAS
Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Goldberg of Dallas visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy W. Smith last Thursday.

God's love and care for us. It is crystal clear in the first one; "Blessed are the poor in spirit for theirs in the Kingdom of heaven." Poor in spirit, paraphrased reads, "Even if you are presently low in spiritual consciousness, God is still your loving Father," who is blessing you right now. Nothing can stop the continuous flow of His love and care for you.

THE KNOX COUNTY HERALD, KNOX CITY, TEXAS, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1965

THE FAMILY LAWYER

QUIET, PLEASE!

Satirist Ambrose Bierce once described noise as "the chief product of civilization." Bierce was prone to exaggerate. But there is no doubt that the noise level of our lives has risen alarmingly.

At times, the law must decide how noisy a person may be in his own home. One basic test can be found in the law of nuisance.

Is Home Owner A committing a nuisance by making noise? Is Neighbor B entitled to have it stopped?

Oddly enough, both A and B stand in the same foundation: the rights of private property. One of those rights, argues A, is to do as he pleases on his own premises. B retorts that he is entitled to enjoy his private property in peace and quiet.

How to reconcile the irreconcilable? The degree of loudness is one factor, but only one.

Justice is too elusive to be achieved by merely counting decibels. A court must seek out all the special circumstances that give color to the dispute.

For instance, noise is less lawful if made with malice aforethought. One woman was held liable for playing her radio loud and long at an open window, purposely to inflict a maximum of annoyance on the family next door.

Another factor is the ease of abatement. The owner of an incessantly barking dog was ordered to abate the nuisance, the court noting that it was simply a matter of not leaving the dog alone so much.

But noise appropriate to the time and place is usually no nuisance. Thus, courts has declined to interfere with the cackling of hens in a rural district and with evening croquet games that vexed only a single sensitive neighbor.

In another case, a court found no nuisance in the singing of popular songs on the front porch, even though the fastidious couple next door were scandalized. The court said:

"Those who enjoy the modern jazz cannot be restrained from producing it because it offends the classical ear."

Noise may not be the chief product of civilization. But civilization has certainly made more of a din less of a sin. One court, denying a home owner's complaint against the Little League baseball games on a nearby lot, had his rueful comment:

Today we not only have modern conveniences but also modern inconveniences."

The beauty of it, of course, goes deeper than the things you don't get. There's the other side of the coin—what you do get in their place.

Take the no window post, for example. What you do get is hardtop styling—with curved frameless side windows—in every Corvair closed model.

The transmission and driveline hump you don't get means more foot room. Thanks to Corvair's rear engine, the floor is practically flat.

No radiator—the engine's air-cooled—also means no water, no antifreeze and no hose leaks to worry about. All of which add up to some more important pluses.

Power steering? Power brakes? Corvair needs them like a centipede needs crutches. With most of the engine weight on the rear wheels, the front ones are free to steer easily. And stops are quick and sure—with no nosediving.

Historical Survey Committee Solicits Community Help In Stocking Museum

Pride in the history has been felt by every generation of Texans since 1836, but we have lost part of the purpose of preserving Texas History if we do not share it with others. We must develop our own history and present it to our citizens and tourists, said the Knox County Historical Survey committee this week.

The first phase of the work is drawing to a close, marking and recording all Civil War Veteran's graves in the nine cemeteries in the county.

This is a long neglected part of our history, Mrs. C. C. Hoge said, but about 80 per cent of all graves have been marked. A few have been unable to get any information in family histories, in Austin or Washington, D. C.

A museum on a small scale has been opened in the Assembly Room in the courthouse.

Two cases were bought and they are ready now for articles that people have used or would be interesting to the youth of the times. The committee needs any number of old photographs, old documents, old editions of books or newspapers. If you take anything to Benjamin the committee asks that you give them to Judge Louis Parker, or any member of the Historical Committee in any of the communities of the county.

Project for February is placing a marker at "The Narrows" which is the most scenic spot in Knox County. The committee is cooperating with the Highway Department in locating the exact place and the type of marker to be secured. Other places in the county will be marked as funds are made available.

"We need the cooperation of all civic clubs and chambers of commerce. Each town in the county should have an appropriate marker at the entrance," the committee said.

History of the county is being compiled by the History Committee, with Mrs. B. B. Campbell Sr., of Knox City as chairman.

Mrs. Campbell hopes to have all material in hand by April. "Won't you help us by sending in the history of your family if they were pioneers of this county," she asked.

Last year a million people moved about over the state to attend and participate in historical pilgrimages to help dedicate markers, open museums and dedicate landmarks. Tourism is new to us, but we should remember people pass through our country each year traveling north and south. . . . We need maps to put in the hands of filing stations, hotels and motels.

"Texas is divided into 18 areas or regions for the purpose of helping the Historical Committees with their work. Knox County is in Region 2 and is composed of Archer, Baylor, Childress, Clay, Cottle, Foard, Hardeman, Haskell, Jack, Knox, Montague, Throckmorton, Wichita, Wilbarger, and Young counties. Each region will conduct a workshop at least once a year.

While all of the work the Historical Survey Committee is 'Historical,' preservation and restoration are the tangible evidences of history. It is well to remember that "It is better to preserve than repair, better to repair than to restore, and better to restore than to reconstruct," the committee said.

Mrs. Carpenter Speaks To FHA

The Knox City FHA Chapter held their regular monthly meeting January 25, at the school library, with president Glenda Cox residing.

The title of the monthly meeting was "Action for Citizenship." Chairman for the program was Ila Kay Hutchinson. She was assisted by Wilma Fahring and Gail Fletcher.

The special guest speaker for the program was Mrs. Sammie Carpenter. Mrs. Carpenter spoke about the importance of citizenship. She listed the many phases of citizenship.

A girl must strive to be a good citizen personally, at school, at home, in her church, in her community, and in her nation. As she attempts to be

Mrs. Campbell Reports To KC Garden Club

Leader for the Feb. 9 Garden Club meeting was Mrs. Bruce Campbell Jr. Reports on "one thing I have learned from comprehensive study" were given by members. Groups of members were recently chosen to study certain flowers and include: violets, dahlias and zennias.

A report from the civic committee was given: after conferring with Miss Sanders, the committee has arranged to plant six fruit trees and one shrub at the Knox County Hospital. Table of the Day was arranged by Mrs. B. F. Cornett and depicted Freedom. A white cloth with red stripe centered the table and the arrangement was of cherry blossoms, red cherries in a red container, flanked by a Colonial Soldier dressed in blue and white.

Next meeting of the club will be on March 9 at 1 p.m. and will be a workshop on drying materials. Mrs. Arthur Crownover will make the table arrangement using bulbs.

Mrs. J. C. McGee will be the leader.

Importance Of Terracing Is Stressed By Agriculture Soil Conservation Serv.

Will your field get a "Million Dollar Rain" this year? A properly designed and installed terrace system on your land could mean the difference. Terraced fields cause runoff water to be held and spread over the field where the crops can use it.

On unterraced fields runoff water is carried down the slopes to the turn rows. Only weeds and fence row trees can use it there. The "Million-Dollar Rain" is lost and it takes the soil with it.

Design and layout of terrace systems, according to a Conservation Plan, is the job of Soil Conservation Service technicians assisting the Wichita Brazos Soil Conservation District. Reducing the amount of runoff by one inch can increase cotton yields by 20 pounds of lint cotton per acre, according to Arche Leib, Work Unit Conservationist a good citizen now she must also develop her abilities in order to be a good adult citizen. She urged every girl to go on to college in order to prepare for her future roles.

Another outstanding feature was the selection of officer and girl of the month. Members of the nominating committee were: Linda Reed, Louise Perez, Karen White, Cathy Richardson, and Gail Cornett.

Officer of the month is Susan Reese, and the girl of the month is Cora Jan Fitzgerald.

Other nominees were Vicki Lowry as officer, and Janie Escobar and Twyla Standlee for the girl of the month.

Junior degrees were presented to Janie Escobar and Becky Howell. The Junior degree is the first step in the FH degree program.

Degrees of achievement are one of the way FHA honors its members for outstanding service. Work on degrees helps a member improve as an individual, and encourages her to participate in more worthwhile activities.

The meeting was adjourned and refreshments were served.

for the SCS here. 12-inch high terrace will hold nine times as much water as one four inches high. Low terraces can be raised with a regular disk plow or moldboard. Maintenance need not be an extra operation but part of regular tillage. Scoops and blades mounted on tool bar can be used for making end fills and patching breaks.

Each cropland field requires individual terrace design and layout due to differences in soil and slope. Vegetative outlets, natural drains, or rangeland, are necessary to provide outlets for most terrace systems because they are slightly graded and must have a place to empty excess water.

Parallel terrace systems are a necessity on cultivated land where terraces are needed to fit modern multi-row farm equipment. They eliminate point rows and unnecessary turning on crops as well as wasted time.

They can be built where there is an even number of rows be-

FHA Honors 4 Girls of the Month

The FHA members have honored four girls for the months of December and January.

Girls of the month are selected because of their interest in FHA and attendance at FHA meetings and activities. Other qualification considered are their personalities, poise and all-around participation in school and community activities.

Officer of December was Louise Perez. She has been a loyal FHA member for four years. She has been a member of the basketball team and band for four years. Last year she was elected Football Sweetwater.

Lou is a very faithful FHA member and is serving the chapter as fifth vice president this year.

Linda Reed was elected girl of December. She is active in many school activities such as the annual staff; Band, FTA and Beta Club. She is band sweetheart this year. Linda truly deserves to be girl of the month, because of her loyal service to FHA. She attends all meetings, and has served on many FHA committees, and was second vice president last year.

The officer of the month is Susan Reese, and the girl of the month is Cora Jan Fitzgerald. Susan has been an active FHA member for two years. She is now serving the chapter as Parliamentarian. Her attendance at FHA meetings and her interest in FHA activities make her an excellent choice for officer of the month.

Susan Reese has been chosen, by faculty consultation, to be a candidate for Area FHA officer.

The FHA Girl of January is Cora Jan Fitzgerald. Cora Jan is a senior and is playing in the Knox City high band. Her enthusiasm in all FHA activities have led to the honor of Girl of January. She is loyal in her attendance at FHA meetings.

Cora Jan is to be commended on her faithful services to FHA.

tween each terrace. Parallel terraces cost more than regular terraces to construct because more earth moving is involved to cut the high places and fill the low places to be certain they drain or can be drained of excess water. The extra cost is more than offset by the convenience and increase in production.

Cost share assistance is available through the Great Plains Conservation Program and Agricultural Conservation Program to construct a terrace system on your farm.
