Council Tells Policies On Sewer, Trash Haul

Visited by about 25 interested citizens, the Hart City Council Tuesday night spelled out policies which will be in effect in connection with the beginning of sewer and trash pick-up services.

Trash pick-up will begin immediately on a twice-monthly basis and the tapping of new sewer lines should begin the first of next week, Mayor Ed Harris said.

Citizens attending the meeting wanted an explanation of the services and costs attached to them., Mayor Harris said.

Cost of the trash haul will be $2.00 per month and residents will be billed as part of the water bill each month.

"This program must be carried out on a city-wide basis," the Mayor told the group, "and everyone in the city will be obliged to pay their part and receive the benefits of this new service."

The council told citizens that the program and its charges are not designed to make the city money, but to "meet the health standards the community must have."

The city will pick up trash from barrels only, the council added.

Sewer rates will be $2.50 per month for most residents and will be a part of the water bill. Cafes, laundries and service stations will pay $7.50 per month.

The council passed an ordinance saying that any one tapping city sewer mains must obtain a permit from the City of Hart. As of now, three men--- plumbers Lowell Richburg, C. Ray Jones, and Wes Nivens--- are the only three persons who have such permits.

In other action, the council passed an ordinance prohibiting the establishment of any other ammonia gas installations in Hart. The ordinance does not affect the one such establishment here now.

Cagers Beat Lazbuddie, Play Olton Teams Next

Hart basketballers won a pair of games over Lazbuddie here Tuesday night after splitting a doubleheader with Nazareth there last Friday night.

The Longhorns beat Lazbuddie handily, 69-44, but the Hart girls were pushed to two overtimes before they won, 51-49.

Against Nazareth, the girls won, 40-36, but the Longhorns fell 50-33, in a foul-marred contest. Hart was forced to play part of the final period with only four boys after four others fouled out.

The split by the Longhorns left their season record at 11-7 and their district mark at 3-1. The girls' two victories put them at 11-6 for the season and 3-1 in district.

Next game for the Hart teams is Friday night at Hart. The Hart girls will play the Olton Fillies at 6:30 and the Longhorns will meet the Mustangs in the nightcap.

Billy Farris with 22 points and Gary Heller with 20 led the Longhorns to their win over Lazbuddie. Ken Fincher chipped in 10 and Carl Ward and David Gardner each had eight.

Connie Bailey's field goal in a second overtime period gave the Hart girls their win, 51-49. Trailing 38-30 at the end of the third period, the Hart team tied it at 45-45 at the end of regulation, then deadlocked the game at 49-49 in the first overtime period.

Poll Tax Sales Lag

A check Tuesday afternoon revealed that 188 poll tax receipts had been issued at Farmers State Bank.

Friday, Jan. 31 is the deadline to pay the tax.

Last year, there were 738 poll tax receipts issued in this precinct and there are approximately 100 persons who are exempt.

Of the $1.75 paid for the tax, $1 goes to the permanent school fund, 50 cents to the general fund and 25 cents to the county to pay for expense of collecting the tax and issuing receipts.

Dixie Kendrick led Hart scorers with 30, while Miss Bailey had 17 and Retta Henderson 4.

Miss Kendrick got 22 against Nazareth and Miss Bailey added 14 in the four-point victory. Miss Henderson scored 6.

Farris and Ward each had nine in the boys' loss to Nazareth.

Riley 'Plants' Cotton Now

Ray Joe Riley, a Hart area farmer who keeps an eye on the future, will be picking cotton this spring while others are trying to get seed in the ground.

Riley is planting his "crop" right now and should have it ready for harvest by May.

The real pay-off may be years in coming, however.

Secret of his ability to get cotton ready for harvest in May is Riley's recently completed research greenhouse, located at his home southwest of Hart.

And his purpose isn't to harvest cotton in May---it's to produce, through breeding, a variety that will grow better in Lamb and Castro counties.

The new greenhouse represents an investment of more than $5,000 by the 28-year-old farmer.

The structure is one of only two such research operations in the state--the other one being at Texas A&M, where Ray Joe went to school his freshman year.

Riley began his work toward a degree in agronomy there, but transferred to Texas Tech and received a bachelor of science degree in 1956.

He has done work toward a master's and has a license from the state as a registered plant breeder.

Aside from his own farming operations, Riley is a commercial seed producer, operating as Rilcot Seed Co.

In talking with the young farmer, you get the idea that working with plants and improving them are more important to him than seed production itself.

"You know how you get in the seed business?", he asked. "You try to develop the best cotton you can for yourself, maybe have some good luck... your neighbors try it out... first thing you know, you're in the seed business."

Then he added: "What really matters is that you can work to improve things, and there's a whole lot of satisfaction in that."

The new greenhouse is an 11-by 32-foot structure with aluminum struts and a polyvinyl covering.

"The main thing it'll do," says Ray Joe, "is give us two years of research in only one. It'll allow us to test cotton the year-around."

Design of the building is by a New York firm, but it was constructed by a Littlefield builder, the Owens Co.

RAY JOE RILEY.....Planting For The Future

The building is designed to withstand 80 m.p.h. straight winds, and the polyvinyl covering is flexible enough to let small hail bounce off. Poultry netting will be put up to ward off larger hailstones.

A heating unit inside the greenhouse will maintain temperatures at 85 degrees, even though it may get as cold as 15 below zero outside.

Right now, Riley is working to get a cotton that will germinate at 56 degrees.

The greenhouse is full of small red pots, dixie cups and large pots he'll use as plants progress.

Not only will temperature and humidity be controlled, but so will the soil. Ray Joe plans to see that every plant in a test is submitted to the same conditions, as near as possible.

The plants which have sprung up in the smallest containers will be transferred to larger ones as they progress. When May comes, some of the current small plants will have grown into mature cotton.

In addition to working on cotton for 56-degree germination, Riley has other tests going.

These include growouts of first generation crosses, selection from these crosses to determine various characteristics of the cotton, vigor testing and breeding for disease resistance.

"What I'm working for," he said, "are earliness, good yield, longer staple, larger bolls, stronger stalk and disease resistance."

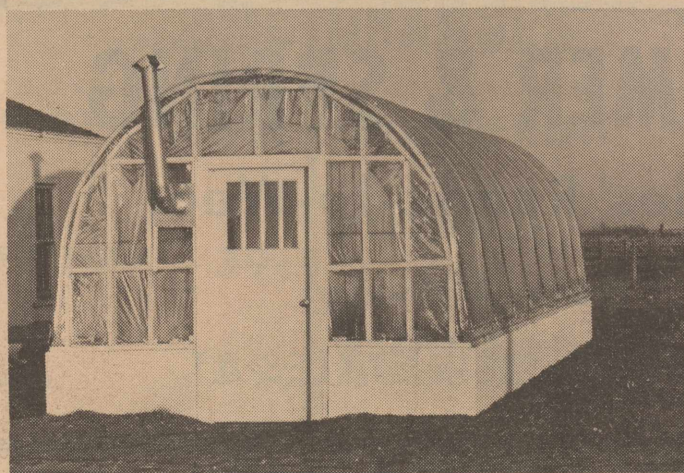

"See here," Riley pointed out. "Here's some young plants that are already showing vigor and disease-resistance, while some of the others aren't."

Riley said he will continue his outside testing, because "I realize conditions in the greenhouse are artificial."

The young farmer said he has tested cotton in the winter in past years in Mexico, but found he couldn't depend on weather conditions or labor.

In his greenhouse near Hart, Ray Joe will be able to keep the weather like he wants it--- and he'll be able to count on the labor, too.

Most of the work he'll do himself, with some help from his wife, Jo Eddy, and later on, possibly, from his 18-month-old son, Kevin.

Stovall Seeks Office Of District Attorney

Frank Stovall of Plainview has announced his candidacy for the office of district attorney, 64th Judicial District, comprising Hale, Swisher and Castro counties.

"I have not entered this race to run against any particular person, but rather to seek an office for which I have the greatest respect," he said. "Under our system of government, the District Attorney is the most important prosecuting officer in our state. He is charged with the duty of prosecuting accused murderers, robbers, burglars, rapists, and narcotic pushers. In addition, he must effectively enforce our hot-check laws. To discharge these duties, your District Attorney must stand ready, willing, and able to go into the courtroom, submit his cases to the jury, and vigorously fight for the principles of his office. We must have the best man available. In this respect, I ask only that the people examine each candidate's qualifications, and then vote for the candidate who they think best qualified.

"My qualifications are open for your judgment. I have received Business Administration and Law Degrees from the University of Texas. In 1959 and 1960, I was employed as an Assistant District Attorney and fulltime prosecutor in Houston, Harris County. As an Assistant District Attorney in Houston, I actively participated in over 75 criminal jury trials. In May, 1960, I joined my father, Richard F. Stovall, a former

MRS. WARREN LEMONS

Language Arts Teacher Likes Work With Children

"I feel that helping children ENJOY learning is the greatest reward of teaching," says Mrs. Warren Lemons, fifth grade language arts teacher in the Hart School.

This is Mrs. Lemons' third year in the teaching profession with all three years in Hart School. She did her practice teaching in the fourth grade in Plainview.

"My mother taught until she retired in 1962," Mrs. Lemons explains, when asked how she became interested in teaching.

"I'm sure she influenced me a great deal."

"I like to work with children," Mrs. Lemons adds, noting also that the hours are more compatible with her homelife than other occupations.

She majored in elementary education and minored in English.

Wade Mills Named Farmer Of The Year

Wade Mills has been selected Conservation Farmer of the Year for the Running Water Soil Conservation District for 1963.

Mills is a lifetime resident of the district and has served in the capacity of supervisor for the past five years. He was recently re-elected to his second term.

He was selected on the basis of the conservation program he is applying to his farm and ranch land and on the basis of his overall contribution to the Soil and Water Conservation Movement in the Running Water Soil Conservation District.

In addition to his conservation work on his own farms, Mills has encouraged other farmers to use the assistance available from the local district and to begin complete conservation programs of their own.

He has served as a member of the steering committee for the Running Water Draw Water Shed Project and as a chairman of the 4-Point Soil Fertility Program and the Natural Gas Users Association.

The selection committee said:

"In this selection we not only wanted to find and honor a man who is doing an outstanding job of soil and water conservation on his own land, but we also wanted to find and honor a man who has done a lot of missionary work for the Conservation Movement and our local Soil Conservation District. We think we have found such an individual in the man we have selected."

The award winner is honored each year by the Lions Clubs of Castro County with the presentation of a plaque in recognition of his selection.

MR. AND MRS. FRANK CONARD

Frank Conards Enjoy Life After Retirement In Hart

"We've certainly got a lot to be thankful for. We have nine children, all living, and all good kids."

Frank and Bertha Conard, retired school employes at Hart, like to talk about those children.

They like to talk about Hart, too, and what a "wonderful place" it is to live.

This week, Conard was looking forward to celebrating his 79th birthday come Feb. 5. How old is Bertha?

"Well, I just forgot," she laughed.

Although he is a diabetic and has some difficulty with eyesight and she has difficulty with hearing, the couple lives alone here.

"He's getting lazy, though," she pointed out. "He didn't even want to dry dishes this morning."

The couple worked at Hart School for 14 years, retiring in 1956. Mrs. Conard was a cook and he did janitorial work.

Married in Indian Territory, Okla., in 1906, they moved to Hart in 1942.

Asked if he had done any farming, Conard replied:

"I reckon I did...about 30 or 40 years in Oklahoma."

He was quick to point out, however, that he didn't "know what all this modern stuff is."

"I farmed with a Georgia stock and cultivator," he explained, "and, if you don't know what that is, it's a walking plow."

Asked if he intended to quit smoking now with all the publicity, Conard, who smokes a pipe replied quickly and definitely:

"No, sir, I sure don't aim to."

Bertha didn't seem to favor this attitude too much and remarked, crisply:

"Well, he sure messes up that corner over there with all that tobacco and puffing."

Conard wears thick glasses and said that he had had both of his eyes operated on three or four years ago to remove cataracts. He noted that the Lions Club had donated $200 for the operation.

"I can see to read now and drive, too," he said.

The couple has a garden every year and have several fruit trees and grape vines.

Mrs. Conard is quite proud of her jelly and preserves.

Asked about a two-way radio in their living room, Conard said:

"We've had it two years and I haven't said one word over it."

"Oh, I just love it," Bertha interrupted, "sometimes, we even hear people from foreign countries."

"And sometimes," laughed Conard, "we get the fires before the fire department does."

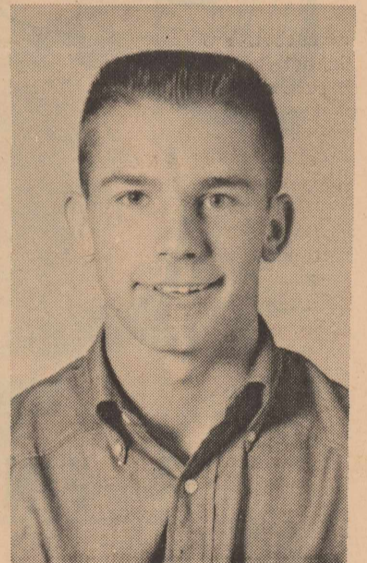

He noted that his son, "Tex", put the radio in for them.

"I haven't got a daughter or son-in-law that isn't just wonderful and would do anything in the world for us," he commented.

The Conards are members of the Primitive Baptist Church in Plainview.

The nine children, of whom they are so proud, are:

Roy, who lives at Plant X near Dimmitt; Bertie Godfrey, Hart; Ovelo Burrows, Olton; Ernest, Lubbock; Ella Higgins, Amarillo; Christine Davis, Oklahoma City, Okla.; Vennie Woodward, Amarillo; and the twins, Wilber of Mesquite and Milbern (Tex) of Sunnyside.

Postmaster Exam Set At Hart

An examination for Postmaster at Hart, $5950 a year, will be open for acceptance of application until Feb. 11, the Commission announced today. This examination has been announced under revised qualifications standards agreed upon between the Commission and the Post Office Department.

Competitors for the postmaster vacancy in this city must have at least one-and-one-half years of experience (education above high school level may be substituted for 9 months of experience) showing that they have the ability to conduct and manage the community's postal business efficiently and to supervise employees so that customers are satisfied with the service.

Competitors must also show that they are of good reputation and that they can deal with the public agreeably and effectively.

Applicants must take a written test. Those who pass will be assigned final ratings on the basis of this test and on their experience, and fitness for the position. They must have resided within the delivery of the office for one year immediately preceding the closing date of the examination. In addition, they must have reached their 18th birthday on the closing date for acceptance of applications. Persons over 70 years of age cannot be appointed.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford

AUSTIN, Tex.--For the past three months, Texas has led the nation in the number of people taking a newly-developed, 11-lesson course in "Medical Self-Help."

Prepared by the U.S. Public Health Service, the plan is to train at least one member of each family in emergency do-it-yourself doctoring.

Thousands of Texans have been taught what to do until the doctor comes. But state health officials agree with federal officials that still more need to know what to do in case the doctor never gets there. Prime reason of course is in case of a disaster or attack.

Dr. J. E. Peavy, State Commissioner of Health, says more than 4,334 Texans have "graduated" in the pilot program of the Medical Self-Help project and others are studying now. He says that instructions complement rather than duplicate existing programs and has been endorsed by the Texas Medical Association.

Information or assistance in setting up a local program may be obtained from the State Health Department in Austin.

HIRING POLICY STRENGTHENED--State Hospital Board has announced tough new hiring rules. Board has drawn fire due to hiring of a former mental patient as a doctor in its Wichita Falls Hospital and a one-time convict as a medical assistant at San Antonio Hospital.

Close checks will be made by a special five-member screening committee into backgrounds of all future applicants.

Board tentatively approved an in-service psychiatric unit at Beaumont four facilities. Also okayed was a contract for a 10-bed psychiatric unit at Beaumont to care for some patients unable to get in the crowded Rusk Hospital.

PATIENT PAYMENTS UP--Patients in seven state schools for the mentally retarded, four state tuberculosis hospitals, eight state hospitals for the mentally ill (including senile persons) and the Houston State Psychiatric Institute paid a bigger share for their care and treatment in December than ever before.

A report by the state hospitals system shows that patients collections for that month totaled $424,931, bringing the total paid under the patient part-day program during the past five and a fourth years to more than $20,000,000.

Patients at Houston State Psychiatric Institute paid the highest per-capita share--$78.61--for the month of December. Those in Harlingen State Tuberculosis Hospital averaged only $6.42 for the month. Overall average was $17.14.

APPOINTMENTS ANNOUNCED---J. E. (Dutch) Winters, former Tarrant County first assistant district attorney is the new judge of Criminal District Court No. 2 in Fort Worth. Gov. John Connally named him to succeed the late Judge Dave McGee.

Connally also appointed William H. Gardner, Houston Post, and Former Gov. Price Daniel, Austin, to the State Library and Historical Commission; and Byron Grady Bronstad of Kilgore, D. L. (Pete) Brooks of Amarillo and James W. Fisher of Brownwood to the State Board of Public Accountancy.

He named Michael A. Myers of Olney as a new administrative assistant to his staff.

House Speaker Byron Tunnell named Rep. Bill Clayton of Springlake as chairman of a House interim committee on protection and development of soil and water resources.

COURTS SPEAK--In upholding the conviction and eight-year prison sentence assessed Billie Sol Estes, the Court of Criminal Appeals announced conclusions of importance to news media, as well as to attorneys and those facing felony trial.

Estes' attorney had complained of television coverage of the trial and contended that widespread newspaper stories on the case kept jurors from being open minded.

Wrote Judge W.A. Morrison:

"The wheels of justice must not stop merely because an accused is of such prominence that he and his alleged misdeeds have been publicized throughout the state...It is apparent that nothing beneficial to appellant (Estes) could be accomplished by changing venue countless times."

As to the controlled TV coverage, Judge Morrison wrote:

"Under the facts certified, we fail to perceive any injury to the appellant as a result of the telecasting of the proceedings.. Of the many cases coming to this court, we know of no case where the accused received better or more efficient representation than appellant in the present case."

CIGARETTE TAX REVENUES HOLDING--A federal study committee's report linking cigarette smoking to lung cancer and other serious ailments is slowing state tobacco tax revenues little so far, according to Comptroller Robert S. Calvert.

Calvert recalls that an earlier warning caused smoking and revenues to decline for about a month. An increase followed.

Last year's cigarette tax take hit an all-time high..... $90,300,000.
