High-Line Workman Electrocuted Here

Tragedy struck in Hart Tuesday when a 23-year-old apprentice lineman for Southwestern Public Service came in contact with a high-voltage wire and was electrocuted.

Hurts Help Hart Heaps

It seems each time something bad happens to the banker, something good happens for the city of Hart.

Norlan Dudley, banker and city councilman, injured his neck and forehead recently, and Hart got a nice parking lot.

Dudley broke his arm while skating Saturday night and the city started work on the new sewage and water system.

Roy Futrell surmised that if someone would shoot Dudley, the county seat might be moved from Dimmitt to Hart.

Dead is Rene Elkins of Plainview.

He was killed Tuesday afternoon about 3 p.m. as he and other workmen installed a conductor on an electric pole at the Homer Hill residence.

Witnesses said Elkins apparently came into contact with a 4,160 volt highline wire.

Revival attempts failed as a fellow workman on the pole with Elkins gave the Plainview man mouth-to-mouth respiration.

Crewmen administered artificial respiration for 45 minutes before arrival of a doctor and ambulance.

Attempts to revive Elkins continued 40 minutes until the doctor pronounced him dead.

Elkins had been employed by the electric company two years. Funeral arrangements are pending with Wood-Dunning Funeral Home in Plainview.

Elkins' wife was hospitalized for shock.

He is survived by two children.

Water-Sewer Work To Begin

Construction is scheduled to begin Monday on water and sewer improvements in the City of Hart.

Panhandle Construction Co. of Lubbock, the contractor, has already begun surveying alleys and the company is stockpiling materials.

Crews are scheduled to start work Monday.

"We hope to have the whole project complete sometime in December," Mayor Ed Harris said.

Plans include improvements for the water system and the building of a new sewage disposal plant.

Contract calls for $39,422 in water system improvements. The new sewage disposal plant will cost about $95,000.

The water project includes eight-inch water mains and fire hydrants in the business section, along with concrete flat storage of 200,000-gallon capacity.

Other lines in the city will be looped to put more pressure on the entire water system.

Football Practice Will Open Monday

Football workouts for Hart High School hopefuls will begin Monday at 8 a.m., Coach Dub Cleveland announced this week.

Fourteen lettermen will be back for the 1963 season, which opens Sept. 6 when the Longhorns entertain Nazareth, a Castro County rival which has played 8-man football prior to this year.

"We'll have workouts of about 2 1/2 hours each morning beginning at 8 a.m.," Coach Cleveland said. Cleveland acts as line coach, while assistant Eddie Nicholson handles the backs.

Captains of the Longhorns this year will be Billy Farris and Dennis McLain, pair of half-backs. Both lettered last year. Far is and McLain were elected by their teammates in a meeting Monday night.

Hart footballers hope to improve on the 3-7 record they posted last year.

Other lettermen returning from the 1962 team are Joe Rubalcaba, back; Ken Fincher, back; Carl Ward and Gary Heller, ends; Tommy Morrison, tackle; Darryl McLain, Danny Rodriguez, Mark Martin and David Gardner, backs;

Larry McKay and James Mitchell, guards; and Phil Green, center.

Higher Moisture Content Eligible For Support

Grain Sorghum with 14% moisture content, instead of the previous 13% level, will be eligible for price support loan on 1963 grain sorghum as result of recent change in Commodity Credit Corporation policy.

This could mean as much as three to four cents per hundred to grain sorghum producers since moisture discount of normally 2% per point will now begin at 14% instead of 13%, according to Bill Nelson, Executive Vice-President of the Grain Sorghum Producers Association.

Vo Ag Teacher Attends Meet

Lanny Tucker, local vocational agricultural teacher, attended the Texas Vocational Agricultural Teachers Conference last week in Dallas.

The conference, held for the purpose of professional improvement, was attended by more than 1,000 teachers from throughout the state.

Program schedule included general sessions, area meetings, district meeting, and in-service workshops.

George Hunt, State Director of Vocational Agricultural spoke on the future of agriculture and vocational agriculture.

Theme of the conference dealt with "The Philosophy of Vocational Agriculture in a Changing World."

Tucker was accompanied to the conference by Shirley, his wife.

Nelson said that the association spearheaded a move for the change and was joined in their efforts by Producers Grain Corporation and the Texas Grain and Feed Association. Membership of both the elevator groups adopted supporting resolutions requesting the change.

Commodity Credit Corporation will accept grain higher than 14% provided the receiving warehousemen will attach an agreement to deliver 14% moisture grain.

All previous rules regulating 13% to 15% receipts and 15% and over have been voided.

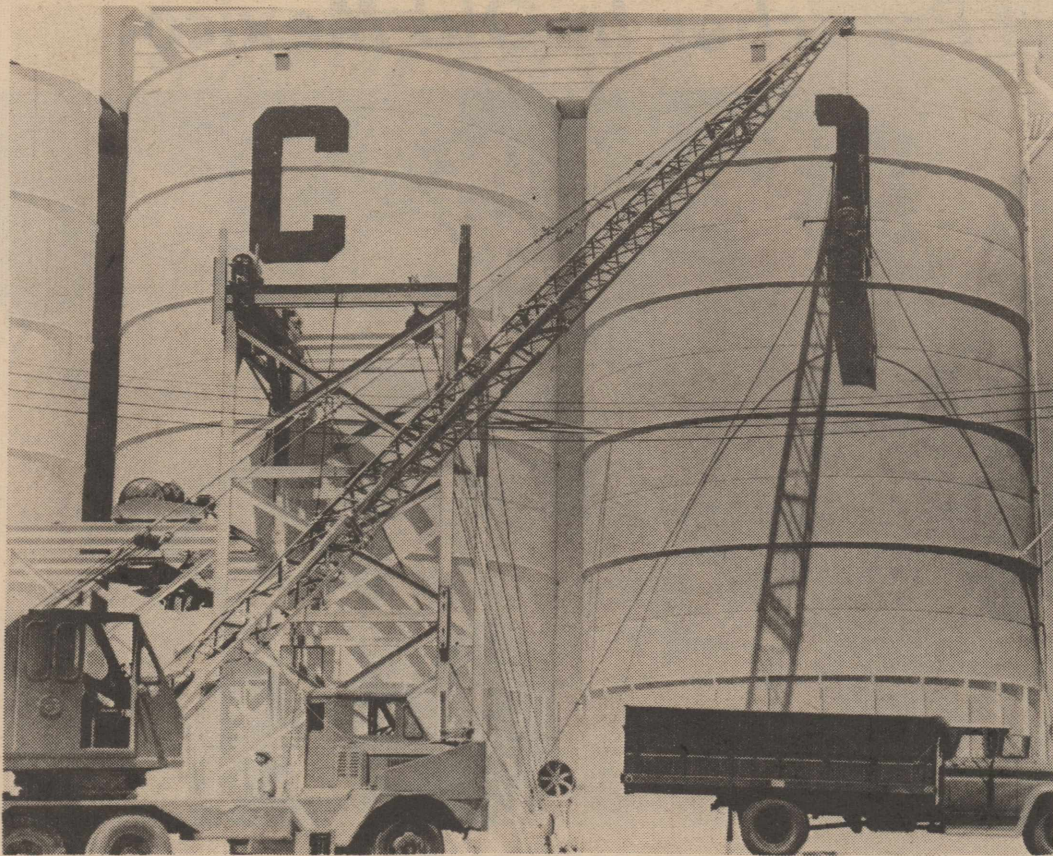

Nelson said that the new regulations more nearly reflect actual trade practices and move closer toward the official grain sorghum standards used in free market trading.

Former Hart Preacher In Old Mexico

How do you think it would be to leave home with four small children and a wife and go into Old Mexico as a missionary?

What if you knew there was no forseen financial support and many of the Mexican people strongly resented your presence?

Five years ago Dale West and his wife were faced with that decision, and "faith alone" led them into the wide expanse of Mexico.

"I knew the Lord would take care of me," said the one-time Hart Baptist preacher.

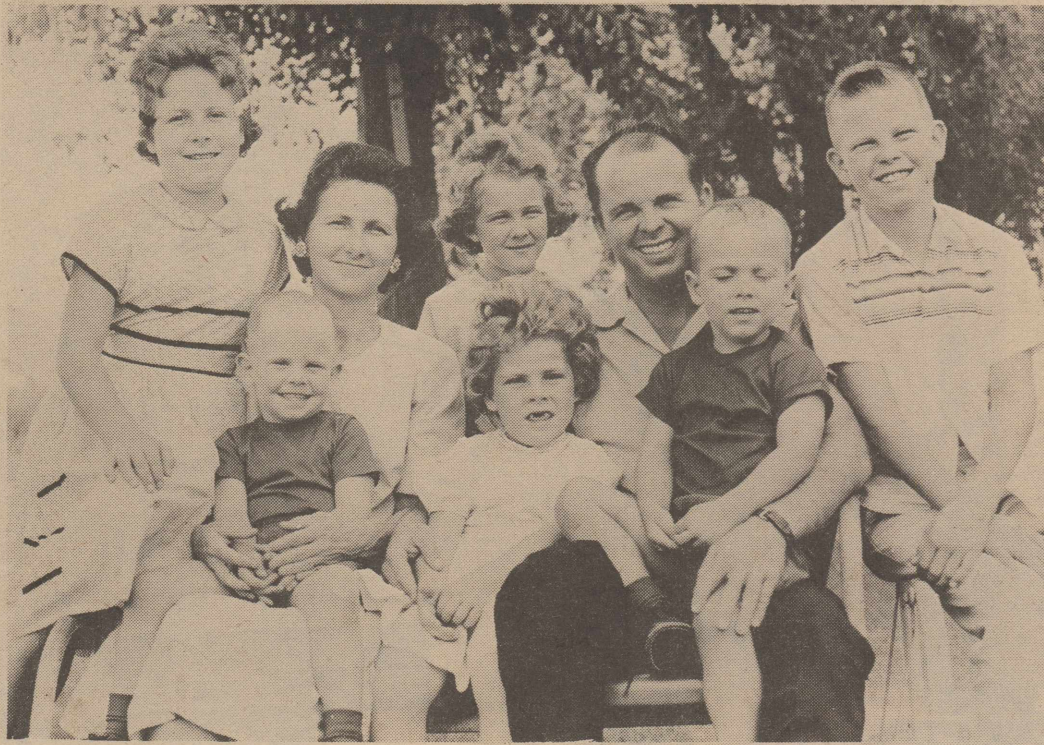

West was here last week spending some of the two-and-one-half months in the United States the Mexican government forces him to spend.

Since outside missionaries are not legally allowed to minister in Mexico, they must return to their own country every six months.

"We can't legally go in as missionaries," West said, "therefore, we have a tourist visa."

He told that when General Juarez came to power, most of Mexico was owned by foreign religious concerns.

West added, "a person cannot pastor a church now unless he is a citizen of Mexico, and still the government or state owns all religious property."

THE DALE WEST FAMILY

When West took his family to Mexico, he went to Guadalupe, a city of more than a million people. He started working in a church there, studying the language.

After about 10 months, he organized an orphanage. "There are children by the thousands without homes, and their need is terrific," stated West.

The missionary, after four years in Mexico set about building an orphanage near Saltillo, 50 miles from Monterrey.

The site was a wheat field. "It was really in the rough," West told, "for the first six weeks we men lived in a corral while we were building."

What about the women and children--are they safe from bandits?

Said Mrs. West, "I've felt safer in Mexico than I did in the states."

Her husband added, "most of the stories told about bandits aren't true. I've seen a small boy ride up to a bank on his bicycle, carrying a paper bag with as much as 70 or 80 thousand pesos in it. (Its equivalent in US currency is more than $6,000.)"

"No one pays any attention to the money, and juvenile delinquency is almost unheard of. There is a great difference in the criminal conduct of Mexico and the United States."

The West family has settled about seven miles from the city on a plantation they named "Little Ranch of The King". Saltillo, told West, was once the capitol of Texas, before the state won its independence.

Asked how he liked living there, West said. "It's different and lonely way of life, but the reward spiritually makes up for it."

Two of the West's children were born in Mexico and neither speaks English. West said his children actually taught him to speak Spanish.

The children of the missionary and his wife walk two miles to a Spanish school. The schedule begins at 8:30 in the morning and ends at 4:30 p.m. Seista is from 11:30 p.m. to 2:30 p.m.

West said, "the children don't get the quality of education they would in the states, but other things make up for it. We hope to have our own school before much longer. Some of the teachers here never did finish the sixth grade."

Many of the people, West said, are ignorant and steeped in prejudice.

"They believe the same lies their ancestors did, for example, most of them are Indian descendants and they have a custom of using homemade barges and prayer arrows in religious ceremonies."

"They put their problems and sins on a homemade barge and take it to the sea. If the barge is washed out to sea, they believe their sins are forgiven."

"If the barge is washed back upon the shore, they believe their prayers have gone unheard."

In the case of the prayer arrows, a man will pretend to fix his problems to an arrow which is shot back into a cave. Depending on the distance the arrow travels, the prayers are accepted by their god or rejected.

"Sometimes," said the preacher, "these type people are turned against the missionaries. When we go into a town to minister we sometimes are met by stick and rock-throwing crowds."

West told that he had had tires slashed on his car several times.

The missionary does not always travel by car.

He told about a trip he took to minister to some people off the beaten trail and could be reached only by donkey.

"We were on our way back," said West, "it was late and I was sleepy and fell off. Being late at night, I couldn't find my donkey, and it took several minutes to find the animal and remount."

West and his wife said they had worn out numerous kerosene lanterns and lamps. Until last year they were without electricity.

"We almost wore the light switches out," Mrs. West said, "clicking the lights on and off."

The family will return in the near future to Mexico to take up where they left off.

"We never know if we're going to have money," West said, "but we know the Lord will supply our needs."

It is such faith as this which leads West, his wife and six children into the adventures and trials of Christian witnessing.

STATE SCHOOL--Dr. James Turman, Director of the Texas Youth Council, defended his council's action in either firing--or retiring--Superintendent O. F. Perry of Gatesville State School.

Perry and his supporters claim too much interference from Austin, too little discipline of boys. Youth Council denies this, contends policy differences caused the dismissal. M. B. Kendrick was named to replace Perry.

AUSTIN, Tex.--Texas Youth Council's parole division will triple in the next six months or so. But the problem of trying to help "reform school" graduates become useful citizens is still great.

Until September 1, five state parole offices are responsible for some 1,800 juvenile parolees spread out over 169 counties. That's a ration of one parole office to about 357 parolees, compared to national standards of one officer to 40 parolees.

Staff will increase to 10 on September 1--a ration of one to 178. On March 1, 1964, when five more are added, ratio will be down to one parole officer to 119 parolees, spread over the Lone Star State.

Biggest number of parolees is centered in big cities where the general rate of crime is always higher. More than a third of the paroled children are in Dallas, Harris and Bexar counties; another 288 in El Paso, Jefferson, Tarrant and Travis counties.

About 154 are in Nueces, McLennan, Bell and Lubbock counties.

But sizeable juvenile parole populations are centered in small counties, such as Cameron, Grayson, Brazoria, Ector, Galveston, Gregg, Hale, Hidalgo, Howard, Hunt, Midland, Navarro, Potter, Sam Parricio, Smith, Taylor, Wichita and Williamson.

Some counties only have one paroled child. But the state is responsible for every one it has "returned."

FIRST AIDE-- State Regulatory Loan Commissioner Frank Miskell appointed Robert C. Duke, Houston attorney, as Deputy Commissioner and General Counsel of the new state agency.

Duke formerly served as acting Securities Commissioner in the Secretary of State's securities division.

Regulatory bill takes effect on August 23. Some 2,000 loan companies operating in Texas will have to file for state licenses at that time.

INSURANCE HEARING--A State Insurance Board hearing on proposed rules for regulating credit insurance-- which pays off a man's debt if he dies, or makes the payments when he is disabled--drew a big crowd.

On controversial point was a ceiling rate of 90 cents per $100 of insurance.

Some insurance company executives insisted the ceiling should be no more than 60 or 65 cents per $100. But one spokesman thought the 90-cent per $100 rate was too low and recommended $1.

Some loan companies said they now give credit insurance free. They feared the proposed rules might outlaw this practice.

A second hearing with new proposed rules will be aired on September 10.

MONEY MEN--The Legislative Budget Board, lawmakers who make the Legislature's financial decisions between sessions, recommended $4,644,000 worth of state building to Gov. John Connally.

Plans approved included one by the State Hospitals Board to equip a genetics lab and follow-up clinic on mental retardation in the State Psychiatric Institute at Houston; new dormitories for Gatesville School for Boys, Gainesville School for Girls and Crockett School for Negro Girls; and several prison system units.

Authorization was recommended for $25,000 worth of partitioning to provide 23 new offices in Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr's department.

But the board balked at Texas A&M University's request to spend some $100,000 on a home--exclusive of land and furnishings -- for A&M President Earl Rudder, to replace the one destroyed by fire.

A compromise recommendation of about $60,000 for a 4,500 square-foot home was the outcome.

CITIES GROWTH FORMULA About 200 city attorneys, city engineers and city councilmen gathered in Austin to hear a Texas Municipal League explanation of the Texas Municipal Annexation Act, which will become effective on August 23.

Annexation act sets out "extraterritorial jurisdictions" dictating the extent of a city's growth in any three-year period. For cities of less than 5,000 population, the extraterritorial area extends a half mile beyond city limits; cities 5,000 to 25,000, one mile; cities 25,000 to 50,000, two miles; cities 50,000 to 100,000, three and a half miles; and cities 100,000 and up, five miles.

But a city would not have to expand all the way around its rim. It could swing arcs or "fingers" out to "desirable areas for growth," and obtain the annual area allocation of 10 per cent of its square acreage in these areas.

For example, officials of a city of 20,000 acres could annex up to 2,000 acres of "desirable" land one year; 2,200 acres the next, etc., without ever annexing undesirable new territory.

SCHOOL LAND BOARD--Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler, Governor Connally and Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr, members of the State School Land Board, make and revise leases on public school lands, including river beds, bays and inlets of the Gulf of Mexico. Attorney General requested that he be removed from the land board. After August 23 he will be replaced by a private citizen of his choosing.

Before Carr leaves the board he will sign the deed which conveys state-owned land on Padre Island to the federal government for a national seashore.

SHORT SNORTS--Rep. Sam F. Collins of Newton asked to be allowed to serve as a state representative without pay, when he accepted a job as assistant to General Manager John W. Simmons of the Sabine River Authority.

Governor Connally appointed

Hudson Davis of Bo ger as Canadian River Compact Commissioner, and R. Leighton McKinney Jr. of Denison, Interstate Compact Commissioner for the Red River.

The State General Revenue Fund finished July with $19,500,000 in the black.

DO FENCE THEM IN--Texas Highway Department has endorsed the idea of building "median rails" on busy urban expressways.

Rails-- heavy-duty fences which keep traffic from careening into opposite lanes--have been or will be installed on expressways around Houston, Fort Worth and Austin.

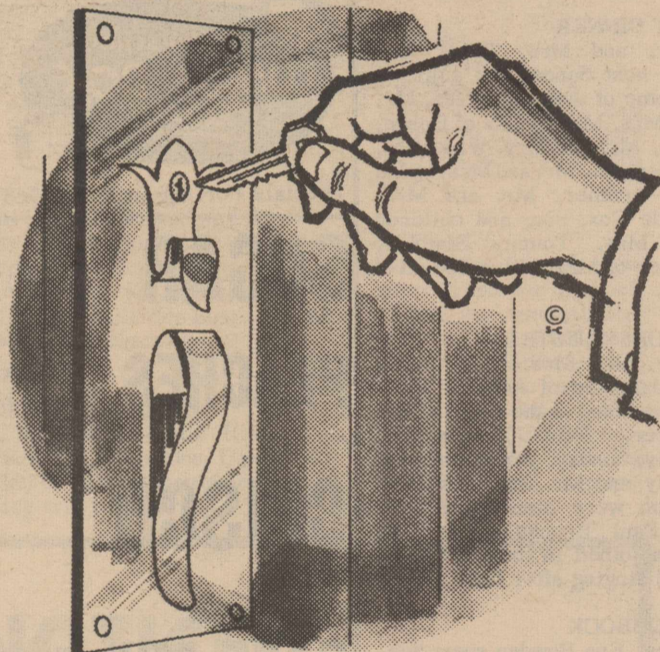

Also under development by highway engineers is a woven-wire mesh fence--similar to backyard chain-link jobs--to reduce headlight glare and to prevent pedestrians from crossing the freeways.

OIL HOLDS UP--Despite recommendations by several major oil buying firms that Texas production be cut in August, the Railroad Commission held the line.

Production will continue at the July rate of 28.5 per cent of capability of the wells. Independents praised the action.
