

Amerson Cuts First Grain

L. D. Amerson picked up the bonus money Saturday afternoon when he delivered the first load of milo in Hart to the Hart Grain Co.

Amerson, who lives east of Olton, farms four miles east of Hart.

Hart Grain Co. manager Wister Clevenger paid Amerson $2.50 a hundred for the 16,900 pound load, more than $100 in bonus payment.

Variety of the maize was Northrup King 310, and the grain was planted in mid-April.

First-of-the-year milo was almost one week earlier than last year, when Cleve McLain brought in the first load on Sept. 2.

Mrs. William D. Bell, a farmer's wife who lives in Hart decided to get a college degree.

Little did she know that after enlisting her youngest son, Ralph Ed in his first year in elementary school, then requesting and receiving the opportunity of taking an entrance exam at Wayland College that her dream would ever materialize into a true reality.

It did.

College was not new to Mrs. Bell, because she had attended Eastern New Mexico University. However on Aug. 18, 1965, President Roy C. McClung addressed the small class of August graduates from Wayland College with a most inspiring challenge for the future endeavors of each member graduating.

Dean Robert G. Collmer read the names of the graduating class and described each member's major. After the exams were procured, the Diploma and Teachers Certificates were received.

Commuting 30 miles each way to Plainview and back to Hart was a beneficial challenge each day. It just so happened that Mrs. Bell was never late for a class that she attended in any subject during her educational career at Wayland whether it was a 7:45 a.m. class or a 1:00 p.m. class. Since this is the end of the journey to there and back, she can also say that never did she have a flat on her Impala Chevrolet. Her husband, William D. Bell can have the credit for that and many other benefits necessary to the cause.

The family of Mrs. Bell consists of her husband, a son, Billy Bob, who is a senior in high school, and a son in the seventh grade, Ralph Ed.

Her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Drake, live in Portales, N.M.

During the years of progressing through college, Mrs. Bell has taught the fourth grade in Hart Elementary School, and loves every minute of her chosen occupation.

Activities Mrs. Bell is active in include Spiritual Life Leader in the Wesleyan Service Guild and Communion Steward in the Methodist Church.

NUMBER 8

A COUPLE OF COOL CUSTOMERS—Kathy Kennedy and Jimmy Kennedy are really seeking warm customers seeking to become cool as they operate their snow cone stand after school. Kathy, 11, and Jimmy, 8, children of Mr. and Mrs. James Kennedy, started the stand in July, and earned enough from two months profit to buy each of them a bicycle, spending money for a vacation and some school clothes. During summer months, the two kept the stand open until 7 p.m., but since school started, the youngsters are operating on a shorter workday to take care of home work.

Longhorn Football Roster Is Boosted

Things are looking up somewhat for head football coach Jeff Smart as Hart High School footballers began practice in earnest this week.

First game for the Longhorns is still a week away, but a scrimmage with powerful Jayton is on tap at 4 p.m. Friday.

Seven new players boosted the Hart roster to 20 players on the field Tuesday, and more were expected to be back out as school progressed.

Four sophomores and three freshmen added their name to the roster as practice continued toward the first game with Silverton Sept. 10.

Seventeen players were present for first workouts two weeks ago, and the number dropped to a low of 12 last week before school started. But the number rose along with Longhorn hopes the first day of school.

Senior fullback David Smith, a 165-pound two-year letterman was feared to have been lost due to a back injury before the season began, but now is in good shape, according to Coach Sharp.

All eight lettermen eligible to return are suited up, and if the injury bug doesn't start taking its toll again this year, the Longhorns should be in good shape for the first contest.

Returning lettermen on the squad include five seniors. They are Larry Huston, 174-pound tackle with one varsity year of experience; Doug Martin, 135-pound quarterback, also with one year; Billy Bell, 165-pound tackle, one year; Smith, 175-pound fullback with two varsity letters, and Larry McKay, 160-pound end with three years experience.

George Bennett, 150-pound end with two letters is the lone returning junior letterman.

W. A. Hawkins III, 120-pound halfback, and David A. Harris, 165-pound center, are the two sophomore lettermen returning.

Larry Parker, 125-pound end is the lone new junior reporting.

New sophomores on the squad include Larry Henderson, 140-pound tackle; Bennie Martinez, 127-pound end; Danny Rice, 100-pound halfback and Coy Ethridge, 120-pound fullback.

Freshmen on the team include Randy Alford, 234-pound tackle; Gary Cole, 145-pound center; Gary Rambo, 100-pound quarterback; Oscar Morales, 123-pound guard; Joe Quiroz, 116-pound halfback; Bob Waide, 105-pound end, and Richard Murray 116-pound guard.

Season tickets to all Longhorn athletic events are still on sale at the superintendent's office or the business office until Sept. 10.

Tickets are $10 each and are non-transferable. A ticket entitles the holder to attend all athletic events for the 1965-66 school year.

$200 Taken In Robbery Here

Castro County Sheriff Department officers are still looking for a Latin American man wanted after a noon robbery at S&S Tire Co. in Hart Monday.

He was picked up shortly after the robbery, but was released when a complaint was not filed soon enough after the robbery.

Owners of the tire store, H. H. Sullivan and C. W. Seago, said they were outside of the store about 11:45 a.m., when they heard a noise in the office part of the building.

When they investigated, they found the now-missing man inside. When questioned, they said the man told them he was looking for a tire. But then they said he broke and ran from the building.

Another Latin reported the man asked him to take him to Nazareth, but refused.

Deputy Sheriff Granville Martin was notified and picked the man up at the north city limits about 1:15 p.m.

He was taken to Dimmitt, where he was subsequently released. Owners of the store said they didn't know they had to file the complaint so quickly and sheriff department officers said they had no choice but to release the man.

Approximately $200 was taken in the robbery, but Sullivan said most of the loss was in checks, with approximately $40 to $50 in cash missing.

Officers said the man carried no identification when picked up and although given a name by the man, assumed it was false.

COTTON TALKS

LUBBOCK—The U. S. Department of Agriculture has no monopoly on farm program which seek to correct surpluses by paying farmers to reduce acreage. Nor is the U. S. the only country to find that such programs sometimes backfire.

Suggestive of the USDA's efforts to reduce cotton production in recent years is the Brazilian government's program to limit coffee production. The government agency that controls the marketing of Brazilian coffee and supports prices to coffee producers set out two and a half years ago to bring production into line with domestic and export demand. So, they began paying coffee producers to eradicate coffee trees.

And some coffee farmers cooperated. The number of coffee trees eradicated since June 1962 is reported to be at least one billion.

But, the current Brazilian coffee crop is estimated at 32 million bags, 13 percent above the 1956-60 average. Domestic consumption and exports are expected to total 24 million bags—leaving a net increase in Brazil's surplus stocks of at least 8 million bags!

Seems they forgot to include restrictions on coffee planting by producers not participating in government program.

There is broad agreement that the build-up of the cotton surplus in this country to over 14 million bales in the last few years has been the result of low exports. And by the same token, increasing our sale of cotton to foreign countries is the most often proposed solution to the cotton carryover problem. In view of this, a recent address made in Lubbock by Read Dunn, director of foreign trade for the National Cotton Council, is of more than passing interest. Dunn's own summary of the address follows.

"To expand U. S. cotton exports two things must be done: (1) Our cotton must be more competitive with other cotton, and (2) Cotton's share of the total textile market must be improved.

"As to the first, the competition from foreign cotton, we must find a way to fold the price umbrella that the U. S. has been holding over the rest of the world all these years which has enabled the foreign producers to market all they produce for export at just a few points below our price.

"The export surplus of foreign cotton, as we indicated, is not very large in relation to total fiber demand. In recent years, it has been building up at the rate of a quarter of a million bales a year. But the trend has been so constant. The cumulative effect is considerable.

"This is primarily price competition and a solution will require the U. S. to be more competitive in price. This may not be too difficult to achieve.

"As indicated earlier, the expansion in foreign production currently is coming mainly through yield improvements. That is being done primarily with more irrigation, better insect control, more fertilization, and improved cultural practices. All these are expensive—generally, these costs are greater than in the United States. In fact, the main advantage the foreign countries have on the U. S. in cotton production is lower labor costs, and everywhere the labor component is decreasing.

"Many producing areas of the world are already marginal. Just last week, I read a U. S. Government report from Central America, stating the crop in El Salvador was expected to decline 20 percent. The reason given was the unremunerative price. I'm sure that situation can be repeated many places. This aspect of the problem is certainly not hopeless.

"The other part of the problem—keeping cotton's share in the total textile market—is a bigger problem, and more complicated. It is also quite a different problem. In this problem, price is a secondary factor in all areas except the rayon. The competition is largely quality and promotion.

"On the quality side, the greatest inroads have come from the easy-care properties of the synthetics—easy to wash, easy to dry, easy to keep pressed, and wrinkle free. Cotton has a good fighting chance in this area. Through research, cotton has made great strides in easy washing and drying and has retained most of cotton's great advantage of comfort as well. We know further research can produce further improvements.

"I am wearing today a new permanent crease, wrinkle-resistant, all-cotton seersucker suit that just came out of the laboratory last Friday. It looks very promising.

"The biggest gains by the synthetics have come through promotion. They have stimulated consumer demand not only to expand the volume, but to support a higher price. Increased sales at high unit prices have enabled everybody in the chain—the producer, manufacturer, and retailer—to sell more at a higher price and a larger unit profit.

"There is no monopoly on this technique. Cotton can do the same.

"We have been trying to do the same thing with the Cotton Council International in Europe and Japan. We are convinced that we are on the right track. We have tested and proved promotion techniques.

"I think we have definitely helped hold back the invasion by the synthetics. We just haven't had the strength to stop it. We have been tremendously outnumbered.

"We are absolutely sure from these years of experience that cotton's position in the total textile market can be improved, and we feel sure we know how to do it. But we must greatly increase the resources to do it.

"Up to now, the United States has been trying singlehandedly to hold back synthetic invasion around the world. All the cotton producers have been benefiting, but we have been the only ones paying. We are about to get some help.

"Last Friday, I attended the final session of the drafting committee which is putting the touches on the charter and organization of the principal cotton exporting countries to carry out more intensive research and promotion for cotton internationally. This is a joint effort to hold back this synthetic invasion. Countries accounting for about two-thirds of the free world's exports have tentatively agreed to put up a dollar a bale on their exports to Europe and Japan to get this effort started. We are hopeful others will join later. It is expected trade and industry in the consuming countries will come in to help at least to the same extent.

"We have the possibility in the near future of a total program initially of 10 to 12 million dollars—that's five times the size of the present CCI program. We should be able to build on that.

"Incidentally, the U. S. expects to finance its share through PL-480, just as at present. Most of the additional money will come from the other countries which have been benefiting but not paying up to now.

"With such a concerted effort cotton's position in the world market should certainly improve. The world market for cotton should grow.

"A bigger world market for cotton will certainly improve the opportunity for U. S. cotton exports.

"Improvements in the U. S. price program will enable U. S. cotton to be more competitive and able to take advantage of the opportunity."

Miss Becky Osborn of Lovington, N.M. and Jimmy Murphy, brother of the bride, lit the one large wedding candle and the two smaller tapers at the white satin covered table in front of the couple and the pew candles outlining each aisle and decorated in English ivy and tangerine-apricot satin bows.

The bridal gown was of empire design with a bodice of metallic brocade of white and silver. The scalloped neck and full-length pointed sleeves were trimmed with white seed pearls. The slightly pleated skirt was of white slipper satin, with a detachable cathedral train trimmed in metallic brocade and seed pearls. The bride's bouquet was a triangular orchid, stephanotis, and lily-of-the-valley arrangement with a white cattleya orchid with yellow throat in the center. Streamers of white satin picot ribbons with lovers; knots holding lily-of-the-valley fell from the background of white laceron.

New Texans Must Obtain New Licenses

AUSTIN—Most new residents of Texas are required to buy new vehicle registration plates for their automobiles as soon as they establish residence in Texas. The same is true of those who accept gainful employment in the State.

Actually, Texas observes a reciprocal passenger car registration agreement with all other states. Fourteen States permit non-residents to obtain new license plates at varying periods after they establish residence or obtain gainful employment. All other States demand immediate purchase of new plates, and—in observance of the reciprocal agreement—so does Texas.

R. W. Townsley, director of the Texas Highway Department, Motor Vehicle Division, has reminded all law enforcement agencies in the State of the reciprocal licensing agreements. "Enforcement of out of State license plate agreements is very important to law enforcement since a current license plate, in addition to providing revenue to build and maintain roads, serves to identify a vehicle with its owner," Townsley said. He pointed out that varying "grace periods" are allowed new residents moving to Texas from these states:

- 30-days — Alabama, Colorado, Georgia, Mississippi, Ohio, Tennessee, West Virginia and Wisconsin.
- 60-days — Virginia, Wyoming
- Six months— Connecticut, Minnesota.
- On the next December 31— California, Kansas.
- New residents from all other or as soon as they accept a job in the Lone Star State. The only exception are daily commuters from bordering States. States must obtain license plates as soon as they move to Texas, who need not re-license their vehicles though they may work in Texas.

Non-residents in Texas as visitors or students and not engaged in gainful employment may operate on Texas highways with their current home state license plates. However, such plates must be renewed prior to the non-resident's home state enforcement date or Texas plates must be purchased.

KITCHEN KORNER

BY LELA GALLION

School days again, this always seems to bring a change in our menu planning since there are so many school activities and ball games we like to attend.

A meal we can fix in a hurry and yet give our families a complete meal is a problem. Here is a meal-in-one Swiss Steak recipe that is both easy and fast.

QUICK SWISS STEAK
2 lbs. round steak (cut pan-frying thickness)
1 can cooked whole carrots
1 can whole new potatoes
1 No. 303 can tomato juice
1 small onion (chopped)

Score and flour steak, brown well on both sides, add the other four ingredients and simmer until done. This is cooked in a large skillet or dutch oven on top of the stove in about 30 to 40 minutes.

Of course this same recipe is better if you use thicker steak and fresh vegetables and cook in the oven but as I have said this is a real quicky.

ORANGE PHILLY PIE

Crust—
Slice and Bake Cookies, plain.

Grease and sugar lightly the sides, edge and bottom of a nine inch pie pan, cut the cookie dough to 1/4 inch slices, overlap slices around edge of pan to form a scalloped edge, line bottom with more slices using 1/2 roll of cookie dough for each crust. Bake 6 to 8 minutes at 375 degrees.

ORANGE FILLING
3 ounce pkg. orange jello
1 1/2 c. hot water
1/4 c. sugar
8 ounce pkg. cream cheese
1/4 c. orange juice
1 Tbsp. lemon juice

Dissolve orange jello in hot water, blend together sugar and softened cream cheese, gradually blend in Jello, orange juice and lemon juice. Chill until almost firm then whip until fluffy and pour into cooled crust and sprinkle with grated orange rind. Chill until firm.

People don't want to know your troubles. Half of them don't give a care; the other half are glad of it.

Grease spots are easily removed from plain colored cottons if wet with liquid shampoo before washing.

Area To Vote Tuesday On Senatorial Districts

Texas voters will go to the polls Tuesday to vote on a constitutional amendment of great importance to the people in rural areas and small and medium size towns of the State.

The amendment up for approval is Senate Joint Resolution 44 that will permit the State Legislature to increase the membership in the State Senate from 31 to 39, and thereby avert the possibility of decreasing the voice of rural Texans in State government affairs.

Unless the amendment is approved at the election, the remaining alternate will be the adoption of another re-districting plan which would take away voting strength in most of the small and medium-populated counties of Texas and add to the voting strength of urban areas. Under this plan, Houston would have three additional State senators, Dallas two and San Antonio one. This would be accomplished by expanding the senatorial districts in sparsely populated areas.

By adding eight new senate positions (increasing the Senate membership to 39), such as proposed in the amendment to be voted on Sept. 7, equitable reapportionment, as ordered by the U. S. Supreme Court, can Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler has announced that 531,000 acres will be offered at the third oil and gas lease sale of 1965 on October 5 in the General Land Office.

ONE YEAR AGO IN HART

After three days of school, enrollment in the Hart Schools stands at 589 pupils — 404 in elementary and 185 in junior and senior high school. Superintendent Paul Kennedy, in releasing the figures, said that final enrollment should easily top 600 by the time peak enrollment is reached in late October.

Hart's first load of grain of the year was delivered Tuesday at 5:15 by Cleve McLain, who farms south of Hart. He delivered the 13,360 pound load to Farmers Grain Co. The milo tested 16.0 per cent moisture.

Skating will start in Hart Saturday night in the elementary school gym.

Hart School superintendent Paul Kennedy has announced that an open house has been set this Sunday so that area residents may have a chance to see for themselves what the new high school building is like. The new building, designed to accommodate a maximum of 450 students, will be occupied for the first time by an expected 250 junior and senior high school pupils the day after the open house.

Three Years Ago In Hart

A federal grant for construction of a sewage treatment plant, sewer pump station and force main for the City of Hart has been approved by the U. S. Public Health Service. City bonds for the project were approved by voters in an election last September, and have been sold said Mayor Harris.

Hart school administrators and teachers were busy at work this week mapping plans for the school year and getting ready for the big day, Monday, when school opens. Teachers reported for in-service training Monday. They will draft handbooks for students throughout the year so that each child will have one to take home.

Coaches Dub Cleveland and Eddie Nicholson made some changes this week in an effort to come up with a starting eleven as the Hart Longhorns continued practice sessions.

PRODUCERS WINNING

Battle of the Boll Weevil!

BOLL WEEVIL CAN BE BEAT

The efficiency and effectiveness of the 1964 weevil control program, together with the continued support of producers, strongly points toward a complete High Plains victory over this most dreaded and costly of all cotton insects.

20% LESS REQUESTED FOR WAR CHEST

Economies effected in the first year's spraying, plus the fact that over 97% of producers helped finance it, made possible a substantial carryover of funds from 1964 to be used in 1965. This in turn has made it possible to reduce the requested producer contribution in 1965 from 50 cents to 40 cents a bale. And there is hope this can be further reduced in 1966.

The following is a financial report from the Boll Weevil Steering Committee of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. to those who are so wisely investing in this vital program:
