Summer Plans At School Announced By Gardenhire

Students interested in special tutoring this summer are asked to check with Andy Gardenhire before May 28 as teachers will be available to work with those interested.

Elementary and high school library will be open during the summer for community use with elementary books located in the high school library.

Library will open June 7 and close Aug. 15. Books may be checked out from 9 to 11 a.m. Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

Gardenhire said that grade school students are especially encouraged to take advantage of the opportunity, adding that poor readers and students low in comprehension would be "wise to come and work on this problem."

Summer drivers education will start May 31. All students who plan to take the course are asked to meet at the high school, room 1, at 9 a.m. on that day.

SCOUT NEWS

A girl scout leaders meeting was held Monday May 17 from 9:30 to 2:30 in the home of Mrs. Dwight Miller. Subject of the meeting was day camp training.

Appearing on the program were Mrs. Arthur Cheves, director of the Hart Day Camp, and Mrs. Jeff Smart, assistant director of that organization. Also appearing was Mrs. Tom Vestal, the scout executive from Plainview.

Plans were made for a day camp to be held July 4 through 9 from 2 to 5 p.m.

Members present were Mmes. Paul Brooks, James Kennedy, Grider, Jeff Smart, Glyn Reed, Willis A. Hawkins, Jr. Leonard Welty and Mrs. Arthur Cheves.

Girl scout troops 158 and 404 met at the Dimmitt radio station Tuesday May 18 at 4 p.m. for the purpose of singing on a radio show. They sang "To Sing", "Good Girl Scout", "I Love To Go A Wondering", "Tell Me Why", "No Hiding Place", "Kum-Ba-Ya", "Boom-Boom", "Oh Lay Oh La", "Bones", and "Taps". Forty-six members attended the meeting.

Brownie troop 47 met Monday May 17 for their final meeting of the year. The troop had a joint meeting with another Brownie troop.

A flag ceremony, pledge of allegiance and Brownie promise opened the meeting. The girls played several games and were given bandana bags filled with refreshments. All were enjoyed outdoors.

Carla Rambo served refreshments to Troop 47. They consisted of sandwiches, cookies, apples and kool-aid. Members present were Jana Hill, Cynthia Smart, Ann Moore, Cindy Hill, Tonya DeBusk, Debbie Grider, Dee Ann Bailey and scout leaders, Mrs. Jeff Smart and Mrs. Dean Grider.

North Spade Ranch Marker Is Authorized

The historic Old North Spade Ranch Headquarters in Spade has been designated a Recorded Texas Historic Landmark, John Ben Shepperd of Odessa, president of the Texas State Historical Survey Committee, announced today.

This award comes with the announcement of the award of an interpretive plate to be placed by the Official Texas Historical Building Medallion which was awarded three years ago. It is sponsored by Lamb County Historical Survey Committee.

Having completed the requirements for the Landmarks award, this structure will be noted on a special certificate to be presented by Mrs. Paul Burrus, chairman of the Lamb County Historical Survey Committee.

The plate states that the North Spade Ranch Headquarters, 1910-1924 was on the ranch bought in 1891 by I. L. Ellwood, barbed wire developer, and sold in 1924 for farms. It was a social center in its day.

The Medallion and accompanying plate marker is part of the five-year program of the Texas State Historical Survey Committee to Record, Appreciate, Mark, Preserve and Survey (RAMPS) history in Texas. This marker is designed to recognize and interpret the historical, cultural or architectural significance of the homes and buildings of Texas and cite them as worthy of preservation.

Bonita Honea, Constant Jones Wedding Set

Mrs. John L. Thomas of Dimmitt announces the engagement of her daughter, Bonita Lynn Honea, to Constant LaVere Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Jones of Montpelier, Idaho. Vows will be exchanged May 26 in Salt Lake Temple of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

Miss Honea started to public school in Hart in 1950, later moved to Hereford and then to Dimmitt, where she graduated from high school in 1962. She served her church on an 18-month mission in the Texas Mission and Jones served his mission in the Eastern Atlantic States.

Both attended Brigham Young University in Provo, Utah.

Jones is to receive his B.A. degree in political science May 28. He plans to continue his studies with work on his Master's degree and in September of 1966, will go to Washington, D. C., where he will work for the state department and attend George Washington University to work on his doctorate in public administration.

Miss Honea transferred to Utah Trade and Tech last September. She is to get her certificate as a dental assistant in August.

Survey Of Colleges Shows 567 With Room For More Freshmen This Fall

WASHINGTON, D.C., May 1, Room for more students in the nation's colleges is the finding of a survey report just released. An impartial survey of 714 colleges and universities show that 567 still have room in this autumn's freshman class in 1966 to admit more than 62,500 additional freshmen.

These and other findings are in Changing Times' special report based on its seventh annual survey of accredited four-year colleges with room. The copyrighted report recognizes that getting into college is more difficult this year than it has ever been. "Many schools say applications are up 50 percent to 100 percent over last spring."

For the seventh consecutive year, however, the Kiplinger magazine shows that scores of accredited colleges still have room for more students. Openings are scattered around the country with fewest in New England and the most in the Midwest and the South.

On the whole, fewer spaces for women than for men are available, far more for day students than those who want to live in a dormitory and more colleges than ever are giving special consideration to underprivileged students.

Looking into costs for campus, day and out-of-state students at the 714 colleges reporting, Changing Times found 53 percent planning to boost tuitions and fees again during the next two years. Others admitted they probably would and a few offer "Guaranteed" four-year rates.

Opportunities for average or "C" students were also surveyed by the magazine. Its conclusion is: "The average student can also find a place provided he's able to do college work." A great many colleges reported they are willing to consider an applicant with so-so marks if they feel he can do the work.

Openings for transfer students and two-year college graduates were also surveyed and an encouraging report issued for both. "There is still lots of room for students who are now in college but want to switch schools. Graduates of two-year colleges are given special preference by many schools."

An increase in the number of colleges participating in the magazine's survey has been interpreted as an effort to help reduce confusion in admissions. Reprinting its editorial, "Clean up the chaos in college admissions," in the published edition of the "Colleges with room" survey, Changing Times again calls for "a major national effort...to take the chaos out of college admissions. The job should be done by the large educational organizations," according to the Kiplinger editors. "Parents," they say, "can help by just calming down. And, most important, parents must recognize that guidance begins at home and ought to begin early."

In recognizing that "never has choosing a college been so difficult or admission so unpredictable," the magazine concludes, "qualified students can find suitable colleges to go to even if not as prestigious ones as the family would like."

SOCIAL ETHICS BILL DEAD

A House committee gave a bill to establish a course in "social ethics" in Texas schools a very unsociable reception after a sub-committee reported it back without recommendation.

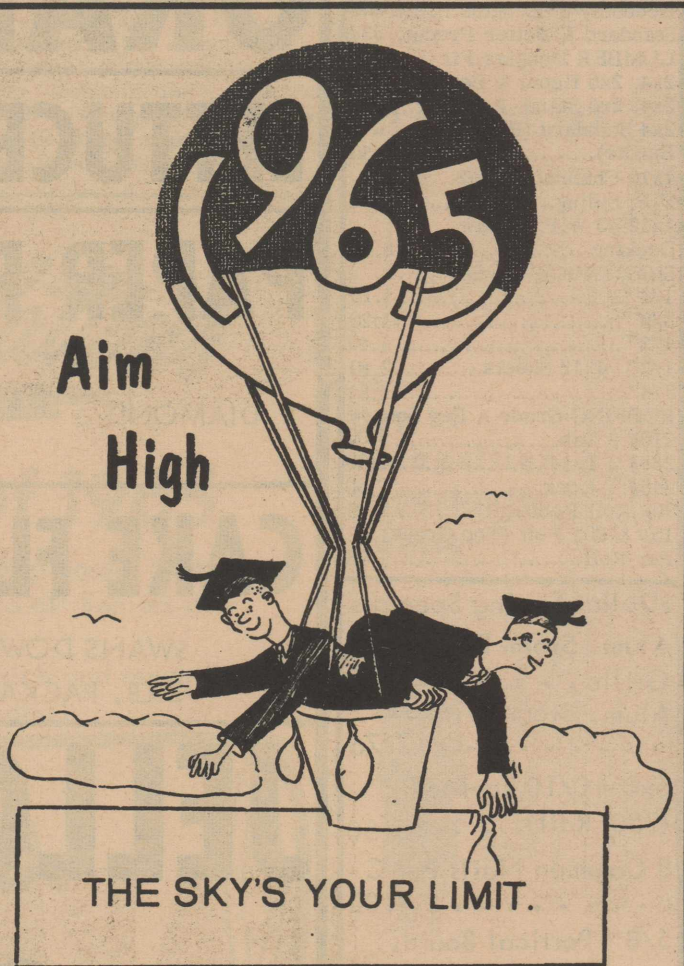

Committee voted to postpone consideration of the bill for four weeks. With hardly more time than that left in the session, the action virtually killed the bill.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

AUSTIN--Texans will go to the polls on November 2 to vote on at least six, and perhaps 18, amendments.

Six proposals for Constitutional amendments already have cleared the Legislature. Ten to 12 others appear to have a good chance of being approved before the end of the session. Senators and representatives introduced 128 proposals for amendments.

Major interest at the Nov. 2 election will be on the proposal to increase to four years the terms of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor and other officials elected statewide.

Voters also will approve or defeat amendments to:
Extend the Veterans Land Program;

to $20 a day for 140 days; Exempt Hermann Hospital in Houston from payment of ad valorem taxes;

Allow the state to issue bond for loans to college students; Permit the teacher retirement system to invest its money in corporation stocks, as well as in bonds.

A seventh Constitutional amendment to go to the voters is a housekeeping item to clear up uncertainty about when members of the house of Representatives take office. If approved, Legislators will take office on the date the Legislature convenes. This amendment proposal, however, will be on the regular general election ballot in November, 1966.

House Labor Committee

A bill to require a minimum wage of $1.25 an hour in Texas was sent to sub-committee.

Committee also sent to sub-panel two other measures:

Bill which would declare new "right to work" policies in event Congress knocks out open-shop provisions of Taft-Hartley law.

Resolution which would transfer to Commissioner of State Bureau of Labor Statistics responsibility for determining prevailing wages required on public works projects.

Repeal Poll Tax, But--

--House has passed a constitutional amendment to repeal the poll tax, but it went to the Senate with an amendment requiring annual registration.

Proponents of the poll tax repeal bitterly fought the annual registration requirement. They contend that the states where fraud and political bosses reign are the states with annual registration requirements.

Resolution proposes a state-wide vote in November, 1966.

State Highlights

Farm Land Tax Relief

A constitutional amendment to allow a farmer whose property has become urbanized certain tax relief as long as he remains a bona fide farmer passed the House after big-city representatives attacked the measure as a "tax dodge for speculators."
 Under the bill sponsored by Reps. Bill Dungan of McKinney, Alonzo Jamison of Denton and Wayne Connally of Floresville, a farmer with land in an urbanized area could pay taxes based on a valuation of the land's worth for farming purposes. When he decides to sell the land, he'll pay the difference between that value and the value of the land for development purposes for three years back.

"Drinkers' Rights" Urged

Rep. Jake Johnson of San Antonio presented his bill to legalize sale of mixed drinks in Texas before House Liquor Regulations Committee.

Johnson calls his bill a "drinkers' bill of rights." He says it's needed to "bring some sense to the chaotic liquor laws in Texas."

Committee also heard bill to permit families to make up to 200 gallons of their own wine. Both proposals were sent to sub-committees.

Carr Warns Legislators

Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr warned Texas lawmakers they have a firm deadline to complete congressional and legislative redistricting by Aug. 1 and Aug. 2 respectively.

In a memorandum to all legislators, Carr said the federal court may begin the reapportionment job itself after the established deadline.

Alamo Flag Talks Balked

Governor Connally declined to sign a resolution calling for negotiations with Mexico for return of a battle flag captured at the Alamo because of "serious questions as to its constitutionality."
 "It is highly doubtful that representatives of an individual state have the authority to enter negotiations of this nature with a foreign country," the governor said. "This is a very delicate proposition and falls within the responsibility of the State Department."

He applauded "sincere motives" of the legislative sponsors of the resolution.

Federal Education Bill Explained

Texas Education Agency has called on local school officials to submit their plans for participating in the new federal education program, providing $74,500,000 in aid for teaching children from low income families.

U. S. Office of Education will determine amount of federal money available to local districts on basis of census data.

Indications are that none of the money can be applied toward state's share of across-the-boards teacher pay raises.

Youth Corps Job A Job

Program to provide part-time jobs for needy students under the federal Economic Opportunity Act is growing fast and reaching into many areas of Texas.

Governor Connally reports that office details for handling the project require a staff larger than the crew that handles all the duties of the Governor's office.

Connally has approved nearly a dozen Neighborhood Youth Corps programs, involving Federal grants for projects in Rio Grande; Los Fresnos; Harris County; Beaumont; Dallas County; Galveston County; Laredo; Olton; Lockhart and San Marcos.

Grants are authorized by the U. S. Department of Labor in Washington, but are subject to final approval by the Governor.

Terrell Blodgett, director of the Texas Office of Economic Opportunity, has announced appointment of two consultants to help communities organize local action programs. They are Bertrand Adams of Austin and Robert Watts of Lufkin.

Criminal Code Bill Docket

House Criminal Jurisprudence Committee has approved a 145-page bill overhauling the Texas Code of Criminal Procedure. It is set for debate late next week.

Affecting nearly all citizens, the far-reaching measure is the number one legislative objective of the State Bar of Texas.

Revision was passed by the 58th Legislature, but was vetoed by the Governor because of errors in the bill.

Emotions Can Play Role In Accidents, Injuries

What part do emotions play in accidents and injuries?

Is the housewife who has just had a violent argument with her husband more likely to slash her finger with the bread knife or scorch her hand on the skillet?

Is the careless, preoccupied home gardener more likely to slip a hand into the whirring blades of a power mower or gash his foot with an axe?

This problem is studied from the viewpoint of the athlete in "Tips on Athletic Training," a publication of the American Medical Association and the National Federation of State Athletic Association. Although these bodies are primarily concerned with sports injuries, most of their conclusions are applicable to all.

One of the psychological factors thought to be involved rather frequently in injuries might be labeled the "aggression conflict", the pamphlet says.

The sports arena offers the only peace time area of American life in which the physical expression of aggression is socially sanctioned. In all other phases of daily living there is considerable pressure to sublimate aggressive action. Thus, in some instances, being injured may provide a subconscious escape from the conflict of behaving in Jekyll and Hyde style in athletic and other life roles.

Another aspect is the chronically careless individual. This kind of person, possessed of a feeling of invulnerability both in sports and other facets of his living, acts with reckless disregard for his own safety and that of others. Either he fails to sense or is unconcerned with the consequences of fool-hardy behavior.

The individual who passively permits himself to be injured or even seeks situations likely to bring about physical injury presents a different problem.

YOU'RE IN THE ARMY NOW

"I'VE BEEN KEEPING AN EYE ON YOU - JUST WHAT DO YOU DO AROUND HERE?"

Evidently, there are some persons with guilt feelings that are partly eased by bodily injury.

Clues that may be used to identify individuals with a psychological predisposition to injury have been suggested. Among these are excessive aggression, overtimidity, injury concealment and injury exaggerations.

Some individuals evidencing such problems may be helped by careful counseling.

Health Habits Are Stressed

What parent wouldn't insure his child good health for life... if he could?

Although no parent can guarantee his child good health always, a parent plays an important role in the health of a child.

A parent can teach his child the basic principles of good health. Certain fundamentals, learned early and continued through life, can do a great deal towards promoting the health of the child.

Good health can become a habit. And this is where the parent comes in: teaching his child good health habits early in life.

A habit is an action you've done so often you don't even think about it, you just do it. Help your child develop good health habits.

Hand washing is a fundamental in disease prevention. Teach your child to wash his hands after he visits the toilet. Teach him to wash his hands before he eats.

Little hands - or big ones for that matter -- go many places. They may carry out the garbage, handle a fly-swatter, or touch many potential germ sources.

Hot soapy water can wash many disease-causing germs off hands before they enter the mouth and body where they can grow and cause the most harm.

Teach your child to make hand washing a habit.

Tooth brushing after meals is important to good dental health. Otherwise, bits of food lodge on and between teeth allowing bacteria to grow and eventually cause decay. Teach your child to rinse his mouth with water if he can't brush his teeth right after eating.

A daily bath and clean clothes are important, too. Hair should be washed often, and combed with your own comb. Head lice are no respectors of persons and can easily travel from person to person on a "borrowed comb."

Borrowing towels, lipstick, or sharing food or drinking glass is a good way to borrow trouble -- or other people's germs.

True, you may neglect to wash your hands one time, or you may skip a bath one day. But remember to teach you children the good health habit.

Congratulations on a job well done!
