

As a public service, we will remind you that Saturday is school trustee election date and Tuesday, April 6, will be the date for the city election.

Exercise this basic freedom every time you can, 'cause the right to vote is the only thing that keeps you from being a slave, and as we can see by the news each day, it is especially significant to those who can't exercise this freedom.

Hated to receive word that an old friend Tom Howard had died unexpectedly in Dallas. Tom and his wife Betty were gracious hosts to a number of us here in Knox City who liked to play cards occasionally.

Knox City was comparatively quieter than Dallas when Tom left there and he was always trying to get us as well as himself in a fight, which he truly enjoyed. "I'll represent you free, Jimmy if it ever comes to court," he once promised when we were in a small scrap.

He was a brilliant lawyer and we would have bet all we could get our hands on if he had had the Jack Ruby case by himself. Mr. Ruby would be in considerably better shape than he is today. Naturally that is a biased opinion on our part, but Tom was smart and he proved many many times he knew Texas people and especially juries.

Was admiring the new pavilion at city park and ran into Mayor Buddy Angle. Here are some answers to questions we have received the past week:

The pavilion is 14 by 30 feet and work has been voluntary or by city employees, oil companies have donated pipe-and other supplies and tables and chairs have been donated too. Others would like to have more trees.

Buddy said anyone desiring to donate trees that would grow rapidly for shade trees should contact either him or the aldermen. The city will put them out.

Personally, he thought a non-bearing mulberry was the most desired tree for this purpose, but this will be left up to several, including a parks committee they will name if they deem it necessary.

At least one and possibly two more pavilions will be built, he said and pointed out that the one finished now will have water, lights and a plug-in for electrical appliances, such as radios.

For years we've been waiting for an April 1st to fall on Thursday so we could have an April Fools edition, but we let it slip by so guess we never will get one out.

We've always had a secret desire to get out the April one issue with all the ads full of satire and humorous anecdotes.

Since this is a "next year" community, let's keep it in mind for next year even though the first won't be on Thursday.

Rep. Bill Heatly of Paducah sent out a letter last week to numerous persons in this district concerning proposed legislation for our schools. Since that time we have endeavored to get more information from local as well as state agencies, and we should have some information shortly. The way it stands now it would take a Philadelphia lawyer to understand the text.

BLIND SPOT — This map was prepared recently by B. W. Musgraves, chairman of the Junior College Division, Texas Education Agency, and a frequent visitor in this area since the project was launched to establish a junior college in a four-county area, comprising Haskell, Stonewall, Throckmorton and Knox Counties. It points up most graphically the advantageous position in which the four-county area under consideration would be, so far as substantiating a need is concerned. This immediate area is located in dead center of one of the two largest "blind spots" in the entire state where there are no junior colleges. The circles pinpoint the spots where 33 public junior colleges, such as being sought for this area, and ten privately operated junior colleges are located in Texas. MAYOR PROCLAIMS WEDNESDAY B. B. CAMPBELL SR., DAY HERE

David Counts was program chairman for the Lions Club Wednesday and the program was devoted to telling the life of one of its members, Mr. Bruce Campbell Sr.

Counts listed many eventful happenings in the life of the honored guest and recalled that his mother had died when he had been three years old and that he had been raised by one relative after another until he was nine.

In 1905 he left the home of his aunt Ruth Roberts and after graduating from school he came to Knox County to live with his father on the ranch.

His father branded ten heifers for him and he was in business. In 1909 he inherited some money and bought the first registered cattle to Knox City—only five—but that started his herd.

There are still cattle left on the Campbell spread that can trace their ancestry back to the original five.

Bruce had the urge to "go west" and worked his way to California and back by picking up odd jobs along the route.

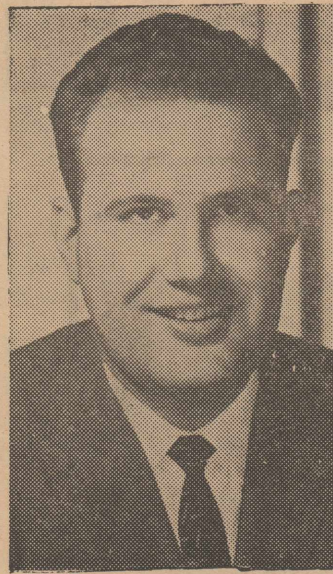

In March of 1912 a cattle herd was being gathered to go "up the trail" and Bruce wanting to make the last trail drive, again packed his saddle and left the country.

Leaving Knox Co. in March Bruce had thought it would be warm and failed to take any winter clothing with him. After practically freezing he finally made the trip to warmer pastures and returned home. He and Orian Driver are the only men now living that started on this drive.

In 1914 he again had the urge to go west and ended up in Arizona where he looked at lots of land, but later decided he liked this part of the country better to come back here to settle.

In 1916 he married and in 1917 and 1918 was the county's worst drought. No pasture, no feed, and no money to buy feed. No market, and Bruce was broke. In 1919 though it was a good year, with good rains, good crops and good prices. 1920 was another good year and Bruce organized the bank in 1920 and has been pretty close to it every since.

After the above run-down on events in his life a life long friend, Oral Jones of Wichita Falls, paid respects to his old friend in a testimonial.

Sam Reed, another friend and business associate for many years paid his respects also.

"He has always been a public spirited man . . . giving lots of time to worthwhile causes," Mr. Reed said.

Paul Clayton read a proclamation by Mayor Buddy Angle designating Wednesday as Bruce B. Campbell Sr., day in Knox City.

Mr. Campbell expressed his thanks for the honors paid him and said "I hope I can faithfully carry out all these fine things the rest of my life so I won't embarrass any of you," he said jokingly and quipped, "I have been a better man than I thought I had according to this testimony."

Harry Lane of Wichita Falls, also praised Mr. Campbell for his many worthwhile projects and Joe Averitt said he had enjoyed his association with Bruce for the past 42 years . . . "he has been a good friend and a good boss," Mr. Averitt said.

Former Resident, Tom Howard, Dies Saturday In Dallas

Tom Howard, the first lawyer to represent Jack Ruby in the murder of Lee Harvey Oswald, died Saturday night 30 minutes after being admitted to Methodist Hospital, suffering from a massive coronary infection. He was 48.

Howard had been ill for several days but continued his law practice. He complained of a pain in his upper back.

George Senator, Ruby's roommate, took Howard to represent Ruby shortly after Oswald, assassin of President John F. Kennedy, was shot to death.

He appeared in court for a few days with Ruby's lawyers, Melvin Belli, Joe Tonahill and Phil Burleson, but later resigned because "Tom disagreed violently regarding how Ruby should be defended," his wife Betty said.

Howard was one of the most colorful defense lawyers in the state and was widely known for his courtroom aggressiveness and prowess with his fists, which more than one lawyer and foe witnessed first hand.

Howard, his wife Betty, and four youngsters lived in Knox City a year.

Mr. Howard and Attorney Joe Reeder were partners during his stay in Knox City.

Future Homemakers Observe National FHA Week Here

Knox City Future Homemakers of America will observe National FHA Week, April 4 to 10. The FHA Chapter at Knox City High School has scheduled a number of activities for the week, according to Jan Sutton. Future Homemakers of America are home economics students in junior or senior high schools. The organization, founded 20 years ago, states as its creed:

"We face the future with warm courage and high hope. For we are the builders of homes . . . for America's future. Homes where living will be the expression of everything that is good and fair. Homes where truth and love and security and faith will be realities, not dreams."

A national program of work guides the activities of individual FHA members and chapters. Projects on this year's program are (1) You and Your Value; (2) Focus on Family Friendship; (3) Marriage for Preparation; (4) Stay in School; (5) Action for Citizenship.

All projects, Jan Sutton stated, further FHA's over-all goal, which is to help individuals improve personal, family, and community living.

Future Homemakers of America is sponsored by the U. S. Office of Education and the American Home Economics Association but receives its financial support from the dues of members.

JOE W. DOBY
COUNTY AGRICULTURAL AGENT

The Knox County 4-H Share-the-Fun Contest will be held Saturday night, 8 p.m. April 3, at the Gilliland school. The annual King and Queen contest will be held in conjunction with the fun acts. Admission is free.

Randy Reeves, Gilliland and Pam Roberts, Benjamin, cochairman of the 4-H Council this year, will be master and mistress of ceremonies.

Each club may enter as many talent acts as it desires. Each act can have from one to nine members and an adult can act as accompanist if required.

The top senior act will be entered in the district contest to be held in Wichita Falls on May 8.

Each club also has been busy raising money for their king and queen candidates. Each penny turned in counts as one vote for their candidates. Benjamin held a box supper and volleyball game for their fund drive. Gilliland had a cake walk and volleyball game. Munday has a bicycle race planned.

All livestock owners are urged to turn their screwworm fund contribution over to the community member nearest them or to the fund drive treasurer. The Knox County share of the $300,000 needed is $1024. It will simplify things for the committee man if livestock owners will look him up and turn in their contributions of 10 cents per head for cows and horses and 10 cents for each five sheep or five hogs.

Men taking contributions in each community are as follows—Truscott, J. D. Smith; Gilliland J. T. Cook; Vera, Gaylon Scott; Benjamin, Pate Meinzer, Ed Moorhouse; Knox City, Victor Thomas, Clifford Cornett; Munday, Kenneth Baker, W. R. Moore, Jr.; Goree, John Broach, George Hunt; Rhineland, Marvin Zeissel. Treasurer is B. B. Campbell Sr., of Knox City.

As credit becomes more important to the farming business perhaps we should consider what characteristics a farmer needs in order to be a good credit risk. Kansas State University recently ran a survey to find out what credit men look for when making a loan. They are listed below in order of importance.

1. Progress in increasing net worth;
2. Ambition;
3. Loan history prompt payment of notes;
4. Management practices;
5. Cooperativeness;
6. Family buying habits;
7. Farming experience;
8. Formal credit rating;
9. Cooperation of the family;
10. Mechanical skills;
11. Level of family living;
12. Flexibility of production;
13. Scale of operation;
14. Financial backing.

Note that ambition ranks high—scale or size is at the bottom of the list and age is of no importance.

Many homeowners have seen their favorite ornamentals killed or weakened by insect infestations. Just about every ornamental plant and shade tree grown in Texas is subject to attack by one or more insect pests during the season.

In most cases, it is not necessary to be able to identify every insect or pest attacking plants around the home. The main points to know are how the insect is causing damage and the part of the plant it is feeding on. The majority of ornamental pests can be divided into two groups—those that chew and those that suck.

The mouthparts of sucking insects are arranged so that a hollow beak can be inserted into the plant and the juices withdrawn. This results in a weakened condition and may invite the entry of wood borers who cannot survive in a healthy tree.

Chewing insects eat the leaves thus reducing the food manufacturing areas of the plant. Some insects girdle the plant near the soil surface thereby stopping circulation and killing it.

To control insects on ornamental plants, combination sprays or dusts or a specific insecticide may be used. Combination materials are marketed under various trade names and may contain a fungicide as well as insecticides. All active ingredients must be stated on the labels. Directions for application are also found on the label.

These combinations will give satisfactory control of a large variety of sucking and chewing insects. Sprays will usually give better control on ornamental pests than dusts.

Economist Reviews 1965 Outlook For Cotton Growers

Cotton growers of Texas and the nation will add an estimated 600,000 bales to the carryover on August 1, 1965. This, points out John G. McHaney, Extension economist, Texas A&M University, will bring the national carryover to an estimated 13 million bales, the largest since the record carryover of 14.5 million bales in 1956.

And, continues the economist, the large 1964 crop will likely offset the high disappearance Extension recommendation for control of ornamental insects are given in L-199, Texas Guide for Controlling Insects on Ornamental Plants. The insecticides are given by their actual names rather than trade names in this publication.

However, don't expect these recommendations to work 100 per cent every time. Here are five basic principles to follow in successful pest control:

1. Good equipment for application
2. Selection of the proper insecticide
3. Correct application
4. Starting control measures before serious damage results.
5. Repeat applications must be made in 7-10 days to control certain pests such as scales, white flies and spider mites.

expected during the period from August 1964 to July 31, 1965.

Lower net costs of upland cotton to domestic users, resulting from legislation enacted last April, were cited as contributors to the expected domestic use of 9.7 million bales during the present crop year of 1964-65. This is 1.1 million more bales than were used in 1963-64 and the largest domestic usage since 1950-51.

Per capita mill consumption of cotton for 1964 was up about five per cent from 1963. But, points out McHaney, cotton's share of the total fiber consumption showed a slight decline to a low of 55 percent.

U. S. exports of upland cotton for the 1964-65 season are expected to total 5.2 million bales, compared with 5.7 million for the 1963-64 season but above the average for the past four years. McHaney believes exports will hold at the high level due to the continued up-swing in foreign free world consumption. But, he adds, foreign free world cotton production for 1964-65 set a new record and thus, will make more competition for U. S. producers.

Farm prices for cotton in recent months have been trending downward to reflect the 2.5 cents per pound reduction in the 1964 support price. For the 1965 crop, the basic support price for middling 1-inch cotton, gross weight, at average location is 29 cents per pound. Farmers who plant within their domestic allotment will be eligible to receive an additional payment of 4.35 cents per pound on their farm's normal cotton yield, as determined by the county ASCS committee.

The national acreage allotment for the 1965 crop of upland cotton has been set at the statutory minimum of 16 million acres.

Plymouth sales in Texas prove it!

TEXANS LIKE TEXAS-SIZE PLYMOUTH

'65 Plymouth Fury

It's no surprise that Plymouth sales for the '65 model year are up over last year and still going strong. Texans like things "Texas-size" and Plymouth for '65 certainly fills the bill. The Plymouth Fury is the biggest, plushest Plymouth ever—but still solidly in the low-price field. And every Plymouth has a 5-year/50,000-mile engine and drive train warranty.*

HERE'S HOW PLYMOUTH'S 5-YEAR/50,000-MILE ENGINE AND DRIVE TRAIN WARRANTY PROTECTS YOU:

Chrysler Corporation confidently warrants all of the following vital parts of its 1965 cars for 5 years or 50,000 miles, whichever comes first, during which time any such parts that prove defective in material and workmanship will be replaced or repaired at a Chrysler Motors Corporation Authorized Dealer's place of business without charge for such parts or labor: engine block, head and internal parts, intake manifold, water pump, transmission case and internal parts (excepting manual clutch), torque converter, drive shaft, universal joints, rear axle and differential and rear wheel bearings. Required maintenance: The following maintenance services are required under the warranty—change engine oil every 3 months or 4,000 miles, whichever comes first; replace oil filter every second oil change; clean carburetor air filter every 6 months and replace it every 2 years; and every 6 months furnish evidence of this required service to a Chrysler Motors Corporation Authorized Dealer and request him to certify receipt of such evidence and your car's mileage. Simple enough for such important protection.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

"WHY PICK ON ME?"
You are driving along the street about 15 miles an hour faster than you should. But our conscience is eased by the fact that several other motorists are doing exactly the same thing. Unhappily, when a motorcycle officer takes up the chase, he singles you out as his target. Result: a ticket for speeding. "Why pick on me?" you may well ask in injured innocence. "I'm no more guilty than those other drivers, who are all getting off scot-free. The United States Constitution must have something to say about this." If the officer singled you out because of some personal animosity, there may indeed be a constitutional issue. Laws should not be enforced, the Supreme Court has warned, "with an evil eye and an unequal hand." But if the discrimination was not intentional, you have no grounds for complaint. Your offense is not excused by the fact that other offenders are going unpunished. Isn't that unfair? Certainly the law should be enforced alike against everyone — theoretically — but there are practical difficulties that must be faced. Consider the findings of a traffic study made in a city of about 100,000 population. Based on surveillance of a typical intersection, the study indicated that there were no fewer than 3,000,000 traffic violations in the city every day.

Citing each violator would have required some 14,000 policemen — almost half of the adult male population of the city. And all 14,000 would be occupied with traffic full time, leaving no policemen to chase burglars, lead funerals, comfort lost children or remove drunks from the city hall steps. In short, a rule of "all or none" in law enforcement could mean that none—not all—would be punished. We forego what is perfect to achieve what is possible. It is true that, with less-than-perfect enforcement, you run the risk of getting more traffic tickets than your precise mathematical share. But take heart. A veteran judge estimates that, for every offense you are caught at, you commit a hundred. (A public service feature of the American Bar Association and the State Bar of Texas. Zing into spring! Corvair by Chevrolet

The steering's crisper, the ride's flatter, the style's racier—even the grass looks a shade greener from behind the wheel of this new Corvair

For all its finely calibrated instrumentation—tachometer, manifold pressure gauge, even an electric clock with a sweep second hand for rally buffs—the most important thing that happens when you get a Corvair Corsa out on the road doesn't register on the dash. It registers on you. You feel it in the steering—crisp and precise—as you double back on a curve. In the flat riveted-to-the-road stability of the new fully independent suspension. In the response of the rear engine (up to 180 hp available now in Corsa's Turbo-Charged version). Drop down to your dealer's now—while the trading's extra good—and see for yourself.
