Five new candidates filed this week in local elections with three seeking spots on the city council and two more seeking school board posts.

Buster Aven, Dwight Miller, and H. L. Stanton have announced as candidates for city councilmen.

This brings the total to four candidates for the two posts to be filled as John Holloway had announced earlier for the council race.

New candidates in the school board election are Bob Bennett and J. M. Kendrick, again giving a total of four choices for two posts to be filled.

Wamon Foster and C. B. Martin, whose terms on the board will expire this year, have filed for re-election.

No new candidates were added to the mayor's race, where E. E. Foster, Joe Newman and J. P. Armstrong will compete.

Foster is a gin manager, Newman is an insurance man and Armstrong is a retired farmer.

In the council race, Aven is a farmer, Holloway is a dry good store operator, Miller is a fertilizer dealer and Stanton is a painter.

Of those seeking school board spots, Foster is a farmer, Martin is a farmer and rancher, Bennett is a farmer and businessman and Kendrick is a farmer.

USDA Research Group Meets

"To the High Plains of Texas, profitable cotton production is the difference between farming and not farming, and profitable cotton production is dependent not only on the success of cotton research but on the speed with which such success can be achieved," according to Donald A. Johnson, executive vice-president of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

This statement is a part of Plains Cotton Growers recommendations for future USDA cotton research, made by Johnson in Washington before an open session of the Cotton and Cottonseed Research and Marketing Advisory Committee.

Johnson's presentation urged an all-out effort by USDA in research on such items as cotton quality, ginning, instrument classing, utilization and an instrument for accurate, rapid fiber length testing. He cited the quality improvement research being carried on by Plains Cotton Growers, State, and private research institutions, and requested increased participation by the USDA in this field. "We need more genetic research, more plant breeding and physiological studies directed toward improving not only our staple length but our Pressley and Micronaire," he added.

The PCG recommendations pointed out to the committee that at present almost all basic utilization research done at the Government's Southern Regional Research Laboratory in New Orleans is done on cotton with staples of one and one-sixteenth of an inch or longer, and that more research should be directed toward use of the shorter stapled cottons such as are grown in this area. In this respect, Johnson reminded the committee that at least one-third of all U. S. produced cotton is one and one-thirty-second of an inch or shorter, and that much of this cotton goes to foreign mills who spin it into fabrics which then return to the U. S. as competition for fabrics spun in our own mills with longer staple, more expensive cottons.

To justify PCC's recommendations for stepped-up research on instrument classing of cotton, Johnson highlighted the contrast between the accurate and precise information supplied to mills by rayon and synthetic manufacturers with the fact that cotton buyers will not accept the green card classification of cotton as a reliable base for cotton purchases. He said: "Cotton spinning mills greatly need reliable information about the cotton they buy, and instrument classing carried out under conscientious and expert supervision can supply that need, thereby making cotton a more attractive and competitive raw material."

Also attending the meeting from the High Plains was Dr. Harold Loden, general manager of Paymaster Farms, of Plainview, who was recently appointed to the committee by Secretary of Agriculture Freeman.

She testified in a hearing on a bill by Rep. W. Reed Quilliam Jr. of Lubbock, which would reduce interest rates on loans $100 or less by one-half to two-thirds.

An association of small loan companies appeared to oppose the bill. A citizens committee from Dallas and ex-Attorney General Will Wilson favored it. The bill went to a sub-committee.

Films Available For Club Use

Texas public school teachers are facing more teaching problems today than ever before.

High on the list of reasons for this situation are the difficulties involved in presenting instruction on whole subjects or portions of subjects which cannot be properly taught using normal classroom methods.

Many teachers in the State--particularly counsellors and health and physical education teachers--have found a solution to this problem through the film library of the Texas State Department of Health in Austin.

The library offers the largest selection of films in the Southwest and makes the films available in an easy, effective manner. Any teacher, or any interested person, for that matter, may request and use a film on a topic related to health by contacting the Health Department.

A catalogue listing 611 titles was recently published and is available on request from the Film Library, 410 East 5th Street, Austin.

A part of the Health Department's Division of Public Health Education, the library shelves 2,015 films for 611 titles. It contains films with viewing times ranging from four to 57 minutes, covering practically all phases of personal and community health.

Most of the films were produced commercially, but many of them were written and produced for specific Texas application. All films are aimed at

Winners Of Science Fair Announced At Hart Schools

High school winners in the biological division included Rene Brooks, first; Retta Henderson and Donna Daubert, second; Becky Burrus, second;

In the physiological division were Stanley Brooks, first; Martha Sharp and Kay Smith, first; Verletta Crick and Judy Humphrey, second; Barbara Elliott and Sharon Bass, fourth.

a single purpose: teaching good health practices.

Last year library personnel booked 35,429 showings for a total of 1,534,942 viewings, representing more than one-tenth of the entire Texas population.

In addition to providing Texas school teachers with films for classroom aids, the library makes films available to religious and fraternal organizations and to civic groups.

Practically any club or organization may book films for a general interest or educational viewing, but they are limited to use within the State.

If you happen to be this month's program chairman for a neighborhood ladies' club, perhaps you'd like to show clubmembers an approved, step-by-step method of making a baby's formula. There is a sequence in a film titled "Linda" to do exactly that.

Or perhaps your civic club is studying use of narcotic. "Monkey On The Back" may be of help to you.

All films are shipped parcel post, with the borrower paying return postage.

Teachers Honored At Annual Event

Dr. Jerry Dawson of Wayland Baptist College, was guest speaker Thursday night for the Hart PTA Teachers Appreciation Banquet, which was held in the school cafeteria. The theme was "Texas, our Texas."

The guests were welcomed by PTA President Deryl Clevenger. Andy Gardenhire, high school principal, gave the response to the welcome. Joe Brooks, minister for the Hart Church of Christ, gave the invocation.

Dinzil Leonard, minister for the Hart Baptist Church, was master of ceremonies and introduced participants on the program.

On the program was the fifth and sixth grade chorus, directed by Mrs. Carl Rambo, public school music teacher. The chorus sang "The Yellow Rose of Texas", "Texas, Our Texas", and "This Land Is Your Land", in keeping with the banquet theme. Rosemary Lee played several selections on the accordion and a trio composed of Mr. and Mrs. Preston Upshaw and Boots Rogers sang several popular songs.

Leonard introduced Dr. Dawson. His message was based on Texas Heritage with emphasis on the West Texas and Panhandle region, and the school teachers part in settling and developing the area.

Red, white, and blue tapers lighted the tables, which were laid with white cloths with red and blue streamers down the center. Place cards for the teachers were miniature Texas maps with a photo of the teacher in the center. The head table was centered with an arrangement of fresh cut red and white carnations in milk glass. Junior High School girls served the plates and waited tables. About 135 people attended the banquet. Among special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Killingsworth of Dimmitt. Mrs. Killingsworth is PTA district president.

Committee members were Deryl Clevenger, general chairman; Mrs. J. V. Wescott, Mrs. Owen Hankins, Mrs. David Nelson, food; Mrs. Dwight Miller, program; Mrs. Jack George, Mrs. DeWayne Brown, decorating; and Mrs. Deryl Clevenger, tickets.

New Avocado Twist For Salad Favorite

NEW AVOCADO TWIST

Fresh fruit salads have a tendency to perk up appetite on first sight and "Avocado Waldorf" is certainly no exception.

The crunchiness of the apple-almond-celery filling contrasts delightfully with the velvety-smooth texture of avocado half-shells in this colorful, refreshing and nutritious treat.

Nutritional values of avocados are quite noteworthy. The fruit contains 11 health-giving vitamins, 14 basic minerals and emulsified fruit oil which is readily converted into food energy.

Considering how impressively they satisfy appetites, avocados are not at all high in calories. According to the U. S. Department of Agriculture, a 4-inch avocado half-shell weighing 80 grams has only 137 calories. And, it might be added, untold eating pleasure!

AVOCADO WALDORF

- 3 avocados
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- Salt
- 1/2 cup diced red apple
- 1/4 cup minced celery
- 1/4 cup roasted diced almonds
- 1/4 cup French dressing
- 1/4 cup mayonnaise

Cut avocados lengthwise into halves; remove seeds. Coat with a little lemon juice. Sprinkle with salt. Mix remaining lemon juice with apple, celery and almonds. Spoon into avocados. Combine French dressing and mayonnaise; spoon over avocados or serve in bowl. Makes 6 serving.
