HART SCHOOL HEAD RESIGNS

SUPERINTENDENT CHANGE---Paul Kennedy, right, superintendent at Hart Schools the past seven years, has resigned effective July 1 and W. A. Gardenhire, left, has been named to succeed him. Gardenhire is now high school principal.

Paul Kennedy, superintendent of Hart schools since 1958, has resigned the position effective July 1 and the school board has named W. A. (Andy) Gardenhire, high school principal, to succeed him.

Kennedy, 54, said he is leaving the administrative phase to enter the teaching field and devote more time to stock farming interest he holds.

"No superintendent could have had more wholehearted support than I have received from both the board of education and the community of Hart as a whole," Kennedy said.

"I'm happy that we had a man in the system," Kennedy said, referring to Gardenhire, "who can assume these duties, and who I could recommend to the board without reservation."

Gardenhire was elected by the board without its considering applicants from outside the system.

The 33-year-old principal, who came here July, 1964, from O'Donnell, was given a two-year contract as superintendent effective July, 1965.

Kennedy, who has served the Hart system longer as superintendent than any other man with his seven-year tenure, was administrator during years which saw Hart almost double its enrollment.

Enrollment was 349 in 1958-59, Kennedy's first year here. Today, students number 671.

Growth was shown not only in student numbers, but in physical plant, the system coming from a small school to a modern plant of buildings, equipment and supplies.

Two teacherages were added making a total of 10 living units now owned by the school, a new cafeteria and agriculture shop were constructed, and a 500-seat football stadium was erected.

These additions were made without the necessity of bond issues.

In 1964, a $360,000 bond issue carried, making possible one of the most modern of junior-senior high school buildings in the U. S.

The new building was chosen as one of 70 to be exhibited at the convention of the National Administrators Association in Atlantic city this year.

Hart's superintendent-elect, Gardenhire, is a Memphis, Texas product, having completed high school there before going to Texas Tech and West Texas State University.

He received a bachelor of science degree from WTSU at Canyon. He also holds a master of education degree from the Canyon school, with a special certificate in school administration.

Gardenhire is a former coach, having coached at Lakeview, Quanah and Plainview. In 1962, he became high school principal at O'Donnell, where Mrs. Comer will be in her office all day Tuesday to allow residents to come at their convenience to check the results of the test.

The testing program is a project, sponsored and paid for by the PTA.

No charge will be made but donations will be accepted.

The boll weevil control program being carried out on the High Plains was one of the principle subjects discussed Jan. 15 and 16 at the Beltwide Production and Mechanization Conference staged in Atlanta, Georgia by the National Cotton Council. Plains Cotton Growers Executive Assistant Donald A. Johnson, who has become something of an expert "weevilologist" since the beginning of the High Plains program, was on hand for the discussions.

The fact that so many eyes from across the cotton belt are turning to the High Plains is the result of the tremendous indicated success of the first year's spraying program in this area. With cotton losses to insects averaging almost $380 million annually and control costs amounting to another $150 million, and with the boll weevil being the culprit in the big end of these losses and control costs, it is not surprising that the High Plains program is creating a lot of interest as the possible forerunner of much more effective and economical weevil control methods. With continued high level support for the program in this area, the High Plains can reasonably expect to be free of the weevil problem within three years with the exception of fighting the occasional local outbreaks.

With an eye to forestalling serious farm labor shortages and possible crop losses the Senate Agriculture Committee, headed by Senator Allen J. Ellender of Louisiana, held hearings in Washington Jan. 15 on recent farm labor regulations issued by the Secretary of Labor. The new regulations went into effect at the expiration of Public Law 78 (Bracero Law) Dec. 31, and set forth the criteria farmers are required to meet prior to being certified for the contracting of Mexican National or other foreign workers. These criteria increase the required wage offering to domestic workers to $1.15 an hour in Texas and also require farmers to offer written contracts to domestics embodying free transportation, insurance, housing and all of the other benefits included in the old bracero contract. Such criteria are felt by growers to be excessive and unreasonable.

This feeling sparked a meeting of the National Council of Agricultural Employers from which came a meeting with several key Senators at which the NCAE requested that certain recommendations be laid before the Executive Branch by appropriate members of the Senate and House. According to Ed Dean, who attended the meetings as Labor Relations Representative of Plains Cotton Growers and alternate director of the NCAE from Texas, NCAE recommendations included:

"That before the proposed criteria be implemented and wage rates increased above those in effect for 1964, there should be made by the committees of Congress most directly concerned with agriculture, a comprehensive analysis of the impact of the proposed criteria on the production of high labor requirement crops in the United States, and on employment in related processing, servicing, and marketing concerns, and

"That action be taken immediately to assure that an adequate supply of supplementary foreign labor be available to meet grower needs, in the absence of sufficient numbers of willing and qualified domestic farm workers."

This action led to the setting up of hearings before the full Senate Agriculture Committee. Testifying before this committee were the Department of Labor; the Department of Agriculture; the Department of State; grower representatives from California, Florida and similar areas where labor shortages already threaten loss of perishable crops, and J. B. Kirklin, President of the NCAE. It is expected, Dean said, that the facts gathered at the hearing will be taken to the administration in hopes that the Secretary of Labor can be persuaded to suspend the new regulations and permit the importation of foreign workers under something similar to criteria in effect during 1964.

Nitrogen Need Discussed In Column By Agronomist

BY W. F. "BILL" BENNETT,
AGRONOMIST

In a previous column, I discussed the reasons that maize following maize often does better than maize on summer fallow or layout ground. There has been a question in regard to one of the points mentioned.

One was in regard to the 100# nitrogen in the maize stubble from the preceding crop and whether this would be enough to take care of nitrogen needs for the next year's crop. The answer is that it definitely would not be enough.

Let's do some calculation. In a 6000# maize crop, approximately 80 to 100# actual nitrogen is contained in the grain and about the same amount is contained in the stubble. This means that about 160 to 200 # N is needed to produce a 6000# crop.

Most soils in the area will supply about 60# nitrogen each year from normal release of nitrogen from organic matter. Another 100# will come from decomposition of the stubble. Another 60 to 80# nitrogen will come from carryover of nitrogen from the previous year's nitrogen application. Add these up and you get 220 to 240# N, per acre which will be supplied by the soil.

The key point here now is that a plant will take up only about 50% of the nitrogen which is available to it in the soil. This means, then, that about 320 to 400# N should be available to plants to grow 6000# maize. This leaves a minimum of 80# nitrogen and up to 180# nitrogen which needs to be applied. We know from practice that yields seldom exceed 6000# maize on only 100# ammonia per acre per year. It will take 125 to 150# ammonia to produce 6000# maize on the average and 150 to 175# ammonia to consistently average 7000# maize. Growers who are hitting around 8000# maize are using 200 to 225# ammonia each year. Along with this ammonia, phosphate is usually needed to produce the yields indicated.

Silt Study Conducted By District

The High Plains Water District initiated a study on silt losses in irrigation water during 1964.

In areas where irrigation tail water has escaped in county bar ditches, large amounts of silt have been observed collecting in the ditches. Farmers were aware that valuable top soil was being lost but no one could estimate how much. Losses of silt not only cost the farmer many dollars in valuable land, but also pose a great problem for the county in maintaining roads and ditches.

Field representative of the District realized the need for accurate records that would reflect the losses of silt by allowing it to escape and immediately initiated a water sampling program at one of their tail water return systems.

Samples of water were collected as they entered the pit and as the water was being discharged back into the field from the recirculating system. The illustrated table shows one group of samples obtained and the silt content.

Using the average pounds of silt per acre foot of water as a basis and by metering the amount of actual pumpage over the four hour period, it was discovered that one half an acre foot of water was recirculated. The amount of silt that entered the installation was 992 pounds and 1946 pounds was removed. The difference of 954 pounds of silt reflects that this amount was already present in the installation but was removed during the pumping cycle.

Based on this initial test, an average of 4.3 tons of silt was recirculated with each acre foot of water. Using this amount for the entire 132 acre feet of water salvaged by the system this year, approximately 567 tons of silt were recirculated with the water. This 567 tons of silt would be approximately 378 cubic yards of top soil replaced on the farm for the same cost of recirculating the "tail water".

If the farmer had cleaned out the bar ditch and hauled the soil back to his farm, it would have cost him at least fifty cents per yard to haul and spread it. Total cost for this would have been $184.

The soil was replaced on the farm through the use of tail water so actually you could say that the top soil was replaced at no cost to the farmer.

LIQUOR BILL INTRODUCED
--A Texas Restaurant Association bill which would make legal the selling of two-ounce bottles of liquor in licensed restaurants has been introduced.

Sen. Jim Bates of Edinburg is handling it in the Senate and Rep. Willis J. Whatley is in charge of it in the House.

The bill would permit customers to fix their own drinks from the small bottles of liquor. This would go part of the way for those people who like to buy their liquor by the drink. Church groups and others will oppose it.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

FROM YOUR STATE CAPITAL AUSTIN-- The 59th Legislature, faced with the heaviest work load in state lawmaking history, eased into its second week with some top Senators and Representatives on the absent list. A good many legislators took off for Washington to attend the inauguration of President Johnson.

These events highlighted the legislature's opening week;

Rep. Ben Barnes of DeLeon was elected Speaker of the House by acclamation. He is the youngest speaker named since reconstruction days.

Sen. Tom Creighton of Mineral Wells was named president pro tempore of the Senate, to preside when Lt. Gov. Preston Smith is not present. In choosing Creighton, the Senators went against tradition when they passed over Sen. A. R. Schwartz of Galveston, who was next on the seniority list. Schwartz has opposed closed door sessions.

A record $3,500,000,000 budget bill, calling for an increase of $97,300,000 in general revenue spending, was introduced in the Senate. Proposal calls for $567,300,000 general revenue spending, compared to $599,500,000 recommended by Gov. John Connally.

Lieutenant Governor Smith named full membership on 24 Senate standing committees. The Senate was thus organized and ready for business on the second day of session.

In the House, Barnes -- whose speakership campaign had to be conducted in a few days due to unexpected appointment of ex-Speaker Byron Tunnell to the Railroad Commission -- conferred with members day and night in an effort to speed committee appointments there.

Representatives drew priority numbers, for bills.

Both houses completed appointment of employees, other necessary routine and marked time before the big battles ahead.

Despite controversial decisions to be made on congressional and legislative redistricting, big finance and other matters, Smith and Barnes expressed confidence the Legislature can complete its work within 140 days. But some Lawmaker weren't so sure.

BETTING BILL SHOWN- The battle over whether Texans are going to bet on horse racing has begun again. This time Rep. Maurice Pipkin of Brownsville is introducing the race track betting bill. Last session Rep. V. E. (Red) Berry of San Antonio couldn't get it through the Legislature.

Pipkin's bill would allow both Thoroughbred and Quarter Horse racing on licensed tracks. Also, the city, county, and the state could collect taxes from the track operators. Before a track could be licensed in a county, voters in that county would have to call and approve a referendum.

The bill is backed by Texas Racing Association, which has raised more than $150,000 from some of the most prominent men in Texas ranching and business. Opposing the association will be a group of businessmen being organized by the Texas Council of Churches and the Texas Baptist General Convention.

Pipkin said the state would get $20,000,000 a year from a sliding tax of from four to six per cent on all bets and that the state would get millions more from increased tourism. One of the first men to speak in opposition, Rep. J. C. Whitfield of Houston, said, "The plain facts are that legalized racing and gambling not only damage the moral fabric of our people, but that the revenues they bring in are more than offset by losses in other, more legitimate fields of commerce."

TAX REVISIONS RECOMMENDED -- Texas Commission on State and Local Tax Policy has suggested methods of obtaining $15,300,000 in new state revenue (per biennium) through a variety of tax revisions.

Commission said making sales tax applicable to telephone and telegraph service and other utility tax changes would pick up $11,200,000; modernizing the inheritance tax, $6,000,000; and removal of the sales tax exemption on farm machinery, $9,000,000.

But not all the Commission's recommendations would mean more revenue. Losses would come from repeal of the theater admissions tax, $1,200,000; repeal of the chain store tax, $7,200,000; and exemption from the production tax of gas used in field operations in the same field where it is produced, $2,500,000.

Main purpose of recommended changes is "to achieve greater equity in taxation and greater ease in administration and compliance," said the commissioner.

GOVERNOR'S APPOINTMENTS -- William E. Berger of Hondo was appointed by Gov. Connally to a six-year term on the Texas Water Commission.

Berger replace veteran H. A. Beckwith of Eagle Pass, whose term had expired in 1963. Beckwith was named chief topographic engineer of the Commission.

Connally appointed Rep. Joe N. Chapman of Sulphur Springs judge of the Eight District Court of Hopkins, Rains, Delta and Hunt Counties, to replace the late Judge L. L. Bowman Jr. Maj. Gen. Thomas S. Bishop and Brig. Gen. James D. Scott, both of Austin, were named to new terms as adjutant general and assistant adjutant general.

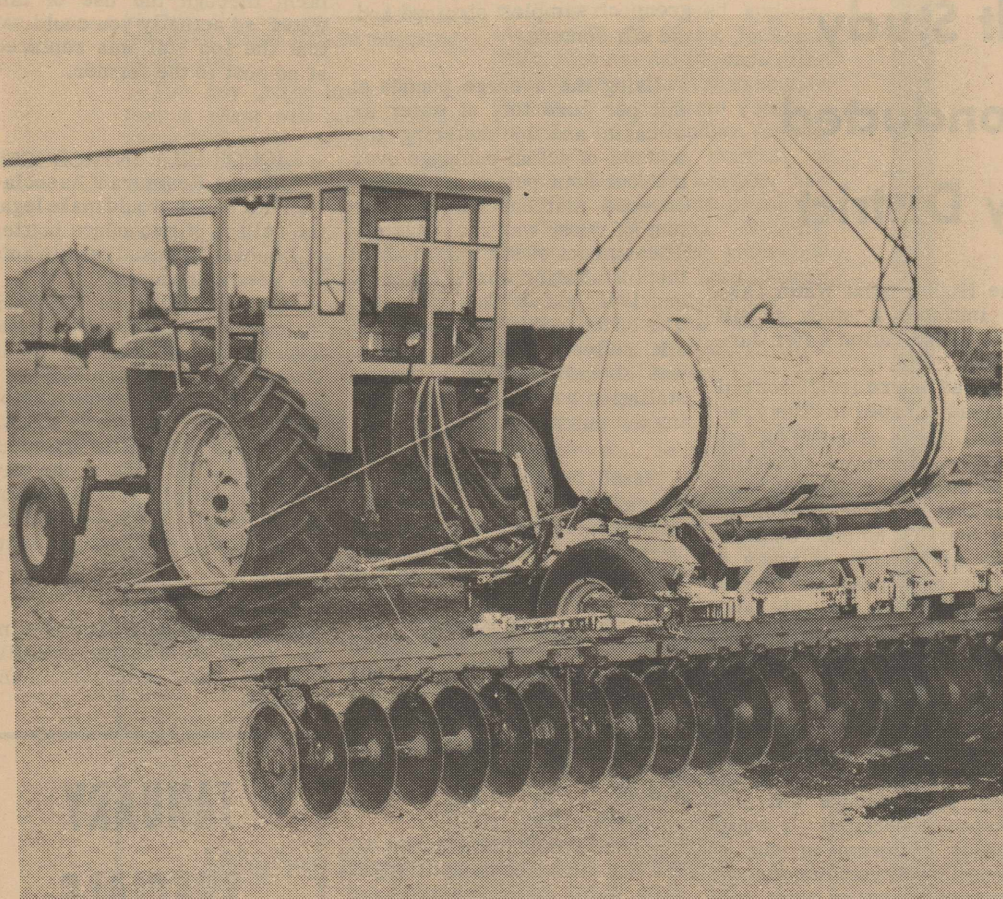

Connally reappointed W. A. Bond of Vernon, John R. (Dick) Fowler of Memphis and Col. John Anderson of Denison to the Red River Authority board and named William E. Rechmuth of Wichita Falls a new member of the Board.

Mayor Ted. C. Connell of Killeen, a former national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, was named to a four-year term on the Veterans Land Board.

R. C. Morgan of El Paso and Mrs. Bessie Heard of Houston were reappointed to the Credit Union Advisory Commission.

Governor named Wayland Rivers Jr. of Austin and Miss Lois Gray of Fort Worth to the Board of Trustees, Teachers Retirement System; Dave Smith of Austin to Board of Trustees, Employees Retirement System; and P. C. Naylor Jr. of San Antonio and Harold Chapman of Lubbock to Texas Real Estate Commission.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

wrote a will cutting them off with almost nothing. But he lived on for seven years, during which time he had a complete change of heart. Unhappily, he neglected to bring his will up to date. The court had no choice but to enforce the will as written, with the old rancor left in and the new affection left out.

Here are some other circumstances that may justify a change in your will:

Danger: A Stale Will

Unlike wine, wills seldom improve with age. Events that occur after your will is made may turn its wisdom into folly, its plans into pitfalls, its kindness into cruelty. Yet, when you die, the law will usually follow your instructions to a T, heedless of what has happened in the meantime.

In a few special situations—suppose you got married, or got divorced, or had a child, or lost a child—local statutes may make automatic changes in your will. But such changes are cut to a standard pattern, perhaps bringing results you may not have wanted at all. Worse, there are all sorts of possibilities that statutes simply cannot deal with in any orderly fashion.

A son, who at the age of 14 seemed the quiet and sensible type, by 16 shows alarming signs of becoming a spendthrift . . . an ugly-duckling daughter, thought to be headed for spinsterhood, lands a good husband . . . you move to another state . . . you become much richer (or much poorer) . . . a change in the tax laws gives you an opportunity to save on inheritance taxes . . . you gain new attachments (or lose old ones).

Of course, you shouldn't redraft your will every time you have a tiff with Aunt Kate. But reviewing it at regular intervals—perhaps every year or two—is plain common sense.

If your lawyer sees the need for a review, he may send you a reminder to that effect. Still, even though such a reminder is perfectly ethical, many lawyers are leery of anything that might be interpreted as soliciting legal business.

The best way is for you to authorize him in advance, preferably when you first make your will, to send you a regular reminder—just as your dentist does. Very often, no change will be necessary. But if a change is necessary, delay is dangerous. The change that is delayed may never be made at all.
