Girls State Trip Was Meaningful

BY RENE BROOKS

From the minute I arrived at Girls' State until the time I departed there, I experienced the most meaningful period of my life.

It was one of learning, caring, and of fully realizing my role as a citizen of Texas and of the United States.

I arrived at Girls' State Wednesday morning June 16, by way of the Panhandle Charter Bus. Our bus was welcomed with a song by the Junior Counselors.

After registering and placing our money in the Girls' State Banks, we were taken to our designated cities. (Prior to our arrival, we had been placed in cities, parties and House or Senate.)

I was a member of the House of Representatives. I was to stay in room 2 with three other girls. One of the girls was Joanne de la Barrera, one of two participating observers at the meeting.

There were 52 girls in my city. Our city immediately began to make posters and signs naming the various sections of our city.

My city was called Bunny-club, therefore the dining room was called the "Carrot Patch" the living room the "Cotton-tail Lounge" and one of the restrooms was named the "Lettuce Inn."

Before dinner that evening, I took a trip over the Senate room where we were given a brief explanation of the Senate and House activities. Of course, it was like "greek" to me, but they assured us that we would catch on.

At our opening General Assembly, we were introduced to all the Senior and Junior Counselors and given an outline of activities. We were given our rules and regulations and I must admit that most of them were don'ts instead of do's.

We then adjourned to our counties which were made up of two cities. We were to name our counties and since cities "A" and "B" consisted of one county, our motto was "Be Alert", therefore our county was named "Lert"

Our schedules were very tight and well organized. Reveille

Council OK's Audit

Hart City Council members approved an audit report on city finances and heard representatives of West Texas Telephone Co. discuss an increase in telephone rates for the city during a meeting Tuesday night.

Officials requested the increase in order to improve service in the town.

Council members took the request under advisement to study until the next council meeting.

was at 7 a.m., flag raising and exercise at 7:30, breakfast at 7:45, clean-up time at 8:15 and the day's activities began in full swing at 9 a.m.

For the first three days, we attended informative assemblies and meetings where we were lectured on city, county, and state government.

The House and Senate were organized, city officials were elected, and precinct, county, and state party meetings were called. The State Party platforms were outlined and there was a discussion regarding ways to make sure that the National Party, of which I was a member, came out on top at Girls' State.

The best way to describe the activities would be to simply say that it was a miniature government in action. Bills and resolutions were written and presented in the House and Senate.

They were debated on and voted on as in real life. There was no playing in the Senate or House; it was for real. Two of the most hotly debated bills was one on Communism and another on Women's Rights.

We also took our oath of office just as it is really performed in real life.

The remaining days were spent in functioning of our offices and preparing debates for bills brought before the House.

On Tuesday night, Marilyn VanDever, Miss America of 1958 was our speaker. The State Officials had their pictures taken with her and met her personally. She is a beautiful and charming person.

On Thursday we were taken to Barton Springs to swim and sun. That night we also had parties in our cities. This was the only real time we had for recreation, but I think I can safely say it was missed by none.

On Friday morning, we had the final assembly at which all of the Girls' State Citizens were given certificates of achievement.

The State Officials were given badges and certificates. Seven outstanding citizens were presented to the assembly. The girls were voted on at two different times during our stay.

Two girls and our director, Miss Frances Goff, were selected to attend Girls' Nation in Washington. The girls were Judy Matthews of Midland and Janice Salzmon of Houston.

It was a time of crying, tears and fond farewells as we prepared to leave.

There is no way to explain to each and every one of you how I or the others felt about Girls' State. It is something you feel within yourself. It is an abrupt awakening of our responsibilities as citizens.

I would like to sincerely thank the Hart American Legion Auxiliary for making my trip possible.

A Hart area woman was rushed to Memorial Hospital in Dimmitt by her husband Sunday afternoon, suffering from burns received in a freak accident at their farm home.

Mrs. Ronnie Farris was knocked unconscious when lightning traveled through the telephone on which she was talking. She received burns on her arm, chest and back, and injury to one ear.

She was kept overnight in the hospital and released Monday. She was reported to be feeling better, although still suffering some pain in her ear.
