Council OK's Water Rulings

Water deposit in Hart has been raised from $10 to $12 after the motion was approved by city council members in a session last week.

In other action, bids were taken on proposed sewer extension, a city speed limit was set and a new water bill ruling was approved.

A vote passed that if water bills are not paid by the 10th of each month, water service will be discontinued. This new ruling goes into effect July 1.

Members received three bids on the proposed sewer extension with Luther Vaughn of Shallowater presenting low bid of $1,639.30

A motion carried to pass a city ordinance setting speed limit at 30 miles per hour unless other wise posted in the city limits and to prohibit excessive noise on all motor vehicles.

Mind Your Whiskers!

Membership buttons in Castro County's Diamond Jubilee Brothers of the Brush are on sale at Farmers State Bank in Hart.

Any resident of Castro County growing a beard must have a Brothers of the Brush button in order to participate in the functions of the Diamond Jubilee celebration, Aug. 11-20

Shaving permits are also available for the men of the county who wish to remain clean shaven and still take part in the celebration.

Celebration bonnets, hats, ties, peddler's permits and ladies dresses are also being sold.

These same items are available at the Jubilee headquarters at 107 North Broadway in Dimmitt.

20 Enrolled In Head Start

Head Start in Hart now has 20 non-English speaking boys and girls enrolled in the program.

Mrs. Mary Clay is teacher with Mrs. C. M. Flores as aide.

School officials report that most of the students are now able to speak to the teacher in English and can say the Pledge, sing songs and count to 10.

Children were recently taken to Dimmitt for a dental checkup.

All residents are invited to visit the classes which start at 8 a. m.

Jerry Smith Attends Austin Boys State

Jerry Smith returned to Hart Saturday June 18 after spending a week at Austin attending Boys State. He left Amarillo at 4 a. m. Saturday June 11 and arrived in Austin at 3 p. m. the same day.

After assembling, the groups were divided into "cities". There were about 50 boys in each city, 15 cities, 7 counties and 3 districts.

Two parties were organized- the Longhorns and the Pioneers. Jerry was a member of the Longhorn Party.

Each day began with calisthenics at 5:15 a. m., followed by breakfast at 6 and party meetings at 8. The party meetings were held until about 11 a. m. at which time lunch was served.

The afternoons were mostly for recreation. At 4:14 everyone assembled to lower the United States Flag and the State Flag of Texas.

Dinner was served at 5 p. m. and after evening meetings the boys assembled in the main auditorium for general assembly and a speech given by an important dignitary.

For the past six years the Pioneer Party has dominated the majority of the official office. This year however, the Longhorn party united and drew up a very good platform.

The week was climaxed Friday by a visit to the State Capitol and the Governor's Ball that night.

Jerry stated that he "was very thankful to the American Legion for sponsoring the program, and to the Hart Post for giving me the opportunity to attend one of America's largest youth organizations."

He also said he enjoyed the trip very much and was "glad to get home."

SIREN BLASTS

When the siren blows, do you know what it means?

Since there has apparently been some confusion as to the different blasts, they are repeated here:

FIRE MEETING—two blasts.

FIRE—four or more blasts.

TORNADO ALERT (one in area)—three blasts.

TORNADO (coming directly here)—one blast.

Our Independence Day

On July 4, 1776, Congress adopted the Declaration of Independence.

This coming Monday, July 4, 1966, most citizens are aware of the meaning of the day.

But have you every wondered what happened to those men who signed the Declaration of Independence?

Five signers were captured by the British as traitors and tortured before they died. Twelve had their homes ransacked and burned. Two lost their sons in the Revolutionary Army, another had two sons captured. Nine of the 56 fought and died from wounds or hardships of the Revolutionary War.

What kind of men were they? Twenty-four were lawyers and jurists. Eleven were merchants, nine were farmers and large plantation owners, men of means, well educated.

But they signed the Declaration of Independence knowing full well that the penalty would be death if they were captured.

They signed and they pledged their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honor.

Carter Braxton of Virginia, a wealthy planter and trader, saw his ships swept from the seas by the British navy. He sold his home and properties to pay his debts and died in rags.

Thomas McKeam was so hounded by the British that he was forced to move his family almost constantly. He served in the Congress without pay and his family was kept in hiding. His possessions were taken from him and poverty was his reward.

Vandals or soldiers or both looted the properties of Ellery, Clymer, Hall, Walton, Gwinnett, Heyward, Rutledge and Middleton.

At the Battle of Yorktown, Thomas Nelson Jr. noted that the British General Cornwallis has taken over the Nelson home for his headquarters. The owner quietly urged General George Washington to open fire, which was done. The home was destroyed and Nelson died bankrupt.

Francis Lewis had his home and properties destroyed. The enemy jailed his wife and she died within a few months.

John Hart was driven from his wife's bedside as she was dying. Their 13 children fled for their lives. His fields and his grist mill were laid waste. For more than a year he lived in forests and caves, returning home after the war to find his wife dead, his children vanished. A few weeks later he died from exhaustion and a broken heart.

Norris and Livingston suffered similar fates.

Such were the stories and sacrifices of the American Revolution.

These were not wild-eyed, rabble-rousing ruffians. They were soft-spoken men of means and education. They had security, but they valued liberty more. Standing tall, straight and unwavering, they pledged:

"For the support of this declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of the Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other, our lives, our fortunes and our sacred honor."

They gave us an independent America. Can we keep it?

IT HAPPENED IN HART.....

ONE YEAR AGO

Hart City Council members approved an audit report on city finances and heard representatives of West Texas Telephone Co. discuss an increase in telephone rates for the city during a meeting Tuesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hendrix celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday at their home in Hart.

In a letter to the Hart Beat about the trip to Girls' State, Rene Brooks stated that it was the most meaningful period of her life, and expressed her thanks to the Hart American Legion Auxiliary for making the trip possible.

THREE YEARS AGO

An examination for Postmaster at Hart will open for acceptance of applications until July 9, the U. S. Civil Service Commission announced this week.

Mayor Ed Harris this week asked residents of Hart to "conserve all the water possible during this critical time." The mayor said some residents had been without water for a time earlier this week and that many others had low water pressure.

Lloyd Davis is on crutches as a result of an accident in which a horse fell on him.

Methodist Revival Set

First Methodist Church, Hart, has set the summer revival date for Aug 7-12.

The Reverend and Mrs. Rex L. Mauldin, pastor, First Methodist Church, Hale Center, will be the evangelists for the meeting.

More information and plans will be released at a later date.

How Are Your Picnic Manners?

This is the season for outdoor living. Are you and your family enjoying the wonders of nature by picnicking, camping or motoring?

If we act like responsible Texans, all of us will be able to enjoy the natural beauty of our state, says Miss Lucille Moore, Extension recreation specialist at Texas A&M University. Our parks, forests and roadsides are our vacation outdoor living rooms. If some of us are careless, all vacationers will suffer, adds the specialist.

Careless vacationers destroy our forests by fires and pollute streams and campsites with discarded rubbish. Plants and animals may be killed by this careless disregard by vacationers. Careless campers may start ruts and erosion by driving off the roads provided for their use.

You will be a good citizen if you follow good outdoor manners when vacationing.

- 1) Keep a trash bag in the car, and use it.
- 2) Carve a stick, not a tree.
- 3) Leave the flowers and plants for others to enjoy. They will die if you pick them, anyway.
- 4) Keep a safe distance from wild animals.
- 5) Be careful with fires. Douse the campfire an extra time.
- 6) Drive on roads.
- 7) Curb the urge to throw things into the water or off high places.
- 8) Leave the wonders of nature and history where they belong. A souvenir grabber is stealing from future generations.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

AUSTIN, Tex.--It's tourist season at the Historic Texas State Capitol Building.

On any summer day, visitors from all parts of Texas, many other states and even foreign countries can be found in its spacious rotunda and in the splendid legislative halls or on the green, tree-shaded grounds.

More than 200,000 tourists looked over portions of the 78-year-old state house during the last year, estimates the Capitol Tourist Bureau which is operated seven days a week by Texas Highway Department personnel.

Two-hour free parking is available for visitors on a lot at 11th and Congress Ave.--across from the south Capitol grounds. Limited parking also is provided on a first-come-first serve basis in marked tourist spaces on the grounds. DOME OPENED--A part of the famous Capitol dome was re-opened last year for the first time in 12 years. Visitors can now go to the fifth floor landing (in company of a guide) and are rewarded by a spectacular view of the capital city from an outside balcony.

Six guided tours a day take them from the fourth-floor elevator stop--up 112 spiral steps to the fifth floor.

Many less-adventuresome visitors are content to wander on their own through the columned corridors, to look up their Legislators' pictures in the House or Senate or to drop by the Governor's office and sign the guest book.

CONSTRUCTION--The Capitol covers three acres of ground and has 192,374 square feet of floor space.

At the time of its completion in 1888, it was said to be the seventh largest capitol building in the world.

In 1879, the Legislature appropriated more than three million acres of land in 10 Panhandle counties to pay for the building.

Construction was begun February 1, 1882. Owners of Granite Mountain near Marble Falls in Burnet County offered free of charge to the state all granite needed to complete the building. (Original plans called for construction of Texas limestone.) Extended labor problems delayed completion, but Texas finally got a building that cost more than $3,700,000 in exchange for her three million acres of land.

Rising to a height of more than 309 feet (from basement floor to top of the Goddess of Liberty statue on the dome), the building is sevenfeet higher than the National Capitol in Washington.

It is 585 feet long and 299 feet wide, including outside steps in both measurements.

OX-POWERED--Fifteen thousand carloads of Texas red granite for exterior walls were hauled into Austin from Burnet County by ox-power and a specially built railroad. Texas limestone forms interior and dome walls.

Wainscoting of oak, pine, cherry, cedar, walnut, ash and mahogany would reach a length of seven miles.

Door and window frames are all in oak and pine, except those in the Governor's ornate reception room, which are of cherry.

The original copper roof covers 85,000 square feet.

Original floors were of hand-blocked clay tile, glass and wood. New hall and rotunda floors are of terrazzo, all Texas rock aggregate except for the blue in the U. S. Seal which was imported from Italy. These rotunda floors tell the story of Texas history and are regarded as among the largest and most beautiful terrazzo floors in the world.

Modeled after the classic design of the National Capitol, the Texas Capitol is built in the form of a Grecian cross. ALWAYS WORK--Maintenance requires almost constant effort.

Crews of painters, carpenters, electricians and plasterers are at work in some portion of the sprawling building almost every day. Many areas, including the Governor's quarters, have been remodeled, modernized and air-conditioned.

Most dramatic of the maintenance work is painting the interior of the Capitol dome every seven years. Painters work on a platform suspended 260 feet above the star on the rotunda floor.

There are still a few old-timers around who remember when the grand old building was brand new.

OTHER ATTRACTIONS--"The Texas Capitol is more than a seat of government; more than a fountainhead of law," one writer has said, "With its treasures of Texana, it acts like a lodestone upon even the 'summer soldier and the sunshine patriot.' And those who enjoy deeper drafts of history may stand again and again before the Capitol's paintings, sculptures and documents, each time finding something they had missed before. Here, one must thrill to the feel of an undercurrent of the tremendous energy and vigor which continues to keep Texas great."

While the Capitol used to house all agencies of state government, now only the Legislature and its agencies, plus the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State and State Comptroller are under its spreading roof.

Many other state agencies are located in modern buildings just off the Capitol grounds. Visits to some of these buildings are also well worthwhile.

Especially fascinating is the fine Archives and Library Building east of the Capitol.

The board of directors of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., will meet in Lubbock at 6 p. m. June 30 to adopt the organization's budget for the 1966-67 fiscal year, according to PCG President John D. Smith of Littlefield. The meeting is scheduled in the Johnson House, 4801 Avenue Q.

"The primary purpose of the meeting is to set up our 1966-67 budget, but other cotton-interest matters will also be discussed and all producers and cotton related businessmen are invited to attend," Smith said.

The PCG finance committee, of which M. A. (Rip) Elms, also of Littlefield, is chairman, will meet in the PCG offices at 3 p. m. just prior to the board meeting. It is the job of this committee to work with the staff in outlining budgetary items and amounts and recommend an overall budget to the board.

PCG has two directors, one cotton producer and one businessman, from each of its 23 counties. Support for the organization is largely from cotton producers who pay 15 cents per bale dues through their ginner, and Smith is urging all directors to attend the meeting and represent their county's producers in the budget adoption.

Donald A. Johnson, executive vice-president of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., has announced the probability of a new service to the cotton producer organization's 25,000 members.

Johnson says a personal newsletter, called "The PCG Cotton Review" will be mailed monthly to each of the members beginning in July. He refers to the service as a probability rather than a certainty because this item of expense is yet to be approved by the PCG finance committee and board of directors.

"However," Johnson said, "the lack of sufficient communications between the organization and its members has in the past been criticized by various members of the board, and I believe this monthly newsletter, written especially for and mailed directly to the members will be hailed by the board as a valuable addition to PCG services."

He also pointed out that adjustments are planned in other parts of the budget to offset the additional cost.

According to Johnson, the letter will be used to keep members informed of all PCG activities, promote the adoption of proven cultural practices in cotton production, analyze legislation affecting cotton producers and for whatever other purposes will serve the interests of the High Plains cotton industry.

Exact date of publication has not been decided on.

Dr. L. L. Ray, agronomist at the South Plains Research and Extension Center north of Lubbock, has issued some valuable advice to cotton producers who have had to replant cotton late in June because of hail, wind or rain damage.

He points out that it is unlikely that cotton planted this late can utilize additional fertilizer and that it will need no more than one summer irrigation. And the cotton that gets one or two more timely rains will need no irrigation at all, he says.

Defoliants or desiccants should not be used, according to Ray, because the late-planted crop will need the full growing season.

Using less water, less fertilizer and no harvest-aid chemicals has the double advantage of improving chances for producing a mature crop and at the same time reducing expenses. And Ray says the grower should remember that the income from replanted cotton at this time of year is almost sure to be relatively low, so keeping expenses to the absolute minimum will be an important factor in the producer's net income position at the end of the year.

An old hymn says "we'll understand it all bye and bye." But sometimes we begin to doubt it when we study the actions of some on Capitol Hill.

The Senate-House conference committee met in Washington June 21 on the cotton research and promotion bill (H. R. 12322) and agreed to disagree.

Senate conferees, for some reason completely beyond us, stubbornly refused to give up a Senate amendment which would require another Act of Congress before the amount of the $1 per bale producer assessment could be changed.

House conferees were just as adamant in their position—that the amount should be subject to change by vote of the cotton producers who would be paying the bill.

That they didn't agree is not news. What is hard to comprehend is why the Senators on the committee, or for that matter the Senate itself, should want to require another Act of Congress and all the political wrangling that goes with it before the amount of the "check-off" could be changed.

Passage of the bill by the Senate in the first place was tacit admission that cotton producers are capable of deciding for themselves whether they want the program, and, more important, whether they want to pay for it.

And if they are capable of making this decision, why then is the Senate so reluctant to let them decide at some future date whether they want to increase or decrease the amount of the per bale self-assessment?

The committee has agreed on the Senate's version of the requirements for passage of the referendum that will be held once the act has passed Congress. It will require either (1) two-thirds of the producers voting in the referendum or

(2) two-thirds of the cotton volume represented by the voters plus a simple majority of growers voting.

As of this writing no date has been set for further consideration of the measure by the conference committee. They are expected to get back together in the near future.

What they'll do and how they'll break the apparently senseless deadlock, is anybody's guess.

Probably no one seriously doubts that the committee will reach a compromise on the $1 per bale amendment. But timing is of the utmost importance, and the question is, when?

It has been the hope of the act's proponents that the program could be initiated with this year's crop. Some are already saying it is too late in view of the many details that will have to be worked out before the act becomes effective. But there is still hope if the conference committee and both houses of Congress will, for the time being at least, skip the political pettifoggery and get on with the business at hand.

KITCHEN KORNER

BY LELA GALLION

We had a wonderful vacation but it's so good to be home. In fact, almost need a vacation to rest from the vacation.

We had had our first load of wheat here the day we left and when we got to central Kansas they were also cutting their first wheat so it seems harvest is moving fast and in a wide area this year.

Try these Tuna Tomato Stars for a delicious meat salad.

TUNA TOMATO STARS
1 6 1/2 or 7 - ounce can (1 cup tuna
1 T. lemon juice
2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
1/4 c. thinly sliced sweet pickle
1/4 c. finely chopped onion
2 T. diced pimiento
1/4 tsp. salt
Dash pepper
1/3 c. mayonnaise or salad dressing
4 medium tomatoes
Break tuna in chunks and sprinkle with lemon juice; combine with remaining ingredients except tomatoes; mix gently. Chill.
Turn tomatoes stem end down; cut each one not quite through in 6 equal sections; spread apart. Sprinkle with salt, fill with tuna salad. Top with carrot curl. Serves 4.
