School Bond Finance Details Told As Board Sets Election

Tax Hike Necessary

How will taxes be affected with the passage of Hart's $460,000 bond election on April 6?

This was a major question among Hart school patrons this week following announcement of the building program plans.

School board members sought to spell out all the tax details at their special meeting Tuesday night.

Briefly, approval of the bond election will mean a 40 per cent tax increase. A patron now paying $100 a year would pay $140.

This, then, would be the approximate cost to bring Hart schools up-to-date and, at the same time, provide the facilities to take care of expected enrollment increases.

Studies of past enrollment increases, along with the census made of future school children show that Hart school attendance will almost double in the next seven years.

Present enrollment of 522 would zoom to 939 in 1969-70, according to statistics compiled only recently.

Overcrowded conditions have plagued Hart schools the past three years. The school board has been studying ways to correct the problem for about 2 1/2 years. Over the past few months, trustees have spent overtime in special meetings and traveling to other school districts to seek answers to the problem.

This is the way the change of the tax structure would be handled:

Presently, Hart schools are operating on an assessed valuation of $6,350,000. This is one-half of the actual state and county valuation of the school district.

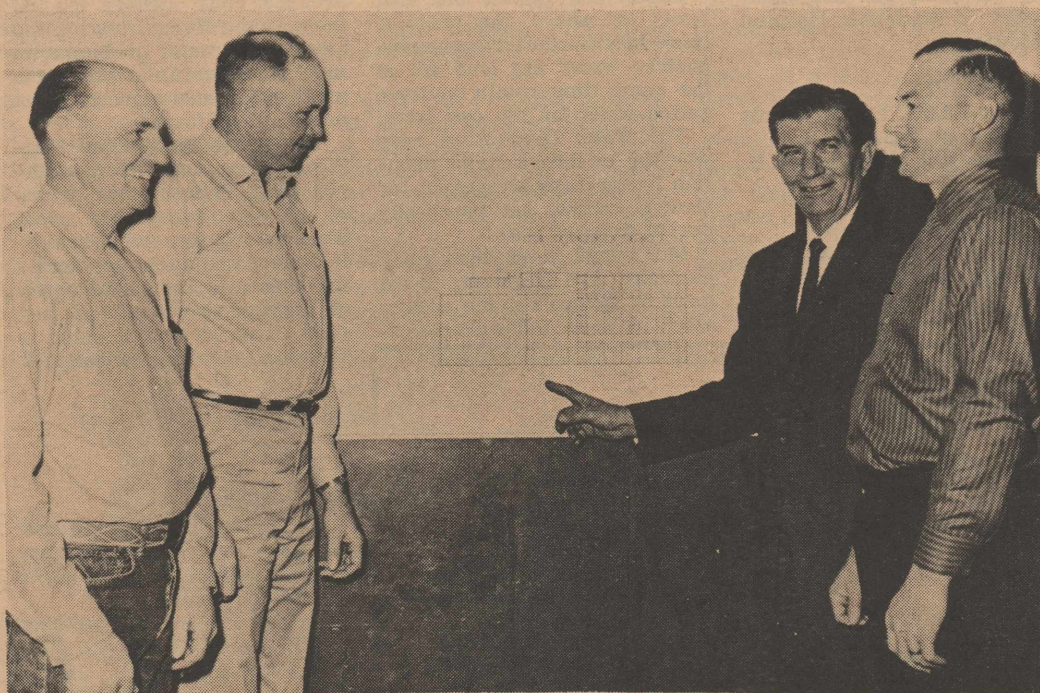

Actual valuation of state and county property in the school district, then, amounts to $12,700,000.

Assuming at least some growth in the district by the time the bond program is put into effect, trustees and financial advisors agreed on a $13,000,000 actual valuation in the district as a financial basis from which to work.

The present assessment of 50 per cent of actual value would be raised to 70 per cent of actual value. This increase of 20 percentage points would be a 40 per cent increase from the old standard.

Seventy percent of the actual valuation of $13,000,000 would give the school district an assessed valuation of approximately $9,100,000.

The tax rate would remain

Senate Bill 116 Explained

Some seven years ago the Legislature adopted what is known commonly now as Senate Bill 116. It is a state statute, Art. 2784e-1, V.A.T.C.S.

This law provides that the bonded indebtedness of a school district cannot exceed 10 per cent of the assessed valuation of a school district.

The law provides that a district may levy a maintenance tax not to exceed 7 1/2 per cent of the assessed valuation, then the tax cannot exceed $1.40.

If the debt exceeds 8 1/2 per cent of the assessed valuation, then the limit that can be set for maintenance is $1.30. If the debt exceeds 9 1/2 per cent of the assessed valuation, then the maintenance tax cannot exceed $1.20.

Once Senate Bill 116 is voted, the debt can never exceed 10 per cent of the assessed valuation.

The law under which Hart schools now operate provides for unlimited power in the electorate to vote bonds and create indebtedness, and limits the power of the school board to raise the money with which to retire the indebtedness so created.

Senate Bill 116, on the other hand, places a limitation on the electorate in creating indebtedness, and gives the school board unlimited power to retire any and all bond unchanged at $1.50 for each $100 of assessed valuation. One dollar of this would be for maintenance and the 50 cents for bond retirement.

Approximately 30 per cent of the 40 per cent tax increase would be a direct result of the building expansion.

The other 10 per cent increase is what the school board has determined will be necessary to take care of the normal growth of the school and the resulting increases in costs.

Financial advisors for the project have told the board that approval of Senate Bill 116 (Art. 2784e-1 of state statutes) along with the building program will mean a lower interest rate for the school district when the bonds are sold.

"I would estimate, conservatively, that SB 116 will mean a minimum savings of $80,000 in interest to the district," finance expert Joe Smith of issues passed, which is actually more realistic, makes for freedom in operation with which to meet the educational needs as and when they arise, and will make future bonds more attractive.

The bill does not offer inducement to the school board to raise taxes and spend money when unnecessary to do so.

Sufficient safeguards are provided to prevent dangerous spending, and the freedom given the school board is necessary for the proper financing and marketing of bonds.

Further, the law specifically provides that any bonds authorized at the time of or after the adoption of Senate Bill 116 will be paid from a special tax that will be levied for that purpose only, and when the bonds are paid, this tax must be dropped.

Bonds voted under SB116 find a wider market and somewhat better interest rate. Financial advisor for the Hart project estimates the school district will realize a minimum savings of $80,000 in interest by going under SB 116.

Under SB 116, the financial advisor told the board that the Hart bonds can be paid off four years sooner than they could under present circumstance. Smith estimated the bonds will sell at about .20 of one percent less on the interest rate under SB 116.

First Southwest Co. told the board Tuesday night.

Smith listed the following area schools as already under SB 116: Lubbock, Amarillo, Plainview, Pampa, Dimmitt, Olton, Muleshoe, Amherst, Crosbyton, Ralls, Morton, Springlake, Kress, Tulia, Canyon, Happy, Hale Center, Abernathy and others.

"All schools which have expanded in recent years have gone to SB 116," Smith said.

3 Items On Ballot

Details of Hart School District's coming $460,000 bond election was spelled out Tuesday night at a special school board meeting at which trustees officially called the election for April 6.

That date coincides with the scheduled school trustee vote, at which two school board posts will be filled.

The board heard an explanation of Senate Bill 116, which technically sets up the way in which school money may be spent, from Joe W. Smith, First Southwest Co. of Dallas and Lubbock, financial advisor for the project.

SB 116, approved by the Legislature seven years ago, has become a state statute numbered Art. 2784e-1, and is now sometimes referred to that way. A detailed explanation may be found elsewhere in this issue of the Hart Beat.

The financial advisor also described the financial structure of the bond election, which will appear on the ballot this way:

PROPOSITION 1: To authorize the operation of the Hart School District under SB 116 (Art. 2784e-1).

PROPOSITION 2: To authorize the issuance of $375,000 in school building bonds.

PROPOSITION 3: To authorize the issuance of $85,000 in school auditorium bonds.

Approval of SB 116 is necessary in order for the bonds to be issued, Smith told the board. Without approval of Proposition 1, neither of the other propositions may carry.

If voters approve the bond election, a modern, all-masonry building for high school and junior high, along with a gymnasium and 600-seat auditorium, will be constructed.

The new building would be built across the street from the present high school. The current high school building would become the elementary school.

The project calls for nine general classrooms in the new building, along with two science laboratories, a library-study hall, commercial room, home-making room, general administration area and gymnasium.

The school auditorium will be voted upon separately in proposition 3.

Absentee voting in the bond election began Wednesday and will continue through April 2.

Water District Planning Meetings With Irrigators

LUBBOCK—Efforts are being intensified by the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District to meet and work with irrigators throughout the District who have trouble keeping water on their land.

According to Tom McFarland, general manager of the High Plains Water District, it is difficult to irrigate excessively sloping land. At the same time, a farmer who owns excessively sloping land and still has strong wells, feels that he must produce an irrigated crop on the land to make it pay dividends.

McFarland points out that here is where the problem lies—how can the irrigator adequately water his land and at the same time retain the irrigation water on his own farm.

The Water District has been working on this, a major problem facing many irrigators, for several years, but especially during the past year.

McFarland says that many methods are presently being used by farmers in the area to alleviate waste water problems.

Even though he knows that each farm has individual and distinct problems, by utilizing one or a combination of the several methods of conservation which are being successfully used, he believes that waste water problems can be minimized.

Wayne Wyatt, district field representative, and McFarland

Wayne Wyatt, district field representative, and McFarland Bailey, Castro and Parmer Counties where heavy soils and large capacity wells are prevalent and conducive to waste problems, visiting with irrigators in an effort to help solve waste problems. They have expressed their anxiety for all those in the Water District who have waste water problems, to meet with them in an attempt to make water use more efficient on individual farms.

To prolong the irrigated-agriculture economy of the southern High Plains is the desire of all who live in the area. Working together on the problems that would tend to shorten the economic life of the supply of underground water is just good common sense, which is after all, "water conservation."

Communism Is Scapegoat Says Wayland Dignitary

PLAINVIEW, Special-Communism is a scapegoat which keeps many Americans from facing the facts about current social problems.

That is what Tom Parrish, vice-president of Wayland Baptist College, Plainview, told some 80 social science teachers and area public school students who attended the recent Plains American Heritage meeting here.

Attending from Olton was, R. L. Nickerson and from Hart, W. L. Cleveland.

Many sincere people blame communism for all the crises and upheavals of modern history, Parrish said. "We can't be to vigilant and firm in dealing with international communism, but when the obsessive fear of communism makes our enemies a race of giants and blinds us to the pressing social problems of our modern world, communism is no longer just an evil, but a scapegoat."

Change, not status quo, is the heritage of America, stressed the Wayland administrator. A retreat into the past is not going to solve any problems, he believes.

Lyle Brown, assistant professor of history and political science at Wayland, presided.

Teacher Appreciation Event Attended By 150 At Hart

West Texas State President James P. Cornette told a boyhood story, then made it stand up for people in all walks of life as he spoke at the annual Hart Teacher Appreciation Banquet Friday night.

About 150 persons were on hand for the event, which was staged at the school cafeteria.

Dr. Cornette related how he and other boys built a tent, all the while thinking of the time they could play in it. Once the tent was finished, he said, the boys hardly ever used it, going on to other projects. He said the same thing applied to grown-ups.

"When the building's done, the fun is done. When you sit down to play, the fun is over."

This is true in schools, in business, in life in general, he said.

"When man is building, he is dreaming of the day when he can sit down to play," he declared. "All the pictures we see of the ideal society show men after the labor is done."

In our generation, we can

"finish the tent, and sometimes we can provide the tent for our children, ready-made."

Too often, he said, "we run our homes on the false assumption that the fun is sitting down and playing in the tent."

The real fun, he said, "is in the building of the tent—the living of life itself."

Concluding his talk, Dr. Cornette paid tribute to the teaching profession.

"Teachers," he said, "become immortal in the minds of those whose lives they touch."

Earlier, those attending were welcomed by Mrs. Ernest Lee Brooks, president of the Hart P-TA. Response was by Eddie Nicholson.

The speaker was introduced by Paul Kennedy, superintendent of Hart Schools.

The meal was served by the Hart FHA.

Feed Grain Provision Explained To Participants In Program

Farmers who are interested in participating in the 1963 feed grain program are urged to get in touch with their ASCS County Office today. The program sign-up now is under way and will extend through Friday March 22.

The "cross-Compliance" provision of the 1963 feed grain program was explained last week by Charley E. Hill, Secretary, Castro County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. Growers participating in the program will have to meet the cross-compliance requirement in order to qualify for any of the program's benefits.

Feed grains covered by the program are corn, grain sorghum, and barley. Only producers taking part in the 1963 feed grain program will be eligible for the program's diversion payment (for shifting feed grain acreage to a conserving use), the special price-support payment (on the normal production of the farm's 1963 feed grain acreage), and the regular price-support loans and purchase agreements on 1963-crop corn, grain sorghum, and barley.

Explaining the term "cross-compliance", the Secretary said that a farmer taking part in the 1963 feed grain program will not only reduce the feed grain acreage on the participating farm by at least the minimum 20 percent of the feed grain base acreage (1959-60) average, but he will also not exceed the feed grain base acreages on other farms in which he has an interest in any one of the three feed grain crops.

A farmer who has an interest in the corn, grain sorghum, or barley crops on more than one farm would not have to divert feed grain acreage into a conserving use on all his farms in order to qualify for payments and price support on one farm, he will have to hold his acreage of the three feed grains on his other farms within the base

those farms. Failure to cross-compliance the feed grain Hill, said, would of the diversion port payments, of eligibility price-support chase agreement grain sorghum

MOTOR EXPRESS SERVICE PROPOSED---Sen. Franklin Spears of San Antonio has introduced a bill to expediate freight shipments in Texas.

Bill permits the creation of a special class of motor vehicle carriers to be known as "Re- stricted Motor Express Com- mon Carriers."

Service would follow regular routes and schedules, using van-type equipment. Special emphasis would be on small shipments from one to 100 pounds. Rates would be sub- stantially higher than those of existing motor carriers. How- ever, a complete "pick up- and-deliver" service would be provided.

Supervision would be in the hands of the Railroad Commis- sion.

Water District Proposes "Tailwater" Conservation

Irrigation farmers still have time enough before planting crops to make provisions for retaining irrigation "tail- water" on their farms.

A spokesman for the High Plains Underground Water Con- servation District says that li- terally hundreds of systems have been installed throughout the area this winter for re- circulating irrigation "tail- water" from the bottom of the farm fields back to higher points.

Tom McFarland, Manager of the Water District, stated that the District's staff, in cooper- ation with Texas Water Com- mission personnel, has recently completed measuring water lev- els in hundreds of observation wells throughout the District. He pointed out that water levels have again declined from where they stood at this time last year. In fact, according to McFarland, one county in the northwest portion of the District had an average annual decline in 38 wells of about 7 feet.

He mentioned the water-level decline to point out the urgent need that we have to conserve ground water. We are mining water from our underground reservoir---for practical pur- poses, we have only the quantity of water that is in storage un- derground today to fulfill the ground water requirements for all time to come.

Aside from the hundreds of re-circulation systems in- stalled this winter to salvage run-off water, McFarland says that other farmers have par- tially or completely leveled their land, or contoured their rows, or accomplished one or more of a combination of land management measures design- ed to keep water on the land. Also, there have been hundreds of pumps installed at wet- weather lakes for use in sal- vaging both irrigation water and rain water that runs from the cropland.

Persons interested in seeing some of these waste-preventing installations should call the Wa- ter District office in Lubbock.

Draw Project Rehearsals Climaxed At Muleshoe

Rehearsals are over for Running Water Draw project, a six county gully that snakes its way out of Curry County, N.M., and ends in a sometimes booming flood in Plainview.

Tuesday night representatives of Swisher, Lamb, Castro, Hale, Parmer counties in Texas and Curry County, N.M. in which Running Water Draw long has been a "problem child" held their final dress rehearsal in Muleshoe.

On March 20 they will bundle their hopes into one big asking; they will present their lines to U.S. Army Engineers from Fort Worth in a full dress performance in Plainview starting at 10 a.m.

The Tuesday night dinner meeting in Muleshoe was the final rehearsal for that big March 20 event. F.F. (Flip) Calhoun, Plainview, who has daddied the project from its inception, presided at the Muleshoe meeting which was held there as a "neutral" meeting ground for the Running Water backers.

Plans were laid for the well-prepared six copy presentation to the engineering brass when they come to Plainview.

It was decided at the meeting in Muleshoe that nine different phases of the program, which sponsors hope will end the Running Water rampages, will be presented.

They include: results of the official survey; the conservation phases of the 100-mile long project, financing, New Mexico's interests, benefits which the control program will offer farmers, recreational possibilities, multipurpose storage possibilities, county commissioners views (how the project will eliminate road flooding), and long range benefits which will be derived from the control program.

The Army Engineers are interested in projects as a part of the expansive Brazos River Authority Program which stretches practically throughout Texas and includes a number of streams in its overall program.

Actually, the Running Water Draw which normally is just a peaceful dry gulch that cut its way through the Caprock limestone centuries ago, does its greatest damage in Plainview where it has caused a number of expansive floods, the latest one in 1960. Thus Plainview has been one of the strongest backers of the project, Mayor M. B. Hood told the members of the steering committee at the dinner in Muleshoe.

Curry County on the other hand has little fear from flooding but it sees great recreational and storage possibilities from the project, Clovis Chamber of Commerce Manager, Bob Spencer told the meeting.

While not all spokesmen for the nine different parts of the Plainview presentation have been selected, Calhoun said several have been picked. For example Guy Nutt, area conservationists for the Soil Conservation Service, Amarillo, will discuss the conservation phase; Jack Driskill, Swisher County Judge, will discuss financing; Spencer will discuss New Mexico's interest, and farmers who live below Plainview will talk about the land protection which a series of detention dams along Running Water Draw would afford. These farmers incidentally, have been severely hit by Running Water Draw rampages of the past. District Highway engineers from Lubbock will be asked to present the benefits the control program will offer roads and bridges. A final summary will be made by Dr. Wayland Bennett of Texas Tech.

The reports are to be brief, Calhoun said, and must be written. Although the actual reports will be made by only a few persons, Calhoun asked that "everyone who can possibly do so be on hand for the hearings." The meeting is slated for the Congress Inn at Plainview's west edge on U.S. 70.

No exact number of detention dams have been decided on, but the number probably will run to 10 or 12 and possibly two or more larger recreational lakes also will be created. In Curry County for example, the City of Clovis already has acquired a large tract for just such a lake. The lake when full would be two and one-half miles in length.

LICENSE PLATE PRICE HIKE ASKED--Sen. Criss Cole of Houston proposes to increase the annual motor vehicle registration fee by $1 with the income going to our state parks.

If the Legislature approves Cole's license plate cost increase, the question will be submitted to voters at the general election of November, 1964.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

HIGH LIGHTS & SIDELIGHTS
AUSTIN, Tex.—A $3,000,000,000 budget bill has been passed by the House of Representatives.

Before it cleared the House and went on to the Senate, the bill elicited several cries of anguish from some who protested agency bequests as too small and some who claimed certain allotments were too big.

Rep. Forrest Harding of San Angelo claimed appropriations for the State Armory Board and the State Board of Control were too big, since they involved $1,000 salary raises for executive directors of those agencies.

Rep. Terry Townsend of Brady claimed deputy commissioners in the Texas Education Agency draw a total of $14,800 more than the Legislature authorized.

Townsend also tried to cut out a $250,000 appropriation to improve the newly-donated Wheatly Ranch in Balco County as a state park. He claimed the money was needed for established parks. But this move failed.

HIGH COST OF FLYING—Another attempt to cut a specific recommendation out of the budget bill almost was successful.

Rep. James Cotten of Weatherford tried to get the House to "ground" the State Land Office airplane. He pointed out that $100,000 is appropriated annually for operation and maintenance of a high-powered Land Office plane.

Cotten showed a photostatic copy of the plane's flight log for the year ended October, 1962. He stated, "In a year's time, only 68 flights were recorded. Sixteen were test flights to familiarize the pilot with the plane before he broke the propeller when he collided with another plane in a hangar and then he had to take eight more test flights to familiarize himself with the new propeller!"

Rep. Joe Chapman of Sulphur Springs disagreed. He said that the plane is necessary for aerial surveys and photographs to confirm the 1941 state land survey.

Cotten insisted that the Land Office should hire commercial aerial photographers, as the Texas Water Commission does.

Cotten's amendment to strike out the plane appropriation failed by a narrow 72-68 vote.

LOW COST OF EDUCATION—Complaints about too-low appropriations came from members who said allotments for higher education in 1964-65 are too small.

The last Legislature appropriated $159,600,000 from the State General Revenue Fund for higher education in 1962-63.

State college administrators requested $243,000,000 for the coming two years. Former Gov. Price Daniel and the Legislative Budget Board recommended $226,000,000. Gov. John B. Connally recommends $225,000,000. Paducah Rep. Bill Heatly's appropriations bill allows for $187,600,000 to educate the bumper crop of war babies that is expected to begin to flow into state colleges next year.

Rep. Hugh Parmer of Fort Worth claimed the Heatly committee had slashed Arlington State College's library budget so drastically, the school might not be accredited next year.

So, Parmer and Rep. Don Gladden of Fort Worth begged for an amendment to raise Arlington's appropriation. It failed by a vote of 94-41.

The $172,000 needed to make the Texas Maritime Academy in Galveston a reality was absent from the appropriations bill. But Governor Connally said, "I have real hope of getting the Legislature to restore the maritime money." He didn't say whether he had any hope of getting the allotment for higher education boosted.

COUNTY BUYING MAY BE EASIER—Rep. Vernon Beckham of Denison got a green light from the House Committee on Counties on his bill to raise the amount of county purchasing agent may spend on emergency purchases without advertising for competitive bidding.

Since 1925, the amount that may be spent without competitive bidding has been $150. Beckham said this is unrealistic in the view of rising costs. He proposed it be raised to $500. However, the subcommittee set it at $300.

Reps. Henry Grover and J.C. Whitfield of Houston won approval from the House State Affairs Committee on their bill to require competitive bidding on public school purchases above $1,000.

SALES TAX FREEZE FAILS—An attempt by Rep. John Allen of Longview to pass a constitutional amendment to freeze the state sales tax at two percent and keep food and drugs exempt failed by a 72-64 vote.

However, food may remain safe from the sales tax if a measure by Rep. Ben Atwell of Dallas and Rep. Charles Wilson of Trinity passes. They have proposed legislation to simplify sales tax bookkeeping for grocers. Since grocers have been the ones fighting for a blanket tax, this bill may satisfy them.

TUITION RAISES PROPOSED—Representative Atwell picked up a recommendation by the Commission on Higher Education to double state college tuition, and filed a bill to raise it from $50 to $100 a semester.

Governor Connally has ignored the commission's suggestion.

Rep. Dick Morgan, Republican from Dallas, chose "a good compromise." He introduced a bill to raise tuition to $75 a semester.

Children of members of the Texas National Guard who have been killed in the "cold war crisis" since 1950 will be provided free tuition in state colleges, if a bill by Representative Parmer is passed.

STATES RIGHTS STAND—The House passed a resolution to ask Congress to call a constitutional convention to leave legislative reapportionment to state legislatures. Rep. Bill J. Parsley of Lubbock said, "This may be the last time the state can take a stand on what may be the last of state's rights."

If the proposed amendment is adopted by a sufficient number of states, Texas could insure a rurally-dominated legislature, despite urban growth.
