Rains Leave Hart Waterlogged

FLOODED GIN YARD--Water from the rain caused the lake next to Hart Producer's Co-Op Gin to become the lake surrounding the gin. The lake left some cotton trailers in six feet of water and nearly flooded out farm laborers in nearby buildings.

Hart area crops withstood last week's rain in good shape, but farmers are still standing by their sandfighter watching for dust as drying out begins.

Near-ripe wheat appeared to be standing up well after the downpour, reported as high as 12 inches some areas, although farmers are hoping for sunshine and hot weather to dry out the ground before heavy winds have a chance to blow the grain down.

Heaviest rains were west and southwest.

Worth Jones, who farms five miles west of Hart, said he couldn't say how much it had rained "since our rain gauge ran over," but said a neighbor reported 12 inches.

South, near Running Water Draw, reports varied from six to 10 inches, with heavy washing accompanying the deluge.

Jones said cotton and maize didn't seem to be hurt by the water, although washing did cause some loss.

Farmers northeast of Hart, who suffered hail damage in the previous two weeks of bad weather, were still waiting to gauge the effects of the hard rain on newly replanted cotton and sorghum.

Wheat farmers are still waiting for the ground to dry out enough to move combines into fields, as harvesting time approaches.

Washing was heavy along the Draw. Aubrey Smyth, who farms about .5 mile east of FM

168 on the north side of the Draw, reported eight inches of rain.

Water from nearby fields washed out a road at the south end of his fields, and left a hole approximately 40 feet long, 20 feet wide and seven feet deep.

In Hart itself, 6.04 inches of rain was reported during the two day period. Minor flooding resulted at the labor camp housing on the north edge of town, although no damage was reported.

School In Full Swing

Hart's special summer classes are in full swing, with enrollment in reading classes reaching 18 and additional pupils being tutored in high school math.

Carolyn Capp, reading class teacher, said three first grade pupils, one second grader, five third graders, one fourth grader, three fifth graders and five seventh graders had signed up for the lessons.

Several pupils are also receiving special math lessons from Gwen Young, the other special-classes teacher on duty this summer.

Miss Capp said checkouts at the community library were running at a pace of about 30-40 a day.

The library is open from 10 a.m. to noon each Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

Former Hart Man Daddy To 24 Lively Youths In Austin

How would you like to be Daddy to 25 lively teenagers?

There's a young, soft-spoken sociologist named Lee Hacker who, as director of the Austin Settlement Home, has this tremendous job.

And after three years there, he still says it gets more interesting and more challenging every day.

Born in Hart, Hacker was dealing with youth problems before he was out of high school himself. He was a school bus driver and taught a Baptist Sunday school class before he received his Hart High School diploma.

He surrendered for Foreign Missionary work while in the 9th grade and was licensed to preach at a later date, while Rev. G. C. Applewhite was pastor of the Hart Baptist Church. He preached his first sermon in Hart Baptist Church.

He was also active in Scout work.

Most parents of typical teenagers, finding it hard to cope with the younger generation, would feel that a man such as Hacker must be God-endowed and unusual, indeed.

Methodists Slave Day Set

The Methodist Youth Slave Day will be held Saturday from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m. Anyone needing lawns mowed, windows washed and other odd jobs may contact one of the youths.

According to Hacker's 100 bosses--all women, who are members of the sponsoring settlement Club--and the many, many children he has guided over troubled spots, he is, indeed God-endowed and unusual.

Said one of the Austin women, "He has the kindest eyes I have ever seen."

Hacker's overwhelming dedication to his work is visible only in a quiet warmth and a coveted understanding. But he also has an iron will and a purposeful determination. Through these qualities, he receives respect, obedience and love from the boys and girls to whom he unofficial father.

The Settlement Home provides full time residential care for boys and girls of school age who cannot remain in their own homes, for one reason or another.

Such needed care in Austin was the reason for the founding of the Settlement Club nearly a half century ago. Since then, it and the Home has become a pilot project -- due to the success and uniqueness of its volunteer set-up and to the fact that it is one of few such homes that accepts teenagers.

The club is conducting its first fund drive in its history May 19 through June 19, under direction of Mrs. Barney Farmer.

Although seemingly young for such a responsibility, 35-year-old Hacker already has had an extensive education and background in social work. Almost from childhood his activities have pointed toward fitness for such a big job.

Hacker received his B. A. degree from Baylor University, his bachelor of divinity from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary and a master's from the University of Texas School of Social Work.

While studying in post graduate school at Baylor, Hacker and his wife Jerri, a graduate nurse who holds a BS from Baylor, were houseparents for the famous Waco State Home. This was part time work for him, and full time for her.

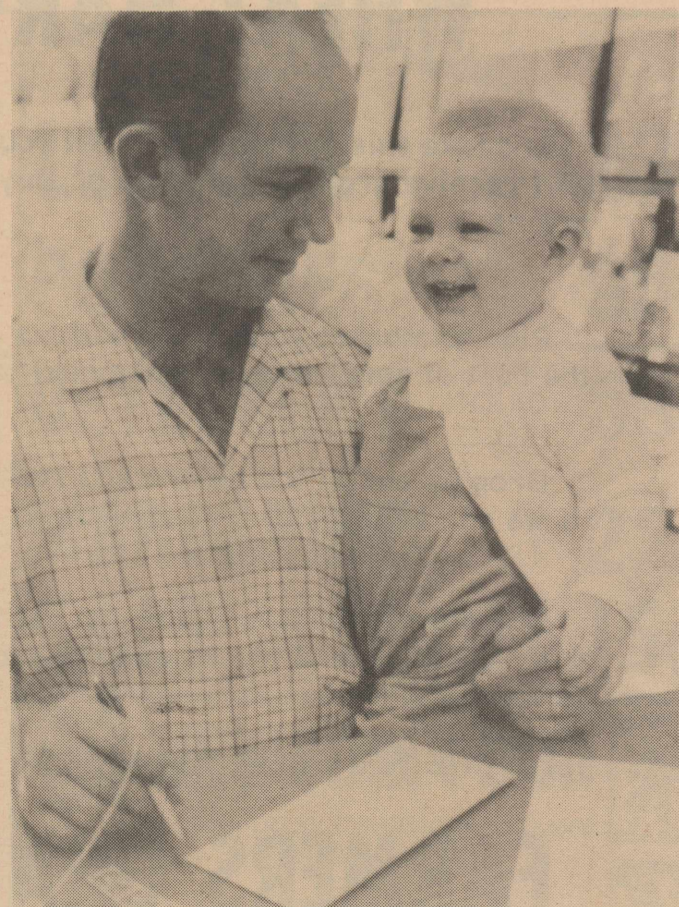

However, he soon found himself elevated to full time administrative work, as liaison officer for converting the educational aspect of the state public school system of Waco.

This involved some 230 students.

In addition, he coordinated activities on the side as manager of the school's farm and dairy, since the Waco State School supports itself in these areas.

Between Baylor and the University of Texas, Hacker spent a year as supervisor of the Mexican Baptist Children's Home in San Antonio. Here he found the children coming to him "with deep emotional problems, that I was not qualified to cope with...."

It was then he decided to return to school for more intensive training. His field work for his masters degree included tenures with the Veterans Administration regional office

LEE HACKER

He has a big job in Austin.

INSURANCE RATES GOING UP

State Board of Insurance Chairman Hunter McLean jolted auto owners with more bad news: their premiums are going up at least 12 per cent.

Board meets officially on June 22 to set rates on basis of experience by areas. However, McLean already had served notice that there is no doubt rising motor accidents will make a stiff rate hike mandatory. There were 13 per cent more accidents last year than in 1963..

Rates dropped 1.2 per cent last year for the total insurance field, but should have gone up, McLean said. Auto liability insurance, although sometimes criticized as high priced, actually has cost companies more than $1,000,000,000 during the last 10 years, he maintained.

ATTEND HOMECOMING

Mrs. Tommie Simpler and Mrs. Miles Cox of Hart have just returned from a trip to Weatherford and Lipan. They attended annual homecoming and also attended Mrs. Cox's high school class reunion.

Johnson-Hill Vows Pledged Saturday

The First Methodist Church of Dimmitt was the scene of the wedding ceremony in which Miss Sandra Elizabeth Johnson of Dimmitt became the bride of Kenneth Dale Hill of Hart. June 12 at 8 p.m.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Johnson, Dimmitt. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Homer Hill of Hart.

The Rev. Norman Bishop of the First Baptist Church of Roosevelt, Okla. officiated at the double-ring ceremony. The altar was decorated with baskets of white chrysanthemums and gladioli and an archway of greenery with candelabra at the sides.

Mrs. James Horton was soloist. Organist was Mrs. Wade Maynard, also of Dimmitt.

Mrs. Glenn Odom, matron of honor, and Vicki Clement, bridesmaid, both wore powder-blue sheaths of crystal peau, featuring rolled cowls and self bows at the front waists. Hats of matching blue net were banded with blue petals. They each carried a single long stemmed gladiolus.

Tammy Hill, the groom's niece, was flower girl. Varletta Crick and Bruce Futrell, nephew of the groom, were candlelighters.

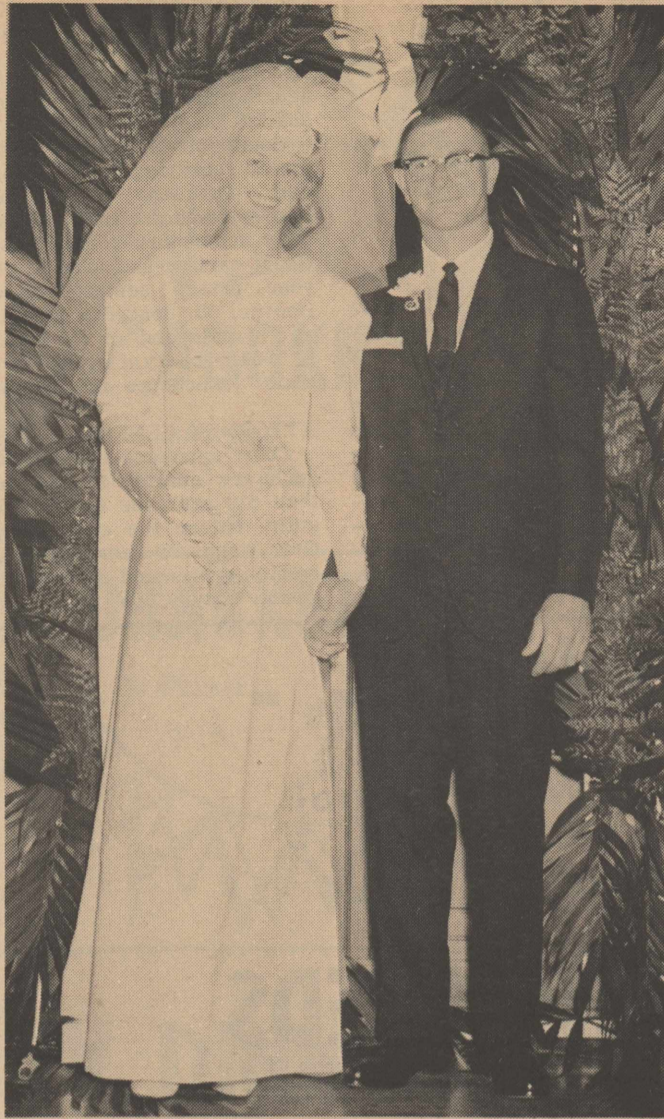

Thurman Clay of Hart was best man, and Weldon Dale Jones of Happy was groomsman. Ushers were Harley Wilke and Joe Johnson, brother of the bride, Jerry Phillips of Kress and Clinton Holman.

The bride wore a white peau de soie gown fashioned by her mother. A-line skirt was joined to a fitted bodice. Long sleeves that tapered over the wrists were trimmed with small self-covered buttons. Panels of peau de soie attached in front to a wide cummerbund and draped over the shoulders extended into a chapel train.

Her waistline veil of illusion fell from a crown of seed pearls and lace. She carried a white Bible topped with a bouquet of white roses surrounding a white orchid.

At the reception, the serving table was draped with white lace over blue. The bridal attendants' flowers formed the centerpiece. A tiered wedding cake of white, etched in blue, and topped with miniature bridal figurines, completed the arrangement. Assisting in serving were Mrs. Donald Sheldon and Hazel Ewing. Mrs. Harley Wilke registered guests.

After June 20, the couple will live in Hart where the groom is engaged in farming.

MR. AND MRS. KENNETH HILL

Mrs. Hill is a graduate of Hart High School and Draughton's Business College in Lubbock. Her husband is also a graduate of Hart High School.

COURTS SPEAK

District Judge Herman Jones of Austin postponed until July 15 final arguments in a major test case over the Railroad Commission's power to require natural gas purchasers to extend pipelines to all producers in a field.

Rio Grande Valley Gas Company appealed a commission order to join its pipeline to a well owned by Russell Maguire of Dallas in West Port Isabel Field

Cameron County. Company maintains there is no procedure to reach agreement on price of gas. Jones, after a three-day hearing, gave attorneys for both sides time to file more briefs.

Supreme Court will hear the case involving authority of Rice University trustees to disregard racial and tuition restrictions imposed by the institution's founder, William Marsh Rice, in 1891.

Supreme Court refused to consider an appeal by 39 ex-employees of a Weslaco television station, formerly owned by President Johnson's family, seeking payment from a profit sharing plan.

Court of Criminal Appeals denied rehearing sought by former Pasadena Mayor Sam Hoover convicted as an accomplice in a torture-robbery case. Court earlier had upheld a 60-year prison sentence given Hoover, 55, described in trial as "mastermind" of the March 11, 1964, robbery of Mr. and Mrs. Mair J. Schepps in Houston.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES

Court-appointed defense lawyers are entitled to no more than $10 per case on pleas of guilty before the court, Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr held in an opinion requested by Waller County Atty. C. W. Karisch of Hempstead. Carr said $25 a day payments were allowed only where cases go to actual trial.

Bread is bread, no matter what the baker labels it, and a loaf must weigh at least one pound, Carr told Agriculture Commissioner John C. White. White had asked if elimination of the word "bread" on labels and substitution of such phrases as "party slices", "rye slices" or similar terms exempt a product from standard requirements.

COTTON CONFERENCE

Agriculture Commissioner White is planning state conferences on the national cotton program for 1966.

White says cotton still is the No. 1 state crop and drastic cutbacks could hurt the agricultural economy. He points out that cotton production put $800,000,000 a year in the pockets of growers and that the industry generates jobs and economic activity amounting to $5,600,000,000 a year in Texas.

TEENAGE JOBS SAFE

Liquor Control Board Administrator Coke Stevenson has clarified his two "administrative interpretation" bulletins which cautioned against hiring minors to work "on or about licensed premises." Stevenson says teenage workers will not lose their jobs if the stores comply with normal regulations.

He added that the bulletins from his office were meant to remind holder of beer, wine, and liquor permits that they must separate a portion of their store by a guard rail and place an adult in charge of a check-out counter used for purchase of alcoholic beverages.

WEST VIRGINIA

Gene Allsup is selling religious books this summer in Keyser, W. Va. He is working with the Southwestern Company out of Nashville, Tenn. He will be in West Virginia until the first week in September. Eddie Allsup is working with the ASC office in Dimmitt. Gene and Eddie are sons of Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt Allsup.

Palo Duro Theater Opens

A "first of its kind" theater for the Panhandle opened today in Palo Duro Canyon near Amarillo.

Pioneer Amphitheatre, built into the side of the canyon, was built through a joint effort of Canyon area residents and the State. It was designed to accommodate large casts to portray the history of the area.

The first production to be shown in the amphitheatre will be "Thundering Sounds of the West," described by show promoters as "a show in life, light and sound."

The show will trace the development of the area from its beginning beneath the bottom of the sea more than 40,000,000 years ago, through its gradual change to swamp, until it reached its present form.

The second part of the show will trace the exploration of the area from the first Indian occupation, through Spanish exploration and into settlement by early ranchers.

The Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation conceived the idea for the theater and received guidance and advice from playwright Paul Green, who's speciality is writing outdoor spectacle dramas.

The theater will remain open each day except Tuesday during the summer, closing Sept. 6.

Tower Introduces Bill Placing Bracero Under State Control

BY SEN. JOHN TOWER

This week, on Monday, I introduced in the Senate a measure that removes from the Secretary of Labor jurisdiction in determining when a state needs foreign agricultural workers.

My bill would place that responsibility with the state agency having primary concern with agricultural policies. In our State this would be the State Commissioner of Agriculture.

The bracero program, under which Texas farmers, ranchers and consumers benefited for many years, was not renewed this year. Last year more than 200,000 foreign workers, most of them from our good neighbor Mexico, entered the United States to help harvest crops.

This year only about 1,500 have been allowed to enter. The results are well known.

In California, for instance, valuable crops of strawberries were plowed under because of the labor shortage. Prices to consumers on many farm produce items have almost doubled, but the added money did not go to farmers. Rather, the added cost reflects, in many instances, additional labor costs.

In 1950, of each $312 spent on food by the average American, our farmers received $132. In 1964, on the other hand, the spread had grown, according to the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives, to such an extent that for every $417 spent on food by the average American, the farmer received only $133. And apparently the trend is continuing.

The Texas Employment Commission bulletin for the Brownsville, Harlingen, and San Benito area, and for Starr and Hidalgo counties, indicates that "the possibility of a farm labor shortage exists for harvesting spring vegetables." As all Texans know this is a region of heavy agricultural production and a farm labor shortage here will hurt consumers far and wide.

I do not believe there is a single Texas farmer who would employ alien workers rather than domestic workers if those domestic workers were available for employment. But if they are not available, I do not believe we ought to allow crops to rot in the fields with the resultant price increase to consumers, just because the wheels of the federal bureaucracy move so slowly.

In a recent exchange of letters, Secretary of Labor Wirtz assured me he is working with the Texas Employment Commission to "meet the labor needs of Texas growers."

JUST ANOTHER FISH TALE--This is not quite the case, since the fisherman is trying to hook one from what is normally a dry hole. Heavy rain from Wednesday and Thursday's thunderstorm caused local lakes to fill to overflowing in many areas.

Hacker's suggestion to parents on how to solve the gigantic problems before their teenagers nowadays begins with them, the parents.

He says, "We, as parents, need to establish a vital line of communication early with our children....and then establish firm lines of discipline. With the fast moving world of today, there is no homelife. TV has destroyed communications between the parents and the children and there are too many social activities that take the youngsters away from home."

The main object at the Settlement Home, through counseling with children and parents via Hacker and a professional psychiatrist, is to remedy situations so that the children can return to their own homes and live good lives.

"I do not believe that the government, on any level, the courts or a special home should take the responsibility of raising a child unless it is absolutely necessary."

When Hacker is through with the problems and his life as father to 25 children at the Settlement Home, he goes to his private home where he is daddy to a son, Brad, 5 1/2, and a daughter, Robin, two months. Mr. and Mrs. Hacker have adopted both their youngsters.

Fortunately, Mrs. Hacker, with her background and experiences, understands her husband's responsibilities and dedication to his work. His official office hours at the Home are six days a week, eight to five. However, he is on 24-hour call, and as he says, "Many problems do not come between eight and five. They may come at one o'clock in the morning."

There are two very capable housemothers at the Home, Mrs. Fayrene Rampy for the boys, and Mrs. Frances Young for the girls. They live at the home and supervise many activities.

But the man of the house is the one to whom all look for help, advice and consent. To some of the children, he's virtually a father, to others he's a pal, to some he's a tough disciplinarian and to all he's a staunch friend on whom they can rely at any time.

Says Hacker, "Our children are our most valuable products. We feel that we must salvage this younger generation for tomorrow."

He adds that, "We do get disappointments at the Home, and discouraged at times, but we know that persons can and will change, if given proper guidance and an opportunity. That is the reason for our being here."

The most rewarding thing for him, he thinks, is to see the change in a child that comes into the home, a change in which the child, on his own, demonstrates a growth in understanding and a will to do the right.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

AUSTIN--Number of registered voters in Texas dropped nearly a million from last year's record breaking number, according to figures released by Comptroller Robert S. Calvert.

Most of the decrease apparently came in the 50,000 to 150,000 cities, with the largest metropolitan areas and the rural counties holding fairly steady. Number of issued poll tax receipts and exemptions dropped from 2,892,670 for voting in the 1964 presidential elections to 1,970,381 for this off-year.

The five most populous counties--Harris, Dallas, Bexar, Tarrant, and El Paso--actually increased their percentage of the registered vote by three points. They hold 44 percent of this year's poll tax receipts.

However, this is not a specific indicator of their dominance over rural areas, since in cities of less than 10,000 elderly voters do not have to claim their exemption.

This year only 3,314 signed up for "free" poll tax receipts qualifying them to vote in elections for federal officials. But there are no federal elections slated for ballots this year. A total of 84,297 of these "poll tax -not paid" certificates were issued in 1964, first year they were available for presidential, vice-presidential and congressional balloting.

As voting dates for constitutional amendments near, it is apparent that most Texans of voting age will be able to do no more than look and hope, for lack of a poll tax receipt.
