JIMMY BOSTICK holds a handful of carrots, showing off some of the fine vegetables being raised on his farm. The farmer planted 58 acres of carrots when hail and wind forced him out of a cotton crop. Harvesting began last Wednesday and will continue for several weeks. Bostick farms six miles west and two north of Hart.

Carrot Harvest Underway On Jimmy Bostick Farm

More than 70 laborers last week moved through a field owned by Jimmy Bostick harvesting carrots. Work began Wednesday and will continue for a number of weeks.

"I'm really satisfied with the way they're turning out. They're better than I expected," said Bostick.

The enterprising farmer went the carrot route when his cotton was hailed and blown out June 17. "I decided I'd try carrots, and it looks like they'll average around $150 an acre--more or less," added Bostick.

He said last Thursday he had harvested 11 tons on one acre but imagined they would wash down to either five or six tons.

The carrots are being graded in Dimmitt.

Marketable carrots are bringing $10 a ton for jumbos and $25 a ton for number one and number two grades.

"We're having to leave almost twice as many in the field as we take out", said Bostick. Some of the carrots are too small and others are culls". The vegetable must be at least five inches long and 5/8 inch around before it will sell.

This is Bosticks' first year to raise carrots and he said he would know more about them next year since one has to pay for his experience.

The farmer said the major expense of raising carrots is watering. "You have to keep the ground black," he said, "I had to water these four times to get them to a stand, and three times more to finish them up."

A field man from Pacific Fruit Company advised Bostick when to water. The carrot grower said that he had to pay to have the weeds pulled up since no hoeing could be done.

With the cold weather coming on, Bostick is trying to move at a rapid clip across the 58 acres. "I don't have much to worry about as far as the carrots freezing," he said, "because the weather has to be around zero before they're hurt."

Bostick is trying to beat the weather for comforts sake and to get the carrots to market while still at their present size.

He said that about 50 head of cattle will be turned in to graze on the unmarketable carrots and tops as soon as the harvest is completed.

The carrots are being pulled and sacked by hand after a chisel-built plow loosens them from the ground.

Plainview District Future Farmers of America held its leadership contest Saturday at Plainview High School, and Hart ag students brought home a large share of winnings.

Hart students placed in five of the six contests.

The Junior Farm Skill Demonstration team composed of Elgin Brooks, Wesley Bennight, and David Garcia captured first place in their division. The boys demonstrated how to build an electric fence.

Hart's Radio Broadcast team composed of Harvey Sullivan, Steve Sharp and Kenneth Fincher also places first. Their topic was "Farm Safety".

The Senior Chapter conducting team placed second. They were edged out by Abernathy by two points. Hart's team consisted of Jerry Parker, Billy Farris, Dennis McLain, James Mitchell, Deryl McLain, Oscar Brooks, David Smith and Roger Lancaster.

First place winners in the area meet will go to the state contests at Huntsville, Dec. 14.

The Junior Chapter conducting team placed third. They were beaten by Abernathy and Hale Center. The local team was made up of Joe Bob Sanders, Jerry Smith, Larry Parker, James Smith, George Bennett, Bob Crick and Ronald Sennett.

The Senior Farm Skill team placed fourth and consists of Gary Heller, Mark Martin, Larry Davis and Danny Godfrey.

Lanny Tucker, ag instructor, said, "we are very proud of the boys for their winnings against major competition."

The Junior Skill and Radio Broadcast teams will represent Hart and the Plainview District Dec. 7 at the area I contest.

Hart teams were accompanied Saturday by Tucker and Jerry Mathis, student teacher from Texas Tech.

Last Respects Paid To President Kennedy

An "impressive" memorial service was conducted here Monday at Baptist Church as town and area people gathered to pay their last respects to the memory of President John F. Kennedy.

Churches all over the nation were open and throngs, representing all beliefs, attended.

After the Friday, Nov. 22, assassination of Kennedy, President Lyndon B. Johnson declared Monday a nation-wide day of mourning.

At the Hart church, the congregation sang the National Anthem and gave the pledge to the flag.

Rev. E. H. Phillips, pastor of the Methodist Church, read the first eight verses of the second chapter of 2nd Timothy then led the assemblage in prayer.

The congregation then sang, "America The Beautiful" and "Faith of our Fathers".

Rev. Denzil Leonard brought a message from the 6th Chapter of Isiah.

A closing hymn was "Battle Hymn Of The Republic", with a benediction by Rev. Leonard

Dimmitt Girl

Wins Contest

Shirley Adams of Dimmitt took the top prize in the final Hart Beat football contest of the year.

The contest was decided on three games after many games were postponed or canceled following the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Shirley missed only one of the three contests, Denver City against Muleshoe, and took first place. Everyone else in the contest missed two out of the three.

Second place went to Teresa Adams of Dimmitt, who was 20 points off on the tie-breaker and third went to Lee Ann Hill of Dimmitt, who was 21 points off.

The winners will be mailed checks of $6, $4 and $2 respectively.

B&K Grocery

Is Burglarized

Burglars hauled off an estimated $1,000 in merchandise sometime early Friday morning after a break-in at B&K Grocery and Market at Hart.

Operator Kenneth Lambert said the intruders took only about $1.00 in cash.

Entrance was gained at the south end of the store as the burglars chiseled through the metal exterior and entered at the meat market.

Castro county officers are investigating the case.

Educational Building Dedicated By Methodist

Dr. J. E. Shewbert, district supt. of the Methodist Church, was in Hart Thursday night to head a dedication ceremony of the Methodist educational building.

Dr. Shewbert, from Plainview, read portions from Psalms and Matthew to dedicating the building. The scriptures dealing with thanksgiving climaxed a supper, also symbolic of thanks.

In speaking of the dedication, Dr. Shewbert said, "We must turn once more our thought to God who has created this earth and this universe."

He added that people need to recognize their stewardship to

God. In calling the dedication another high moment in the history of the Hart church, Dr. Shewbert asked the congregation not to feel they had come to the end of their accomplishments and could not sit idly by.

He encouraged that they keep leadership in mind, that they feel the challenge and inspiration of moving always forward.

A climaxing moment to the gathering came when Rev. E.H. Phillips, pastor, burned a note symbolic of indebtedness being erased on the new educational building.

About 70 persons attended the thanksgiving supper and dedication ceremony.

TIME TO COUNT OUR BLESSINGS AND GIVE THANKS

How fortunate we are in comparison to those in other parts of the world! Too often, we forget to give thanks for the bountiful land in which we live. Let us be grateful as we gather about the table on Thanksgiving Day.

VISIT PARENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Max Stephens and daughter, Elizabeth, spent the weekend in Midland visiting in the home of Mrs. Stephens parents, Mr. and Mrs. Golladay.

Recipe Of The Week

If you still have a "sweet tooth" after all the Thanksgiving goodies, here's a remedy. It's a recipe for "ohsogood" pie submitted by Mrs. J. W. Welty.

For 13 years, since moving here from Lamesa, Mrs. Welty and her husband have made Hart their home.

The couple have four grown children with Mrs. Paul Brooks and Leonard Welty living in Hart and Othel residing in Plainview and Rubert in Hobbs.

Mrs. Welty said her hobby is gardening but that she could not dig outside as she would like. She also likes to cook, and often she sends meals to shut-ins.

The Hart woman said she canned 150 quarts of various vegetables this year and usually cans more.

Her recipe for "ohsogood" pie calls for the following ingredients:

- 2 cups sugar
- 3/4 cups butter or cream
- 1 cup raisins or dates
- 4 eggs
- 1 cup pecans
- 1 tsp. cinnamon
- 1 tsp. vinegar

Mix butter and sugar (separate egg yolks into butter and sugar mixture--beat well and add other ingredients)

Beat egg whites and add to butter mixture.

Pour into unbaked pie crust and bake as custard pie.

May be served with whipped cream. Makes two pies.

Teachers To Compete In Heritage Program

An essay contest for teachers has been added to activities of the Plains American Heritage Program, according to Charles F. Ogilvie, director of the program coordinated for public schools in 11 cities by Wayland Baptist College.

Schools in Olton and Hart are among those participating.

Vying for an expense paid trip to a professional meeting, teachers of any grade may enter the contest which differs from the annual essay contest for high school students in requirements for both subject and length.

As their subject, teachers will have "A Definition of the American Heritage."

The writing effort should be approximately 10 pages in length when typed with double spacing.

Entries should be sent to Ogilvie, history instructor at Wayland, by Jan. 15.

Writer of the first place essay will be given a trip to the Mississippi Valley Historical Association meeting in Cleveland, Ohio, in late April.

Although complete details have yet to be worked out, it is likely that the teacher will be flown to the meeting and will have meals and hotel expenses paid, Ogilvie relates.

In addition, the winning essay will be read as the program for the annual Plains American Heritage Awards Banquet when student winners of essay, poster and project contest are guests.

Two runners-up to the first place teacher will each receive a year's subscription to the American Heritage magazine.

tell a student that he ought to enter the high school contest, then the teacher has a much an obligation to be a thinker and a writer as the student," believes the program director.

In facing problems concerning America's heritage, it should help to decide what one believes and put it into writing, added Ogilvie.

Entries should be presented in such a way that the writer's name can be removed before the essays are presented to the judges. Plans for judging and other information will soon be sent directly to the teachers by Ogilvie.

TEXAS TAXES HIGH -- People who think they are paying high state property and sales taxes will be interested to know they are! A study of state financing by the Legislative Budget Board reveals that the State tax burden in Texas is heavier than the national average.

A 10-year view of tax burdens---the term statisticians use to describe state taxes as a percentage of total personal income--shows Texans' "tax burden" has risen above the average for the first time.

Texans contributed only 3.7 per cent of their total income to help run the state in 1952, when the average U.S. citizen chipped in 3.9 per cent to his state.

Last year, the average Texan paid 4.9 per cent of his income for state taxes, while the average in other states doled out only 4.7 per cent.

State taxes are climbing upward all over the country, but in Texas the climb has been quicker than in other states. This is due partly, because the average Texan's income has not risen as fast as his taxes, or as fast as the average income.

Declaration Of Esteem

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article, a declaration of esteem for the late John F. Kennedy, is written by Roy Futrell).

This is not the place I planned to say my part, but it's probably a better place to say it to more people.

I am not ashamed to stand up and be counted as one of President Kennedy's friends and strong supporters. He was not an ordinary young man. I well remember the old poet Frost and the President's father both almost 80, on the day of inauguration on the platform with Kennedy. They took a part in the ceremonies with no embarrassment to the President.

Another painful part of the tragedy to me is this, I don't think there is a school kid in Hart who will live long enough to see Texas outgrow the stench of it happening in Texas.

Like to tell you a little story I read one time. As well as I remember, it was called the "Jericho Road". This man fell by the wayside, a victim of robbers. The chief religious men of his day walked around him pulling their garments a little closer lest he touch them and they become contaminated also.

Finally there was another man who came along and gathered the wounded man up and left him at an inn and told the attendant to treat him and send the bill and he would pay it.

Last Friday while the President was in Dallas they sent him a bill and he paid it--- for everyone.

Reasons Told By Teacher For Choosing Occupation

How did you become what you are? What forces--evident or hidden--influenced your line of work? Was it planned or by chance? Perhaps you're a victim of circumstance.

Even though these questions get different answers from assorted psychologists everyone's behavior is controlled. At least, persons in the know tell us our environment and heredity shape our destinies.

Take teaching for example, Why did Mrs. Carol Grubaugh decide on such an educational occupation?

She says, "My family influenced me some, but mostly I believe the image of other teachers influenced me in that I have a great deal of admiration for good teachers and those dedicated to teaching."

There's another reason why the Hart High School English teacher chose her particular occupation. She added, "It is a rewarding job in that you see progress of young people and because I enjoy working with young people."

This is Mrs. Grubaugh's second year to teach and her first one at Hart. Her initial contact with the classroom came in Luther, Okla., where she taught ninth grade English and eighth through the 12th homemaking.

Why did she choose English and homemaking? Says the teacher, "I became interested in teaching while my husband was in college, and I decided it would be a good occupation for me. I became interested in home economics because I am a homemaker and in English because it is so important in everyday life."

As far as her attitude toward a most dedicated job, Mrs. Grubaugh gives this insight. "I believe that I am a dedicated teacher in that it is the only profession I would want to follow. I feel that teaching is just a part of my life, and I want to continue to work in it and better myself through further education."

She feels that any good teacher is dedicated and spends many hours trying to improve methods of teaching.

Mrs. Grubaugh received her high school diploma at Lubbock High School in 1954. She then went to college at East Central State in Ada, Okla., finishing in 1962.

Her plans still include returning to school and working toward a vocational homemaking certificate--either this spring or summer.

Said Mrs. Grubaugh, "I plan to work toward my Masters

Degree in home economics as soon as possible."

Even though her mind is turned inwardly toward education, there's still room for other interests.

The teacher said she likes football and basketball or any spectator sport. The out-door woman is also a swimming and skiing enthusiast.

On the domestic scene, she ventures into sewing, cooking and has an interest in interior decorating.

Educationally, Mrs. Grubaugh feels the most rewarding aspect is her association with young people and being able to guide their minds to better things.

ANSWERS TO SOME QUESTIONS ABOUT PLOW DOWN

WHY NOT WAIT UNTIL MY CROPS NEED NITROGEN BEFORE PUTTING IT INTO THE GROUND?

Nitrogen, in the form of anhydrous ammonia, does a more efficient job of boosting yield when applied early. An early plow down application enables the nitrogen to do the extra job of helping decompose your turned under stubble. This stubble decomposition makes more plant foods available to next year's crop, while putting your soil in better condition to absorb and hold moisture. These extra plant foods and moisture can mean an increase of 10% or more in yield. That can be a big increase in profit! And by plowing down now, the uncertain spring weather can't interfere with your fertilizer program.

IF I PLOW ANHYDROUS AMMONIA DOWN NOW, ISN'T IT LOST DURING THE WINTER MONTHS?

Anhydrous ammonia is the only form of nitrogen that does not leach. When released, the nitrogen attaches itself to the clay particles and organic materials . . . actually becomes part of the soil.

Even though the soil bacteria that do the work in stubble decomposition need nitrogen; their use of the nitrogen does not reduce its effectiveness. All the nitrogen you plow down in the form of anhydrous ammonia to speed stubble decay is still available to crops in the spring.

WOULDN'T IT BE JUST AS PROFITABLE TO PLOW DOWN ANOTHER FORM OF NITROGEN FERTILIZER?

First of all, anhydrous ammonia costs less per pound of usable nitrogen. And it does not leach! Other forms of nitrogen fertilizer do not attach themselves to stable parts of the soil. Therefore, they are subject to becoming soluble, which means they can follow water movement, up or down, out of the root zone . . . leaching.

Because early application of anhydrous ammonia can increase yield and nitrogen in this form is not lost during the winter, it makes sense to plow it down now.

EARLY APPLICATION ALSO MEANS THAT YOU WON'T HAVE THE EXTRA PROBLEM OF FERTILIZER APPLICATION LATER ON WHEN YOU ARE SO BUSY WITH OTHER IMPORTANT OPERATIONS.
